¹⁶Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego answered and said to the king, “O Nebuchadnezzar, ^jwe have no need to answer you in this matter.

¹⁷“If that is the case, our ^kGod whom we serve is able to ^ldeliver us from the burning fiery furnace, and He will deliver us from your hand, O king.

¹⁸“But if not, let it be known to you, O king, that we do not serve your gods, nor will we ^mworship the gold image which you have set up.”

Saved in Fiery Trial

¹⁹Then Nebuchadnezzar was full of fury, and the expression on his face changed toward Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego. He spoke and commanded that they heat the furnace seven times more than it was usually heated.

²⁰And he commanded certain mighty men of valor who were in his army to bind Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego, and cast them into the burning fiery furnace.

²¹Then these men were bound in their coats, their trousers, their turbans, and their other garments, and were cast into the midst of the burning fiery furnace.

²²Therefore, because the king's command was ³urgent, and the furnace exceedingly hot, the flame of the fire killed those men who took up Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego.

²³And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego, fell down bound into the midst of the burning fiery furnace.

²⁴Then King Nebuchadnezzar was astonished; and he rose in haste and spoke, saying to his ⁴counselors, "Did we not cast three men bound into the midst of the fire?" They answered and said to the king, "True, O king."

²⁵"Look!" he answered, "I see four men loose, ⁿwalking in the midst of the fire; and they are not hurt, and the form of the fourth is like ^othe⁵ Son of God."

Nebuchadnezzar Praises God

²⁶Then Nebuchadnezzar went near the ⁶mouth of the burning fiery furnace and spoke, saying, “Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego, servants of the ^pMost High God, come out, and come here.” Then Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego came from the midst of the fire.

²⁷And the satraps, administrators, governors, and the king’s counselors gathered together, and they saw these men ^qon whose bodies the fire had no power; the hair of their head was not singed nor were their garments affected, and the smell of fire was not on them.

²⁸Nebuchadnezzar spoke, saying, “Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego, who sent His ^rAngel⁷ and delivered His servants who trusted in Him, and they have frustrated the king’s word, and yielded their bodies, that they should not serve nor worship any god except their own God!

^{29s}“Therefore I make a decree that any people, nation, or language which speaks anything amiss against the ^tGod of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego shall be ^ucut in pieces, and their houses shall be made an ash heap; ^vbecause there is no other God who can deliver like this.”

³⁰Then the king ⁸promoted Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego in the province of Babylon.

Daniel 4

Nebuchadnezzar's Second Dream

¹Nebuchadnezzar the king,

^aTo all peoples, nations, and languages that dwell in all the earth:

Peace be multiplied to you.

²I thought it good to declare the signs and wonders ^bthat the Most High God has worked for me.

^{3c}How great are His signs,
And how mighty His wonders!
His kingdom is ^dan everlasting kingdom,
And His dominion is from generation to generation.

⁴I, Nebuchadnezzar, was at rest in my house, and flourishing in my palace.

⁵I saw a dream which made me afraid, ^eand the thoughts on my bed and the visions of my head ^ftroubled me.

⁶Therefore I issued a decree to bring in all the wise men of Babylon before me, that they might make known to me the interpretation of the dream.

^{7g}Then the magicians, the astrologers, the Chaldeans, and the soothsayers came in, and I told them the dream; but they did not make known to me its interpretation.

⁸But at last Daniel came before me ^h(his name is Belteshazzar, according to the name of my god; ⁱin him is the Spirit of the Holy God), and I told the dream before him, saying:

⁹“Belteshazzar, ^jchief of the magicians, because I know that the Spirit of the Holy God is in you, and no secret troubles you, explain to me the visions of my dream that I have seen, and its interpretation.

¹⁰“These were the visions of my head while on my bed:

I was looking, and behold,
^kA tree in the midst of the earth,

And its height was great.

¹¹The tree grew and became strong;

Its height reached to the heavens,

And it could be seen to the ends of all the earth.

¹²Its leaves were lovely,

Its fruit abundant,

And in it was food for all.

^lThe beasts of the field found shade under it,

The birds of the heavens dwelt in its branches,

And all flesh was fed from it.

¹³“I saw in the visions of my head while on my bed, and there was ^ma watcher, ⁿa holy one, coming down from heaven.

¹⁴He cried ¹aloud and said thus:

^o‘Chop down the tree and cut off its branches,

Strip off its leaves and scatter its fruit.

^pLet the beasts get out from under it,

And the birds from its branches.

¹⁵Nevertheless leave the stump and roots in the earth,

Bound with a band of iron and bronze,

In the tender grass of the field.

Let it be wet with the dew of heaven,

And let him graze with the beasts

On the grass of the earth.

¹⁶Let his heart be changed from that of a man,

Let him be given the heart of a beast,

And let seven ^qtimes² pass over him.

¹⁷‘This decision is by the decree of the watchers,

And the sentence by the word of the holy ones,

In order ^rthat the living may know

^sThat the Most High rules in the kingdom of men,

^tGives it to whomever He will,

And sets over it the ^ulowest of men.’

¹⁸“This dream I, King Nebuchadnezzar, have seen. Now you, Belteshazzar, declare its interpretation, ^vsince all the wise men of my kingdom are not able to make known to me the interpretation; but you are able, ^wfor the Spirit of the Holy God is in you.”

Daniel Explains the Second Dream

¹⁹Then Daniel, ^xwhose name was Belteshazzar, was astonished for a time, and his thoughts ^ytroubled him. So the king spoke, and said, “Belteshazzar, do not let the dream or its interpretation trouble you.” Belteshazzar answered and said, “My lord, may ^zthe dream ³concern those who hate you, and its interpretation ⁴concern your enemies!

^{20a}The tree that you saw, which grew and became strong, whose height reached to the heavens and which could be seen by all the earth,

²¹whose leaves were lovely and its fruit abundant, in which was food for all, under which the beasts of the field dwelt, and in whose branches the birds of the heaven had their home—

^{22b}it is you, O king, who have grown and become strong; for your greatness has grown and reaches to the heavens, ^cand your dominion to the end of the earth.

^{23d}And inasmuch as the king saw a watcher, a holy one, coming down from heaven and saying, ‘Chop down the tree and destroy it, but leave its stump and roots in the earth, bound with a band of iron and bronze in the tender grass of the field; let it be wet with the dew of heaven, ^eand let him graze with the beasts of the field, till seven ⁵times pass over him’;

²⁴this is the interpretation, O king, and this is the decree of the Most High, which has come upon my lord the king:

²⁵They shall ^fdrive you from men, your dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field, and they shall make you ^geat grass like oxen. They shall wet you with the dew of heaven, and seven ⁶times shall pass over you, ^htill you know that the Most High rules in the kingdom of men, and ⁱgives it to whomever He chooses.

²⁶And inasmuch as they gave the command to leave the stump and roots of the tree, your kingdom shall be assured to you, after you come to know that ^jHeaven⁷ rules.

²⁷Therefore, O king, let my advice be acceptable to you; ^kbreak off your sins by being righteous, and your iniquities by showing mercy to the poor.

^lPerhaps there may be ^ma ⁸lengthening of your prosperity.”

Nebuchadnezzar’s Humiliation

²⁸All this came upon King Nebuchadnezzar.

²⁹At the end of the twelve months he was walking ⁹about the royal palace of Babylon.

³⁰The king ⁿspoke, saying, “Is not this great Babylon, that I have built for a royal dwelling by my mighty power and for the honor of my majesty?”

³²And ^qthey shall drive you from men, and your dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field. They shall make you eat grass like oxen; and seven ¹⁰times shall pass over you, until you know that the Most High rules in the kingdom of men, and gives it to whomever He chooses.”

³³That very hour the word was fulfilled concerning Nebuchadnezzar; he was driven from men and ate grass like oxen; his body was wet with the dew of heaven till his hair had grown like eagles’ feathers and his nails like birds’ claws.

Nebuchadnezzar Praises God

³⁴And ^rat the end of the ¹¹time I, Nebuchadnezzar, lifted my eyes to heaven, and my understanding returned to me; and I blessed the Most High and praised and honored Him ^swho lives forever:

For His dominion is ^tan everlasting dominion,
And His kingdom is from generation to generation.
^{35u}All the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing;
^vHe does according to His will in the army of heaven
And among the inhabitants of the earth.
^wNo one can restrain His hand
Or say to Him, ^x“What have You done?”

³⁶At the same time my reason returned to me, ^yand for the glory of my kingdom, my honor and splendor returned to me. My counselors and nobles resorted to me, I was ^zrestored to my kingdom, and excellent majesty was ^aadded to me.

³⁷Now I, Nebuchadnezzar, ^bpraise and extol and honor the King of heaven, ^call of whose works are truth, and His ways justice. ^dAnd those who walk in pride He is able to put down.

Daniel 5

Belshazzar's Feast

¹Belshazzar the king ^amade a great feast for a thousand of his lords, and drank wine in the presence of the thousand.

²While he tasted the wine, Belshazzar gave the command to bring the gold and silver vessels ^bwhich his ¹father Nebuchadnezzar had taken from the temple which had been in Jerusalem, that the king and his lords, his wives, and his concubines might drink from them.

³Then they brought the gold ^cvessels that had been taken from the temple of the house of God which had been in Jerusalem; and the king and his lords, his wives, and his concubines drank from them.

⁴They drank wine, ^dand praised the gods of gold and silver, bronze and iron, wood and stone.

^{5e}In the same hour the fingers of a man's hand appeared and wrote opposite the lampstand on the plaster of the wall of the king's palace; and the king saw the part of the hand that wrote.

⁶Then the king's countenance changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the joints of his hips were loosened and his ^fknees knocked against each other.

⁸Now all the king's wise men came, ^jbut they could not read the writing, or make known to the king its interpretation.

⁹Then King Belshazzar was greatly ^ktroubled, his countenance was changed, and his lords were ³astonished.

¹⁰The queen, because of the words of the king and his lords, came to the banquet hall. The queen spoke, saying, "O king, live forever! Do not let your thoughts trouble you, nor let your countenance change.

^{11l}"There is a man in your kingdom in whom is the Spirit of the Holy God. And in the days of your ⁴father, light and understanding and wisdom, like the wisdom of the gods, were found in him; and King Nebuchadnezzar your ⁵father—your father the king—made him chief of the magicians, astrologers, Chaldeans, and soothsayers.

The Writing on the Wall Explained

¹³Then Daniel was brought in before the king. The king spoke, and said to Daniel, “Are you that Daniel ⁷who is one of the captives from Judah, whom my ⁸father the king brought from Judah?

¹⁴“I have heard of you, that ⁿthe ⁹Spirit of God is in you, and that light and understanding and excellent wisdom are found in you.

¹⁵“Now ^othe wise men, the astrologers, have been brought in before me, that they should read this writing and make known to me its interpretation, but they could not give the interpretation of the thing.

¹⁶“And I have heard of you, that you can give interpretations and ¹⁰explain enigmas. ^pNow if you can read the writing and make known to me its interpretation, you shall be clothed with purple and have a chain of gold around your neck, and shall be the third ruler in the kingdom.”

¹⁷Then Daniel answered, and said before the king, “Let your gifts be for yourself, and give your rewards to another; yet I will read the writing to the king, and make known to him the interpretation.

¹⁸“O king, ^qthe Most High God gave Nebuchadnezzar your ¹¹father a kingdom and majesty, glory and honor.

¹⁹“And because of the majesty that He gave him, ^rall peoples, nations, and languages trembled and feared before him. Whomever he wished, he ^sexecuted; whomever he wished, he kept alive; whomever he wished, he set up; and whomever he wished, he put down.

²¹“Then he was ^udriven from the sons of men, his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wild donkeys. They fed him with grass like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven, ^vtill he ¹²knew that the Most High God rules in the kingdom of men, and appoints over it whomever He chooses.

²²“But you his son, Belshazzar, ^whave not humbled your heart, although you knew all this.

^{23x}“And you have ¹³lifted yourself up against the Lord of heaven. They have brought the ^yvessels of ¹⁴His house before you, and you and your lords, your wives and your concubines, have drunk wine from them. And you have praised the gods of silver and gold, bronze and iron, wood and stone, ^zwhich do not see or hear or know; and the God who holds your breath in His hand ^aand owns all your ways, you have not glorified.

²⁴“Then the ¹⁵fingers of the hand were sent from Him, and this writing was written.

²⁵“And this is the inscription that was written:

¹⁶MENE, MENE, ¹⁷TEKEL, ¹⁸UPHARSIN. Bible Times & Culture Notes: Aramaic

²⁶“This is the interpretation of each word. MENE: God has numbered your kingdom, and finished it;

²⁷“TEKEL: ^bYou have been weighed in the balances, and found wanting;

²⁸“PERES: Your kingdom has been divided, and given to the ^cMedes and ^dPersians.”¹⁹

²⁹Then Belshazzar gave the command, and they clothed Daniel with purple and put a chain of gold around his neck, and made a proclamation concerning him ^ethat he should be the third ruler in the kingdom.

Belshazzar's Fall

Daniel 6

The Plot Against Daniel

¹It pleased Darius to set over the kingdom one hundred and twenty satraps, to be over the whole kingdom;

²and over these, three governors, of whom Daniel was one, that the satraps might give account to them, so that the king would suffer no loss.

³Then this Daniel distinguished himself above the governors and satraps, ^abecause an excellent spirit was in him; and the king gave thought to setting him over the whole realm.

^{4b}So the governors and satraps sought to find some charge against Daniel concerning the kingdom; but they could find no charge or fault, because he was faithful; nor was there any error or fault found in him.

⁵Then these men said, “We shall not find any charge against this Daniel unless we find it against him concerning the law of his God.”

⁹Therefore King Darius signed the written decree.

Daniel in the Lions’ Den

¹⁰Now when Daniel knew that the writing was signed, he went home. And in his upper room, with his windows open ^ftoward Jerusalem, he knelt down on his knees ^gthree times that day, and prayed and gave thanks before his God, as was his custom since early days.

¹¹Then these men assembled and found Daniel praying and making supplication before his God.

^{12h}And they went before the king, and spoke concerning the king’s decree: “Have you not signed a decree that every man who petitions any god or man within thirty days, except you, O king, shall be cast into the den of lions?” The king answered and said, “The thing is true, ⁱaccording to the law of the Medes and Persians, which ²does not alter.”

¹³So they answered and said before the king, “That Daniel, ^jwho is ³one of the captives from Judah, ^kdoes not show due regard for you, O king, or for the decree that you have signed, but makes his petition three times a day.”

¹⁴And the king, when he heard these words, ^lwas greatly displeased with himself, and set his heart on Daniel to deliver him; and he ⁴labored till the going down of the sun to deliver him.

¹⁵Then these men ⁵approached the king, and said to the king, “Know, O king, that it is ^mthe law of the Medes and Persians that no decree or statute which the king establishes may be changed.”

¹⁶So the king gave the command, and they brought Daniel and cast him into the den of lions. But the king spoke, saying to Daniel, “Your God, whom you serve continually, He will deliver you.”

¹⁷ⁿThen a stone was brought and laid on the mouth of the den, ^oand the king sealed it with his own signet ring and with the signets of his lords, that the purpose concerning Daniel might not be changed.

Daniel Saved from the Lions

¹⁸Now the king went to his palace and spent the night fasting; and no ⁶musicians were brought before him. ^pAlso his sleep ⁷went from him.

¹⁹Then the ^qking arose very early in the morning and went in haste to the den of lions.

²⁰And when he came to the den, he cried out with a ⁸lamenting voice to Daniel. The king spoke, saying to Daniel, “Daniel, servant of the living God, ^rhas your God, whom you serve continually, been able to deliver you from the lions?”

²¹Then Daniel said to the king, ^s“O king, live forever!

^{22t}“My God sent His angel and ^ushut the lions’ mouths, so that they have not hurt me, because I was found innocent before Him; and also, O king, I have done no wrong before you.”

²³Now the king was exceedingly glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel up out of the den. So Daniel was taken up out of the den, and no injury whatever was found on him, ^vbecause he believed in his God.

Darius Honors God

²⁴And the king gave the command, ^wand they brought those men who had accused Daniel, and they cast them into the den of lions—they, ^xtheir children, and their wives; and the lions overpowered them, and broke all their bones in pieces before they ever came to the bottom of the den.

^{25y}Then King Darius wrote:

To all peoples, nations, and languages that dwell in all the earth:

Peace be multiplied to you.

^{26z}I make a decree that in every dominion of my kingdom men must ^atremble and fear before the God of Daniel.

^bFor He is the living God,
And steadfast forever;
His kingdom is the one which shall not be ^cdestroyed,
And His dominion shall endure to the end.
²⁷He delivers and rescues,
^dAnd He works signs and wonders
In heaven and on earth,
Who has delivered Daniel from the ⁹power of the lions.

²⁸So this Daniel prospered in the reign of Darius ^eand in the reign of ^fCyrus the Persian.

Daniel 7

Vision of the Four Beasts

¹In the first year of Belshazzar king of Babylon, ^aDaniel ¹had a dream and ^bvisions of his head while on his bed. Then he wrote down the dream, telling ²the main facts.

²Daniel spoke, saying, “I saw in my vision by night, and behold, the four winds of heaven were stirring up the Great Sea.

³“And four great beasts ^ccame up from the sea, each different from the other.

⁴“The first was ^dlike a lion, and had eagle’s wings. I watched till its wings were plucked off; and it was lifted up from the earth and made to stand on two feet like a man, and a ^eman’s heart was given to it.

⁵“And suddenly another beast, a second, like a bear. It was raised up on one side, and had three ribs in its mouth between its teeth. And they said thus to it: ‘Arise, devour much flesh!’

⁶“After this I looked, and there was another, like a leopard, which had on its back four wings of a bird. The beast also had ⁸four heads, and dominion was given to it.

⁸“I was considering the horns, and ^jthere was another horn, a little one, coming up among them, before whom three of the first horns were plucked out by the roots. And there, in this horn, were eyes like the eyes ^kof a man, ^land a mouth speaking ³pompous words.

Vision of the Ancient of Days

⁹“^mI watched till thrones were ⁴put in place,

And ⁿthe Ancient of Days was seated;

^oHis garment was white as snow,

And the hair of His head was like pure wool.

His throne was a fiery flame,

^pIts wheels a burning fire;

¹⁰^qA fiery stream issued

And came forth from before Him.

^rA thousand thousands ministered to Him;

Ten thousand times ten thousand stood before Him.

^sThe ⁵court was seated,
And the books were opened.

¹¹“I watched then because of the sound of the ⁶pompous words which the horn was speaking; ^tI watched till the beast was slain, and its body destroyed and given to the burning flame.

¹²“As for the rest of the beasts, they had their dominion taken away, yet their lives were prolonged for a season and a time.

¹³“I was watching in the night visions,
And behold, ^uOne like the Son of Man,
Coming with the clouds of heaven!
He came to the Ancient of Days,
And they brought Him near before Him.

^{14v}Then to Him was given dominion and glory and a kingdom,
That all ^wpeoples, nations, and languages should serve Him.
His dominion is ^xan everlasting dominion,
Which shall not pass away,
And His kingdom the one
Which shall not be destroyed.

Daniel's Visions Interpreted

¹⁵“I, Daniel, was grieved in my spirit ⁷within my body, and the visions of my head troubled me.

¹⁶“I came near to one of those who stood by, and asked him the truth of all this. So he told me and made known to me the interpretation of these things:

¹⁷“Those great beasts, which are four, are four ⁸kings which arise out of the earth.

¹⁸“But ^ythe saints of the Most High shall receive the kingdom, and possess the kingdom forever, even forever and ever.’

¹⁹“Then I wished to know the truth about the fourth beast, which was different from all the others, exceedingly dreadful, with its teeth of iron and its nails of bronze, which devoured, broke in pieces, and trampled the residue with its feet;

²⁰“and the ten horns that were on its head, and the other horn which came up, before which three fell, namely, that horn which had eyes and a mouth which spoke ⁹pompous words, whose appearance was greater than his fellows.

²¹“I was watching; ^zand the same horn was making war against the saints, and prevailing against them,

²³“Thus he said:

‘The fourth beast shall be

^bA fourth kingdom on earth,

Which shall be different from all other kingdoms,

And shall devour the whole earth,

Trample it and break it in pieces.

^{24c}The ten horns are ten kings

Who shall arise from this kingdom.

And another shall rise after them;

He shall be different from the first ones,

And shall subdue three kings.

^{25d}He shall speak pompous words against the Most High,

Shall ^epersecute¹⁰ the saints of the Most High,

And shall ^fintend to change times and law.

Then ^g*the saints* shall be given into his hand

^hFor a time and times and half a time.

²⁶‘Butⁱ the court shall be seated,

And they shall ^jtake away his dominion,

To consume and destroy it forever.

²⁷Then the ^kkingdom and dominion,

And the greatness of the kingdoms under the whole heaven,

Shall be given to the people, the saints of the Most High.

^lHis kingdom is an everlasting kingdom,

^mAnd all dominions shall serve and obey Him.’

Daniel 8

Vision of a Ram and a Goat

¹In¹ the third year of the reign of King Belshazzar a vision appeared to me—to me, Daniel—after the one that appeared to me ^athe first time. Word Studies: vision

²I saw in the vision, and it so happened while I was looking, that I was in ^bShushan,² the ³citadel, which is in the province of Elam; and I saw in the vision that I was by the River Ulai.

³Then I lifted my eyes and saw, and there, standing beside the river, was a ram which had two horns, and the two horns were high; but one was ^chigher than the other, and the higher one came up last.

⁴I saw the ram pushing westward, northward, and southward, so that no animal could ⁴withstand him; nor was there any that could deliver from his hand, ^dbut he did according to his will and became great.

⁵And as I was considering, suddenly a male goat came from the west, across the surface of the whole earth, without touching the ground; and the goat had a notable ^ehorn between his eyes.

⁷And I saw him confronting the ram; he was moved with rage against him, ⁵attacked the ram, and broke his two horns. There was no power in the ram to withstand him, but he cast him down to the ground and trampled him; and there was no one that could deliver the ram from his hand.

⁸Therefore the male goat grew very great; but when he became strong, the large horn was broken, and in place of it ^ffour notable ones came up toward the four winds of heaven.

^{9g}And out of one of them came a little horn which grew exceedingly great toward the south, ^htoward the east, and toward the ⁱGlorious Land.

^{10j}And it grew up to ^kthe host of heaven; and ^lit cast down some of the host and some of the stars to the ground, and trampled them.

^{11m}He even exalted himself as high as ⁿthe Prince of the host; ^oand by him ^pthe daily sacrifices were taken away, and the place of ⁶His sanctuary was cast down.

¹²Because of transgression, ^qan army was given over to the horn to oppose the daily sacrifices; and he cast ^rtruth down to the ground. He ^sdid all this and prospered.

¹³Then I heard ^ta holy one speaking; and another holy one said to that certain one who was speaking, “How long will the vision be, concerning the daily sacrifices and the transgression ⁷of desolation, the giving of both the sanctuary and the host to be trampled underfoot?”

¹⁴And he said to me, “For two thousand three hundred ⁸days; then the sanctuary shall be cleansed.” In-Text Map: Alexander's Empire

Gabriel Interprets the Vision

¹⁵Then it happened, when I, Daniel, had seen the vision and ^uwas seeking the meaning, that suddenly there stood before me ^vone having the appearance of a man.

¹⁶And I heard a man's voice ^wbetween the banks of the Ulai, who called, and said, ^x"Gabriel, make this man understand the vision."

¹⁷So he came near where I stood, and when he came I was afraid and ^yfell on my face; but he said to me, "Understand, son of man, that the vision refers to the time of the end."

^{18z}Now, as he was speaking with me, I was in a deep sleep with my face to the ground; ^abut he touched me, and stood me upright.

¹⁹And he said, "Look, I am making known to you what shall happen in the latter time of the indignation; ^bfor at the appointed time the end shall be.

²⁰"The ram which you saw, having the two horns—they are the kings of Media and Persia.

²¹"And the ⁹male goat is the ¹⁰kingdom of Greece. The large horn that is between its eyes ^c*is* the first king.

^{22d}"As for the broken horn and the four that stood up in its place, four kingdoms shall arise out of that nation, but not with its power.

²³"And in the latter time of their kingdom,
When the transgressors have reached their fullness,
A king shall arise,
^eHaving fierce ¹¹features,
Who understands sinister schemes.

²⁴His power shall be mighty, ^fbut not by his own power;
He shall destroy ¹²fearfully,
^gAnd shall prosper and thrive;
^hHe shall destroy the mighty, and also the holy people.

²⁵"Through ⁱhis cunning
He shall cause deceit to prosper under his ¹³rule;
^jAnd he shall exalt himself in his heart.
He shall destroy many in their prosperity.
^kHe shall even rise against the Prince of princes;
But he shall be ^lbroken without human ¹⁴means.

²⁶“And the vision of the evenings and mornings
Which was told is true;
^mTherefore seal up the vision,
For it refers to many days in the future.”

²⁷ⁿAnd I, Daniel, fainted and was sick for days; afterward I arose and went about the king’s business. I was ¹⁵astonished by the vision, but no one understood it.

Daniel 9

Daniel's Prayer for the People

¹In the first year ^aof Darius the son of Ahasuerus, of the lineage of the Medes, who was made king over the realm of the Chaldeans—

^{3c}Then I set my face toward the Lord God to make request by prayer and supplications, with fasting, sackcloth, and ashes.

⁴And I prayed to the LORD my God, and made confession, and said, “O ^dLord, great and awesome God, who keeps His covenant and mercy with those who love Him, and with those who keep His commandments, ^{5e}“we have sinned and committed iniquity, we have done wickedly and rebelled, even by departing from Your precepts and Your judgments.

^{6f}“Neither have we heeded Your servants the prophets, who spoke in Your name to our kings and our princes, to our fathers and all the people of the land.

⁷“O Lord, ^grighteousness belongs to You, but to us shame of face, as it is this day—to the men of Judah, to the inhabitants of Jerusalem and all Israel, those near and those far off in all the countries to which You have driven them, because of the unfaithfulness which they have committed against You.

⁸“O Lord, to us belongs shame of face, to our kings, our princes, and our fathers, because we have sinned against You.

¹⁰“We have not obeyed the voice of the LORD our God, to walk in His laws, which He set before us by His servants the prophets.

¹¹“Yes, ⁱall Israel has transgressed Your law, and has departed so as not to obey Your voice; therefore the curse and the oath written in the ^jLaw of Moses the servant of God have been poured out on us, because we have sinned against Him.

¹²“And He has ^kconfirmed His words, which He spoke against us and against our judges who judged us, by bringing upon us a great disaster; ^lfor under the whole heaven such has never been done as what has been done to Jerusalem.

^{13m}“As it is written in the Law of Moses, all this disaster has come upon us; ⁿyet we have not made our prayer before the LORD our God, that we might turn from our iniquities and understand Your truth.

¹⁴“Therefore the LORD has ^okept the disaster in mind, and brought it upon us; for ^pthe LORD our God is righteous in all the works which He does, though we have not obeyed His voice.

¹⁵“And now, O Lord our God, ^qwho brought Your people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and made Yourself ^ra name, as it is this day—we have sinned, we have done wickedly!

¹⁶“O Lord, ^saccording to all Your righteousness, I pray, let Your anger and Your fury be turned away from Your city Jerusalem, ^tYour holy mountain; because for our sins, ^uand for the iniquities of our fathers, ^vJerusalem and Your people ^ware a reproach to all those around us.

¹⁷“Now therefore, our God, hear the prayer of Your servant, and his supplications, ^xand ^yfor the Lord’s sake ¹cause Your face to shine on ²Your sanctuary, ^zwhich is desolate.

^{18a}“O my God, incline Your ear and hear; open Your eyes ^band see our desolations, and the city ^cwhich is called by Your name; for we do not present our supplications before You because of our righteous deeds, but because of Your great mercies.

¹⁹“O Lord, hear! O Lord, forgive! O Lord, listen and act! Do not delay for Your own sake, my God, for Your city and Your people are called by Your name.”

The Seventy-Weeks Prophecy

²⁰Now while I was speaking, praying, and confessing my sin and the sin of my people Israel, and presenting my supplication before the LORD my God for the holy mountain of my God, ²¹yes, while I was speaking in prayer, the man ^dGabriel, whom I had seen in the vision at the beginning, ³being caused to fly swiftly, reached me about the time of the evening offering.

²²And he informed me, and talked with me, and said, “O Daniel, I have now come forth to give you skill to understand.

²³“At the beginning of your supplications the ⁴command went out, and I have come to tell you, for you are greatly ^ebeloved; therefore ^fconsider the matter, and understand the vision:

²⁴“Seventy ⁵weeks are determined
For your people and for your holy city,
To finish the transgression,
⁶To make an end of sins,
^gTo make reconciliation for iniquity,
^hTo bring in everlasting righteousness,
To seal up vision and prophecy, ⁱAnd to anoint ⁷the Most Holy.

²⁵“Know therefore and understand,
That from the going forth of the command

To restore and build Jerusalem
Until ^jMessiah ^kthe Prince,
There shall be seven weeks and sixty-two weeks;
The ⁸street shall be built again, and the ⁹wall,
Even in troublesome times.

²⁶“And after the sixty-two weeks
^lMessiah shall ¹⁰be cut off, ^mbut not for Himself;
And ⁿthe people of the prince who is to come ^oShall destroy the city and the sanctuary.
The end of it shall be with a flood,
And till the end of the war desolations are determined.
²⁷Then he shall confirm ^pa ¹¹covenant with ^qmany for one week;
But in the middle of the week
He shall bring an end to sacrifice and offering.
And on the wing of abominations shall be one who makes desolate,
^rEven until the consummation, which is determined,
Is poured out on the ¹²desolate.”

Daniel 10

Vision of the Glorious Man

¹In the third year of Cyrus king of Persia a message was revealed to Daniel, whose ^aname was called Belteshazzar. The message was true, ¹but the appointed time was long; and he understood the message, and had understanding of the vision.

²In those days I, Daniel, was mourning three full weeks.

³I ate no ²pleasant food, no meat or wine came into my mouth, nor did I anoint myself at all, till three whole weeks were fulfilled.

⁴Now on the twenty-fourth day of the first month, as I was by the side of the great river, that is, the ³Tigris, ⁵I lifted my eyes and looked, and behold, a certain man clothed in ^blinen, whose waist was ^cgirded with gold of Uphaz!

⁶His body was like beryl, his face like the appearance of lightning, his eyes like torches of fire, his arms and feet like burnished bronze in color, ^dand the sound of his words like the voice of a multitude.

⁷And I, Daniel, alone saw the vision, for the men who were with me did not see the vision; but a great terror fell upon them, so that they fled to hide themselves.

⁸Therefore I was left alone when I saw this great vision, and no strength remained in me; for my ⁴vigor was turned to ⁵frailty in me, and I retained no strength.

⁹Yet I heard the sound of his words; and while I heard the sound of his words I was in a deep sleep on my face, with my face to the ground.

Prophecies Concerning Persia and Greece

^{10e} Suddenly, a hand touched me, which made me tremble on my knees and on the palms of my hands.

¹¹ And he said to me, “O Daniel, ^fman greatly beloved, understand the words that I speak to you, and stand upright, for I have now been sent to you.” While he was speaking this word to me, I stood trembling.

¹² Then he said to me, ^g“Do not fear, Daniel, for from the first day that you set your heart to understand, and to humble yourself before your God, ^hyour words were heard; and I have come because of your words.

¹³ⁱ “But the prince of the kingdom of Persia withstood me twenty-one days; and behold, ^jMichael, one of the chief princes, came to help me, for I had been left alone there with the kings of Persia.

¹⁴ “Now I have come to make you understand what will happen to your people ^kin the latter days, ^lfor the vision refers to many days yet to come.”

¹⁵ When he had spoken such words to me, ^mI ⁶turned my face toward the ground and became speechless.

¹⁶ And suddenly, ⁿone having the likeness of the ⁷sons of men ^otouched my lips; then I opened my mouth and spoke, saying to him who stood before me, “My lord, because of the vision ^pmy sorrows have ⁸overwhelmed me, and I have retained no strength.

¹⁷ “For how can this servant of my lord talk with you, my lord? As for me, no strength remains in me now, nor is any breath left in me.”

¹⁸ Then again, the one having the likeness of a man touched me and strengthened me.

^{19q} And he said, “O man greatly beloved, ^rfear not! Peace be to you; be strong, yes, be strong!” So when he spoke to me I was strengthened, and said, “Let my lord speak, for you have strengthened me.”

²⁰ Then he said, “Do you know why I have come to you? And now I must return to fight ^swith the prince of Persia; and when I have gone forth, indeed the prince of Greece will come.

²¹ “But I will tell you what is noted in the Scripture of Truth. (No one upholds me against these, ^texcept Michael your prince.

Daniel 11

¹“Also ^ain the first year of ^bDarius the Mede, I, even I, stood up to confirm and strengthen him.)

²“And now I will tell you the truth: Behold, three more kings will arise in Persia, and the fourth shall be far richer than them all; by his strength, through his riches, he shall stir up all against the realm of Greece.

³“Then ^ca mighty king shall arise, who shall rule with great dominion, and ^ddo according to his will.

⁴“And when he has arisen, ^ehis kingdom shall be broken up and divided toward the four winds of heaven, but not among his posterity ^fnor according to his dominion with which he ruled; for his kingdom shall be uprooted, even for others besides these.

Warring Kings of North and South

⁷“But from a branch of her roots one shall arise in his place, who shall come with an army, enter the fortress of the king of the North, and deal with them and prevail.

⁹“Also the king of the North shall come to the kingdom of the king of the South, but shall return to his own land.

¹⁰“However his sons shall stir up strife, and assemble a multitude of great forces; and one shall certainly come ⁸and overwhelm and pass through; then he shall return ^hto his fortress and stir up strife.

¹²“When he has taken away the multitude, his heart will be ⁴lifted up; and he will cast down tens of thousands, but he will not prevail.

¹³“For the king of the North will return and muster a multitude greater than the former, and shall certainly come at the end of some years with a great army and much equipment.

¹⁷“He shall also ^oset his face to enter with the strength of his whole kingdom, and ⁹upright ones with him; thus shall he do. And he shall give him the daughter of women to destroy it; but she shall not stand with him, ^por be for him.

¹⁹“Then he shall turn his face toward the fortress of his own land; but he shall ^qstumble and fall, ^rand not be found.

²²“With the ¹⁰force of a ^tflood they shall be swept away from before him and be broken, ^uand also the prince of the covenant.

²³“And after the league is made with him ^vhe shall act deceitfully, for he shall come up and become strong with a small number of people.

²⁴“He shall enter peaceably, even into the richest places of the province; and he shall do what his fathers have not done, nor his forefathers: he shall disperse among them the plunder, ¹¹spoil, and riches; and he shall devise his plans against the strongholds, but only for a time.

²⁶“Yes, those who eat of the portion of his delicacies shall destroy him; his army shall ¹²be swept away, and many shall fall down slain.

²⁸“While returning to his land with great riches, his heart shall be moved against the holy covenant; so he shall do damage and return to his own land.

The Northern King’s Blasphemies

²⁹“At the appointed time he shall return and go toward the south; but it shall not be like the former or the latter.

^{30x}“For ships from ¹³Cyprus shall come against him; therefore he shall be grieved, and return in rage against the holy covenant, and do damage. So he shall return and show regard for those who forsake the holy covenant.

³²“Those who do wickedly against the covenant he shall ¹⁵corrupt with flattery; but the people who know their God shall be strong, and carry out great exploits.

³⁴“Now when they fall, they shall be aided with a little help; but many shall join with them by ¹⁶intrigue.

³⁶“Then the king shall do according to his own will: he shall ^aexalt and magnify himself above every god, shall speak blasphemies against the God of gods, and shall prosper till the wrath has been accomplished; for what has been determined shall be done.

³⁷“He shall regard neither the ¹⁷God of his fathers nor the desire of women, ^bnor regard any god; for he shall exalt himself above them all.

³⁹“Thus he shall act against the strongest fortresses with a foreign god, which he shall acknowledge, and advance its glory; and he shall cause them to rule over many, and divide the land for ¹⁸gain.

The Northern King's Conquests

⁴²“He shall stretch out his hand against the countries, and the land of ⁸Egypt shall not escape.

⁴⁴“But news from the east and the north shall trouble him; therefore he shall go out with great fury to destroy and annihilate many.

⁴⁵“And he shall plant the tents of his palace between the seas and ⁱthe glorious holy mountain; ^jyet he shall come to his end, and no one will help him.

Daniel 12

Prophecy of the End Time

The great prince who stands watch over the sons of your people;

^aAnd there shall be a time of trouble,
Such as never was since there was a nation,
Even to that time.

And at that time your people ^bshall be delivered,
Every one who is found ^cwritten in the book.

²And many of those who sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake,

^dSome to everlasting life,
Some to shame ^eand everlasting ¹contempt.

³Those who are wise shall ^fshine
Like the brightness of the firmament,

^gAnd those who turn many to righteousness

^hLike the stars forever and ever.

⁴“But you, Daniel, ⁱshut up the words, and seal the book until the time of the end; many shall ^jrun to and fro, and knowledge shall increase.”

⁵Then I, Daniel, looked; and there stood two others, one on this riverbank and the other on that ^kriverbank.

⁶And one said to the man clothed in ^llinen, who was above the waters of the river, ^m“How long shall the fulfillment of these wonders be?”

⁷Then I heard the man clothed in linen, who was above the waters of the river, when he ⁿheld up his right hand and his left hand to heaven, and swore by Him ^owho lives forever, ^pthat it shall be for a time, times, and half a time; ^qand when the power of ^rthe holy people has been completely shattered, all these things shall be finished.

⁸Although I heard, I did not understand. Then I said, “My lord, what shall be the end of these things?”

⁹And he said, “Go your way, Daniel, for the words are closed up and sealed till the time of the end. Word Studies: sealed

^{10s}“Many shall be purified, made white, and refined, ^tbut the wicked shall do wickedly; and none of the wicked shall understand, but ^uthe wise shall ¹¹“And from the time that the daily sacrifice is taken away, and the abomination of desolation is set up, there shall be one thousand two hundred and ninety days.

¹²“Blessed is he who waits, and comes to the one thousand three hundred and thirty-five days. Word Studies: wait

Annotations for Daniel

1:1 Jehoiakim king of Judah reigned from 608 to 598 B.C. The third year was 605 B.C., according to the chronological system used by Daniel in which only whole years were counted. Jeremiah, on the other hand, followed a system in which any part of a year was counted as a full year. Therefore, he designated 605 B.C. as the fourth year of Jehoiakim (see Jer. 25:1; 36:1; 46:2). Jehoiakim was an evil king who sided first with the Egyptians and then with the Babylonians until 602 B.C. when he rebelled. His independence was short-lived, however, and Jehoiakim remained under Babylonian domination until his death. The son of Nabopolassar, the founder of the Neo-Babylonian (Chaldean) Empire, was Nebuchadnezzar, who reigned from 605 to 562 B.C. In the summer of 605 B.C. when his father died, Nebuchadnezzar was leading the Babylonian armies. He returned to Babylon to secure the throne, but not before he besieged Jerusalem and seized loot and prisoners, including Daniel.

1:2 the Lord gave: The Book of Daniel emphasizes the sovereignty of God in the affairs of nations. Jerusalem did not fall merely because Nebuchadnezzar was strong, but because God had judged the people of Judah for their disobedience and idolatry. some of the articles: The remainder of the articles were removed later when Jehoiakim surrendered (see 2 Kin. 24:13; 2 Chr. 36:18). Shinar—that is, Babylon—was located on the Euphrates River, 50 miles south of present-day Baghdad in Iraq. into the treasure house: The articles taken from the house of God appear later, on the night of Belshazzar's feast (ch. 5). Eventually they were returned to Zerubbabel who brought them back to Israel (see Ezra 1:7).

The Neo-Babylonian Empire 626–539 B.C.

The Babylonians, while continuing the militaristic tradition of Assyria, created an astonishing renaissance of Sumero-Akkadian civilization. Led by Nebuchadnezzar (605–562 B.C.), the Neo-Babylonian Empire carried out a building program of canals and monuments that was ambitious in the extreme.

(1) Early Greek and Roman authors rhapsodized about the capital city astride the Euphrates. A four-horse chariot could turn atop the high hundred-gated walls. Babylon also boasted one of the world's seven wonders, the famed hanging gardens, as well as a stepped temple-tower 295 feet high and, according to Herodotus, several colossal gold statues weighing many tons.

(2) Discoveries of inscriptions in clay have shown that the last king of Babylonia, Nabonidus, absented himself at Tema in Arabia while Belshazzar acted as regent in the capital.

1:3 eunuchs: In ancient Middle Eastern monarchies, royal harems were typically superintended by men who had been emasculated and were considered reliable to serve in that capacity. A eunuch was often regarded as a privileged official. He enjoyed the personal friendship of the king, and his advice was frequently sought. Some have speculated that Daniel and his friends were eunuchs or at least that they were set apart to advise the king (v. 9), but there is no specific statement in the book to this effect. The children of Israel refers to the general population of the nation of Israel.

1:4 Possessing knowledge refers to the young men's previous education. the language and literature of the Chaldeans: The language of most of Mesopotamia was Akkadian, which was written in cuneiform script, usually on clay tablets. Over the centuries the Babylonians and Assyrians produced a massive body of literature of all types. Though Aramaic had begun to replace Akkadian by 600 B.C., Babylonian scholars continued to study and even write literature in their classical tongue. For Daniel and his friends to be truly educated required that they be familiar with these literary traditions. The term Chaldeans was commonly applied to the Babylonians in general, and also to the guild of astrologers, diviners, and other practitioners of wisdom to which Daniel was being introduced (1:17; 2:2, 4, 5, 10; 3:8).

1:6 According to the first-century Jewish historian Josephus, all four of these young men were members of Zedekiah's royal family.

1:7 The name Daniel means "God Is My Judge." Daniel's Babylonian name Belteshazzar means "Lady Protect the King," referring to the goddess Sarpanitu, wife of Marduk. The name Hananiah means "The Lord Is Gracious." Hananiah's Babylonian name Shadrach means "I Am Fearful of the God." The name Mishael means "Who Is What God Is?" Mishael's Babylonian name Meshach means "I Am of Little Account." The name Azariah means "The Lord Has Helped Me." Azariah's Babylonian name Abed-Nego means "Servant of (the god) Nebo."

1:8 defile himself: Daniel's refusal to eat the king's delicacies had nothing to do with the consumption of rich food or wine. There were two problems with the king's menu: (1) It no doubt included food forbidden by the Law and food not prepared according to Mosaic regulations (see Lev. 11). (2) The meat had probably been dedicated to idols, as was customary in Babylon. To partake of the food would have been to recognize the idols as deities.

1:9 This verse implies that the chief of the eunuchs was over Daniel, leading some scholars to conclude that Daniel himself was a eunuch.

1:10 In the Hebrew text, your is plural. Daniel's friends joined him in refusing to eat from the king's menu (vv. 7, 17, 19). Endanger my head suggests that the king might have had the chief of the eunuchs put to death for accommodating Daniel and his friends.

1:12 Vegetables means things grown from seed and includes vegetables and grains. The request for water indicates that Daniel and his friends did not want to drink wine, probably because, like the food, it was dedicated to idols (v. 8).

1:15 Better and fatter indicates that Daniel and his friends were healthier than the young men who ate . . . of the king's delicacies.

1:17 God gave them knowledge and skill in all literature: As Moses was educated in the knowledge of Egypt, so Daniel and his friends acquired a Chaldean education. The wisdom of the Chaldeans consisted of sciences current at the time, including the interpretation of omens communicated through astrology; the examination of livers, kidneys, and other animal entrails; and the examination of the organs and flight patterns of birds. Daniel had the additional advantage of understanding visions and dreams.

1:18 The end of the days refers to the end of three years (v. 5). The chief of the eunuchs was Ashpenaz (v. 3).

1:21 Daniel served as counselor to the king from the completion of his training under Nebuchadnezzar (about 603 B.C., see v. 5) until the first year of King Cyrus (539 B.C.). Thus Daniel held his position until the very end of the Babylonian Empire.

2:1 second year: Nebuchadnezzar's reign commenced in 605 B.C., so this is likely 603 B.C., given Daniel's preference for a "full-year" chronological system (1:1). The king was troubled because he did not know the future of his kingdom (v. 29).

2:2 The word translated magicians refers to those who use the pen—most likely, those learned in the sacred writings of the Babylonians. Astrologers studied the stars. Sorcerers received power from evil spirits. The Chaldeans were probably a class of wise men.

2:4 the Chaldeans spoke to the king in Aramaic: Daniel 2:4-7:28 is written in Aramaic, the common language of the day.

2:5 Cut in pieces refers to the ancient practice of dismembering a body (see 3:29; 1 Sam. 15:33).
2:8, 9 tell me the dream: Nebuchadnezzar reasoned that if the wise men could supernaturally interpret his dream, they should first be able to tell him the content of it.
2:12 Babylon here probably refers to the city, not the whole province.
2:13 they began killing the wise men: Nebuchadnezzar's penalty was excessive and extreme (v. 15).
2:15 Urgent means sharp or severe (v. 13).
2:17, 18 Daniel, despite his education and expertise, still knew that prayer to the omniscient God was the first step in a crisis situation. God of heaven is a favorite title for the Lord in late OT literature (see vv. 37, 44; 2 Chr. 36:23; Ezra 1:2; 5:11, 12; 6:9, 10; 7:12, 21, 23; Neh. 1:4, 5; 2:4, 20). The title emphasizes the universality of God's dominion over all nations.
2:19 night vision: Normally visions occurred in the daytime (8:1–14) and dreams occurred at night.
2:21 Seasons here refers to the events of history.
2:22 Deep refers to something inaccessible (see Ps. 92:5, 6). What is in the darkness is hidden from sight.
2:28 The latter days is an expression used frequently of the end times when God will intervene in human history to establish His eternal kingdom (see Is. 2:2; Hos. 3:5; Mic. 4:1–3).
2:31–33 Image here means statue, not idol. gold . . . silver . . . bronze . . . iron: The metals are listed in descending order of weight and value. The strength of the metals, however, increases from head to legs.

Dreams and Visions in Daniel

Daniel's God-given ability to interpret "visions and dreams" (1:17) served him well in his role as advisor to King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon, a man noted for his mysterious and troubling dreams. The following brief comparison of a dream of Nebuchadnezzar and a dream and vision of Daniel reveals a common theme in the Book of Daniel—the successive rise and fall of four kingdoms.

Nebuchadnezzar's Dream: An image with a head of fine gold (2:32)

Daniel's Dream: A beast like a lion with eagle's wings (7:4)

Interpretation: Babylon would establish itself as the first world empire (2:38; 7:17).

Nebuchadnezzar's Dream: An image with a chest and arms of silver (2:32)

Daniel's Dream: A beast like a bear with three ribs in its mouth (7:5)

Daniel's Vision: A ram with two horns, one of which was higher than the other (8:3)

Interpretation: Medo-Persia would defeat Babylon and establish itself as the second world empire (2:39; 7:17; 8:20).

Nebuchadnezzar's Dream: An image with a belly and thighs of bronze (2:32)

Daniel's Dream: A beast like a leopard with four wings (7:6)

Daniel's Vision: A male goat with a large horn, later replaced by four horns and a little horn (8:5–9)

Interpretation: Greece would defeat Medo-Persia and establish itself as the third world empire (2:39; 7:17; 8:21).

Nebuchadnezzar's Dream: An image with legs of iron and feet of iron and clay (2:32)

Daniel's Dream: A beast with iron teeth and ten horns (7:7)

Interpretation: Rome would defeat Greece and establish itself as the fourth world empire (2:40–43; 7:17).

2:34 Without hands signifies supernatural activity.

2:35 In biblical imagery, a mountain is often a metaphor for a kingdom (see Ps. 48:2; Is. 2:2; 11:9; Jer. 51:25; Ezek. 20:40; Zech. 8:3). The same is true in this case, as the later interpretation makes clear (v. 44).

2:37 God . . . has given you a kingdom: The God of Israel is the God of all nations. Although the rulers of those nations may not have recognized Him as Lord, that did not nullify God's ultimate sovereignty nor did it alleviate the rulers' responsibility to Him.

2:38 The head is a reference to the Babylonian Empire, personified in Nebuchadnezzar.

2:39, 40 The image that Nebuchadnezzar saw (vv. 31–35) represented four kingdoms that would rule over all the earth. The first worldwide empire—the head of gold (v. 32)—was Babylon (v. 38). The second empire—the chest and arms of silver (v. 32)—was Medo-Persia (5:28; 8:20; 11:2). The third empire—the belly and thighs of bronze (v. 32)—would be Greece (8:21). The fourth empire—the legs of iron (v. 33)—is the only one not identified within the Book of Daniel. Rome is the most likely choice, for it succeeded Greece. Strong as iron: The focus shifts from the value of the metals to their comparative strength. The Roman Empire was marked by strength, but it was destructive strength.

2:41–45 The kingdom shall be divided may be a reference to the fourth kingdom, the Roman Empire (v. 40). Differences about what is meant by the ten toes (v. 42) and the kingdom that filled the earth (represented by the stone in v. 45) has resulted in widely varying interpretations. Some believe that vv. 41–45 point to future events that have not yet been fulfilled. In this scenario, the Roman Empire will one day be revived (v. 41), will be ruled over by ten rulers (the toes of v. 42), will feud over internal problems (v. 43), will witness the return of Jesus Christ (v. 44), and will be destroyed by Christ at the Second Coming (v. 45).

2:44 The kingdom which shall never be destroyed is the kingdom of God. There are at least two views as to what form this kingdom will take. Amillennialists suggest it is a spiritual kingdom introduced by Jesus Christ at His first coming. Premillennialists suggest that it is a literal kingdom to be established by Jesus Christ at the Second Coming, at which time He will destroy the kingdoms of this world (see Rev. 19:15).

2:47 your God is the God of gods: One should not conclude from Nebuchadnezzar's confession that he had been converted. Since the Lord had enabled Daniel to interpret the king's dream, Nebuchadnezzar was willing to admit that Daniel's God was supreme, at least in matters of divine knowledge. The king gladly promoted Daniel as a result (v. 48).

3:1 sixty cubits . . . six cubits: A cubit in Israel was approximately 18 inches; in Babylon it was about 20 inches. Therefore Nebuchadnezzar's image was 90 to 100 feet tall. The 10:1 ratio of height to width, however, suggests that the image was standing on a high pedestal so that the proportions of the figure itself would be closer to the normal ratio of about 4:1. Since the state and its king could not be separated from its gods, however, to bow down before the image was to worship it (vv. 5, 12, 14, 18, 28). The plain of Dura was probably about six miles southeast of Babylon.

3:2, 3 The officials of the kingdom are listed in descending order of rank. Satraps were the chief officials of the provinces of the empire. Daniel was one of the administrators (2:48). In later times, Zerubbabel (see Hag. 1:1) and Nehemiah (see Neh. 5:14) were appointed governors.

- 3:5 harp . . . psaltery . . . symphony: These three words appear to be Greek in origin. Greek words of a cultural or technical nature appeared throughout the ancient Middle East well before 600 B.C.
- 3:8 Accused means “ate the pieces of, devoured piecemeal.” The term suggests slander and malicious accusations which devour the accused piece by piece.
- 3:12 No explanation is given for Daniel’s absence.
- 3:16 we have no need to answer you: Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego were not being arrogant; they were admitting their guilt.
- 3:17 God . . . is able: The response of the Jewish young men is a model of confidence in God and submission to His will. Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego recognized God’s sovereignty and power.
- 3:18 But if not: While the faithful men knew that God could deliver them (v. 17), they were also aware that God may have chosen not to do so. Faith in God may not translate into victory in every circumstance (see Heb. 11:32–39). To these men the outcome was irrelevant, for what was at stake was not God’s ability or their own lives, but their faith and obedience to serve Him regardless of the cost.
- 3:20 The mighty men of valor were Nebuchadnezzar’s personal bodyguards.
- 3:21 bound in . . . garments: Criminals were normally stripped before execution. The fact that the fine clothes of the Jewish men were not removed implies that the king’s command was carried out with great haste (v. 22).
- 3:22 killed those men: The price of Nebuchadnezzar’s rage was the loss of capable men.
- 3:25 walking: The enormous number of bricks demanded in Babylon required kilns large enough to permit people to walk in them. The fire burned off the men’s bonds (v. 21), but did not hurt them.

Theophanies

When King Nebuchadnezzar exclaimed that the fourth man walking about in the fiery furnace with Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego was “like the Son of God” (3:25), it may be an overstatement to say that he recognized Jesus. Yet even though he worshiped other gods, Nebuchadnezzar somehow knew that this mysterious fourth figure was divine (3:28).

Although the doctrine of the Triune God was not fully revealed until Jesus’ time, we find clues that God was preparing humanity for this truth. In the Old Testament, such foreshadowings of God or the preincarnate Christ in a visible form are called theophanies, meaning “appearances of God.” These theophanies include the Angel who comforted Hagar (see Gen. 16:7–13), the visitor who revealed to Abraham and Sarah that they would have a son (see Gen. 18:1–15), the Lord’s appearance to Moses in the burning bush (see Ex. 3), the pillars of cloud and fire that led the Israelites from Egypt (see Ex. 14:19, 20), and Moses’ glimpse of God on Sinai (see Ex. 33:11). Some people would also include as a theophany the appearance of Melchizedek, the priest-king of Salem, who gave wine and bread to Abram (see Gen. 14:18–20). The Old Testament contains nearly 80 references to the Spirit of God and anticipates the arrival of God’s Son, the Messiah, who would deliver His people. Daniel also calls Christ the Son of Man (see Dan. 7:13). These theophanies were temporary, however. They were hints of the incarnation of Christ, fully human and fully divine, who would live among and redeem His people.

Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego in the fiery furnace

- 3:27 the fire had no power: The God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego saved them completely, so that there was not the slightest evidence that they had ever been in danger. The salvation offered by the Lord is so effective and complete that nothing of the lost condition remains.
- 3:29 no other God: Pagan cultures did not deny the existence of other gods, even those of other peoples. Nebuchadnezzar declared only that the God of the Jews was a god who is able to deliver; the king forbade others to despise Him.
- 4:1–3 These verses are a royal proclamation by Nebuchadnezzar concerning the God of Israel in which the king celebrated what God had done for him and extolled His power and universal dominion.
- 4:4 rest . . . and flourishing: Nebuchadnezzar had peace at home and prospered in his work.
- 4:5 This dream of Nebuchadnezzar occurred 30 years after the dream in ch. 2. Troubled means terrified.
- 4:7 I told them the dream: In ch. 2, Nebuchadnezzar did not tell his wise men the content of his dream (2:5).
- 4:8 My god refers to Marduk. Nebuchadnezzar was still a pagan at this point.
- 4:9 Daniel, also known as Belteshazzar, was chief of the magicians, a position given to him years earlier (2:48).
- 4:10–17 In ch. 2, Nebuchadnezzar dreamed of a great image, of which he was a part. His second dream involved a tree, which represented him (v. 22).
- 4:15 let him: At this point it becomes obvious that the tree is a symbol of a person.
- 4:16 Seven times could refer to years, months, weeks, days, or hours. Most take it to mean years, based on the usage of “times” elsewhere in Daniel (2:8; 3:5, 15; 7:25).
- 4:17 The point of Nebuchadnezzar’s dream is that the Most High rules supreme in the world.
- 4:18 Spirit of the Holy God: The doctrine of the Triune God—the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit—is evident in the OT (see Gen. 1:26; 11:7; Is. 48:16), but is not developed (3:25). Nebuchadnezzar was merely saying that Daniel’s ability to interpret dreams was the result of God’s giving Daniel the spirit of interpretation.
- 4:19 astonished . . . troubled: Having come to an understanding of Nebuchadnezzar’s dream, Daniel was so upset by its content that he hesitated to divulge its meaning. may the dream concern those who hate you: Daniel wishes that the awful word of judgment were somehow intended for the king’s enemies and not the king.
- 4:20 In the OT, a tree is a common symbol for a ruler (see Judg. 9:7–15; Ezek. 31:2–14; Zech. 11:1, 2). Since few trees were present in Babylon, a tree of the gigantic proportions described here would have been impressive and unique.
- 4:21 leaves were lovely . . . fruit abundant: Daniel indicates that Nebuchadnezzar was the source of abundant blessing for all. The beasts and birds represent the happy citizens of Nebuchadnezzar’s realm.
- 4:22 heavens . . . earth: These terms convey the idea of totality. Using deliberate exaggeration, Daniel says that Nebuchadnezzar’s kingdom extended from heaven to the ends of the earth, and so was universal.

- 4:23 Watcher means “a waking one,” one who is constantly alert. The parallel holy one suggests that the watcher is either the Lord Himself or one of His angels (3:28; 6:22; 8:16; 10:13; 12:1). stump and roots: The tree—Nebuchadnezzar—would be cut down but not uprooted. The stump would produce suckers and the roots would produce new growth that would eventually give rise to a new tree, one as grand as before (v. 26). Seven times means seven years (7:12, 25).
- 4:29 twelve months: The reference here is to a “grace period” between the prediction of Nebuchadnezzar’s madness and its occurrence. Perhaps Nebuchadnezzar was allowed a full year in the hope that he might repent and avert the judgment of God for his arrogant pride.
- 4:32 until you know: Nebuchadnezzar would become insane, animal-like in his habits and senses. Yet in that condition he would learn more of God than he ever had before. In fact, the purpose of the judgment was that Nebuchadnezzar might know who God is and how He sovereignly creates kingdoms and distributes them to whom He wills. Nebuchadnezzar had to be humbled before he could be exalted again. The chastisement of God is always for a holy and helpful purpose.
- 4:34 Nebuchadnezzar praises the Most High, recognizing that God lives forever and rules forever. The king unmistakably acknowledges Daniel’s God as the omnipotent, eternal Sovereign of the universe.
- 5:1, 2 Belshazzar is called the king and the son of Nebuchadnezzar (v. 22). Other ancient records, however, seem to dispute both facts. These records indicate that Belshazzar was the son of Nabonidus, the last king of Babylon. Two possible explanations can reconcile these differing accounts: (1) Belshazzar served as vice-regent during his father’s frequent absences from the capital. Thus he would have been in charge when Nebuchadnezzar’s insanity began. Note that Darius the Mede was also called king even though he served Cyrus (5:31; 6:6). (2) Belshazzar was the grandson of Nebuchadnezzar; hence, the term father in v. 2 indicates that Nebuchadnezzar was an ancestor of Belshazzar.
- 5:3, 4 gold vessels . . . from the temple: Belshazzar’s use of the sacred vessels at a drunken orgy was a blasphemous act of sacrilege (v. 23). praised the gods: Belshazzar’s actions demonstrated deliberate defiance of the true God (v. 23).
- 5:7 Nabonidus the king was in Arabia. Belshazzar was his vice-regent. The third ruler would have been next in line to the throne.
- 5:10 The queen was not Belshazzar’s wife, but the queen mother. She was either the wife of Nebuchadnezzar or the daughter of Nebuchadnezzar who had married Nabonidus, the current king.
- 5:11 The Spirit of the Holy God is the same expression used by Nebuchadnezzar (4:8, 9, 18).

(Aram. peshar) (2:4; 4:6, 5:12, 16) Strong's #6591

This word literally means “to untie” or “to loose.” In other words, Daniel could unravel the mysteries of dreams and visions: he could explain or solve them. Yet he was always quick to give God the credit for his ability (2:28). By the time of Jesus, rabbinic Judaism had interpreted much of the OT allegorically. These “peshar” explanations of the Scriptures might have been what Jesus was addressing when He said, “you have heard that it was said” (Matt. 5:21, 27, 31, 38).

5:13 This event took place in 539 B.C. (see v. 30). Daniel was an old man at this time, possibly 80 years old or older.

5:17 When Daniel refused Belshazzar's gifts and rewards, he was not being ungrateful or showing disrespect. He was simply saying that he would interpret the writing regardless of reward.

5:25–28 MENE means numbered. The repetition is for emphasis. God had numbered the days of Belshazzar's kingdom; its time was up. TEKEL means weighed. God had weighed Belshazzar, and the king did not measure up to God's standard of righteousness. UPHARSIN, the plural of Peres in v. 28, means divided. That very night (v. 30) Babylon would be divided and defeated by the Medes and Persians.

Bible Times & Culture Notes

Aramaic

Aramaic words, phrases, and even whole passages frequently appear in the OT (Dan. 2–7; Ezra 4–7; Jer. 10:11). Outside of the Bible, the oldest fragments of Aramaic are relatively late—from 820 B.C. and later. Of all known Semitic languages, Aramaic was certainly the most like Hebrew. Among Jewish scholars, Aramaic has been held in higher esteem than Hebrew, simply because the primary works of Jewish tradition (the Talmud and its subsequent materials) were written in a dialect of Aramaic. No doubt the Persian Empire used Aramaic as its chief Semitic language, and it became the common language of the Jews after the Exile. From that time, they began translating the OT into Aramaic. These Aramaic translations are called the Targums.

5:30 That very night (October 12, 539 B.C.) Babylon fell to the Persian army commanded by Gubaru.

5:31 Darius the Mede is mentioned by name only in the Book of Daniel (see 6:1, 6, 9; 9:1). He is not the famous Darius I Hystaspes because Darius I was not a Mede and he lived too late (522–486 B.C.) to be a contemporary of Daniel. There are two principal suggestions as to the identity of Darius the Mede: (1) He was Cyrus the king of Persia. However, it is unlikely that Cyrus would be called a “Mede” since he was in fact a Persian. (2) He was Gubaru, a governor appointed by Cyrus. Both Daniel and ancient literary sources indicate that a certain official (“Darius the Mede” in Daniel, “Gubaru” in Persian texts) took over immediately in Babylon until Cyrus appointed his own son Cambyses as coruler around 538 B.C. This figure is most likely identified with Darius. Why he is called Darius is uncertain, though ancient rulers often took other names for themselves.

6:2 Daniel had previously been appointed a governor in Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar (2:48). Here he was governor in the new Medo-Persian reign. Suffer no loss refers to taxes.

6:3 Excellent spirit probably refers to Daniel’s surpassing ability to do his job and perhaps includes a commendable attitude.

6:5 Daniel had been circumspect in obeying the laws of the land, but his enemies knew that when the law of the land conflicted with the law of his God, Daniel would break the former in favor of the latter.

6:8 the law of the Medes and Persians: Once a royal decree had been issued, it could not be revoked—even by the king himself. It remained in force until its time of expiration. The practice of creating an unchangeable law may follow from the idea that changing a decree was an admission that it had been faulty.

6:10 Undeterred by the royal proclamation (vv. 6–9), Daniel resumed praying by the windows of his house that opened toward Jerusalem—that is, toward the west. His enemies were correct in assuming that if Daniel was forced to choose between the decree of an earthly king and the eternal word of the King of heaven, he would choose his God (v. 5).

- 6:13 Daniel's accusers did not describe him as governor (v. 2), but as one of the captives from Judah, in order to implicate him in a treasonous act.
- 6:16 The Aramaic word for den means "pit," implying that it was underground.
- 6:17 sealed it: To ensure that the den remained closed and that no effort could be made either by the king or his officials to intervene, the lid of the den was impressed with the royal seal and with the seals of the king's lords. The lid of the den could not be removed without breaking the seals.
- 6:21 Though this is a standard way of greeting a king (see 2:4; 3:9; 5:10; 6:6), it is ironic here because Daniel, who has just been made alive by the God whom even Darius confesses as "the living God" (v. 20), blesses the king with the wish that he should live forever. That is literally possible for the king, of course, only if he comes to know Daniel's God who is the source of life as the lion's den episode shows so clearly.
- 6:23 because he believed in his God: Daniel's faithfulness got him into trouble (v. 10); his faith got him out of it (see Heb. 11:33).
- 6:24 children . . . wives: The entire families of the wicked conspirators were destroyed because the Persians, like the Hebrews and other Semites, considered guilt a collective responsibility, especially in families. The examples of Korah (see Num. 16:1–35) and Achan (see Josh. 7) illustrate this principle well.
- 6:26 I make a decree: Darius's original 30-day decree (vv. 6–9) had probably expired.
- 6:28 Daniel prospered throughout the reign of Darius and in the reign of Cyrus. Gubaru, or Darius, served Cyrus for about one year (539–538 B.C.), after which Cyrus appointed his son Cambyses as vice-regent over Babylon. Cyrus himself continued as king until 530 B.C.
- 7:1 the first year of Belshazzar: Chapter 5 records Belshazzar's death, indicating that the Book of Daniel is not arranged chronologically. The date of Belshazzar's first year cannot be stated precisely. However, since Nabonidus appears to have spent at least ten years in Arabia and since Belshazzar reigned for Nabonidus in Babylon during that time, a date of 550 B.C. for Belshazzar's first year cannot be far off. This date coincides with the inauguration of the Medo-Persian Empire under Cyrus, an occasion that may have prompted Daniel's vision.
- 7:2 Four winds seems to refer to winds from every direction, covering the whole earth. The Great Sea is probably a reference to the Mediterranean Sea (see Josh. 15:12; 23:4; Ezek. 47:10, 19), here used figuratively of the nations of the world (see Is. 57:20; Rev. 17:15).
- 7:3 The beasts represent kings (v. 17) or kingdoms (vv. 18, 23).
- 7:4 lion . . . eagle's wings: It is commonly recognized that these two animals are the king of the beasts and the king of the birds respectively, a fitting description of Nebuchadnezzar and the Babylonian Empire (see Jer. 49:19, 22). There has been almost universal agreement from the early centuries until today that this beast represents Babylon. It is also agreed that the vision of ch. 7 and that of ch. 2 speak of the same four kingdoms. Plucked off is a reference to Nebuchadnezzar's humiliation (4:28–33).
- 7:5 If the lion with eagle's wings represents Babylon (v. 4), the bear—in line with Nebuchadnezzar's first dream—represents Babylon's successor, the Medo-Persian Empire (2:38, 39). Raised up on one side suggests that the Persians were greater and more powerful than the Medes. The three ribs represent the three kingdoms that the Medo-Persians devoured—Babylon, Lydia, and Egypt.
- 7:6 If the second beast of Daniel's dream represents the Medo-Persian Empire (v. 5), the leopard represents Greece (2:39). Four symbolizes universality (see "four winds," v. 2); wings are synonymous with speed. The Greeks under the leadership of Alexander the Great rapidly conquered the known world. Four heads describes "heads" of government. After Alexander's death, his empire was divided among his generals into four different parts (8:8, 22)—Macedonia, Egypt, Syria, and Thrace.
- 7:7 The fourth beast did not look like any known animal. Since this beast follows Greece (v. 6), it may represent Rome (2:40).
- 7:8 The horns here represent rulers. Even though the little one begins small, it would become the greatest of all (v. 20).

7:9 Ancient of Days is a reference to God the Father as certified by the submission of “the One like the Son of Man” to Him (vv. 13, 14) and His role in judgment (v. 22). Fiery flame symbolizes judgment. Its wheels refers to the chariot in which God rides to battle to exercise His sovereignty and to appear as Judge (see Ezek. 1:15–21; 10:1–22).

7:10 A thousand thousands . . . Ten thousand times ten thousand: The reference here is to innumerable servants. The books record the names and deeds of those who will be judged (see Rev. 20:12).

7:11 The horn here is the same as the one in v. 8. the burning flame: The idea that the fate of the wicked is fiery destruction is apparent in the OT (see Gen. 19:24; Is. 66:24; Mal. 4:1, 3), but reaches its fullest expression in the NT teaching about hell (see Matt. 5:22, 29, 30; 10:28; 2 Pet. 2:4).

7:12 The rest of the beasts is a reference to the three beasts of vv. 3–6—Babylon, Medo-Persia, and Greece. they had their dominion taken away: Though these nations passed away, their “dominion” was inherited by their respective successors. A season and a time is an idiom for an indefinite period.

7:13 Son of Man is Semitic for “human being.” Daniel saw One like the “Son of Man,” indicating that He is not a man in the strict sense, but rather the perfect representation of humanity. Jewish and Christian expositors have identified this individual as the Messiah. Jesus Himself used this name to emphasize His humanity as the incarnate Son of God (see Matt. 9:6; 10:23; 11:19; 12:8, 32, 40; Mark 8:31; 9:12; Luke 6:5; 9:22; John 3:13, 14; 5:27). Coming with . . . clouds: John uses the same expression to speak of Jesus coming in judgment (see Rev. 1:7; see also Matt. 24:30).

7:14 Him refers to the Son of Man (v. 13), who will reign over all things as the regent of Almighty God (see 1 Cor. 15:27, 28; Eph. 1:20–23; Phil. 2:9–11; Rev. 17:14; 19:16). In contrast to the vanishing nature of the previous empires, His dominion is . . . everlasting.

7:16 One of those who stood by refers to an angel standing by the throne of God (v. 10).

7:17 These kings represent kingdoms (8:21). Thus each beast represents both a king and a kingdom.

7:18 saints of the Most High: Saints means “holy ones,” a term that can refer either to angels (see Job 15:15; Ps. 89:5, 7; Zech. 14:5) or to redeemed men and women (see Ps. 16:3; 30:4; 31:23; 37:28; Prov. 2:8; Rom. 1:7; 12:13; Rev. 5:8). The kingdom received and forever possessed by the saints must be the same as the dominion of the Son of Man, which is also everlasting (v. 14). The Son of Man thus rules through His saints, a fact proclaimed frequently in the NT (see Rev. 2:26, 27; 20:4–6).

7:21 Daniel’s vision reveals the hostility waged by the little horn against the saints. The little horn’s militaristic character is seen also in 11:38, 39 and particularly in Rev. 13:1–10. There, in the guise of a beast, this blasphemous enemy of the saints prevails for 42 months. The connection between Daniel’s “little horn” and John’s “beast from the sea” is unmistakable.

7:24, 25 There are three common interpretations as to the ten kings who shall arise from this kingdom: (1) The fourth beast is Greece and the ten horns are ten divisions of the Grecian Empire. (2) The fourth beast is Rome and the ten horns are the fragments of the Roman Empire. (3) The fourth beast is a revived Roman Empire and the ten kings are members of a future realm. Another refers to the little horn of v. 8 (see also vv. 20, 21). This king will subdue three others, blaspheme God (see 11:36; 2 Thess. 2:4; Rev. 13:5, 6), persecute the saints (see v. 21; Rev. 13:7), attempt to change times and law, and dominate the saints for a limited time. time and times and half a time: Time can refer to a year, times to two years, and half a time to one half of a year, for a total of three and one-half years. Some suggest that the expression does not indicate a specific number of years but instead a period of time that God in His mercy would shorten.

7:26 The dominion of the little horn will come to a violent end when he submits to the court of God (v. 10).

7:27 the kingdom . . . to the people, the saints: The kingdom of God, governed by His saints, will exercise rule over all the earth.

8:1 After writing in Aramaic from 2:4-7:28, Daniel returns to writing in Hebrew.

vision

(Heb. chazon) (8:1; Is. 1:1; Prov. 29:18) Strong's #2377

The Hebrew word for a dream or a vision is derived from a common Hebrew verb meaning “to see.” Dreams and visions were often recognized by the ancients as revelations from the gods, or from God Himself in the case of the Hebrews (Is. 1:1). Daniel received a visionary message from God that spoke about the future of the kingdoms of Persia and Greece. His dream was encoded in symbols which required the interpretive assistance of the angel Gabriel (8:15–27). The author of Proverbs insists that revelation from God is essential to the well-being of a society. Without God’s law revealed in Scripture, the foundation of a society crumbles (see Prov. 29:18).

8:2 Shushan was about 230 miles east of Babylon. Ulai was an artificial canal located a few miles from Shushan.

8:3 The ram represents Medo-Persia (v. 20). The two horns symbolize the people of Media and the people of Persia.

8:4 Cyrus and his successors conquered westward including Babylon, Syria, and Asia Minor, northward including Armenia and the Caspian Sea region, and southward including Egypt and Ethiopia.

8:5 The goat represents Greece (v. 21). The notable horn symbolizes Alexander the Great (v. 21) who launched his attack against Persia in 334 B.C. By 332 B.C. he had essentially subdued the Persian Empire. without touching the ground: Alexander’s conquest was so rapid that it seemed as if he flew across the earth.

8:7 The Persian forces outnumbered the Greeks. But in two decisive battles, the Medo-Persian Empire collapsed.

8:8 the large horn was broken: Alexander the Great died at the height of his career, before he was 33 years old. four notable ones: After Alexander’s death, four of his generals carved up the Macedonian Empire. Antigonos ruled from northern Syria to central Asia; Cassander ruled over Macedonia; Ptolemy ruled in Egypt and southern Syria, including Palestine; Lysimachus ruled over Thrace.

8:9 The little horn here is not the same as the little horn of ch. 7. The former horn comes out of the fourth beast, Rome, whereas this one comes out of Greece. The little horn here refers to Antiochus Epiphanes, the eighth king of the Syrian dynasty who reigned from 175 to 164 B.C. Thus, this prophecy skips from 301 B.C., the time of the division of Alexander’s empire, to 175 B.C., when Antiochus became king. toward the south: Antiochus invaded Egypt. The east is Parthia and the Glorious Land is Palestine.

8:10 The host of heaven and the stars both refer to God’s people (see 12:3; Gen. 15:5). Cast down some describes Antiochus’s conquest.

8:11 The Prince of the host refers to God Himself. The little horn, like Lucifer (see Is. 14:12), aspires to be like God. sanctuary . . . cast down: Antiochus desecrated the house of God by erecting a statue of Zeus on the bronze altar.

8:12 Truth is a reference to the Mosaic Law.

8:13 A holy one and another holy one both refer to angels (4:13, 23).

8:14 Two thousand three hundred days refers to the time between Antiochus's pollution of the temple and the Maccabees' cleansing of it.

Alexander's Empire

8:16 This is the first mention of the messenger Gabriel in the Bible. The angel is mentioned three other times in Scripture (see 9:21; Luke 1:19, 26).

8:17 The time of the end is a reference to a time that may already be underway (see 1 John 2:18) in some respects, but will not find its fulfillment until the Second Coming of Christ (see Matt. 24:14).

8:19 The indignation is that of the Lord against those who have rebelled against His dominion. The end (see “the time of the end” in v. 17) indicates that this judgment is against all those in rebellion against God, especially those living at the time just before the coming of Christ.

8:20 The two horns represent the two countries of Media and Persia. It is significant that the two are regarded as one empire, represented by the ram.

8:21 The first king of Greece was Alexander the Great.

8:22 not with its power: None of Alexander's four generals ruled with the strength of Alexander (v. 8).

8:23 When the transgressors have reached their fullness means when the sinful actions of the Jews have reached the point where God cannot permit them to go any further without bringing punishment (see Gen. 15:16; Matt. 23:32; 1 Thess. 2:16). A king refers to Antiochus IV Epiphanes, the king of Syria who made his capital at Antioch.

8:24 Not by his own power indicates that Antiochus would be energized by Satan, as will the Antichrist (see 2 Thess. 2:9).

8:25 Without human means: Antiochus died without human intervention. According to the apocryphal Book of 2 Maccabees, Antiochus (v. 23) died of a painful disease.

8:26 seal up the vision: Most documents of Daniel's time were written on scrolls that could be rolled up and sealed to protect their contents. This document pertained to a time many days in the future.

8:27 I . . . fainted and was sick: Daniel suffered a severe emotional reaction to the vision of ch. 8, apparently even greater than the reaction he had experienced after his first vision (7:15, 28).

9:1 The first year of Darius was 539 B.C., the year he was appointed by Cyrus as administrator of Babylon.

9:2 The books refers to Scripture, specifically the Book of Jeremiah, which states that the desolation of Jerusalem would be fulfilled in 70 years (Jer. 25:11, 12; 29:10–14). Daniel's own captivity occurred in 605 B.C. It was now 538 B.C., some 67 years after the conquest. The period of captivity was almost over. Zechariah refers to the 70-year period as beginning with the destruction of the temple, which took place in 586 B.C. (see Zech. 7:5). The temple was rebuilt in 515 B.C. (see Ezra 6:15). Therefore, the seventy years has several beginnings and endings.

9:4–14 This is a prayer of repentance for Israel's past sinfulness, but it is also a prayer of confidence because God was about to overthrow the Babylonians and allow the Jews to return to their homeland to rebuild it. The 70 years of captivity were almost up, and glorious things lay ahead. Daniel confessed that Israel had departed from the Word of God, had disregarded the prophets of God, and had despised the Lord Himself.

9:11, 12 the curse and the oath: Covenant documents typically contained statements concerning the penalties for covenant violation. In the Law of Moses, such sanctions are found particularly in Leviticus 26:3–45 and Deuteronomy 27 and 28. In both passages the most feared and devastating curse of all—deportation from the land of promise—is emphasized (see Lev. 26:33–39; Deut. 28:36–68). Daniel pointed out that the curse had come to pass.

9:15 brought Your people out of the land of Egypt: Daniel reflected on the greatest redemptive event of Israel's history, the exodus from Egypt, and prayed that God would repeat what He had done long ago.

9:17 Your sanctuary is a reference to Solomon's temple, which had lain in ruins since 586 B.C.

9:18 Your great mercies: It is important to note that the only basis for Daniel's appeal was the grace of God.

9:19 Do not delay: These words must be understood in light of Daniel's reference to the 70 years (v. 2). Daniel knew full well that all of God's promises had not come to pass, nor had the blessings been conferred on the regathered and restored people (see Lev. 26:40–45; Deut. 4:29–31).

God Answers Fervent Prayer

Do you ever feel as if your prayers bounce off the ceiling rather than reaching God? If so, consider carefully the prayer of Daniel for the release of his people from captivity (ch. 9). It is a testimony to the fact that God answers prayer—in His time and according to His purposes—as the angel Gabriel announced (9:24, 25).

However, God does not answer any and every prayer as the one praying would like. Why, then, did

He respond to Daniel's? Here are some observations:

1. Daniel's prayer was the result of his study of Scripture. The timing of Daniel's prayer is highly significant. It came "in the first year of Darius," around 539 B.C. (9:1). That was the year in which Babylon fell to the Persians, a truly astounding event that must have sent Daniel back to the Scriptures to search for understanding. As he studied the Law, he found the reasons for Judah's exile (9:11–13; compare Lev. 26; Deut. 27; 28). He also found a promise of restoration—if the people repented of their sins (Lev. 26:40–45).

2. Daniel confessed and repented of his people's sins. By all appearances, Daniel was a man of faith who lived a life of utmost integrity, both before and after being deported to Babylon. Yet despite his own personal innocence, he confessed to numerous sins as a member of God's wayward people. Four times he told the Lord, "We have sinned" (9:5, 8, 11, 15). This is a powerful example of corporate confession, in which one accepts personal responsibility for the sins of one's people (see Lam. 1:18).

3. Daniel fasted and prayed for a period of time. The Bible does not say exactly how long Daniel's prayer of confession lasted, but it was probably more than a day, as he refers to fasting (9:3). He also demonstrated his remorse for sin in a very tangible way by wearing sackcloth and smearing himself with ashes. Clearly he wanted God to know that he was sorry for the sins of his people. Only after this prolonged period of confession did Daniel ask the Lord for mercy (9:16, 17). He did not even raise the possibility of restoration, despite God's promise in the Law and his awareness of Jeremiah's prophecies (9:2). He asked only that the Lord would act on behalf of His own interests (9:18, 19).

James said that "the effective, fervent prayer of a righteous man avails much" (James 5:16). Daniel's prayer seems to be a case in point. Not long after Daniel prayed, Cyrus issued a decree allowing the Jews to return to Jerusalem and begin rebuilding the temple (2 Chr. 36:22, 23). Was there a connection between Daniel's prayer, Cyrus's decree, and Jeremiah's prophecies? Gabriel indicates that there was (9:23–25).

Prayer is not a gimmick by which we charm or coerce God into giving us what we want. Prayer is a sober-minded acknowledgment of our true situation before the Lord and an admission of our need for His divine help. Are you prepared to pray like Daniel?

9:20, 21 while I was speaking: The angel was sent at the beginning of Daniel's prayer (v. 23). The man Gabriel is not a denial of Gabriel's angelic nature; the title simply serves to identify Gabriel with the vision of 8:15, 16. evening offering: Because the temple was in ruins, regular daily sacrifices were impossible. Nevertheless, Daniel observed the ritual of worship by praying at the hour of the evening sacrifice. Daniel's prayer was his evening offering.

9:24 Seventy weeks may also be translated seventy sevens. Many scholars agree that the "sevens" are years, as the 70 years of captivity addressed in v. 2 implies. Leviticus 25:8 speaks of "seven sabbaths of years"; Lev. 26:18, 21 implies that Israel's punishment would be multiplied sevenfold. Therefore, an exile of 70 "weeks" would be expected to last for seven times 70 years. Second Chronicles 36:21 suggests that the captivity was to last long enough to make up for 70 omissions of the sabbatical year, which occurred every seven years. This would amount to 490 years before God's people would experience perfect reconciliation with their God. There are many different interpretations of how these years account for the eras of world history before the Second Coming of the Messiah. Some interpreters have suggested that the use of the number seven in this verse is symbolic representing completeness—that is, the completion of all of human history.

9:25 The command to restore and build Jerusalem may be a reference to (1) the decree of Cyrus in Ezra 1, (2) the decree of Darius in Ezra 6, (3) the decree of Artaxerxes in Ezra 7, or (4) the decree of Artaxerxes in Neh. 2.

9:26 One commonly held interpretation maintains that the sixty-two weeks can be added to the seven weeks of v. 25, resulting in a total of 69 weeks, or 483 years. If these years are added to the date of the decree of Artaxerxes in Neh. 2, 445 B.C., with an adjustment to allow for the use of a 360-day year, the end of the 69 weeks coincides with the date of the crucifixion of Jesus. Various other interpretations of the time periods indicated by the 62 weeks have been presented, including one that asserts that the Messiah in this verse refers to Cyrus, who was also called the Lord's anointed (see Is. 45:1). Messiah shall be cut off may be a reference to the crucifixion of Jesus Christ. The phrase cut off means "to destroy, to kill." The fact that Jesus Christ died not for Himself but for the sins of the world may support the view that the Messiah in this verse refers to Jesus Himself. The prince who is to come may be a reference to the Antichrist (v. 27).

9:27 He may be a reference to the Antichrist, who will confirm a covenant with Israel. In the middle of the week—that is, three and one-half years later—he will break the covenant. abominations . . . desolate: Antiochus committed an abomination of desolation by setting up an altar to the god Zeus in the temple in Jerusalem (11:31). The Antichrist will also commit an abomination of desolation against the living God (see Matt. 24:15). the consummation . . . is poured out on the desolate: The fact that this abomination does not occur until the consummation suggests that this verse is describing the abomination of the Antichrist and not that of Antiochus.

10:1 The third year of Cyrus's rule over Babylon was 536 B.C.

10:2 Daniel was mourning because he wanted to understand the vision (v. 12). Three full weeks refers to Daniel's observance of the Passover and the Feast of Unleavened Bread, which took place during the first month of the year (see Ex. 12:1–20). The Passover was kept on the fourteenth of the month, and the Feast of the Unleavened Bread for the next eight days, with the whole festival ending on the twenty-first day of the month.

10:4 The twenty-fourth day of the first month occurs three days after the Unleavened Bread festival (v. 2).

10:5 A certain man is either an appearance of the preincarnate Christ or an angel. The description that follows suggests that this individual is Christ (v. 6).

10:6 The description of the man here is very much like Ezekiel's description of the glory of God (see Ezek. 1:4–28) and John's description of the triumphant, risen Christ (see Rev. 1:9–20).

10:8 Vigor suggests majesty, splendor, or beauty. turned to frailty . . . no strength: Humans are weak and frail in the presence of God.

10:11 greatly beloved: God loves everyone (see John 3:16); yet some, because of their special relationship to God, are objects of unusual divine love (see 1 Sam. 13:14; John 13:23; 14:21, 23; Acts 13:22).

10:13 The prince of the kingdom of Persia cannot be a human ruler because the conflict referred to here is in the spiritual, heavenly realm, as the allusion to Michael makes clear. The prince, therefore, must be understood as a satanic figure who was to supervise the affairs of Persia, inspiring its religious, social, and political structures to works of evil. The apostle Paul refers to principalities, powers, rulers of the darkness of this age, and "spiritual hosts of wickedness in the heavenly places" (see Eph. 6:12). The "man" here says he was detained for twenty-one days, which equals the time of Daniel's mourning and fasting (vv. 2, 3). The wicked prince of Persia sought to detain the "man" so that Daniel would be prevented from hearing more of God's revelation (vv. 12, 14). Michael seems to be one of the most powerful angels. He is mentioned three times in the OT, all in Daniel (see also v. 21; 12:1), and twice in the NT (see Jude 9; Rev. 12:7).

10:14 latter days: This expression is used throughout the books of prophecy to refer to the future (see Is. 2:2; Jer. 23:20; 49:39; Ezek. 38:16; Mic. 4:1). The messenger here is referring to the revelation of ch. 11.

10:16 One having the likeness of the sons of men may refer to the preincarnate Christ (v. 5) or to the angel of vv. 10–15.

10:18 For the third time in this chapter Daniel is supernaturally strengthened by one who touched him (see also vv. 10, 16). The first touch enabled him to arise from the ground, the second to speak, and the third to carry on a conversation.

10:20 Just as Persia was under the ultimate dominion of an evil spirit from Satan (vv. 13, 14), so also was Greece. Once the prince of Persia was overcome, the messenger would enter into conflict with the prince of Greece. The succession of world powers follows the pattern of Daniel's second vision (8:20–22).

10:21 your prince: God chose Michael the archangel to be a prince in His kingdom on earth.

11:1 the first year of Darius: This is the same year as that of the revelation of the 70 weeks, 539 B.C. (9:1). At the beginning of the Persian administration, the divine messenger stood up to confirm and strengthen Darius. This suggests that though the kingdoms of the world are under demonic control, their human rulers can be delivered from that control and used for a higher purpose by God as He sees fit.

11:2 three more kings will arise in Persia, and the fourth . . . against the realm of Greece: Darius (under Cyrus) was followed by Cambyses (530–522 B.C.); Gaumata (522 B.C.); Darius I (522–486 B.C.); and Xerxes (486–465 B.C.), who was the richest king of all due to his conquest and severe taxation.

11:3 The scene shifts to Greece (v. 2). The mighty king is Alexander the Great (v. 4).

11:4 The kingdom of Alexander was divided into four parts (8:22), but not among his posterity—that is, his heirs. Others refers to those outside Alexander's family—his generals ruled the empire he had conquered (see 8:8, 22).

11:5 Having predicted that there would be four divisions of the Greek kingdom (v. 4), the angel here speaks of two of them, the Syrian kingdom just north of Palestine and the Egyptian kingdom to the south. The first king of the South—that is, Egypt—was Ptolemy I Soter (323–285 B.C.). One of his princes refers to Seleucus Nicator (311–280 B.C.).

- 11:6 At the end of some years refers to the time period around 252 B.C. The daughter refers to Berenice, the daughter of Ptolemy Philadelphus (285–246 B.C.) of Egypt. The king of the North refers to Antiochus II Theos (261–246 B.C.) of Syria.
- 11:7–9 The branch of her roots refers to the brother of Berenice (v. 6), Ptolemy III Euergetes (246–221 B.C.), who conquered the king of the North, Seleucus Callinicus (246–226 B.C.) of Syria. Ptolemy III returned to Egypt with great booty and outlived Seleucus by six years. Seleucus attempted an attack on Egypt but returned to Syria without accomplishing his purpose.
- 11:10 The sons of Seleucus Callinicus were Seleucus III Ceraunus (227–223 B.C.) and Antiochus III the Great (223–186 B.C.).
- 11:11 The king of the South, Ptolemy IV Philopator (221–204 B.C.), defeated the king of the North, Antiochus III the Great, at Raphia in 217 B.C.
- 11:13 The king of the North, Antiochus III, assembled a great army and attacked Egypt in 201 B.C.

- 11:14 Many shall rise up indicates that others like Philip V of Macedonia helped Antiochus fight against the king of the South, Ptolemy V Epiphanes (203–181 B.C.) of Egypt. The violent men of your people refers to Jews who tried to help Antiochus bring to pass what had been predicted in the vision of ch. 8, but failed.
- 11:15 The king of the North, Antiochus, defeated the fortified city of Sidon in 198 B.C.
- 11:16 The Glorious Land refers to Israel. The control of Palestine passed from Egypt to Syria.
- 11:17 Antiochus III's daughter Cleopatra was given in marriage to Ptolemy V Epiphanes of Egypt in order to destroy or undermine Egypt, but Cleopatra sided with her husband over her father.
- 11:18, 19 Antiochus III undertook a vigorous campaign into Asia Minor and the Aegean region. A ruler, the Roman Lucius Cornelius Scipio, defeated Antiochus. Having lost all that he had gained, Antiochus returned to his own land, where he was defeated and killed while trying to plunder a temple.
- 11:20 arise in his place: Seleucus IV Philopator (187–176 B.C.), Antiochus's son, took his father's place. The glorious kingdom refers to Israel. within a few days: Antiochus ruled for 37 years; Seleucus ruled for only 11 years.
- 11:21 A vile person refers to Antiochus IV Epiphanes (175–164 B.C.), who seized the throne through treachery.
- 11:22 They shall be swept away is probably a reference to the Egyptians. The prince of the covenant refers to Onias III, the high priest in Jerusalem who bore that title.
- 11:23, 24 He refers to Antiochus IV Epiphanes (v. 21). shall disperse: Antiochus took from the rich and gave to the poor.
- 11:25, 26 The king of the South at this time was Ptolemy Philometor (181–145 B.C.) of Egypt. those who eat . . . his delicacies: The trusted counselors of Ptolemy Philometor who ate at his table betrayed him.
- 11:27 Both . . . bent on evil: Both Antiochus and Ptolemy resorted to deceit and betrayal in working out truce arrangements.
- 11:28 The holy covenant refers to Israel. do damage: On his way back to Syria, Antiochus looted the temple in Jerusalem and killed many people.
- 11:29 return and go toward the south: After learning that Ptolemy VI and Ptolemy VII had formed a union against him, Antiochus returned to Egypt in 168 B.C.
- 11:30 Cyprus here refers to Rome. When the Romans forced Antiochus to depart from Egypt, he unleashed his frustration on the holy covenant—that is, Israel (v. 28). Those who forsake the holy covenant refers to the apostate Jews (v. 32) who cooperated with Antiochus.
- 11:31 defile the sanctuary: Antiochus polluted the altar by offering a sow upon it. He declared the daily sacrifices and other Mosaic ceremonies illegal and committed an abomination of desolation by erecting an image of Zeus in the holy place (9:27; 12:11). Jesus said a similar thing would happen just prior to His return (see Matt. 24:15).
- 11:32 the people who know their God shall be strong: Mattathias, father of five sons, refused to offer sacrifices in a profane manner and killed the king's agents. He and his sons then fled to the mountains and began the famous Maccabean revolt.
- 11:33 Many devoted Jews were killed in the Maccabean revolt (see Heb. 11:37, 38).
- 11:34 As some Jews were killed in the Maccabean revolt, others provided a little help. Many joined by intrigue—that is, insincerely.
- 11:35 Some of those of understanding refers to those who understood God's Word and were allowed to go through troubled times so that they could be refined and purified.
- 11:36 the king: Many ancient and modern interpreters have concluded that at this point a new person, the Antichrist, is introduced. This king is distinguished from the king of the North (v. 40); therefore he cannot be Antiochus Epiphanes.
- 11:37 The king of v. 36 will cast aside the God of his fathers, the worship of his ancestors. The desire of women is usually taken to be either a female goddess or the desire of every Jewish woman to be the mother of the Messiah.

11:38 god of fortresses: The king of v. 36 will not regard any god except the god of power. A god which his fathers did not know is probably a reference to self-worship (see v. 37; 2 Thess. 2:4).

11:40 The backdrop of this verse and the remainder of the chapter is the covenant the king of v. 36 will make with Israel. The time of the end refers to the period just before the return of Christ (see Matt. 24:14).

11:41–43 The king of v. 36 will enter the Glorious Land of Palestine. Edom, Moab, and Ammon, the traditional enemies of Israel, will not be invaded. The king will then conquer Egypt, Libya, and Ethiopia.

11:44 The north here could be a reference to Palestine, a view which seems to be confirmed by v. 45.

11:45 The seas refers to the Mediterranean Sea and the Dead Sea. The glorious holy mountain refers to Mt. Zion, the site of the temple. The end of the king of v. 36 is sealed at Christ's second coming (see Rev. 19:11–21).

12:1 At that time refers to the “time of the end” (11:40), the end of the evil king (11:36) at the Second Coming of Christ (11:45). A time of trouble, such as never was since there was a nation refers to the period of tribulation just prior to the coming of Christ. Those who shall be delivered are those whose names are written in the book of life, God's record of those who have been justified by faith (see Ex. 32:32; Ps. 69:28; Luke 10:20; Rev. 20:12).

12:2 Sleep is a euphemism for death, as the context in the dust of the earth illustrates. Awake is a reference to resurrection. Though this passage appears to refer to a general resurrection, other passages suggest that there is more than one (see John 5:25). It is not unusual for prophecy in the OT to present events separated by a considerable span of time as if they occurred in immediate relationship to each other (see Is. 61:1, 2). Daniel is simply saying that after the tribulation, many—both righteous and wicked—will be raised. This resurrection of many of the righteous seems to be a reference to the resurrection of Israel (see “your people” in v. 1).

12:3 The wise not only understand salvation themselves (see 2 Tim. 3:15), they also turn many others to the way of righteousness.

12:4 Knowledge shall increase is a reference to knowledge that pertains to these prophecies.

12:5, 6 As Daniel stood beside the Tigris River, he saw three persons, one on each side of the river and one above the river. The two others refers to two angels, different from the ones Daniel had already seen. The man clothed in linen may be the preincarnate Christ (10:6). How long refers to the duration of the trials. Daniel was not asking when the events would begin.

12:7 A time, times, and half a time, which adds up to three and one-half years (7:25), may refer to the period immediately preceding the Second Coming of Christ (7:27). Others have suggested that this expression does not refer to a specific number of years but instead a period of time that the Lord would shorten because of His mercy.

12:8 Daniel did not understand his own revelation (see v. 4).

Word Studies

sealed

(Heb. chatham) (12:9; Is. 29:11; Jer. 32:10) Strong's #2856

This word means “to affix a seal.” To authenticate a document and assure its integrity, a king or official would close it with an application of clay or wax, stamped with an impression of his seal. The document then carried his authority and could not be altered without breaking the seal. Letters (1 Kin. 21:8), land deeds (Jer. 32:10), covenants (Neh. 10:1), and royal decrees (Esth. 3:12) were all authenticated with seals. Daniel’s prophetic announcements were symbolically sealed (12:9), indicating that they were authoritative and could not be altered, until the day of their fulfillment. In Revelation, a seal of the scroll of judgment is broken, indicating that the time of its fulfillment has come (Rev. 5:1–10).

12:10 Many will be purified, made white, and refined (11:35). Suffering will refine the righteous, but the wicked will continue in their evil.

12:11 one thousand two hundred and ninety days: Various interpretations have been suggested for this number of days. One significant interpretation is that these days refer to the middle of a seven-year period of tribulation prior to the coming of Christ. At that time, the Antichrist will abolish the abominable and idolatrous sacrifices that he had established (9:27).

In Scripture, the word “wait” normally suggests the anxious, yet confident, expectation by God’s people that the Lord will intervene on their behalf. Such waiting may be for answers to prayer (Ps. 25:5), for the coming of the Holy Spirit (Acts 1:4), for salvation (Gen. 49:18), or especially for the coming of the Messiah to bring salvation to His people and to establish His kingdom on earth (Ps. 37:34; Luke 12:36; Rom. 8:23; 1 Thess. 1:10). Waiting, therefore, is the working out of hope.

C. 750–586 B.C.

Refugees arrived in Jerusalem about the time of the fall of the northern kingdom (722 B.C.). Settlement spread to the western hill, and a new wall was added for protection. King Hezekiah’s engineers carved an underground aqueduct out of solid rock to bring an ample water supply inside the city walls, enabling Jerusalem to survive the siege of Sennacherib in 701.

Introduction

Like others before and after him, Hosea discovered that being a prophet had its occupational hazards. The Lord sometimes required His prophets to perform difficult and even humiliating object lessons to complement their messages. At the beginning of Hosea's prophetic ministry, the Lord told him to get married and announced that Hosea's chosen bride would be unfaithful to her marriage vows. Her adultery would vividly illustrate Israel's unfaithfulness to her covenant Lord.

Hosea chose Gomer, the daughter of Diblaim, as his wife and they had three children, each of whom received a symbolic name from the Lord. The firstborn son's name Jezreel was a reminder of the atrocities that had occurred at Jezreel. God would soon judge Israel for these sins, appropriately through a military defeat at this same city. Their daughter Lo-Ruhamah's name, meaning "Not Loved," announced that the Lord would temporarily withdraw His love from Israel. The third child's name Lo-Ammi, meaning "Not My People," anticipated the severe disruption of the Lord's covenantal relationship with His people.

Because of Gomer's adulteries, the marriage disintegrated, and she eventually became the slave or concubine of another man. However, the Lord instructed Hosea to buy back his wife. Hosea's act of mercy toward his wife was a striking picture of the Lord's great love for Israel.

Author and Date Hosea the son of Beeri prophesied during the eighth century B.C. His ministry began while Uzziah (Azariah) was king of Judah (792–740 B.C.) and Jeroboam II was king of Israel (792–753 B.C.). Hosea's prophetic career spanned the reigns of the Judean kings Jotham (752–736 B.C.) and Ahaz (736–720 B.C.) and ended during Hezekiah's rule (729–699 B.C.). Hosea also witnessed the reigns of the last six kings of Israel, although he did not name these kings in his prophecies.

Historical Setting Hosea began prophesying during a time of general prosperity. Jeroboam had extended Israel's borders through several military operations (see 2 Kin. 14:24–28). In the south, Uzziah had strengthened Judah's armed forces and defeated the nation's enemies (see 2 Chr. 26:1–15). But despite the outward success of the two nations, signs of trouble were on the horizon. As the Book of Hosea makes clear, idolatry—especially worship of the Canaanite god Baal—was widespread in the northern kingdom. The assassination of Zechariah, Jeroboam's son and successor, in 753 B.C. ended Jehu's dynasty and introduced a new era of political turmoil. Making matters worse, the mighty Assyrian Empire, after several decades of declining power, was once more flexing its muscles and looking westward. During the second half of the eighth century B.C., Assyria reduced Israel to a vassal state (required by treaty to pay regular tribute to Assyria), then a puppet state (ruled by a king chosen by Assyria), and finally a province (ruled by an Assyrian governor). Judah also declined spiritually and was torn by political dissension. King Ahaz rejected Isaiah's offer of divine protection and instead embarked on a pro-Assyrian policy that facilitated the Assyrian takeover of the Palestinian states, reduced Judah to vassal status, and drained the nation's economic wealth.

Literary Structure The Book of Hosea fluctuates between judgment and salvation. Each of the book's five major sections begins on a sour note but concludes with a positive affirmation of God's commitment to His people and the expectation that He will restore them.

As a prophet and a poet, Hosea uses an arsenal of rhetorical and poetic techniques to communicate his message in a memorable and persuasive manner. He uses a variety of metaphors as he depicts a broad range of themes, including God's anger, judgment, devotion, and love, as well as Israel's waywardness and stubbornness. Hosea employs images that were familiar to his contemporaries, drawing extensively from agriculture and nature. Hosea paints some of the most moving, terrifying, and exhilarating word pictures in all of the Bible.

Purpose and Major Themes Hosea's purpose was to denounce sin, to warn of impending judgment, and to assure the faithful that God's love would win out in the end. Israel, the northern kingdom, is the primary focus of Hosea's prophecy. Hosea accused the nation of being unfaithful to its vows, just as his own adulterous wife had been unfaithful to her vows. By participating in the pagan fertility rites of Baalism, the people violated their covenant with the Lord. The Lord did not tolerate this rebellion and was prepared to bring against Israel the judgments threatened in the covenant (see Deut. 28:15–68). God's purpose, however, was not entirely punitive; He intended these severe judgments to bring the nation to its senses. Hosea proclaimed that the Lord would eventually restore His marriage with His people and again pour His blessings upon them.

Israel's covenant relationship with God is at the heart of Hosea's message. God delivered His people from slavery in Egypt, established them as a nation, and took great delight in them. He looked for a favorable response to His love and obedience to the commandments He had given to regulate the people's worship and daily activities. However, the people were ungrateful, turning to other gods, violating the religious and social standards of God's covenant, and forming alliances with surrounding nations.

When God establishes a binding relationship, He demands absolute loyalty. Through Hosea, God announced that He would use severe judgment to free His people from their spiritual stupor and get their attention. This judgment would take the forms of drought, invasion, and exile.

Though the severity of God's judgment might give the impression that Israel had been abandoned forever, God intended to restore His people. When they repented of their sins, He would return them to their land, reunite the north and south under an ideal Davidic king, and restore His rich blessings.

The Book of Hosea gives us a clear and balanced picture of God. He loves His people and desires an intimate and vibrant relationship with them. He is jealous of their affections and tolerates no rivals. When they sin, He will discipline them as severely as is necessary. While God's jealousy may seem inappropriate and His discipline may seem harsh, this divine reaction to His people's sin is actually evidence of His love and commitment. He will allow nothing to ruin the relationship He has established and will do everything to preserve it. In the end, His devotion and mercy will win out, and His people will come to their senses, giving Him the love He fervently desires.

Christ in the Scriptures

After reading Hosea, it's only natural to think of Jesus, the sinless Son of God, coming to a sin-prone planet. He demonstrated His love and commitment and yet was rejected and betrayed. Matthew applied Hosea 11:1 to the infant Jesus exiled in Egypt with His parents: "When Israel was a child, I loved him, and out of Egypt I called My son" (compare Matt. 2:15). But by far the most compelling portrait of Jesus is Hosea's marriage to Gomer, a woman who would be unfaithful to him. The picture is of our God who loves us even as we stray away from Him and into sin. As Hosea bought back his wife despite her adultery, so God, through His Son Jesus, identified with our plight and lovingly paid the cost of our freedom with His blood.

Hosea 1

¹The word of the LORD that came to Hosea the son of Beerī, in the days of ^aUzziah, ^bJotham, ^cAhaz, and ^dHezekiah, kings of Judah, and in the days of ^eJeroboam the son of Joash, king of Israel.

The Family of Hosea

²When the LORD began to speak by Hosea, the LORD said to Hosea:

^f“Go, take yourself a wife of harlotry
And children of harlotry,
For ^gthe land has committed great ¹harlotry
By departing from the LORD.”

³So he went and took Gomer the daughter of Diblaim, and she conceived and bore him a son.

⁴Then the LORD said to him:

“Call his name Jezreel,
For in a little while ^hI will avenge the bloodshed of Jezreel on the house of Jehu, ⁱAnd bring an end to the kingdom of the house of Israel.
^{5j}It shall come to pass in that day
That I will break the bow of Israel in the Valley of Jezreel.”

⁶And she conceived again and bore a daughter. Then God said to him:

“Call her name ²Lo-Ruhamah,
^kFor I will no longer have mercy on the house of Israel,
³But I will utterly take them away.
^{7l}Yet I will have mercy on the house of Judah,
Will save them by the LORD their God,
And ^mwill not save them by bow,
Nor by sword or battle,
By horses or horsemen.”

⁸Now when she had weaned Lo-Ruhamah, she conceived and bore a son.

⁹Then God said:

“Call his name ⁴Lo-Ammi,
For you are not My people,
And I will not be your God.

The Restoration of Israel

¹⁰“Yet ⁿthe number of the children of Israel
Shall be as the sand of the sea,
Which cannot be measured or numbered.

^oAnd it shall come to pass
In the place where it was said to them,
‘You are ⁵not My ^ppeople,’
There it shall be said to them,
‘You are ^qsons of the living God.’

^{11r}Then the children of Judah and the children of Israel
Shall be gathered together,
And appoint for themselves one head;
And they shall come up out of the land,
For great will be the day of Jezreel!

Hosea 2

¹Say to your brethren, ¹‘My people,’
And to your sisters, ²‘Mercy is shown.’

God’s Unfaithful People

²“Bring³ charges against your mother, ⁴bring charges;
For ^ashe is not My wife, nor am I her Husband!
Let her put away her ^bharlotries from her sight,
And her adulteries from between her breasts;
³Lest ^cI strip her naked
And expose her, as in the day she was ^dborn,
And make her like a wilderness,
And set her like a dry land,
And slay her with ^ethirst.

⁴“I will not have mercy on her children,
For they are the ^fchildren of harlotry.
⁵For their mother has played the harlot;
She who conceived them has behaved shamefully.
For she said, ‘I will go after my lovers,
^gWho give me my bread and my water,
My wool and my linen,
My oil and my drink.’

⁶“Therefore, behold,
^hI will hedge up your way with thorns,
And ⁵wall her in,
So that she cannot find her paths.
⁷She will ⁶chase her lovers,
But not overtake them;
Yes, she will seek them, but not find them.
Then she will say,
ⁱ‘I will go and return to my ^jfirst husband,
For then it was better for me than now.’
⁸For she did not ^kknow

That I gave her grain, new wine, and oil,
And multiplied her silver and gold—
Which they prepared for Baal.

⁹“Therefore I will return and take away

My grain in its time
And My new wine in its season,
And will take back My wool and My linen,
Given to cover her nakedness.

¹⁰Now ¹I will uncover her lewdness in the sight of her lovers,
And no one shall deliver her from My hand.

^{11m}I will also cause all her mirth to cease,
Her feast days,
Her New Moons,
Her Sabbaths—
All her appointed feasts.

¹²“And I will destroy her vines and her fig trees,
Of which she has said,
‘These are my wages that my lovers have given me.’
So I will make them a forest,
And the beasts of the field shall eat them.

¹³I will punish her
For the days of the Baals to which she burned incense.
She decked herself with her earrings and jewelry,
And went after her lovers;
But Me she forgot,” says the LORD.

God’s Mercy on His People

¹⁴“Therefore, behold, I will allure her,
Will bring her into the wilderness,
And speak ⁷comfort to her.

¹⁵I will give her her vineyards from there,
And ⁿthe Valley of Achor as a door of hope;
She shall sing there,
As in ^othe days of her youth,
^pAs in the day when she came up from the land of Egypt.

¹⁶“And it shall be, in that day,”
Says the LORD,
“That you will call Me ⁸‘My Husband,’
And no longer call Me ⁹‘My Master,’ ¹⁷For ^qI will take from her mouth the names of the Baals,

And they shall be remembered by their name no more.

¹⁸In that day I will make a ^rcovenant for them

With the beasts of the field,

With the birds of the air,

And with the creeping things of the ground.

Bow and sword of battle ^sI will shatter from the earth,

To make them ^tlie down safely.

¹⁹“I will betroth you to Me forever;

Yes, I will betroth you to Me

In righteousness and justice,

In lovingkindness and mercy;

²⁰I will betroth you to Me in faithfulness,

And ^uyou shall know the LORD.

²¹“It shall come to pass in that day

That ^vI will answer,” says the LORD;

“I will answer the heavens,

And they shall answer the earth.

²²The earth shall answer

With grain,

With new wine,

And with oil;

They shall answer ¹⁰Jezreel.

²³Then ^wI will sow her for Myself in the earth,

^xAnd I will have mercy on her who had ¹¹not obtained mercy;

Then ^yI will say to those who were ¹²not My people,

‘You are ¹³My people!’

And they shall say, ‘You are my God!’ ”

Hosea 3

Israel Will Return to God

¹Then the LORD said to me, “Go again, love a woman who is loved by a ^alover¹ and is committing adultery, just like the love of the LORD for the children of Israel, who look to other gods and love the raisin cakes of the pagans.”

²So I bought her for myself for fifteen shekels of silver, and one and one-half homers of barley.

³And I said to her, “You shall ^bstay with me many days; you shall not play the harlot, nor shall you have a man—so, too, will I be toward you.”

⁴For the children of Israel shall abide many days ^cwithout king or prince, without sacrifice or sacred pillar, without ^dephod or ^eteraphim.

⁵Afterward the children of Israel shall return and ^fseek the LORD their God and ^gDavid their king. They shall fear the LORD and His goodness in the ^hlatter days.

Hosea 4

God's Charge Against Israel

¹Hear the word of the LORD,
You children of Israel,
For the LORD brings a ^acharge¹ against the inhabitants of the land:

“There is no truth or mercy
Or ^bknowledge of God in the land.
²By swearing and lying,
Killing and stealing and committing adultery,
They break all restraint,
With bloodshed ²upon bloodshed.

³Therefore ^cthe land will mourn;
And ^deveryone who dwells there will waste away
With the beasts of the field
And the birds of the air;
Even the fish of the sea will be taken away.

⁴“Now let no man contend, or rebuke another;
For your people are like those ^ewho contend with the priest.
⁵Therefore you shall stumble ^fin the day;
The prophet also shall stumble with you in the night;
And I will destroy your mother. Word Studies: stumble

^{6g}My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge.
Because you have rejected knowledge,
I also will reject you from being priest for Me;
^hBecause you have forgotten the law of your God,
I also will forget your children.

⁷“The more they increased,
The more they sinned against Me;
ⁱ³ will change ⁴their glory into shame.

⁸They eat up the sin of My people;
They set their ⁵heart on their iniquity.

⁹And it shall be: ^jlike people, like priest.
So I will punish them for their ways,
And ⁶reward them for their deeds.
¹⁰For ^kthey shall eat, but not have enough;
They shall commit harlotry, but not increase;
Because they have ceased obeying the LORD.

The Idolatry of Israel

¹¹“Harlotry, wine, and new wine ¹enslave the heart. Charts and

Diagrams: Hosea’s Heartbreak and God’s Grief

¹²My people ask counsel from their ^mwooden idols,
And their ⁷staff informs them.

For ⁿthe spirit of harlotry has caused them to stray,
And they have played the harlot against their God.

^{13o}They offer sacrifices on the mountaintops,
And burn incense on the hills,
Under oaks, poplars, and terebinths,
Because their shade is good.

^pTherefore your daughters commit harlotry,
And your brides commit adultery.

¹⁴“I will not punish your daughters when they commit
harlotry,

Nor your brides when they commit adultery;
For the men themselves go apart with harlots,
And offer sacrifices with a ^qritual harlot.

Therefore people who do not understand will be trampled.

¹⁵“Though you, Israel, play the harlot,
Let not Judah offend.

^rDo not come up to Gilgal,

Nor go up to ^sBeth⁸ Aven,

^tNor swear an oath, saying, ‘As the LORD lives’—

¹⁶“For Israel ^uis stubborn

Like a stubborn calf;

Now the LORD will let them forage

Like a lamb in ⁹open country.

¹⁷“Ephraim is joined to idols,

^vLet him alone.

¹⁸Their drink ¹⁰is rebellion,

They commit harlotry continually.

^wHer ¹¹rulers ¹²dearly love dishonor.

¹⁹_xThe wind has wrapped her up in its wings,
And _ythey shall be ashamed because of their sacrifices.

Hosea 5

Impending Judgment on Israel and Judah

Take heed, O house of Israel!

Give ear, O house of the king!

For ¹yours is the judgment,

Because ^ayou have been a snare to Mizpah

And a net spread on Tabor.

²The revolvers are ^bdeeply involved in slaughter,

Though I rebuke them all.

^{3c}I know Ephraim,

And Israel is not hidden from Me;

For now, O Ephraim, ^dyou commit harlotry;

Israel is defiled. Word Studies: commit harlotry

⁴“They² do not direct their deeds

Toward turning to their God,

For ^ethe spirit of harlotry is in their midst,

And they do not know the LORD.

⁵The ^fpride of Israel testifies to his face;

Therefore Israel and Ephraim stumble in their iniquity;

Judah also stumbles with them.

⁶“With their flocks and herds

^gThey shall go to seek the LORD,

But they will not find Him;

He has withdrawn Himself from them.

⁷They have ^hdealt treacherously with the LORD,

For they have begotten ³pagan children.

Now a New Moon shall devour them and their heritage.

⁸“Blowⁱ the ram’s horn in Gibeah,

The trumpet in Ramah!

^jCry aloud at ^kBeth Aven,

‘Look behind you, O Benjamin!’

⁹Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke;
Among the tribes of Israel I make known what is sure.

¹⁰“The princes of Judah are like those who ^lremove a landmark;

I will pour out My wrath on them like water.

¹¹Ephraim is ^moppressed and broken in judgment,
Because he willingly walked by ⁿhuman precept.

¹²Therefore I will be to Ephraim like a moth,
And to the house of Judah ^olike rottenness.

¹³“When Ephraim saw his sickness,
And Judah saw his ^pwound,
Then Ephraim went ^qto Assyria
And sent to King Jareb;
Yet he cannot cure you,
Nor heal you of your wound.

¹⁴For ^rI will be like a lion to Ephraim,
And like a young lion to the house of Judah.
^sI, even I, will tear them and go away;
I will take them away, and no one shall rescue.

¹⁵I will return again to My place
Till they ⁴acknowledge their offense.
Then they will seek My face;
In their affliction they will earnestly seek Me.”

Hosea 6

A Call to Repentance

¹Come, ^a and let us return to the LORD;
For ^bHe has torn, but ^cHe will heal us;
He has stricken, but He will ¹bind us up.

^{2d}After two days He will revive us;
On the third day He will raise us up,
That we may live in His sight.

^{3e}Let us know,
Let us pursue the knowledge of the LORD.
His going forth is established ^fas the morning;
^gHe will come to us ^hlike the rain,
Like the latter and former rain to the earth.

Impenitence of Israel and Judah

⁴“O Ephraim, what shall I do to you?
O Judah, what shall I do to you?
For your faithfulness is like a morning cloud,
And like the early dew it goes away. Bible Times & Culture Notes: The Morning Dew

⁵Therefore I have hewn them by the prophets,
I have slain them by ⁱthe words of My mouth;
And ²your judgments are like light that goes forth.

⁶For I desire ^jmercy³ and ^knot sacrifice,
And the ^lknowledge of God more than burnt offerings.

⁷“But like ⁴men they transgressed the covenant;
There they dealt treacherously with Me.

^{8m}Gilead is a city of evildoers
And ⁵defiled with blood.

⁹As bands of robbers lie in wait for a man,
So the company of ⁿpriests ^omurder on the way to Shechem;
Surely they commit ^plewdness.

¹⁰I have seen a horrible thing in the house of Israel:
There is the ⁶harlotry of Ephraim;
Israel is defiled.

¹¹Also, O Judah, a harvest is appointed for you,
When I return the captives of My people.

Hosea 7

¹“When I would have healed Israel,
Then the iniquity of Ephraim was uncovered,
And the wickedness of Samaria.
For ^athey have committed fraud;
A thief comes in;
A band of robbers ¹takes spoil outside.
²They ²do not consider in their hearts
That ^bI remember all their wickedness;
Now their own deeds have surrounded them;
They are before My face.
³They make a ^cking glad with their wickedness,
And princes ^dwith their lies.

⁴“They ^e*are* all adulterers.
Like an oven heated by a baker—
He ceases stirring the fire after kneading the dough,
Until it is leavened.
⁵In the day of our king
Princes have made him sick, ³inflamed with ^fwine;
He stretched out his hand with scoffers.
⁶They prepare their heart like an oven,
While they lie in wait;
⁴Their baker sleeps all night;
In the morning it burns like a flaming fire.
⁷They are all hot, like an oven,
And have devoured their judges;
All their kings have fallen.
⁸None among them calls upon Me.

⁸“Ephraim ^hhas mixed himself among the peoples;
Ephraim is a cake unturned.
⁹ⁱAliens have devoured his strength,
But he does not know it;
Yes, gray hairs are here and there on him,

Yet he does not know it.

¹⁰And the ^jpride of Israel testifies to his face,
But ^kthey do not return to the LORD their God,
Nor seek Him for all this.

Futile Reliance on the Nations

¹¹“Ephraim¹ also is like a silly dove, without ⁵sense—

^mThey call to Egypt,

They go to ⁿAssyria.

¹²Wherever they go, I will ^ospread My net on them;

I will bring them down like birds of the air;

I will chastise them

^pAccording to what their congregation has heard.

¹³“Woe to them, for they have fled from Me!

Destruction to them,

Because they have transgressed against Me!

Though ^qI redeemed them,

Yet they have spoken lies against Me.

^{14r}They did not cry out to Me with their heart

When they wailed upon their beds.

“They ⁶assemble together for grain and new ^swine,

⁷They rebel against Me;

¹⁵Though I disciplined and strengthened their arms,

Yet they devise evil against Me;

¹⁶They return, but not ⁸to the Most High;

^tThey are like a treacherous bow.

Their princes shall fall by the sword

For the ^ucursings of their tongue.

This shall be their derision ^vin the land of Egypt.

Hosea 8

The Apostasy of Israel

¹“Set the ¹trumpet to your mouth!
He shall come ^alike an eagle against the house of the LORD,
Because they have transgressed My covenant
And rebelled against My law.

^{2b}Israel will cry to Me,
‘My God, ^cwe know You!’
³Israel has rejected the good;
The enemy will pursue him.

⁴“They^d set up kings, but not by Me;
They made princes, but I did not acknowledge them.

From their silver and gold
They made idols for themselves—
That they might be cut off.
⁵Your ²calf ³is rejected, O Samaria!
My anger is aroused against them—
^eHow long until they attain to innocence?
⁶For from Israel is even this:
A ^fworkman made it, and it is not God;
But the calf of Samaria shall be broken to pieces.

⁷“They^g sow the wind,
And reap the whirlwind.
The stalk has no bud;
It shall never produce meal.
If it should produce,
^hAliens would swallow it up.
⁸ⁱIsrael is swallowed up;
Now they are among the Gentiles
^jLike a vessel in which is no pleasure.
⁹For they have gone up to Assyria,
Like ^ka wild donkey alone by itself;
Ephraim ^lhas hired lovers.
¹⁰Yes, though they have hired among the nations,
Now ^mI will gather them;
And they shall ⁴sorrow a little,
Because of the ⁵burden of ⁿthe king of princes.

¹¹“Because Ephraim has made many altars for sin,
They have become for him altars for sinning.
¹²I have written for him ^othe great things of My law,
But they were considered a strange thing.
¹³*For* the sacrifices of My offerings ^pthey sacrifice flesh and eat it,
^q*But* the LORD does not accept them.
^rNow He will remember their iniquity and punish their sins.
They shall return to Egypt.

¹⁴“For^s Israel has forgotten ^tthis Maker,

And has built ⁶temples;
Judah also has multiplied ^ufortified cities;
But ^vI will send fire upon his cities,
And it shall devour his ⁷palaces.”

Hosea 9

Judgment of Israel's Sin

¹Do^a not rejoice, O Israel, with joy like other peoples,
For you have played the harlot against your God.
You have made love for ^bhire on every threshing floor.

²The threshing floor and the winepress
Shall not feed them,
And the new wine shall fail in her.

³They shall not dwell in ^cthe LORD's land,
^dBut Ephraim shall return to Egypt,
And ^eshall eat unclean things in Assyria.

⁴They shall not offer wine offerings to the LORD,
Nor ^fshall their ^gsacrifices be pleasing to Him.
It shall be like bread of mourners to them;
All who eat it shall be defiled.
For their bread shall be for their own life;
It shall not come into the house of the LORD.

⁵What will you do in the appointed day,
And in the day of the feast of the LORD?

⁶For indeed they are gone because of destruction.
Egypt shall gather them up;
Memphis shall bury them.

^hNettles shall possess their valuables of silver;
Thorns shall be in their tents.

⁷The ⁱdays of punishment have come;
The days of recompense have come.
Israel knows!

The prophet is a ^jfool,
^kThe spiritual man is insane,
Because of the greatness of your iniquity and great enmity.

⁸The ^lwatchman of Ephraim is with my God;
But the prophet is a ¹fowler's snare in all his ways—

Enmity in the house of his God.

^{9m}They are deeply corrupted,

As in the days of ⁿGibeah.

He will remember their iniquity;

He will punish their sins.

¹⁰“I found Israel

Like grapes in the ^owilderness;

I saw your fathers
As the ^pfirstfruits on the fig tree in its first season.
But they went to ^qBaal Peor,
And ²separated themselves to that shame;
^rThey became an abomination like the thing they loved.
¹¹As for Ephraim, their glory shall fly away like a bird—
No birth, no pregnancy, and no conception!
¹²Though they bring up their children,
Yet I will bereave them to the last man.
Yes, ^swoe to them when I depart from them!
¹³Just ^tas I saw Ephraim like Tyre, planted in a pleasant place,
So Ephraim will bring out his children to the murderer.”

¹⁴Give them, O LORD—
What will You give?
Give them ^ua miscarrying womb
And dry breasts!

¹⁵“All their wickedness is in ^vGilgal,
For there I hated them.
Because of the evil of their deeds
I will drive them from My house;
I will love them no more.
^wAll their princes are rebellious.
¹⁶Ephraim is ^xstricken,
Their root is dried up;
They shall bear no fruit.
Yes, were they to bear children,
I would kill the darlings of their womb.”

¹⁷My God will ^ycast them away,
Because they did not obey Him;
And they shall be ^zwanderers among the nations.

Hosea 10

Israel's Sin and Captivity

- ¹Israel ^aempties his vine;
He brings forth fruit for himself.
According to the multitude of his fruit
^bHe has increased the altars;
According to the bounty of his land
They have embellished his sacred pillars.
- ²Their heart is ^cdivided;¹
Now they are held guilty.
He will break down their altars;
He will ruin their sacred pillars.
- ³For now they say,
“We have no king,
Because we did not fear the LORD.
And as for a king, what would he do for us?”
- ⁴They have spoken words,
Swearing falsely in making a covenant.
Thus judgment springs up ^dlike hemlock in the furrows of the field.
- ⁵The inhabitants of Samaria fear
Because of the ^ecalf² of Beth Aven.
For its people mourn for it,
And ³its priests shriek for it—
Because its ^fglory has departed from it.
- ⁶The idol also shall be carried to Assyria
As a present for King ^gJareb.
Ephraim shall receive shame,
And Israel shall be ashamed of his own counsel.
- ⁷As for Samaria, her king is cut off
Like a twig on the water.
- ⁸Also the ^hhigh places of ⁴Aven, ⁱthe sin of Israel,

Shall be destroyed.
The thorn and thistle shall grow on their altars;
^jThey shall say to the mountains, “Cover us!”
And to the hills, “Fall on us!”

⁹“O Israel, you have sinned from the days of ^kGibeah;
There they stood.
The ^lbattle in Gibeah against the children of ⁵iniquity
Did not ⁶overtake them.

¹⁰When it is My desire, I will chasten them.
^mPeoples shall be gathered against them
When I bind them ⁷for their two transgressions.

¹¹Ephraim is ⁿa trained heifer
That loves to thresh grain;
But I harnessed her fair neck,
I will make Ephraim ⁸pull a plow.
Judah shall plow;
Jacob shall break his clods.”

¹²Sow for yourselves righteousness;
Reap in mercy;
^oBreak up your fallow ground,
For it is time to seek the LORD,
Till He ^pcomes and rains righteousness on you.

^{13q}You have plowed wickedness;
You have reaped iniquity.
You have eaten the fruit of lies,
Because you trusted in your own way,
In the multitude of your mighty men.

¹⁴Therefore tumult shall arise among your people,
And all your fortresses shall be plundered
As Shalman plundered Beth Arbel in the day of battle—
A mother dashed in pieces upon her children.

¹⁵Thus it shall be done to you, O Bethel,
Because of your great wickedness.
At dawn the king of Israel
Shall be cut off utterly.

Hosea 11

God's Continuing Love for Israel

¹“When Israel was a ¹child, I loved him,
And out of Egypt ^aI called My ^bson.

²As they called them,
So they ^cwent ³from them;
They sacrificed to the Baals,
And burned incense to carved images.

³“I ^dtaught Ephraim to walk,
Taking them by ⁴their arms;
But they did not know that ^eI healed them.

⁴I drew them with ⁵gentle cords,
With bands of love,
And ^fI was to them as those who take the yoke from their ⁶neck.

^gI stooped and fed them.

⁵“He shall not return to the land of Egypt;
But the Assyrian shall be his king,
Because they refused to repent.

⁶And the sword shall slash in his cities,
Devour his districts,
And consume them,
Because of their own counsels.

⁷My people are bent on ^hbacksliding from Me.
Though ⁷they call ⁸to the Most High,
None at all exalt Him.

⁸“How ⁱcan I give you up, Ephraim?
How can I hand you over, Israel?
How can I make you like ^jAdmah?
How can I set you like Zeboiim?
My heart ⁹churns within Me;
My sympathy is stirred.

⁹I will not execute the fierceness of My anger;
I will not again destroy Ephraim.

^kFor I am God, and not man,
The Holy One in your midst;
And I will not ¹⁰come with terror.

¹⁰“They shall walk after the LORD.

^lHe will roar like a lion.

When He roars,

Then His sons shall come trembling from the west;

¹¹They shall come trembling like a bird from Egypt,

^mLike a dove from the land of Assyria.

ⁿAnd I will let them dwell in their houses,”

Says the LORD.

God's Charge Against Ephraim

¹²“Ephraim has encircled Me with lies,

And the house of Israel with deceit;

But Judah still walks with God,

Even with the ¹¹Holy One who is faithful.

Hosea 12

¹“Ephraim ^afeeds on the wind,
And pursues the east wind;
He daily increases lies and ¹desolation.
^bAlso they make a ²covenant with the Assyrians,
And ^coil is carried to Egypt.

²“The ^dLORD also brings a ³charge against Judah,
And will punish Jacob according to his ways;
According to his deeds He will recompense him.
³He took his brother ^eby the heel in the womb,
And in his strength he ^fstruggled with God.
⁴Yes, he struggled with the Angel and prevailed;
He wept, and sought favor from Him.
He found Him in ^gBethel,
And there He spoke to us—
⁵That is, the LORD God of hosts.
The LORD is His ^hmemorable name.
⁶ⁱSo you, by the help of your God, return;
Observe mercy and justice,
And wait on your God continually.

⁷“A cunning ⁴Canaanite!
^jDeceitful scales are in his hand;
He loves to oppress.
⁸And Ephraim said,
^k‘Surely I have become rich,
I have found wealth for myself;
In all my labors
They shall find in me no iniquity that is sin.’

⁹“But I am the LORD your God,
Ever since the land of Egypt;
^lI will again make you dwell in tents,
As in the days of the appointed feast.

¹⁰^mI have also spoken by the prophets,
And have multiplied visions;
I have given ⁵symbols ⁶through the witness of the prophets.”

¹¹Though ⁿGilead has idols—
Surely they are ⁷vanity—
Though they sacrifice bulls in ^oGilgal,
Indeed their altars shall be heaps in the furrows of the field.

¹²Jacob ^pfled to the country of Syria;
^qIsrael served for a spouse,
And for a wife he tended sheep.

¹³^rBy a prophet the LORD brought Israel out of Egypt,
And by a prophet he was preserved.

¹⁴Ephraim ^sprovoked Him to anger most bitterly;
Therefore his Lord will leave the guilt of his bloodshed upon him,

^tAnd return his reproach upon him.

Hosea 13

Relentless Judgment on Israel

¹When Ephraim spoke, trembling,
He exalted himself in Israel;
But when he offended through Baal worship, he died. Article: Back to Baal

²Now they sin more and more,
And have made for themselves molded images,
Idols of their silver, according to their skill;
All of it is the work of craftsmen.
They say of them,
“Let ¹the men who sacrifice ²kiss the calves!”
³Therefore they shall be like the morning cloud
And like the early dew that passes away,
^aLike chaff blown off from a threshing floor
And like smoke from a chimney.

⁴“Yet ^b*I am* the LORD your God
Ever since the land of Egypt,
And you shall know no God but Me;
For ^c*there is* no savior besides Me.
^{5d}³I knew you in the wilderness,
^eIn the land of ⁴great drought.
^{6f}When they had pasture, they were filled;
They were filled and their heart was exalted;
Therefore they forgot Me.

⁷“So ^gI will be to them like a lion;
Like ^ha leopard by the road I will lurk;
⁸I will meet them ⁱlike a bear deprived of her cubs;
I will tear open their rib cage,
And there I will devour them like a lion.
The ⁵wild beast shall tear them.

⁹“O Israel, ⁶you are destroyed,
But ⁷your help is from Me.
¹⁰⁸I will be your King;
^jWhere is any other,

That he may save you in all your cities?
And your judges to whom ^kyou said,
‘Give me a king and princes’?

¹¹I gave you a king in My anger,
And took him away in My wrath.

¹²“The^m iniquity of Ephraim is bound up;
His sin is stored up.

¹³ⁿThe sorrows of a woman in childbirth shall come upon him.

He is an unwise son,
For he should not stay long where children are born.

¹⁴“I will ransom them from the ⁹power of ¹⁰the grave;
I will redeem them from death.

^oO Death, ¹¹I will be your plagues!

O ¹²Grave, ¹³I will be your destruction!

^pPity is hidden from My eyes.”

¹⁵Though he is fruitful among his brethren,

^qAn east wind shall come;

The wind of the LORD shall come up from the wilderness.

Then his spring shall become dry,

And his fountain shall be dried up.

He shall plunder the treasury of every desirable prize.

¹⁶Samaria ¹⁴is held guilty,

For she has ^rrebelled against her God.

They shall fall by the sword,

Their infants shall be dashed in pieces,

And their women with child ^sripped open.

Hosea 14

Israel Restored at Last

¹O Israel, ^areturn to the LORD your God,
For you have stumbled because of your iniquity;
²Take words with you,
And return to the LORD.
Say to Him,
“Take away all iniquity;
Receive us graciously,
For we will offer the ^bsacrifices¹ of our lips.
³Assyria shall ^cnot save us,
^dWe will not ride on horses,
Nor will we say anymore to the work of our hands,
‘You are our gods.’
^eFor in You the fatherless finds mercy.”

⁴“I will heal their ^fbacksliding,
I will ^glove them freely,
For My anger has turned away from him.
⁵I will be like the ^hdew to Israel;
He shall ²grow like the lily,
And ³lengthen his roots like Lebanon.
⁶His branches shall ⁴spread;
ⁱHis beauty shall be like an olive tree,
And ^jhis fragrance like Lebanon.
^{7k}Those who dwell under his shadow shall return;
They shall be revived like grain,
And ⁵grow like a vine.
Their ⁶scent shall be like the wine of Lebanon.

⁸“Ephraim shall say,
‘What have I to do anymore with idols?’
I have heard and observed him.
I am like a green cypress tree;
^lYour fruit is found in Me.”

⁹Who is wise?
Let him understand these things.

Who is prudent?
Let him know them.
For ^mthe ways of the LORD are right;
The righteous walk in them,
But transgressors stumble in them.

Annotations for Hosea

- 1:2, 3 wife of harlotry: Gomer may have been a common prostitute at the time Hosea married her, or perhaps she had participated in a ritual sexual act as part of the Baal cult. However, it is more likely that the descriptive phrase anticipates what Gomer would become following her marriage to Hosea.
- children of harlotry: If Gomer was a prostitute when she married Hosea, this could refer to children that Gomer already had and that Hosea adopted at the time of marriage. A more likely possibility is that the title anticipates children born to a mother whose reputation and escapades would make their lineage suspect. Gomer's marital infidelity is a picture of Israel's idolatry and unfaithfulness to its covenant with God.
- 1:4 bloodshed of Jezreel: In 841 B.C. Jehu, with God's approval, destroyed the evil dynasty of Omri by slaughtering Jezebel, the sons of Ahab, and the prophets and priests of Baal (see 2 Kin. 9; 10).
- 1:5 To break the enemy's bow means to destroy his military strength (see 1 Sam. 2:4; Ps. 46:9; Jer. 49:35).
- 1:6 Lo-Ruhamah means "Not Loved," foreshadowing the Lord's rejection of Israel.
- 1:7 Will save them: This prophecy looks ahead to the Lord's deliverance of Jerusalem in 701 B.C., when He would miraculously destroy the Assyrian armies outside the city's walls (see 2 Kin. 19:32–36).
- 1:9 Lo-Ammi means "Not My People," threatening the termination of the Lord's covenant relationship with His people (see Lev. 26:12).
- 1:10 The Lord would not reject His people forever. God would fulfill His promise to Abraham and make the Israelites as numerous as the sand of the sea (see Gen. 22:17; 32:12).
- 1:11 One head refers to the messianic king to come (3:5). Jezreel means "God Plants," picturing God as sowing seed that would germinate and grow abundantly (2:23).
- 2:1 brethren . . . sisters: God would mercifully restore His covenant relationship with His people, reversing the judgment symbolized by the names Lo-Ruhamah and Lo-Ammi.
- 2:2 Bring charges: The Lord formally accused Israel of unfaithfulness to the covenant. Your mother refers to the sinful nation of Hosea's time, symbolized by Gomer (1:2, 3). she is not My wife: This may be a formal announcement of divorce or a realistic confession that the relationship between God and Israel had lost its vitality.
- 2:3 The Lord warned that He might publicly humiliate His unfaithful wife by stripping her naked (see Ezek. 16:35–43). dry land: This simile pictures the loss of fertility, an appropriate punishment for a nation that had sought fertility by worshiping another god.
- 2:4, 5 Her children refers to the Israelites who lived in the land. Though the mother (the land) and the children (the inhabitants of the land) are distinct in Hosea's metaphor, both actually refer to the sinful nation. The Lord warned that He might disown the children because they were a reminder of their mother's unfaithfulness.
- 2:6, 7 chase: This word draws attention to the strong passion the people of Israel felt for Baal. These verses anticipate the Exile, when Israel would be separated from the idols of Baal.
- 2:8, 9 Since Israel refused to acknowledge the Lord as her source of agricultural prosperity, the Lord would take back His blessings and no longer provide for the nation's basic needs.
- 2:10 uncover her lewdness: The Lord would publicly expose Israel's unfaithfulness through judgment. in the sight of her lovers: The Baal idols would be unable to help Israel, proving their unworthiness to be worshiped.
- 2:11 New Moons were monthly celebrations (see Num. 10:10; 1 Sam. 20:5, 18, 24). Sabbath celebrations were weekly.
- 2:12 The people of Israel believed that the Baal idols gave them agricultural prosperity in exchange for their worship. forest . . . beasts of the field: The Lord would break down the nation's defenses and turn them into overgrown thickets inhabited by wild animals.

- 2:13 The word earrings may refer to rings worn in the ear (see Gen. 35:4; Ex. 32:2, 3) or nose (see Gen. 24:47; Is. 3:21; Ezek. 16:12).
- 2:14 Having separated Israel from her lovers, the Lord would seek to win her back by making romantic overtures and wooing her with tender words of love. wilderness: The coming Exile from the land is compared to the wilderness wanderings of Moses' time.
- 2:15 Valley of Achor, meaning "Valley of Trouble," was a reminder of the sin of Achan and God's discipline of the nation of Israel for his sin (Josh. 7:24–26). This place would be transformed into a door of hope when the returning exiles passed through it on their return to the land.
- 2:16, 17 Israel would call the Lord her Husband, not her Master, because the latter title might have reminded the people of their former devotion to Baal. The word Baal can mean "Master."
- 2:19, 20 betroth: Betrothal was a binding commitment, the last step before the wedding and consummation. forever: The Lord emphasized that the new marriage between Himself and Israel would be permanent. Lovingkindness means "devotion, commitment." you shall know: Israel would respond positively to the Lord's love and acknowledge that He is her husband and benefactor (contrast vv. 8, 13; see Jer. 31:34).
- 2:21–23 The heavens would provide rain for the earth; the earth would produce its fruit in turn. Israel is called Jezreel, meaning "God Plants," because the Lord would replant Israel in the land.
- 3:1, 2 To illustrate His intention to redeem Israel, the Lord instructed Hosea to reclaim Gomer, his unfaithful wife. I bought her: Gomer had become the property of another man. Hosea's purchase of Gomer symbolized God's great devotion, which moves Him to seek reconciliation even if it means subjecting Himself to humiliation (see Phil. 2:8).
- 3:3, 4 Gomer's isolation symbolized Israel's exile, when she lost her political independence and could no longer worship as she chose (2:6, 7). sacred pillar: These were stone pillars used by the Canaanites in their worship of Baal and other gods (see 2 Kin. 3:2; 10:26, 27; 17:10). An ephod was a priestly garment (see Ex. 28); teraphim were idols (see 2 Kin. 23:24). Both were apparently used for divination.
- 3:5 seek: This word highlights the change that would occur in Israel's attitude (2:7). David: This is likely a reference to David's Son, the Messiah (see Is. 11:1–10; Jer. 23:5; 33:15). Other prophets also refer to the Messiah as David (see Jer. 30:9; Ezek. 34:23, 24; 37:24, 25).
- 4:1 charge: The Hebrew word refers to a formal complaint charging Israel with breaking the covenant. Mercy means "loyalty" or "devotion." knowledge: This word does not refer to intellectual awareness, but to recognition of God's authority as Israel's covenant Lord.
- 4:2 This accusation mentions five of the Ten Commandments. Swearing refers to the misuse of the Lord's name in oaths and curses (see Ex. 20:7).
- 4:5, 6 The failure of Israel's religious leaders, including most of the prophets, would bring about their downfall. lack of knowledge: The priests had failed to teach God's law to the people (see Mal. 2:7). As a result, the priests would be the special object of God's judgment. He would terminate the priestly line.

stumble

(Heb. kashal) (4:5; 5:5; 1 Sam. 2:4; Is. 3:8) Strong's #3782

Literally this verb means “to totter,” “to trip and fall,” or “to stumble.” The prophets frequently used this word to describe the spiritual life of the Hebrews. For example, Hosea likens both false prophets and their followers to those who stumble in the dark: they are stumbling over the sin of idolatry and falling to their ruin (4:5; 5:5; Is. 3:8). Isaiah warns that those who rely on their own strength will stumble and fall (Is. 40:30), but those who are led by the Lord will not stumble (Is. 63:13). In fact, the Lord will provide strength to those who have stumbled in the past and now call upon Him (1 Sam. 2:4).

4:7, 8 their glory: Great honor was attached to the priesthood. However, Israel's sinful priests would forfeit their prestige. eat up the sin of My people: The priests greedily accepted the meat from the people's hypocritical and empty sacrifices (6:6; 8:11–13).

4:10 The Israelites worshiped Baal in order to have good crops and many children, but they still would not have enough to eat, nor would they multiply in number. Harlotry here refers to religious prostitution associated with Baal worship, not to immorality in general.

4:11–14 Wine was apparently used in Baal worship, along with divination, sacrifices, and ritual sexual acts. Their staff refers to wooden idols that Baal worshipers consulted for guidance. daughters . . . brides: Many of Israel's young women had participated in the sexual rites of Baal worship, but the men were just as guilty.

Hosea's Heartbreak and God's Grief

The tragic marriage of Hosea and Gomer painted a vivid portrait for the Israelites of how God viewed His relationship with them.

4:15 Hosea warned the people of Judah not to follow in the sinful footsteps of the northern kingdom Israel. Gilgal was an important religious center in the north, known in Hosea's time for its hypocritical religious practices (see 9:15; 12:11; Amos 4:4). Beth Aven, which means "House of Iniquity," is a sarcastic reference to the important religious center Bethel, which means "House of God" (see Amos 5:5).

4:17-19 Ephraim, one of the largest tribes of Israel, is used here to represent the entire northern kingdom. Let him alone: These words have a tone of frustration and resignation, suggesting that Israel was hopelessly rebellious. The wind of divine judgment would sweep the Israelites away and leave them embarrassed by their idolatry.

5:1 Mizpah here is probably a reference to Mizpah of Gilead, located in Israelite territory east of the Jordan. Tabor: Mount Tabor was in the northern kingdom, southwest of the Sea of Galilee. snare . . . net: The leaders of Israel, especially the priests, had promoted pagan worship at Mizpah and Tabor and in this way led the people to destruction.

5:2 The revolvers probably refers to the leaders and priests who had rebelled against God's authority by rejecting His commandments. Slaughter may refer literally to acts of violence or to pagan sacrifices.

5:3 not hidden: God's people could not hide their harlotry, for it had defiled them. According to the Law of Moses, adultery made a person spiritually unclean or defiled (see Lev. 18:20, 24; Num. 5:20, 27, 28).

commit harlotry

(Heb. zanah) (1:2; 5:3; Jer. 3:3; Ezek. 16:35) Strong's #2181

The verb zanah refers to having illicit sexual relations, especially involving prostitution. Two forms of prostitution were practiced in the ancient world: common prostitution and ritual, or “sacred,” prostitution, which involved pagan fertility rites. Both forms were strictly forbidden in God’s law (Lev. 19:29; Deut. 23:17). The OT frequently uses prostitution as an image of the sin of idolatry. Israel was pledged to serve one God (Ex. 20:3), so idolatry was like marital unfaithfulness against the Lord. Jeremiah and Ezekiel develop this image in graphic detail (see Jer. 3; Ezek. 16; 23), and Hosea actually married a prostitute as a living symbol of God’s patience with Israel’s infidelities (see ch. 1).

5:4 spirit of harlotry: The people had an uncontrollable desire to worship other gods.

5:5 Israel’s arrogant attitude was self-incriminating and self-destructive. Judah, the southern kingdom, had followed Israel’s moral example and would experience the same consequences.

5:6, 7 Though Israel had rebelled against God, many Israelites still tried to maintain a semblance of outward devotion to Him. They had dealt treacherously with God by worshiping other gods and participating in pagan fertility rites. Their heritage, or “portion,” refers to the people’s landed property and fields, which God would allow wild animals and invading armies to overrun and devour (2:12; 11:6).

5:8, 9 Blow the ram’s horn: This act signaled an emergency and mustered the fighting men to defend the land. The towns mentioned here were north of Jerusalem, within or near the borders of Benjamin. The implication is that the enemy army had already swept through the north and was ready to invade Judah. what is sure: The Lord affirmed that the announced judgment was an unalterable decree.

5:10 Stones were used to mark the boundaries of property. A thief could steal a part of someone’s land by moving the landmark. The Law warned that altering a boundary in this way would bring a special judgment from God (see Deut. 19:14; 27:17; Prov. 22:28).

5:12 As a moth slowly destroys clothing, so the Lord would destroy Israel (see Job 13:28; Is. 50:9; 51:8). Rottenness elsewhere refers to bone or tooth decay (see Prov. 12:4; 14:30; Hab. 3:16).

5:13 Both Israel and Judah sought protection through alliances with Assyria, but the cruel Assyrians were more interested in exploiting God’s people politically and economically. King Jareb probably refers to Tiglath-Pileser III, with whom both Israel and Judah formed alliances (see 2 Kin. 15:19, 20; 16:7–9).

5:14, 15 Attacking like a ferocious, invincible lion, God would scatter His people as judgment for their treachery. But the purpose of the Lord’s discipline was to drive the people to earnestly seek Him. The Hebrew verb for earnestly seek suggests eager longing and desire (see Job 24:5; Ps. 63:1).

6:1 After being torn by the divine lion (5:14), the people would come to their senses and seek to renew their allegiance to the Lord.

6:2 two days . . . the third day: The reference here is to a short time period. When God’s people truly repent, God is eager to restore His relationship with them. The people's hope for revival was consistent with God's ancient promises through Moses (see Deut. 30:1–3).

6:3 God's restored presence and blessings would be like the rain that waters and renews the earth. latter and former rain: The latter rains of Israel came in the spring and caused the plants to grow. The former rains came in the autumn and softened the ground for plowing and sowing.

6:4 Any apparent faithfulness that Hosea's generation displayed was short-lived and disappeared as quickly as fog or dew before sunlight.

Bible Times & Culture Notes

The Morning Dew

Palestine's rainfall is directly related to the latitude and elevation of the land. The mountainous regions in northern Galilee receive the most rain (24 to 36 inches), while the southern plains get very little (4 to 8 inches). An estimated 60 to 70 percent of the precipitation is lost through evaporation because of the land's high temperatures and low humidity. Only 10 to 25 percent is absorbed for agricultural purposes. So the dew that falls approximately 250 nights of the year is very essential. Some vegetation depends entirely on the dew's moisture. It is an exhilarating experience to wake up in the Negev desert on a summer morning and see a thick fog! Yet the dew evaporates quickly, and it became proverbial to compare Israel's faithlessness to "a morning cloud . . . the early dew [that] goes away" (6:4).

- 6:5 words of My mouth: The prophets announced God's destructive judgments, which then fell on His unrepentant people. your judgments are like light that goes forth: This comparison suggests that God's judgment, like bright sunlight, was obvious to all; or that like a bolt of lightning or a blinding flash of light, it came swiftly.
- 6:6 Mercy means "loyalty" or "devotion" (4:1). Knowledge of God does not refer to mere head knowledge, but to a genuine recognition of God's authority that produces obedience to His commandments.
- 6:8, 9 Even Ramoth in Gilead and Shechem, which were cities of refuge where manslayers could find asylum, had been contaminated by bloodshed.
- 6:10 horrible thing: A related Hebrew word is used in Jer. 29:17 of rotten figs.
- 6:11 The comparison of God's judgment to a harvest indicates that the judgment was inevitable and implies that it would be thorough in its destruction.
- 7:1, 2 Hardened sinners typically do not consider that God will hold them accountable for their deeds (see Ps. 73:11).
- 7:3 While kings should promote justice and be appalled by wickedness (see Ps. 101), Israel's rulers approved of the people's sin.
- 7:4–7 The background for these verses is the political turmoil of the northern kingdom. During a 20-year period (752–732 B.C.), four Israelite kings were assassinated (see 2 Kin. 15). The dangerous, uncontrollable perpetrators of these crimes are described here. These conspirators were like a large baker's oven that has been heating up for several hours while the bread dough rises. By morning, the flaming fire within can be quite destructive.
- 7:8 Instead of depending on the Lord for political stability, Israel formed alliances with surrounding nations. The destructive outcome of this policy is compared to a cake that has been placed over a fire and left untuned.
- 7:9, 10 gray hairs: Israel did not recognize that its power was declining and its freedom was slipping away, like an aging man who is gradually overtaken by the signs of old age.
- 7:11, 12 Israel was caught between the two superpowers, Egypt and Assyria. Israel tried to maintain its independence by playing one power against the other, but this vacillating policy was without sense. Israel was like a silly dove, flitting about from place to place. The Lord would trap them and chastise them for their spiritual unsteadiness.
- 7:13 Like a bird that flies away when frightened (see Jer. 4:25), Israel fled from the Lord and His standards, despite His willingness to help the people.
- 7:14 God sent a drought that took away Israel's grain and new wine. Yet instead of turning to Him in repentance, the idolatrous Israelites demonstrated their devotion to Baal. According to Canaanite religious beliefs, prolonged drought was a signal that the storm god Baal had been temporarily defeated by the god of death and was imprisoned in the underworld. Baal's worshipers would mourn his death in hopes that their tears might facilitate his resurrection and the restoration of crops.
- 7:15 Strengthened their arms probably refers to God's past military help, especially during the reign of Jeroboam II earlier in the eighth century B.C. (see 2 Kin. 14:24, 25).
- 7:16 A treacherous bow is a bow that is damaged or flawed in its workmanship and does not shoot effectively. Such a bow would be unreliable and therefore worthless to a warrior or hunter. Though the Lord had been faithful to Israel, Israel had not been loyal to Him (see Ps. 78:57). derision in the land of Egypt: Note the irony in the fact that one of the nations to whom Israel had looked for help (v. 11) would make fun of Israel when judgment fell.
- 8:1–3 Just as an eagle swiftly swoops down and snatches its prey, so Assyria would invade Israel and take its people into captivity. The house of the LORD refers to the entire land of Israel. we know You: Though Israel claimed to acknowledge the Lord's authority, it had violated His covenant and rejected the qualities the Lord regarded as good, such as justice, loyalty, and humility (see Amos 5:14, 15; Mic. 6:8).

- 8:4 They set up kings: This phrase alludes to the political turmoil surrounding the throne of the northern kingdom during the eighth century B.C., when four kings were assassinated during a 20-year period (7:4–7).
- 8:5 If the capital city Samaria stands for the northern kingdom in general, the reference here may be to the calf idols made by Jeroboam I (see 1 Kin. 12:28–30).
- 8:6 A workman made it: Hosea reasoned that anything that is made with human hands cannot possibly qualify as a god.
- 8:7 In its original context, this well-known proverb emphasizes the futility of Israel's alliances with false gods and foreign nations. Morally speaking, Israel had planted wind, symbolizing its moral bankruptcy, and would reap a whirlwind, symbolizing the coming judgment.
- 8:8 swallowed up: This image vividly depicts the effects of Israel's foreign alliances, which drained the nation economically.
- 8:9, 10 Like a wild donkey: This comparison draws attention to Israel's free-spirited attitude and desire to live unrestrained by God's standards. King of princes refers to the conquering Assyrian king.
- 8:11–13 altars for sin: The Lord regarded Israel's religious rituals as sinful because they were not supported by an obedient lifestyle. In fact, Israel treated God's law as if it were something strange or alien to them. return to Egypt: Egypt symbolizes exile and slavery. The people would actually be taken to Assyria (9:3; 11:5).
- 8:14 True security comes from the Creator, but God's people trusted instead in their own efforts, symbolized by their temples and fortified cities.
- 9:1, 2 Because of their association with the harvest, threshing floors were the site of agricultural festivals in which Israel offered up sacrifices to Baal. The Lord would take away the joy of the harvest by destroying the crops and leaving the threshing floors and wine vats empty.
- 9:3 the LORD's land: Israel had forgotten that their land belonged to the Lord. He alone decided who would or would not live in it (see Lev. 25:23).
- 9:4, 5 Because they had touched a dead body, mourners were ceremonially unclean and contaminated everything that came in contact with them (see Num. 19:14, 15, 22). Living in a foreign land, Israel would be ceremonially defiled and unable to worship the Lord with sacrifices and offerings.
- 9:6 Memphis: This Egyptian city, known for its great cemeteries, tombs, and pyramids, symbolized the unclean land of exile (Assyria) to which God's people would be taken captive. Nettles . . . Thorns: The land of Israel would be abandoned, leaving the people's possessions and homes to be overrun by weeds and briars.
- 9:7 Sinful Israel disdained God's true prophets, regarding them as raving maniacs. The Hebrew word translated insane is used in 1 Sam. 21:15 of David when he pretended to be a madman before the Philistine king. Enmity refers to strong resentment that can give rise to violent behavior.
- 9:8 A watchman would look for approaching armies and then warn the people so that they could secure the city and prepare for battle (see Ezek. 33:6). The prophets were like watchmen because they were sent by God to warn the people of judgment and urge them to repent (see Ezek. 3:17).
- 9:9 As in the days of Gibeah: The reference here is to the rape and murder of a young woman by men of Gibeah, an event that started a civil war (see Judg. 19). Those who witnessed this violent deed remarked that it was the worst crime committed in Israel's history until that time (see Judg. 19:30). However, the sins of Hosea's generation rivaled the infamous Gibeah murder.
- 9:10 At the beginning of Israel's history, God found great delight in His people. Grapes in the wilderness would be a pleasant surprise; the firstfruits on the fig tree were an irresistible delicacy (see Is. 28:4; Jer. 24:2; Mic. 7:1). However, Israel had quickly fallen into sin. At Baal Peor the Israelites had participated in fertility rites with Moabite women, bringing God's judgment down upon the nation (see Num. 25).
- 9:11 Their glory refers to Ephraim's (Israel's) population, especially its children. like a bird: Ephraim's population would dwindle as its women became barren. The punishment would be appropriate because this generation of Israelites, like an earlier generation at Baal Peor, promoted fertility by worshipping Baal.

9:12, 13 Any children who were born in Israel would be killed in the coming invasion. Tyre was an important economic center located at an advantageous spot on the Mediterranean coast.

9:14 miscarrying womb: Some women of Israel would be barren (v. 11); others would bear children, only to lose them to the invader's sword (vv. 12, 13). Still others would conceive, but miscarry.

9:15 Gilgal had become a center of idolatry (12:11; see Josh. 5). hated: Marriage and divorce provide the background for the language used here. The Lord would reject (hate) His unfaithful wife (see Deut. 22:13; 24:3), drive her from His house (the land), and remove His protective care (love) from her. There may also be an allusion here to Genesis 3:24 and 4:14, which tell how God drove away Adam and then Cain.

9:17 Wanderers may allude to the fate of Cain (see Gen. 4:12), who like Israel (v. 9) was guilty of murder.

10:1 Israel empties his vine refers to God's blessings upon the nation, which contrast with the nation's ingratitude and idolatry.

10:2 divided: This verb refers to Israel's deceitful and hypocritical ways.

10:3 now they say: This verse anticipates the people's response when God's judgment came to destroy Israel's political stability and independence (vv. 7, 15).

10:4 like hemlock in the furrows of the field: This analogy refers to poisonous weeds sprouting up in a field and choking out the crops. In the same way God's judgment would replace His blessings.

10:5, 6 The Assyrians often carried off the idols of their defeated foes. His own counsel probably refers to Israel's foreign alliances, which would prove disappointing.

10:7 The comparison in this verse depicts Israel's king being swept away like a piece of wood in a stream.

10:8 thorn and thistle: This phrase may allude to Gen. 3:18, the only other passage in the OT where this wording occurs.

10:9 Israel had persisted in sin since the day when a young woman was raped and murdered by the men of Gibeah (9:9).

10:10 The imagery in this verse depicts the Lord binding His people, like oxen, to a yoke. The figurative yoke is comprised of their two transgressions, probably referring to the ancient crime at Gibeah (v. 9) and the collective sin of Hosea's generation. The yoke imagery suggests that the people could not escape the consequences of their deeds.

10:11 loves to thresh: Israel preferred to be unrestrained, like an unmuzzled heifer at the threshing floor that can simply lean down and eat the grain. pull a plow: Israel's rebellious spirit necessitated harsh treatment, compared here to a farmer binding his calf to the yoke and forcing it to do hard labor. Threshing in this context refers to Israel's service to the Lord; plowing refers to the discipline that Israel had to acquire through judgment and exile.

10:12 Hosea calls the people to repentance, reminding them that a decision could not be postponed, and that God's blessings could still be restored. In Israel's case, the people had to reestablish social justice—righteousness—and loyalty—mercy—in the land. Break up your fallow ground: Plowing and planting are necessary preliminary steps for growing a crop, which eventually sprouts when the rain falls in season. In the same way, repentance would set the stage for restored blessing, which God would eventually rain down on His people.

10:13 The process of repentance and restored blessing outlined in v. 12 contrasts sharply with reality. Israel had planted the seeds of sin and reaped the inevitable consequences. Fruit of lies likely refers to the people's lack of loyalty to God (v. 4).

10:14 The identity of the conqueror Shalman and the location of Beth Arbel are uncertain. At any rate, the battle referred to seems to have been well known to Hosea's audience because of its extreme violence.

10:15 Israel's defeat would be so swift that the nation's king would be cut off before the battle had scarcely begun.

- 11:1 The Lord regarded Israel as His son and treated the nation with special care, delivering the people from bondage in Egypt (see Matt. 2:15).
- 11:2 they called them: The plural subject probably refers to God's prophets (see 12:10; Jer. 7:25, 26).
- 11:3 Like a father teaching his child to walk, the Lord patiently gave the people of Israel direction and cared for them tenderly when they experienced pain or injury.
- 11:4 The image of v. 3 changes as God is compared to a farmer and Israel to a beast of burden. The Lord had placed restraints—cords and bands—on Israel, but His regulations, rather than being overly strict or harsh, reflected His concern for the people's well-being. God did not drive them mercilessly but provided for their needs, like a farmer who periodically removes the yoke from an animal's neck so that it can eat.
- 11:5 Repent is the same Hebrew word translated return earlier in the verse. Israel could not remain stationary. It had to return either to the Lord or to bondage. Israel's refusal to return to the Lord would result in a return to slavery.
- 11:6 Devour is the same Hebrew word translated fed in v. 4. The people of Israel had rejected the gentle Master who fed them and provided for their needs. As a result, they would be devoured by the swords of the invading Assyrians.
- 11:8, 9 As the Lord contemplated the judgment of Israel, His sympathy moved Him to have compassion and stop short of totally annihilating the people. Admah and Zeboiim, sister cities of Sodom and Gomorrah, were destroyed by God's judgment (see Gen. 10:19; 14:2, 8; Deut. 29:23). For I am God, and not man: When human beings get angry, they are often incapable of tempering their anger with compassion, but God's emotions operate in perfect balance.
- 11:10, 11 In the coming judgment, God would tear Israel like a lion (5:14); in the future, God's lionlike roar would summon His people to return from exile. In the past, the people of Israel had flown back and forth between the nations like a dove (7:11); in the future, the people would speed back to their homeland like a bird.
- 11:12 Ephraim has encircled Me: The northern kingdom had surrounded God as if He were under siege.
- 12:1 The prophet focuses in the verse on the nation's social injustice and foreign alliances. Israel's wicked behavior would lead nowhere. Oil may have been used in a ritual ratifying a treaty or given as a sign of loyalty.
- 12:2 according to his ways: God judges people and nations according to their deeds.
- 12:3, 4 Hosea draws a lesson from the life of Jacob, the father of the nation. Jacob's greedy, self-reliant, and deceitful character was evident from birth when he grabbed the heel of his brother Esau (see Gen. 25:26). The climactic event in Jacob's spiritual growth was his wrestling match with God the night before he was reunited with his brother. Jacob acknowledged his dependence on God, begged for divine favor, and received a blessing (see Gen. 32:24–30). the Angel: Making no mention of an angel, the Genesis account refers to Jacob's foe as "a Man" (Gen. 32:24 reflects Jacob's initial perspective), but then indicates that Jacob wrestled with God Himself (see Gen. 32:28, 30). Since vv. 4, 5 seem to place God and the Angel in parallel, some understand the Angel of the Lord to be in view here. This Angel is sometimes equated with God in the OT (see Gen. 16:9–13; Judg. 6:11–14; 13:20–22).
- 12:5, 6 Just as Jacob had come to his senses and recognized his dependence on God, so Israel was to repent (return), reestablish justice in society, and depend (wait) on the Lord.
- 12:7 The word Canaanite also means "merchant." Here the word may allude to Israel's dishonest economic activities. Deceitful scales: In violation of the OT law (see Lev. 19:36), dishonest merchants sometimes rigged their scales so that they could give buyers less than what the buyers thought they were purchasing (see Prov. 11:1; 16:11; 20:23; Amos 8:5; Mic. 6:11).
- 12:9–11 The Lord had given Israel direction by the prophets, but the people had rejected the message. To teach Israel dependence, God would drive them from their homes and send them into exile. This would be comparable to dwelling in tents, as the people did during the appointed feast of Tabernacles that commemorated the wilderness wandering (see Lev. 23:33–43). The towns that epitomized Israel's sin, such as Gilead (6:8) and Gilgal (4:15; 9:15), would be destroyed. The altars of Gilgal would be turned into heaps of stone.

12:12–14 God had always protected His people. He protected Jacob when he had to flee for his life to a foreign land. He used Moses to bring Israel out of Egypt and preserve the people on their way to the Promised Land. Israel's ingratitude, made evident by its sin, angered the Lord and made judgment inevitable.

13:1 The tribe of Ephraim had gained a prominent position in the northern kingdom and could strike fear into the hearts of the other tribes. Trembling probably refers to the effect that Ephraim's speech had on the other tribes.

Back to Baal

By Hosea's time Baalism had captured the minds and hearts of many Israelites. Baal was the most important deity in the Canaanite pantheon. Baal's followers believed that his blessing guaranteed the continuation of human life and the preservation of social order. As a fertility deity, Baal was the provider of children, a prized possession in the culture of the ancient Middle East. As the god of the storm, Baal brought the rains and made the crops grow. Baal's devotees trusted that with the elements of the storm at his disposal, he could defeat the enemies of his people. As the king of the divine realm under the ultimate authority of the high god El, Baal overcame the powerful and terrifying deities Yamm, the god of the chaotic sea, and Mot, the god of death and the underworld.

Recognizing the threat that Baalism posed for His people, the Lord actively opposed this false religious system from the very beginning of Israel's history. He affirmed that He is the only living God (see Ex. 15:11; Deut. 33:26; 1 Sam. 2:2) and Israel's rightful king (see Ex. 15:18; 20:2–6). The Lord revealed His sovereignty over the elements of the storm (see Ex. 9:23, 24; 19:16, 18; Deut. 33:26; 1 Sam. 7:10; 12:17, 18; 1 Kin. 17:1; 18:1, 45), demonstrated His authority over the chaotic sea (see Ex. 15:8, 10) and the realm of death (see Ex. 15:12; 1 Sam. 2:6; 1 Kin. 17:17–23), and proved that He alone could provide children to the infertile (see 1 Sam. 2:5). This attack on Baalism climaxed at Mount Carmel, where the Lord hurled a fiery lightning bolt down from heaven (see 1 Kin. 18:38, 39) to demonstrate beyond the shadow of a doubt that He is the living God. In contrast, Baal's prophets with their frenzied mourning rites could not provoke any response (see 1 Kin. 18:26–29). When Jehu later purged the kingdom of Baalism (see 2 Kin. 10:18–28), the Lord's victory seemed complete. However, less than a century later, Baalism had resurfaced as the religion of the people, forcing the Lord to confront Israel through Hosea the prophet.

How are we to explain Baalism's success? The Lord demanded obedience to strict moral and ethical standards as a basis for blessing. In stark contrast, Baalism appealed to the sensual nature. Baal's favor was gained through sympathetic magic in the form of ritual prostitution. Through these rites, young men and women supposedly could gain Baal's favor and ensure their ability to produce and bear children (see 4:12–14). Because of Baalism's attractions to the base side of human nature, it persisted in Israel. It promised an easy and even enjoyable road to prosperity, while God's way, the way of true life, demanded selflessness.

- 13:2 Kiss the calves refers to the idolatrous practice of kissing images as a sign of homage (see 1 Kin. 19:18).
- 13:3 God's judgment would sweep Ephraim away quickly, just as the sun dispels fog and dries up the dew, or as the wind blows away chaff and smoke.
- 13:4, 5 The Lord reminded Israel of who He is, what He had accomplished for His people, and what He expected from them. Because He alone was Israel's God and savior, the Lord expected the people's undivided loyalty. know . . . knew: The repetition of the verb "to know" correlates God's demands with His grace. Because He knew (cared for) Israel in the wilderness, He had every right to expect them to know (be loyal to) Him.
- 13:6–9 God provided for Israel's needs and richly blessed the people, like a shepherd leading his flock to lush pasture lands. In return, Israel forgot the Lord. The Lord's relationship with Israel would change drastically from caring Shepherd to ravaging Predator. Ironically and tragically, Israel's rebellion had turned its Helper into a Destroyer.
- 13:10, 11 These verses recall how Israel demanded from Samuel a king like those of the nations around them (see 1 Sam. 8). Though offended by the people's request, which implied their rejection of divine authority (see 1 Sam. 8:7), the Lord granted their wish. Israel's king could not protect the people from divine judgment; in fact, he himself would be swept away.
- 13:12 bound up . . . stored up: God had kept a careful record of Israel's sins, to be revealed as evidence of guilt in the day of judgment.
- 13:13 This metaphor of childbirth illustrates Israel's spiritual insensitivity. When the crucial time of judgment arrived, Israel would respond unwisely, resulting in death. The nation's failure to repent is compared to a baby that is not positioned properly during labor and jeopardizes the life of both mother and child.
- 13:15, 16 Israel was like a fruitful, well-watered plant, but God's judgment would come like a scorching east wind and bring drought. He shall plunder: The reality behind the imagery of the wind is the Assyrian army, which would plunder Israel's riches and mercilessly kill the people, including helpless infants and pregnant women.
- 14:1–3 The final section of Hosea's prophecy begins with a call to repentance that includes a model prayer. The people of Israel were to pray for God's gracious forgiveness and renew their allegiance to Him by renouncing foreign alliances, their own military strength, and artificial gods.
- 14:4–8 The Lord anticipates a time when He would restore repentant Israel. The Lord's renewed blessing is compared to dew. Revived Israel is compared to a beautiful lily, a deep-rooted and aromatic cedar of Lebanon, an attractive olive tree, and a fruitful vine. The Lord Himself would be like a green cypress tree that provides protective shade. I have . . . observed: This affirmation of God's watchful care stands in stark contrast to His judgment, which was compared to a leopard stalking its prey (13:7).
- 14:9 The book concludes with advice for those who read Hosea's prophecy. God's ways, His demands and principles, are completely true. The wise person will choose to obey them, but the foolish person will ignore them and consequently stumble into judgment.

Introduction

Natural disasters—from rising flood waters to violent earthquakes—provoke fear and dread. With all their ingenuity, people still cannot control these powerful and destructive forces. They can only watch in awe. Joel begins his book with a description of such a natural disaster—a plague of ravenous locusts. In the prophet's hands, the destructiveness of this plague becomes a vivid warning of the power of God's coming judgment and a clear appeal to run to the Lord for mercy.

Author The author of the book is Joel, the son of Pethuel (1:1) Very little is known about the author's life or circumstances. His name means "The Lord Is God," suggesting that he was reared in a home where God was honored. The references to Zion, Judah, and Jerusalem (2:15, 23, 32; 3:1) indicate that the prophet lived and prophesied in Judah and Jerusalem. His frequent references to the work of priests in the temple (1:9, 13, 14; 2:17) lead some to conclude that he was a priest. But Joel also displays considerable interest in agriculture in all of its forms. As a prophet of the Lord he could have been knowledgeable about the temple in Jerusalem without having been a priest.

Date Scholars have offered various dates for the writing of the Book of Joel, from early preexilic times to as late as 350 B.C. Some believe that internal evidence in the Book of Joel indicates that the book was written during the reign of Joash king of Judah (835–796 B.C.), and in the time of the high priest Jehoiada. This view is based on the following considerations: (1) The location of the book between Hosea and Amos in the Hebrew canon suggests a preexilic date of writing. (2) The allusion to the neighboring nations as Judah's foes rather than Assyria, Babylon, or Persia points to an early date for the book. (3) The book does not mention any reigning king, which may suggest a time when the responsibility for ruling rested upon the priests and elders—as was the case during the early reign of young King Joash (see 2 Kin. 11:4—12:21).

Others believe that the Book of Joel is so close in tone and idea to the Book of Zephaniah that it is likely that the two prophets were contemporaries. The primary evidence for this is the fact that both books prominently feature the concept of the impending “day of the LORD” (compare 2:1, 2 with Zeph. 1:14–16). Since Zephaniah’s book dates from around 627 B.C., a number of scholars assign a date of about 600 B.C. for the Book of Joel.

Historical Setting If we assume that the book was written early in the reign of Joash, then we can refer to 2 Kings 11:1—12:21 for background on this period of Judean history. Joash inherited the throne of Judah as a boy. He had survived Athaliah’s murder of all potential claimants to the throne only through the heroic efforts of his aunt Jehosheba, who hid him in the temple. Joash was crowned king at the age of seven by Jehoiada the high priest, who had enlisted the captains of the royal guard to dispose of the wicked Athaliah. Jehoiada advised the young king during the early years of his reign. It is possible that during these years the nation of Judah was devastated by a great swarm of locusts. This catastrophe would have given the prophet Joel an occasion to call the people to repentance in view of an even greater judgment to come—the day of the Lord.

However, it is not unreasonable to place Joel’s ministry during the 25 years before the Babylonians destroyed Jerusalem in 586 B.C. If Joel was a contemporary of Zephaniah, then his message of impending national disaster, using the natural calamity of a recent invasion of locusts, would have been a powerful announcement of the horrible events that soon were to come on Jerusalem.

Purpose Joel’s prophecy had two purposes. First, Joel wrote to call the nation to repentance (2:12) on the basis of its experience of the recent locust plague. The recent disaster was but a token of a more devastating judgment to come. Yet that judgment could be averted by sincere and humble repentance (2:13, 14). In this, Joel shares a common message with other prophets. In the light of impending judgment, there is always a message of hope for those who will return in faith to God. Second, the prophecy was intended to comfort the godly with promises of future salvation and blessing (2:28–32; 3:18–21). Should the national disaster occur, Joel offered hope to the true believers that all was not over. God would keep His promise; the Savior would one day reign.

Christ in the Scriptures

Before Jesus ascended into heaven after His resurrection, He promised the disciples that He would send the Holy Spirit upon them (see John 16:7–15; Acts 1:8). When this was fulfilled on the Day of Pentecost, Peter said, “This is what was spoken by the prophet Joel: ‘And it shall come to pass in the last days, says God, that I will pour out of My spirit on all flesh’” (Acts 2:16, 17). Peter attributed the fulfillment of Jesus’ promise directly to the prophecy in Joel 2:28–32.

Joel 1

¹The word of the LORD that came to ^aJoel the son of Pethuel.

The Land Laid Waste

(Ex. 10:1–20)

²Hear this, you elders,
And give ear, all you inhabitants of the land!
^bHas anything like this happened in your days,
Or even in the days of your fathers?
^{3c}Tell your children about it,
Let your children tell their children,
And their children another generation.

What the swarming locust left, the crawling locust has eaten;
And what the crawling locust left, the consuming locust has eaten.

⁵Awake, you ^fdrunkards, and weep;
And wail, all you drinkers of wine,
Because of the new wine,
⁸For it has been cut off from your mouth.
⁶For ^ha nation has come up against My land,
Strong, and without number;
ⁱHis teeth are the teeth of a lion,
And he has the fangs of a ²fierce lion.
⁷He has ^jlaid waste My vine,
And ³ruined My fig tree;
He has stripped it bare and thrown it away;
Its branches are made white.

^{8k}Lament like a virgin girded with sackcloth
For ^lthe husband of her youth.
^{9m}The grain offering and the drink offering
Have been cut off from the house of the LORD;
The priests ⁿmourn, who minister to the LORD.
¹⁰The field is wasted,
^oThe land mourns;
For the grain is ruined,

^pThe new wine is dried up,
The oil fails.

^{11q}Be ashamed, you farmers,
Wail, you vinedressers,
For the wheat and the barley;
Because the harvest of the field has perished.

^{12r}The vine has dried up,
And the fig tree has withered;
The pomegranate tree,
The palm tree also,
And the apple tree—
All the trees of the field are withered;
Surely ^sjoy has withered away from the sons of men.

Mourning for the Land

¹³_tGird yourselves and lament, you priests;
Wail, you who minister before the altar;
Come, lie all night in sackcloth,
You who minister to my God;
For the grain offering and the drink offering
Are withheld from the house of your God.

¹⁴_uConsecrate a fast,
Call ^va sacred assembly;

Gather the elders
And ^wall the inhabitants of the land
Into the house of the LORD your God,
And cry out to the LORD.

^{15x}Alas for the day!
For ^ythe day of the LORD is at hand;
It shall come as destruction from the Almighty.
¹⁶Is not the food ^zcut off before our eyes,
^aJoy and gladness from the house of our God?
¹⁷The seed shrivels under the clods,
Storehouses are in shambles;
Barns are broken down,
For the grain has withered.
¹⁸How ^bthe animals groan!
The herds of cattle are restless,
Because they have no pasture;
Even the flocks of sheep ⁴suffer punishment.

¹⁹O LORD, ^cto You I cry out;
For ^dfire has devoured the ⁵open pastures,
And a flame has burned all the trees of the field.
²⁰The beasts of the field also ^ecry out to You,
For ^fthe water brooks are dried up,
And fire has devoured the ⁶open pastures.

Joel 2

The Day of the LORD

¹Blow ^athe ¹trumpet in Zion,
And ^bsound an alarm in My holy mountain!
Let all the inhabitants of the land tremble;
For ^cthe day of the LORD is coming,
For it is at hand: Article: The Day of the LORD

^{2d}A day of darkness and gloominess,
A day of clouds and thick darkness,
Like the morning clouds spread over the mountains.

^eA people come, great and strong,
^fThe like of whom has never been;
Nor will there ever be any such after them,
Even for many successive generations.

³A fire devours before them,
And behind them a flame burns;
The land is like ^gthe Garden of Eden before them,
^hAnd behind them a desolate wilderness;
Surely nothing shall escape them.

⁴ⁱTheir appearance is like the appearance of horses;
And like ²swift steeds, so they run.

^{5j}With a noise like chariots
Over mountaintops they leap,
Like the noise of a flaming fire that devours the stubble,
Like a strong people set in battle array.

⁶Before them the people writhe in pain;
^kAll faces ³are drained of color.

⁷They run like mighty men,
They climb the wall like men of war;
Every one marches in formation,
And they do not break ^lranks.

⁸They do not push one another;
Every one marches in his own ⁴column.

Though they lunge between the weapons,
They are not ⁵cut down.

⁹They run to and fro in the city,
They run on the wall;
They climb into the houses,
They ^menter at the windows ⁿlike a thief.

^{10o}The earth quakes before them,
The heavens tremble;
^pThe sun and moon grow dark,
And the stars diminish their brightness.

^{11q}The LORD gives voice before His army,
For His camp is very great;
^rFor strong is the One who executes His word.
For the ^sday of the LORD is great and very terrible;
^tWho can endure it?

A Call to Repentance

¹²“Now, therefore,” says the LORD,
^u“Turn to Me with all your heart,
With fasting, with weeping, and with mourning.”
¹³So ^vrend your heart, and not ^wyour garments;
Return to the LORD your God,
For He is ^xgracious and merciful,
Slow to anger, and of great kindness;
And He relents from doing harm.
^{14y}Who knows if He will turn and relent,
And leave ^za blessing behind Him—
^aA grain offering and a drink offering
For the LORD your God?

^{15b}Blow the ⁶trumpet in Zion,
^cConsecrate a fast,
Call a sacred assembly;
¹⁶Gather the people,
^dSanctify the congregation,
Assemble the elders,
Gather the children and nursing babes;
^eLet the bridegroom go out from his chamber,
And the bride from her dressing room.
¹⁷Let the priests, who minister to the LORD,
Weep ^fbetween the porch and the altar;
Let them say, ^g“Spare Your people, O LORD,
And do not give Your heritage to reproach,
That the nations should ⁷rule over them.
^hWhy should they say among the peoples,
‘Where is their God?’ ”

The Land Refreshed

(Acts 2:17)

¹⁸Then the LORD will ⁱbe zealous for His land,
And pity His people.

¹⁹The LORD will answer and say to His people,
“Behold, I will send you ^jgrain and new wine and oil,
And you will be satisfied by them;
I will no longer make you a reproach among the nations.

²⁰“But ^kI will remove far from you ^lthe northern army,
And will drive him away into a barren and desolate land,
With his face toward the eastern sea
And his back ^mtoward the western sea;
His stench will come up,
And his foul odor will rise,
Because he has done ⁸monstrous things.”

²¹Fear not, O land;
Be glad and rejoice,
For the LORD has done ⁹marvelous things!

²²Do not be afraid, you beasts of the field;
For ⁿthe open pastures are springing up,
And the tree bears its fruit;
The fig tree and the vine yield their strength.

²³Be glad then, you children of Zion,
And ^orejoice in the LORD your God;
For He has given you the ¹⁰former rain faithfully,
And He ^pwill cause the rain to come down for you—
The former rain,
And the latter rain in the first month.

²⁴The threshing floors shall be full of wheat,
And the vats shall overflow with new wine and oil.

²⁵“So I will restore to you the years ^qthat the swarming

The crawling locust,
The consuming locust,

And the chewing locust,
My great army which I sent among you.
²⁶You shall ^reat in plenty and be satisfied,
And praise the name of the LORD your God,
Who has dealt wondrously with you;
And My people shall never be put to ^sshame.
²⁷Then you shall know that I am ^tin the midst of Israel:
^uI am the LORD your God
And there is no other.
My people shall never be put to shame.

God's Spirit Poured Out

Joel 3

God Judges the Nations

¹“For behold, ^ain those days and at that time,
When I bring back the captives of Judah and Jerusalem,

^{2b}I will also gather all nations,
And bring them down to the Valley of Jehoshaphat;
And I ^cwill enter into judgment with them there
On account of My people, My heritage Israel,
Whom they have scattered among the nations;
They have also divided up My land.

³They have ^dcast lots for My people,
Have given a boy as payment for a harlot,
And sold a girl for wine, that they may drink.

⁴“Indeed, what have you to do with Me,
^eO Tyre and Sidon, and all the coasts of Philistia?
Will you ¹retaliate against Me?
But if you ²retaliate against Me, Swiftly and speedily I will return your ³retaliation upon your own head;

⁵Because you have taken My silver and My gold,
And have carried into your temples My ⁴prized possessions.

⁶Also the people of Judah and the people of Jerusalem
You have sold to the Greeks,
That you may remove them far from their borders.

⁷“Behold, ^fI will raise them
Out of the place to which you have sold them,
And will return your ⁵retaliation upon your own head.

⁸I will sell your sons and your daughters
Into the hand of the people of Judah,
And they will sell them to the ^gSabeans, ⁶
To a people ^hfar off;
For the LORD has spoken.”

⁹ⁱProclaim this among the nations:
“Prepare for war!
Wake up the mighty men,

Let all the men of war draw near,
Let them come up.

^{10j}Beat your plowshares into swords
And your ⁷pruning hooks into spears;

^kLet the weak say, 'I am strong.' ”

¹¹Assemble and come, all you nations,
And gather together all around.

Cause ¹Your mighty ones to go down there, O LORD.

¹²“Let the nations be wakened, and come up to the Valley of Jehoshaphat;

For there I will sit to ^mjudge all the surrounding nations.

¹³ⁿPut in the sickle, for ^othe harvest is ripe.

Come, go down;

For the ^pwinepress is full,

The vats overflow—

For their wickedness is great.”

¹⁴Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision!

For ^qthe day of the LORD is near in the valley of decision.

¹⁵The sun and moon will grow dark,
And the stars will diminish their brightness.

¹⁶The LORD also will roar from Zion,
And utter His voice from Jerusalem;

The heavens and earth will shake;

^rBut the LORD will be a shelter for His people,
And the strength of the children of Israel.

¹⁷“So you shall know that I am the LORD your God, Dwelling in Zion My ^sholy mountain.

Then Jerusalem shall be holy,

And no aliens shall ever pass through her again.”

God Blesses His People

¹⁸And it will come to pass in that day
That the mountains shall drip with new wine,
The hills shall flow with milk,
And all the brooks of Judah shall be flooded with water;
A ^tfountain shall flow from the house of the LORD
And water the Valley of ⁸Acacias.

¹⁹“Egypt shall be a desolation,
And Edom a desolate wilderness,
Because of violence against the people of Judah,
For they have shed innocent blood in their land.

²⁰But Judah shall abide forever,
And Jerusalem from generation to generation.

²¹For I will ^uacquit them of the guilt of bloodshed, whom I had not acquitted;
For the LORD dwells in Zion.”

Annotations for Joel

- 1:1 The word of the LORD . . . came attests to the divine origin of the prophet's message. The presentation of the message was the work of the prophet. Joel means "The Lord Is God."
- 1:2 Has anything like this happened: The calamity of recent days was unprecedented in the memory of the people.
- 1:4 Many interpreters have viewed this locust swarm as foreign armies that attacked Judah in successive waves—Assyria, Babylon, Greece, and Rome. Yet literal locust plagues were one of the judgments promised if the people disobeyed God and broke their covenant with Him (see Deut. 28:38, 39, 42). Further, Joel's description of the damage done by the locusts compares with eyewitness reports. The impression given is one of overwhelming devastation.
- 1:5 Awake, you drunkards: The vineyards had been destroyed, and the wine had been lost.
- 1:6 Nation may refer to a literal or figurative swarm of locusts. They came in such numbers that they were like a vast army.
- 1:7 Branches of trees stripped of bark by the rasping teeth of the locusts were left splintered and ghostly white.
- 1:8 The image here is of a young bride widowed on her wedding day. Sackcloth was worn by those in mourning in ancient Israel.
- 1:9 The drink offering refers to the wine offerings that accompanied the priests' morning and evening sacrifices (see Ex. 29:38–41). The devastation of the locusts meant that no sacrifice could be offered.
- 1:10 The land is personified as mourning because the three principle crops it produced—grain, grapes, and olives—had been destroyed (see Deut. 7:13; Ps. 104:15).
- 1:11, 12 The people had anticipated the joy of harvest, but due to the disaster of the locust plague, their joy has withered away.
- 1:13–20 Joel reminds the nation's leaders that being restored to blessing requires repentance (see Deut. 30:1–5; 2 Chr. 7:14). God will not withhold His favor and blessing from those who are truly repentant.
- 1:15 The day of the LORD refers to a time of judgment and deliverance. Joel views the locust plague as a contemporary day of judgment that was serving as a token or forewarning of an even greater, future "day of the LORD."
- 1:16 Is not the food cut off . . . Joy and gladness: With the sudden loss of food, there was also a loss of joy at harvest (see Is. 9:3).
- 1:17 The seed shrivels indicates further devastation in the land and an inability to replant the following year.
- 1:18, 19 Not only did the people of Judah suffer from the drought, so did the animals, cattle, and flocks. Joel depicts the animals poetically as joining in the lament, groaning in their hunger and distress (see Rom. 8:22). I cry out: The prophet adds his own voice to the bellowing of beasts, the wailing of drunkards, and the mourning of priests. He was part of the suffering community, not an outsider looking on from a distance.
- 2:1 The trumpet, or ram's horn, was used in ancient times to signal danger or warn of a military attack (see Jer. 6:17; Amos 3:6). God demonstrated His grace by warning His people beforehand and providing opportunity for repentance before He brought His judgment upon them. Zion refers to Jerusalem (see Ps. 133:3). coming . . . at hand: The Bible presents the day of the Lord as an imminent reality. It is not something that we are gradually moving toward; rather, it is ever ready to burst in on us. At any moment, the day that is "near" may become present.

The Day of the LORD

One of the central themes of the Book of Joel is “the day of the LORD” (1:15; 2:1, 11, 31; 3:14). This language describes a period of time in which God “comes down” in a dramatic way to bring wrath and judgment on the wicked and salvation to the righteous. God is Lord of time. There is no period that is not “the day of the LORD” in a general sense. But at times God enters the space-time arena to assert in bold, dramatic ways that He is in control.

The day of the Lord is a major theme of Old Testament prophecy. Thirteen of the sixteen prophets address this subject. The concept of the day of the Lord probably originated with the conquest of Canaan—a conquest which was in fact the Lord’s war (see Deut. 1:30; 3:22; Josh. 5:13–15; 6:2); that is, a day of judgment for the wicked Canaanites (see Lev. 18:25; Deut. 9:4, 5).

The day of the Lord is not an isolated phenomenon or a single event in human history. Periods in Israel’s early history and latter history, the coming of Jesus, and His second advent are all called “the day of the LORD” in Scripture. The predictions of a coming day of the Lord can be fulfilled in a number of different events. The invasion of locusts in the historic events of the life of Joel was the day of the Lord (ch. 2). But the day of wrath and deliverance that soon fell on Judah in the Babylonian invasion was also the day of the Lord.

While most references speak of future events, five biblical texts describe the day of the Lord in terms of past judgments (see Is. 22:1–14; Jer. 46:2–12; Lam. 1:1—2:22; Ezek. 13:1–9). These texts reflect circumstances of military defeat, tragedy, and judgment. Such events may have stimulated the development of the prophetic concept of a future “day” or time of judgment for the disobedient of Israel and all of the nations (see 1:15; Is. 13:6, 9; Zeph. 1:14–18).

However, the day of the Lord is not just a day of wrath and judgment on the disobedient. In some contexts, it also includes deliverance and restoration for the righteous. The day of the Lord speaks not only of future judgment, but of future hope, prosperity, and blessing (see Is. 4:2–6; Hos. 2:18–23; Amos 9:11–15; Mic. 4:6–8). Joel reveals that this day is to be heralded by heavenly phenomena (2:30, 31) which will bring sudden darkness and gloom on the earth (2:2). It will be a day of divine destruction (1:15) on the nations that have persecuted Israel (3:12–14) and on the rebellious and disobedient of Israel (Amos 5:18–20). Yet it will also be a time of deliverance and unprecedented blessing for God’s people (2:32; 3:16, 18–21; 1 Thess. 5:2–5).

2:2 Darkness is used as a figure for misery, distress, and judgment (see Is. 8:22; 60:2; Jer. 13:16).

2:3–5 The invasion that Joel prophetically envisioned was like a raging fire that transformed all that was beautiful into desolation. Joel compared the speed and strength of the invaders to galloping horses.

2:6–9 writhe in pain: The invading armies were locustlike in number and in their ability to penetrate any defense; but like men of war, they bring fear and death with them. The imagery of locusts (ch. 1) is used in this section to describe the overwhelming power of a military invasion.

2:10, 11 References to the sun, moon, and stars growing dim allude to a future outpouring of divine wrath (see Is. 13:10; Matt. 24:29; Rev. 6:12, 13). Who can endure: Nothing will be able to withstand the wrath of God (see Matt. 24:21, 22).

- 2:12 Turn to Me: As in Zephaniah (see Zeph. 2:1–3), an opportunity for repentance, remorse, and renewal was offered to the people.
- 2:13 rend your heart: God is not satisfied with outward acts of repentance. Tearing one’s garments was a customary way of expressing grief or remorse (see Josh. 7:6; 1 Sam. 4:12). However, like all outward acts, the tearing of a garment could be done without true sorrow or repentance. God required more than mere external words or actions; He wanted a change of heart and sorrow over sin. The attributes of God that provided the basis of Joel’s appeal were first revealed to Moses in Ex. 34:6. Slow to anger: God is reluctant to punish. Judgment is God’s “unusual” or “foreign” task, for He wants all to come to repentance (see Is. 28:21).
- 2:14 Who knows: These words suggest that even at the last moment, the Lord would withhold His wrath and display His grace if the people would truly repent. As a result, agriculture would be restored and productivity would return. There would be food and drink, for the people and for offerings to the Lord.
- 2:15 Blow the trumpet in Zion: The repetition of these words from 2:1 ties the chapter together and renews the urgent appeal for a proper response to God.
- 2:16 The urgency of the situation is apparent because all ages and classes of the population were summoned. According to Jewish tradition codified in the Mishnah, a bridegroom and bride could be excused from reciting daily prayers on their wedding day. But Joel excused no one from prayer at this time of spiritual emergency.
- 2:17 Spare Your people: If the leaders and the people would gather together with prayers of true repentance and genuine renewal, the horrible events that God was threatening might be averted. Why should they say among the peoples: This rhetorical question was designed to move God to intervene. Failure to come to Judah’s aid might encourage the nations to make a mockery of Judah’s God.
- 2:18, 19 zealous for His land: The deep love of God for the land of Israel is coupled with His abiding love (pity) for the people. On every occasion in which God brought judgment on the land, there was the hope that one day His zeal for the land would lead to a renewal of blessing. Genuine repentance is the prerequisite for God’s blessing. In response to repentance, God would bring restoration and blessing.
- 2:20 The north was regarded as the direction from which misfortune generally came upon Israel. The eastern sea refers to the Dead Sea. The western sea refers to the Mediterranean Sea.
- 2:21 Fear not: There is coming a day (see Ps. 65) when God’s restoration of the earth will be complete.
- 2:22 open pastures . . . tree bears its fruit: The renewal of agriculture would be a sign that God had renewed prosperity and peace to His land.
- 2:23, 24 The former rain softened the soil for planting winter wheat. The latter rain fell in the spring, causing the grain to swell and ensuring a good harvest. If the rains failed, the crops would not grow.
- 2:25, 26 The same God who brings judgment is pleased to restore blessing to those who repent. This does not mean that sin leaves no scar, but that God can restore people to usefulness in spite of past disobedience.
- 2:27 I am in the midst of Israel: Ultimately, this is the promise of God’s presence in the midst of His people in the coming reign of King Jesus (see Zeph. 3:14–20). However, God promises to be present at all times with the individual who is at peace with Him.
- 2:28–32 After describing the physical blessings that would come upon his generation if they would repent, Joel describes the spiritual blessings that God would bestow upon His people in the future. There are three main viewpoints regarding how Joel’s prophecy was later used by Peter in Acts 2:17–21: (1) Some interpreters see a complete fulfillment of Joel’s prophecy in the experience of the first believers on the Day of Pentecost. The outpouring of the Spirit ushered in the kingdom age. The wonders in the skies were fulfilled at the crucifixion, when darkness covered the land. (2) Some interpreters believe that Peter was simply using Joel's prophecy as an illustration of what was happening. In effect, Peter was saying, "This is that same Holy Spirit which was spoken of by Joel." According to this view, the prophecy will be fulfilled in the future when the remnant of Israel believes. (3) Some suggest that Joel's prophecy was partially fulfilled on the Day of Pentecost. The gift of the Holy Spirit was given, but the signs mentioned in vv. 30–32 will be fulfilled later in connection with the return of Christ in great glory.

2:28, 29 Afterward indicates the prophetic future; this word is a signal that the text was pointing to the messianic age. Pour out is derived from the imagery of Israel's heavy winter rains; it speaks here of abundant provision. All flesh anticipates the inclusion of both Jews and Gentiles in one body in Christ (see Eph. 2:11-3:6). The ministries of the Spirit mentioned here were experienced in the early church (see Acts 11:28; 21:9; 2 Cor. 12:1-4; Rev. 1:1-3). Your sons and your daughters: The outpouring of the Spirit and the ministries done through His power will be accomplished without regard to gender, age, or class.

(Heb. ruach) (2:28; Gen. 6:3; 1 Kin. 22:23; Ps. 32:2; 146:4) Strong's #7307

The noun spirit is related to a verb meaning “to breathe” or “to blow.” It can signify breath (Job 9:18; 19:17), wind (Gen. 8:1; Ex. 10:13; Eccl. 1:14; Is. 26:18), the breath of life (whether animal or human, see Gen. 6:17; 7:15), disposition or mood (Gen. 41:8; Ezek. 21:7), an evil or distressing spirit (1 Sam. 16:14–16), or the Spirit of God (Gen. 1:2; Ps. 51:11). The spirit of life is the gift of God to all creatures (Job 12:10; 33:4; Eccl. 12:7). The endowment of God's Holy Spirit is a special gift to believers, which brings spiritual life (Ps. 51:10, 11; 143:10), power (Judg. 6:34), wisdom and understanding (Is. 11:2), and divine revelation which leads to a better understanding of God's Word and His perfect ways (2:28; Is. 61:1, 2).

2:30, 31 The heavenly wonders described here will take place before the great and awesome day of the LORD, an apparent reference to the end times. Blood and fire correspond with Rev. 8:7, 8. Smoke corresponds with Rev. 9:18. Darkness corresponds with Rev. 8:12. Moon into blood corresponds with Rev. 6:12.

2:32 Anyone who calls on the name of the LORD—that is, repents and believes—will be saved from the judgment that will fall on the wicked and unbelieving.

3:1 In those days indicates a time in the prophetic future (2:28). The judgment will take place after the Lord has restored His people to the land (see Matt. 25:31–46).

3:2 Valley of Jehoshaphat: The name Jehoshaphat means “The Lord Judges.” The location of this valley is not known. Perhaps this was merely a symbolic name for the location of the great battle in the end times.

3:4 Tyre and Sidon were Phoenician cities on the Mediterranean Sea, north of Galilee. Philistia was on the Mediterranean coast south of Joppa.

3:8 Sabeans were people of Semitic origin who lived in the southwest Arabian peninsula.

3:9, 10 The military weapons of the Gentile nations would not be sufficient to protect them against God's judgment. Therefore, they are exhorted to beat their plowshares into swords and their pruning hooks into spears. For predictions of the reverse, see Is. 2:4; Mic. 4:3.

3:11 Joel saw two armies assembling for battle. The one is made up of the nations; the other is made up of the mighty ones of the Lord (see Mark 8:38; Rev. 19:14).

3:12, 13 The use of harvesting imagery in the Book of Joel is complex. It begins in terms of the great scarcity resulting from the locust plague (ch. 1). Then there is a promised renewal of agriculture with the return of God's blessing to His repentant people (2:18–27). Here, the riches of renewed agriculture serve as a mocking backdrop for a world in conflict. In 3:18–21, there is a final renewal of agriculture because of the blessing of the resident King.

3:14 The valley of decision may be a symbolic name for the Valley of Jehoshaphat (3:2), or it may refer to the option before the people to continue toward certain judgment or to turn to God in repentance (vv. 12, 13).

- 3:15, 16 These verses parallel 2:30–32 and describe the same heavenly phenomena (see Matt. 24:29). In the midst of calamity, God was offering a shelter for His people (see Zeph. 2:1–3).
- 3:17 Joel anticipates a day when strangers would no longer pass through Jerusalem to plunder and destroy. Instead, they would worship the Lord (see Zech. 8:20–23).
- 3:18 In that day indicates the prophetic future (2:28; 3:1). Joel uses poetic imagery to describe the productivity of the land in the messianic age. The Valley of Acacias was the location of the last encampment before the Israelites entered Canaan (see Num. 25:1; Josh. 3:1).
- 3:19, 20 Egypt and Edom are mentioned as representatives of the Gentile nations that God will judge before the establishment of the Messiah’s kingdom. Note the stark contrast with the eternal destinies of Judah and Jerusalem.
- 3:21 the LORD dwells in Zion: The Lord’s presence in Jerusalem is the key to the blessing of the whole land.

Introduction

The Book of Amos is perhaps the most familiar of the minor prophets, not in detail, but in its theme of justice and in some of its striking metaphors. The figure of Amos, a Judean sheepbreeder with a strong message for Israel delivered in the shadow of Jeroboam's pagan temple at Bethel, both attracts us and commands our respect. In this book we can read, just as the ancient Israelites heard, a masterful literary creation given by God through a man of the people. But more importantly, we read and hear the Word of God, still ringing down the centuries with clarity and force.

Author and Date The Book of Amos is named after the prophet who delivered its oracles. Amos was from Tekoa, a town at the edge of the Judean wilderness, about five miles southeast of Bethlehem. Because of marginal and uncertain yearly rainfall, this area was suited more for raising sheep and goats than for cultivating crops. Amos specifically calls himself a sheepbreeder (1:1; 7:14, 15). The Hebrew term used indicates that Amos was not a hired shepherd, but the owner of one or more flocks of sheep.

Amos also describes himself as a “tender of sycamore fruit” (7:14). The sycamore fig tree bears thousands of figs very much like the common fig, but smaller and not as good. Before this fruit could ripen properly, a small hole had to be pierced in the bottom of its skin. This piercing was done by hand and was a tedious and time-consuming task. Why was Amos obliged to tend the sycamore? Western Judah, the oasis of Jericho, and lower Galilee were the regions where sycamore figs grew most abundantly. The shepherds needed to bring their flocks to one of these regions in late summer, after the desert pastures had dried up. Since this was the time for piercing the sycamore fruit, landowners would exchange grazing rights for labor. A shepherd could watch his flock while sitting on the broad limbs of the sycamore, piercing its fruit. Thus Amos was not a wealthy man. Wealthy sheepbreeders hired shepherds to tend their flocks. Amos followed his flock himself (7:15), and when that meant piercing sycamore fruit, he pierced sycamore fruit.

Amos prophesied during the reigns of Uzziah king of Judah and Jeroboam king of Israel. Uzziah was king of Judah from 792 to 740 B.C., though from about 752 on, he was stricken with leprosy and shared power with his son Jotham. Jeroboam II was king of Israel from 792 to 753 B.C. Uzziah and Jeroboam formed an alliance for much of their reigns and together ruled for a brief time an area nearly as large as the empire of David and Solomon.

When it was written, Amos's prophecy was dated to a time "two years before the earthquake" (1:1). It is impossible to tell what earthquake is meant, since there are no other historical references to it. However, this dating, along with Amos's dialogue with Amaziah, the priest of Jeroboam's temple at Bethel (7:10–17), reveals that the period of Amos's prophetic activity was very short, unlike many of the other prophets. Amos went to Bethel from Tekoa, delivered his prophetic oracles, and returned home. He probably stayed in Bethel only a few days. Amos's spoken oracles should be dated around 755–754 B.C. Within two or three years after the prophet's appearance at Bethel, Jeroboam II died, and Israel's rapid decline began. Within 30 years, Israel was conquered by the Assyrians.

Theme and Purpose The main theme of the Book of Amos is God's passionate concern for justice. Justice is not an abstract issue with God. Instead, justice is relational; it promotes good relations between people and between groups of people. Injustice breaks down good relationships and breeds anger, hostility, and violence. God created the human race to enjoy good relations with Him and with each other; therefore, injustice that breeds alienation in all of its varieties breaks God's heart.

The renewed prosperity of Israel based on the successes of Jeroboam II brought new wealth to the upper classes. They used that wealth to enlarge their landholdings and to build great houses for themselves. They violated the rights of the poor and the landed peasants, throwing many off their ancestral lands. Through God's provisions in the Mosaic covenant, the landed peasant class had been the foundation of Israel's society. But under Jeroboam's rule, this class virtually disappeared. As the rich became richer, the poor became poorer and more numerous; many were sold into slavery. Israel's social structure became thoroughly unstable.

The immediate purpose of Amos's prophetic ministry was to call the leaders of ancient Israel to repent and reform. Amos warned them that if they did not heed his call, their injustice against the poor and the weak would destroy the nation. God would not allow them to continue in their unrighteous, unjust course. Repentance or retribution were the only alternatives. It is no accident that what we often remember from Amos is his stirring call, "Let justice run down like water, and righteousness like a mighty stream" (5:24).

Christ in the Scriptures

Though most of Amos's prophecy is about God's authority to judge an apathetic and ungrateful nation, he ends his book with the promise that God will restore His people and "raise up the tabernacle of David" (9:11). This obviously refers to more than just the kingdom of David and the temple his son Solomon built. It speaks of the fulfillment of the Davidic dynasty, which finds its focus in the Son of David—Jesus.

Amos 1

¹The words of Amos, who was among the ^asheepbreeders of ^bTekoa, which he saw concerning Israel in the days of ^cUzziah king of Judah, and in the days of ^dJeroboam the son of Joash, king of Israel, two years before the ^eearthquake.

²And he said:

“The LORD ^froars from Zion,
And utters His voice from Jerusalem;
The pastures of the shepherds mourn,
And the top of ^gCarmel withers.”

Judgment on the Nations

³Thus says the LORD:

“For three transgressions of ^hDamascus, and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
Because they have ⁱthreshed Gilead with implements of iron.

In-Text Map: Nations and Cities Mentioned in Amos

^{4j}But I will send a fire into the house of Hazael,
Which shall devour the palaces of ^kBen-Hadad.

⁵I will also break the gate ^lbar of Damascus,
And cut off the inhabitant from the Valley of Aven,
And the one who ¹holds the scepter from ²Beth Eden.
The people of Syria shall go captive to Kir,”
Says the LORD.

⁶Thus says the LORD:

“For three transgressions of ^mGaza, and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
Because they took captive the whole captivity
To deliver them up to Edom.

⁷ⁿBut I will send a fire upon the wall of Gaza,
Which shall devour its palaces.

⁸I will cut off the inhabitant ^ofrom Ashdod,
And the one who holds the scepter from Ashkelon;
I will ^pturn My hand against Ekron,
And ^qthe remnant of the Philistines shall perish,”
Says the Lord GOD.

⁹Thus says the LORD:

“For three transgressions of ^rTyre, and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
Because they delivered up the whole captivity to Edom,
And did not remember the covenant of brotherhood.

¹⁰But I will send a fire upon the wall of Tyre,
Which shall devour its palaces.”

¹¹Thus says the LORD:

“For three transgressions of ^sEdom, and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
Because he pursued his ^tbrother with the sword,
And cast off all pity;
His anger tore perpetually,
And he kept his wrath forever.

¹²But ^uI will send a fire upon Teman,
Which shall devour the palaces of Bozrah.”

¹³Thus says the LORD:

“For three transgressions of ^vthe people of Ammon, and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
Because they ripped open the women with child in Gilead,
That they might enlarge their territory.

¹⁴But I will kindle a fire in the wall of ^wRabbah,
And it shall devour its palaces,
^xAmid shouting in the day of battle,
And a tempest in the day of the whirlwind.

^{15y}Their king shall go into captivity,
He and his princes together,”
Says the LORD.

Amos 2

¹Thus says the LORD:

^a“For three transgressions of Moab, and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
Because he ^bburned the bones of the king of Edom to lime.

²But I will send a fire upon Moab,
And it shall devour the palaces of ^cKerioth;
Moab shall die with tumult,
With shouting and trumpet sound.

³And I will cut off ^dthe judge from its midst,
And slay all its princes with him,”
Says the LORD.

Judgment on Judah

⁴Thus says the LORD:

“For three transgressions of ^eJudah, and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
^fBecause they have despised the law of the LORD,
And have not kept His commandments.
^gTheir lies lead them astray,
Lies ^hwhich their fathers followed.
⁵ⁱBut I will send a fire upon Judah,
And it shall devour the palaces of Jerusalem.”

Judgment on Israel

⁶Thus says the LORD:

“For three transgressions of ^jIsrael, and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
Because ^kthey sell the righteous for silver,
And the ^lpoor for a pair of sandals.

⁷They ¹pant after the dust of the earth which is on the head of the poor,

And ^mpervert the way of the humble.

ⁿA man and his father go in to the same girl,

^oTo defile My holy name.

⁸They lie down ^pby every altar on clothes ^qtaken in pledge,
And drink the wine of ²the condemned in the house of their god.

⁹“Yet it was I who destroyed the ^rAmorite before them,
Whose height was like the ^sheight of the cedars,
And he was as strong as the oaks;
Yet I ^tdestroyed his fruit above
And his roots beneath.

¹⁰Also it was ^uI who brought you up from the land of Egypt,
And ^vled you forty years through the wilderness,
To possess the land of the Amorite.

¹¹I raised up some of your sons as ^wprophets,
And some of your young men as ^xNazirites.
Is it not so, O you children of Israel?”

Says the LORD.

¹²“But you gave the Nazirites wine to drink,
And commanded the prophets ^ysaying,
‘Do not prophesy!’

¹³“Behold, ^zI am ³weighed down by you,
As a cart full of sheaves ⁴is weighed down.

^{14a}Therefore ⁵flight shall perish from the swift,
The strong shall not strengthen his power,
^bNor shall the mighty ⁶deliver himself;

¹⁵He shall not stand who handles the bow,
The swift of foot shall not ⁷escape,
Nor shall he who rides a horse deliver himself.

¹⁶The most ⁸courageous men of might Shall flee naked in that day,”
Says the LORD.

Amos 3

Authority of the Prophet's Message

¹Hear this word that the LORD has spoken against you, O children of Israel, against the whole family which I brought up from the land of Egypt, saying:

²“You^a only have I known of all the families of the earth;

^bTherefore I will punish you for all your iniquities.”

³Can two walk together, unless they are agreed?

⁴Will a lion roar in the forest, when he has no prey?

Will a young lion ¹cry out of his den, if he has caught nothing?

⁵Will a bird fall into a snare on the earth, where there is no ²trap for it?

Will a snare spring up from the earth, if it has caught nothing at all?

⁶If a ³trumpet is blown in a city, will not the people be afraid?

^cIf there is calamity in a city, will not the LORD have done it?

⁷Surely the Lord GOD does nothing,

Unless ^dHe reveals His secret to His servants the prophets.

⁸A lion has roared!

Who will not fear?

The Lord GOD has spoken!

^eWho can but prophesy?

Punishment of Israel's Sins

⁹“Proclaim in the palaces at ⁴Ashdod,

And in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and say:

‘Assemble on the mountains of Samaria;

See great tumults in her midst,

And the ⁵oppressed within her.

¹⁰For they ^fdo not know to do right,’

Says the LORD,

‘Who store up violence and ⁶robbery in their palaces.’ ”

¹¹Therefore thus says the Lord GOD:

“An adversary shall be all around the land;
He shall sap your strength from you,
And your palaces shall be plundered.”

¹²Thus says the LORD:

“As a shepherd ⁷takes from the mouth of a lion
Two legs or a piece of an ear,
So shall the children of Israel be taken out
Who dwell in Samaria—
In the corner of a bed and ⁸on the edge of a couch!

¹³Hear and testify against the house of Jacob,”
Says the Lord GOD, the God of hosts,

¹⁴“That in the day I punish Israel for their transgressions,
I will also visit destruction on the altars of ⁸Bethel;
And the horns of the altar shall be cut off
And fall to the ground.

¹⁵I will ⁹destroy ^hthe winter house along with ⁱthe summer house;

The ^jhouses of ivory shall perish,
And the great houses shall have an end,”
Says the LORD.

Amos 4

¹Hear this word, you ^acows of Bashan, who are on the mountain of Samaria,

Who oppress the ^bpoor,

Who crush the needy,

Who say to ¹your husbands, “Bring wine, let us ^cdrink!”

^{2d}The Lord GOD has sworn by His holiness:

“Behold, the days shall come upon you

When He will take you away ^ewith fishhooks,

And your posterity with fishhooks.

^{3f}You will go out through broken walls,

Each one straight ahead of her,

And you will ²be cast into Harmon,”

Says the LORD.

⁴“Come^g to Bethel and transgress,

At ^hGilgal multiply transgression;

ⁱBring your sacrifices every morning,

^jYour tithes every three ³days.

^{5k}Offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving with leaven,

Proclaim and announce ^lthe freewill offerings;

For this you love,

You children of Israel!”

Says the Lord GOD.

Israel Did Not Accept Correction

⁶“Also I gave you ⁴cleanness of teeth in all your cities.
And lack of bread in all your places;
^mYet you have not returned to Me,”
Says the LORD.

⁷“I also withheld rain from you,
When there were still three months to the harvest.
I made it rain on one city,
I withheld rain from another city.
One part was rained upon,
And where it did not rain the part withered.
⁸So two or three cities wandered to another city to drink water,
But they were not satisfied;
Yet you have not returned to Me,”
Says the LORD.

⁹“ⁿI blasted you with blight and mildew.
When your gardens increased,
Your vineyards,
Your fig trees,
And your olive trees,
^oThe locust devoured them;
Yet you have not returned to Me,”
Says the LORD.

¹⁰“I sent among you a plague ^pafter the manner of Egypt;
Your young men I killed with a sword,
Along with your captive horses;
I made the stench of your camps come up into your nostrils;
Yet you have not returned to Me,”
Says the LORD.

¹¹“I overthrew some of you,
As God overthrew ^qSodom and Gomorrah,
And you were like a firebrand plucked from the burning;
Yet you have not returned to Me,”

Says the LORD.

¹²“Therefore thus will I do to you, O Israel;
Because I will do this to you,
^rPrepare to meet your God, O Israel!”

¹³For behold,
He who forms mountains,
And creates the ⁵wind, ^sWho declares to man what ⁶his thought is,
And makes the morning darkness,
^tWho treads the high places of the earth—
^uThe LORD God of hosts is His name.

Amos 5

A Lament for Israel

¹Hear this word which I ^atake up against you, a lamentation, O house of Israel:

²The virgin of Israel has fallen;
She will rise no more.
She lies forsaken on her land;
There is no one to raise her up.

³For thus says the Lord GOD:

“The city that goes out by a thousand
Shall have a hundred left,
And that which goes out by a hundred Shall have ten left to the house of Israel.”

A Call to Repentance

⁴For thus says the LORD to the house of Israel:

^b“Seek Me ^cand live; Word Studies: seek

⁵But do not seek ^dBethel,

Nor enter Gilgal,

Nor pass over to ^eBeersheba;

For Gilgal shall surely go into captivity,

And ^fBethel shall come to nothing.

^{6g}Seek the LORD and live,

Lest He break out like fire in the house of Joseph,

And devour it,

With no one to quench it in Bethel—

⁷You who ^hturn justice to wormwood,

And lay righteousness to rest in the earth!”

⁸He made the ⁱPleiades and Orion;

He turns the shadow of death into morning

^jAnd makes the day dark as night;

He ^kcalls for the waters of the sea

And pours them out on the face of the earth;

^lThe LORD is His name.

⁹He ¹rains ruin upon the strong,

So that fury comes upon the fortress.

^{10m}They hate the one who rebukes in the gate,

And they ⁿabhor the one who speaks uprightly.

^{11o}Therefore, because you ²tread down the poor

And take grain ³taxes from him,

Though ^pyou have built houses of hewn stone,

Yet you shall not dwell in them;

You have planted ⁴pleasant vineyards,

But you shall not drink wine from them.

¹²For I ^qknow your manifold transgressions

And your mighty sins:

^rAfflicting the just and taking bribes;

^sDiverting the poor from justice at the gate.
¹³Therefore ^tthe prudent keep silent at that time,
For it is an evil time.

¹⁴Seek good and not evil,
That you may live;
So the LORD God of hosts will be with you,
^uAs you have spoken.
^{15v}Hate evil, love good;
Establish justice in the gate.
^wIt may be that the LORD God of hosts
Will be gracious to the remnant of Joseph.

The Day of the LORD

¹⁶Therefore the LORD God of hosts, the Lord, says this:

“There shall be wailing in all streets,
And they shall say in all the highways,
‘Alas! Alas!’
They shall call the farmer to mourning,
^xAnd skillful lamenters to wailing.
¹⁷In all vineyards there shall be wailing,
For ^yI will pass through you,”
Says the LORD.

^{18z}Woe to you who desire the day of the LORD!
For what good is ^athe day of the LORD to you?
It will be darkness, and not light.
¹⁹It will be ^bas though a man fled from a lion,
And a bear met him!
Or as though he went into the house,
Leaned his hand on the wall,
And a serpent bit him!
²⁰Is not the day of the LORD darkness, and not light?
Is it not very dark, with no brightness in it?

²¹“^cI hate, I despise your feast days,
And ^dI do not savor your sacred assemblies.

^{22e}Though you offer Me burnt offerings and your grain offerings,

I will not accept them,

Nor will I regard your fattened peace offerings.

²³Take away from Me the noise of your songs,

For I will not hear the melody of your stringed instruments.

^{24f}But let justice run down like water,

And righteousness like a mighty stream.

²⁵“Did^g you offer Me sacrifices and offerings

In the wilderness forty years, O house of Israel?

²⁶You also carried ⁵Sikkuth ^{6 h}your king

And Chiun, your idols,

The star of your gods,

Which you made for yourselves. Charts and Diagrams: Pagan Gods of Bible Times

²⁷Therefore I will send you into captivity ⁱbeyond Damascus,”

Says the LORD, ^jwhose name is the God of hosts.

Amos 6

Warnings to Zion and Samaria

¹Woe ^ato you who are at ^bease in Zion,
And ^ctrust in Mount Samaria,
Notable persons in the ^dchief nation,
To whom the house of Israel comes!

^{2e}Go over to ^fCalneh and see;
And from there go to ^gHamath the great;
Then go down to Gath of the Philistines.
^h*Are you* better than these kingdoms?
Or is their territory greater than your territory?

³Woe to you who ⁱput far off the day of ^jdoom, ^kWho cause ^lthe seat of violence to come near;
⁴Who lie on beds of ivory,
Stretch out on your couches,

Eat lambs from the flock
And calves from the midst of the stall;
^{5m}Who sing idly to the sound of stringed instruments,
And invent for yourselves ⁿmusical instruments ^olike David;
⁶Who ^pdrink wine from bowls,
And anoint yourselves with the best ointments,
^qBut are not grieved for the affliction of Joseph.
⁷Therefore they shall now go ^rcaptive as the first of the captives,
And those who recline at banquets shall be removed.

^{8s}The Lord GOD has sworn by Himself,
The LORD God of hosts says:
“I abhor ^tthe pride of Jacob,
And hate his palaces;
Therefore I will deliver up the city
And all that is in it.”

⁹Then it shall come to pass, that if ten men remain in one house, they shall die.

¹⁰And when ¹a relative of the dead, with one who will burn the bodies, picks up the ²bodies to take them out of the house, he will say to one inside the house, “Are there any more with you?” Then someone will say, “None.” And he will say, ^u“Hold your tongue! ^vFor we dare not mention the name of the LORD.”

¹¹For behold, ^wthe LORD gives a command:
^xHe will break the great house into bits,
And the little house into pieces.

¹²Do horses run on rocks?
Does one plow there with oxen?
Yet ^yyou have turned justice into gall,
And the fruit of righteousness into wormwood,
¹³You who rejoice over ³Lo Debar,
Who say, “Have we not taken ⁴Karnaim for ourselves
By our own strength?”

¹⁴“But, behold, ^zI will raise up a nation against you,
O house of Israel,”
Says the LORD God of hosts;
“And they will afflict you from the ^aentrance of Hamath
To the Valley of the Arabah.”

Amos 7

Vision of the Locusts

¹Thus the Lord GOD showed me: Behold, He formed locust swarms at the ¹beginning of the late crop; indeed it was the late crop after the king's mowings.

²And so it was, when they had finished eating the grass of the land, that I said:

“O Lord GOD, forgive, I pray!

^aOh, ² that Jacob may stand,
For he is small!”

³So ^bthe LORD relented concerning this.

“It shall not be,” said the LORD.

Vision of the Fire

⁴Thus the Lord GOD showed me: Behold, the Lord GOD called ³for conflict by fire, and it consumed the great deep and devoured the ⁴territory.

⁵Then I said:

“O Lord GOD, cease, I pray!

^cOh, that Jacob may stand,

For he is small!”

⁶So the LORD relented concerning this.

“This also shall not be,” said the Lord GOD.

Vision of the Plumb Line

⁷Thus He showed me: Behold, the Lord stood on a wall made with a plumb line, with a plumb line in His hand.

⁸And the LORD said to me, “Amos, what do you see?” And I said, “A plumb line.” Then the Lord said:

“Behold, ^dI am setting a plumb line
In the midst of My people Israel;
^eI will not pass by them anymore.
^{9f}The ⁵high places of Isaac shall be desolate,
And the ⁶sanctuaries of Israel shall be laid waste.
^gI will rise with the sword against the house of Jeroboam.”

Amaziah's Complaint

¹⁰Then Amaziah the ^hpriest of ⁱBethel sent to ^jJeroboam king of Israel, saying, “Amos has conspired against you in the midst of the house of Israel. The land is not able to ⁷bear all his words.

¹¹“For thus Amos has said:

‘Jeroboam shall die by the sword,
And Israel shall surely be led away ^kcaptive
From their own land.’ ”

¹²Then Amaziah said to Amos:

“Go, you seer!
Flee to the land of Judah.
There eat bread,
And there prophesy.
¹³But ^lnever again prophesy at Bethel,
^mFor it is the king's ⁸sanctuary,
And it is the royal ⁹residence.”

¹⁴Then Amos answered, and said to Amaziah:

“I was no prophet,
Nor was I ⁿa son of a prophet,

But I was a ^osheepbreeder
And a tender of sycamore fruit.
¹⁵Then the LORD took me ¹⁰as I followed the flock,
And the LORD said to me,
'Go, ^pprophesy to My people Israel.'
¹⁶Now therefore, hear the word of the LORD:
You say, 'Do not prophesy against Israel,
And ^qdo not ¹¹spout against the house of Isaac.'

¹⁷"Therefore^r thus says the LORD:

^s'Your wife shall be a harlot in the city;
Your sons and daughters shall fall by the sword;
Your land shall be divided by survey line;
You shall die in a ^tdefiled land;
And Israel shall surely be led away captive
From his own land.' "

Amos 8

Vision of the Summer Fruit

¹Thus the Lord GOD showed me: Behold, a basket of summer fruit.

²And He said, “Amos, what do you see?” So I said, “A basket of summer fruit.” Then the LORD said to me:

^a“The end has come upon My people Israel;

^bI will not pass by them anymore.

³And ^cthe songs of the temple
Shall be wailing in that day,”
Says the Lord GOD—

“Many dead bodies everywhere,

^dThey shall be thrown out in silence.”

⁴Hear this, you who ¹swallow up the needy,
And make the poor of the land fail,

⁵Saying:

“When will the New Moon be past,
That we may sell grain?

And ^ethe Sabbath,

That we may ²trade wheat?

^fMaking the ephah small and the shekel large,
Falsifying the scales by ^gdeceit,

⁶That we may buy the poor for ^hsilver,
And the needy for a pair of sandals—
Even sell the bad wheat?”

⁷The LORD has sworn by ⁱthe pride of Jacob:
“Surely ^jI will never forget any of their works.

^{8k}Shall the land not tremble for this,
And everyone mourn who dwells in it?
All of it shall swell like ³the River,

Heave and subside
^lLike the River of Egypt.

⁹“And it shall come to pass in that day,” says the Lord GOD,
^m“That I will make the sun go down at noon,
And I will darken the earth in ⁴broad daylight;
¹⁰I will turn your feasts into ⁿmourning,
^oAnd all your songs into lamentation;
^pI will bring sackcloth on every waist,
And baldness on every head;
I will make it like mourning for an only son,
And its end like a bitter day.

¹¹“Behold, the days are coming,” says the Lord GOD,
“That I will send a famine on the land,
Not a famine of bread,
Nor a thirst for water,
But ^qof hearing the words of the LORD.
¹²They shall wander from sea to sea,
And from north to east;
They shall run to and fro, seeking the word of the LORD,
But shall ^rnot find it.

¹³“In that day the fair virgins

And strong young men
Shall faint from thirst.

¹⁴Those who ^sswear by ^tthe ⁵sin of Samaria,
Who say,
‘As your god lives, O Dan!’
And, ‘As the way of ^uBeersheba lives!’
They shall fall and never rise again.”

Amos 9

The Destruction of Israel

¹I saw the Lord standing by the altar, and He said:

“Strike the ¹doorposts, that the thresholds may shake,
And ^abreak them on the heads of them all.
I will slay the last of them with the sword.
^bHe who flees from them shall not get away,
And he who escapes from them shall not be delivered.

²“Though ^cthey dig into ²hell,
From there My hand shall take them;
^dThough they climb up to heaven,
From there I will bring them down;
³And though they ^ehide themselves on top of Carmel,
From there I will search and take them;
Though they hide from My sight at the bottom of the sea,
From there I will command the serpent, and it shall bite them;
⁴Though they go into captivity before their enemies,
From there ^fI will command the sword,
And it shall slay them.
^gI will set My eyes on them for harm and not for good.”

⁵The Lord GOD of hosts,
He who touches the earth and it ^hmelts,
ⁱAnd all who dwell there mourn;
All of it shall swell like ³the River,
And subside like the River of Egypt.
⁶He who builds His ^jlayers⁴ in the sky,
And has founded His strata in the earth;
Who ^kcalls for the waters of the sea,
And pours them out on the face of the earth—
^lThe LORD is His name.

⁷“Are you not like the ⁵people of Ethiopia to Me,
O children of Israel?” says the LORD.
“Did I not bring up Israel from the land of Egypt,
The ^mPhilistines from ⁿCaphtor,⁶

And the Syrians from °Kir?

⁸“Behold, ^pthe eyes of the Lord GOD are on the sinful kingdom,

And I ^qwill destroy it from the face of the earth;
Yet I will not utterly destroy the house of Jacob,”
Says the LORD.

⁹“For surely I will command,
And will ⁷sift the house of Israel among all nations,
As grain is sifted in a sieve;

^rYet not the smallest ⁸grain shall fall to the ground.

¹⁰All the sinners of My people shall die by the sword,

^sWho say, ‘The calamity shall not overtake nor confront us.’

Israel Will Be Restored

¹¹“On^t that day I will raise up
The ⁹tabernacle of David, which has fallen down,
And ¹⁰repair its damages;
I will raise up its ruins,
And rebuild it as in the days of old;
¹²uThat they may possess the remnant of ^vEdom, ¹¹
And all the Gentiles who are called by My name,”
Says the LORD who does this thing.

¹³“Behold, ^wthe days are coming,” says the LORD,
“When the plowman shall overtake the reaper,
And the treader of grapes him who sows seed;
^xThe mountains shall drip with sweet wine,
And all the hills shall flow with it.
¹⁴yI will bring back the captives of My people Israel;
^zThey shall build the waste cities and inhabit them;
They shall plant vineyards and drink wine from them;
They shall also make gardens and eat fruit from them.
¹⁵I will plant them in their land,
^aAnd no longer shall they be pulled up
From the land I have given them,”
Says the LORD your God.

Annotations for Amos

1:1-2:16 The Lord sent Amos, a Judean, to Bethel to prophesy of coming judgment on Israel. But in Bethel, Amos faced a hostile audience. Israel's first king, Jeroboam I, had made the town a center of pagan worship. Because the temple in Jerusalem was in Judah and not in the nation of Israel, Jeroboam had encouraged the Israelites to worship at Bethel instead of Jerusalem. Thus the Israelites who gathered at Bethel would regard Amos, a Judean, with suspicion. Yet Amos bravely condemned the sins of Israel's neighbors—the Syrians, Philistines, Phoenicians, Edomites, Ammonites, and Moabites. Then he went on to point out the iniquity of Judah and Israel: They had rejected the God who had covenanted with them. They too stood before God condemned by their own evil ways.

1:1 Tekoa was about ten miles south of Jerusalem, in a region well-suited for raising sheep and goats. The earthquake, mentioned again in Zech. 14:5, cannot be dated precisely.

1:2 The temple was on Mt. Zion, the oldest part of Jerusalem. When the LORD roared from there, the nation dried up at the heat of the fiery blast. The fact that the top of Carmel, a mountain on the coast of Israel in the north, withers indicates a great disaster. Mount Carmel was a garden spot, normally lush and flourishing year-round.

1:3 Thus says the LORD: There was no mistaking by whose authority these messages were spoken: this was the word of God Himself. For three . . . and for four: This stylistic device indicated the exhaustion of God's patience—the Syrians had continued to sin. This device is repeated as Amos speaks God's words against nation after sinful nation. The transgressions of the neighbors of Israel and Judah were against the general revelation, or "law of nature," that all people recognize and acknowledge. Since the neighboring nations had not received God's special revelation, as Israel had at Mt. Sinai, Amos's oracles did not call them to account by that standard, but by the standard they had received. Damascus was the capital of Syria (also called Aram), a powerful kingdom that had been a frequent adversary of Israel throughout its history. Israelites listening to Amos would have been glad to hear of God's punishment of Damascus. Gilead was the region on the east side of the Jordan from the Yarmuk River to the Dead Sea. It had belonged to Israel since they had taken over the land, but Aram often had fought Israel for possession of northern Gilead, gaining control there in Israel's times of military weakness. Threshed . . . with implements of iron indicates extreme cruelty and inhumanity in warfare.

Nations and Cities Mentioned in Amos

Go to the List of In-Text Maps

- 1:4 I will send a fire . . . Which shall devour the palaces: Fire in an ancient city was a real threat. Cities were crowded with houses close together on very narrow streets; there was too little water to effectively fight raging fires. Hazael and Ben-Hadad were kings of Syria who had been particularly harsh in their treatment of Israel.
- 1:5 The gate bar was the large timber that barred the city gate from the inside. If it was broken, the city would lose its security and could be captured easily. Aven . . . Beth Eden: Amos may have intended a play on words here. Aven means “Sin” in Hebrew; Damascus was a verdant oasis city on the edge of the desert that could be compared to Eden. However, Amos may also have been referring to the Beth Eden region on the north bank of the Euphrates River. Kir is where the Assyrian king Tiglath-Pileser III exiled the Syrians of Damascus in 732 B.C. Amos later referred to Kir as the place from which the Syrians had originally come (9:7).

1:6 Gaza was one of the five principal cities of the Philistines, the traditional enemies of Israel who lived on the southwest coast of Canaan. they took captive . . . to deliver: The principal method of acquiring foreign slaves in the ancient Middle East was capturing them in war.

1:8 Ashdod and Ashkelon, coastal cities located north of Gaza, were two of the five major Philistine cities. Ekron, also one of the five major Philistine cities, was situated inland.

1:9 Tyre, the principal Phoenician city, was on the northwest coast of Canaan. The Phoenicians were master seafarers. Tyre and Israel had forged an alliance that was profitable for both. However, Tyre ignored the long-standing covenant of brotherhood, and sought commercial gain by selling Israelite slaves to Edom.

1:11 The nation of Edom, located southeast of the Dead Sea, controlled important caravan trade routes, and thus was deeply involved in commerce. his brother: The Edomites traced their ancestry to Esau, the brother of Jacob. But several times in the history of their stormy relationship, Edom took advantage of Israel's (or Judah's) misfortune to help others attack them.

1:12 Teman and Bozrah were principal Edomite cities.

1:13 The nation of Ammon, located east of Gilead on the edge of the desert, was descended from one of the sons of Lot, Abraham's nephew (see Gen. 19:36–38). Thus Ammon was related to Israel, although not as closely as Edom. ripped open . . . enlarge their territory: The Ammonites killed pregnant women in order to prevent the increase of the Israelite population in Gilead, which they were trying to wrest from Israel's control.

1:14 Rabbah was the capital of Ammon.

2:1 Like Ammon (1:13), Moab (located southeast of Israel) was descended from one of the sons of Lot. burned the bones: This act was believed to desecrate the remains of a deceased person, a heinous act in ancient times and a great dishonor to the person's memory.

2:2 Kerioth was a major town of Moab. It was the site of a temple of Chemosh, Moab's national god.

2:4 Judah was Israel's neighbor to the south. Israel and Judah shared a common heritage, a common language, a common faith, and a common covenant with the Lord. the law of the LORD . . . His commandments: The basis of Judah and Israel's judgment was different from that of the nations Amos had just called to account before them (1:3–2:3). Judah and Israel had received God's special revelation at Sinai; they were in a special covenant relationship with Him and were held to a higher standard of accountability.

2:6 I will not turn away its punishment: Here the focus shifted to Amos's audience. This was Israel, God's people who had violated their covenant relationship with Him. God was calling them to account for violations of the covenant. sell the righteous for silver: In His law, God had instructed the Israelites to work off their debts through indentured service—administered humanely and for a strictly limited time (see Lev. 25:39–43; Deut. 15:12). By Amos's day, those in power in Israel were taking advantage of the courts to sell debtors as slaves, termed the righteous here because they were the innocent victims of the corruption of the courts. For a pair of sandals means for little or nothing.

2:7 pant after the dust: Amos used deliberate exaggeration to portray the greed of those oppressing the poor. Not satisfied with gaining their victims' farms and selling the people into slavery for money, the greedy rich would not let the poor go until they had shaken the very dust from their heads. The humble, those without power or influence, should have been able to depend on the justice due them. Instead, justice was denied them. As a result, their life was turned to poverty, oppression, and insecurity. Go in to means to have sexual intercourse with. the same girl: Several possibilities have been suggested: (1) Both father and son visited the same temple prostitute in their worship of pagan gods. (2) A man bought a slave girl, made her his concubine, then gave his son sexual rights to her. (3) A man married a woman, his father seduced her, and they became lovers. All of these practices were unlawful.

- 2:8 Clothes taken in pledge, as security for a loan, were to be returned in the evening, for clothes were the bedding of the poor (see Ex. 22:26, 27). The powerful in Israel were spreading the clothes out as beds for themselves beside the altars, in a show of empty, merciless piety.
- 2:9 Yet it was I: This emphatic statement underscores the fact that God had been Israel's Champion, and the nation's success had not been its own doing. The Amorite refers to the previous inhabitants of the land of Canaan. Cedars were proverbial for their height, oaks for their strength. His fruit above and his roots beneath means "totally, completely."
- 2:11, 12 Prophets were especially privileged; God spoke to them and gave them messages for the people. Nazirites dedicated themselves to God with a vow that entailed specific responsibilities and prohibitions, either for life or for a specified period (see Num. 6:1–21). Total abstinence from wine was one of the prominent features of the Nazirite vow.
- 2:13 Weighed down by you is a powerful metaphor of the burden of Israel's sin on the Lord. This is the same God Isaiah describes as measuring the waters of the earth in the hollow of His hand, measuring the heavens with the span of His hand, and weighing the mountains in His balance (see Is. 40:12).
- 2:14–16 No resources of personal strength, no skill with weapons of war, not even the help of the mighty war horse would suffice for the military men of might to save themselves in that day, when God would bring His judgment upon them. If the strong could not save themselves, what would become of the rest of the people?
- 3:1 The whole family which I brought up emphasizes the personal, intimate relationship that God had with Israel.
- 3:2 You only have I known, in this context, means "You only have I chosen." God's relationship with Israel was not only intimate, it was exclusive. God had been faithful to Israel; yet Israel had not been faithful to God. For this reason, the nation would be judged.
- 3:3–6 This series of rhetorical questions illustrates the seriousness, certainty, and righteousness of God's impending action against Israel. Each question is framed so as to require a resounding "no" as its answer.
- 3:7 This parenthetical statement interrupts, yet underscores, Amos's point that God is sovereign and does what He wills: therefore, Israel's judgment was certain.
- 3:8 Two more rhetorical questions complete the group of nine (vv. 3–6). It would do Israel no good to forbid prophecy (2:12; 7:13, 16); the true prophet must prophesy, just as certainly as God's judgment must come to pass.
- 3:9, 10 Ashdod, one of the five principal cities of the Philistines, was on the Mediterranean coast southwest of Israel. For God to call Philistia and Egypt to witness His judgment of Israel implies that these pagan nations were relatively more righteous than Israel. They had not received God's revelation at Sinai; yet Israel, having received it, had violated it grossly and repeatedly.
- 3:11 This verse pictures a formal sentencing of Israel in the presence of the witnesses whom God had called (v. 9). Sapping Israel's strength was exactly what Assyria did in the years following Amos's prophecies, finally putting an end to the nation in 722 B.C.
- 3:12 The hired shepherd was responsible to the owner for the safety of the sheep. He had to make good any loss, unless he could prove it was unavoidable. A lion taking a sheep was an unavoidable loss, but the shepherd had to prove that the lion had taken it. A couple of small bones or a piece of an ear was sufficient; the owner would recognize the lion's work. As complete as the destruction of a sheep by a lion would be the destruction of Israel that God would bring.
- 3:14 the altars of Bethel: Jeroboam I had erected sanctuaries in Bethel and Dan to prevent Israelites from traveling to Jerusalem to worship and possibly returning their political allegiance to the house of David. Those sanctuaries of false worship had tempted many Israelites to be unfaithful to God. Horns represent strength. If the horns of the altar were cut off, it would symbolize the altar's weakness and signal its destruction.
- 3:15 The four houses mentioned here were all symbols of oppression. Many small inheritances had been stolen to form the large estates of the wealthy and powerful, where they built their opulent houses.

4:1 Bashan, the region east and northeast of the Sea of Galilee, was (and is) a prime grassland area renowned for its cattle. Cows of Bashan refer to the sleek, fat, well-fed women of Samaria.

4:3 Broken walls were a symbol of the thoroughness of the destruction of the city and the homes that the people held so dear. In an undamaged city, the usual way in and out was the one main gate. But Samaria would be so ruined that the deportees would be driven straight through the breaches in the walls of their houses and their city.

4:4, 5 This passage is a bitterly sarcastic call to Israel to worship. Bethel, a city on the central ridge road just inside Israel's border with Judah, was the site of the most important shrine in southern Israel. Gilgal refers to a site in the Jordan valley where Israel had encamped before and after the taking of Jericho (see Josh. 5:10; 9:6). Thus, Gilgal had historical connections with Israel's early faith and early life in the land. For this you love: Ignoring God's desires, the Israelites did what they wanted. They loved the feasting that went with the festivals of sacrifice, but not God's calls for justice.

4:6–11 This passage describes a series of five calamities that God had already sent upon the Israelites in an effort to drive them to repentance. A striking feature of this narrative is God's emphatic claim that the Israelites had brought these disasters on themselves. Each stanza ends with the tragic refrain, "Yet you have not returned to Me."

4:6 The first calamity was famine. Cleanness of teeth . . . and lack of bread indicated the exhaustion of all food supplies.

4:7, 8 The second calamity was drought. Lack of rain with still three months to the harvest meant the total ruin of the grain crops.

4:9 The third calamity was crop disease and locusts.

4:10 The fourth calamity was plague and warfare. After the manner of Egypt suggests that God was reminding Israel of the ten plagues that preceded their exodus from Egypt; these included epidemic diseases and other disasters. The stench of your camps resulted from lack of sanitation, from disease, from the putrefaction of wounds, and sometimes from corpses of men and of animals that could not be buried quickly enough.

4:11 The fifth calamity was the destruction of Israelite cities. The overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah was the scale by which many subsequent disasters were measured. It meant total destruction, meted out in judgment by the hand of God Himself (see Gen. 19:24, 25). A firebrand plucked from the burning refers to a stick snatched from a fire with one end already ablaze. Here it was a vivid metaphor for God's last-minute rescue of most of Israel from the fate He brought upon some of its cities and territories.

4:12 Because Israel had not returned to God through these five calamities, it would have to meet God Himself. To be confronted—inescapably—by the God it had scorned and rejected would be a fate more terrible than Israel could imagine.

4:13 Amos grounded God's right to exercise judgment upon Israel on His character as Creator and Sustainer of all the earth, a more fundamental basis than His deliverance of the Israelites from Egypt. God is sovereign over all the earth; on that basis He called Israel, and can call any nation, to account. forms mountains: The Hebrew word forms is derived from the word often rendered "potter." As easily as a potter forms vessels of clay, so God forms mountains. Wind also means "spirit." The ambiguity in this word may be deliberate. God creates both the wind and the human spirit; therefore, He is sovereign over both.

5:2 The term virgin of Israel depicts the nation as a young maiden, cut off from her life before it had really begun. On her land is a reminder that the land had been God's gift to Israel. By their faithlessness, the people had turned God's gift into the place of their death and burial.

5:3 The lamentation continues with a different image of Israel's destruction: the troops Israel would send out to defend its territory. Rather than saving Israel, its armies would themselves be decimated.

(Heb. darash) (5:4; Ezra 6:21; 7:10; Ps. 119:10; Is. 34:16; 55:6) Strong's #1875

This Hebrew verb can be correctly translated “to inquire of,” “to ask,” and “to seek.” The term conveys the idea of “going to see” in the sense of personally verifying something said, or “searching for,” in the sense of pressing for an answer to a question. Amos encourages his audience to seek life in the living God, not in the dead idols of Bethel and Gilgal (5:4). The psalmist found help in times of trouble by seeking the Lord (Ps. 34:4; 77:2). On several occasions, the Israelites were encouraged to seek God by preparing their hearts for God through humble repentance (see 1 Chr. 16:11; 2 Chr. 30:19).

5:5 Beersheba, about 50 miles southwest of Bethel, was the site of a temple in Amos's day.

5:6 The house of Joseph here refers to the whole nation.

5:7 Wormwood, a plant of the aster family with a very bitter taste, is used several times in the Bible as a metaphor for sorrow and bitterness.

5:8 Pleiades refers to a cluster of stars within the constellation Taurus, one of the 12 signs of the Zodiac. One of Israel's idolatries was astral worship. Far from being deities, Amos asserted, the constellations also were God's creations. Orion refers to a prominent constellation in the southern sky in the shape of a hunter, containing two stars of the first magnitude. He turns the shadow . . . dark as night: God designed and sustains the daily cycle of light and darkness through His own servant which is not a deity, the sun. He calls . . . the earth: God, not Baal, Tammuz, or any other fertility deity, designed and sustains the atmospheric water cycle by which the earth receives its necessary rainfall. The LORD is His name underscores the uniqueness of Israel's God. He is not just a national God; He is the only God.

5:9 The God who created and sustains the processes of all the universe surely can bring His judgment to bear, even upon the strong of the earth and their fortresses.

5:10 The gate was the location of the town court, where justice was to be upheld in all legal proceedings, whether civil or criminal.

5:11 Taxes were collected in kind from those with few resources of silver and gold. To take grain taxes from the poor was to put them at risk of starvation if the harvest had not been bountiful. Yet the rich and powerful had sufficient resources to build luxurious houses of hewn stone for themselves. God promised that the rich would not enjoy their luxury stolen from the lifeblood of the poor and powerless.

5:12 manifold . . . sins: Israel's leaders did not sin incidentally or furtively; they sinned brazenly and habitually, as though God had never revealed Himself and His standards of justice and mercy.

5:14 Seek good: The prophet interrupted himself, as it were, to plead with Israel to return to God and avoid the judgment He otherwise would bring upon them. As you have spoken: Worshiping in the Lord's name, the Israelites invoked the Lord's presence with them in their spoken prayers and blessings. If they began to live as God had taught them in the Law, He would indeed be with them.

- 5:16, 17 God's purposed action was that He would pass through the nation. A visit from God is a dreaded and mournful event for anyone not ready to meet Him. In all vineyards: A vineyard was typically a place of rejoicing and gladness.
- 5:18 The popular theology of Amos's day apparently looked forward to the day of the LORD as the time of Israel's restoration to military, political, and economic greatness, perhaps to the greatness of the reigns of David and Solomon. Amos declared such hopes futile, even pitiable. What the people looked forward to as a day of light and triumph would rise upon them instead as a day of darkness and ruin.
- 5:19 The images of a bear and a serpent evoke the terror that follows when a person escapes a terrible danger and is exhausted and relieved only to find a worse danger so close at hand that it is inescapable.
- 5:21–23 God had promised that if the Israelites honored Him with their lives, He would savor, accept, and regard Israel's sacrifices and hear their words. By stating He would no longer accept Israel's sacrifices or listen to them, God was rejecting Israel's worship as hypocritical, dishonest, and meaningless. Feast days and sacred assemblies refer, in general, to all of Israel's worship of God. burnt offerings . . . grain offerings . . . peace offerings: For more details on the sacrificial system, see Lev. 1–3.
- 5:24 After dismissing Israel's empty worship as noisy and tumultuous, God called for the honest tumult of the rolling waters of justice and the perennial stream of righteousness, the only foundation for true praise and worship of the Lord.
- 5:25 This verse is a rhetorical question with "yes" as the expected answer; Israel had worshiped God in the wilderness.
- 5:26 Israel had not worshiped the Lord exclusively, even in the earliest wilderness days. Sikkuth and Chiun are pagan deities; apparently Israel had made images of foreign gods. The true believer in the Lord understood, without question, that any gods made by human hands were not gods at all.

Pagan Gods of Bible Times

One of Amos's primary responsibilities as a prophet of God was to announce the "day of the LORD," the time of God's judgment of wicked Israel. Idolatry, perhaps more than any other sin, was the reason for this impending punishment. The history of Israel is littered with apostasy, as the children of God pursued the false idols of their Canaanite neighbors. In 5:26, the prophet specifically identifies Chiun as the object of the people's worship. The following chart lists some of the pagan gods mentioned in the Old and New Testaments.

- 5:27 Since Israel insisted on worshiping other gods, including astral deities, God would send them into exile to lands where these deities seemed to rule supreme. Israel was exiled beyond Damascus, Syria's capital, to regions of Assyria and beyond.
- 6:1 Zion refers to Jerusalem, the capital of Judah (the southern kingdom). Samaria was the capital of Israel (the northern kingdom). At the time of Amos's prophecy, Israel and Judah together had enjoyed about a generation of military might and economic prosperity. It became natural for officials in Jerusalem and Samaria to regard themselves as notable persons.
- 6:2 It was the boast of Israel's elite that no other nation was greater than they were. Their boast came back upon their own heads, for just as Calneh, Hamath, and Gath were subjected to Assyrian rule, so Israel would also be subjugated by the Assyrians. Calneh, a city in northern Syria, was the capital of a small kingdom. Hamath, an important city in central Syria, was located north of Damascus. Gath, one of the five principal Philistine cities, was southwest of Israel.
- 6:3 You who put far off the day of doom refers to those who insisted that Israel was too strong for destruction to fall upon the nation any time soon.
- 6:4–6 This passage describes the extravagant living indulged in by the rich, and paid for with the wealth stolen from the poor. lambs . . . calves: Meat was a luxury for most families of the ancient Middle East, consumed only on special occasions. Meat on a daily basis was the privilege only of the rich and powerful. The upper classes of Israel were so engrossed in their own privileges and luxuries that they cared nothing for the affliction of their fellow Israelites, though it was their transgressions that had caused it.
- 6:7 God's judgment would be both fitting and ironic. Those who had fancied themselves the leaders of the nation would lead their nation into exile.
- 6:8 If God takes an oath, He takes it by Himself, for there is none greater than He. In his oracles against the seven nations (chs. 1; 2), Amos had prophesied the destruction of their palaces. Now it was Israel's turn. Luxurious palace strongholds represented both the pride of Jacob in their own strength and the oppression of the powerless, whose stolen wealth had financed the construction of these palaces. I will deliver up the city: God personally would see to the destruction of Samaria and its proud inhabitants.
- 6:10 This verse depicts the aftermath of God's judgment, when relatives came around to carry out the bodies. One inside the house may refer to the last survivor, sick but not yet dead himself. In this context, such a person might have been expected to invoke the name of God for help after answering, “None.” Before he could do so, however, the questioner would silence him, fearful of getting God’s further attention by using His name. People who had not believed that God would come in judgment would now be afraid of what further disaster He might bring upon them.

6:12 By citing two obviously impossible actions in areas of life with which all Israelites would have been familiar, Amos hoped to get the people to see the moral impossibility of Israel’s perversion of justice. As absurd and impossible in God’s sight as horses running up vertical cliffs or oxen plowing the sea was Israel’s—or any nation’s—perversion of justice and righteousness. Gall is a bitter, poisonous herb.

6:13, 14 Israel’s pride in its military strength would be its downfall. Lo Debar was a city east of the Jordan that Israel regained from Syria when Assyria crippled the strength of Damascus. Karnaim, a city east of the Jordan near the farthest limits of Israelite possession, was also regained when Assyria weakened Syria. God’s punishment of Israel would fit its sin of pride. As the Israelites reckoned that they had extended their borders by their own military strength, God would allow them to be harassed and defeated from border to border. The Valley of the Arabah refers to the desert valley that was the southern limit of Israelite control. From north to south, from border to border, God would allow Israel to be defeated in battle; they would realize that their own strength was puny indeed.

7:1 locust swarms: Locusts are a kind of grasshopper. Joel 1:4-2:11 describes the devastation locusts bring to agriculture, stripping every green leaf and twig, and even killing trees. The late crop refers to the last growth of crops and pastures, evidently including hay, before the summer dry season. The king’s mowings implies that the king took the first harvest of hay as a tax. Thus a swarm of locusts devouring the late crop would leave the people with nothing for themselves, inflicting a crippling economic blow.

7:2, 3 Oh, that Jacob may stand: If God carried out the threatened punishment, Jacob (the nation of Israel) might be destroyed. One function of the prophet was to serve as intercessor for the people before God. Amos prayed that the vision decreed in heaven might be halted before it was accomplished on earth. The basis of Amos’s petition lay in the true assessment of Israel’s position. They were not large and strong, as they thought; rather they were small and weak. In response to Amos’s intercession, and out of His own love for Israel, God stayed His decree.

7:4–6 To call for conflict means to put on trial or to bring a lawsuit against Israel. To try by fire means that fire would have been both the instrument by which Israel’s guilt would be judged and the instrument by which their punishment would be carried out. The great deep refers to the primordial waters that remained beneath the firmament after God fashioned it (see Gen. 1:6–8). These include the oceans and seas, and the subterranean waters that are the sources of springs and wells. For the deep to be dried up by fire means that the land would be devastated beyond hope. The territory refers either to the portion of the earth God had assigned to Israel or to Israel as God’s portion among the nations of the earth.

7:7–9 A plumb line is a string with a weight tied to one end, used to establish a vertical line so that a wall can be built straight. what do you see: God asked Amos what he saw, then explained the vision’s meaning. Unlike the first two visions, God did not give Amos opportunity to intercede, nor did He relent. These judgments would be executed. The plumb line of God’s revelation in the law had been set in the midst of . . . Israel for many generations. Now God would stretch a plumb line to demonstrate how “crooked” the people’s observance of His commands had been. The high places refer to temples, groves, and other shrines dedicated mostly to pagan deities. Isaac, the father of Jacob, represented all Israel in Amos’s day. Jeroboam may refer to Jeroboam I, the first king of Israel, who instituted idolatry in the northern kingdom (see 1 Kin. 12:25–33), or to Jeroboam II, the monarch during the time of these prophecies. If it is Jeroboam I, then the house of Jeroboam is a metaphor for the nation. If it is Jeroboam II, then the prophecy specifically concerns the royal household. In v. 10, the prophecy is taken by Amaziah to refer to the current king. Jeroboam II himself did not die by the sword, but his son Zechariah was assassinated after reigning only six months (see 2 Kin. 15:8–10).

7:10, 11 Amaziah, the priest in charge of the temple at Bethel, informed the king about the prophet who was making threats against the king's house. Amaziah was reacting to Amos's third vision which ended with God's promise to bring the sword against the house of Jeroboam. Amaziah regarded Amos's words as a political threat and reported them not as a prophecy from God, but as Amos's call to revolt.

7:12, 13 After sending his report to Jeroboam, Amaziah turned his attention to Amos himself. Since Amaziah was an official of the king, his command to Amos to return to Judah would have amounted to making Amos officially unwelcome in Israel. Amaziah was not concerned at all that Amos had proclaimed a message from God, only that the king's interests should be protected from this seditious prophet.

7:14–17 Amos's answer to Amaziah came in two parts. First he denied being a prophet by profession. Nor was I a son of a prophet indicates not only that Amos's father was not a prophet, but also that Amos had not been trained in prophecy. the LORD took me: Amos made it clear that he had neither desired nor sought his prophetic task. The second part of Amos's answer was directed against Amaziah personally. Your wife shall be a harlot: The only way the spouse of an important official like Amaziah would be reduced to prostitution would be if all her family and all her resources were taken away and she were left to fend entirely for herself. The rest of Amos's oracle predicted that such a situation would happen to Amaziah's family. Your land shall be divided indicated that it would be assigned or sold to new owners. As a high official of the king, Amaziah certainly possessed large land holdings; he would retain none. Defiled land refers to the land of pagans.

8:1–3 summer fruit: The fruits that came at the end of the harvest in late summer included grapes, pomegranates, and figs. The end has come: Amos could not have discerned the meaning of this vision until God's pronouncement. Israel's wickedness was about to result in a harvest of judgment. Most good harvests are times of rejoicing. But in this one, the songs of the temple—the songs of thanksgiving—would be turned to wailing because the harvest would be death.

8:4 Fail means essentially "to have no means of survival."

8:5 The New Moon, the first day of the month on the Hebrew calendar, was a day of special sacrifices, a feast day, and a Sabbath day (see Num. 28:11–15; 1 Sam. 20:5). Rather than observing the New Moon and the weekly Sabbath with worship, thanksgiving, and rest, these people were impatient to resume their cheating and oppression of the poor. In biblical times, the ephah was the most common measure of dry volume. To make the ephah small, therefore, was to cheat the customer of value received for price paid. The shekel was a unit of money. To make the shekel large was to cheat the customer by taking too large a price (weight) of silver for value received.

8:6 Israel's system of indentured service for members of the covenant community was to be humane and limited in time (see Ex. 21:2, 3; Lev. 25:39–55). The rich and powerful of Amos's day were making slaves of Israel's poor, the people they had dispossessed of their lands. the bad wheat: The chaff and other refuse of the threshing floor, perhaps even moldy or mildewed wheat, were mixed in with the good wheat to stretch it further and make a greater profit.

8:7 The form of the Hebrew oath marks its seriousness: God will not forget. Their works refers to the economic injustices Amos spoke against in vv. 4–6, as well as other sins, including unfaithfulness to God.

8:8 The River and the River of Egypt refer to the Nile River. Heave and subside: The Nile rises and falls several feet in its annual flood. Amos may have intended to portray a severe earthquake in which the land's rise and fall would be as dramatic as the rise and fall of the Nile. Though the Nile's flood usually was quite gentle in Egypt, an earthquake that reminded one of it would be violent indeed.

- 8:9, 10 God's judgment would be a great reversal—of light to darkness, and joy to mourning. That day probably refers to the “day of the LORD” (5:18). Sackcloth, a coarse cloth of goat or camel hair, was uncomfortable to wear. Thus it was worn next to the skin as a sign of mourning or great distress. Shaving the head to create temporary baldness was another mourning sign.
- 8:11 In 4:6, Amos reminds Israel that God had sent famine upon them, yet they had not returned to Him. Now the famine would be, not of food, but of hearing the words of the LORD.
- 8:12, 13 From sea to sea means from the Dead Sea to the Mediterranean. to and fro: Those in Israel searching for the word of God would have to circle all of Israel's territory, but in vain. The fair virgins and strong young men are those who are most vigorous and apt to survive.
- 8:14 Dan in the far north and Beersheba in the far south were the limits of significant Israelite settlement. In Amos's day, Beersheba was in the kingdom of Judah. Israel could swear oaths by the Lord, claiming they loyally worshiped Him from the extreme north to the extreme south of His land, but that would not relieve the famine of God's word.
- 9:1 The people would have expected a vision of God by the altar to mean that He intended good for them, blessing them with His presence. Instead God would start at the altar, commanding that the destruction of the sinful nation begin there. them all . . . the last of them: The reference here is to faithless Israel.
- 9:2 hell . . . heaven: In this imagery, Israel's fugitives from God's judgment could escape neither up nor down; God would find them no matter where in the universe they fled.
- 9:3 If the universe could not hide the fugitives, neither could the earth. The top of Carmel represented the highest point on the earth. Whether as high as that, or as low as the bottom of the sea, the earth would provide no escape.
- 9:4 Even captivity in enemy lands would not provide a refuge from God's further judgment upon Israel. I will set My eyes on them usually is a formula that expresses God's blessing on Israel; here it alludes to the fulfillment of the curses for breaking the Mosaic covenant.
- 9:7 Ethiopia refers to the region near the southern horizon of Israel's geographical knowledge, south of Egypt. God's rhetorical question told Israel that they were not the only recipients of God's attention and care. God loves all peoples, even the Philistines and Syrians. Caphtor refers to Crete, a large island in the Mediterranean Sea.
- 9:8 The sinful kingdom is Israel. I will not utterly destroy: This was a glimmer of hope in a long passage of judgment and doom. God's judgment would be thorough, but a remnant would survive.
- 9:9 Sifting grain in a sieve was the final operation in cleaning grain before gathering it into storage. In winnowing, all the chaff was blown away; only pebbles and small clumps of mud remained with the grain. The sieve was constructed with holes that were sized so the grain fell through when it was shaken, but pebbles and other debris were retained in the sieve. Thus the smallest grain refers to the smallest pebble; it would not fall to the ground with the clean grain.
- 9:11, 12 The tabernacle of David: Amos pictures the royal house of David metaphorically as a “booth” fallen in disrepair. Judah was a fallen, ruined shelter, incapable of protecting its people from any significant storm. As in the days of old reflects the nostalgia of Israel's people for the glory days of the kingdoms of David and Solomon, when they lived in strength, prosperity, and security. Gentiles refers to the peoples around Israel and Judah. Called by My name is a designation of sovereignty and ownership. Says the LORD who does this thing: God would take this task upon Himself.
- 9:13 Israelite farmers plowed at the beginning of the rainy season, from mid-October. They harvested the grain crop—first barley, then wheat—from late March to early June. For the plowman to overtake the reaper would mean such an abundant harvest that it would last all summer and would not be gathered until the plowing had started again. Grapes were harvested from midsummer to early fall. The grain crop was sown after the plowing in late fall. For the treader of grapes to overtake him who sows seed would mean the grape harvest would be so abundant that it would be extended for several weeks. The harvest of grapes would be so great that it would seem as though the mountains and hills themselves were flowing with rivers of sweet wine.

9:14 The promised restoration will be a total reversal of the punishment that God was bringing upon Israel.

9:15 As Israel planted vineyards, fields, and gardens, so God would plant the people in their land, never again to be pulled up in exile. Says the LORD your God are the final words of Amos's prophecy. God would do what He threatened through Amos—if Israel did not return to Him. God would also do what He promised through Amos in the last few verses of this book. God does not abandon His promises or His covenant, nor does He leave His people without hope. God's punishment is certain, but His restoration is just as certain. That word of hope for God's people of old is valid also for God's people of today.

Introduction

The Book of Obadiah is one of only two minor prophets that is addressed entirely to a nation other than Israel or Judah. It deals with the ancient feud between Israel and the nation of Edom, between the descendants of Jacob and those of his brother Esau. Through the prophet Obadiah, the Lord expressed His indignation at the nation of Edom. When they should have been helping their relatives, they were gloating over the Israelites' problems and raiding their homes. A day was coming—the day of the Lord—when all these wrongs would be righted. The Lord would bring justice to the world.

Author and Date The name Obadiah means "Servant of the Lord." It is not known whether this was the prophet's personal name or whether he used it as a title, preferring to remain anonymous. Nothing is known of Obadiah's personal life or standing in Judean society.

Some scholars date the book very early, in the mid-ninth century B.C., following raids by the Philistines and Arabian tribes during the period of King Jehoram of Judah (see 2 Chr. 21:16, 17). This would make the Book of Obadiah the earliest of the prophetic books. However, most scholars date the book immediately following the Babylonian destruction of Jerusalem in 586 B.C.

Historical Setting In 586 B.C. Nebuchadnezzar's army crushed Judah and destroyed Jerusalem and Solomon's temple, ending Judah's existence as an independent nation. Edom, as a closely related nation, should have helped Judah's refugees. But instead of offering sympathy and help, Edom handed Judeans over to the conquering Babylonians. The Edomites even murdered some of the refugees. Such treachery to a related nation could not be overlooked. God gave Obadiah a stern message for Edom, a warning of God's judgment on them for their callous treatment of the fleeing Judeans.

The Edomites' pride and presumed self-sufficiency became their downfall. Their fortress capital of Sela, which they considered impregnable, became their tomb. Their Arab neighbors turned on them, taking over their land and their livelihood. The Edomites were pushed into what had been southern Judah. In the second century B.C., the resurgent Jewish kingdom under the Maccabees conquered the Edomites and forcibly converted them to Judaism. At that time they were called Idumeans.

Purpose While Obadiah's short prophetic oracle was addressed to Edom, it is doubtful that Edomite leaders ever heard or read it. One purpose of the oracle was to comfort and encourage the surviving Judeans with the message that God had not abandoned them. Judah would be restored to its own land after the judgment of the Exile had been accomplished, and their enemies would be punished.

In the grand scheme of the biblical message of God's redemption of fallen humanity, the Book of Obadiah may seem to be of little importance. But its portion of that message is tremendously vital. God is sovereign over all nations, whether they acknowledge His sovereignty or not. God desires that we show mercy and favor to our neighbors in their time of distress. Treachery against a relative is never justified and will be judged by the God of justice.

Christ in the Scriptures

Obadiah's name means "Servant of the Lord," and like Jesus, the supreme Servant of God, this prophet has his work cut out for him. Like Jesus, Obadiah has the difficult task of representing Yahweh to those who don't want to hear what he has to say.

Obadiah is the Lord's mouthpiece as he stands up for Israel and sounds off against Edom. In his prophecy, this little known prophet anticipates the One who will come to judge the nations (vv. 15, 16). He also makes reference to the Savior of Israel. "But on Mount Zion there shall be deliverance, and there shall be holiness" (v. 17).

Obadiah 1

The Coming Judgment on Edom

¹The vision of Obadiah.

Thus says the Lord GOD ^aconcerning Edom ^b(We have heard a report from the LORD, And a messenger has been sent among the nations, saying, “Arise, and let us rise up against her for battle”): ²“Behold, I will make you small among the nations; You shall be greatly despised.

³The ^cpride of your heart has deceived you, You who dwell in the clefts of the rock,

Whose habitation is high;

^dYou who say in your heart, ‘Who will bring me down to the ground?’ Word Studies: pride

^{4e}Though you ascend as high as the eagle, And though you ^fset your nest among the stars, From there I will bring you down,” says the LORD.

⁵“If ^gthieves had come to you, If robbers by night— Oh, how you will be cut off!—

Would they not have stolen till they had enough?

If grape-gatherers had come to you,

^hWould they not have left some gleanings?

⁶“Oh, how Esau shall be searched out!

How his hidden treasures shall be sought after!

⁷All the men in your confederacy Shall force you to the border;

ⁱThe men at peace with you Shall deceive you and prevail against you.

Those who eat your bread shall lay a ¹trap for you.

^jNo² one is aware of it.

⁸“Will^k I not in that day,” says the LORD, “Even destroy the wise men from Edom, And understanding from the mountains of Esau?

⁹Then your ^lmighty men, O ^mTeman, shall be dismayed, To the end that everyone from the mountains of Esau

May be cut off by slaughter.

Edom Mistreated His Brother

¹⁰“For ⁿviolence against your brother Jacob, Shame shall cover you,

And ^oyou shall be cut off forever.

¹¹In the day that you ^pstood on the other side— In the day that strangers carried captive his forces, When foreigners entered his gates

And ^qcast lots for Jerusalem— Even you were as one of them.

¹²“But you should not have ^rgazed³ on the day of your brother
⁴In the day of his captivity; Nor should you have ^srejoiced over the children of Judah In the day of their destruction;

Nor should you have spoken proudly

In the day of distress.

¹³You should not have entered the gate of My people In the day of their calamity.

Indeed, you should not have ⁵gazed on their affliction In the day of their calamity,

Nor laid hands on their substance

In the day of their calamity.

¹⁴You should not have stood at the crossroads To cut off those among them who escaped;

Nor should you have ⁶delivered up those among them who remained In the day of distress.

¹⁵“For^t the day of the LORD upon all the nations is near; ^uAs you have done, it shall be done to you; Your ⁷reprisal shall return upon your own head.

^{16v}For as you drank on My holy mountain, So shall all the nations drink continually; Yes, they shall drink, and swallow,

And they shall be as though they had never been.

Israel's Final Triumph

¹⁷“But on Mount Zion there ^wshall be ⁸deliverance, And there shall be holiness;

The house of Jacob shall possess their possessions.

¹⁸The house of Jacob shall be a fire, And the house of Joseph ^xa flame; But the house of Esau shall be stubble;
They shall kindle them and devour them,
And no survivor shall remain of the house of Esau,”
For the LORD has spoken.

¹⁹The ⁹South ^yshall possess the mountains of Esau, ^zAnd the Lowland shall possess Philistia.
They shall possess the fields of Ephraim And the fields of Samaria.
Benjamin shall possess Gilead.

²⁰And the captives of this host of the children of Israel Shall possess the land of the Canaanites As ^afar as Zarephath.

The captives of Jerusalem who are in Sepharad ^bShall possess the cities of the ¹⁰South.

²¹Then ^csaviors¹¹ shall come to Mount Zion To judge the mountains of Esau,
And the ^dkingdom shall be the LORD's.

Annotations for Obadiah

- 1 Vision, a word common in the prophets (see Is. 1:1; Nah. 1:1) indicates that the prophet “saw” the revelation. Obadiah means “The Servant of the Lord.” Thus says the Lord GOD: This phrasing is a strong affirmation that the prophetic oracle did not originate in the prophet’s own thinking; God was and is the Initiator. A national oracle is directed against Edom, a country east of the Dead Sea and south of Moab. The nations is the standard biblical term for the larger national entities of western Asia and northeast Africa. See Jer. 49:7–22 for a passage with many similarities to the Book of Obadiah. Ezekiel also contains prophecies against Edom that are similar to the message of Obadiah (see Ezek. 25:12–14; 35:1–15).
- 2 I will make you small: God would bring about a reversal of Edom’s inflated self-importance.
- 3 habitation is high: Some of the mountain peaks of Edom reach over six thousand feet; Jerusalem is about 2,300 feet above sea level. Who will bring me down: Edom’s presumed physical safety led the Edomites to become haughty; this would be their downfall.

Word Studies

(Heb. zadon) (v. 3; Prov. 11:2; 13:10; Jer. 49:16) Strong's #2087

The Hebrew noun is related to a verb that means “to boil up.” In the OT, the noun has the meaning of “acting proudly or presumptuously” (Deut. 18:22; 1 Sam. 17:28). The defining characteristic of the nation of Edom was pride (v. 3; Jer. 49:16). Interestingly, Jeremiah uses the word pride symbolically as a synonym for Babylon (Jer. 50:31, 32). Pride incites insolence and rebellion toward God, and it brings shame (Prov. 11:2) and destruction (Ezek. 7:10–12). The “pride of your heart” of which Jeremiah speaks is “presumptuous godlessness,” the arrogance of those who think that they can thrive without their Creator (see Prov. 11:2; 13:10; Jer. 49:16).

Go to the List of Word Studies

- 4 as high as the eagle . . . among the stars: Edom's physical location became a metaphor for the proud and haughty spirit that the nation had displayed at the time of Judah's distress. Trusting in its high places and mountainous strongholds, Edom reckoned that no one could bring it to account for its actions.
- 5, 6 If thieves had come: The implication is that Edom would be stripped of everything. The nation would have been better off if thieves and robbers had come. searched out: Rather than being robbed randomly, the nation would be systematically pillaged (see Jer. 49:7–10).
- 7 In your confederacy referred to the nations who were allied with Edom in a covenant relationship, at peace and eating bread with them.
- 8 Edom had a reputation for having many wise men among its citizens (see Jer. 49:7).
- 9 The name Teman comes from a son of Eliphaz, who was the firstborn son of Esau (see Gen. 36:9–11). The word is often used as a synonym for Edom (see Jer. 49:7; Amos 1:12), and is thought to have been one of its principal cities. One of Job's friends, also named Eliphaz, came from Teman (Job 2:11).
- 10 your brother Jacob: Esau and Jacob were brothers, the sons of Isaac and Rebekah (see Gen. 25:24–26). Edom was descended from Esau; Judah was descended from Jacob.
- 11 In the day refers to the time of Judah's distress. strangers . . . foreigners: These words, used to describe Judah's principal enemies, contrast with the words of v. 10, “your brother.” It was one thing for the Babylonians to attack Judah; for a nation like Edom to join the Babylonians against their own brothers was unthinkable.
- 12 Judah's defeat and destruction should have brought sorrow to its neighbors. Instead, Judah's brother nation had laughed aloud. More than that, Edom had helped to complete Judah's destruction, taking spoil, capturing those who were trying to escape the Babylonian onslaught, and turning them over to Nebuchadnezzar's soldiers. Nor should you have spoken proudly: A literal translation would be, “You should not have made big your mouth.”
- 13 The day of their calamity, repeated three times in this verse, refers to the day of God's judgment upon Judah, carried out by the hand of Nebuchadnezzar.
- 14 stood at the crossroads: The phrasing suggests deliberate actions on Edom's part. day of distress:

This phrase, repeated from v. 12, is a synonym of “day of their calamity” in v. 13. delivered up those . . . who remained: The Edomites had captured those who were attempting to escape the Babylonian army and then had turned them over to their pursuers.

15 The day of the LORD is a technical term used by the prophets to indicate the day of God’s judgment (see Amos 5:18–20). Here the term likely refers to the time when God would judge all the nations, including Edom, that had participated in Judah’s destruction. As you have done: The nature of God’s judgment always reflects the nature of the sin being judged.

16 as you drank: The reference here is to the “cup of God’s wrath” that was passed from Samaria to Judah, and finally to the nations—including Edom (see Jer. 25:27, 32, 33). The Lord still viewed Jerusalem as His holy mountain because He intended to reestablish His presence there (see Zech. 1:16).

17 Mount Zion and “My holy mountain” (v. 16) refer to the same place: Jerusalem.

18 The references to the house of Jacob and the house of Joseph signify a unified Israel. God intends to rejoin the kingdoms of Israel and Judah as one people again. For the LORD has spoken: These words add a dramatic certainty to the announcement of judgment (see Jer. 49:13).

19 The South refers to the Negev, the dry region around Beersheba, in the territory of Simeon and southern Judah. The Negev bordered on Edom to the east. According to this verse, southern Judah was going to possess the land of the Edomites. The Lowland, or Shephelah, is the lower hills in Judah between the central hill country to the east and the coastal plain to the west. Judah and Philistia fought fiercely over this region in the early part of Israel’s history. But Judah would eventually prevail over the lands contested with Philistia (see Zeph. 2:4–7). Ephraim, Samaria, and Gilead were parts of Israel during the period of the judges and most of the monarchy. Ephraim and Samaria were the heartland of the northern kingdom of Israel during the time of the divided monarchy. But at the time of Obadiah’s prophecy, all three regions had passed under foreign domination and had experienced a significant influx of foreign population. In the day of the Lord of which Obadiah prophesied, these regions again would come into the possession of the Israelites. The land of Israel would be restored to its rightful inhabitants.

20 Zarephath was a Phoenician city 14 miles north of Tyre (see 1 Kin. 17:8–24). Sepharad was a city to which some Judeans were exiled. The restoration of Judah from exile which these verses predict was a sign to Judah and all nations that the God of Israel was not just a local God. He had not been defeated by the Babylonian god Marduk. The fact that He could allow His people to be carried into captivity in a foreign land and then bring them back to their own land was proof of His power and sovereignty over all the earth.

21 Saviors means “deliverers” or “those who will bring about salvation” (see Neh. 9:27). The Judeans who had been taken into captivity would come back as deliverers, and they would reign over the people of Edom. the kingdom shall be the LORD’s: These were Obadiah’s last words against all human arrogance, pride, and rebellion. Edom had thought itself indestructible; but the Lord humbled that nation and restored the fallen Judah. Many people are tempted to consider themselves beyond the reach of God. But God will bring them low, just as He will lift those who humble themselves before Him. And one great day, He will establish His just rule over all.

Introduction

This high-profile book has been described as a parable, an allegory, and a satire. The famous story of the “great fish” (often erroneously thought of as a whale) has led many to dismiss the book as merely a biblical “fish story.”

It is a mistake (based in part on the difficulty some readers have in coming to terms with the miraculous character of the story line) to assume that the events and actions of the book are not historical in nature. While the story line is unusual, it is presented as normal history. Further, Jesus used the story of Jonah as an analogy of His own impending death and resurrection (see Matt. 12:39–41). Jesus’ analogy depends on the recognition of two historical realities: (1) the historical experience of Jonah in the belly of the great fish, and (2) the historical experience of the repentance of the people of Nineveh based on the preaching of Jonah (see also Luke 11:29–32). Indeed, the phrase “the sign of the prophet Jonah” must have been a recurring phrase in the teaching of Christ, as it is found on more than one occasion in Matthew’s account of Christ’s ministry (see Matt. 16:4). Thus any view of the Book of Jonah that does not assume it describes historical events is obliged to explain away the clear words of Jesus to the contrary.

Author and Date The book does not specifically state who wrote it. But the tradition that it was written by Jonah as his own report of his foolish behavior and his final statement of coming to terms with the divine will is a likely possibility.

The prophet Jonah lived in the eighth century B.C., but we know very little about him apart from this book. He is mentioned in only one other passage in the Old Testament apart from the book that bears his name. Second Kings 14:25 announces the fulfillment of a prophecy of the living God that came through “Jonah the son of Amittai, the prophet who was from Gath Hepher.” This passage locates Jonah’s ministry in the northern kingdom of Israel during the reign of King Jeroboam II (792–753 B.C.). The text suggests that through Jonah’s ministry the Lord encouraged Israel and gave the nation a period of prosperity under Jeroboam. Yet we also know that during this period of political, geographical, and economic expansion, Israel forgot its past troubles, did not return to the Lord, and did not worry about Assyria’s growing power. Clearly, the historical passage presents Jonah in a positive manner. The Book of Jonah, however, presents the prophet in a negative light as it highlights his disobedience to the Lord, leading the reader to reject Jonah’s attitudes and actions.

The prophet Jonah was from Gath Hepher, a town in the territory of Zebulun (see Josh. 19:10, 13; 2 Kin. 14:25), several miles northeast of Nazareth. Nothing is known of his father Amittai. The name Jonah means “Dove.” We associate the dove with peace and purity; however, this positive meaning is not the only possible association. A “dove” could also be a symbol of silliness (see Hos. 7:11), a description that sadly applies to this tragicomical prophet.

Historical Setting By the time of the ministry of Jonah, Assyria was preoccupied with the mountain tribes of Urartu, and did not continue its westward campaigns until Tiglath-Pileser III came to power in 745 B.C. Israel rejoiced at this preoccupation of Assyria, and they aggressively pursued a policy of defense by strengthening their fortified cities, building up the army, and developing international relations.

Principal Message The Book of Jonah challenges God's people not to exalt themselves over others. The Lord, the great King, is free to bless, to be gracious, and to be patient with all the nations of the earth. More than that, He may show compassion even on the wicked. Indeed, His mercy extends even to animals (4:11).

Jonah's view of God was too restrictive. He believed that God was the Creator of everything, but that He was compassionate only toward the elect of Israel. Jonah believed that since God had chosen Israel from among the wicked nations, He had to show mercy to Israel, even if the people were rebellious. Jonah had failed to appreciate that the Lord may be equally forbearing with other nations as He was with Israel.

The Book of Jonah affirms God's freedom, sovereignty, and power. God is sovereign because He is the Creator of everything (1:9). His power extends over all creation (the storm, the fish, the vine, the worm). God is free and He can never be bound by human misconceptions.

The self-righteous make the grave mistake of rejoicing only in their own deliverance (2:9) and in God's answers to prayer (4:6). They miss out by narrowing God's grace and mercy to themselves. Like Jonah, they cannot share in God's delight in saving the sailors and the city of Nineveh, including infants and even animals (4:11). They confess that God is Creator and King of the whole cosmos, but restrict His involvement to judgment, justice, and retribution. In this manner they do not see His acts of compassion, righteousness, and forbearance. The Lord's final proclamation to Jonah (4:10, 11) sums up the prophetic message of the book: God is free to bestow His mercy on anyone and anywhere He wills. His concern and mercy extend to all creation.

Jonah's story contains a strong warning to all godly people. The elect may miss the blessing of seeing God's grace extended outside their own sphere because of their imposition of limits on God. While Jonah was praying anxiously for his personal deliverance, the sailors had already been experiencing the love of God for three days. Likewise, the people of Nineveh who repented of their sin rejoiced that the impending judgment had not come. Jonah, however, was miserable. As we laugh at him, we may need to wince at ourselves. Jonah's silly sin is finally no laughing matter. We are condemned along with him if we share in his provincial folly.

Literary Form As already noted, the literary form of the Book of Jonah differs from that of other prophetic books. It has no prophecies. Instead, the book is largely narrative. Chapter 2 is a song of deliverance, a lovely, vibrant lyric prayer like many in the Book of Psalms.

It is best to understand the book as a prophetic parable. The events in the book are historical, but its place among the prophets leads us to interpret it as a prophetic writing. As a prophetic book, it is unique in that the message of the book centers on the negative interaction between the Lord and His prophet. As a parable, the book draws attention to the grace of God and to the folly of Jonah. The prophet's folly encourages the godly reader to avoid Jonah's negative example and to be a messenger of God's mercy and judgment to the nations.

Christ in the Scriptures

Like Jesus, Jonah proclaims the need to repent. The book also illustrates that God is merciful and withholds His punishment when people respond to Him. Jesus taught the same.

Could that be why Jonah is the only prophet Jesus identified as a symbol of Himself? Jesus said, “An evil and adulterous generation seeks after a sign, and no sign will be given to it except the sign of the prophet Jonah” (Matt. 12:39). And then we see how much Jonah’s story is a type of Jesus’ life, death, and resurrection. “For as Jonah was three days and three nights in the belly of the great fish, so will the Son of Man be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth . . . and indeed a greater than Jonah is here” (Matt. 12:40, 41).

Jonah 1

Jonah's Disobedience

¹Now the word of the LORD came to ^aJonah the son of Amittai, saying,

²“Arise, go to ^bNineveh, that ^cgreat city, and cry out against it; for ^dtheir wickedness has come up before Me.”

³But Jonah arose to flee to Tarshish from the presence of the LORD. He went down to ^eJoppa, and found a ship going to Tarshish; so he paid the fare, and went down into it, to go with them to ^fTarshish ^gfrom the presence of the LORD. Article: Jonah: A Reluctant Missionary

The Storm at Sea

⁴But ^hthe LORD ¹sent out a great wind on the sea, and there was a mighty tempest on the sea, so that the ship was about to be broken up.

⁵Then the mariners were afraid; and every man cried out to his god, and threw the cargo that was in the ship into the sea, to lighten ²the load. But Jonah had gone down ⁱinto the lowest parts of the ship, had lain down, and was fast asleep.

⁶So the captain came to him, and said to him, “What do you mean, sleeper? Arise, ^jcall on your God; ^kperhaps your God will consider us, so that we may not perish.”

⁷And they said to one another, “Come, let us ¹cast lots, that we may know for whose cause this trouble has come upon us.” So they cast lots, and the lot fell on Jonah. Word Studies: prepared

⁸Then they said to him, ^m“Please tell us! For whose cause is this trouble upon us? What is your occupation? And where do you come from? What is your country? And of what people are you?”

⁹So he said to them, “I am a Hebrew; and I fear ³the LORD, the God of heaven, ⁿwho made the sea and the dry land.”

Jonah Thrown into the Sea

¹⁰Then the men were exceedingly afraid, and said to him, “Why have you done this?” For the men knew that he fled from the presence of the LORD, because he had told them.

¹¹Then they said to him, “What shall we do to you that the sea may be calm for us?”—for the sea was growing more tempestuous.

¹²And he said to them, ^o“Pick me up and ⁴throw me into the sea; then the sea will become calm for you. For I know that this great tempest is because of me.”

¹³Nevertheless the men rowed hard to return to land, ^pbut they could not, for the sea continued to grow more tempestuous against them.

¹⁴Therefore they cried out to the LORD and said, “We pray, O LORD, please do not let us perish for this man’s life, and ^qdo not charge us with innocent blood; for You, O LORD, ^rhave done as it pleased You.”

¹⁵So they picked up Jonah and threw him into the sea, ^sand the sea ceased from its raging.

¹⁶Then the men ^tfeared the LORD exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice to the LORD and took vows.

Jonah’s Prayer and Deliverance

¹⁷Now the LORD had prepared a great fish to swallow Jonah. And ^uJonah was in the belly of the fish three days and three nights.

Jonah 2

¹Then Jonah prayed to the LORD his God from the fish's belly.

²And he said:

“I ^acried out to the LORD because of my affliction, ^bAnd He answered me.

“Out of the belly of Sheol I cried,
And You heard my voice.

^{3c}For You cast me into the deep,
Into the heart of the seas,
And the floods surrounded me;
^dAll Your billows and Your waves passed over me.

^{4e}Then I said, ‘I have been cast out of Your sight;
Yet I will look again ^ftoward Your holy temple.’

⁵The ^gwaters surrounded me, even to my soul;
The deep closed around me;
Weeds were wrapped around my head.

⁶I went down to the ¹moorings of the mountains;
The earth with its bars closed behind me forever;
Yet You have brought up my ^hlife from the pit,
O LORD, my God.

⁷“When my soul fainted within me,
I remembered the LORD;
ⁱAnd my prayer went up to You,
Into Your holy temple.

⁸“Those who regard ^jworthless idols
Forsake their own ²Mercy.

⁹But I will ^ksacrifice to You
With the voice of thanksgiving;
I will pay what I have ^lvowed.

^mSalvation is of the ⁿLORD.”

¹⁰So the LORD spoke to the fish, and it vomited Jonah onto dry land.

Jonah 3

Jonah Preaches at Nineveh

¹Now the word of the LORD came to Jonah the second time, saying,

²“Arise, go to Nineveh, that great city, and preach to it the message that I tell you.” Bible Times & Culture Notes: Nineveh

³So Jonah arose and went to Nineveh, according to the word of the LORD. Now Nineveh was an exceedingly great city, ¹a three-day journey in extent. In-Text Map: The Book of Jonah

⁴And Jonah began to enter the city on the first day’s walk. Then ^ahe cried out and said, “Yet forty days, and Nineveh shall be overthrown!”

The People of Nineveh Believe

⁵So the ^bpeople of Nineveh believed God, proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth, from the greatest to the least of them.

⁶Then word came to the king of Nineveh; and he arose from his throne and laid aside his robe, covered himself with sackcloth ^cand sat in ashes.

^{7d}And he caused it to be proclaimed and published throughout Nineveh by the decree of the king and his ²nobles, saying,

Let neither man nor beast, herd nor flock, taste anything; do not let them eat, or drink water.

⁸But let man and beast be covered with sackcloth, and cry mightily to God; yes, ^elet every one turn from his evil way and from ^fthe violence that is in his hands.

^{9g}Who can tell if God will turn and relent, and turn away from His fierce anger, so that we may not perish?

^{10h}Then God saw their works, that they turned from their evil way; and God relented from the disaster that He had said He would bring upon them, and He did not do it.

Jonah 4

Jonah's Anger and God's Kindness

¹But it displeased Jonah exceedingly, and he became angry.

²So he prayed to the LORD, and said, “Ah, LORD, was not this what I said when I was still in my country? Therefore I ^afled previously to Tarshish; for I know that You are a ^bgracious and merciful God, slow to anger and abundant in lovingkindness, One who relents from doing harm. Word Studies: slow to anger

^{3c}“Therefore now, O LORD, please take my life from me, for ^dit is better for me to die than to live!”

⁴Then the LORD said, “Is it right for you to be angry?”

⁵So Jonah went out of the city and sat on the east side of the city. There he made himself a shelter and sat under it in the shade, till he might see what would become of the city.

⁶And the LORD God prepared a ¹plant and made it come up over Jonah, that it might be shade for his head to deliver him from his misery. So Jonah ²was very grateful for the plant.

⁷But as morning dawned the next day God prepared a worm, and it so damaged the plant that it withered.

⁸And it happened, when the sun arose, that God prepared a vehement east wind; and the sun beat on Jonah's head, so that he grew faint. Then he wished death for himself, and said, ^e“It is better for me to die than to live.”

⁹Then God said to Jonah, “Is it right for you to be angry about the plant?” And he said, “It is right for me to be angry, even to death!”

¹⁰But the LORD said, “You have had pity on the plant for which you have not labored, nor made it grow, which ³came up in a night and perished in a night.

Annotations for Jonah

1:1 the word of the LORD came: This phrase affirms the divine source of the message to Jonah (see also 1 Kin. 17:8; Jer. 1:4; Hos. 1:1; Joel 1:1; Mic. 1:1; Zeph. 1:1; Hag. 1:3). The name Jonah means “dove.”

1:2 Nineveh, located on the Tigris River (see Gen. 10:11, 12), was the capital of ancient Assyria (see 2 Kin. 19:36) for about a century (Zeph. 2:13–15; see also the Book of Nahum). Nineveh was over five hundred miles from Gath Hepher, Jonah’s home near Nazareth in Israel. Their wickedness refers to Nineveh’s pride, greed, brutality, and adultery (see 3:8; Nah. 2:11, 12; 3:1–4). has come up before Me: This figurative language pictures evil swelling up to confront the Lord (see Gen. 18:21; compare Lam. 1:22).

1:3 flee to Tarshish: The location of this port city is uncertain, but it could be Tartessus on the southeast coast of Spain. The city represents the most distant place known to the Israelites. Joppa, a non-Israelite port town, was west of Jerusalem and about 50 miles southwest of Jonah’s hometown of Gath Hepher.

Jonah: A Reluctant Missionary

Sometimes the prophets of the Lord tried to challenge His wisdom in calling them for divine service (see Moses in Ex. 4; Jeremiah in Jer. 1). However, Jonah is the only case in the record of Scripture where a true prophet of the Lord (see 2 Kin. 14:25) tried hard to thwart the will of God by fleeing from the task that God had given him (1:3). In contrast to Elijah’s obedience to the Lord (see 1 Kin. 17:8–10), Jonah tried to go as far as he could in the opposite direction from where God had commanded him. Jonah hoped that Nineveh would get just what it deserved. He was afraid that if he announced judgment the people of Nineveh might respond in a manner that would prompt God to change His mind (4:2). So, in an attempt to restrain God from being merciful to his national enemies, Jonah ran away.

There is something humorous in this account. How could a prophet of God hide from the Creator of the universe? The location of Tarshish may have been the southeast coast of Spain. In any case it represents the farthest place known to the people of ancient Israel. It is similar to going “to the ends of the earth.”

Yet there is also something frightening here: Were a prophet of God directly to disobey the Sovereign God, he might place not only himself, but others connected with him, in dire jeopardy. Sadly, Jonah was not on a mission of mercy, even if he had achieved his goal. He was, in a way, an antimissionary; one who resisted God’s call to go to the nations. The repetition of the words “from the presence of the LORD” emphasizes Jonah’s attempt to remove himself as far as possible from his service to the Lord. When we remember that the people of Israel were not a maritime people, but rather had a great fear of the sea (see Ps. 93), we are all the more amazed at Jonah’s risky action. Jonah’s natural aversion to the ocean was overcome by his greater distaste for the thought that Nineveh might escape God’s threatened doom.

Thankfully, God did not allow Jonah to succeed, so there is something reassuring here as well. God accomplished His work despite the resistance of His reluctant worker.

1:4, 5 But the LORD sent out a great wind: Throughout the Book of Jonah, the Lord shows Himself sovereign over every aspect of creation. In this case, the storm at sea was so ferocious that even the experienced mariners were afraid. The Phoenicians were the primary mariners of the ancient Middle East, so this was probably a Phoenician ship. Jonah was so sure he had averted God's will that he was fast asleep in the ship's hold.

1:6 your God: The ship's captain, a pagan, urged Jonah to pray to whatever god he might believe in. Of course, Jonah's "god" was the true God, who had caused the storm in the first place (v. 4).

1:7 cast lots: The sailors turned to practices common among them in an attempt to find the will of the gods. the lot fell on Jonah: Jonah was singled out as the guilty party (see Josh. 7:12–18; 1 Sam. 14:40–42).

Word Studies

prepared

(Heb. manah) (1:17; 4:6–8; Ps. 147:4) Strong's #4487

This Hebrew verb basically means “to count” or “to assign.” The psalmist uses this verb to praise God for knowing the number of stars and naming each one (see Ps. 147:4). In the Book of Jonah, it signifies “to appoint” or “to ordain,” and describes God’s intervention in natural events to bring about His will. By preparing the fish, the plant, and the worm, God made sure that Jonah’s mission was not left to chance. God exercised sovereignty not only over the plant and animal world, but also over Jonah’s life, using animals as small as a worm to teach Jonah about His great mercy (4:6–8).

Go to the List of Word Studies

- 1:8 The sailors fired a series of questions at Jonah, seeking to discern the reason for the storm. In regard to Jonah’s occupation, the sailors may have wanted to know the prophet’s reason for being on board the ship.
- 1:9 I am a Hebrew: With these words, Jonah identified himself with the people of the Lord’s covenant (see Gen. 14:13). I fear the LORD: Fear here indicates an ongoing activity of awe before the Lord, of piety in His presence, of obedience to His word, and of saving faith (see Gen. 22:12; Ex. 20:20; Prov. 1:7). Yet Jonah’s actions contradicted his words. God of heaven: The Lord is not merely a local deity worshiped by an obscure people; He is the Supreme Ruler over all people and all creation (see 2 Chr. 36:23; Ezra 1:2; Neh. 1:4, 5; compare also Gen. 24:3, 7; Deut. 10:14). Jonah may have intended to distinguish God from Baal, the Canaanite “god of the sky” whom so many Israelites worshiped (see 1 Kin. 18:20–29; 2 Kin. 21:3; 2 Chr. 17:3). who made the sea and the dry land: In the midst of the storm, Jonah proclaimed that his God is Lord over the sea (see Ex. 15:1–8; Ps. 89:9; 93:3, 4; 95:5).
- 1:10 exceedingly afraid: This is the same term for fear that Jonah used in his statement of piety (v. 9). But here the word means to be in terror; it refers to overwhelming dread (v. 16). God, the Creator of the universe, was after Jonah. And because God was after Jonah, He was after the sailors as well. They had every right to be afraid (see Gen. 12:18; Judg. 15:11).
- 1:12 throw me into the sea: Jonah knew that the only way for the storm to abate was for the sailors to toss him overboard. Jonah was ready to die (see 4:3, 8; 1 Kin. 19:4; Job 3:1; 7:16). His words, because of me, are an admission of guilt and show a sense of resignation.
- 1:14 they cried out to the LORD: Ironically, the pagan sailors prayed to the Lord on behalf of the Lord’s rebellious prophet. Jonah needed God’s grace as much as Nineveh did. as it pleased You: The narrator skillfully uses the sailors’ words to express one of the book’s themes: the Lord is free to act as He wills.
- 1:15 The sailors did as Jonah had said (v. 12), but only when they saw there was no other option (vv. 13, 14). With a sense of permission from the God of heaven and Creator of the seas (v. 9), the sailors threw Jonah into the sea.
- 1:16 Then the men feared the LORD exceedingly: In the Hebrew text, the words of this part of v. 16 are precisely the same as in v. 10, with one exception: the object of the sailors’ fear. In v. 10 these words described the sailors' overwhelming dread of the raging sea; in this verse they feared the LORD, indicating piety and believing faith. The sailors had the same reverential awe of God that Jonah had claimed to have (v. 9). In spite of Jonah's failure, the sailors became converts (see Ps. 103:11, 13, 17). offered a sacrifice: The text does not say where this happened, but it may have been after the ship reached land. The important point is that their sacrifice was made to the God of Israel.

1:17 the LORD had prepared a great fish: God sent the fish—not a whale, as is commonly thought—to rescue Jonah from drowning, not to punish him (ch. 2). Three days and three nights may refer to one full day and portions of two more (see 3:3; Gen. 30:36; Ex. 3:18; 1 Sam. 30:12; Esth. 4:16; Luke 2:46; 24:21). Jesus Christ said His death and resurrection were foreshadowed by Jonah's experience (see Matt. 12:39, 40; 16:4; Luke 11:29; 1 Cor. 15:4).

2:1 Jonah prayed to the LORD his God: In his psalm (vv. 2–9), Jonah acknowledges God's help and thanks him for it. The phrase the LORD his God shows that Jonah, even though he was disobedient, was a true believer in God.

2:2 I cried . . . I cried: These terms come from two different verbs. The first is a more general term meaning “to call aloud,” with a wide range of usage in the Bible. The second is a term that means a “cry for help,” particularly as a scream to God (see Ps. 5:2; 18:6, 41; 22:24; 28:1; 30:2; 31:22; 88:13; 119:146). Jonah was terrified. Out of the belly of Sheol: When the sailors threw Jonah into the sea, he seemed to be “as good as dead.” Thus for Jonah, the sea became like Sheol, the place of death (see Gen. 37:35; Ps. 16:10; 88:4, 5; Prov. 9:18; Is. 28:15).

2:3 Jonah's use of the pronouns You and Your in this verse are not accusations, but acknowledgments of the Lord's sovereign control of his life (see Ps. 88:6–18).

2:4 I will look again toward Your holy temple: The man who had run from God's presence (1:3) was alone, yet he clung to the hope that God would not abandon him. The temple, the sanctuary in Jerusalem (see v. 7; Deut. 12:5–7; Ps. 48; 79:1; 132; Heb. 9:24), was the symbol of God's presence.

2:5 The deep: This is the same term used in Gen. 1:2 to describe the mysterious and terrifying sea. In the Bible, the sea is described as a part of God's creation (see Gen. 1:10) that brings Him joy (see Ps. 104:24–26), but it also appears as a symbol for hostile forces (see Ps. 74:12–15; Is. 27:1) which the Lord nevertheless holds in His firm control (see Ps. 93).

2:6 Jonah pictures himself so deep in the sea that it is as if he had found the moorings of the mountains. pit: This term, along with Sheol (v. 2), is used to describe the realm of the dead (see Job 33:24; Ps. 30:9; 49:9).

2:7 I remembered: Jonah reaffirms his faith in the Lord and renews his commitment to Him (see Ps. 22:27; 63:6; 106:7).

2:8 worthless idols: This phrase (also found in Ps. 31:6) condemns every alternative to God. Idols here means “vapor,” that which passes away quickly. These vaporous gods (see Ps. 86:8–10; Jer. 10:15; 51:18) were without value. Mercy (loyal love), the term that so often describes God's faithfulness to His covenant and to His people (see Ps. 13:5; 59:10, 17; 89:1–3) is used as a name for the Lord (4:2).

2:9 I will sacrifice to You with the voice of thanksgiving: This vow of praise is common in the Psalms (see Ps. 13:6; 142:7). I will pay what I have vowed: Jonah declares that he will keep his promise, a pledge both to sacrifice and to acknowledge God's help (see Job 22:27; Ps. 22:25; 50:14; 66:13; 116:14, 17; see also Rom. 6:13, 19; 12:1; 1 Pet. 2:5). Salvation: It is the Lord who delivers His people. God acts on behalf of His creation and the redeemed community to insure a relationship with them (see Ex. 15:2, 17, 18; Ps. 88:1; 89:26; 140:7; Is. 12:2). Chapters 1 and 2 both end with vows of sacrifice and thanksgiving.

2:10 the LORD spoke to the fish: The focus in the story of Jonah is on the Lord's sovereign control over creation to bring about His purpose.

3:1, 2 Jonah's new commission was essentially the same as the one he had received in 1:1, 2.

Bible Times & Culture Notes

Nineveh

No one knows the precise age of Nineveh, but the city is mentioned in Babylonian records that extend back to the twenty-first century B.C. Nineveh was also mentioned in the records of Hammurabi, who lived between 1792 and 1750 B.C. From 1100 B.C., Nineveh was a royal residence. During the reign of Sargon II (722–705 B.C.), it served as the capital of Assyria. Sennacherib (705–681 B.C.) made it the chief city of his empire. It had massive walls and an aqueduct that brought water from the mountains 35 miles away.

Nineveh was destroyed in August 612 B.C. It fell after a two-month siege carried out by an alliance among Medes, Babylonians, and Scythians. The attackers destroyed Nineveh by releasing the Khoser River into the city, where it dissolved the buildings' sun-dried brick. This was a remarkable fulfillment of Nahum's prophecy (Nah. 2:6).

3:3 In contrast to 1:3, Jonah obeyed the command of the Lord the second time and made the journey to Nineveh. a three-day journey in extent: The city wall of Nineveh had a circumference of about eight miles, indicating that Nineveh was an exceedingly large city for the times. But the reference to “three days” likely refers to the larger administrative district of Nineveh, made up of several cities, with a circumference of about 55 miles.

The Book of Jonah

Nineveh and Tarshish represented opposite ends of the Mediterranean commercial sphere in ancient times. The story of Jonah extends to the boundaries of OT geographic knowledge and provides a rare glimpse of seafaring life in the Iron Age. Inscriptions and pottery from Spain demonstrate that Phoenician trade linked the far distant ends of the Mediterranean, perhaps as early as the twelfth century B.C.

3:4 Jonah proclaimed that there were only forty days before the destruction of Nineveh. Both the announcement and the specified delay show God's mercy. It was this mercy that bothered Jonah (4:1–3).

3:5 believed God: The term used for God here is the general term for deity. In contrast, the sailors in ch. 1 proclaimed faith in the Lord, using the personal, covenant name for God (1:16). The fact that the writer does not use the personal name for God here may suggest that the Ninevites had a short-lived or imperfect understanding of God's message. History bears this out: We have no historical record of a lasting period of belief in Nineveh. Eventually the city was destroyed, in 612 B.C.

3:5, 6 fast . . . sackcloth . . . ashes: These are expressions of mourning and lamentation (see 2 Kin. 19:1; 2 Chr. 20:3; Is. 58:5–9; Jer. 36:6–9; Joel 1:13, 14; 2:12–18).

3:7 proclaimed and published: The king's edict reached all of Nineveh.

3:9 God will turn and relent: The reversal of the threat to destroy Nineveh depended solely on the grace and mercy of the Lord. At times, the announced judgment of God is not His real intent (see 4:2; Jer. 18:7, 8; Amos 7:3). Such announcements usually include offers of mercy and forgiveness (see Zeph. 2:1–3).

3:10 God relented: The Ninevites' repentance moved the Lord to extend grace and mercy to them.

4:1 Jonah . . . became angry: In contrast to God, Jonah had no compassion on the people of Nineveh. displeased: Jonah's irritation belied the good news that the city would be spared. Jonah himself had just been spared God's fair judgment, but he was unable to appreciate the parallel.

4:2 I know: Jonah himself had experienced the excellencies of God. Gracious and merciful may be rephrased as “marvelously gracious.” Lovingkindness can also mean “loyal love.” This is the same word that Jonah had used in his praise of God in 2:8. One who relents from doing harm: In this recital of God’s blessed character, Jonah built on the revelation of the Lord to Moses (see Ex. 34:6, 7).

slow to anger

(Heb. 'arek; 'aph) (4:2; Num. 14:18; Prov. 14:29) Strong's #750; 639

The idiom for anger in the OT translated literally is “the nose burns” or “the nose becomes hot” (see Gen. 30:2; Ex. 4:14). The Hebrew idiom for “patient” or “slow to anger” is literally “long of nose” (Ps. 86:15; 103:8). The nose is symbolic of anger because an angry person breathes heavily or noisily. The Hebrew idiom for slow to anger is frequently applied to God to describe His great mercy and kindness (Ps. 145:8; Joel 2:13).

- 4:3, 4 please take my life: Contrast Jonah and Elijah: Jonah's death wish came from disgust at the people's repentance; Elijah's came from a yearning for the people's repentance (see 1 Kin. 19:4). Only a few days before Jonah had screamed for God to keep him alive.
- 4:5 till he might see what would become of the city: In his continuing stubbornness and lack of compassion, Jonah held out hope that God would judge Nineveh. This was God's chief complaint against him (see Ps. 58).
- 4:6 the LORD God prepared: The same verb was used in 1:17 to describe the Lord's preparation of the great fish. The term is also used in v. 7 regarding the worm and in v. 8 regarding the east wind. The repeated use of prepared is a subtle reference to the sovereignty of God. a plant: The nature of this plant is unknown. Some have speculated that it was a castor-oil tree or a bottle-gourd vine. It may have been a species that grew especially fast. to deliver him: The Lord had rescued Jonah from drowning (1:17); now He wished to relieve His prophet from the misery of the sun. The reach of God's mercy to the undeserving is a theme that continued to elude Jonah even as he experienced it.
- 4:7 God prepared a worm: The Book of Jonah depicts the Lord as both sovereign and free to act in creation. God placed the worm in the plant to serve as His agent in Jonah's life.
- 4:8 vehement east wind: The scorching sirocco wind that blows in from the desert draws moisture from plants, causing them to wither (see Is. 40:7, 8).
- 4:9 The word translated is it right comes from the verb meaning “to be good,” “to do well,” or “to be pleasing.” Here, as in Gen. 4:4, the expression has to do with ethical behavior (see also Lev. 5:4; Ps. 36:3; Is. 1:17; Jer. 4:22; 13:23). Jonah's anger (v. 1) did not arise from a desire for justice but from his own selfishness. He continued to justify his rebellious attitude. And again, God was merciful.
- 4:10 Pity describes an expression of deeply felt compassion (see Ps. 72:13; Ezek. 20:17; Joel 2:13, 14). However, Jonah pitied himself more than the plant.
- 4:11 pity: The same word used to describe Jonah's feeling toward the plant in v. 10 is used of God's feeling toward the people of Nineveh. People are of more value than animals, and animals of more value than plants, but the Lord has a concern that extends to all of His creation. The Lord's pity comes from His character (v. 2; compare Joel 2:13, 14). livestock: If Jonah could take pity on a plant, which is even less important than an animal, it only made sense that God would take pity on human beings, who are made in God's image. The Book of Jonah ends on this note of contrast between Jonah's ungracious heart and the kind heart of the Lord.

Introduction

Old Testament prophets are often thought of as providing not much more than “doom and gloom” predictions, but the Book of Micah presents an impassioned and artistic interplay between oracles of impending judgment and promises of future blessing on Israel and Judah. The peoples of both nations had broken covenant with their Lord. Through His messenger Micah, the Lord confronted His people, but He also promised to bring future blessing through the One who would be coming. This One would be the true Shepherd of God’s flock.

Assyria lays siege against Jerusalem

Author and Date Little is known about the prophet Micah beyond his name, his place of origin, and the personal tone of his book. Micah was born in the rural village of Moresheth Gath in the lowlands of Judah, near the region of Philistia, setting him apart from his more illustrious contemporary Isaiah, who was from Jerusalem.

The Book of Micah has numerous points of similarity with the much longer Book of Isaiah. In fact, virtually the same passage is found in both books (compare 4:1–3 with Is. 2:2–4). Some attribute this unusual phenomenon to one prophet borrowing from the other, but it is difficult to argue for the priority of either Micah or Isaiah from the texts. More likely both prophets made use of the same source, perhaps a psalm of confidence.

It is often asserted that the Book of Micah was written by his disciples and followers many years after his ministry. However, the tone of Micah's prophecies against Jerusalem indicates that they had not yet come to pass. It appears that Micah prophesied that the Assyrians would destroy Jerusalem in the same way they had already destroyed the city of Samaria (compare 1:6 with 3:12). While the Assyrians under Sennacherib did lay siege against Jerusalem in the campaign of 701 B.C., they did not finally destroy the city. Jerusalem was not destroyed until over a century later by the Babylonians (586 B.C.). It is almost inconceivable that disciples of Micah would collect, record, and promote his prophecies long after the fact if those prophecies had not come to pass as anticipated. It is far more likely that the prophecies of Micah were compiled by the prophet as an anthology of his own lengthy preaching career.

Historical Setting The career of Micah extended over the last third of the eighth century B.C., during the reigns of Jotham (752–736 B.C.), Ahaz (736–720 B.C.), and Hezekiah (729–699 B.C.). The Book of Micah centers on the threat of the Assyrian invasions that occurred throughout this period, beginning around 730 B.C. against Israel and culminating in 701 B.C. against Judah. Much of Micah's preaching warned Judah about an impending national disaster. Yet the religious leaders of Jerusalem were falsely confident that no evil would come to them because of the inviolable presence of the holy temple in their midst. Micah sternly confronted their arrogance and their mistaken notions of God: not even the temple on Mount Zion would be spared the onslaught of God's wrath (3:12).

The lengthy delay in Micah's prophecies against Jerusalem may be attributed to several causes. First, God may have decided to spare the city, even though it was He who had condemned it (see Jer. 26:16–19; compare God’s judgment on Nineveh in the Book of Jonah). The significant delay in the judgment against Jerusalem may be attributed to the mercy of the Lord, much as the delay of the judgment of God against Nineveh is attributed to His mercy by the prophet Jonah (see Jon. 4:1–3). Second, although the judgment of Jerusalem was postponed, it was finally realized in the destruction of the city by the Babylonians in 586 B.C.

Themes The interplay of texts of wrath and mercy in the Book of Micah mirrors the character of God, for even in His wrath He remembers mercy. In the darkest days of impending judgment on the nations of Israel and Judah, there was always the possibility of a remnant being spared. Although the Lord was determined to maintain His holiness, He was equally intent on fulfilling His loving promises to Abraham (see Gen. 12; 15; 22). The Lord would balance His judgment with mercy. Consequently Micah also balances his oracles of judgment with oracles of promise.

In doing so, Micah points back to the covenant and also forward to the coming One. The book begins with the language of a court. Micah calls the peoples of earth to come to hear the Lord’s case against Israel, for the nation had broken the covenant (3:1; 6:1–3). The language recalls the language of the covenant or contract the Lord established with His people. The Lord was judging His people according to the terms of the covenant. But in the middle of the oracles of judgment, Micah reveals the Lord’s wonderful promises of a glorious future. There would be a time when the coming King would gather His people together (2:12, 13), when He would establish peace (4:3), and when He would bring justice to the earth (4:2, 3). Remarkably, Micah prophesies that this coming Messiah would be born in Bethlehem (5:2). The fulfillment of this prophecy in Jesus’ birth in Bethlehem gives us confidence that the prophecies of Jesus’ glorious future will also be fulfilled (see Matt. 2:1).

Christ in the Scriptures

Unlike the Book of Jonah, which took the burial and resurrection of Jesus for Israel to make sense out of what had occurred, Micah's reference to the Messiah was quite explicit. From the time he verbalized God's rebuke at the way the Jews were treating the poor until the time a poor carpenter and his fiancée arrived in Bethlehem, devout Jews knew that King David's birthplace was where the Messiah would also be born.

Micah wrote the following about the town of Bethlehem seven hundred years before Jesus was born: "Though you are little among the thousands of Judah, yet out of you shall come forth to Me the One to be Ruler in Israel, whose goings forth are from of old, from everlasting" (5:2). And of that Ruler, he prophesied, "He will teach us His ways, and we shall walk in His paths. . . . Nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war anymore" (4:2, 3).

Micah 1

¹The word of the LORD that came to ^aMicah of Moresheth in the days of ^bJotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah, which he saw concerning Samaria and Jerusalem.

The Coming Judgment on Israel

²Hear, all you peoples!
Listen, O earth, and all that is in it!
Let the Lord GOD be a witness against you,
The Lord from ^cHis holy temple.

³For behold, the LORD is coming out of His place; He will come down
And tread on the high places of the earth.

^{4d}The mountains will melt under Him, And the valleys will split
Like wax before the fire,
Like waters poured down a steep place.

⁵All this is for the transgression of Jacob And for the sins of the house of Israel.

What is the transgression of Jacob?

Is it not Samaria?

And what are the ^ehigh places of Judah?

Are they not Jerusalem?

⁶“Therefore I will make Samaria ^fa heap of ruins in the field,
Places for planting a vineyard;
I will pour down her stones into the valley,
And I will ^guncover her foundations.

⁷All her carved images shall be beaten to pieces, And all her ^hpay as a harlot shall be burned with the fire; All her idols I will lay desolate,
For she gathered it from the pay of a harlot,
And they shall return to the ⁱpay of a harlot.”

Mourning for Israel and Judah

⁸Therefore I will wail and howl, I will go stripped and naked;
ⁱI will make a wailing like the jackals And a mourning like the ostriches, ⁹For her wounds are incurable.

For ^kit has come to Judah; It has come to the gate of My people— To Jerusalem.

¹⁰ⁱTell it not in Gath, Weep not at all;
In ¹Beth Aphrah Roll yourself in the dust.

¹¹Pass by in naked shame, you inhabitant of ²Shaphir; The inhabitant of ³Zaanan does not go out.
Beth Ezel mourns;
Its place to stand is taken away from you.

¹²For the inhabitant of ⁴Maroth ⁵pined for good, But ^mdisaster came down from the LORD
To the gate of Jerusalem.

¹³O inhabitant of ⁿLachish, Harness the chariot to the swift steeds
(She was the beginning of sin to the daughter of Zion),
For the transgressions of Israel were ^ofound in you.

¹⁴Therefore you shall ^pgive presents to ⁶Moresbeth Gath; The houses of ^qAchzib⁷ shall be a lie to the kings of Israel.

¹⁵I will yet bring an heir to you, O inhabitant of ^rMareshah;⁸
The glory of Israel shall come to ^sAdullam.⁹

¹⁶Make yourself ^tbald and cut off your hair, Because of your ^uprecious children; Enlarge your baldness like an eagle,
For they shall go from you into ^vcaptivity.

Micah 2

Woe to Evildoers

¹Woe to those who devise iniquity, And ¹work out evil on their beds!

At ^amorning light they practice it, Because it is in the power of their hand.

²They ^bcovet fields and take them by violence, Also houses, and seize them.

So they oppress a man and his house,
A man and his inheritance.

³Therefore thus says the LORD:

“Behold, against this ^cfamily I am devising ^ddisaster, From which you cannot remove your necks;

Nor shall you walk haughtily,

For this is an evil time.

⁴In that day one shall take up a proverb against you, And ^elament with a bitter lamentation, saying: ‘We are utterly destroyed!

He has changed the ²heritage of my people; How He has removed it from me!

To ³a turncoat He has divided our fields.’ ”

⁵Therefore you will have no ⁴one to determine boundaries by lot In the assembly of the LORD.

Lying Prophets

⁶“Do not prattle,” you say to those who ⁵prophesy.
So they shall not prophesy ⁶to you; ⁷They shall not return insult for insult.

⁷*You who are* named the house of Jacob: “Is the Spirit of the LORD restricted?

Are these His doings?

Do not My words do good

To him who walks uprightly?

⁸“Lately My people have risen up as an enemy—

You pull off the robe with the garment

From those who trust you, as they pass by,

Like men returned from war.

⁹The women of My people you cast out

From their pleasant houses;

From their children
You have taken away My glory forever.

¹⁰“Arise and depart, For this is not your ^frest; Because it is ^gdefiled, it shall destroy, Yes, with utter destruction.

¹¹If a man should walk in a false spirit
And speak a lie, saying,
‘I will ⁸prophecy to you ⁹of wine and drink,’
Even he would be the ^hprattler of this people.

Israel Restored

¹²“ⁱI will surely assemble all of you, O Jacob, I will surely gather the remnant of Israel;
I will put them together ^jlike sheep of ¹⁰the fold, Like a flock in the midst of their pasture;
^kThey shall make a loud noise because of so many people.
¹³The one who breaks open will come up before them;
They will break out,
Pass through the gate,
And go out by it;
^lTheir king will pass before them, ^mWith the LORD at their head.”

Micah 3

Wicked Rulers and Prophets

¹And I said:

“Hear now, O heads of Jacob,
And you ^arulers of the house of Israel: ^b*Is it* not for you to know justice?

²You who hate good and love evil; Who strip the skin from ¹My people, And the flesh from their bones; Charts and Diagrams: Micah: A Picture of the Gospel

³Who also ^ceat the flesh of My people, Flay their skin from them,
Break their bones,
And chop them in pieces
Like meat for the pot,
^dLike flesh in the caldron.”

⁴Then ^ethey will cry to the LORD, But He will not hear them;
He will even hide His face from them at that time,
Because they have been evil in their deeds.

⁵Thus says the LORD ^fconcerning the prophets Who make my people stray;

Who chant ²“Peace”

³While they ^gchew with their teeth, But who prepare war against him

^hWho puts nothing into their mouths: ⁶“Thereforeⁱ you shall have night without ⁴vision, And you shall have darkness without divination;

The sun shall go down on the prophets,
And the day shall be dark for ^jthem.

⁷So the seers shall be ashamed,
And the diviners abashed;
Indeed they shall all cover their lips;
^kFor there is no answer from God.”

⁸But truly I am full of power by the Spirit of the LORD, And of justice and might,

¹To declare to Jacob his transgression And to Israel his sin.

⁹Now hear this,

You heads of the house of Jacob

And rulers of the house of Israel,

Who abhor justice

And ⁵pervert all equity, ^{10m}Who build up Zion with ⁿbloodshed And Jerusalem with iniquity:

^{11o}Her heads judge for a bribe, ^pHer priests teach for pay, And her prophets divine for ⁶money.

^qYet they lean on the LORD, and say, "Is not the LORD among us?

No harm can come upon us."

¹²Therefore because of you Zion shall be ^rplowed like a field, ^sJerusalem shall become heaps of ruins, And ^tthe mountain of the ⁷temple Like the bare hills of the forest.

Micah 4

The LORD's Reign in Zion

(cf. Is. 2:2–4)

¹Now ^ait shall come to pass in the latter days That the mountain of the LORD's house
Shall be established on the top of the mountains,
And shall be exalted above the hills;
And peoples shall flow to it.

²Many nations shall come and say, "Come, and let us go up to the mountain of the LORD,
To the house of the God of Jacob;
He will teach us His ways,
And we shall walk in His paths."
For out of Zion the law shall go forth,
And the word of the LORD from Jerusalem.

³He shall judge between many peoples, And rebuke strong nations afar off;
They shall beat their swords into ^bplowshares, And their spears into ¹pruning hooks; Nation shall not lift up sword against nation,
^cNeither shall they learn war anymore.

And no one shall make them afraid;
For the mouth of the LORD of hosts has spoken.
⁵For all people walk each in the name of his god,
But ^ewe will walk in the name of the LORD our God Forever and ever.

Zion's Future Triumph

⁶"In that day," says the LORD, ^f"I will assemble the lame, ^gI will gather the outcast And those whom I have afflicted;

⁷I will make the lame ^ha remnant, And the outcast a strong nation;

So the LORD ⁱwill reign over them in Mount Zion From now on, even forever.

⁸And you, O tower of the flock, The stronghold of the daughter of Zion,
To you shall it come,
Even the former dominion shall come,
The kingdom of the daughter of Jerusalem.”

⁹Now why do you cry aloud?
^j*Is there* no king in your midst?
Has your counselor perished?
For ^kpangs have seized you like a woman in ²labor.

¹⁰Be in pain, and labor to bring forth,
O daughter of Zion,
Like a woman in birth pangs.
For now you shall go forth from the city,
You shall dwell in the field,
And to ¹Babylon you shall go.
There you shall be delivered;
There the ^mLORD will ⁿredeem you From the hand of your enemies.

¹¹^oNow also many nations have gathered against you, Who say, “Let her be defiled,
And let our eye ^plook upon Zion.”

¹²But they do not know ^qthe thoughts of the LORD, Nor do they understand His counsel;
For He will gather them ^rlike sheaves to the threshing floor.

¹³“Arise^s and ^tthresh, O daughter of Zion; For I will make your horn iron,
And I will make your hooves bronze;
You shall ^ubeat in pieces many peoples; ^vI will consecrate their gain to the LORD, And their substance to ^wthe Lord of the whole earth.”

Micah 5

¹Now gather yourself in troops, O daughter of troops;
He has laid siege against us;
They will ^astrike the judge of Israel with a rod on the cheek.

The Coming Messiah

²“But you, ^bBethlehem ^cEphrathah, Though you are little ^damong the ^ethousands of Judah, Yet out of you shall come forth to Me
The One to be ^fRuler in Israel, ^gWhose goings forth are from of old, From ¹everlasting.” Article: The King's Hometown

³Therefore He shall give them up, Until the time that ^hshe who is in labor has given birth; Then ⁱthe remnant of His brethren Shall return to the children of Israel.

⁴And He shall stand and ^jfeed ²*His flock*
In the strength of the LORD,
In the majesty of the name of the LORD His God;
And they shall abide,
For now He ^kshall be great To the ends of the earth;
⁵And this One ^lshall be peace.

Judgment on Israel's Enemies

When the Assyrian comes into our land,
And when he treads in our palaces,
Then we will raise against him
Seven shepherds and eight princely men.

⁶They shall ³waste with the sword the land of Assyria, And the land of ^mNimrod at its entrances; Thus He shall ⁿdeliver us from the Assyrian, When he comes into our land
And when he treads within our borders.

⁷Then ^othe remnant of Jacob Shall be in the midst of many peoples,
^pLike dew from the LORD, Like showers on the grass,
That ⁴tarry for no man Nor ⁵wait for the sons of men.
⁸And the remnant of Jacob
Shall be among the Gentiles,
In the midst of many peoples,
Like a ^qlion among the beasts of the forest, Like a young lion among flocks of sheep,

Who, if he passes through,
Both treads down and tears in pieces,
And none can deliver.

⁹Your hand shall be lifted against your adversaries,
And all your enemies shall be ⁶cut off.

¹⁰“And it shall be in that day,” says the LORD, “That I will ^rcut⁷ off your ^shorses from your midst And destroy your ^tchariots.

¹¹I will cut off the cities of your land
And throw down all your strongholds.

¹²I will cut off sorceries from your hand, And you shall have no ^usoothsayers.

^{13v}Your carved images I will also cut off, And your sacred pillars from your midst;

You shall ^wno more worship the work of your hands; ¹⁴I will pluck your ⁸wooden images from your midst; Thus I will destroy your cities.

¹⁵And I will ^xexecute vengeance in anger and fury On the nations that have not ⁹heard.” In-Text Map: Nations and Cities In Micah

God Pleads with Israel

¹Hear now what the LORD says:

“Arise, plead your case before the mountains,
And let the hills hear your voice.

^{2a}Hear, O you mountains, ^bthe LORD’s complaint, And you strong foundations of the earth;

For ^cthe LORD has a complaint against His people, And He will ¹contend with Israel. Word Studies: complaint

³“O My people, what ^dhave I done to you?
And how have I ^ewearied you?
Testify against Me.

^{4f}For I brought you up from the land of Egypt, I redeemed you from the house of bondage;

And I sent before you Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.

⁵O My people, remember now

What ^gBalak king of Moab counseled, And what Balaam the son of Beor answered him,

From ²Acacia Grove to Gilgal, That you may know ^hthe righteousness of the LORD.”

⁶With what shall I come before the LORD, And bow myself before the High God?

Shall I come before Him with burnt offerings,
With calves a year old?

⁷ⁱWill the LORD be pleased with thousands of rams, Ten thousand ^jrivers of oil?

^kShall I give my firstborn for my transgression, ³The fruit of my body for the sin of my soul?

⁸He has ^lshown you, O man, what is good; And what does the LORD require of you

But ^mto do justly,

To love ⁴mercy,

And to walk humbly with your God?

Punishment of Israel's Injustice

⁹The LORD's voice cries to the city— Wisdom shall see Your name:

“Hear the rod!

Who has appointed it?

¹⁰Are there yet the treasures of wickedness In the house of the wicked,

And the short measure that is an abomination?

¹¹Shall I count pure those with ⁿthe wicked scales, And with the bag of deceitful weights?

¹²For her rich men are full of ^oviolence, Her inhabitants have spoken lies,

And ^ptheir tongue is deceitful in their mouth.

¹³“Therefore I will also ^qmake you sick by striking you, By making you desolate because of your sins.

¹⁴^rYou shall eat, but not be satisfied; ⁵Hunger shall be in your midst.

⁶You may carry some away, but shall not save them;
And what you do rescue I will give over to the sword.

¹⁵“You shall ^ssow, but not reap; You shall tread the olives, but not anoint yourselves with oil;

And make sweet wine, but not drink wine.

¹⁶For the statutes of ^tOmri are ^ukept; All the works of Ahab's house are done;

And you walk in their counsels,

That I may make you a ⁷desolation, And your inhabitants a hissing.

Therefore you shall bear the ^vreproach of ⁸My people.”

Micah 7

Sorrow for Israel's Sins

¹Woe is me!
For I am like those who gather summer fruits,
Like those who ^aglean vintage grapes; There is no cluster to eat
Of the first-ripe fruit which ^bmy soul desires.
²The ^cfaithful¹ man has perished from the earth, And there is no one upright among men.
They all lie in wait for blood;
^dEvery man hunts his brother with a net.

³That they may successfully do evil with both hands— The prince asks for gifts,
The judge seeks a ^ebribe, And the great man utters his evil desire;
So they scheme together.
⁴The best of them is ^flike a brier; The most upright is sharper than a thorn hedge;
The day of your watchman and your punishment comes;
Now shall be their perplexity.

^{5g}Do not trust in a friend; Do not put your confidence in a companion;
Guard the doors of your mouth
From her who lies in your ^hbosom.
⁶For ⁱson dishonors father, Daughter rises against her mother,
Daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law;
A man's enemies are the men of his own household.
⁷Therefore I will look to the LORD; I will ^jwait for the God of my salvation; My God will hear me.

Israel's Confession and Comfort

^{8k}Do not rejoice over me, my enemy; ^lWhen I fall, I will arise;
When I sit in darkness,

The LORD will be a light to me.

^{9m}I will bear the indignation of the LORD, Because I have sinned against Him,

Until He pleads my ⁿcase And executes justice for me.

He will bring me forth to the light;

I will see His righteousness.

¹⁰Then she who is my enemy will see, And ^oshame will cover her who said to me, ^p“Where is the LORD your God?”

My eyes will see her;

Now she will be trampled down

Like mud in the streets.

¹¹In the day when your ^qwalls are to be built, In that day ²the decree shall go far and wide.

¹²In that day ^rthey³ shall come to you From Assyria and the ⁴fortified cities, From the ⁵fortress to ⁶the River, From sea to sea,

And mountain to mountain.

¹³Yet the land shall be desolate

Because of those who dwell in it,

And ^sfor the fruit of their deeds.

God Will Forgive Israel

¹⁴Shepherd Your people with Your staff, The flock of Your heritage,
Who dwell ⁷solitarily in a ^twoodland, In the midst of Carmel;
Let them feed in Bashan and Gilead,
As in days of old.

¹⁵“As^u in the days when you came out of the land of Egypt, I will show ⁸them ^vwonders.”

¹⁶The nations ^wshall see and be ashamed of all their might;
^xThey shall put their hand over their mouth; Their ears shall be deaf.

¹⁷They shall lick the ^ydust like a serpent; ^zThey shall crawl from their holes like ⁹snakes of the earth.

^aThey shall be afraid of the LORD our God, And shall fear because of You.

^{18b}Who is a God like You, ^cPardoning iniquity
And passing over the transgression of ^dthe remnant of His heritage?

^eHe does not retain His anger forever, Because He delights in ^fmercy.¹⁰

¹⁹He will again have compassion on us,
And will subdue our iniquities.

You will cast all ¹¹our sins Into the depths of the sea. Word Studies: compassion

^{20g}You will give truth to Jacob And ¹²mercy to Abraham, ^hWhich You have sworn to our fathers From days of old.

Annotations for Micah

- 1:1 Micah means “Who Is Like the Lord?” The question presents a major biblical theme, the idea that God is incomparable (see 7:18; Deut. 4:32–40; Ps. 113:4–6). Micah’s ministry centered on the Assyrian threat to Samaria, the capital of Israel that was destroyed in 722 B.C., and Jerusalem, the capital of Judah.
- 1:2 all you peoples: All the earth was to know that God was witnessing against His people. This announcement of judgment is based on the people’s breach of covenant. The faithlessness of the people provoked the Lord GOD to enter into a judicial dispute with them.
- 1:3 the LORD is coming: This is the language of epiphany, the dramatic coming of God to earth, here in a solemn procession of judgment. In other texts the language of epiphany is used to describe God’s dramatic acts of deliverance (see Ps. 18:7–19). The expression high places is ironic. Jerusalem and Samaria were the “high places,” or elevated capitals, of Judah and Israel; but “high places” were also sites of idolatrous worship.
- 1:5 Jacob is used to refer to the northern kingdom Israel, whose transgression was centered in its capital, Samaria. Judah’s sins were centered in its capital, Jerusalem. In this verse, the intent of the term high places (v. 3) is made plain. Jerusalem, which was once “beautiful in elevation” (see Ps. 48:2), was nothing more than another platform of pagan worship, like the “high places” of the Canaanites.
- 1:6 a heap of ruins: God’s judicial decision was to destroy Samaria so thoroughly that it would be a place fit only for vineyards among the rubble.
- 1:7 Idolatry is often described in the Hebrew Bible as spiritual adultery (see Jer. 3:1; Hos. 4:15). Israel is pictured as a wife who is unfaithful to her husband (see Jer. 2:20). This is not just a metaphor, however; the worship system of Canaan was sexual in nature. The word idols here has the sense of “disgusting images,” probably referring to the explicit sexual nature of these idols. But there is comic justice at the end of the verse. The pagan symbols of Israel’s worship would be reused by the nation’s conquerors (Assyria) in their own debased temples.
- 1:8 I will wail . . . I will go stripped: Micah’s immediate response to God’s message was an overwhelming sense of dread (7:1). naked: Micah’s words describe mourning rites in which outer garments were laid aside in deep humility. The mourning person thought no longer about himself but only about the calamity that had overcome his senses.
- 1:9 her wounds: At first the reference is to the wounds of Israel, the northern kingdom. But the disease spread to Judah. My people: The pronoun My refers to both the prophet and His Lord. The distress of the prophet is a mirror of the distress of God.
- 1:10 in Gath: The reference here is to the lament of David in his mourning over the death of Saul and Jonathan (see 2 Sam. 1:20). Just as it was unseemly then to have the bad news of God’s people profaned in a foreign city, so it would be in the present circumstance. The Hebrew word translated tell in this verse sounds like the Hebrew place name Gath. Beth Aphrah means “House of Dust”; appropriately, the inhabitants would roll themselves in the dust, an act of extreme mourning.
- 1:11 The name Shaphir means “Beautiful.” Ironically, its inhabitants would be shamed by their nakedness. Zaanan: This name speaks of “sheep” who “go out on their own.” However, this would no longer be the case for the citizens of Zaanan, who would no longer go out because of their fear.
- 1:12 Maroth means “Bitterness.” The name Jerusalem suggests “Peace.” Thus the inhabitants of the town of bitterness would be sickened with dread, and the inhabitants of the town of peace would experience God’s judgment.
- 1:13 Lachish: This famous guard city to Jerusalem was judged as being among the first places in Judah to adopt the sins of Baal worship. daughter of Zion: Jerusalem is the daughter of the Lord.
- 1:14 Moresheth Gath, which means “The Possession of Gath,” was Micah’s hometown (v. 1). The presents were farewell gifts; the city was soon to be lost.

- 1:15 The words heir and the glory of Israel might lead one to assume that this is a messianic verse, a promise of hope in the midst of despair. Yet the context is judgment (v. 16). The point here may be that the situation would be so bad that the proper heir and glory of the nation—the members of the royal family—would have to flee in terror to remote hiding places. Mareshah is an alternative spelling for Moresheth Gath of v. 14.
- 1:16 In a culture in which a man's hair was highly valued, to cut off one's hair was the ultimate sign of mourning.
- 2:1, 2 devise iniquity . . . covet: The ethical teaching of the prophets regularly included oracles of judgment against greed, theft, and oppression, actions of the powerful in attacking the weak. To covet is not just to have a passing thought; it is a determination to seize what is not one's own.
- 2:3 devising disaster: While the wicked devised iniquity (v. 1), God made some plans of His own. your necks: The idea here is that the disaster of God would be inescapable.
- 2:4 A proverb was a taunt song. To a turncoat: God would take the property rights from those who had seized them illegally and give them to people who were even more reprobate than they were.
- 2:5, 6 no one to determine boundaries: Land-grabbers would no longer have a legitimate claim among God's people. God would dispossess them even as they had dispossessed others. Do not prattle: These words may have been a strong warning to Micah not to be like the lying prophets who counseled that all was well in the land.
- 2:7 The words of God were different from the words of the lying prophets (v. 6). The words of God bring good to the righteous even as they bring judgment against the wicked.
- 2:10, 11 The lying prophets (v. 6) spoke of rest when utter destruction was decreed by the Lord. They spoke of wine and drink at a time of disaster. It is also possible that the words of v. 11 speak of false prophets who were willing to prophesy "good words" in exchange for wine and beer.
- 2:12, 13 assemble . . . gather . . . put them together: The verbs are emphatic, demonstrating the certainty of God's determination to bring to pass His good pleasure on His people (see Deut. 30:1–6). breaks open . . . break out: These phrases speak of regathering Israel from wherever the people may have been scattered.
- 3:1 Is it not for you to know justice: The idea here is that one might not expect justice from pagan leaders in a faraway place. But the rulers of the people of God were expected to emphasize justice. Justice is one of the key concepts of the Law (see Deut. 10:18; 32:4; 33:21). Perverting justice was strongly prohibited by God (see Deut. 16:19; 24:17). Yet this was precisely what the leaders of Judah were doing. They had used their authority to destroy justice rather than to establish it among the people.
- 3:2, 3 Micah used an image of barbaric cannibalism to describe the horrendous actions of the leaders against the people. It was as if the leaders were eating the flesh from the people's bones.

Micah: A Picture of the Gospel

The essential message of the Bible remains the same no matter whether we are reading about the patriarch Abraham or the apostle Paul, Deborah the judge or Mary the mother of Jesus. Like a spotlight, the Scripture reveals the stain of sin in our lives. But it does not leave us exposed; it offers a way to become clean. Even Micah, a prophet who spent most of his time warning the Israelites of coming judgment, spoke of God's salvation.

God's Standard: "He has shown you, O man, what is good; and what does the LORD require of you but to do justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with your God?” (6:8)

The People’s Sin: Idolatry (1:7; 5:13, 14); evil plans (2:1); coveting, violence, oppression (2:2); hating good and loving evil (3:2); greedy priests and prophets (3:11); deceit (6:11, 12); unfaithfulness (7:2); family friction (7:6)

God’s Salvation: “Who is a God like You, pardoning iniquity and passing over the transgression of the remnant of His heritage? He does not retain His anger forever, because He delights in mercy. He will again have compassion on us, and will subdue our iniquities. You will cast all our sins into the depths of the sea.” (7:18, 19)

God’s Standard: “Therefore you shall be perfect, just as your Father in heaven is perfect.” (Matt. 5:48)

The People’s Sin: “For all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God.” (Rom. 3:23)

God’s Salvation: “In [Christ] we have redemption through His blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of His grace.” (Eph. 1:7)

3:4 He will not hear them: The wickedness of the people was so great that last-minute repentance would not suffice (see Jer. 11:11).

3:5–7 This oracle of judgment was presented against the false prophets who proclaimed peace, causing the people to be unprepared for trouble. These prophets would have neither true prophetic insight (vision), nor help from the forbidden arts of divination. Finally they would have nothing to say, for there would be no answer from God.

3:8 full of power: Unlike the silenced false prophets (vv. 5–7), Micah was divinely empowered (see 1 Cor. 2:13; 2 Pet. 1:21). Justice and might may be rephrased as “powerful justice,” a contrast to the ineffective leaders of Israel (v. 1).

3:11 bribe . . . pay . . . money: The wicked leaders and prophets of Israel “worked” only when they could gain something from it. Needless to say, if justice had to be paid for, it would not be justice. Is not the LORD among us: Many people of Jerusalem believed that they would not be affected by God’s judgment because God Himself dwelled in the holy temple in Jerusalem. They reasoned that despite their evils, as long as God was in His temple, they were safe—even from divine judgment. What the people refused to believe was that God might leave His temple because of the sinfulness of the people. The Book of Ezekiel describes a vision of the glory of God leaving the temple as a prelude to His judgment on the city (see Ezek. 10).

3:12 This verse was quoted by Jeremiah (see Jer. 26:18). While the false prophets and the wicked rulers believed that they were untouchable and that Mt. Zion was inviolable, the prophet Micah announced that Zion (Jerusalem) would be plowed like a field, indicating complete devastation of the city.

4:1 The phrase in the latter days is an indication of a prophecy of end times. The mountain of the LORD’s house describes the temple in Jerusalem. The text projects a future change in the topography of Jerusalem. Originally the temple site in Jerusalem was located on one of several hills that make up the general area. In the latter days the temple site will be elevated above the hills (see Zech. 8:1–3; 14:1–11).

4:2 Many nations: When non-Israelites came to true faith, it would be in the God of Jacob. He will teach: As God spoke to Moses on Mt. Sinai (see Ex. 19; 20) so He will speak to all from Jerusalem. we shall walk: Unlike the people of Micah’s generation who were strangers to justice (3:1), the peoples of the coming kingdom will be obedient to God.

4:3 judge . . . rebuke: These are actions of the Savior King who will rule with a rod of iron (see Ps. 2:110). swords . . . spears: All weapons of destruction will be recycled into tools of production. There will finally be an end to conflict. War will not even be a subject for study anymore.

4:4 The vine and fig tree are symbols of peace and prosperity (see Zech. 3:10). no one shall make them afraid: Fear, like war (v. 3), will become a thing of the past.

4:6, 7 In that day: This wording connects this section with the end times referred to in v. 1. lame . . . outcast: Those who were abused by the wicked leaders of Israel would be exalted by the Lord. afflicted: Those whom God had driven from the land would be the people of His new kingdom. This is a remarkable surprise—a surprise of grace. remnant: The majority of people in Israel did not live their lives in faith and dedication to the Lord. However, true faith never really died out in Israel, even in the worst of times.

4:8 Tower of the flock is a description of Jerusalem in the ideal sense. A tower was a vantage point for protecting a flock of sheep. Likewise, Jerusalem is the stronghold or defense point for the flock of God (2:12).

4:9, 10 Micah addressed the city of Zion (Jerusalem) as though it were a woman in labor. The troubles of the present moment would lead finally to the birth of a deliverer. To Babylon you shall go refers to the Exile.

4:13 Arise and thresh: The nations would be gathered by the Lord like sheaves on the threshing floor (v. 12). This is a way of speaking of the final victory over all of Israel's foes.

5:1 gather yourself in troops: The reference here seems to be to the assaults of the enemies of Judah on the people of God before their final defeat. strike . . . on the cheek: One day the enemies of the Savior would strike Him (see Mark 15:19); but on a still-future day, He will strike all of His enemies (see Rev. 19).

5:2 Bethlehem means "House of Bread" (see Ruth 1:1). Ephrathah locates the village in a known region in Judah (see Gen. 35:16). This prophecy figures significantly in the NT story of the visit of the wise men to the Christ child (see Matt. 2:1–12). Governments would be overturned to make it necessary for Mary while still pregnant to make the journey from Nazareth to Bethlehem. The specific detail of this oracle about Bethlehem is similar to the Lord's prophetic announcements of the name of Josiah to Jeroboam I (see 1 Kin. 13:2), and of Cyrus to Isaiah (see Is. 44:28–45:7). goings forth: The birth of this Savior King would be unlike the birth of any other, because He was preexistent. He is from everlasting.

The King's Hometown

Almost two years after Jesus was born, a dusty and majestic caravan made its way into Jerusalem. The members of the caravan stopped for directions. Their simple question shook the city: "Where is He who has been born King of the Jews?" (Matt. 2:2). A strange star had announced the birth.

King Herod knew the wise men had no interest in him. But he also realized that if their quest was legitimate, his own reign was about to be eclipsed by the arrival of another King, the long-awaited Messiah. He was not going to give up his throne without a fight.

Among the prophecies of the Old Testament, God had clearly revealed the birthplace of the Messiah. The Jewish religious leaders that Herod gathered to answer the strangers' question pointed immediately to Micah 5:2 for the location of the Savior's hometown, Bethlehem. They knew. Micah had left written directions hundreds of years before. But they were not ready to believe. Curiously, no one volunteered to go with the wise men to look for the Messiah.

God offered a clear invitation to His people through Micah: Watch Bethlehem! The people remembered the invitation, but failed to take it seriously. Given an opportunity to discover truth, the people of Jerusalem let someone else take the risk of disappointment. Herod even killed the children of Bethlehem in a vain attempt to eliminate his rival.

Other prophecies of Micah surround the passage pinpointing Bethlehem as the Messiah's hometown. Some of the prophecies were fulfilled by the return of the Israelites from Babylon (4:10). Others have yet to be fulfilled (4:1–5). But Bethlehem remains a symbol of God's working out of His purposes in history.

Micah's invitation still rings true. But our response must be different from that of the people of Jerusalem. The people in Jesus' time were waiting for something to happen, but they missed it because of unbelief. We can look back at Jesus' death and miss it just as seriously through our own unbelief. A crucial chapter in God's story of salvation begins in Bethlehem. God gave more than a hint of that salvation in Micah.

5:3 The future of Israel is pictured here in terms of the birth, life, and ministry of the Savior King. The two advents of the Savior are seen as one event by Micah. Whereas v. 2 speaks of the birth of the Savior in His First Coming, vv. 3–5 speak of the time of the rule of Jesus in the Second Coming. She who is in labor probably refers to Zion (4:10). The metaphor refers to the deliverance in the end time of those who will be able to delight in the coming of God's kingdom (4:9–5:1). the remnant: This minority will never be forgotten by the Lord.

5:5, 6 And this One shall be peace: Isaiah 9:6 refers to this One as the Prince of Peace. When the Assyrian comes: The principal threat against Israel and Judah at the time of Micah was Assyria. Micah used the nation as a symbol of all of Israel's enemies and of God's final victory over each of them. Seven shepherds and eight princely men: These are in contrast to the wicked rulers that Micah condemned in ch. 3.

5:7–9 This section concerns God's blessing on the remnant of Jacob. The wickedness of the people would bring about God's judgment, but He would not cast them off completely. In the midst of many peoples describes the spread of the Jewish people throughout the earth in the time of God's judgment. Twin images are used to describe the effect of the Jewish people on the nations in which they lived. Verse 7 describes the Jewish people as dew and showers—that is, blessings from God on their neighbors. Verse 8 describes the Jewish people as a lion—that is, a powerful force that eventually would triumph.

5:10 I will cut off: It was God's intention to destroy the evils in Israel's society. Horses and chariots represent the pride of Israel's military power. Israel's tendency was to rely on its own military power rather than on the Lord.

5:12 Sorcery and soothsaying had been strongly condemned by God (see Deut. 18:10).

5:13, 14 The second commandment had forbidden the use of carved images in Israel (see Ex. 20:4). Sacred pillars refers to phallic poles used in Canaanite sexual worship rites. Wooden images refers to the Asherah groves. Both of these items had been condemned strongly in the Law (see Deut. 16:21, 22).

6:1, 2 God (the Judge) calls for the people (the defendants) to plead their case. The mountains and hills were among the witnesses to the covenant that God made with His people (see Deut. 4:26; 32:1; Is. 1:2). He will contend: If the people were silent before the mountains, the Lord Himself would speak against their sin.

Word Studies

complaint

(Heb. rib) (6:2; Judg. 12:2; Prov. 17:14; 18:6; Jer. 11:20) Strong's #7379

This word can mean “dispute” or “quarrel” in the sense of a feud (Judg. 12:2), “controversy” or “strife” (Prov. 17:14; 18:6) prompted by a rebellious spirit (Num. 20:13; Prov. 17:14; 18:6), or even a “legal case” or “lawsuit” (Job 31:13, 35; Jer. 11:20). The prophets frequently used this word as a technical, legal term in contexts pertaining to the Lord’s covenant relationship with Israel (Jer. 25:31; Hos. 4:1; 12:2). In this chapter, Micah was informing Judah that God had registered a formal, legal complaint against His people. He was ordering them to stand trial for violating covenant stipulations forbidding idolatry and requiring social justice (6:2–16).

Go to the List of Word Studies

6:3 what have I done: The Lord was entirely innocent of misbehavior against His people (see Jer. 2:5).

6:4, 5 The Lord summarized His great mercies to Israel, including His saving works in bringing the people from Egypt in the Exodus and His deliverance of Israel from the evils that Balak and Balaam had planned (see Num. 22–24).

6:6, 7 Come before means “to make an approach in true worship” (see Ps. 15). burnt offerings . . . calves a year old: These were among the divinely prescribed sacrifices of true biblical worship (see Lev. 1:3; 9:3). The words of v. 7 go far beyond any demand of the Law, and even go against the Law in the suggestion that God may not be satisfied except by an offering of one’s own child. Micah uses hyperbole (deliberate exaggeration) to emphasize the necessity of a right attitude in the true worship of God. be pleased: The idea of bringing pleasure to God through sacrifice is found elsewhere in the Bible. God is pleased with those who do as He commands (see Gen. 4:1–8).

6:8 This verse speaks of the underlying attitudes that must accompany all true worship. what does the LORD require of you: The idea here is that God seeks certain characteristics of true worship from His people. do justly . . . love mercy . . . walk humbly: These phrases summarize biblical piety in true worship. The majority of the people of Israel had violated each of these standards repeatedly. The rulers did not know justice (3:1), had no interest in mercy (3:2, 3), and demonstrated no humility (3:11). with your God: It is the Lord who ultimately gives a person strength, courage, and ability to exercise the virtues of godly living.

6:9 The rod is a messianic image. It is possible that this verse is based on Ps. 2 (see Ps. 2:9, 11, 12).

6:10–12 The people of Judah were abusing others with false measures, with violence, and with lies. Such practices were far removed from the description of true worship in v. 8. This is the divine vindication of the Lord’s determination to bring judgment on Jerusalem, despite the fact that His holy temple was there (3:11, 12). The worship that was being offered, although it followed the form of the Law, did not come from true biblical attitudes and practices of piety.

6:16 The spiritual history of the northern kingdom reached its lowest point under the rules of Omri and Ahab. Whereas Jeroboam I had combined the worship of God with the nature and sexual worship rites of Baal (see 1 Kin. 12:25–33), Ahab and his wife Jezebel (in a marriage arranged by

- Omri) brought about the state worship of Baal and Asherah (see 1 Kin. 16:21–34). For these reasons, and despite the presence of the temple, God was about to bring utter shame on His people.
- 7:1, 2 Micah was moved by the oracles of judgment that God delivered through him (1:8). no cluster: For Micah, the harvest was over. There was nothing around him but undesirable fruit. The faithful man has perished: The norms of society had broken down; everyone was out to destroy someone else.
- 7:3, 4 with both hands: The people were pursuing evil with gusto. The leaders of the state were leading the way in evil (3:11). The day of your watchman refers to a time when people needed to be alert for the approach of an enemy army. In this context, judgment was imminent.
- 7:7 Therefore I will look: These words are a pun on the words of v. 4. While there would need to be a watchman for the coming of an enemy army, Micah was going to be a watchman for the advent of the LORD.
- 7:8, 9 The speaker in these verses is the nation Israel after it comes to repentance. I have sinned is the confession of the people in saving faith. He pleads my case: Here the Lord is speaking on behalf of the people (compare ch. 6). As God had delivered Israel in the past because of His righteousness, so He would deliver a repentant Israel in the future.
- 7:10 The people of Israel knew that they would suffer indignities at the hands of their enemies in the period of divine judgment. However, God's judgment of His people was designed to bring about their repentance.
- 7:11, 12 In the day: These words call attention to a future day, the time of the end. You here is Zion (Jerusalem). This is a prophecy of the return of the remnant (2:12, 13; 4:1–4, 6–8; 5:3, 7, 8). The River is the Euphrates. The idea of these verses is a universal regathering of God's people in His land (see Deut. 30:1–6).
- 7:14, 15 Micah prayed that God the Shepherd would care for His flock. Micah requested that the greatest wonders of the relationship between God and His people at the time of the Exodus would be realized anew.
- 7:16, 17 The response of the wicked nations to the renewed mercies of God on His people would be terror. The nations would be humiliated because they had taunted Israel in the day of its trouble (vv. 8–10).
- 7:18 Who is a God like You: These words speak of the incomparability of God. There is nothing in all of creation to compare with God (see Is. 40:25). Pardoning iniquity: These words come from the revelation of God to Moses in Ex. 34:6–9.

compassion

(Heb. racham) (7:19; Ex. 33:19; Prov. 28:13) Strong's #7355

The Hebrew word translated here as compassion means “to love from the womb” and is frequently translated mercy (Is. 14:1). The noun form of this verb means “womb,” and consequently this verb depicts the tender love of a mother for her own helpless child (1 Kin. 3:26). “From the womb” speaks of the depth of emotion associated with this expression of love. God loves His people with a deep compassion and love that is almost beyond description. God used a form of this Hebrew word to reveal His character and name to Moses: “And the LORD passed before him and proclaimed, ‘The LORD, the LORD God, merciful and gracious, longsuffering, and abounding in goodness and truth’ ” (see Ex. 34:6).

7:20 This last verse is reminiscent of God's promise to Abraham in Gen. 12; 15; 22 and His promises to Jacob in Gen. 32. The Lord had sworn to fulfill His promises to the patriarchs. He would not—He could not—leave His promise unfulfilled (see Ps. 89:33).

Introduction

This is the second of two books of the minor prophets that centers on Nineveh, the capital city of Assyria. In the Book of Jonah, written in the eighth century B.C., we behold a man of God who was called to preach to Nineveh. He was one of the few prophets who despaired when his listeners heeded his warning. The people of Nineveh repented, and God demonstrated His great compassion by not judging the city. In the Book of Nahum, written in the seventh century B.C., we find another prophet called by God to preach to Nineveh. Evil again reigned in the capital. Tragically, the people of Nineveh this time ignored Nahum's warning.

Author and Date Nahum, the author of this book, is not known apart from the three chapters of this prophecy. Even the location of the place of his birth, Elkosh (1:1), is in doubt. However, since Nahum wrote considerably after the destruction of Israel in 722 B.C., we may assume that Elkosh was in Judah.

The fall of Thebes in 663 B.C. (3:8) determines the limit for the earliest date of the book. The fall of Nineveh, which the book predicts, took place in 612 B.C., not long before the final destruction of the Assyrian Empire in 609 B.C. This means the Book of Nahum was composed sometime before 612 B.C. perhaps under the reform of Josiah in 622 B.C.

Historical Context The people of the northern kingdom of Israel had been sinning grievously against God and ignoring the warnings of punishment given through God's prophets. Finally God used the nation of Assyria, with its capital city in Nineveh, to destroy the nation and carry the people into captivity. A century after the fall of Samaria in 722 B.C., the Book of Nahum was written to express a major truth of the prophets. Even when God uses a nation for His own purposes of judgment, this does not excuse that nation from its own guilt before the Lord. It was Nineveh's turn to feel the wrath of God. The last great emperor of Assyria was Ashurbanipal (669–627 B.C.). After his death, the nation did not last much longer, for the Lord was against it (2:13; 3:3).

Theology How does the mood of the Book of Nahum accord with the sentiment of the Sermon on the Mount? Although the Lord Jesus certainly spoke of loving one's enemies (see Matt. 5:43–48), He strongly warned of the inevitability of judgment (see Matt. 5:21, 29, 30; 7:13, 23). He said that "all who take the sword will perish by the sword" (see Matt. 26:52). If ever the words of Jesus concerning the sure destruction of those who live by violence had a direct application, it was to Nineveh. In the conquest of the ancient world, the Assyrians were merciless and cruel. Their atrocities included everything from burning children to death to chopping off hands. In many ways, the Book of Nahum is a theology of the maxim of the sword. Nineveh had an international reputation for bloodthirsty acts of repression, destruction, and wantonness. God could not be good if He failed to call such an evil nation to account. The theology of the Book of Nahum is a theology of the goodness of God in bringing about the final destruction of those who oppose His will and abuse His people.

Nineveh was not only a city in the ancient world that received the promised judgment of God, it is also a prototype for the coming judgment of God on all workers of wickedness. Those who know that the Lord is good may rejoice in the fact that He avenges aggressive acts against His people (1:7, 8).

The seriousness of coming judgment is never a call for complacency among God's people. Implicit in any announcement of doom is a call for holy living on the part of God's people and an urgent call for them to bring the message of salvation to those who, apart from salvation, will experience the wrath of God. Judgment is God's "unusual act" (see Is. 28:21), but it ultimately arises out of the goodness and justice of God.

Christ in the Scriptures

Nahum himself is a type of Christ. His name means “comfort,” yet this one called a comforter does not offer soft love. Nahum, like Jesus, expects responsible action on the part of those who are loved by God. Such action is a way to prove that they acknowledge His love.

Because Nahum’s name means “comfort,” it is legitimate to say he pictures the Holy Spirit’s subsequent ministry of instruction and comfort that Jesus promised His followers. Jesus promised that the Holy Spirit “will teach you all things, and bring to your remembrance all things that I said to you” (John 14:26). But sadly, similar to the rejection Jesus faced at the hand of the scribes and Pharisees, the Ninevites do not act on what Nahum teaches them.

Nahum 2

The Destruction of Nineveh

¹He¹ who scatters has come up before your face.

Man the fort!

Watch the road!

Strengthen your flanks!

Fortify your power mightily.

²For the LORD will restore the excellence of Jacob Like the excellence of Israel,

For the emptiers have emptied them out

And ruined their vine branches.

³The shields of his mighty men are made red, The valiant men are in scarlet.

The chariots come with flaming torches

In the day of his preparation,

And ²the spears are brandished.

⁴The chariots rage in the streets, They jostle one another in the broad roads;

They seem like torches,

They run like lightning.

⁵He remembers his nobles; They stumble in their walk;

They make haste to her walls,

And the defense is prepared.

⁶The gates of the rivers are opened, And the palace is dissolved.

⁷³It is decreed: She shall be led away captive,

She shall be brought up;

And her maidservants shall lead her as with the voice of doves, Beating their breasts.

⁸Though Nineveh of old was like a pool of water, Now they flee away.

⁴“Halt! Halt!” they cry;

But no one turns back.

⁹⁵Take spoil of silver!

Take spoil of ^agold!
There is no end of treasure,
Or wealth of every desirable prize.
¹⁰She is empty, desolate, and waste!
The heart melts, and the knees shake;
Much pain is in every side,
And all their faces ⁶are drained of color.

¹¹Where is the dwelling of the ^blions, And the feeding place of the young lions,
Where the lion walked, the lioness and lion's cub, And no one made them afraid?

¹²The lion tore in pieces enough for his cubs, ⁷Killed for his lionesses, ^cFilled his caves with prey, And his dens with ⁸flesh.

¹³"Behold, ^dI am against you," says the LORD of hosts, "I will burn ⁹your chariots in smoke, and the sword shall devour your young lions; I will cut off your prey from the earth, and the voice of your ^emessengers shall be heard no more."

Nahum 3

The Woe of Nineveh

- ¹Woe to the ^abloody city!
It is all full of lies and robbery.
Its ¹victim never departs.
- ²The noise of a whip And the noise of rattling wheels,
Of galloping horses,
Of ²clattering chariots!
- ³Horsemen charge with bright sword and glittering spear.
There is a multitude of slain,
A great number of bodies,
Countless corpses—
They stumble over the corpses—
- ⁴Because of the multitude of ³harlotries of the ⁴seductive harlot, ^bThe mistress of sorceries, Who sells nations through her harlotries,
And families through her sorceries.
- ⁵“Behold, I am ^cagainst you,” says the LORD of hosts; ^d“I will lift your skirts over your face, I will show the nations your nakedness,
And the kingdoms your shame.
- ⁶I will cast abominable filth upon you, Make you ^evile, ⁵
And make you ^fa spectacle.
- ⁷It shall come to pass that all who look upon you ^gWill flee from you, and say, ^h“Nineveh is laid waste!
ⁱWho will bemoan her?’
Where shall I seek comforters for you?”
- ^{8j}Are you better than ^kNo⁶ Amon That was situated by the ⁷River, That had the waters around her,
Whose rampart was the sea,
Whose wall was the sea?
- ⁹Ethiopia and Egypt were her strength, And it was boundless;
^lPut and Lubim were ⁸your helpers.
- ¹⁰Yet she was carried away, She went into captivity;
^mHer young children also were dashed to pieces ⁿAt the head of every street; They ^ocast lots for her honorable men,

And all her great men were bound in chains.

¹¹You also will be ^pdrunk; You will be hidden;
You also will seek refuge from the enemy.

¹²All your strongholds are ^qfig trees with ripened figs: If they are shaken,
They fall into the mouth of the eater.

¹³Surely, ^ryour people in your midst are women!
The gates of your land are wide open for your enemies;
Fire shall devour the ^sbars of your gates.

¹⁴Draw your water for the siege!

^tFortify your strongholds!

Go into the clay and tread the mortar!

Make strong the brick kiln!

¹⁵There the fire will devour you, The sword will cut you off;
It will eat you up like a ^ulocust.

Make yourself many—like the locust!

Make yourself many—like the swarming locusts!

¹⁶You have multiplied your ^vmerchants more than the stars of heaven.

The locust plunders and flies away.

^{17w}Your commanders are like swarming locusts, And your generals like great grasshoppers,
Which camp in the hedges on a cold day;
When the sun rises they flee away,
And the place where they are is not known.

^{18x}Your shepherds slumber, O ^yking of Assyria; Your nobles rest in the dust.

Your people are ^zscattered on the mountains, And no one gathers them.

¹⁹Your injury has no healing, ^aYour wound is severe.

^bAll who hear news of you Will clap their hands over you,
For upon whom has not your wickedness passed continually?

Annotations for Nahum

1:1 Most of the biblical prophets directed their judgment oracles against the sinning peoples of Israel and Judah. Nahum, however, brought the word of God's judgment against Nineveh. The term burden was sometimes used by the prophets (see Hab. 1:1; Mal. 1:1) to describe the "heaviness" of their message of judgment.

1:2 avenges . . . furious: The repetition of words and the use of parallel terms are typical devices in Hebrew poetry for intensifying and sharpening the poet's message.

Word Studies

jealous

(Heb. qanno') (1:2; Josh. 24:19) Strong's #7072

This Hebrew term is related to a root word that can mean “to be eager, zealous for” (1 Kin. 19:10, 14), or even “to be furious” (Zech. 8:2). One of God’s names is Jealous (Ex. 34:14). When the expression “the LORD your God is a jealous God” is used in the OT, it is usually associated with an injunction against idol worship (Ex. 20:5; Deut. 4:24; 5:9; 6:15). God’s jealousy for His people is a claim for exclusive allegiance rooted in His holiness (Josh. 24:19) and His role as their Creator and Redeemer (Ps. 95:6, 7; 96:2–5). We tend to associate jealousy with a self-serving emotion that usually results from feelings of inadequacy. God’s jealousy, in contrast, proceeds from His holiness. Because He alone is the Holy One (see Is. 6:3; 40:25), He will tolerate no rival (Ex. 20:5).

- 1:3 Slow to anger indicates the patience of the Lord (see Ex. 34:6, 7). However, God’s patience is not a reason to disbelieve His final judgment (see Ps. 10). whirlwind . . . storm . . . clouds: The peoples of the ancient Middle East worshiped nature gods, particularly deities associated with storms, clouds, and rainfall. In Canaan, this fixation on storms was centered in the worship of Baal and his consorts Anat and Asherah. The Scriptures testify that there are no gods but the Lord; it is He who rules and is above all creation.
- 1:4 sea . . . rivers: The Lord’s control extends to all bodies of water and to places of lush vegetation—including Bashan, Carmel, and Lebanon.
- 1:5, 6 quake . . . melt . . . heavens: The people of God had experienced such demonstrations of God’s presence at the foot of Mt. Sinai when the Lord descended with His law (see Ex. 19). indignation . . . anger . . . fury: Grouping these three terms causes the force of the words to be felt more deeply. In other words, God’s anger burned intensely against the sinful people of Nineveh.
- 1:7 The LORD is good: For the righteous, this is the best news of all. Because we know that the Lord is good, we can endure the tribulations of life.
- 1:8 flood . . . end . . . darkness: The judgment of the Lord will be inescapable. The word flood is both a poetic term for overwhelming devastation and a specific reference to the actual manner of Nineveh’s fall. It is believed that the invaders of Nineveh entered the city through its flooded waterways (2:6).
- 1:9, 10 What do you conspire against the LORD: Who is wise enough, experienced enough, and strong enough to fight the power of God? No one, of course. At their very best, the enemies of God will be comic figures. Their best plans will be merely a tangle of thorns; their finest moves will be only the sloppy walk of drunkards.
- 1:11 Wicked is one of the harshest terms in biblical language, nearly a curse word. The term speaks of someone who is utterly worthless.
- 1:12, 13 Thus says the LORD: Here is an oracle of deliverance from God to His people. The present sense of safety and power that the enemy felt would not last; the past judgments of God on His nation would not continue. The Lord promised to break off the yoke that the enemy had placed on His people (see Is. 9:4).

- 1:14 Here God spoke to His people's enemy—the nation of Assyria typified by its capital city Nineveh (v. 1). In destroying the nation's name, God would remove its power. Further, the Lord swore to destroy their false religious system, with its pagan temples, idols, and disgusting practices. You are vile: The only thing to be done with Nineveh was to dig a grave and bury it. This prophecy came true literally—the city was destroyed so completely that its very existence was questioned until its discovery by archaeologists in the nineteenth century (3:13–15).
- 1:15 Behold . . . The feet: The image is that of a herald of peace (see Is. 52:7). O Judah: With the promise of future deliverance from oppression, the prophet called for the people to live in righteousness and expectation. There is nothing better for the people of God in any age than to live in obedience to Him and in anticipation of His coming deliverance.
- 2:1 Man the fort: These were sarcastic words to the people of Nineveh and its leaders, as if they would be able to protect themselves against the wrath of the Lord.
- 2:2 the LORD will restore: The wrath of God against the enemies of His people means that one day the enemies will be destroyed and the people of God will be restored. Excellence means “majesty,” “beauty,” or “wonder” (see Is. 4:2). The ruin of Israel would not last forever.
- 2:3–13 This passage presents a description of the siege of Nineveh. The fall of Nineveh predicted by Nahum took place only a few years after this prophecy—in 612 B.C., followed by the final destruction of the Assyrian Empire in 609 B.C.
- 2:3 red . . . scarlet . . . flaming torches: These images speak of blood, violence, and warfare. Isaiah refers to the custom the Assyrians had of rolling their outer garments in blood before a battle (see Is. 9:5) to strike terror in the hearts of their opponents. Here the tables would be turned. While others would have shields, chariots, and spears, the people of Nineveh would be bathed in blood—their own blood.
- 2:4 The chariots rage: The Assyrians used chariots as formidable war machines. The proficiency of the chariot drivers underlies the imagery of this verse. But as in the case of the shields and spears of v. 3, the chariots of Nineveh would not prevail no matter how fast they drove.
- 2:5 stumble: The people within the city would be so stunned to be under attack that they would appear helpless in their actions. Nobles may be used with sarcasm here; these people do not seem very impressive.
- 2:6 gates of the rivers: The destruction of Nineveh is believed to have taken place when the besiegers entered the city through its flooded waterways. The attack came at flood time, when rivers undermined the walls and defenses of the city. Archaeologists have found evidence of flood debris that may be associated with the destruction of the city. Thus the words of Nahum were fulfilled exactly.
- 2:7, 8 She shall be led away: The nation that had made so much of taking captives would be made a captive by others. Halt! Halt!: No one would listen to their shouts of panic.
- 2:9, 10 spoil: Assyria had despoiled many nations, including Samaria and the cities of Israel. There seemed to be no end to the loot that could be found within its walls. Nonetheless, even Nineveh was exhausted of its treasures. At long last, it was empty.
- 2:11, 12 Nineveh was the city of lions (v. 13). Yet despite all the horrors that the lion of Nineveh had brought to other nations, it would no longer need to be feared by anyone.
- 2:13 Although the Babylonians conquered the city, they were only God's instruments. Nineveh's greatest foe was the LORD of hosts Himself.
- 3:1–19 Chapter three of Nahum is a woe oracle explaining the reasons for the siege and destruction of Nineveh.
- 3:1 the bloody city: Nineveh was known throughout the Middle East as a city that excelled in violence and bloodshed.
- 3:2, 3 Horses and chariots were instruments of war. Verse 3 describes the horrors of the nation's war machine, which resulted in countless corpses.

3:4 Harlotries refers to paganism. Any worship of gods other than the God of Scripture is an act of spiritual prostitution. Nineveh was so adept at pagan practices that the city earned the descriptive title, the mistress of sorceries.

3:5 I am against you: This repetition of this phrase from 2:13 is more chilling each time it is heard. Who could survive the Lord's opposition? lift your skirts: The Lord would publicly humiliate Nineveh.

3:6, 7 The Lord described the fate of Nineveh as comparable to a person on whom unspeakable filth was cast. When Nineveh lay in ruins, no one would bemoan her. The nations would be glad that the city was gone.

3:8 No Amon . . . the River: The destruction of the city of Thebes near the Nile River in 663 B.C. was going to be a template for the destruction of Nineveh. No Amon is the Hebrew name for Thebes, derived from the Egyptian name meaning "City of [the god] Amon." The argument seems to suggest that before its destruction, no one would have even dreamed of the fall of Thebes. But the destruction had happened—not long before the writing of the Book of Nahum. The city of Thebes was rebuilt only to be destroyed later during the Roman period (29 B.C.). Nineveh, however, would never be rebuilt.

3:9, 10 The city of No Amon had many powerful allies, but they were not sufficient to protect her in her hour of need. Who would ally with Nineveh to fight off the Lord's attack?

3:11 drunk . . . hidden . . . seek refuge: Nineveh would be like a helpless drunk hoping for refuge but finding nowhere to turn for it.

3:12 Nahum satirically describes the strongholds of Nineveh as being so easily defeated that they would be like fruit trees that drop their figs into waiting mouths.

3:14, 15 Nahum taunted Nineveh by telling the people to prepare for their siege. The actual siege of Nineveh continued over two years.

3:16, 17 Despite the great economic and military strength of Nineveh, there was nothing lasting in the city's power. When the sun rises: The people of Nineveh would be like nocturnal insects that disappear at daylight.

3:18 Your shepherds slumber: When the shepherds are not alert, the sheep cannot be saved from danger.

3:19 All who hear: Every nation and people that had suffered under the abusive power of Nineveh would shout and clap upon hearing of the city's destruction. There would be no mourning for Nineveh.

Introduction

“O Lord, how long shall I cry, and You will not hear?” (1:2). Habakkuk was unique among the prophets in that he asked questions of God. Most prophets were filled with messages: “Hear the word of the Lord.” Even if everyone doubted the Lord’s word, the prophet would still believe. And if the prophet did have any misgivings, he kept them to himself.

But again, Habakkuk was different. To raise these questions was—for our sake—part of his message. His questions were, “Why does evil in Judah go unpunished?” “How can a just God use a wicked nation like Babylon to punish His chosen people?” Habakkuk wanted to know, just as we do, what God was doing and why. There seemed to be too much evil among the “righteous” and too much freewheeling power among the wicked.

God did not strike Habakkuk down for these questions. He answered. The Lord Himself will establish His kingdom. He will hold all people and nations accountable. The present may be filled with wickedness and chaos, but the future belongs to the righteous—the truly righteous. God will bring in His kingdom, give rest and salvation to His children, and judge His people’s adversaries.

Author and Date We know very little about the prophet Habakkuk. The reference to music (see 3:1, 19; 1 Chr. 25:1–8) may mean that he was a Levite associated with the temple singers. The designation the prophet is an official title, showing that others recognized him as a prophet of the Lord. His name Habakkuk appears twice in the book (1:1; 3:1). Some scholars have associated the name with the Hebrew word for embraced. Thus his name may mean “Embraced by God.”

Habakkuk prophesied during the fall of Nineveh in 612 B.C. and the rise of Babylon as the Neo-Babylonian Empire. By 605 B.C., Assyria and Egypt had been defeated by Babylon at Carchemish. Judah’s days were numbered, and Babylon’s power was rapidly expanding. In addition, the death of King Josiah in 609 B.C. brought an end to an era of religious reform in Judah. It seemed that the wicked were prevailing both inside and outside Judah. Habakkuk cried out against the violence, lawlessness, and injustice he saw all around him.

Structure The Book of Habakkuk contains two prophetic laments (1:2–4, 12–17) in which Habakkuk questions God’s righteousness. The Lord responds by explaining His plans to judge (1:5–11; 2:1–4). This is followed by five woes that taunt those who have committed evil with their certain doom (2:6–20), as if to say, “Don’t worry, Habakkuk—God is righteous; He will judge.” The book ends with the prophet’s prayer of praise and his acknowledgment of God’s sovereignty over all outcomes.

Theology Nations are given to greed, power, idolatry, and to immorality. People treat one another in an inhumane fashion. Often it seems as if power and success come to those who break God’s laws and reject His legitimate claims on creation. Yet according to Habakkuk, the Lord remains sovereign; He sits in His holy temple watching the earth. He will eventually judge each person for his or her life (2:20). While people may be seduced into wickedness by the allure of power and success (2:6–20), a glorious future awaits those who submit to God (2:4). Habakkuk’s prophetic vision (2:2) and prayer (3:1) provide a proper perspective for viewing the injustices of this world. The Almighty is in control. He will establish His righteous kingdom in the end. In that day, all wrongs will be made right: The wicked will be judged for their sinfulness, and the righteous will be saved. Believers look forward to this day with great joy (3:18, 19).

Christ in the Scriptures

But Habakkuk's name is also appropriate because he calls attention to the salvation by which God embraces those who "live by faith." The word "salvation" appears three times in reference to his prediction of the Anointed One. "You went forth for the salvation of Your people, for salvation with Your Anointed. . . . I will joy in the God of my salvation" (3:13, 18).

Interestingly enough, that Hebrew word for "salvation" is the root word from which the name "Jesus" comes (Matt. 1:21). Whether the prophet sees the full extent to which Jesus will accomplish the world's salvation is uncertain. But he definitely sees an artist's rendering of the reign of Christ. He writes, "The earth will be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the LORD, as the waters cover the sea" (2:14).

Habakkuk 1

¹The ¹burden which the prophet Habakkuk saw.

The Prophet's Question

²O LORD, how long shall I cry, ^aAnd You will not hear?

Even cry out to You, ^b“Violence!”

And You will ^cnot save.

³Why do You show me iniquity, And cause me to see ²trouble?

For plundering and violence are before me;

There is strife, and contention arises.

⁴Therefore the law is powerless, And justice never goes forth.
For the ^dwicked surround the righteous; Therefore perverse judgment proceeds.

The LORD's Reply

⁵“Look^e among the nations and watch— Be utterly astounded!

For I will work a work in your days

Which you would not believe, though it were told you.

⁶For indeed I am ^fraising up the Chaldeans, A bitter and hasty ^gnation Which marches through the breadth of the earth,

To possess dwelling places that are not theirs.

⁷They are terrible and dreadful; Their judgment and their dignity proceed from themselves.

⁸Their horses also are ^hswifter than leopards, And more fierce than evening wolves.

Their ³chargers ⁴charge ahead; Their cavalry comes from afar;
They fly as the ⁱeagle that hastens to eat.

⁹“They all come for violence; Their faces are set like the east wind.

They gather captives like sand.

¹⁰They scoff at kings, And princes are scorned by them.

They deride every stronghold,
For they heap up earthen mounds and seize it.
¹¹Then his ⁵mind changes, and he transgresses; He commits offense,
^j*Ascribing* this power to his god.”

The Prophet's Second Question

¹²Are You not ^kfrom everlasting, O LORD my God, my Holy One?

We shall not die.

O LORD, ¹You have appointed them for judgment; O Rock,
You have marked them for ^mcorrection.

¹³*You are* of purer eyes than to behold evil, And cannot look on wickedness.

Why do You look on those who deal treacherously,
And hold Your tongue when the wicked devours
A person more righteous than he?

¹⁴*Why* do You make men like fish of the sea, Like creeping things that have no ruler over them?

¹⁵They take up all of them with a hook, They catch them in their net,

And gather them in their dragnet.

Therefore they rejoice and are glad.

¹⁶Therefore ⁿthey sacrifice to their net, And burn incense to their dragnet;

Because by them their share is ⁶sumptuous And their food plentiful.

¹⁷Shall they therefore empty their net, And continue to slay nations without pity?

Habakkuk 2

¹I will ^astand my watch And set myself on the rampart,
And watch to see what He will say to me,
And what I will answer when I am corrected.

The Just Live by Faith

²Then the LORD answered me and said:

^b“Write the vision And make it plain on tablets,
That he may run who reads it.

³For ^cthe vision is yet for an appointed time; But at the end it will speak, and it will ^dnot lie.

Though it tarries, ^ewait for it; Because it will ^fsurely come, It will not tarry.

⁴“Behold the proud, His soul is not upright in him;
But the ^gjust shall live by his faith.

Woe to the Wicked

⁵“Indeed, because he transgresses by wine, He is a proud man,
And he does not stay at home.
Because he ^henlarges his desire as ¹hell, And he is like death,
and cannot be satisfied,
He gathers to himself all nations
And heaps up for himself all peoples.

⁶“Will not all these ⁱtake up a proverb against him, And a taunting riddle against him, and say,
‘Woe to him who increases
What is not his—how long?
And to him who loads himself with ²many pledges’?
⁷Will not ³your creditors rise up suddenly?
Will they not awaken who oppress you?
And you will become their booty.

⁸ⁱBecause you have plundered many nations, All the remnant of the people shall plunder you,
Because of men’s ⁴blood And the violence of the land and the city,
And of all who dwell in it.

⁹“Woe to him who covets evil gain for his house, That he may ^kset his nest on high, That he may be delivered from the ⁵power of disaster!

¹⁰You give shameful counsel to your house, Cutting off many peoples,
And sin against your soul.

¹¹For the stone will cry out from the wall, And the beam from the timbers will answer it.

¹²“Woe to him who builds a town with bloodshed, Who establishes a city by iniquity!

¹³Behold, is it not of the LORD of hosts That the peoples labor ⁶to feed the fire, And nations weary themselves in vain?

¹⁴For the earth will be filled With the knowledge of the glory of the LORD, As the waters cover the sea.

¹⁵“Woe to him who gives drink to his neighbor, ⁷Pressing him to your ¹bottle, Even to make him drunk,
That you may look on ⁸his nakedness!

¹⁶You are filled with shame instead of glory.

You also—drink!

And ⁹be exposed as uncircumcised!

The cup of the LORD’s right hand will be turned against you,
And utter shame will be on your glory.

¹⁷For the violence done to Lebanon will cover you, And the plunder of beasts which made them afraid,

Because of men’s blood

And the violence of the land and the city,

And of all who dwell in it.

¹⁸“What profit is the image, that its maker should carve it,
The molded image, a teacher of lies,
That the maker of its mold should trust in it,
To make mute idols? Word Studies: image

¹⁹Woe to him who says to wood, ‘Awake!’

To silent stone, ‘Arise! It shall teach!’

Behold, it is overlaid with gold and silver,

Yet in it there is no breath at all.

²⁰“But^m the LORD is in His holy temple.
Let all the earth keep silence before Him.”

Habakkuk 3

The Prophet's Prayer

¹A prayer of Habakkuk the prophet, on ¹Shigionoth.

²O LORD, I have heard Your speech and was afraid; O
LORD, revive Your work in the midst of the years!
In the midst of the years make it known;
In wrath remember mercy.

³God came from Teman, The Holy One from Mount Paran.
Selah His glory covered the heavens,
And the earth was full of His praise.

⁴His brightness was like the light; He had rays flashing from His hand,
And there His power was hidden.

⁵Before Him went pestilence, And fever followed at His feet.

⁶He stood and measured the earth; He looked and startled the nations.

^aAnd the everlasting mountains were scattered, The perpetual hills bowed.

His ways are everlasting.

⁷I saw the tents of Cushan in affliction; The curtains of the land of Midian trembled.

⁸O LORD, were You displeased with the rivers, Was Your anger against the rivers,
Was Your wrath against the sea,
That You rode on Your horses,
Your chariots of salvation?

⁹Your bow was made quite ready; Oaths were sworn over
Your ²arrows. Selah You divided the earth with rivers.

¹⁰The mountains saw You and trembled; The overflowing of the water passed by.

The deep uttered its voice,
And ^blifted its hands on high.

¹¹The ^csun and moon stood still in their habitation; At the light of Your arrows they went,
At the shining of Your glittering spear.

¹²You marched through the land in indignation; You
³trampled the nations in anger.

¹³You went forth for the salvation of Your people, For salvation with Your Anointed.

You struck the head from the house of the wicked,
By laying bare from foundation to neck. Selah

¹⁴You thrust through with his own arrows The head of his villages.

They came out like a whirlwind to scatter me;
Their rejoicing was like feasting on the poor in secret.

^{15d}You walked through the sea with Your horses, Through the heap of great waters.

¹⁶When I heard, ^emy body trembled; My lips quivered at the voice;

Rottenness entered my bones;
And I trembled in myself,
That I might rest in the day of trouble.
When he comes up to the people,
He will invade them with his troops.

A Hymn of Faith

¹⁷Though the fig tree may not blossom, Nor fruit be on the vines;

Though the labor of the olive may fail,
And the fields yield no food;

Though the flock may be cut off from the fold,
And there be no herd in the stalls—

¹⁸Yet I will ^frejoice in the LORD, I will joy in the God of my salvation.

¹⁹⁴The LORD God is my strength; He will make my feet like ^gdeer's feet,

And He will make me ^hwalk on my high hills.

To the Chief Musician. With my stringed instruments.

Annotations for Habakkuk

- 1:1 A burden refers to a prophetic oracle, usually addressed to a foreign nation (see Is. 13:1).
- 1:2 Habakkuk spoke to God using His covenant name LORD (see Ex. 3:14, 15). how long: This question is phrased as a formal complaint (see Ps. 13:1, 2).
- 1:3 iniquity . . . trouble: The deterioration of society had become a cause of frustration and disappointment for the godly. plundering and violence: Abuse of power, acts of injustice, and oppressive deeds were common in Judah. strife . . . contention: The people of Judah argued with each other and were involved in destructive litigation.
- 1:4 the law is powerless: The revelation of God given at Mt. Sinai had little impact on the hearts of people whose lives were focused on material success. These people had little interest in living by God's definition of what is fair and humane. wicked: God's chosen people committed and tolerated heinous acts through corruption of the courts. righteous: There were always people who were faithful to the Lord, a righteous remnant. Here the godly were restricted in what they could say and do because of the evil that surrounded them. perverse judgment: The powerful people of Israel corrupted justice.
- 1:5 Look among the nations: The international scene during Habakkuk's lifetime was full of turmoil, with Assyria on the decline and Babylonia on the rise. work a work: The Hebrew words suggest that something ominous and impressive was about to occur.
- 1:6 I am raising up: God controls the nations for His own purposes (see Dan. 2:21), sometimes indirectly and at other times directly. Chaldeans is another word for Babylonians. bitter: The Babylonians were harsh and oppressive in their rule. hasty: Under Nebuchadnezzar, Babylon quickly had become the dominant power of the day.
- 1:7 terrible and dreadful: Far from being humane, the Babylonians prided themselves on their arrogant use of raw power. Their judgment and their dignity proceed from themselves: The Babylonian system of law and order had no regard for other legal systems.
- 1:8 The Babylonians' use of horses and chariots made them fearsome in the ancient world. fierce . . . wolves: The Babylonians were powerful and tyrannical. eagle: The Palestinian eagle is a bird of prey, a vulture. These images from the animal kingdom present a vivid picture of the ferocious nature of this world power.
- 1:9 Habakkuk had observed violence in Judah (v. 2), but Babylon relished violence. gather captives like sand: The Babylonians resettled numerous conquered peoples with little regard for them as individuals.
- 1:10 scoff . . . scorned: The Babylonians did not respect authorities and powers other than their own. deride every stronghold: The Babylonians mocked human systems of fortification, bursting through any defense they encountered.
- 1:12 Are You not . . . my Holy One: Habakkuk's point seems to be that God's holiness should have prohibited Him from using a "dirty" instrument like Babylon to accomplish His purposes in judging and reproving His own people.
- 1:13 purer eyes: Habakkuk wondered how God could look on as the wicked Babylonians perverted justice. A person more righteous than he: This was the ethical dilemma that faced Habakkuk: The Judeans were less corrupt and idolatrous than the Babylonians, who were being used to judge them for their sins.
- 1:14 Habakkuk's charges against the Lord became even more daring. The prophet charged the Lord with reducing humans to the level of fish or insects and with causing chaos among the nations.
- 1:16 they sacrifice to their net: This phrase speaks of the contemptuous pride of the Babylonians in their devices of destruction.
- 1:17 Habakkuk wanted to know how God could allow the brazen activity of the Babylonians to continue unabated. The prophet reasoned that God surely had a desire to punish the Babylonians for their pride.

- 2:1 my watch . . . on the rampart: Habakkuk stationed himself as a watchman to look at the nations, as God had commanded him (1:5). The prophet also waited expectantly for God's response to his three charges in 1:12–17. what He will say to me: Habakkuk's faith is seen in his anticipation of a response from God. when I am corrected: This phrase indicates the prophet's submission to God.
- 2:2 The command to write the revelation is unusual. Generally prophets spoke the word of the Lord first. The term vision here is related to the verb translated "saw" in 1:1. The noun speaks of a prophetic revelation (see Is. 1:1). he may run who reads it: Messengers would proclaim the divine oracle.
- 2:3 An appointed time speaks of a determined time in God's eyes. Though it tarries, wait for it: God knows His plan and the outworking of all things in accordance with His purposes. The godly are responsible to study and proclaim His revelation while awaiting its fulfillment. it will surely come: The assurance of fulfillment lies in God Himself. It will not tarry: The fulfillment of the vision would not take any longer than God had planned.
- 2:4 The proud refers to the Babylonians, who exalted themselves and boasted of their conquests and power. His soul is not upright in him: The Babylonians had no regard for God, His commandments, or His people. the just shall live by his faith: True righteousness before God is linked to genuine faith in God. A proud person relies on self, power, position, and accomplishment; a righteous person relies on the Lord.
- 2:5 proud man: This arrogant and boastful person is a personification of Babylon (v. 4). The term hell is used here as a personification of death which, like a greedy person, is never satisfied (see Prov. 30:15, 16). all nations . . . all peoples: These peoples of the earth should have been gathered together before the Lord in holy worship (see Ps. 117:1); instead, they became morsels for the rapacious appetite of Babylon.
- 2:6 A woe oracle is an oracle of judgment consisting of two parts: a declaration of the wrong and a notice of impending judgment. The judgment usually applies the principle of the law of retaliation: a wrong would come back to haunt the wrongdoer. increases . . . what is not his: The Law prohibited lending for the purpose of charging interest (see Deut. 23:19). pledges: The practice of pledging something as a guarantee for repayment was permitted under the Law, but with limitations to ensure the humane treatment of people (see Ex. 22:26, 27; Deut. 24:10–13).
- 2:7 The Hebrew term for creditors has the idea of "those who bite," suggesting sudden, hurtful attacks (see Mic. 3:5).
- 2:9 evil gain: Gaining property through extortion and the abuse of power was strictly prohibited in the Law of Moses (see Deut. 16:19). his nest: As a bird builds a nest far away from people and wild animals, so the rich work hard at avoiding threats to their fortune.
- 2:11 the stone will cry out . . . the timbers will answer it: The whole structure of Israel's society called out for justice; every part reverberated with the need for righting wrongs.
- 2:12 Micah also spoke against the leaders of Judah, who were developing the city and kingdom at the expense of humane treatment of others, and of justice (see Mic. 3:10).
- 2:13 LORD of hosts speaks of God as the commander of the armies of the heavens (see Hag. 1:5).
- 2:14 God's future kingdom on earth will feature a reign of righteousness (see Is. 2:1–4; Mic. 4:1–5). All humanity on the renewed earth will know the Lord and live in accordance with His will. The structures of human systems, adequate as they are for the present, will fall under God's judgment because they encourage a spirit of independence from Him. knowledge: What Satan fraudulently promised in Gen. 3:5, God will deliver. The glory of the LORD speaks of the full manifestation of His person, significance, presence, and wonder. The true knowledge of God in the time of His kingdom on earth will be like the waters—all-embracing, inescapable, and fully enveloping.
- 2:16 Only God's kingdom is glorious. The glory of human kingdoms, such as Babylon, will be transformed into disgrace. be exposed: In their nakedness the Babylonians would expose themselves as being uncircumcised, not part of God's people nor recipients of His mercy. The cup of the LORD's right hand represents the wrath of God (see Is. 51:17, 22; Rev. 14:10; 16:19).

2:18 teacher of lies . . . trust in it: Idolatry begins with deception, encourages deception, and calls for a commitment to deception (see Is. 44:20).

(Heb. pesel) (2:18; Lev. 26:1; Deut. 5:8; 2 Kin. 21:7; Is. 42:17) Strong's #6459

This term is related to a verbal root meaning “to hew out stone” or “to cut or carve wood” (see Ex. 34:4). A pesel is an image or idol in the likeness of a human being or animal made from stone, wood, or metal. God prohibited the Hebrews from making such idols at Mt. Sinai (Ex. 20:4). God intended the lack of images among the Hebrews to be one distinguishing feature of their true religion. Tragically, Israel followed the example of their pagan neighbors and worshiped carved images (Judg. 18:30; 2 Chr. 33:7). The psalmist describes such images as worthless and those who worship them as shameful (Ps. 97:7). Both Isaiah (Is. 40:19, 20; 44:9–20) and Habakkuk (2:18, 19) mock those who would put their trust in images made with mere human hands. They have no capacity to see, hear, speak, or do anything for their devotees.

2:20 the LORD is in His holy temple: These words are not set in a context of worship of God by His people. The Lord is sovereign and holy. He looks at the nations and holds them accountable. keep silence before Him: The call to silence is not an invitation to worship, but a command to reflect on the terrible state of all who fall into the hands of the angry God (see Zeph. 1:7).

3:2 I have heard: Habakkuk knew the stories of God's mighty acts as celebrated in song and in the feasts and festivals of Israel. These mighty acts included the Exodus from Egypt, the miracles by the Red Sea, and the conquest of the land. Speech here signifies the message of God's great acts, rather than the communication process. afraid: As he meditated on God's work in human affairs, Habakkuk was overcome with an awe-inspiring sense of the greatness of the Lord. revive . . . make it known: Habakkuk prayed for God's renewed involvement in Israel. In the midst of the years: This was a way of calling for a quick response.

3:3 Teman is a poetic reference to God's appearance at Sinai (see Deut. 33:2). Selah is probably a musical term, but its exact meaning is unknown. It may indicate a sudden shouting of “Amen,” a moment of silence, or a musical chord.

3:4 Habakkuk compared the appearance of God at Sinai (v. 3) to a thunderstorm, with its darkness and flashing lights (see Ps. 18:9–14). His power was hidden: While God reveals evidence of His power, its totality and greatness remain hidden.

3:5 pestilence . . . fever: These plagues are personified as messengers of judgment (see Deut. 28:21, 22).

3:6 everlasting mountains . . . perpetual hills: The prophets often portrayed nature quaking, mountains shaking, and creation in turmoil at the coming of God (see Is. 24:1–3; Jer. 4:24–26; Mic. 1:3, 4; Nah. 1:5).

3:7 Cushan . . . Midian: These tribes are representative of the quaking nations.

3:8 rivers . . . sea: The Lord had divided the Red Sea and the Jordan River for His people to cross (see Ex. 14:26–15:5; Josh. 3:14–17). chariots of salvation: The appearance of the Lord was for the purpose of bringing deliverance to His people.

3:11 The sun and moon stood still: This is an allusion to the battle of Gibeon (see Josh. 10:12, 13). Habakkuk portrayed God as a Warrior armed with a bow, arrows, and a spear (see Ex. 15:3; Ps. 18:14; 77:17).

3:13 The Lord's acts of vengeance against the nations would comfort His people, because those acts would lead to Israel's salvation (see 2 Thess. 1:7). The people of God as a nation were anointed (see Ex. 19:6; Ps. 114:2). The house of the wicked is an allusion to Israel's redemption from Egypt.

3:16 Habakkuk was overcome with a sense of awe at God, as well as a sense of his own weakness. rest in the day of trouble: The prophet encouraged the godly not to be anxious in adversity.

3:19 The LORD God: Here the divine name Yahweh is tied to the term Adonai, which means "Lord." my strength: God will strengthen those who trust in Him (see Ps. 18:32, 39). He will give those who live by faith the same confidence that a surefooted deer has in climbing mountains (see Mal. 4:2). Like a victorious army, the righteous with God's strength will occupy the high hills.

Introduction

We have a word for people who predict terrible times ahead: doomsayer. It's an unflattering word, meant to poke fun at the bearers of bad news. We don't really want to believe their predictions of doom, so we caricature them. Maybe they will feel ashamed and go away. Sometimes it helps a little when the prophet of doom offers a solution. The unspoken question "Is there any hope?" is on everyone's mind.

Zephaniah's message had both halves of the bad-news-good-news equation. His first words were bad news indeed: The day of the Lord was coming and that meant terrible judgment. The Israelites had acted like their pagan neighbors—they had scorned God's law, worshiped false gods, and sinned without remorse long enough. Now it was time to repent: They had to turn back to their God or face the consequences.

It was the "turn back to God" part of Zephaniah's message that offered a ray of hope. And to those who listened and responded to his call, the good news wiped out every line of bad. God would restore those who sought Him.

History tells us that it worked. The Book of Zephaniah tells about events that took place in the city of Jerusalem in the late seventh century B.C., when Josiah was king. The northern kingdom Israel had been destroyed nearly a century earlier by the Assyrians. The southern kingdom Judah had suffered under the extraordinarily wicked rules of Manasseh (697–642 B.C.) and Amon (642–640 B.C.). The evils of their reigns had made doom appear certain. But the godly King Josiah led an important revival that affected all Judah. Scripture reports that this revival, though short-lived, delayed God's judgment, the invasion by Babylon (2 Chr. 34:27, 28).

Zephaniah's message announced the day of the Lord—a coming day of doom—in the darkest of terms, but it also promised the blessing of future glory in a picture as bright as the doom was dark.

Author and Date The prophet Zephaniah traced his ancestry back four generations to Hezekiah, most likely Judah's famous king. After the long and evil reign of Manasseh (697–642 B.C.) and his son Amon (642–640 B.C.), Josiah began his rule of Judah. Zephaniah began ministering as prophet in Jerusalem in the same year as the great prophet Jeremiah (627 B.C.). They and Hulda the prophetess (see 2 Chr. 34:14–28) witnessed the religious reform that Josiah started, a reform that unfortunately did not last. After Josiah's death, the people returned to their errant ways; less than 50 years later (around 586 B.C.), God used Babylon to discipline them.

Themes Many books of prophecy in the Bible speak of “the day of the Lord” (especially the Book of Joel). This day is a time of judgment that includes both God's people (Israel and Judah) and the surrounding nations. The prophet Zephaniah scolded Judah's leaders for countless acts of wickedness (3:1–7). His prophecies against the nations included Philistia (2:4–7), Moab and Ammon (2:8–11), Ethiopia (2:12), and Assyria (2:13–15). These nations were judged because of pride and arrogance against God's people and because of their continuing idolatry.

But the last section of Zephaniah's prophecy contains words of hope (3:8–20): promises of protection for the remnant and promises for the future of those who know Him truly. In a future day, peoples of all nations will come to worship the Lord (2:11; 3:9). His own people will be renewed in righteousness (3:11–13). And the King of kings Himself will rule in their midst (3:15; see Rev. 21:1–6). That day of the Lord's return will be a day of song and gladness. Even God will burst out in joyful singing (3:16, 17). The raging anger of the Lord (1:1, 2) will be replaced by His happy singing, for salvation will finally have come to His people.

Christ in the Scriptures

Jesus seized on Zephaniah's picture of the day of the Lord. On one occasion He referred to Zephaniah 1:3, when He spoke of His second coming and gathering "out of His kingdom all things that offend, and those who practice lawlessness" (Matt. 13:41). On another occasion, Jesus no doubt envisioned Zephaniah's description of "a day of wrath, a day of trouble and distress, a day of devastation and desolation, a day of darkness and gloominess, a day of clouds and thick darkness, a day of trumpet and alarm" (Zeph. 1:15, 16).

Although Zephaniah doesn't specifically name the Messiah as the subject of these scenarios, it is assumed. Who else could, as the prophet foretells, gather His people and reign in victory?

⁴I will cut off every trace of Baal from this place, The names of the ^cidolatrous⁵ priests with the pagan priests—

⁵Those ^dwho worship the host of heaven on the housetops; Those who worship and swear oaths by the LORD, But who also swear ^eby ⁶Milcom; ^{6f}Those who have turned back from following the LORD, And ^ghave not sought the LORD, nor inquired of Him.”

^{7h}Be silent in the presence of the Lord GOD; ⁱFor the day of the LORD is at hand, For ^jthe LORD has prepared a sacrifice; He has ⁷invited His guests.

⁸“And it shall be, In the day of the LORD’s sacrifice, That I will punish ^kthe princes and the king’s children, And all such as are clothed with foreign apparel.

⁹In the same day I will punish All those who ^lleap over the threshold, Who fill their masters’ houses with violence and deceit.

¹⁰“And there shall be on that day,” says the LORD, “The sound of a mournful cry from ^mthe Fish Gate, A wailing from the Second Quarter,
And a loud crashing from the hills.

¹¹ⁿWail, you inhabitants of ⁸Maktesh!
For all the merchant people are cut down;
All those who handle money are cut off.

¹²“And it shall come to pass at that time That I will search
Jerusalem with lamps,

And punish the men
Who are ^osettled⁹ in complacency, ^pWho say in their heart,
‘The LORD will not do good,
Nor will He do evil.’

¹³Therefore their goods shall become booty, And their houses
a desolation;
They shall build houses, but not inhabit them;
They shall plant vineyards, but ^qnot drink their wine.”

¹⁴^rThe great day of the LORD is near; It is near and hastens quickly.

The noise of the day of the LORD is bitter; There the mighty men shall cry out.

¹⁵^sThat day is a day of wrath, A day of trouble and distress,
A day of devastation and desolation,
A day of darkness and gloominess,
A day of clouds and thick darkness,

¹⁶A day of ^ttrumpet and alarm Against the fortified cities
And against the high towers.

¹⁷“I will bring distress upon men, And they shall ^uwalk like blind men, Because they have sinned against the LORD;

Their blood shall be poured out like dust,
And their flesh like refuse.”

¹⁸^vNeither their silver nor their gold Shall be able to deliver

In the day of the LORD’s wrath;
But the whole land shall be devoured
By the fire of His jealousy,
For He will make speedy riddance
Of all those who dwell in the land.

A Call to Repentance

¹Gather^a yourselves together, yes, gather together, O ¹undesirable nation, ²Before the decree is issued, Or the day passes like chaff,
Before the LORD's fierce anger comes upon you, Before the day of the LORD's anger comes upon you!
^{3b}Seek the LORD, ^call you meek of the earth, Who have upheld His justice.
Seek righteousness, seek humility.
^dIt may be that you will be hidden In the day of the LORD's

Judgment on Nations

⁴For ^eGaza shall be forsaken, And Ashkelon desolate;
They shall drive out Ashdod ^fat noonday, And Ekron shall be uprooted.

⁵Woe to the inhabitants of ^gthe seacoast, The nation of the Cherethites!

The word of the LORD is against you, O ^hCanaan, land of the Philistines: “I will destroy you;
So there shall be no inhabitant.”

⁶The seacoast shall be pastures, With ²shelters for shepherds ⁱand folds for flocks.

⁷The coast shall be for ^jthe remnant of the house of Judah;
They shall feed their flocks there;
In the houses of Ashkelon they shall lie down at evening.
For the LORD their God will ^kintervene³ for them, And ^lreturn their captives.

⁸“^mI have heard the reproach of Moab, And ⁿthe insults of the people of Ammon, With which they have reproached
My people,

And ^omade arrogant threats against their borders.

⁹Therefore, as I live,”

Says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel,

“Surely ^pMoab shall be like Sodom, And ^qthe people of Ammon like Gomorrah— ^rOverrun⁴ with weeds and saltpits, And a ⁵perpetual desolation.

The residue of My people shall plunder them,

And the remnant of My people shall possess them.”

¹⁰This they shall have ^sfor their pride, Because they have reproached and made arrogant threats
Against the people of the LORD of hosts.

¹¹The LORD will be awesome to them, For He will reduce to nothing all the gods of the earth;

^tPeople shall worship Him, Each one from his place,
Indeed all ^uthe shores of the nations.

¹²“You^v Ethiopians also, You shall be slain by ^wMy sword.”

¹³And He will stretch out His hand against the north, ^xDestroy
Assyria, And make Nineveh a desolation,
As dry as the wilderness.

¹⁴The herds shall lie down in her midst, ^yEvery beast of the

Both the ^zpelican and the bittern Shall lodge on the capitals of

Their voice shall sing in the windows;

Desolation shall be at the threshold;

For He will lay bare the ^acedar work.

¹⁵This is the rejoicing city

^bThat dwelt securely, ^cThat said in her heart, “I am it, and there is none besides me.”

How has she become a desolation,

A place for beasts to lie down!

Everyone who passes by her
^dShall hiss and ^eshake his fist.

The Wickedness of Jerusalem

¹Woe to her who is rebellious and polluted, To the oppressing city!

²She has not obeyed His voice, She has not received correction;

She has not trusted in the LORD,
She has not drawn near to her God.

^{3a}Her princes in her midst are roaring lions; Her judges are ^bevening wolves That leave not a bone till morning.

⁴Her ^cprophets are insolent, treacherous people; Her priests have ¹polluted the sanctuary, They have done ^dviolence to the law.

⁵The LORD is righteous in her midst, He will do no unrighteousness.

²Every morning He brings His justice to light; He never fails,
But ^ethe unjust knows no shame.

⁶“I have cut off nations,
Their fortresses are devastated;
I have made their streets desolate,
With none passing by.

Their cities are destroyed;
There is no one, no inhabitant.

^{7f}I said, ‘Surely you will fear Me, You will receive instruction’— So that her dwelling would not be cut off,

Despite everything for which I punished her.

But ³they rose early and ^gcorrupted all their deeds.

A Faithful Remnant
(cf. Gen. 11:1–9; Acts 2:1–11)

⁸“Therefore ^hwait for Me,” says the LORD, “Until the day I rise up ⁴for plunder; My determination is to ⁱgather the nations To My assembly of kingdoms,
To pour on them My indignation,
All My fierce anger;
All the earth ^jshall be devoured With the fire of My jealousy.

⁹“For then I will restore to the peoples ^ka pure ⁵language, That they all may call on the name of the LORD, To serve Him with one accord. Article: Beyond the Rivers of Ethiopia

¹⁰ⁱFrom beyond the rivers of Ethiopia My worshipers,
The daughter of My dispersed ones,
Shall bring My offering.

¹¹In that day you shall not be shamed for any of your deeds In which

For then I will take away from your midst
Those who ^mrejoice in your pride, And you shall no longer be haughty
In My holy mountain.

¹²I will leave in your midst ⁿA meek and humble people, And they shall trust in the name of the ¹³^oThe remnant of Israel ^pshall do no unrighteousness ^qAnd speak no

Joy in God’s Faithfulness

¹⁴^sSing, O daughter of Zion!
Shout, O Israel!
Be glad and rejoice with all your heart,
O daughter of Jerusalem!

¹⁵The LORD has taken away your judgments, He has cast out

¹⁶In that day ^vit shall be said to Jerusalem: “Do not fear;

^yHe will rejoice over you with gladness, He will quiet you with His love,

He will rejoice over you with singing.”

¹⁸“I will gather those who ^zsorrow over the appointed

To whom its reproach is a burden.

¹⁹Behold, at that time

I will deal with all who afflict you;

I will save the ^alame, And gather those who were driven out;

I will appoint them for praise and fame

In every land where they were put to shame.

²⁰At that time ^bI will bring you back, Even at the time I gather you;

For I will give you ⁷fame and praise Among all the peoples of the earth,

When I return your captives before your eyes,”

Says the LORD.

Annotations for Zephaniah

- 1:1 The word of the LORD which came: The messages of the OT prophets did not arise from the prophets' own will, but from God Himself (see 2 Pet. 1:20, 21). Zephaniah means "Hidden in the Lord," a name that relates to the principal message the prophet presented (2:3). The names of the prophets were often significantly associated with the message that God gave them to present to the people. Hezekiah most likely refers to the notable king of Judah (see 2 Kin. 18–20). Thus Zephaniah the prophet was related to King Josiah.
- 1:2, 3 utterly consume: The message of Zephaniah begins with a pronouncement of universal judgment (see Gen. 6–8). These words not only introduce the particular judgment that would be pronounced upon Judah (v. 4), but they also speak of the final judgment that will usher in the kingdom of God on earth (see Rev. 19). Stumbling blocks here refers to idolatry, or substitutes for God in the life and affections of a person. Because there is nothing in the universe that really may be compared to the Creator (see Is. 40:25), God abhors all forms of idolatry. Says the LORD: This phrase added gravity to the prophetic oracle and assured the hearer of the source of the message.
- 1:4–6 The message of God's impending judgment on the nation of Judah and its capital city Jerusalem must have been startling to those who believed that God would never destroy the site of His holy temple (v. 12). every trace of Baal: Baal worship and its evils had led to the destruction of Israel and its capital Samaria in 722 B.C. Likewise, Baal worship and its associations would lead to the destruction of Judah and its capital Jerusalem in 586 B.C. Milcom is a reference to an Ammonite deity whose worship included acts of infant sacrifice (see 2 Kin. 23:10; Jer. 32:35). turned back: The people had experienced God and then turned away from Him.
- 1:7 Be silent: This prophetic call for silence was for solemn preparation for the horror of divine wrath (see Hab. 2:20; Zech. 2:13). The day of the LORD describes a period of unusual activity on the part of God in the affairs of His people. sacrifice: The people of God were expected to prepare sacrifices for the Lord as acts of contrition and celebration. But rebels, scofflaws, idolaters, and apostates would themselves become God's sacrifice. His guests may be the birds of the heavens—vultures and buzzards who feed on carrion (see Rev. 19:21).
- 1:8, 9 Foreign apparel here suggests two things: (1) acts of greed and extortion against the populace, amassing funds for exotic clothing; (2) participation in foreign religious rites associated with exotic clothing. Leap over the threshold may refer to a pagan practice like the one mentioned in 1 Sam. 5:5. The priests of Dagon would not step on the doorway of the temple to Dagon because the hands and the head of Dagon had fallen there.
- 1:10, 11 On that day is a common way of referring to the coming time of judgment (or blessing) on the day of the Lord. Maktesh: Zephaniah shows his familiarity with the various quarters of Jerusalem as he mentions certain gates, sections, and districts of the city. Maktesh refers to a market district. Every area of the city would be affected by God's judgment.
- 1:12, 13 The LORD will not do good, nor will He do evil: The complacency of the wicked people led them to believe that God is similarly complacent. Foolishly these people believed that the Lord would be inactive, neither blessing nor cursing, neither benefiting nor punishing His people.
- 1:14–16 The language of this passage is quite similar to Joel 2:1–11, on which it may be based in part. Near describes the imminence of the coming judgment. The references to clouds and darkness resemble Canaanite poetry in which clouds and thunder are associated with the false god Baal. The poets of the Bible used this language to describe the true God, who would send forth His judgments like lightning bolts from a dark mass of clouds (see Ps. 97:2–6). The references to fortified cities and high towers speak of the extent of God's judgment. There would be no adequate defense against the Lord's searing judgments.
- 1:17, 18 like blind men: God's judgment would be so sudden and so overwhelming that the survivors would be in a state of shock, stumbling around in the dark.

2:1–3 The people doomed for judgment in the day of the Lord (1:14–18) were commanded to gather together, perhaps in repentance. Seek the LORD: This is the language of true repentance, renewal, and regeneration. you will be hidden: Zephaniah used a play on words with the meaning of his own name, “Hidden in the Lord.” Even in the midst of the most calamitous of judgment scenes, the mercy and grace of the Lord is still available to a repentant people.

meek

(Heb. ‘anav) (2:3; Ps. 22:26; Is. 11:4) Strong’s #6035

This Hebrew word may be translated humble (Ps. 34:2) or meek (Ps. 37:11; see also Matt. 5:5) and is derived from a verb meaning “to be afflicted” or “to be bowed down” (Ps. 116:10). Forms of this word occur twice in 2:3: first translated as meek and then as humility. The word frequently refers to the poor or oppressed (see Prov. 14:21; Amos 2:7). But it also signifies strength of character in enduring suffering without resentment. Such character is rooted in a strong faith in God and His goodness and a steadfast submission to the will of God.

- 2:4, 5 The focus of the book moves from the description of God’s judgment on Judah and Jerusalem to a description of divine judgment on the surrounding nations. The judgment begins with the nation to the west, Philistia, and its major cities and seafaring industries. The five main cities of the Philistines were Gaza, Ashkelon, Ashdod, Ekron, and Gath. All but Gath are mentioned here. Cherethites is another name for the Philistines. Canaan is the ancient name for the land of the people of Israel, derived from its prior inhabitants. A later name of the land was Palestine, a term derived from Philistine.
- 2:6, 7 The seacoast shall be pastures: The coastal cities of Philistia and the coastal plain that the Philistines dominated for so long would one day become the possession of the Hebrews. The same God who brought destruction upon the people of Judah (1:14–18) would restore their fortunes.
- 2:8, 9 The peoples of Moab and Ammon to the east of Judah were hostile to the Hebrews from the earliest times. Moab shall be like Sodom: Here is God’s promise of retribution (see Gen. 19:12–29).
- 2:10, 11 The LORD will be awesome to them: There may be a double meaning in these words. For the righteous people of Judah and Jerusalem, there would be a response of awe and wonder before God, who had responded to the prayer of His servant. But for the wicked there would be quite another response, one of terror and dread. People shall worship Him: Not only would there be a righteous remnant in Judah, there would also be people coming to God from the nations of the earth.
- 2:13–15 Assyria was to the east. But the ancient armies could not march across the desert. Therefore they went around the desert and entered the land of the Hebrews from the north. The pelican and the bittern were birds found in remote areas (see Is. 34:11). Their presence in the ruins of Nineveh attest to the severity of the destruction announced on these people. the rejoicing city: The rejoicing here is ironic, seen as an act of the city’s complacency. Soon the judgment of God would descend suddenly, and the region would be useful only for herding animals.
- 3:1–4 The addressee of the prophetic word here is Jerusalem, the city of David. Jerusalem had become a center of oppression, rebellion, and apostasy. It would soon be marked by destruction. The expression of grief is reflective of God’s own heart. The princes, judges, prophets, and priests, whom God had especially designated to work for righteousness, were more wicked than the “regular” citizens of Jerusalem. These leaders were destroying and defrauding the weak, the needy, and the helpless.

3:5–7 Because He is absolutely righteous, God had no place in the midst of such an evil people. cut off nations: God’s punishment of Judah’s neighbors should have brought the people to their senses.

3:8 the fire of My jealousy: God’s response to the wickedness of Jerusalem was to declare His judgment. He would use other nations to punish the city for its rebellion.

3:9–13 The focus of the text moves to a time of national regeneration and restoration. Pure language refers to language used in the pure worship of God. One day human language will become a unifying element in the true worship of God. My worshipers: God’s people would come from all nations to worship Him.

Beyond the Rivers of Ethiopia

Christians of African descent may be interested in Zephaniah’s prophecy that the Lord would restore His “dispersed ones” from “beyond the rivers of Ethiopia” (3:10). This was a remarkable promise, given the map of the world in Zephaniah’s day.

As far as we know, Ethiopia represented the southwestern limits of Judah’s knowledge of the world. The interior of Africa, “beyond the rivers of Ethiopia,” was literally “off the map” for the ancient Israelites. It was uncharted territory for them.

To what, then, was Zephaniah referring? The context shows that he was anticipating the day when the Lord would bring people from the ends of the earth to form a holy people who would worship and serve Him with true hearts (3:9, 12, 13). Among them would be people from “beyond the rivers of Ethiopia.”

The prophet called this new people “the daughter of My dispersed ones” (3:10) and “the remnant of Israel” (3:13). Thus Zephaniah’s vision seems to tie in with Jeremiah’s predictions of a scattering of the Jews throughout the world, followed by an eventual restoration (Jer. 30:10, 11, 18–22; 31:1–40).

Beginning in the sixth century, many Jewish colonies were established along the Nile and the Mediterranean coast of Africa. In fact, some have suggested that Zephaniah’s prophecy pertains to the Jewish community in northern Abyssinia. However, the prophecy may look beyond a strictly Jewish restoration. It seems to correspond with a prediction by David that Ethiopians would someday “stretch out [their] hands to God” (Ps. 68:31).

As far as we know, Zephaniah himself had no idea of the vast tribes of people living “beyond the rivers of Ethiopia.” But every time one of their descendants turns to faith in Christ, Africa adds one more member to the “peoples [of] a pure language” who are called to serve the Lord “with one accord” (Zeph. 3:9).

A sixteenth-century map showing Jerusalem at its center. Zephaniah knew even less about the world, and “beyond the rivers of Ethiopia” was literally “off the map.”

3:14–17 The people of God would be called to sing because their deliverance had come. Daughter of Zion is an affectionate title for the city of Jerusalem. In that day: The people are first commanded to abstain from fear, to keep from hanging their arms in a posture of resignation. Instead, they were to take encouragement and strength from the new reality that their God lived among them.

3:18–20 those who sorrow: God is going to make all things right. Those who are enemies of God's truth will be gathered and removed; those who are disenfranchised, God will restore. I will give you fame and praise: Ordinarily Scripture speaks of the praise that should be brought to God. Here we find the praise that God will bring to His people. As in the beginning of His dealings with Abraham and Sarah (see Gen. 12:1–3), where God promised blessing, honor, and a renowned name, so here God promises fame and praise to each individual in His family. Says the LORD: This is a solemn vow of God to do what He has promised. Zephaniah begins and ends with the strong assertion that the Lord is speaking. The implication is clear: "Listen and live!"

Introduction

Haggai was a prophet to the Jews who had returned from the Exile in Babylon. His first task was to force them to see where their hearts and priorities really lay. He urged them to do what they should have done from the start: to rebuild the temple with a willing heart. To these admonitions he added the promise of God to be with them. With this promise, the people could return to their first enthusiasm and carry out God's purposes for them. Then their worship would be joyful and sincere.

Author and Date Little is known of the prophet Haggai except what is in the book that bears his name. Ezra mentions him briefly in association with the prophet Zechariah (see Ezra 5:1; 6:14) and the rebuilding of the temple. The name Haggai means “Festival,” an appropriate meaning given the prophet’s work in restoring temple worship. But what is most remarkable about Haggai’s ministry is its brevity; his messages were given in the span of only four months in 520 B.C.

Historical Setting When some of the Israelites returned from the Babylonian captivity beginning in 538 B.C., they determined to restore the worship of God to its rightful place at the center of their lives. They planned to build a new temple in Jerusalem (see Ezra 1). Sadly, however, their resolve seems to have vanished shortly after their arrival in Jerusalem. They built an altar on the original temple site and later laid the foundations for the new temple. But when enemies who lived in the vicinity applied pressure, the Persian king ordered the work on the temple to cease. A later emperor of Persia, Darius I, lifted the restrictions that had been placed on the rebuilding of the temple and told them to proceed. But even when the barriers were lifted, the people lapsed into spiritual lethargy. They were not the idolaters that their ancestors had been, but they had lost their early passion for the worship of the living God. They explained their behavior by advancing the time-honored excuse of procrastination: It just doesn’t seem to be the right time (see 1:2).

When Haggai confronted the people, he addressed the problems of his day: the infertility of the land and the hard economic times (1:6). But he did not blame these problems on poor fiscal planning. Instead, he exhorted the people to focus on their spiritual condition. They were focusing on insignificant matters like the decoration of their homes, while every day they ignored God’s temple lying in ruins. The temple was more than a building. It was the site of the people’s meeting with the living God, the symbol of the abiding presence of the Creator of the universe. If the people ignored the physical ruin of the temple, they were ignoring the spiritual wreckage in their souls as well.

Zerubbabel the governor and Joshua the high priest, along with the people of God, responded quickly to the message of Haggai (1:12). Three weeks after Haggai gave his first message, they began their work on the temple (520 B.C.). Anticipating a positive response, Haggai came with another message. This was a simple one, but it had profound implications: Haggai assured them that the Lord was with them (1:13). This was the same message that Moses had brought to the Israelites in Egypt (Ex. 3:8). Indeed this would be the name of the coming Messiah—Immanuel, God with us (Is. 7:14). When the people chose to make God the center of their lives, the Lord could Himself remain in their midst even without a physical building.

Theology To emphasize some key points about the people's attitude towards God, Haggai posed a couple of questions. One of these was about the laws concerning what was clean and unclean (2:10–14). These laws had several purposes: (1) they protected people from diseases; (2) they taught certain spiritual lessons; (3) they created in the people an instinctive sense of right and wrong. In other words, they underscored the message that the Lord, and not any person, determines what is good or evil. Haggai asked the priests if cleanness or holiness might be transmitted through touch. The priests answered that it could not. Then the prophet asked if uncleanness could be transmitted through touch. The answer was yes. Haggai applied this principle to the nation. An indifferent attitude toward the construction of the temple had polluted everything the people touched. Their attitude made the work of their hands unacceptable to the Lord. Even though the temple work had begun, the people's hearts left them unclean in the eyes of the Lord. Even so, God in His great grace would still bless His people.

In a question-and-answer format (2:15–19), Haggai also encouraged the people to think about their circumstances before they started to build the temple. None of their past work had resulted in success: "Is the seed still in the barn?" (2:19). But from that day God would bless His people, because they had reordered their priorities. They had put the worship of the Lord before their own welfare (1:4, 14). Out of the bounty that the Lord would provide, the Israelites would be able to bring the proper sacrifices of true worship into the new temple.

Christ in the Scriptures

When Haggai writes “The glory of this latter temple shall be greater than the former” (2:9), he is certainly referring to the reconstructed temple Herod would enlarge. When Jesus set foot inside, the presence of the incarnate God filled that “latter temple” with the glory of which Haggai spoke.

Beyond this prophet’s words, we also see the Messiah represented in one of Haggai’s peers whom we meet in the book. Zerubbabel is the governor of Judah after the exiles return. Based on what the Lord has told him to say, Haggai declares that Zerubbabel will become the signet ring of the Most High. In other words, he will be the proof of God’s authority. Although Jesus will be the eventual Signet, Zerubbabel becomes the center of the Messianic line for a time. Like a king’s ring, he seals both the preexilic and postexilic branch of David’s lineage together.

Signet rings were used in the ancient Near East to sign one's name. The impression of the ring would be pressed into wax or clay to sign legal documents. In Haggai 2:23, the Lord tells Zerubbabel, "I will make you like a signet ring, for I have chosen you."

Haggai 1

The Command to Build God's House (Ezra 5:1) ¹In ^athe second year of King Darius, in the sixth month, on the first day of the month, the word of the LORD came by ^bHaggai the prophet to ^cZerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and to ^dJoshua the son of ^eJehozadak, the high priest, saying, ²“Thus speaks the LORD of hosts, saying: ‘This people says, “The time has not come, the time that the LORD’s house should be built.” ’ ”

³Then the word of the LORD ^fcame by Haggai the prophet, saying, ⁴“Is it ^gtime for you yourselves to dwell in your paneled houses, and this ¹temple to lie in ruins?”

⁵Now therefore, thus says the LORD of hosts: ^h“Consider your ways!

⁶“You have ⁱsown much, and bring in little; You eat, but do not have enough; You drink, but you are not filled with drink; You clothe yourselves, but no one is warm; And ^jhe who earns wages, Earns wages to put into a bag with holes.”

⁷Thus says the LORD of hosts: “Consider your ways!

⁸“Go up to the ^kmountains and bring wood and build the ²temple, that I may take pleasure in it and be glorified,” says the LORD.

⁹“You looked for much, but indeed it came to little; and when you brought it home, ^mI blew it away. Why?” says the LORD of hosts. “Because of My house that is in ruins, while every one of you runs to his own house.

¹⁰“Therefore ⁿthe heavens above you withhold the dew, and the earth withholds its fruit.

¹¹“For I ^ocalled for a drought on the land and the mountains, on the grain and the new wine and the oil, on whatever the ground brings forth, on men and livestock, and on ^pall the labor of your hands.”

The People's Obedience ^{12q}Then Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, with all the remnant of the people, obeyed the voice of the LORD their God, and the words of Haggai the prophet, as the LORD their God had sent him; and the people feared the presence of the LORD.

¹³Then Haggai, the LORD's messenger, spoke the LORD's message to the people, saying, ^r"I am with you, says the LORD."

¹⁴So ^sthe LORD stirred up the spirit of Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, ^tgovernor of Judah, and the spirit of Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people; ^uand they came and worked on the house of the LORD of hosts, their God, ¹⁵on the twenty-fourth day of the sixth month, in the second year of King Darius.

Haggai 2

The Coming Glory of God's House ¹*In the seventh month, on the twenty-first of the month, the word of the LORD came ¹by Haggai the prophet, saying: ²“Speak now to Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and to Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and to the remnant of the people, saying: ^{3a}‘Who is left among you who saw this ²temple in its former glory? And how do you see it now? In comparison with it, ^bis this not in your eyes as nothing?’*

⁴*‘Yet now ^cbe strong, Zerubbabel,’ says the LORD; ‘and be strong, Joshua, son of Jehozadak, the high priest; and be strong, all you people of the land,’ says the LORD, ‘and work; for I am with you,’ says the LORD of hosts.*

^{5d}‘According to the word that I covenanted with you when you came out of Egypt, so ^eMy Spirit remains among you; do not fear!’

⁶*“For thus says the LORD of hosts: ^f‘Once more (it is a little while) ^gI will shake heaven and earth, the sea and dry land; ⁷‘and I will shake all nations, and they shall come to ^hthe ³Desire of All Nations, and I will fill this ⁴temple with ⁱglory,’ says the LORD of hosts.*

⁸*‘The silver is Mine, and the gold is Mine,’ says the LORD of hosts.*

^{9j}‘The glory of this latter ⁵temple shall be greater than the former,’ says the LORD of hosts. ‘And in this place I will give ^kpeace,’ says the LORD of hosts.”

The People Are Defiled ¹⁰*On the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month, in the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came by Haggai the prophet, saying, ¹¹“Thus says the LORD of hosts: ‘Now, ^lask the priests concerning the law, saying, ¹²“If one carries holy meat in the fold of his garment, and with the edge he touches bread or stew, wine or oil, or any food, will it become holy?” ’ ” Then the priests answered and said, “No.”*

¹³*And Haggai said, “If one who is ^munclean because of a dead body touches any of these, will it be unclean?” So the priests answered and said, “It shall be unclean.”*

¹⁴*Then Haggai answered and said, ⁿ“ ‘So is this people, and so is this nation before Me,’ says the LORD, ‘and so is every work of their hands; and what they offer there is unclean.*

Promised Blessing ¹⁵‘And now, carefully ^oconsider from this day forward: from before stone was laid upon stone in the temple of the LORD—

¹⁶‘since those days, ^pwhen one came to a heap of twenty ephahs, there were but ten; when one came to the wine vat to draw out fifty baths from the press, there were but twenty.

^{17q}‘I struck you with blight and mildew and hail ^rin all the labors of your hands; ^syet you did not turn to Me,’ says the LORD.

¹⁸‘Consider now from this day forward, from the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month, from ^tthe day that the foundation of the LORD’s temple was laid—consider it: ^{19u}‘Is the seed still in the barn? As yet the vine, the fig tree, the pomegranate, and the olive tree have not yielded fruit. But from this day I will ^vbless you.’ ”

Zerubbabel Chosen as a Signet ²⁰And again the word of the LORD came to Haggai on the twenty-fourth day of the month, saying, ²¹“Speak to Zerubbabel, ^wgovernor of Judah, saying:

^x‘I will shake heaven and earth.

^{22y}I will overthrow the throne of kingdoms; I will destroy the strength of the Gentile kingdoms.

^zI will overthrow the chariots And those who ride in them; The horses and their riders shall come down, Every one by the sword of his brother.

²³‘In that day,’ says the LORD of hosts, ‘I will take you, Zerubbabel My servant, the son of Shealtiel,’ says the LORD, ^a‘and will make you like a signet ring; for ^bI have chosen you,’ says the LORD of hosts.”

Annotations for Haggai

- 1:1 second year . . . sixth month . . . first day: The date for this first message of God through Haggai is August 29, 520 B.C. The prophecies of Haggai are among the most precisely dated in the OT. Zerubbabel was the governor of Jerusalem at the time of Haggai's ministry and the governor of the first group of returning exiles from Babylon (see Ezra 3:2; Neh. 7:7).
- 1:2 The time has not come: The people had decided that rebuilding the Lord's dwelling among His people was not important.
- 1:4 The principal building material in Jerusalem was stone. Those who wanted to make their houses elaborate installed wood panels. The people of Haggai's time were making their homes elegant, rivaling royal residences and the holy temple itself. But they still did not feel that the "time was right" to begin working on the renewed temple. While this verse is not a blanket condemnation of elegant living among God's people, it certainly calls for a reevaluation of priorities.
- 1:5 Consider your ways: The people were asked to mull over their habits and activities and to ask whether their attitude was sensible before the Lord.
- 1:6 God asked the people to take stock of their lives. Though they ate and drank, they never seemed satisfied. Though they put on clothes, they never felt warm. Wage earners constantly felt as though their pockets had holes in them through which their money was lost.
- 1:8 The people were instructed to go to great lengths to get wood for paneling the temple of the Lord (v. 4). that I may take pleasure in it: God's joy in the temple is related to His pleasure in the people who would worship Him there. be glorified: Clearly God does not need to receive more glory (see Ps. 24:7–10); however, He gladly receives the adoration of His people.
- 1:9 runs to his own house: Because of their preoccupation with personal comfort, the people were ignoring the central spiritual concerns of their lives. Their faulty principle of life was being shaken by the Lord. The Savior Jesus later proclaimed the true and abiding principle for the life of faith: "But seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added to you" (see Matt. 6:33).
- 1:10 The blessing and cursing formula of the Lord's covenant with His people comes into play here (see Deut. 28). Dew is a poetic way of speaking of rainfall.
- 1:12 The remnant of the people were literally those who had made the trek back to Judah from their place of captivity in Babylon; it also refers to those within a larger population who are faithful to the Lord.
- 1:13 I am with you: God's promise to Moses was, "I will certainly be with you" (see Ex. 3:12). God's promise to the people of Judah was that the name of the Coming One would be Immanuel, meaning "God is with us" (see Is. 7:14). Here God repeated the same message of comfort and encouragement.
- 1:14 This verse bears witness to the work of God's Spirit on the human spirit of His leaders and His people to accomplish His tasks. It is reminiscent of God's work in stirring up the people to build the original tabernacle (see Ex. 35:29; 36:2). remnant: Always within Israel a remnant existed. Paul stated there was such a remnant in Elijah's time (see Rom. 11:2–4; compare 1 Kin. 19:18).
- 2:1 twenty-first of the month: By our calendar this would be October 17, 520 B.C. In the ancient Jewish calendar this day was the last day of the Feast of Tabernacles or Succoth (see Lev. 23:33–44). During this holiday the people of Israel lived in booths, or temporary shelters, commemorating their departure from Egypt when they lived in temporary shelters in the wilderness.
- 2:2 Speak now: Haggai was called again to address the leaders Zerubbabel and Joshua (1:1) and the true people of God (1:12).
- 2:3 The temple of Solomon was one of the wonders of the ancient world (see 1 Kin. 6). The older temple would have loomed large and magnificent, far outstripping the present structure. So even though the building was completed, there may have been the sense among some of the people that it was as nothing.

2:4 I am with you: The Lord's words to the people (1:13) were the same as His great words to Moses (see Ex. 3:12). The words of this verse draw a comparison between the events of this period and the events of the first Exodus. God brought the people back from Babylon as He had brought them back from Egypt. The message to the first set of leaders, Moses and Aaron, and to the second, Zerubbabel and Joshua, was the same: God would be present with them. Finally, the mission in the Promised Land was the same, to build a place for the true worship of God.

2:5 According to the word: The same covenant that related the people to God in their departure from Egypt bound them still. The events surrounding the decline of the nation and the people's captivity in Babylon had not rescinded the covenant relationship that insured God's presence with His people (see Ex. 29:42–46).

2:6 I will shake: This is another way of speaking of the day of the Lord. The purpose of the day of the Lord is to prepare the earth for the glorious reign of Jesus Christ on earth (see Matt. 24:29; Rev. 6:12–17).

2:7 Desire of All Nations: Some interpret these words as a messianic title that speaks of the joy of the redeemed of the nations at the time of the rule of King Jesus. Others observe that the Hebrew word meaning desire is used principally for objects (as in 2 Chr. 32:27; Hos. 13:15; Nah. 2:9) rather than persons. However, the word is used occasionally for persons (see 1 Sam. 9:20).

2:8 silver . . . gold: God owns the cattle on a thousand hills, the gold in all coffers, and the wealth of all nations.

2:9 Peace includes good health, well-being, and an abundant life. The term speaks of everything being as it ought to be.

2:10 The twenty-fourth day of the ninth month corresponds to December 18, 520 B.C. on our calendar.

2:11 The responsibilities of the priests included leading public worship and instructing the people in the nature and meaning of God's law.

2:12 will it become holy: Since the role of the priest was to interpret God's law, it was reasonable that questions on holiness should be addressed to them. Haggai asked whether holiness could be transferred by contact. The answer was no.

2:13, 14 It shall be unclean: The priests were asked if a religiously unclean person, someone who had touched a corpse, could contaminate someone else by touch. The answer was yes (see Num. 19:11–13). The people had worked hard to rebuild the temple, only to be told that their worship would be unacceptable in the new temple. The existence of the temple itself guaranteed nothing. The hearts of the people had to be in harmony with the sacrifices being made.

2:16, 17 you did not turn to Me: Despite God's acts of withholding His blessing, the people still had not turned fully back to Him.

2:18, 19 from this day: God determined to bring His blessing on His people, but He demanded that they recognize Him as the source of their great productivity.

2:22 I will overthrow: Haggai focused on the power of God to do as He wills among the nations (see Dan. 2:21). These words speak both in a general way of the sovereignty of God over the nations throughout history, as well as more specifically of God's final judgment on the wicked nations at the time He institutes the rule of His Son as King of kings (see Ps. 2; 110; Rev. 19).

2:23 A signet ring was an item of great value in the ancient world. The owner used it much like we use our personal signature on checks or other important documents. God used this imagery to indicate that Zerubbabel was in His hand, that he was highly valued, and that he represented God's authority in his leadership of the people. Even though the people had been told they were still unclean in God's eyes (see 2:10–14), their leader Zerubbabel was encouraged to guide them through those spiritually trying times.

signet ring

(Heb. chotham) (2:23; Gen. 38:18; 1 Kin. 21:8; Jer. 22:24) Strong's #2368

The Hebrew noun signet ring is derived from a verbal root meaning “to affix a seal,” “to seal up,” or “to fasten by sealing.” The signet in OT times was an engraved stone set in a gold or silver finger ring, bracelet, or armband (see Song 8:6). When pressed upon wax or soft clay, the ring left the impression of the personal insignia of the bearer (see Ex. 28:11, 21, 36; 39:6, 14, 30). The signet ring was like an identification card or badge in the ancient world (Gen. 38:18). It symbolized status or position and the binding nature of the authority attached to items sealed by the ring (1 Kin. 21:8; Job 38:14). Haggai’s comparison of Zerubbabel to a signet ring (2:23) has messianic implications, since Zerubbabel would overturn the curse of Jeremiah on King Jehoiachin’s dynasty and restore royal authority to the line of King David (Jer. 22:24–30).

Introduction

Encouragement and hope are the underlying themes of the prophecies of Zechariah. The prophet Zechariah was one of the three prophets, along with Haggai and Malachi, who ministered to the exiles returning to Jerusalem. These exiles faced the ruins of what had once been a splendid city and a glorious temple. There was much to be sad about, but Zechariah encouraged the exiles with visions of judgment on Israel's enemies and of the complete restoration of the city of Jerusalem. Yet the most thrilling vision of all was the prediction of a coming King—the Messiah who would bring eternal salvation and the promised eternal kingdom.

Author and Date The name Zechariah means “Yahweh Remembers.” This powerful phrase communicates a message of hope: The God of Israel will mercifully remember His people. The prophet is identified as “the son of Berechiah, the son of Iddo.” Iddo was among the heads of the priestly families that returned from Babylon to Judah. Zechariah, then, was a member of the tribe of Levi and probably served as both a priest and a prophet. He entered his prophetic ministry two months after his contemporary Haggai had concluded his first oracle.

Those who question the unity and single authorship of Zechariah usually argue that chapters 9–14 date from the Hellenistic period (331–167 B.C.) or the Maccabean period (167–73 B.C.). The reference to “Greece” in 9:13 has often been cited as evidence for a late date, after Alexander’s conquests (c. 330 B.C.). However, Greek influence was strong in the ancient Middle East as early as the seventh century B.C. Greece is mentioned by the eighth-century prophet Isaiah (see Is. 66:19, where Greece is referred to as Javan) and the sixth-century prophet Ezekiel (see Ezek. 27:13, 19 for Javan). Those who hold to the unity of the book generally date its completion between 500 and 470 B.C. Zechariah began his prophetic ministry in the second year of the Persian king Darius (522–486 B.C.) and his last dated prophecy was delivered two years later, in 518 B.C.

Historical Setting Zechariah lived and prophesied during the period following the Babylonian captivity (597–538 B.C.). Jeremiah had predicted that the Israelites would return to the Promised Land after 70 years of discipline in exile. God began fulfilling this promise when He raised up Cyrus king of Persia, whose military exploits brought about the capture of Babylon in 539 B.C. Following his victory, Cyrus decreed that all exiled peoples could return to their homelands. The people of Judah were among those who benefited from this reversal of Babylonian policy. The first group of Jews returned under the leadership of Sheshbazzar (Ezra 1:8) in 537 B.C. The altar for the temple was erected in the fall of that year, but construction of the temple itself did not begin until the spring of 536 B.C.

Opposition to the temple rebuilding by enemies of the Jews living in and around Judah resulted in the abandonment of the work until 520 B.C. During these 16 years of neglect the people of Judah lost their vision and sense of spiritual purpose. Their procrastination resulted in divine chastening (Hag. 1:11; 2:17). Although the crops failed and the people languished, they did not repent until God raised up two prophets to turn the people back to Himself. In 520 B.C., Haggai called for the Israelites to recognize their spiritual priorities and rebuild the temple. Zechariah began his prophetic ministry just two months after Haggai (compare 1:1 with Hag. 1:1).

The ministries of Haggai and Zechariah did not cease when work began in earnest on the temple. The prophets continued to encourage the people. Haggai's messages were delivered in 520 B.C.; Zechariah's last dated prophecy was given in 518 B.C. (7:1). With the people committed to restoring the worship of the Lord and the temple, God poured out His blessing on a repentant and spiritually revitalized people. The temple was completed in 515 B.C. and rededicated with great rejoicing.

Purpose and Themes Zechariah's prophecies had two purposes. First, they challenged the returning exiles to turn to the Lord, to be cleansed from their sins and to experience again the Lord's blessing (see 1:3). Second, Zechariah's words comforted and encouraged the people regarding the rebuilding of the temple and God's future work among His people (1:16, 17; 2:12; 3:2; 4:9; 6:14, 15).

In the first several chapters, Zechariah encourages the people by focusing on God's choice of Jerusalem (1:17; 2:12; 3:2). The Lord had not set aside His ancient covenant people. Through Zechariah, God not only reaffirmed Jerusalem's divine election, but promised to come among His returning people and live in their midst (see 2:10, 11; 8:3, 23). It was through His personal presence among His people that God would accomplish a miraculous work. In the second half of the book, Zechariah details God's future dealings with His chosen people, revealing the overthrow of Israel's enemies, the future glories of Zion, and the universal reign of the Messiah. This is the overarching theme of the book: The complete restoration of God's people would occur in the redeeming and delivering work of the coming Messiah.

Theology Zechariah teaches a great deal concerning the First and Second Comings of Jesus the Messiah. He refers to the Messiah as the "BRANCH" (3:8), God's "Servant" (3:8), and God's "Shepherd" (13:7). There is also an allusion to the Messiah's ministry as a Priest-King in 6:13 (see Heb. 6:20—7:1). Furthermore, he prophesied the Messiah's entrance into Jerusalem on a colt (9:9; see Matt. 21:4, 5; John 12:14–16), His betrayal for 30 pieces of silver (11:12, 13; see Matt. 27:9, 10), the piercing of His hands and feet (12:10; see John 19:37), and the cleansing from sin provided by His death (13:1; see John 1:29; Titus 3:5). In fact, chapters 9–14 of Zechariah are the most quoted section of the Prophets in the narratives of the Gospels.

Concerning the Messiah's Second Coming, Zechariah prophesied such future events as the conversion of Israel (12:10–13:1, 9; see Rom. 11:26), the destruction of Israel's enemies (14:3, 12–15; see Rev. 19:11–16), and the reign of Christ in a new Jerusalem (14:9, 16; see Rev. 20:4–6).

Along with his emphasis on the Messiah, Zechariah appropriately gives an important message about God's plan for salvation. The importance of repentance and returning to the Lord of Hosts is emphasized in the introduction (1:3–6). And then in 3:1–5, Zechariah provides a striking illustration of the removal of sin and the imputation of righteousness. The removal of the high priest's filthy garments and the provision of clean festal robes illustrates the work of Christ. Through His atoning death, Christ strips us of our filthy sins and clothes us with His own righteousness. In this way we can approach our holy God.

True religion, according to Zechariah, is not found merely in external acts of religious piety, but is based upon a personal relationship with God (7:5–7). Such a relationship with God should change one's attitude to one's neighbors. Like the prophets before him, Zechariah condemned the oppression of the widow, the orphan, the stranger, and the poor (7:10). As a preacher of righteousness, he called God's people back to the virtues of justice, kindness, compassion, and truth (7:9; 8:16).

Christ in the Scriptures

Zechariah includes clear passages that point to God's Anointed One. Jesus is portrayed in His first and second comings as both Servant/King and Man/God respectively. He appears as the Angel of the Lord (3:1, 2), the Branch (3:8; 6:12), and the King–Priest (6:13).

Predictions about Jesus are found in several places—9:9, 10 anticipates the Savior's Triumphal Entry into Jerusalem on that first Palm Sunday; 11:11–13 describe Jesus betrayed for 30 shekels of silver; 12:10 predicts the Messiah's piercing (12:10) and 13:7 his abandonment. Chapter 14 prophesies Jesus as the coming Judge and righteous King.

Zechariah 1

A Call to Repentance

¹In the eighth month ^aof the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came ^bto Zechariah the son of Berechiah, the son of ^cIddo the prophet, saying,

²“The LORD has been very angry with your fathers.

³“Therefore say to them, ‘Thus says the LORD of hosts: “Return ^dto Me,” says the LORD of hosts, “and I will return to you,” says the LORD of hosts.

⁴“Do not be like your fathers, ^eto whom the former prophets preached, saying, ‘Thus says the LORD of hosts: ^f“Turn now from your evil ways and your evil deeds.” ’ But they did not hear nor heed Me,” says the LORD.

⁵“Your fathers, where are they?

And the prophets, do they live forever?

⁶Yet surely ^gMy words and My statutes,

Which I commanded My servants the prophets,

Did they not overtake your fathers?

“So they returned and said:

^h‘Just as the LORD of hosts determined to do to us,

According to our ways and according to our deeds,

So He has dealt with us.’ ” ’ ”

Vision of the Horses

⁷On the twenty-fourth day of the eleventh month, which is the month Shebat, in the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came to Zechariah the son of Berechiah, the son of Iddo the prophet:

⁸I saw by night, and behold, ⁱa man riding on a red horse, and it stood among the myrtle trees in the hollow; and behind him were ^jhorses: red, sorrel, and white.

⁹Then I said, ^k“My lord, what are these?” So the angel who talked with me said to me, “I will show you what they are.”

¹⁰And the man who stood among the myrtle trees answered and said, ^l“These are the ones whom the LORD has sent to walk to and fro throughout the earth.”

^{11m}So they answered the Angel of the LORD, who stood among the myrtle trees, and said, “We have walked to and fro throughout the earth, and behold, all the earth is ¹resting quietly.”

The LORD Will Comfort Zion

¹²Then the Angel of the LORD answered and said, “O LORD of hosts, ⁿhow long will You not have mercy on Jerusalem and on the cities of Judah, against which You were angry ^othese seventy years?”

¹³And the LORD answered the angel who talked to me, with ^pgood and comforting words.

¹⁴So the angel who spoke with me said to me, ²“Proclaim, saying, ‘Thus says the LORD of hosts:

“I am ^qzealous³ for Jerusalem
And for Zion with great ⁴zeal.

¹⁵I am exceedingly angry with the nations at ease;
For ^rI was a little angry,
And they helped—but with evil intent.”

¹⁶‘Therefore thus says the LORD:

^s“I am returning to Jerusalem with mercy;
My ^thouse ^ushall be built in it,” says the LORD of hosts,
“And ^va surveyor’s line shall be stretched out over Jerusalem.” ’

¹⁷“Again proclaim, saying, ‘Thus says the LORD of hosts:

“My cities shall again ⁵spread out through prosperity;

^wThe LORD will again comfort Zion,

And ^xwill again choose Jerusalem.” ’ ”

Vision of the Horns

¹⁸Then I raised my eyes and looked, and there were four ^yhorns.

¹⁹And I said to the angel who talked with me, “What are these?” So he answered me, ^z“These are the ⁶horns that have scattered Judah, Israel, and Jerusalem.”

²⁰Then the LORD showed me four craftsmen.

²¹And I said, “What are these coming to do?” So he said, “These are the ^ahorns that scattered Judah, so that no one could lift up his head; but ⁷the craftsmen are coming to terrify them, to cast out the horns of the nations that ^blifted up their horn against the land of Judah to scatter it.”

Zechariah 2

Vision of the Measuring Line

¹Then I raised my eyes and looked, and behold, ^aa man with a measuring line in his hand.

²So I said, “Where are you going?” And he said to me, ^b“To measure Jerusalem, to see what is its width and what is its length.”

³And there was the angel who talked with me, going out; and another angel was coming out to meet him, ⁴who said to him, “Run, speak to this young man, saying: ^c‘Jerusalem shall be inhabited as towns without walls, because of the multitude of men and livestock in it.

⁵‘For I,’ says the LORD, ‘will be ^da wall of fire all around her, ^eand I will be the glory in her midst.’ ”

Future Joy of Zion and Many Nations

⁶“Up, up! Flee ^ffrom the land of the north,” says the LORD; “for I have ^gspread you abroad like the four winds of heaven,” says the LORD.

⁷“Up, Zion! ^hEscape, you who dwell with the daughter of Babylon.”

⁸For thus says the LORD of hosts: “He sent Me after glory, to the nations which plunder you; for he who ⁱtouches you touches the ¹apple of His eye.

⁹“For surely I will ^jshake My hand against them, and they shall become ²spoil for their servants. Then ^kyou will know that the LORD of hosts has sent Me.

¹⁰“Sing and rejoice, O daughter of Zion! For behold, I am coming and I ^mwill dwell in your midst,” says the LORD.

¹¹ⁿ“Many nations shall be joined to the LORD ^oin that day, and they shall become ^pMy people. And I will dwell in your midst. Then ^qyou will know that the LORD of hosts has sent Me to you.

¹²“And the LORD will ^rtake possession of Judah as His inheritance in the Holy Land, and will again choose Jerusalem.

^{13s}“Be silent, all flesh, before the LORD, for He is aroused ^tfrom His holy habitation!”

Zechariah 3

Vision of the High Priest

¹Then he showed me ^aJoshua the high priest standing before the Angel of the LORD, and ^bSatan¹ standing at his right hand to oppose him.

²And the LORD said to Satan, ^c“The LORD rebuke you, Satan! The LORD who ^dhas chosen Jerusalem rebuke you! ^eIs this not a brand plucked from the fire?”

³Now Joshua was clothed with ^ffilthy garments, and was standing before the Angel.

⁴Then He answered and spoke to those who stood before Him, saying, “Take away the filthy garments from him.” And to him He said, “See, I have removed your iniquity from you, ^gand I will clothe you with rich robes.”

⁵And I said, “Let them put a clean ^hturban on his head.” So they put a clean turban on his head, and they put the clothes on him. And the Angel of the LORD stood by.

The Coming Branch

⁶Then the Angel of the LORD admonished Joshua, saying,

⁷“Thus says the LORD of hosts:

‘If you will walk in My ways,
And if you will ⁱkeep My command,
Then you shall also ^jjudge My house,
And likewise have charge of My courts;
I will give you places to walk
Among these who ^kstand here.

⁸‘Hear, O Joshua, the high priest,
You and your companions who sit before you,
For they are ¹^a² wondrous sign;
For behold, I am bringing forth ^mMy Servant the ⁿBRANCH.

⁹For behold, the stone
That I have laid before Joshua:
^oUpon the stone are ^pseven eyes.
Behold, I will engrave its inscription,’
Says the LORD of hosts,
‘And ^qI will remove the iniquity of that land in one day.

¹⁰^rIn that day,’ says the LORD of hosts,
‘Everyone will invite his neighbor
^sUnder his vine and under his fig tree.’ ”

Zechariah 4

Vision of the Lampstand and Olive Trees

¹Now ^athe angel who talked with me came back and wakened me, ^bas a man who is wakened out of his sleep. Word Studies: angel

²And he said to me, “What do you see?” So I said, “I am looking, and there is ^ca lampstand of solid gold with a bowl on top of it, ^dand on the stand seven lamps with seven pipes to the seven lamps.

^{3e}“Two olive trees are by it, one at the right of the bowl and the other at its left.”

⁴So I answered and spoke to the angel who talked with me, saying, “What are these, my lord?”

⁵Then the angel who talked with me answered and said to me, “Do you not know what these are?” And I said, “No, my lord.”

⁶So he answered and said to me:

“This is the word of the LORD to ^fZerubbabel:

^g‘Not by might nor by power, but by My Spirit,’
Says the LORD of hosts.

⁷‘Who are you, ^hO great mountain?

Before Zerubbabel you shall become a plain!

And he shall bring forth ⁱthe capstone

^jWith shouts of “Grace, grace to it!” ’ ’ ”

⁸Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying:

⁹“The hands of Zerubbabel

^kHave laid the foundation of this ^ltemple;

His hands ^lshall also finish it.

Then ^myou will know

That the ⁿLORD of hosts has sent Me to you.

¹⁰For who has despised the day of ^osmall things?

For these seven rejoice to see

The ²plumb line in the hand of Zerubbabel.

^pThey are the eyes of the LORD,

Which scan to and fro throughout the whole earth.”

¹¹Then I answered and said to him, “What are these ^qtwo olive trees—at the right of the lampstand and at its left?”

¹²And I further answered and said to him, “What are these two olive branches that drip ³into the receptacles of the two gold pipes from which the golden oil drains?”

¹³Then he answered me and said, “Do you not know what these are?” And I said, “No, my lord.”

¹⁴So he said, ^r“These are the two ⁴anointed ones, ^swho stand beside the Lord of the whole earth.”

Zechariah 5

Vision of the Flying Scroll

¹Then I turned and raised my eyes, and saw there a flying ^ascroll.

²And he said to me, "What do you see?" So I answered, "I see a flying scroll. Its length is twenty cubits and its width ten cubits."

³Then he said to me, "This is the ^bcurse that goes out over the face of the whole earth: 'Every thief shall be expelled,' according to this side of the scroll; and, 'Every perjurer shall be expelled,' according to that side of it."

⁴"I will send out the curse," says the LORD of hosts;
"It shall enter the house of the ^cthief
And the house of ^dthe one who swears falsely by My name.
It shall remain in the midst of his house
And consume ^eit, with its timber and stones."

Vision of the Woman in a Basket

⁵Then the angel who talked with me came out and said to me, "Lift your eyes now, and see what this is that goes forth."

⁶So I asked, "What is it?" And he said, "It is a ¹basket that is going forth." He also said, "This is their resemblance throughout the earth:

⁷"Here is a lead disc lifted up, and this is a woman sitting inside the basket";

⁸then he said, "This is Wickedness!" And he thrust her down into the basket, and threw the lead ²cover over its mouth.

⁹Then I raised my eyes and looked, and there were two women, coming with the wind in their wings; for they had wings like the wings of a ^fstork, and they lifted up the basket between earth and heaven.

¹⁰So I said to the ^gangel who talked with me, "Where are they carrying the basket?"

¹¹And he said to me, "To ^hbuild a house for it in ⁱthe land of ³Shinar; when it is ready, the basket will be set there on its base."

Zechariah 6

Vision of the Four Chariots

¹Then I turned and raised my eyes and looked, and behold, four chariots were coming from between two mountains, and the mountains were mountains of bronze.

²With the first chariot were ^ared horses, with the second chariot ^bblack horses, ³with the third chariot white horses, and with the fourth chariot dappled horses—strong steeds.

⁴Then I answered ^cand said to the angel who talked with me, “What are these, my lord?”

⁵And the angel answered and said to me, ^d“These are four spirits of heaven, who go out from their ^estation before the Lord of all the earth.

⁶¹“The one with the black horses is going to ^fthe north country, the white are going after them, and the dappled are going toward the south country.”

⁷Then the strong steeds went out, eager to go, that they might ^gwalk to and fro throughout the earth. And He said, “Go, walk to and fro throughout the earth.” So they walked to and fro throughout the earth.

⁸And He called to me, and spoke to me, saying, “See, those who go toward the north country have given rest to My ^hSpirit in the north country.”

The Command to Crown Joshua

⁹Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying:

¹⁰“Receive the gift from the captives—from Heldai, Tobijah, and Jedaiah, who have come from Babylon—and go the same day and enter the house of Josiah the son of Zephaniah.

¹¹“Take the silver and gold, make ⁱan² elaborate crown, and set it on the head of ^jJoshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest.

¹²“Then speak to him, saying, ‘Thus says the LORD of hosts, saying:

“Behold, ^kthe Man whose name is the ^lBRANCH!

From His place He shall ³branch out,

^mAnd He shall build the temple of the LORD; Word Studies: BRANCH

¹³Yes, He shall build the temple of the LORD.

He ⁿshall bear the glory,

And shall sit and rule on His throne;

So ^oHe shall be a priest on His throne,

And the counsel of peace shall be between ⁴them both.” ’

¹⁴“Now the ⁵elaborate crown shall be ^pfor a memorial in the temple of the LORD ⁶for Helem, Tobijah, Jedaiah, and Hen the son of Zephaniah.

¹⁵“Even ^qthose from afar shall come and build the temple of the LORD. Then you shall know that the LORD of hosts has sent Me to you. And this shall come to pass if you diligently obey the voice of the LORD your God.”

Zechariah 7

Obedience Better than Fasting

¹Now in the fourth year of King Darius it came to pass that the word of the LORD came to Zechariah, on the fourth day of the ninth month, Chislev,

²when ¹*the people* sent ²Sherezzer, with Regem-Melech and his men, to ³the house of God, ⁴to pray before the LORD,

³and to ^aask the priests who were in the house of the LORD of hosts, and the prophets, saying, “Should I weep in ^bthe fifth month and ⁵fast as I have done for so many years?”

⁴Then the word of the LORD of hosts came to me, saying,

⁵“Say to all the people of the land, and to the priests: ‘When you ^cfasted and mourned in the fifth ^dand seventh months ^eduring those seventy years, did you really fast ^ffor Me—for Me?

^{6g}‘When you eat and when you drink, do you not eat and drink for yourselves?

⁷‘Should you not have obeyed the words which the LORD proclaimed through the ^hformer prophets when Jerusalem and the cities around it were inhabited and prosperous, and ⁱthe ⁶South and the Lowland were inhabited?’ ”

Disobedience Resulted in Captivity

⁸Then the word of the LORD came to Zechariah, saying,

⁹“Thus says the LORD of hosts:

^j‘Execute true justice,
Show ⁷mercy and compassion
Everyone to his brother.

^{10k}Do not oppress the widow or the fatherless,
The alien or the poor.

^lLet none of you plan evil in his heart
Against his brother.’

¹¹“But they refused to heed, ^mshrugged⁸ their shoulders, and ⁿstopped⁹ their ears so that they could not hear.

¹³“Therefore it happened, that just as He proclaimed and they would not hear, so ^rthey called out and I would not listen,” says the LORD of hosts.

¹⁴“But ^sI scattered them with a whirlwind among all the nations which they had not known. Thus the land became desolate after them, so that no one passed through or returned; for they made the pleasant land desolate.”

Zechariah 8

Jerusalem, Holy City of the Future

¹Again the word of the LORD of hosts came, saying,

²“Thus says the LORD of hosts:

^a‘I am ¹zealous for Zion with great ²zeal;
With great ³fervor I am zealous for her.’

³“Thus says the LORD:

^b‘I will return to Zion,
And ^cdwell in the midst of Jerusalem.
Jerusalem ^dshall be called the City of Truth,
^eThe Mountain of the LORD of hosts,
^fThe Holy Mountain.’

⁴“Thus says the LORD of hosts:

^g‘Old men and old women shall again sit
In the streets of Jerusalem,
Each one with his staff in his hand
Because of ⁴great age.
⁵The streets of the city
Shall be ^hfull of boys and girls
Playing in its streets.’

⁶“Thus says the LORD of hosts:

‘If it is ⁵marvelous in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these days,
ⁱWill it also be marvelous in My eyes?’
Says the LORD of hosts.

⁷“Thus says the LORD of hosts:

‘Behold, ^jI will save My people from the land of the ⁶east
And from the land of the ⁷west;
⁸I will ^kbring them back,
And they shall dwell in the midst of Jerusalem.
^lThey shall be My people
And I will be their God,
^mIn truth and righteousness.’

⁹“Thus says the LORD of hosts:

ⁿ‘Let your hands be strong,
You who have been hearing in these days
These words by the mouth of ^othe prophets,
Who spoke in ^pthe day the foundation was laid
For the house of the LORD of hosts,
That the temple might be built.
¹⁰For before these days
There were no ^qwages for man nor any hire for beast;
There was no peace from the enemy for whoever went out or came in;
For I set all men, everyone, against his neighbor.

^{11r}‘But now I will not treat the remnant of this people as in the former days,’ says the LORD of hosts.

¹²‘For^s the ⁸seed shall be prosperous,
The vine shall give its fruit,
^tThe ground shall give her increase,
And ^uthe heavens shall give their dew—
I will cause the remnant of this people
To possess all these.
¹³And it shall come to pass
That just as you were ^va curse among the nations,
O house of Judah and house of Israel,
So I will save you, and ^wyou shall be a blessing.
Do not fear,
Let your hands be strong.’

14“For thus says the LORD of hosts:

^x‘Just as I determined to ⁹punish you
When your fathers provoked Me to wrath,’

Says the LORD of hosts,

^y‘And I would not relent,

¹⁵So again in these days

I am determined to do good

To Jerusalem and to the house of Judah.

Do not fear.

¹⁶These are the things you shall ^zdo:

^aSpeak each man the truth to his neighbor;

Give judgment in your gates for truth, justice, and peace;

^{17b}Let none of you think evil in ¹⁰your heart against your neighbor;

And do not love a false oath.

For all these are things that I hate,’

Says the LORD.”

¹⁸Then the word of the LORD of hosts came to me, saying,

¹⁹“Thus says the LORD of hosts:

^c‘The fast of the fourth month,

^dThe fast of the fifth,

^eThe fast of the seventh,

^fAnd the fast of the tenth,

Shall be ^gjoy and gladness and cheerful feasts

For the house of Judah.

^hTherefore love truth and peace.’

²⁰“Thus says the LORD of hosts:

‘Peoples shall yet come,

Inhabitants of many cities;

²¹The inhabitants of one city shall go to another, saying, ⁱ“Let us continue to go and pray before the LORD,

And seek the LORD of hosts.

I myself will go also.”

²²Yes, ^jmany peoples and strong nations
Shall come to seek the LORD of hosts in Jerusalem,
And to pray before the LORD.'

²³"Thus says the LORD of hosts: 'In those days ten men ^kfrom every language of the nations shall ^lgrasp the ¹¹sleeve of a Jewish man, saying, "Let us go with you, for we have heard ^m*that God is with you.*" ' "

Zechariah 9

Israel Defended Against Enemies

¹The ¹burden of the word of the LORD
Against the land of Hadrach,
And ^aDamascus its resting place
(For ^bthe eyes of men
And all the tribes of Israel
Are on the LORD);

²Also against ^cHamath, which borders on it,
And against ^dTyre and ^eSidon, though they are very ^fwise.

³For Tyre built herself a tower,
Heaped up silver like the dust,
And gold like the mire of the streets.

⁴Behold, ^gthe LORD will cast her out;
He will destroy ^hher power in the sea,
And she will be devoured by fire.

⁵Ashkelon shall see it and fear;
Gaza also shall be very sorrowful;
And ⁱEkron, for He dried up her expectation.
The king shall perish from Gaza,
And Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

⁶“A ²mixed race shall settle ^jin Ashdod,
And I will cut off the pride of the ^kPhilistines.

⁷I will take away the blood from his mouth,
And the abominations from between his teeth.
But he who remains, even he shall be for our God,
And shall be like a leader in Judah,
And Ekron like a Jebusite.

⁸I will camp around My house
Because of the army,
Because of him who passes by and him who returns.
No more shall an oppressor pass through them,
For now I have seen with My eyes.

The Coming King
(Matt. 21:5; John 12:14, 15)

⁹“Rejoice ^mgreatly, O daughter of Zion!
Shout, O daughter of Jerusalem!
Behold, ⁿyour King is coming to you;
He is just and having salvation,
Lowly and riding on a donkey,
A colt, the foal of a donkey. Article: The Coming King
¹⁰I ^owill cut off the chariot from Ephraim
And the horse from Jerusalem;
The ^pbattle bow shall be cut off.
He shall speak peace to the nations;
His dominion shall be ^q‘from sea to sea,
And from the River to the ends of the earth.’

God Will Save His People

¹¹“As for you also,
Because of the blood of your covenant,
I will set your ^rprisoners free from the waterless pit.
¹²Return to the stronghold,
^sYou prisoners of hope.

Even today I declare
That I will restore ^tdouble to you.
¹³For I have bent Judah, My bow,
Fitted the bow with Ephraim,
And raised up your sons, O Zion,
Against your sons, O Greece,
And made you like the sword of a mighty man.”

¹⁴Then the LORD will be seen over them,
And ^uHis arrow will go forth like lightning.
The Lord GOD will blow the trumpet,
And go ^vwith whirlwinds from the south.
¹⁵The LORD of hosts will ^wdefend them;
They shall devour and subdue with slingstones.
They shall drink and roar as if with wine;
They shall be filled with blood like ³basins,
Like the corners of the altar.
¹⁶The LORD their God will ^xsave them in that day,
As the flock of His people.
For ^ythey shall be like the ⁴jewels of a crown,
^zLifted like a banner over His land—
¹⁷For ^ahow great is ⁵its goodness
And how great its ^bbeauty!
^cGrain shall make the young men thrive,
And new wine the young women.

Zechariah 10

Restoration of Judah and Israel

¹Ask ^athe LORD for ^brain
In ^cthe time of the ¹latter rain.
The LORD will make ²flashing clouds;
He will give them showers of rain,
Grass in the field for everyone.

²For the ^didols³ speak delusion;
The diviners envision ^elies,
And tell false dreams;
They ^fcomfort in vain.
Therefore the people wend their way like ^gsheep;
They are ⁴in trouble ^hbecause there is no shepherd.

³“My anger is kindled against the ⁱshepherds,
^jAnd I will punish the ⁵goatherds.
For the LORD of hosts ^kwill visit His flock,
The house of Judah,
And ^lwill make them as His royal horse in the battle.
⁴From him comes ^mthe cornerstone,
From him ⁿthe tent peg,
From him the battle bow,
From him every ⁶ruler together.
⁵They shall be like mighty men,
Who ^otread down their enemies
In the mire of the streets in the battle.
They shall fight because the LORD is with them,
And the riders on horses shall be put to shame.

⁶“I will strengthen the house of Judah,
And I will save the house of Joseph.
^pI will bring them back,
Because I ^qhave mercy on them.
They shall be as though I had not cast them aside;
For I am the LORD their God,
And I ^rwill hear them.
⁷*Those of* Ephraim shall be like a mighty man,

And their ^sheart shall rejoice as if with wine.
Yes, their children shall see it and be glad;
Their heart shall rejoice in the LORD.

⁸I will ^twhistle for them and gather them,
For I will redeem them;
^uAnd they shall increase as they once increased.

⁹“I^v will ⁷sow them among the peoples,
And they shall ^wremember Me in far countries;
They shall live, together with their children,
And they shall return.

^{10x}I will also bring them back from the land of Egypt,
And gather them from Assyria.
I will bring them into the land of Gilead and Lebanon,
^yUntil no more room is found for them.

^{11z}He shall pass through the sea with affliction,
And strike the waves of the sea:
All the depths of ⁸the River shall dry up.
Then ^athe pride of Assyria shall be brought down,
And ^bthe scepter of Egypt shall depart.

¹²“So I will strengthen them in the LORD,
And ^cthey shall walk up and down in His name,”
Says the LORD.

Zechariah 11

Desolation of Israel

¹Open ^ayour doors, O Lebanon,
That fire may devour your cedars.

²Wail, O cypress, for the ^bcedar has fallen,
Because the mighty trees are ruined.
Wail, O oaks of Bashan,

^cFor the thick forest has come down.

³*There is* the sound of wailing ^dshepherds!
For their glory is in ruins.

There is the sound of roaring lions!

For the ¹pride of the Jordan is in ruins.

Prophecy of the Shepherds

⁴Thus says the LORD my God, “Feed the flock for slaughter, ⁵“whose owners slaughter them and ^efeel no guilt; those who sell them ^fsay, ‘Blessed be the LORD, for I am rich’; and their shepherds do ^gnot pity them.

⁶“For I will no longer pity the inhabitants of the land,” says the LORD.
“But indeed I will give everyone into his neighbor’s hand and into the hand of his king. They shall ²attack the land, and I will not deliver them from their hand.”

⁷So I fed the flock for slaughter, ³in particular ^hthe poor of the flock. I took for myself two staffs: the one I called ⁴Beauty, and the other I called ⁵Bonds; and I fed the flock.

⁸I ⁶dismissed the three shepherds ⁱin one month. My soul loathed them, and their soul also abhorred me.

⁹Then I said, “I will not feed you. ^jLet what is dying die, and what is perishing perish. Let those that are left eat each other’s flesh.”

¹⁰And I took my staff, ⁷Beauty, and cut it in two, that I might break the covenant which I had made with all the peoples.

¹¹So it was broken on that day. Thus ^kthe ⁸poor of the flock, who were watching me, knew that it was the word of the LORD.

¹²Then I said to them, “If it is ⁹agreeable to you, give me my wages; and if not, refrain.” So they ^lweighed out for my wages thirty pieces of silver.

¹³And the LORD said to me, “Throw it to the ^mpotter”—that princely price they set on me. So I took the thirty pieces of silver and threw them into the house of the LORD for the potter.

¹⁴Then I cut in two my other staff, ¹⁰Bonds, that I might break the brotherhood between Judah and Israel.

¹⁵And the LORD said to me, ⁿ“Next, take for yourself the implements of a foolish shepherd.

¹⁶“For indeed I will raise up a shepherd in the land who will not care for those who are cut off, nor seek the young, nor heal those that are broken, nor feed those that still stand. But he will eat the flesh of the fat and tear their hooves in ^opieces.

¹⁷“Woe^p to the worthless shepherd,
Who leaves the flock!

A sword shall be against his arm
And against his right eye;
His arm shall completely wither,
And his right eye shall be totally blinded.”

Zechariah 12

The Coming Deliverance of Judah

¹The ¹burden of the word of the LORD against Israel. Thus says the LORD, ^awho stretches out the heavens, lays the foundation of the earth, and ^bforms the spirit of man within him:

²“Behold, I will make Jerusalem ^ca cup of ²drunkenness to all the surrounding peoples, when they lay siege against Judah and Jerusalem.

^{3d}“And it shall happen in that day that I will make Jerusalem ^ea very heavy stone for all peoples; all who would heave it away will surely be cut in pieces, though all nations of the earth are gathered against it.

⁴“In that day,” says the LORD, ^f“I will strike every horse with confusion, and its rider with madness; I will open My eyes on the house of Judah, and will strike every horse of the peoples with blindness.

⁵“And the governors of Judah shall say in their heart, ‘The inhabitants of Jerusalem are my strength in the LORD of hosts, their God.’

⁶“In that day I will make the governors of Judah ^glike a firepan in the woodpile, and like a fiery torch in the sheaves; they shall devour all the surrounding peoples on the right hand and on the left, but Jerusalem shall be inhabited again in her own place—Jerusalem.

⁷“The LORD will save the tents of Judah first, so that the glory of the house of David and the glory of the inhabitants of Jerusalem shall not become greater than that of Judah.

⁸“In that day the LORD will defend the inhabitants of Jerusalem; the one who is feeble among them in that day shall be like David, and the house of David shall be like God, like the Angel of the LORD before them.

⁹“It shall be in that day that I will seek to ^hdestroy all the nations that come against Jerusalem.

Mourning for the Pierced One

¹⁰“And I will pour on the house of David and on the inhabitants of Jerusalem the Spirit of grace and supplication; then they will ^jlook on Me whom they pierced. Yes, they will mourn for Him ^kas one mourns for his only son, and grieve for Him as one grieves for a firstborn.

¹¹“In that day there shall be a great ^lmourning in Jerusalem, ^mlike the mourning at Hadad Rimmon in the plain of ³Megiddo.

¹²ⁿ“And the land shall mourn, every family by itself: the family of the house of David by itself, and their wives by themselves; the family of the house of ^oNathan by itself, and their wives by themselves;

¹³“the family of the house of Levi by itself, and their wives by themselves; the family of Shimei by itself, and their wives by themselves;

¹⁴“all the families that remain, every family by itself, and their wives by themselves.

Zechariah 13

Idolatry Cut Off

¹“In that ^aday ^ba fountain shall be opened for the house of David and for the inhabitants of Jerusalem, for sin and for ^cuncleanness.

²“It shall be in that day,” says the LORD of hosts, “that I will ^dcut off the names of the idols from the land, and they shall no longer be remembered. I will also cause ^ethe prophets and the unclean spirit to depart from the land.

³“It shall come to pass that if anyone still prophesies, then his father and mother who begot him will say to him, ‘You shall ^fnot live, because you have spoken lies in the name of the LORD.’ And his father and mother who begot him ^gshall thrust him through when he prophesies.

⁴“And it shall be in that day that ^hevery prophet will be ashamed of his vision when he prophesies; they will not wear ⁱa robe of coarse hair to deceive.

^{5j}“But he will say, ‘I am no prophet, I am a farmer; for a man taught me to keep cattle from my youth.’

⁶“And one will say to him, ‘What are these wounds between your ¹arms?’ Then he will answer, ‘Those with which I was wounded in the house of my friends.’

The Shepherd Savior

⁷“Awake, O sword, against ^kMy Shepherd, Against the Man ^lwho is My Companion,”
Says the LORD of hosts.

^m“Strike the Shepherd,
And the sheep will be scattered;
Then I will turn My hand against ⁿthe little ones.

⁸And it shall come to pass in all the land,”
Says the LORD,

“That ^otwo-thirds in it shall be cut off and die,
^pBut one-third shall be left in it:

⁹I will bring the one-third ^qthrough the fire,
Will ^rrefine them as silver is refined,
And test them as gold is tested.

^sThey will call on My name,
And I will answer them.

^tI will say, ‘This is My people’;
And each one will say, ‘The LORD is my God.’ ”

Zechariah 14

The Day of the LORD

(cf. Ezek. 38; 39; Mark 13; Rev. 20—22)

¹Behold, ^athe day of the LORD is coming,
And your ¹spoil will be divided in your midst.
²For ^bI will gather all the nations to battle against Jerusalem;
The city shall be taken,
The houses ²rifled,
And the women ravished.
Half of the city shall go into captivity,
But the remnant of the people shall not be cut off from the city.

³Then the LORD will go forth
And fight against those nations,
As He fights in the day of battle.
⁴And in that day His feet will stand ^con the Mount of Olives,
Which faces Jerusalem on the east.
And the Mount of Olives shall be split in two,
From east to west,
^dMaking a very large valley;
Half of the mountain shall move toward the north
And half of it toward the south.

⁵Then you shall flee through My mountain valley,
For the mountain valley shall reach to Azal.
Yes, you shall flee
As you fled from the ^eearthquake
In the days of Uzziah king of Judah.

^fThus the LORD my God will come,
And ^gall the saints with ³You.

⁶It shall come to pass in that day
That there will be no light;

The ⁴lights will diminish.
⁷It shall be one day
^hWhich is known to the LORD—
Neither day nor night.
But at ⁱevening time it shall happen
That it will be light.

⁸And in that day it shall be
That living ^jwaters shall flow from Jerusalem,
Half of them toward ⁵the eastern sea
And half of them toward ⁶the western sea;
In both summer and winter it shall occur.
⁹And the LORD shall be ^kKing over all the earth.
In that day it shall be—
^l“The LORD is one,”
And His name one.

¹⁰All the land shall be turned into a plain from Geba to Rimmon south of Jerusalem. ⁷*Jerusalem* shall be raised up and ^minhabited in her place from Benjamin’s Gate to the place of the First Gate and the Corner Gate, ⁿand from the Tower of Hananel to the king’s winepresses.

¹¹*The people* shall dwell in it;
And ^ono longer shall there be utter destruction,
^pBut Jerusalem shall be safely inhabited.

¹²And this shall be the plague with which the LORD will strike all the people who fought against Jerusalem:

Their flesh shall ⁸dissolve while they stand on their feet,
Their eyes shall dissolve in their sockets,
And their tongues shall dissolve in their mouths.

¹³It shall come to pass in that day
That ^qa great panic from the LORD will be among them.
Everyone will seize the hand of his neighbor,
And raise ^rhis hand against his neighbor’s hand;
¹⁴Judah also will fight at Jerusalem.

^sAnd the wealth of all the surrounding nations
Shall be gathered together:
Gold, silver, and apparel in great abundance.

^{15t}Such also shall be the plague
On the horse and the mule,
On the camel and the donkey,
And on all the cattle that will be in those camps.
So shall this plague be.

The Nations Worship the King

¹⁶And it shall come to pass that everyone who is left of all the nations which came against Jerusalem shall ^ugo up from year to year to ^vworship the King, the LORD of hosts, and to keep ^wthe Feast of Tabernacles.

^{17x}And it shall be that whichever of the families of the earth do not come up to Jerusalem to worship the King, the LORD of hosts, on them there will be no rain.

¹⁸If the family of ^yEgypt will not come up and enter in, ^zthey shall have no rain; they shall receive the plague with which the LORD strikes the nations who do not come up to keep the Feast of Tabernacles.

¹⁹This shall be the ⁹punishment of Egypt and the punishment of all the nations that do not come up to keep the Feast of Tabernacles.

²⁰In that day ^a“HOLINESS TO THE LORD” shall be engraved on the bells of the horses. The ^bpots in the LORD’s house shall be like the bowls before the altar.

²¹Yes, ¹⁰every pot in Jerusalem and Judah shall be holiness to the LORD of hosts. Everyone who sacrifices shall come and take them and cook in them. In that day there shall no longer be a ^cCanaanite ^din the house of the LORD of hosts.

Annotations for Zechariah

- 1:1 The eighth month corresponds to October-November on our calendar. Darius ruled Persia from 522 to 486 B.C. Thus his second year was 520 B.C. The name Zechariah means “Yahweh Remembers,” emphasizing God’s faithfulness to His covenant promises and to His people.
- 1:2 The fathers refers to the ancestors of the present generation who had disobeyed God and come under His judgment (see 2 Chr. 36:15, 16).
- 1:3 The words return to Me remind us of the depth of God’s unconditional love. says the LORD of hosts: The personal name translated “LORD” speaks of God’s gracious nature as He relates to His people (see Ex. 3:15); the hosts are the angelic armies that await His every command.
- 1:4 The former prophets refers to men like Habakkuk, Zephaniah, and Jeremiah, who had lived during the last years of the Judean monarchy and had warned of coming judgment.
- 1:5, 6 Their fathers had been killed or exiled and even the prophets had perished. The previous generation had been overtaken by God’s judgment (see Deut. 28:15–68).
- 1:7–6:15 This section contains a sequence of eight night visions concerning Israel’s future, followed by the symbolic crowning of the high priest Joshua. Here Zechariah pursues the same end as Haggai, rebuilding the temple as the center of worship and world rule, and as a place of pilgrimage for the nations (8:20–23; Hag. 2:7–9). The eight night visions follow a general pattern. Zechariah describes what he sees, then asks the question, “What does this mean?” Finally he is given an explanation by an accompanying angel.
- 1:7 The eleventh month (Shebat is the Babylonian name) corresponds to January–February, 519 B.C. the word of the LORD: Here the phrase refers to a prophetic vision.
- 1:8 Myrtle is an evergreen tree that was once very common in the vicinity of Jerusalem (Neh. 8:15).
- 1:12, 13 The prophet overhears a conversation between the Angel of the LORD and God. This may be a conversation between the pre-incarnate Jesus and the first Person of the Trinity, God the Father (see Ps. 110). It is certainly an allusion to Jesus’ role as Intercessor. As the author of Hebrews states, Jesus lives to make intercession for us (Heb. 7:25) at the right hand of the Father. The seventy years refers to the period of exile during which the temple lay in ruins (586–515 B.C.; see Jer. 25:7–14).
- 1:14 the angel who spoke with me: This is the interpreting angel in the dramatic vision, not the Angel of the Lord (v. 11). I am zealous: The passion of the Lord can be seen in His defense of His special relationship with Israel and Jerusalem.
- 1:15 I am exceedingly angry: Here the anger of God was against the nations that He had used to punish His unrepentant people.
- 1:16 God promised to show compassion on His people and to rebuild the Jerusalem temple (My house). A surveyor’s line was used to make measurements in preparation for new construction. The stretching of the line was a promise that the work would begin and that the completion of the task would follow.
- 1:17 again choose Jerusalem: Jerusalem’s election is a prominent emphasis in Zechariah (2:12; 3:2). The word Zion describes Jerusalem in an affectionate way (see Zeph. 3:14).
- 1:18 Animal horns were often used by poets and prophets as symbols of powerful nations and their kings (see Dan. 7:7, 8, 24). The horns that persecuted Israel and Judah included Assyria, Babylon, Medo-Persia, and later Greece.
- 1:20, 21 four craftsmen: The craftsmen or “smiths” destroyed the horns (v. 19). Historically, Babylon destroyed Assyria, Medo-Persia conquered Babylon, Greece conquered Medo-Persia, and Rome overcame Greece. These are dominant themes in the prophecies of Daniel (see Dan. 2; 7).
- 2:4, 5 This young man refers to Zechariah. Here the words may indicate that Zechariah was young when he began his prophetic ministry (see Jer. 1:6). towns without walls: Jerusalem will have no need for defensive fortifications because God’s presence will guarantee its safety and security.

These words refer ultimately to the future Jerusalem under the rule of its glorious king (see Zeph. 3:15–19). I will be the glory: These words drive us to the vision of the New Jerusalem (Rev. 21:1–3, 10, 11, 22, 23).

2:6 Although Babylon was east of Israel, travelers typically followed the Euphrates River and approached Israel from the north.

2:7 The name Zion may have first applied to the Jebusite stronghold captured by David (2 Sam. 5:7). It was later used for the temple mount (Ps. 78:68, 69) and became a synonym for Jerusalem (Is. 40:9; Mic. 3:12). Daughter of Babylon signified the people living in the city of Babylon.

2:8, 9 The word touches refers to a touch that produces harm. The apple of His eye refers to the pupil—this is an endearing expression, suggesting how enormously important the Hebrew people are to God because of His covenant with them. Just as we protect our eyes from even the smallest particles of dust, so God protects and cares for His people. Then you will know: The fulfillment of this prophecy would authenticate Zechariah’s commission as God’s spokesman (see Deut. 18:21, 22).

2:10 daughter of Zion: As elsewhere, we may think of this phrase as a particularly affectionate manner of addressing Jerusalem and its people as the daughter of the Lord (see Zeph. 3:14).

2:11 Many nations refer to Gentiles who will enter into a relationship with God and become His people (Gen. 12:3; Joel 2:28; Amos 9:12; Rev. 21:24). The words My people are used elsewhere in the context of the renewal of God’s covenant with His believing people (Jer. 31:33; 32:38; Hos. 2:23; see also Ex. 3:7; Deut. 4:20; 14:2; 26:19).

2:12 Surprisingly, the familiar phrase the Holy Land occurs in the OT only here. The land is holy because of the presence of God among His believing people.

2:13 God had aroused Himself from His heavenly sanctuary and was about to intervene on behalf of His people. Hence be silent was not an anticipation of worship, but calls for terror at the judgment that was about to be unleashed from God’s glory (see Zeph. 1:7).

3:1 Zechariah saw a heavenly courtroom where Joshua, representing the people of Judah, was standing before the Angel of the LORD and was being accused by Satan. This is not the Joshua who succeeded Moses, but the high priest who returned to Jerusalem with the exiles (Ezra 3:2). Satan: The Hebrew is literally “the Satan,” meaning “the Accuser.” The picture is not unlike that of Job 1, where Satan stands before the Lord making accusations against people who follow God.

3:2 The LORD rebuke you, Satan: These words presuppose an earlier conversation in which Satan made accusations against the people and their priest. We are reminded that Satan is not sovereign; He is subject to the Sovereign Lord who will handle him. The brand plucked from the fire refers to Judah, delivered from the fire of Babylonian captivity. Joshua, their priest, represented the nation, a people of God’s favor.

3:3 The high priest represented the people before God (see Ex. 28:29) and under no circumstances was to become defiled or unclean (Ex. 28:2; Lev. 21:10–15). Joshua’s filthy garments were literally “befouled with excrement.”

3:4, 5 The cleansing of Joshua was not complete with the removal of his sin-soiled garments. God replaced the dirty clothes, dressing Joshua in clean garments that represented the gift of God’s righteousness. As sin is removed by the work of Christ, so His righteousness is placed in the believer’s account (see Rom. 5:18, 19; 2 Cor. 5:21). We are clothed in the garments of Christ’s righteousness. The fact that Joshua had no part in his cleansing indicates that this work was totally by God’s grace.

3:7 Joshua was recommissioned as the nation’s high priest. For his faithfulness he was promised the privilege of exercising authority over God’s temple—My house—and its courts.

3:8 The coming Messiah is depicted as God’s Servant (Is. 53:11). He is also referred to as the BRANCH. Isaiah used this word and a similar one to describe the Messiah who will grow out of the root of the family of Jesse as a tender sprout shoots up from the ground (see 6:12; Is. 4:2; 11:1; 53:2). Joshua and his companions were a sign because the reinstitution of the priesthood made public God’s continuing intention to fulfill His promises to His people.

3:9 stone: Like the priest Aaron, who possessed a jeweled ephod (see Ex. 25:7; 35:9), so the new priest possessed a lustrous stone, a symbol of the authority of his office. The eyes may be symbolic of wisdom and of the endowment of the Holy Spirit (see 4:10; Is. 11:2).

3:10 Sitting under the vine and under the fig tree is an image of peace and tranquility characteristic of the messianic kingdom (Mic. 4:4).

4:1 wakened me: It appears that these night visions came in the course of a single night.

angel

(Heb. mal'ak) (4:1; 2 Sam. 2:5; 24:16; Ps. 34:7; Is. 37:9) Strong's #4397

This noun may refer to angelic beings (4:1, 5; Gen. 19:1; Ps. 91:11), human messengers (Gen. 32:3; Deut. 2:26), or ambassadors (Is. 30:4; Ezek. 17:15). A special use is the manifestation of the Godhead known as the Angel of God in the OT (2:6; see Gen. 21:17; Ex. 14:19). In the OT, prophets (Hag. 1:13) and priests (Mal. 2:7) function as messengers from God. In Zechariah, angels bring revelations from God about the future and interpret the meaning of dreams and visions (1:14; 6:4, 5). Jesus identified the messenger who prepared the way for the day of the Lord, forecast in Mal. 3:1, as John the Baptist (Matt. 11:10, 11).

- 4:2, 3 The lampstand of solid gold would remind the people of the lampstand in the tabernacle and the temple.
- 4:6 The rebuilding of the temple, which had at last begun in earnest (Ezra 5:1, 2; Hag. 1:14), would be accomplished not by human strength or resources, but by the power of God's Spirit.
- 4:7 The great mountain was a figurative reference to the great obstacles the people faced in rebuilding the temple (Ezra 5:3–17). The setting of the capstone would mark the completion of the project. The words Grace, grace to it may be understood as a prayer for God's favor, or as a cry of admiration over the grace and beauty of the newly built temple.
- 4:9 His hands: The promise concerning Zerubbabel is significant; the task that he began he would also complete.
- 4:10 the day of small things: There is nothing wrong with a small work. Little can indeed be much if God is in it. These seven, a number used symbolically to represent the idea of completeness, are identified as the eyes of the LORD (see "eyes" in 3:9). The fact that these eyes will rejoice at the plumb line in Zerubbabel's hand suggests the delight of God over the rebuilding of the temple.
- 4:11–14 The two olive branches are identified as two anointed ones, representatives of the religious and political offices in Israel, or of priest and king. Many identify the two branches with the high priest Joshua and the governor Zerubbabel.
- 5:2 A scroll was made of rolled parchment or leather and was the ancient equivalent of a book (see Jer. 36:1–8). A cubit was about 18 inches. The scroll, approximately the size of a billboard, measured about 15 by 30 feet.
- 5:3 The writing on the scroll was a message of judgment. The curse refers to the judgments spoken of in the Mosaic covenant (Deut. 30:7). The message on the scroll warned that the curses described in the covenant as a result of the people's disobedience would be executed upon the whole land.
- 5:4 And consume it: God's great love does not preclude the exercise of His judgment on those who violate His will. The judgment upon the disobedient would be certain and severe.
- 5:6 The word translated basket is literally ephah, a unit of dry measure of about half a bushel. The word translated resemblance was understood as iniquity in some ancient versions.
- 5:7, 8 The woman sitting inside the basket is Wickedness, a personification of sin.

- 5:9 Next Zechariah saw two women, God's agents, disposing of the wicked woman in the basket. the wings of a stork: The stork is a migratory bird frequently seen traveling north along the Jordan valley in the spring of the year.
- 5:11 Shinar was an ancient name for the district in which the cities of Babylon (Babel), Erech, Accad, and Calneh were located (Gen. 10:10; 11:2). The fact that a house was built for the woman suggests that the removal of wickedness (v. 8) from Israel was permanent.
- 6:1 chariots: In ancient times two-wheeled and four-wheeled horse-drawn carts served as vehicles for transportation and for warfare. The war chariots usually had a crew of two or three men including a driver, an archer, and a defender who used a shield to protect the others.
- 6:5 These chariots and their teams represented four spirits of heaven, probably angels.
- 6:6, 7 The horses were eager to take the four spirits on their mission to bring divine judgment on the peoples of the earth.
- 6:8 The activity of the chariot teams would give rest to God's Spirit because His agents would be executing His judgment on the nations that threatened Israel. Cyrus's overthrow of Babylon in 539 B.C. may well have been a part of this judgment (Is. 13:1–22; 45:1–6).
- 6:10, 11 The captives refer to the new arrivals from Babylon, who brought gifts of silver and gold to help the restored community of Israelites. The elaborate crown was possibly a composite crown made up of several circlets. The crown was to be placed on the head of Joshua the high priest.
- 6:12 The Messiah Himself will build the temple of the LORD. Since the restoration temple (the second temple) was already being built and would be completed by Zerubbabel (see 4:9), the temple referred to here may be the future temple of the messianic kingdom (see Is. 2:2–4; Ezek. 40–42; Mic. 4:1–5; Hag. 2:7–9). The temple of Zerubbabel was a prophetic symbol of the temple that is still to come.

BRANCH

(Heb. tsemach) (3:8; 6:12; Is. 4:2; Jer. 23:5) Strong's #6780

The Hebrew term translated as BRANCH here means “Shoot” or “Twig.” This is one title for the coming Messiah, the “Branch” who would “shoot” up from the royal stock of David, a dynasty that had been interrupted with the Babylonian exile (Is. 11:1). Many of the prophets promised that a King from David’s line would reign in righteousness (Jer. 23:5, 6) and as a priest would reestablish true worship of the Lord (6:12, 13). In His ministry, Jesus Christ fulfilled these predictions by taking on both a royal (see John 12:13–15; 1 Tim. 6:13–16) and a priestly role (see Heb. 4:14).

6:13 He will sit and rule and be a priest. In the Messiah the two offices of king and priest will be united (John 1:49; Heb. 3:1).

6:15 Those from afar include Gentile peoples (see 8:22; see Hag. 2:7–9; Eph. 2:13).

7:1 The fourth year of Darius was 518 B.C. The ninth month or Chislev (the Babylonian name) corresponds to November–December.

7:2 The words translated house of God may also mean “Bethel,” a town 12 miles north of Jerusalem. Over two hundred Jews from Bethel returned from Babylon in 538 B.C. (Ezra 2:28; Neh. 7:32), and the city was reoccupied during the restoration period (Neh. 11:31). It seems most likely that the people of Bethel sent a delegation to ask a question of the priests in Jerusalem.

7:3 The house of the LORD of hosts refers to the temple in Jerusalem. The fast in the fifth month (July–August) commemorated the destruction of the temple in 586 B.C. (2 Kin. 25:8). The delegation from Bethel wanted to know if it was necessary to continue this annual fast as it had been observed during the Babylonian captivity.

7:5, 6 did you really fast for Me—for Me: The rhetorical question was designed to confront the people and priests with the selfish motives of their self-righteous fasting. Biblical fasting is meant to be time taken from the normal routines of preparing and eating food to express humility and dependence on God during a time of prayer. There was only one required fast in the Law of Moses, the fast on the Day of Atonement (see Lev. 16:29). The fast during the seventh month lamented the slaying of Gedaliah (2 Kin. 25:25). The seventy years (see 1:12; Jer. 25:11; 29:10) refer to the period of time while the people were in exile and the temple lay in ruins. for yourselves: Their fasting and their feasting were both motivated by self-interest rather than a desire to honor God.

7:7 The former prophets were those who ministered before the Exile (1:4; see 2 Chr. 36:15, 16). The South is the Negev, the dry region of Judah around Beersheba. The Lowland is the transitional region between the hill country of Judah and the coastal plain.

7:9, 10 Zechariah’s four admonitions highlight the practical social concerns that many of the prophets emphasized (Is. 1:11–17; Hos. 6:6; Mic. 6:6–8). Execute true justice: Judicial decisions must be made without partiality or bias. Show mercy and compassion: Loving commitment and concern should guide our relationships with others. Do not oppress: No advantage is to be taken of the helpless and less fortunate. Let none of you plan evil: Evil scheming against others is prohibited.

- Sacrifices and worship are of little interest to God if they are not accompanied by practical piety.
- 7:11–14 Zechariah describes the response of the disobedient Judeans living in the land before the Babylonian exile. The consequence was God’s judgment—they were scattered.
- 8:1–3 The Lord again states that He is zealous for Jerusalem (1:14; see Nah. 1:2). This theme in Zechariah emphasizes the Lord’s great passion for His people. He longed to bless them with His presence and in turn desired their worship. Zion is the poetic equivalent of Jerusalem (see 2:7). The label City of Truth will be valid only when the Messiah brings His righteous reign to that city. Then the land will be holy (see 2:12).
- 8:4, 5 Zechariah predicts that in the future messianic era, Jerusalem will be inhabited and secure. The longevity of the citizens and the presence of children at play in its streets suggests the city’s future prosperity and divine blessing.
- 8:6 The rhetorical question implies that nothing is too marvelous or difficult for God.
- 8:7, 8 The terms east and west represent all parts of the earth. The expressions My people and their God (see 2:11) occur in the descriptions of God’s covenant relationship with His people (Ex. 19:5; 29:45; Lev. 26:12; Hos. 2:23). With these words, Zechariah anticipates a renewal of God’s covenant with His people (see Jer. 31:31–34).
- 8:9 The foundation of the second temple was laid in 536 B.C. (see Ezra 3:8–13).
- 8:10 no wages . . . no peace: Zechariah recounts the desperate situation in Judea before the work on the temple resumed in 520 B.C. (see Hag. 1:1, 6, 10, 11; 2:16, 17).
- 8:11–13 In the past, the people had been subject to God’s discipline. In view of their recent obedience with regard to rebuilding the temple, they could now anticipate His blessing. Let your hands be strong: In view of God’s gracious purposes and future plans for His people, they were called to be diligent in their present efforts to serve Him with sincere hearts (see 1 Cor. 15:58).
- 8:16, 17 Zechariah set forth the ethical obligations of a life of faith. He upheld the positive values of truth and justice and condemned evil plans and false oaths. The words speak each man the truth are quoted by Paul in Eph. 4:25.
- 8:18, 19 As a result of God’s blessing on his obedient people, the former fasts will become feasts. The fast of the fourth month commemorated the breach of Jerusalem’s walls (Jer. 39:2). The fast of the fifth commemorated the temple destruction (2 Kin. 25:8). The fast of the seventh commemorated the slaying of Gedaliah (2 Kin. 25:25), and the fast of the tenth commemorated the beginning of Nebuchadnezzar’s siege of Jerusalem (2 Kin. 25:1, 2).
- 8:20–23 Here Zechariah announces a great turning of the nations to God. During the messianic era, a multitude of people from many cities will go to Jerusalem to seek the LORD. These Gentiles will be included among the people of God by faith (Eph. 2:13–19).
- 9:1 The word burden suggests that a weighty judgment must be declared. Hadrach was north of Hamath on the Orontes River, southwest of Aleppo. Damascus, 60 miles northeast of the Sea of Galilee, was the capital of Aram (ancient Syria).
- 9:2 Hamath is mentioned in several places as the northern limit of the Promised Land (Num. 13:21; Josh. 13:5). Tyre and Sidon are port cities located north of Israel on the Phoenician coast.
- 9:3, 4 The complete overthrow of Tyre by Alexander the Great in 332 B.C. illustrates how even such a powerful city can come under God’s judgment.
- 9:5, 6 Ashkelon, Gaza, Ekron, and Ashdod were Philistine cities located on Israel’s coastal plain south of Joppa (1 Sam. 6:17). The city of Gath completed the “five principal cities” of the Philistines.
- 9:7 The removal of blood from his mouth and abominations refer to the cessation of unlawful and idolatrous practices (Lev. 17:14; Is. 65:4; 66:17). Ekron like a Jebusite: The Jebusites were the old inhabitants of Jebus, the stronghold that became Jerusalem (2 Sam. 5:6, 7).
- 9:8 God will return as a victorious Warrior to the temple—My house—where He will set up a guard against any who would dare tramp through Judah’s territory.
- 9:9 This prophecy was fulfilled on the day of the Triumphal Entry, when Jesus rode into Jerusalem on the colt of a donkey (Matt. 21:2–7; John 12:12–15). The donkey was the mount of princes (Judg. 5:10; 10:4; 12:14) and kings (2 Sam. 16:1, 2).

The Coming King

Luke tells us that after Jesus ascended to heaven, the disciples returned to Jerusalem (Luke 24:52). They also went back to the Scriptures. The Old Testament suddenly blossomed with good news. Everywhere they looked they found evidence that pointed toward the specifics of Jesus' life and ministry. When they wondered why they had missed the connections before, they must have also remembered Jesus' promise, "When He, the Spirit of truth, has come, He will guide you into all truth" (John 16:13).

When the Gospel writers recorded the details of Jesus' life, they often used references from the Old Testament to illustrate how clearly Jesus fulfilled the character of the promised Savior and the prophecies regarding His ministry. They particularly enjoyed quoting Old Testament passages that clearly predicted the suffering and rejection aspects of the Messiah's role. For them, it was the central theme that set Jesus apart from the popular ideas of a conquering and powerful political messiah.

Zechariah 9:9, 10 presents a prophecy whose fulfillment was clearly set in motion (although not completed) by Jesus' arrival in Jerusalem on a colt, the well-known Triumphal Entry. Both Matthew and John mention this passage. John even notes that the disciples saw no immediate connection between Jesus riding on the colt and His identity as the Messiah prophesied in Zechariah. After Jesus was glorified, "then they remembered that these things were written about Him" (John 12:16).

These verses in Zechariah include an important transition. The arrival of the saving King is followed immediately by a description of the effects of His long-term reign. This is an example of "prophetic compression." Viewed from the broader context of prophecy, Zechariah was mentioning together two stages in God's plan which are actually separated in time. The coming King would arrive twice. Jesus came first as a humble King of peace and salvation, accomplished in Jesus' earthly ministry and His death on the Cross. Second, Jesus will come as a victorious Ruler over all the world who will "speak peace to the nations." We should rejoice over Jesus' first coming and anticipate the complete fulfillment of Zechariah's prophecy at Christ's glorious return.

Zechariah 9:9, 10 presents a prophecy whose fulfillment was clearly set in motion by Jesus' arrival in Jerusalem on a colt.

- 9:10 Instruments of warfare—the chariot and the battle bow—will be destroyed and universal peace will be established. Ephraim refers to the northern tribes of Israel. The River refers to the Euphrates, the northeast boundary of the Promised Land (Gen. 15:18).
- 9:11, 12 The release of prisoners announced here would serve as a great encouragement for the Jewish people still in exile. Even though the prisoners were living in a well-watered place in Persia (see Ezek. 1:1), they were in a place akin to a waterless pit in terms of their opportunity for spiritual nourishment. They were exhorted to return to the stronghold Jerusalem.
- 9:13 Zechariah used a bold metaphor likening Judah and Ephraim to a bow and arrow prepared by the Lord to be used against Greece, literally Javan (see Is. 66:19).
- 9:14 whirlwinds: This description, patterned after God’s appearance at Sinai (Ex. 19), reveals God’s sovereignty and power to protect His own.
- 9:15 Zechariah describes the victory banquet of God’s people in celebration of His victory over the nations and securing of Jerusalem. The people will be filled with drink like sacrificial basins were filled with blood, and they will be filled with meat like the corners of a sacrificial altar (see Ps. 110).
- 9:17 The abundance of grain and new wine suggests the prosperity and blessing of this future day (see 3:10; 8:4, 5; see also Amos 9:13).
- 10:1 The latter rain (Deut. 11:14) refers to the rain that comes in late spring and is essential for an abundant grain harvest.
- 10:2 Idols refers to household gods (see Gen. 31:19). Diviners, like Balaam, interpreted omens as a means of foretelling the future (Josh. 13:22; 1 Sam. 6:2). no shepherd: The metaphor of shepherd was often used in the ancient Middle East to represent a king or ruler (see Ezek. 34:6–8, 23, 24). Here the emphasis was on the lack of spiritual leadership.
- 10:3 While Israel lacked national leadership, there were plenty of tyrants seeking to rule God’s people. These goatherds will be judged. By way of contrast, God will strengthen the house of Judah as an instrument to overthrow these oppressors.
- 10:4, 5 The poetic metaphors in these verses reflect the strength, stability, and victory that God will impart to His people (vv. 3, 6). Cornerstone is an image of steadfast strength or stability, coupled with beauty and honor (Is. 28:16; see also Ps. 118:22). tent peg: A peg firmly in place suggests permanence and endurance (Is. 22:23). battle bow: This image pictures the strength necessary for military conquest (2 Kin. 13:17).
- 10:6 The house of Judah indicates Israel’s southern territory. The house of Joseph is Israel’s northern territory, dominated by Ephraim (v. 7) and Manasseh, tribes named after Joseph’s sons (Gen. 41:51, 52). The promise I will bring them back is a promise of restoration. The dispersed remnant of Israel would return to the Promised Land (see Matt. 24:31).
- 10:7 What was promised to Judah in v. 5 is here promised to Ephraim. as if with wine: Wine is used here as a symbol of abundant joy (Ps. 104:15; see Amos 9:13; John 2:1–11).
- 10:8 As a shepherd signals his sheep, so the Lord will whistle for His people to return to the land. For I will redeem them: God will deliver them from sin (3:4, 9) and from the bondage of captivity (Matt. 24:31).

- 10:9 Being sown among the peoples was God's punishment of the exiles for their disobedience (Deut. 28:63, 64). The words they shall remember Me anticipate their turning to the Lord in repentance. Shall live implies more than mere survival. God promises spiritual life and blessing to the repentant.
- 10:10 Assyria is the region of northern Mesopotamia. Egypt and Assyria had been lands where Israel was captive. Gilead is the territory east of the Jordan and southeast of the Sea of Galilee. Lebanon is the region north of Galilee. The future restoration will be so complete that the land will be filled with people.
- 10:11 God would remove any impediment to Israel's return. Zechariah used imagery from the Exodus—the sea, the River—to illustrate the kinds of obstacles God would overcome (see Ex. 14:21–31; Josh. 3:14–17).
- 10:12 I will strengthen them: The regathering will be accomplished by God's power as He gives strength to His people. they shall walk . . . in His name: In the last days, Israel will return to the land as a believing nation (v. 8; 12:10–13:1; Rom. 11:26).
- 11:1 Lebanon was known for its beautiful and fragrant cedars, trees used by Solomon in building his palace and the temple.
- 11:2, 3 The cypress, or juniper, will wail for the cedars of Lebanon. The shepherds will wail because the grazing lands will be ruined. The lions will roar because of the destruction of the pride of the Jordan, the jungle thicket that was their shelter.
- 11:4 Zechariah was commanded to feed or pasture the flock of God's people Israel, knowing it was destined for slaughter.
- 11:6 The petty tyrants and oppressors (v. 5) will fall victim to foreign kings who attack the land.
- 11:7 In obedience to God's command (v. 4), Zechariah pastured the flock doomed for slaughter. As shepherds carried implements to guide and protect the sheep (Ps. 23:4), so Zechariah had two staffs. Their names Beauty and Bonds suggest that he wanted the flock to enjoy God's favor and to experience national unity. According to Canaanite legend, the god Baal was given the two clubs named Driver and Chaser to battle the dark deities of the sea. It is appropriate that God's messenger Zechariah is given shepherd's staffs to guide the people, instead of clubs for fighting.
- 11:8 three shepherds: Some have suggested that the three shepherds represent classes of rulers in Israel: kings, priests, and prophets. Others suggest that they refer to the last three kings of Judah or to certain high priests of the Maccabean era.
- 11:9 Let what is dying die: The judgment which God has decreed should be accepted, not resisted. eat each other's flesh: Cannibalism was one of the horrors of famine that resulted from siege warfare (Deut. 28:54–57; Lam. 4:10).
- 11:10 The breaking of the staff Beauty symbolizes the end of God's protection of His people. break the covenant: God's unconditional promise to Abraham (Gen. 12:1–3) or to David (2 Sam. 7:12–16) would never be broken. Like Ezekiel's covenant of peace (Ezek. 34:25), the covenant here may refer to an agreement with the Gentile nation on Israel's behalf.
- 11:12 Zechariah, taking the role of the messianic shepherd, requested his wages for service rendered. His wage was calculated as thirty pieces of silver, the price of a slave (Ex. 21:32). This was the price paid to Judas for betraying Jesus (see Matt. 27:6–10).
- 11:13 The command throw it to the potter is further illuminated by Zechariah's action. He threw them into the house of the LORD for the potter. Potters may have been connected with the temple because of the continual need for sacred vessels (Lev. 6:28).
- 11:14 The rejection of the messianic shepherd, represented by Zechariah, meant that the national unity the Israelites hoped for would not be achieved at this time. But one day the two nations Judah and Israel will be united (Ezek. 37:16–28).
- 11:15, 16 To take the implements of a foolish shepherd means to behave like one. Eat the flesh and tear their hooves expresses the savagery of a foolish shepherd.
- 11:17 The worthless shepherd will be judged. His arm, which should have been used to protect the sheep, will wither. His right eye, which should have watched over the sheep, will be blinded.

12:1 As in 9:1, the burden is a weighty judgment that the prophet must discharge. Three phrases are used here in describing the greatness of God as Creator of the heavens, the earth, and the spirit of man.

12:2 Jerusalem is depicted as a cup of wine or strong drink which causes drunkenness. The cup is a common metaphor for God's wrath (see Is. 51:17; Jer. 25:15; Ezek. 23:33; Rev. 14:10; 16:19). Siege warfare involved encircling a city to prevent the inhabitants from fleeing and to cut off all supplies of food and water.

12:3 Jerusalem is compared to a heavy stone that brings injury to anyone who tries to remove it from its place.

12:5 The governors or leaders of Judah would affirm God's power to deliver through His people. The people's strength would be in the LORD (see Phil. 4:13).

12:6 Judah is likened to (1) a firepan used to carry hot coals for the purpose of starting a fire, and (2) a fiery torch that could quickly ignite a field of cut grain.

12:7 Tents of Judah alludes to Jews living outside Jerusalem in the rural districts of the land. The house of David means David's descendants.

12:8 With bold analogy, Zechariah likens David's descendants to God. The Angel of the LORD is clearly a divine being (Ex. 23:20; Num. 22:22; Judg. 2:1; 13:15–22).

12:9 All the nations that have attacked Jerusalem (v. 2) will be judged and destroyed (Matt. 25:31–46).

12:10 pour: This metaphor is derived from the deluge of winter rains and speaks of abundant provision (Job 36:28; Is. 44:3; Lam. 2:19). Spirit of grace refers to the gracious working of the Holy Spirit that leads to conviction and repentance (John 16:8–11). supplication: The Spirit will stimulate an attitude of repentance and prayer for God's mercy. There are many significant ministries of the Holy Spirit in the period of the Hebrew kingdom. Me whom they pierced: Jewish commentators often regard this as a corporate reference to the Jews killed in the defense of Jerusalem (12:1–9). The Jewish Talmud views the text as referring to the Messiah who will be pierced in battle. The messianic view is favored by the fact that Jesus was pierced with a spear after His death on the Cross (John 19:34).

12:11 Hadad Rimmon may have been the site of some tragedy whose grief was still vividly remembered. Or the place may have been associated with religious rites involving mourning.

12:12–14 All of Israel will mourn for the Messiah, including members of the royal family and the priests, the house of David and the house of Levi. wives by themselves: These words are quoted in the Talmud as an argument for separating men and women in worship. But the verse seems to indicate that each mourner will face his or her sorrow alone, without the comfort of companionship. Shimei was Levi's grandson (Num. 3:18, 21).

13:1 The fountain is an image of abundant, overflowing provision. Cleansing from the impurity of sin was made available by Christ at the Cross. At the time of Christ's second coming, the repentant and believing remnant of Israel will appropriate that provision and enter into the benefits of the New Covenant (Jer. 31:31–34; Ezek. 36:25–28). Paul anticipated this great day in Rom. 11:26.

13:2 cut off the names of the idols: In ancient times, a person's name reflected his or her reputation. Zechariah anticipated the complete removal of the reputation and acknowledgment of false gods.

13:3 According to the Law of Moses (Deut. 13:5; 18:20), a false prophet must be put to death. The startling thing here is that the false prophet's parents must confront the offender and carry out the penalty.

13:4 False prophets will deny that they are prophets for fear of punishment and will refuse to wear a robe of coarse hair, the traditional prophet's clothing (2 Kin. 1:8; Matt. 3:4).

13:5 Instead of laying claim to prophetic office, they will say they have been farmers from their youth. This seems to be a parody of Amos 7:14.

13:6 It is likely that the wounds betrayed the profession of an ecstatic prophet who slashed himself on the back or breast. The words between your arms refer to the body, either the back or the chest. Self-inflicted wounds were thought to gain the attention and blessing of the gods (see 1 Kin. 18:28). Under questioning, the man declares that the wounds were received from friends so that he will not be found out as a false prophet and be put to death (v. 3).

13:7 The sword, an instrument of death, is likened to a warrior being roused for action. The Lord commands the sword to strike the Messiah, My Shepherd. This clearly indicates that the death of Jesus was no accident, but was divinely determined. My Companion: This term is used elsewhere of one who is a near neighbor or close companion (Lev. 6:2; 18:20; 19:15). It suggests a relationship of equality. The little ones may be first-century disciples, unbelieving Jews of all ages, or a faithful remnant of the future. Since Jewish people have suffered throughout history (the Crusades, the Spanish Inquisition, the Nazi Holocaust), this passage may be taken as a general prophecy of persecution and suffering for the shepherdless people of Israel.

13:8 Zechariah revealed the devastating result of God's dealing with His errant flock. The scattered flock will face a great judgment in which only one-third will survive.

13:9 The remnant that survives will be purged, purified, and reestablished in a covenant relationship with God. refined: The smelting pot uses intense heat to separate the dross from pure metal. tested: Once refined, precious metal must be analyzed to determine its value. The expressions this is My people and the LORD is my God recall the covenant (Lev. 26:12) and speak here of a covenant renewal to a spiritually revitalized Israel (Ezek. 36:28; Hos. 2:23; Rom. 11:26, 27).

14:1 Some have suggested that this spoil refers to what is seized from Israel's enemies, apparently anticipating the victory mentioned in v. 14. The immediate context, however, indicates that the spoil was taken from Jerusalem by her enemies (v. 2).

14:2 The remnant of the people who survive the attack are evidently the one-third that will be brought through the refiner's fire (13:8, 9).

14:3 The LORD will turn Jerusalem's defeat into a victory. God the Warrior (Ex. 15:3) will intervene on Israel's behalf against the attacking nations.

14:4 Zechariah provides further details about how Jerusalem's deliverance will come about. The Mount of Olives, located east of Jerusalem and the Kidron Valley, is a north-south hill about 2,700 feet in elevation. The Messiah will return to the Mount of Olives, the very mountain from which He will have ascended after His time on earth (Acts 1:10, 11). On the day of Messiah's return, the mount will be split by a deep east-west valley.

14:5 The splitting of the Mount of Olives will provide a way of escape for the besieged and defeated people in Jerusalem. The site of Azal has not been identified but must be somewhere in the desert east of Jerusalem. The flight of the surviving remnant from Jerusalem is likened to what took place following the earthquake in the days of Uzziah. The saints are literally the "holy ones," angels who will accompany Jesus at His return (Mark 8:38; 2 Thess. 1:7).

14:6, 7 Cosmic upheaval is associated with the Second Coming. The glory of the Messiah's kingdom is preceded by dark days of judgment. there will be no light: The imagery of darkness as a portent of judgment is common in the prophets (Is. 5:30; 8:22; 13:9, 10; Ezek. 32:7, 8; Amos 5:18, 20; Zeph. 1:14, 15).

14:8 The term living waters describes running water from a spring or river, in contrast to the stale and stagnant water of a cistern (Jer. 2:13). The water will flow from Jerusalem toward the eastern sea (the Dead Sea) and the western sea (the Mediterranean). In contrast with the seasonal streams that flow only during the rainy season, these streams will irrigate the land both summer and winter.

14:9 Zechariah anticipates the glorious day when the LORD will reestablish His reign on this earth, where it was first challenged by Satan (see Rev. 20:1-3; also Ps. 93:1; 97:1; 99:1). This will be the answer to the prayers of all those who pray Jesus' words, "Your kingdom come" (Matt. 6:10). The words the LORD is one speak of His unity and His uniqueness (see Deut. 6:4).

14:10 Geba was 6 miles northeast of Jerusalem. Rimmon was about 35 miles southwest of Jerusalem. Benjamin's Gate was most likely the gate in the north wall of the city. The First Gate has not yet been identified. The Corner Gate probably marked the northwest limit of Jerusalem. The Tower of Hananel was probably a defensive fortification on the north wall.

14:11 people shall dwell in it: This is a contrast to the time of Nehemiah when the population of Jerusalem was sparse (Neh. 7:4; 11:1). In the Lord's coming kingdom, the city will be inhabited and its citizens secure.

14:12 plague: This word was used to describe the judgments of God upon the Egyptians (Ex. 7:17-12:30).

14:14 As the attackers are destroyed, the people of Judah will join the citizens of Jerusalem in recovering the spoil taken by the enemy (v. 1) and capturing additional booty (see Hag. 2:7, 8).

14:16 Repentant and believing people among those nations that had attacked Jerusalem (vv. 1, 2) will worship the King (Jesus the Messiah) and celebrate the Feast of Tabernacles, a fall harvest festival that commemorated the wilderness experience of Israel (Lev. 23:33-43). This feast of thanksgiving is the only one of the many feasts that will still be appropriate in the new kingdom—the others will have been fulfilled, but thanksgiving will be a continual theme in Messiah's kingdom.

14:17-19 The nations that are unwilling to come to Jerusalem to worship King Messiah and celebrate the feast will be subject to divine judgment. Egypt is used as an example, since it was a traditional enemy of Israel.

14:20, 21 In Messiah's kingdom, the people of Judah and Jerusalem will fulfill their destiny as a holy, priestly nation (Ex. 19:6). The words HOLINESS TO THE LORD will be inscribed on the gold headband worn by the high priest (Ex. 28:36). Holiness will so permeate Messiah's kingdom that even the lowly cooking pots will be holy. The name Canaanite here refers to the merchants who frequented Jerusalem and the temple courts with their wares (see Neh. 13:19-22; Matt. 21:12; John 2:14). None will profiteer in the worship of God in the coming age. God's search for true worshipers will be realized in a company of devoted, holy people.

Introduction

This final book of the Old Testament is about the error of forgetting the love of God. When people forget God's love, it affects their attitudes, home, and worship. With God's love and loyalty in doubt, sacred commitments no longer remain sacred. God sent Malachi to rouse the people from their spiritual stupor and to exhort them to return to the living God. But the Book of Malachi reveals a people who question the reality of their sin and the faithfulness of God, a people hardened through and through. Thus the book ends on a poignant note, a confrontation between a disappointed God and a disappointed people. In a sense, the Book of Malachi shows that the Old Testament comes to a chasm, with the bickering voices of the people on one side and the stern warnings of God on the other. Only the Lord Himself could provide a way out of this impasse. Malachi looks forward to this deliverance, for he speaks of the one who would prepare the way for the Messiah. The promised Messiah was the only One who could bridge that widening chasm between the people and their God.

Malachi's ministry

Author Nothing is known of the prophet Malachi apart from this book. We are not even sure that Malachi was the name of the prophet. The word means “My Messenger,” and it is possible that the first verse should be translated, “The burden of the word of the LORD to Israel by My Messenger.” In any case, Malachi's name identifying him as a messenger of God highlights one of the major themes of the book. Malachi prophesies that God would send a “messenger,” a prophecy of John the Baptist, and “the Messenger of the covenant,” a prophecy of Jesus (3:1).

In 2:7 the role of a priest is described as “messenger of the LORD of hosts.” Based on that description, a priest-prophet in the temple might have used the designation “My Messenger” for himself. Because of the writer's apparent concern with the priesthood, it may be argued that the author of the book was a priest to whom God also gave a prophetic message.

Date Wide agreement exists that the Book of Malachi was written during the last half of the fifth century B.C. Some even pinpoint the date between 420 and 415 B.C. This would place the Book of Malachi about one hundred years after the ministries of Haggai and Zechariah. There are numerous ties in the book to the concerns of Nehemiah, who was governor in Judah around 440 B.C. These include marriages with foreign women (Neh. 13:23–27), not paying tithes (Neh. 13:10–14), neglecting the Sabbath (Neh. 13:15–22), a corrupt priesthood (Neh. 13:7–9), and injustice (Neh. 5:1–13).

Historical Setting After the great turmoil of the wars of the Assyrians, Babylonians, and the Medes and Persians, a period of comparative peace came to Israel's part of the ancient world. The books of the preexilic prophets were formed in the flaming crucible of international wars and catastrophes. But under Persian rule the people were allowed to return to the land in peace. The constant threat of international conflict did not loom over their heads. The Persians collected taxes, but otherwise they were content to leave the Jews alone. Yet economic shortages were still common during this period.

Themes The history of the Jewish people is a story of a recurring pattern of captivity, exodus, and restoration into which Malachi also falls. There are two captivities in the Old Testament story, and two accounts of an exodus of the Jewish people from captivity. The first captivity and the great Exodus is Israel's experience with Egypt at the beginning of Israel's history; the second is Israel's experience with Babylon.

In the account of the first Exodus, Moses and Aaron occupy themselves to a significant degree with the issue of the proper worship of the living God, which was centered in the tabernacle. A significant portion of the Book of Exodus, the whole of Leviticus, and parts of Numbers and Deuteronomy provide guidance for worship at the tabernacle. The point of the Exodus was the creation of the people of God as a worshipping community (see Ex. 5:1).

Similarly, two of the books of the second exodus, the return of God's people from Babylon, concern themselves with the proper worship of God. These two books, Haggai and Malachi, focus on worship centered on the rebuilt temple. Haggai exhorted the people to rebuild the temple in Jerusalem in 520 B.C. Thus this book parallels the Book of Exodus in which God gave instructions for the construction of the tabernacle. Similarly, Malachi parallels the Book of Leviticus in that both are concerned with how the people and the priests should act in the temple. Yet there are significant differences. Leviticus emphasizes what the people should do, what offerings they should bring, and what calendar they should keep in their worship of God. Malachi's emphasis is on the attitude of those who bring their worship to God. In Leviticus one reads about how to worship God; in Malachi the focus is on the heart of those who worship.

The priests of Malachi's time were indifferent to the rules of worship (1:6–14), and the people themselves had become apathetic about their offerings to God (3:6–12). Where did this neglectful attitude come from? In a critical introductory verse, God said to the people, "I have loved you." The response of the people was, "In what way have You loved us?" (1:2). The people's suspicion about the motives of God toward them resulted in their halfhearted response to Him. Their apathy toward God was also reflected in their relations with other people—especially their spouses. It had become common at this time for men to divorce their wives. Such men ignored the fact that the Lord was a witness to their marriages, and as a result God ignored their offerings. The prophecy of Malachi is God's response to this "loveless" condition.

Christ in the Scriptures

Malachi's name means "My Messenger." His life's calling from God was to clarify the message the priests had bumbled. But he also predicts the coming of another messenger whose ministry will precede the Messiah and clear the way for His coming: "Behold, I send My messenger, and he will prepare the way before Me" (3:1). In his mind, this messenger would be someone like Elijah—one who would call parents to repent and turn the hearts of the children to their fathers (4:5, 6). From our perspective we know that he was referring to Jesus' cousin John (who resembled Elijah).

Still, Malachi is not only referring to the first appearance of Jesus. He also gives us a glimpse of Jesus' encore performance as the returning and reigning king. "But who can endure the day of His coming? And who can stand when He appears? For He is like a refiner's fire and like launderers' soap" (3:2). We see specific references to Jesus as the Sun of Righteousness rising "with healing in His wings" (4:2).

Malachi 1

¹The ¹burden of the word of the LORD to Israel ²by Malachi.

Israel Beloved of God

²“I^a have loved you,” says the LORD.

“Yet you say, ‘In what way have You loved us?’

Was not Esau Jacob’s brother?”

Says the LORD.

“Yet ^bJacob I have loved; ³But Esau I have hated, And ^claid waste his mountains and his heritage For the jackals of the wilderness.”

⁴Even though Edom has said, “We have been impoverished,
But we will return and build the desolate places,”

Thus says the LORD of hosts:

“They may build, but I will ^dthrow down; They shall be called the Territory of Wickedness,
And the people against whom the LORD will have indignation forever.

⁵Your eyes shall see,

And you shall say,

^e‘The LORD is magnified beyond the border of Israel.’

Polluted Offerings

⁶“A son ^fhonors his father, And a servant his master.

^gIf then I am the Father, Where is My honor?

And if I am a Master,

Where is My reverence?

Says the LORD of hosts

To you priests who despise My name.

^hYet you say, ‘In what way have we despised Your name?’

⁷“You offer ⁱdefiled food on My altar, But say,

‘In what way have we defiled You?’

By saying,

^j‘The table of the LORD is ³contemptible.’ Article: Blemished Sacrifices

⁸And ^kwhen you offer the blind as a sacrifice, Is it not evil?

And when you offer the lame and sick,

Is it not evil?

Offer it then to your governor!

Would he be pleased with you?

Would he ^laccept⁴ you favorably?”

Says the LORD of hosts.

⁹“But now entreat God’s favor, That He may be gracious to us.

^m*While* this is being done by your hands, Will He accept you favorably?”

Says the LORD of hosts.

¹⁰“Who is there even among you who would shut the doors, ⁿSo that you would not kindle fire on My altar in vain?

I have no pleasure in you,”

Says the LORD of hosts,

^o“Nor will I accept an offering from your hands.

¹¹For ^pfrom the rising of the sun, even to its going down, My name shall be great ^qamong the Gentiles; ^rIn every place ^sincense shall be offered to My name, And a pure offering;

^tFor My name shall be great among the nations,”

Says the LORD of hosts.

¹²“But you profane it, In that you say, ^u“The table of the ⁵LORD is defiled; And its fruit, its food, is contemptible.’
¹³You also say, ‘Oh, what a ^vweariness!’
And you sneer at it,”
Says the LORD of hosts.
“And you bring the stolen, the lame, and the sick;
Thus you bring an offering!
^wShould I accept this from your hand?”
Says the LORD.
¹⁴“But cursed be ^xthe deceiver Who has in his flock a male,
And takes a vow,
But sacrifices to the Lord ^ywhat is blemished— For ^zI am a great King,”
Says the LORD of hosts,
“And My name is to be feared among the nations.

Malachi 2

Corrupt Priests

¹“And now, O ^apriests, this commandment is for you.

^{2b}If you will not hear, And if you will not take it to heart,

To give glory to My name,”

Says the LORD of hosts,

“I will send a curse upon you,

And I will curse your blessings.

Yes, I have cursed them ^calready, Because you do not take it to heart.

³“Behold, I will rebuke your descendants And spread ^drefuse on your faces, The refuse of your solemn feasts;

And one will ^etake you away ¹with it.

⁴Then you shall know that I have sent this commandment to you, That My covenant with Levi may continue,”

Says the LORD of hosts.

⁵“My^f covenant was with him, one of life and peace, And I gave them to him ^g*that he might fear Me*;

So he feared Me
And was reverent before My name.

^{6h}The² law of truth was in his mouth, And ³injustice was not found on his lips.

He walked with Me in peace and equity,
And ⁱturned many away from iniquity.

⁷“For^j the lips of a priest should keep knowledge, And people should seek the law from his mouth;

^kFor he is the messenger of the LORD of hosts.

⁸But you have departed from the way; You ^lhave caused many to stumble at the law.

^mYou have corrupted the covenant of Levi,”
Says the LORD of hosts.

⁹“Therefore ⁿI also have made you contemptible and base
Before all the people,
Because you have not kept My ways
But have shown ^opartiality in the law.”

Treachery of Infidelity

^{10p}Have we not all one Father?

^qHas not one God created us?

Why do we deal treacherously with one another

By profaning the covenant of the fathers?

¹¹Judah has dealt treacherously, And an abomination has been committed in Israel and in Jerusalem, For Judah has ^rprofaned The LORD's holy institution which He loves: He has married the daughter of a foreign god.

¹²May the LORD cut off from the tents of Jacob The man who does this, being ⁴awake and aware, Yet ^swho brings an offering to the LORD of hosts!

¹³And this is the second thing you do: You cover the altar of the LORD with tears, With weeping and crying;

So He does not regard the offering anymore,

Nor receive it with goodwill from your hands.

¹⁴Yet you say, "For what reason?"

Because the LORD has been witness

Between you and ^tthe wife of your youth, With whom you have dealt treacherously;

^uYet she is your companion And your wife by covenant.

¹⁵But ^vdid He not make them one, Having a remnant of the Spirit?

And why one?

He seeks ^wgodly offspring.

Therefore take heed to your spirit,

And let none deal treacherously with the wife of his youth.

¹⁶"For ^xthe LORD God of Israel says That He hates divorce, For it covers one's garment with violence,"

Says the LORD of hosts.

"Therefore take heed to your spirit,

That you do not deal treacherously."

^{17y}You have wearied the LORD with your words; Yet you say,

“In what way have we wearied Him?”

In that you say,

^z“Everyone who does evil Is good in the sight of the LORD,
And He delights in them,”

Or, “Where is the God of justice?”

Malachi 3

The Coming Messenger

¹“Behold, ^aI send My messenger, And he will ^bprepare the way before Me.

And the Lord, whom you seek,
Will suddenly come to His temple,

^cEven the Messenger of the covenant, In whom you delight.

Behold, ^dHe is coming,”

Says the LORD of hosts.

²“But who can endure ^ethe day of His coming?

And ^fwho can stand when He appears?

For ^gHe is like a refiner’s fire And like launderers’ soap.

^{3h}He will sit as a refiner and a purifier of silver; He will purify the sons of Levi,

And ¹purge them as gold and silver, That they may ⁱoffer to the LORD

An offering in righteousness.

⁴“Then ^jthe offering of Judah and Jerusalem Will be ²pleasant to the LORD, As in the days of old,

As in former years.

⁵And I will come near you for judgment; I will be a swift witness

Against sorcerers,

Against adulterers,

^kAgainst perjurers, Against those who ^lexploit wage earners and ^mwidows and orphans, And against those who turn away an alien— Because they do not fear Me,”

Says the LORD of hosts.

⁶“For I am the LORD, ⁿI do not change; ^oTherefore you are not consumed, O sons of Jacob.

⁷Yet from the days of ^pyour fathers You have gone away from My ordinances

And have not kept them.

^qReturn to Me, and I will return to you,”

Says the LORD of hosts.

^r“But you said, ‘In what way shall we return?’

Do Not Rob God

⁸“Will a man rob God?

Yet you have robbed Me!

But you say,

‘In what way have we robbed You?’

⁵In tithes and offerings. Charts and Diagrams: Malachi: A Portrait of Spiritual Indifference

⁹You are cursed with a curse, For you have robbed Me,
Even this whole nation.

¹⁰Bring all the tithes into the ^ustorehouse, That there may be food in My house,

And try Me now in this,”

Says the LORD of hosts,

“If I will not open for you the ^vwindows of heaven And ^wpour out for you such blessing That there will not be room enough to receive it. Word Studies: try

¹¹“And I will rebuke ^xthe devourer for your sakes, So that he will not destroy the fruit of your ground,

Nor shall the vine fail to bear fruit for you in the field,”

Says the LORD of hosts;

¹²“And all nations will call you blessed, For you will be ^ya delightful land,”

Says the LORD of hosts.

The People Complain Harshly

13“Your^z words have been ³harsh against Me,”

Says the LORD,

“Yet you say,

‘What have we spoken against You?’

14aYou have said, ‘It is useless to serve God;

What profit is it that we have kept His ordinance,

And that we have walked as mourners

Before the LORD of hosts?

15So now ^bwe call the proud blessed, For those who do wickedness are ⁴raised up; They even ^ctempt God and go free.’ ”

A Book of Remembrance

¹⁶Then those ^dwho feared the LORD ^espoke to one another,
And the LORD listened and heard them;
So ^fa book of remembrance was written before Him For those who fear the LORD
And who ⁵meditate on His name.

¹⁷“They^g shall be Mine,” says the LORD of hosts, “On the day that I make them My ^hjewels.⁶
And ⁱI will spare them As a man spares his own son who serves him.”
^{18j}Then you shall again discern Between the righteous and the wicked,

Between one who serves God
And one who does not serve Him.

Malachi 4

The Great Day of God

¹“For behold, ^athe day is coming, Burning like an oven,
And all ^bthe proud, yes, all who do wickedly will be ^cstubble.
And the day which is coming shall burn them up,”

Says the LORD of hosts,

“That will ^dleave them neither root nor branch.

²But to you who ^efear My name The ^fSun of Righteousness shall arise With healing in His wings;

And you shall go out
And grow fat like stall-fed calves.

^{3g}You shall trample the wicked, For they shall be ashes under the soles of your feet
On the day that I do this,”
Says the LORD of hosts.

⁴“Remember the ^hLaw of Moses, My servant, Which I commanded him in Horeb for all Israel, With ⁱthe statutes and judgments.

⁵Behold, I will send you ^jElijah the prophet ^kBefore the coming of the great and dreadful day of the LORD.

⁶And ^lhe will turn The hearts of the fathers to the children,
And the hearts of the children to their fathers,
Lest I come and ^mstrike the earth with a ⁿcurse.”

Annotations for Malachi

- 1:1 As in the case of Nahum (see Nah. 1:1), the prophetic message of Malachi was like a burden from which he needed deliverance (see also Is. 13:1; Jer. 23:33–38; Hab. 1:1). to Israel: In the postexilic period, the use of the word Israel for the people of Judah expresses the hope that the Lord was in the process of reasserting the fullness of His original promises to His people. The name Malachi means “My Messenger.”
- 1:2 I have loved you: God is like a loving parent who speaks with fatherly affection. However, His chosen people were like rebellious children who challenged His words of love for them.
- 1:3 But Esau I have hated: The contrast between the words love and hate here and in v. 2 seems much too strong. But on many occasions in the OT, the verb hate has the basic meaning “not to choose.” God’s love for Jacob was expressed in His electing grace in extending His covenant to Jacob and to his descendants (see Gen. 25:21–26; Is. 44:1–5). In His sovereign purpose, God set His love on the one and not the other. The term hate may carry the idea of indifference as well.
- 1:4, 5 Edom has said . . . we will return: Edom was a nation descended from Esau, and they shared Esau’s unbelief and self-confidence. Destruction made Israel reexamine her relationship to God. But destruction for Edom resulted only in continued pride and self-effort. LORD of hosts: This expression describes God as the supreme commander of the universe. The hosts are His heavenly armies.
- 1:6 A son honors his father: Here the Lord uses truisms: A father and a master can expect honor from those beneath them, but God was not receiving the honor due Him. I am the Father: The image of God as Father is common in the NT but less frequent in the OT (see Is. 63:16; 64:8). who despise My name: In ancient Israel, a name was a symbol of a person’s character, works, and reputation. Therefore, this charge was most serious. But the people dare to ask: In what way have we despised Your name?
- 1:7 God’s answer to the question posed in v. 6 was in terms of defiled food. The word defiled describes bread that was not prepared properly. The bread (see Ex. 25:23–30) and the table on which it was displayed were holy symbols, but the priests were treating them like ordinary things.

Blemished Sacrifices

Why should the condition of a sacrifice matter to God? He created all things, defective animals as well as the healthy ones. Why would He not accept gifts that were flawed? And why did God care about this enough to have his messenger Malachi speak so strongly?

The imperfect sacrifices of the priests and people demonstrated the content of their hearts. The people were not sincere. To sacrifice a perfect, healthy animal looked to them like a waste, and they considered the work of preparing their gifts properly to be a foolish use of time and energy. Malachi confronted this attitude with the Law of God, which clearly demanded unblemished sacrifices and sincere hearts (see Lev. 1:3; 3:1; Deut. 17:1). Malachi also confronted the people with God’s judgment of their actions. God was perfectly aware of what they were doing and the condition of their hearts. No sacrifices at all would have been better than second-rate and insincere ones. The people were not giving “sacrifices”; they were merely doing what was convenient, just enough to appear to obey God. Then they would turn around and pat themselves on the back for being righteous.

But even though God’s people had broken their covenant with Him, God remained true to His promises (see Is. 53). He did not shrink from sending His only Son to a cruel death on the Cross. Jesus was the true, unblemished sacrifice to which the Old Testament sacrifices pointed (Heb. 7:26–28). He was perfect—free from all sin. And through Jesus’ sacrificial death the Lord provided salvation for all of our sins. In doing this, the Lord demonstrated His sincere love for us because He sacrificed the very best to save us (see John 3:16).

Go to the List of Articles

- 1:8 the blind . . . lame and sick: The demands of holy worship of God had been made clear in the Law. Only the very best should be presented as an offering to the Lord (see Lev. 1:3); no one was to come with an offering that was blemished or unclean (see Lev. 7:19–21).
- 1:10 shut the doors: In a choice between service without gratitude and no service at all, God chose the second. pleasure: The word describes the desire of God to smile, even to laugh with joy at true worship from a godly people (see Ps. 40:6–8; 147:10, 11).
- 1:11 great among the Gentiles: God would one day receive praise from all the nations. Even the despised Gentiles would offer praise, while God’s own people were profaning His holy name (see Ps. 87; 117).
- 1:12 you profane it: The people were treating God with contempt by their careless attitudes concerning their offerings.
- 1:13 The demands of God were neither understood nor appreciated; they seemed to be mere busywork. stolen . . . lame . . . sick: The gifts of the priests were not presentable; some were stolen goods, and others were animals that were useless. To sacrifice something of no value was not a sacrifice at all.
- 1:14 Can anyone really deceive the Lord? The deception is only in the eyes of the deceiver. I am a great King: The reputation of the Lord among His people was to have been the means whereby all the nations would be drawn to worship Him as well.
- 2:1 The address to the priests shows that the section begun in 1:8 continues in this chapter.
- 2:2 If you will not . . . give glory: The behavior of the priests was defiling the name of God. I will send a curse: At the passage of the people into the Promised Land, the Levites spread before the people the blessings of obedience and the curses on disobedience (Deut. 27; 28). But the priests were not obeying the Law that they were supposed to uphold. They would therefore receive the curses.
- 2:3 Refuse was the dung in the sacrificed animal that should have been removed when the animal was prepared for sacrifice to the Lord.
- 2:4 My covenant with Levi: The Levites had been given the privilege of serving the tabernacle (Deut. 33:8–11).
- 2:5 The covenant of God was with Phinehas, a descendant of the tribe of Levi (Num. 25:1–14). life and peace: The basic meaning of the word peace is fullness, completeness, things as they really ought to be. that he might fear Me: The context here means holding God in reverential awe, responding properly to His wonder, and worshiping Him in spirit and in truth (see 3:5, 16; 4:2).
- 2:6 the law of truth: The priests of the OT period had a twofold responsibility—they were to represent the people in holy worship before the living God, and they were to teach and apply God’s law to the people. in peace and equity: This refers to complete moral virtue in all things before the Lord.
- 2:7 In the OT, a prophet was commonly called a “messenger of the Lord.” But this is apparently the only time in the OT that priests are specifically called the messengers of the Lord (see also 3:1).

- 2:8 departed . . . caused many to stumble: The judgment on the departed religious leader would be more strict because of the ripple effect of that one person's sin. the covenant of Levi: God made this covenant with the tribe of Levi and specifically with Phinehas (see v. 4). Other passages also presuppose a covenant (Neh. 13:29; Jer. 33:20, 21).
- 2:9 The priests had the truth but had not kept it or practiced it. When they acted as judges, they showed partiality, making their sin even worse (see Deut. 17:9–11; 19:17).
- 2:10 one God created us: The use of the term create calls to mind the great creation text in Gen. 1:26–28. deal treacherously: Because God is the Creator of all humanity (Gen. 1:27), He requires that humans deal equitably with one another.
- 2:11 The term abomination is a strong word indicating a stomach revulsion; the people had done something so awful as to make one ill. institution which He loves: The term institution is supplied by the translation; a more literal translation might be, “God’s holy thing, that He loves.” The text presents the ideas of affection and revulsion which we usually think of in the verbs to love and to hate. Marriage is something God loves; divorce is something He hates (v. 16). The Lord’s people had polluted something in which God takes great pleasure. daughter of a foreign god: The question of intermarriage in ancient Israel was not racial nor ethnic but spiritual: lack of faithfulness to God Himself.
- 2:12 cut off: The phrase may refer to banishment or even death. being awake and aware: The phrase is difficult but may refer to a deliberate offense against the Lord (see Lev. 10:1–3).
- 2:13 the second thing: The prophets at times spoke of the compounding sins of the people (see Jer. 2:13). Tears here seem to be judged as hypocritical acts of insincere repentance (see Is. 1:10–15). He does not regard the offering: When right things are done for the wrong reasons or with the wrong attitudes, God does not accept them (see Ps. 40:6–8). goodwill: The Hebrew suggests God’s pleasure and enjoyment. God’s pleasure is in sacrifices offered with attitudes of humility, faithfulness, and joy.
- 2:14 For what reason: The feigned surprise of the people fooled no one, certainly not the Lord. witness: There are some whose witness may be challenged, but the Lord is not among them (see also 3:5). wife of your youth: These men had not only married pagan wives, but they had divorced their first wives to make room for their new ones. Companion describes a permanent partnership. by covenant: The union of a marriage is formal, public, legal, and sacred, a binding contract.
- 2:15 make them one: Here the prophet recalls the words from Gen. 2:24, “one flesh.” a remnant of the Spirit: This somewhat difficult phrase most likely indicates the work of God’s Holy Spirit in the life of the married couple. God has joined them, and by His Spirit He has worked on their behalf to strengthen them. godly offspring: God seeks godly children even as He seeks for true worshipers (see John 4:23, 24). take heed to your spirit: We must control our attitudes so that they will be in line with those of God’s Spirit.
- 2:16 treacherously: To the Lord, attitudes of indifference to marriage vows and duties are the actions of a traitor.
- 2:17 God is wearied by people who do not submit to Him but who argue their points against His revelation. When justice comes, they will be sorry they asked (see 3:5).
- 3:1 prepare the way: This verse resembles the prophecy of Mic. 5:2 concerning the birthplace of the Messiah. Matthew and Mark identify the messenger of this verse as John the Baptist (see 4:5; Matt. 11:10; Mark 1:2, 3). The Lord refers here to Jesus Christ (as is the case in Ps. 110:1). There are three persons in view in this verse: The Father (the Lord) speaks of sending a messenger (John the Baptist) who will prepare the way for the coming of the Lord (Jesus). suddenly . . . His temple: Both the righteous and the wicked will be surprised when the Messiah arrives. Messenger of the covenant: This is a messianic title, referring to the One who will initiate the New Covenant (see Jer. 31:33, 34; Matt. 26:28; Heb. 12:24). He is coming: As in Ps. 96:13, this dramatic wording indicates something that was just about to occur. However, it would be four hundred years before these words would be fulfilled.

- 3:2 In this verse Malachi turns to the second coming of the Messiah. This second advent will be one of judgment and purification (Joel 2:11; Amos 5:18; Luke 21:36; Rev. 19:11–21). refiner's fire . . . launderers' soap: These two images are vivid illustrations of the purifying process. The Savior King Himself will sift all people to prepare for His reign.
- 3:3 purify the sons of Levi: Since the priests had come under such strong censure in this book (1:6–2:9), and since the prophet himself was likely a priest, these words would have had a special significance for him.
- 3:4 The Hebrew word translated pleasant refers to things that are sweet and pleasing. God derives joy from the end result of His work.
- 3:5 judgment: The same word may be translated justice (see 2:17). The people had wondered where the God of justice was; now they will know. Sorcerers were people who made potions. fear Me: Holding God in reverence and awe also means obeying Him (see 2:5; 3:16; 4:2).
- 3:6 I do not change: We might expect these opening words to ensure the nation's doom; instead, they give assurance of God's continuing mercy.
- 3:7 The history of Israel is not a record of ever-increasing obedience. Instead, it is a long, sad story of recurring departure from God. Return: This is the key term in the Hebrew prophets for repentance, renewal, and restoration (see Is. 55:11; Jer. 4:1; Zech. 1:3).
- 3:8 The tithes were the gifts to the Lord that the Law required. There were three: two that were annual and one that came every three years. The tithe supported the priests and Levites, and also widows, orphans, and foreigners (Deut. 14:28, 29).

Malachi: A Portrait of Spiritual Indifference

When the prophet Malachi began preaching to the Israelites, he found that the people had cold hearts. They were indifferent and apathetic. When he confronted them with their sin, they asked a series of questions that reveal volumes about their spiritual condition.

Question: “In what way have You loved us?” (1:2)

Significance: This question reveals an alarming lack of trust in God. The Israelites were implying that God had been unfaithful to His covenant. “If You really love us, why are we still under foreign oppressors, waiting for the promised kingdom?”

Application: Do we demand proof of God's love for us?

Question: “In what way have we despised Your name?” (1:6); “In what way have we defiled You?” (1:7)

Significance: This question shows the halfheartedness and the rationalizations of the nation's religious leaders. They were saying, in effect: “We've been making the required sacrifices. What more do you want?” But as Malachi pointed out, the sacrifices offered to God were unfit animals (1:8–10).

Application: Do we offer God our best in worship, or do we just go through the motions?

Question: “In what way shall we return?” (3:7)

Significance: This question reveals an appalling blindness to sin and an arrogant attempt to floss over wrongdoing. “We don't know what You want us to do, because we don't see what we have done wrong.”

Application: When faced with our sin, do we make excuses?

Question: “In what way have we robbed You?” (3:8)

Significance: This question underscores the people’s greed. They did not view their possessions as God’s possessions to be used for His glory.

Application: Do we gladly give to God?

Question: “What have we spoken against You?” (3:13)

Significance: This question displays the Israelites’ callousness. They had said it was “useless to serve God” (3:14). But they continued to think that their external observance of religious ceremonies would satisfy God’s demands on their lives.

Application: Do we wholeheartedly serve God?

3:9–11 The people were cursed with poor production from their land and animals. A key verse from the Law of Moses reads that the curse will come “because you did not serve the LORD your God with joy and gladness of heart, for the abundance of everything” (Deut. 28:47). The forces that caused loss of production are pictured collectively as the devourer.

try

(Heb. bachan) (3:10; Gen. 42:15, 16; Ps. 26:2; Jer. 9:7) Strong's #974

This Hebrew verb means “to try,” or “to put to the test” (Job 23:10; Ps. 139:23; Zech. 13:9). The word can mean “to test” in the sense of separating or discriminating one thing from another (Job 34:3). When this word is used to depict God’s “testing” of people, it means the proving of individuals in such a way that their faith becomes more established (see Ps. 66:10–12; Jer. 17:10; 20:12). Malachi’s challenge to the Israelites to try God is a rare instance in which people are encouraged to test the faithfulness of the Lord (3:10). This word for try can be contrasted with another Hebrew verb for testing, nasah. That latter word is frequently used in a negative sense, to describe the way Israel was testing God with their unbelief (Ex. 17:7; Ps. 78:18; 95:9). The Law of Moses warned the Israelites not to tempt God (Deut. 6:16; Ps. 95:9); it was a mark of spiritual adultery (Matt. 12:38, 39). According to James, God tests people in order to grant them the crown of life—but He tempts no one (James 1:12–14).

- 3:12 One of the ways in which all nations would be drawn to the worship of the Lord was by seeing how the people of Israel fared with the Lord as their God. a delightful land: The adjective indicates enjoyment, life that is genuinely pleasurable (see 1:10; see also the related verb in 3:1). Faithfulness to God would lead to fruitfulness in the land.
- 3:13 In this verse God addresses not just their words but the thoughts that prompted them.
- 3:14 What profit: The people secretly entertained doubts about the value of following the Lord. In fact, they had not really kept His ordinance anyway. The proper attitude is encouraged in 4:4.
- 3:15 the proud: This word refers to godless, rebellious people (see 4:1; compare Ps. 119:21; Prov. 21:24; Jer. 43:2).
- 3:16 There were other voices, those of people who did place themselves under the Law, those who feared the LORD. God did not ignore those who were faithful to Him. a book of remembrance: God never forgets His promises. God teaches us to remember and value the good that people do (Phil. 4:8); He does the same as He commands us. Those who meditate fear the Lord, think highly of Him, and ponder His significance as it relates to their lives.
- 3:17 The excitement of these words is that we can sense the pride God has in His children. The Hebrew word translated jewels could be rendered “special treasure.” It is a wonderfully endearing term that is used in the OT only of the people of Israel as they are valued by the living God (see Ex. 19:5; Deut. 7:6; Ps. 135:4).
- 3:18 one who serves God: Serving God means putting Him first, obeying His commands, and finding one’s chief joy in life as the advancement of the glory of His name.
- 4:1 Scripture consistently describes a coming day when God will arrive as a Judge and will deal with the wicked (see v. 5; compare Is. 13:6–10; Joel 1:15; 2:1–11; Zeph. 1:2–2:3; Zech. 14). the proud: What some people thought about the “blessedness of the proud” is exposed as a grave error (3:15).
- 4:2 you who fear My name: This is the righteous remnant who held God in wonder and awe, responded to Him in obedience, and lived for Him with constant faith. With healing in His wings:

The prophet compares the Savior to a bird whose comforting wings bring healing to the chicks that gather underneath (see Ps. 91:1–4).

4:3 trample the wicked: The victory of the righteous over the wicked is a promise of the living God that transcends the two testaments (see Ps. 110:4–6; compare Rev. 19:11–21). On the day that I do this: The identity of the Victor is already known.

4:4 Remember: This word means more than simply “to recall.” The command is to act on the teaching that had come from the living God. the Law of Moses: The Law had its origin in the Lord, and Moses was the divinely appointed transmitter of God’s will and word to the people (see John 1:17).

4:5 Elijah the prophet: The story of the prophet Elijah is found in 1 Kin. 17—2 Kin. 2. The NT identifies John the Baptist as this Elijah (see Matt. 11:14; 17:10; Mark 9:11–13; Luke 1:17). There are three ways in which this prophecy might be fulfilled: (1) John the Baptist, whom Malachi had already prophesied (see 3:1), was the first to fulfill the promise of the Elijah figure. John, like Elijah, was a minister of the Lord calling people to repent and prepare for the coming of the Messiah (see Matt. 11:14). (2) Elijah appeared in person along with Moses at the Transfiguration, a stunning vindication of the messianic role of Jesus (see Matt. 16:28–17:8). (3) An Elijah-like figure will appear at the end times; he will call fire down from heaven just as Elijah did (see 1 Kin. 18:36–40; Rev. 11:1–7).

(Heb. yom) (4:5; Gen. 7:11; Prov. 25:13; Amos 5:8, 18) Strong's #3117

The Hebrew noun yom has a variety of uses in the OT. It can refer to the daylight hours in contrast to the night (Amos 5:8), or to a 24-hour day, such as a certain day of the month (Gen. 7:11). It may also refer to a time period, such as the “time” of harvest (Prov. 25:13), or even to a year (2 Sam. 13:23). The word is used in the significant phrase “the day of the LORD” (see Is. 2:12; Ezek. 13:5; Joel 1:15; Zeph. 1:14). For the prophets, the day of the Lord was the future day when God would decisively triumph over all His foes. That day will be a day of great rejoicing and blessing for God’s faithful servants (Is. 2), whereas for God’s enemies it will be a day of “darkness” (Amos 5:18).

4:6 Malachi ends with both a promise and a warning. fathers to the children . . . children to their fathers: As in every act of God announcing judgment, there is also an offer of His mercy (see Jon. 4:2). a curse: The term is one of the harshest in Scripture. The Hebrew word suggests complete annihilation. This is the term translated doomed in the account of the destruction of Jericho (see Josh. 6:17).

Introduction

Succession to a throne is often a time of conflict and uncertainty. David's son Absalom tried to usurp the throne (2 Sam. 15:1—18:18). Solomon's choice of successor lost more than half the kingdom to a traitor (1 Kin. 12:20). Menahem assassinated his predecessor in Israel (2 Kin. 15:14). Royalty is a dangerous business.

This is no less true when the heir is the King of kings. If ever there was a high-stakes succession, this was it. A Man claims to be Israel's own Messiah; of course all Israel sits up and takes notice. Of course He must prove His credentials: Who wants an impostor? The Book of Matthew presents Jesus' credentials. It presents Jesus as the King, but King of a totally different kingdom—the kingdom of heaven.

Author and Date This Gospel does not name its author, but it does contain clues. The author knew the geography of Palestine well (2:1; 8:5; 20:29; 26:6). He was familiar with Jewish history, customs, ideas, and classes of people (1:18, 19; 2:1; 14:1; 26:3; 27:2). He was well acquainted with the Old Testament (1:2–16, 22, 23; 2:6; 4:14–16; 12:17–21; 13:35; 21:4; 27:9). And the terminology of the book suggests that the author was a Palestinian Jew (2:20; 4:5; 5:35; 10:6; 15:24; 17:24–27; 18:17; 27:53).

Other details point specifically to Jesus' disciple Matthew as the writer of this Gospel. As a tax collector, Matthew would have been literate and familiar with keeping records of money. Appropriately, this Gospel contains more references to money than any of the others. Furthermore, Matthew's hometown was Capernaum, a village that is given special attention in this Gospel. When Capernaum is mentioned, some special description is usually attached to it (4:13; 11:23).

Matthew wrote the Gospel before the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70. He describes Jerusalem in the book as the "holy city" and as though it was still standing (4:5; 27:53), and he speaks of the customs of the Jews as continuing until "this day" (27:8; 28:15). Furthermore, Jesus' prophecy (recorded in 24:2) of Jerusalem's destruction includes no indication that it had already occurred when Matthew wrote Jesus' words. In light of all of this, it is reasonable to conclude that the book was written sometime between A.D. 50 and 60.

Emphases The Gospel of Matthew has many Jewish overtones. For example, the term “kingdom of heaven” appears 33 times and the term “kingdom of God” four times. No other Gospel lays such stress on the kingdom; the restoration of the glories of David’s kingdom was a burning hope for many Jews at the time. Matthew clearly identifies Jesus with that hope by using the Jewish royal title “Son of David” nine times in his Gospel. Furthermore he calls Jerusalem “the holy city” (4:5; 27:53) and the “city of the great King” (5:35), both uniquely Jewish ways of referring to it. First-century Jews emphasized righteousness, and Matthew uses the words “righteous” and “righteousness” more often than the Gospels of Mark, Luke, and John combined.

Matthew also discusses the law, ceremonial cleanness, the Sabbath, the temple, David, the Messiah, the fulfillment of Old Testament prophecies, and Moses—all from a Jewish point of view. He has 53 Old Testament citations and more than 70 allusions to the Hebrew Scriptures. Thirteen times, the book emphasizes that Jesus’ actions were a direct fulfillment of Old Testament prophecies. The genealogy of chapter 1 is recognizably Jewish, tracing the lineage of Jesus back through David to Abraham, the father of the Jewish people. Furthermore the Gospel mentions Jewish rulers (see 2:1, 22; 14:1) and customs such as ceremonial washing (see 15:2) without explanation, indicating that Matthew expected his predominantly Jewish audience to be familiar with such practices.

Purposes Matthew’s Gospel serves several purposes beyond presenting a mere biography of Jesus. One purpose is to prove to Jewish readers that Jesus is their Messiah and promised King. The genealogy in chapter 1 points to Christ as the One who inherited God’s promises to David of an eternal dynasty. Jesus’ use of a familiar messianic psalm in Matthew 22:41–44 would have clearly implied to any Jew that He was the heir of the Davidic throne. Even though many Jews of Jesus’ time were blind to Jesus’ identity, Gentiles (such as the wise men) identified Him as Israel’s promised King when He was a baby. Finally, the charge that hung above Jesus’ head on the Cross clearly highlights His royalty: THIS IS JESUS, THE KING OF THE JEWS (27:37). But most important, the Book of Matthew proves Jesus’ legitimate authority by highlighting His wise teaching and righteous life (7:28, 29).

Another purpose of the book is to outline the characteristics of the kingdom of God, both for Israel and the church. Orthodox Jews would typically scoff at any assertion that Jesus is their Messiah, let alone their King. They would retort, “If Jesus is King, where is the promised restoration of the kingdom of Israel?” Many Jews of Jesus’ day rejected Him as Messiah, even though both Jesus and John the Baptist continually preached that the kingdom was “at hand” (3:2; 4:17; 10:7). This rejection of Jesus by the Jews is a dominant theme of Matthew (11:12–24; 12:28–45; 21:33–22:14). Because of this rejection, God postponed the fulfillment of His promises to Israel and subsequently extended His blessings to both Jew and Gentile in the church.

Matthew is the only Gospel writer who speaks directly of the church (16:18; 18:17). He points to the Gentile composition of this church by including several stories of the Gentiles’ faith in Jesus: the wise men, the centurion, and the Canaanite woman. He records Jesus’ prediction that the gospel will be preached to all nations (24:14), and the commission to the disciples to “make disciples of all the nations” (28:19). Jesus’ teaching pointed to the blessings of the kingdom being extended to Gentiles. But one day, Israel will be restored to its place of blessing (see Rom. 11:25–27; 15:8, 9).

A final purpose of Matthew is to instruct the church. An obvious clue to this is in the Great Commission: “teaching them to observe all things that I have commanded you” (28:20). The discipling process involves instruction in the words of Christ, and the Gospel of Matthew revolves around five of Jesus’ discourses (5:1–7:28; 10:5–11:1; 13:3–53; 18:2–19:1; 24:4–26:1). Instead of emphasizing a narrative of Jesus’ life as Mark does, Matthew uses the narrative elements in his Gospel as a setting for Jesus’ sermons.

Christ in the Scriptures

Matthew, as a Jew, unashamedly shapes his account about Jesus' life so it is understood by a Jewish audience. His goal is to convince his peers that the King of kings has come. With this in mind, he uses terms and names that Jews will resonate with. By quoting more passages from the Old Testament than any other New Testament writer, he attempts to validate that Jesus is indeed the promised Messiah. No less than 12 times Matthew presents Jesus as Israel's Messianic King (1:23; 2:2, 6; 3:17; 4:15–17; 21:5, 9; 22:44, 45; 26:64; 27:11, 27–37).

Also unique to Matthew is the expression, “that it might be fulfilled” which was spoken by various prophets. By footnoting familiar passages the Jews accepted as God's inspired Word, Matthew builds his case for Christ with the precision of a former tax collector. Examine for yourself how he substantiates the prophecies that pointed to Jesus' miraculous and obscure birth, His birthplace, His exile to Egypt and return to Israel, and His rejection and suffering. No wonder Matthew begins his book with an impressive genealogy of Jesus' link to King David.

Matthew 1

The Genealogy of Jesus Christ

(Ruth 4:18–22; 1 Chr. 2:1–15; Luke 3:23–38) ¹The book of the ^agenealogy¹ of Jesus Christ, ^bthe Son of David, ^cthe Son of Abraham: ^{2d}Abraham begot Isaac, ^eIsaac begot Jacob, and Jacob begot ^fJudah and his brothers.

^{3g}Judah begot Perez and Zerah by Tamar, ^hPerez begot Hezron, and Hezron begot Ram.

⁴Ram begot Amminadab, Amminadab begot Nahshon, and Nahshon begot Salmon.

⁵Salmon begot ⁱBoaz by Rahab, Boaz begot Obed by Ruth, Obed begot Jesse, ⁶and ^jJesse begot David the king.

^kDavid the king begot Solomon by her ²who had been the wife of Uriah.

^{7l}Solomon begot Rehoboam, Rehoboam begot ^mAbijah, and Abijah begot ³Asa.

⁸Asa begot ⁿJehoshaphat, Jehoshaphat begot Joram, and Joram begot ^oUzziah.

⁹Uzziah begot Jotham, Jotham begot ^pAhaz, and Ahaz begot Hezekiah.

^{10q}Hezekiah begot Manasseh, Manasseh begot ⁴Amon, and Amon begot ^rJosiah.

^{11s}Josiah begot ⁵Jeconiah and his brothers about the time they were ^tcarried away to Babylon.

¹²And after they were brought to Babylon, ^uJeconiah begot Shealtiel, and Shealtiel begot ^vZerubbabel.

¹³Zerubbabel begot Abiud, Abiud begot Eliakim, and Eliakim begot Azor.

¹⁴Azor begot Zadok, Zadok begot Achim, and Achim begot Eliud.

¹⁵Eliud begot Eleazar, Eleazar begot Matthan, and Matthan begot Jacob.

¹⁶And Jacob begot Joseph the husband of ^wMary, of whom was born Jesus who is called Christ.

¹⁷So all the generations from Abraham to David are fourteen generations, from David until the captivity in Babylon are fourteen generations, and from the captivity in Babylon until the Christ are fourteen generations.

Christ Born of Mary

(Luke 2:1–7)

¹⁸Now the ^xbirth of Jesus Christ was as follows: After His mother Mary was betrothed to Joseph, before they came together, she was found with child ^yof the Holy Spirit.

¹⁹Then Joseph her husband, being ⁶a just man, and not wanting ^zto make her a public example, was minded to put her away secretly.

²⁰But while he thought about these things, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream, saying, “Joseph, son of David, do not be afraid to take to you Mary your wife, ^afor that which is ⁷conceived in her is of the Holy Spirit.

^{21b}“And she will bring forth a Son, and you shall call His name ⁸JESUS, ^cfor He will save His people from their sins.” Word Studies: Jesus

²²So all this was done that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Lord through the prophet, saying: ^{23a}“Behold,⁹ the virgin shall be with child, and bear a Son, and they shall call His name Immanuel,” which is translated, “God with us.”

²⁴Then Joseph, being aroused from sleep, did as the angel of the Lord commanded him and took to him his wife, ²⁵and ¹⁰did not know her till she had brought forth ^eher¹¹ firstborn Son. And he called His name JESUS.

Matthew 2

Wise Men from the East

¹Now after ^aJesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold, ¹wise men ^bfrom the East came to Jerusalem, Bible Times & Culture Notes: The Wise Men

²saying, ^c“Where is He who has been born King of the Jews? For we have seen ^dHis star in the East and have come to worship Him.”

³When Herod the king heard this, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him.

⁴And when he had gathered all ^ethe chief priests and ^fscribes of the people together, ^ghe inquired of them where the Christ was to be born.

⁵So they said to him, “In Bethlehem of Judea, for thus it is written by the prophet:

⁶*‘But^h you, Bethlehem, in the land of Judah, Are not the least among the rulers of Judah;*

For out of you shall come a Ruler

ⁱWho will shepherd My people Israel.’ ”

⁷Then Herod, when he had secretly called the ²wise men, determined from them what time the ^jstar appeared.

⁸And he sent them to Bethlehem and said, “Go and search carefully for the young Child, and when you have found Him, bring back word to me, that I may come and worship Him also.”

⁹When they heard the king, they departed; and behold, the star which they had seen in the East went before them, till it came and stood over where the young Child was.

¹⁰When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceedingly great joy.

¹¹And when they had come into the house, they saw the young Child with Mary His mother, and fell down and worshiped Him. And when they had opened their treasures, ^kthey presented gifts to Him: gold, frankincense, and myrrh.

¹²Then, being divinely warned ^lin a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed for their own country another way.

The Flight into Egypt

¹³Now when they had departed, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream, saying, “Arise, take the young Child and His mother, flee to Egypt, and stay there until I bring you word; for Herod will seek the young Child to destroy Him.” In-Text Map: Jesus' Early Life

¹⁴When he arose, he took the young Child and His mother by night and departed for Egypt, ¹⁵and was there until the death of Herod, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Lord through the prophet, saying, ^m“Out of Egypt I called My Son.”

Massacre of the Innocents

¹⁶Then Herod, when he saw that he was deceived by the wise men, was exceedingly angry; and he sent forth and put to death all the male children who were in Bethlehem and in all its districts, from two years old and under, according to the time which he had determined from the wise men.

¹⁷Then was fulfilled what was spoken by Jeremiah the prophet, saying:

¹⁸*“A n voice was heard in Ramah, Lamentation, weeping, and great mourning,
Rachel weeping for her children,
Refusing to be comforted,
Because they are no more.”* Charts and Diagrams: The Prophecies of Jesus' Birth

The Home in Nazareth

(Luke 2:39)

¹⁹Now when Herod was dead, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared in a dream to Joseph in Egypt, ²⁰^osaying, “Arise, take the young Child and His mother, and go to the land of Israel, for those who ^psought the young Child’s life are dead.”

²¹Then he arose, took the young Child and His mother, and came into the land of Israel.

²²But when he heard that Archelaus was reigning over Judea instead of his father Herod, he was afraid to go there. And being warned by God in a ^qdream, he turned aside ^rinto the region of Galilee.

²³And he came and dwelt in a city called ^sNazareth, that it might be fulfilled ^twhich was spoken by the prophets, “He shall be called a Nazarene.”

Matthew 3

John the Baptist Prepares the Way

(Mark 1:2–8; Luke 3:1–20) ¹In those days ^aJohn the Baptist came preaching ^bin the wilderness of Judea, ²and saying, “Repent, for ^cthe kingdom of heaven is at hand!”

³For this is he who was spoken of by the prophet Isaiah, saying:

^d“The voice of one crying in the wilderness: ^e‘Prepare the way of the LORD; Make His paths straight.’ ”

⁴Now ^fJohn himself was clothed in camel’s hair, with a leather belt around his waist; and his food was ^glocusts and ^hwild honey.

⁵ⁱThen Jerusalem, all Judea, and all the region around the Jordan went out to him ^{6j}and were baptized by him in the Jordan, confessing their sins.

⁷But when he saw many of the Pharisees and Sadducees coming to his baptism, he said to them, ^k“Brood of vipers! Who warned you to flee from ^lthe wrath to come?

⁸“Therefore bear fruits worthy of repentance,

⁹“and do not think to say to yourselves, ^m‘We have Abraham as our father.’ For I say to you that God is able to raise up children to Abraham from these stones.

¹⁰“And even now the ax is laid to the root of the trees. ⁿTherefore every tree which does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire.

^{11o}“I indeed baptize you with water unto repentance, but He who is coming after me is mightier than I, whose sandals I am not worthy to carry. ^pHe will baptize you with the Holy Spirit ¹and fire.

^{12q}“His winnowing fan is in His hand, and He will thoroughly clean out His threshing floor, and gather His wheat into the barn; but He will ^rburn up the chaff with unquenchable fire.”

John Baptizes Jesus

(Mark 1:9–11; Luke 3:21, 22; John 1:29–34) ^{13s}Then Jesus came ^tfrom Galilee to John at the Jordan to be baptized by him.

¹⁴And John tried to prevent Him, saying, “I need to be baptized by You, and are You coming to me?”

¹⁵But Jesus answered and said to him, “Permit it to be so now, for thus it is fitting for us to fulfill all righteousness.” Then he allowed Him.

^{16u}When He had been baptized, Jesus came up immediately from the water; and behold, the heavens were opened to Him, and ²He saw ^vthe Spirit of God descending like a dove and alighting upon Him.

^{17w}And suddenly a voice came from heaven, saying, ^x“This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.”

Matthew 4

Satan Tempts Jesus

(Mark 1:12, 13; Luke 4:1–13) ¹Then ^aJesus was led up by ^bthe Spirit into the wilderness to be tempted by the devil. Word Studies: tempted

²And when He had fasted forty days and forty nights, afterward He was hungry.

³Now when the tempter came to Him, he said, “If You are the Son of God, command that these stones become bread.”

⁴But He answered and said, “It is written, ^c*‘Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceeds from the mouth of God.’*”

⁵Then the devil took Him up ^dinto the holy city, set Him on the pinnacle of the temple, Charts and Diagrams: Herod’s Temple

⁶and said to Him, “If You are the Son of God, throw Yourself down. For it is written:

^e*‘He shall give His angels charge over you,’*

and,

^f*‘In their hands they shall bear you up, Lest you dash your foot against a stone.’*”

⁷Jesus said to him, “It is written again, ^g*‘You shall not ¹tempt the LORD your God.’*”

⁸Again, the devil took Him up on an exceedingly high mountain, and ^hshowed Him all the kingdoms of the world and their glory.

⁹And he said to Him, “All these things I will give You if You will fall down and worship me.”

¹⁰Then Jesus said to him, ²*“Away with you, Satan! For it is written, ⁱ‘You shall worship the LORD your God, and Him only you shall serve.’*”

¹¹Then the devil ^jleft Him, and behold, ^kangels came and ministered to Him. In-Text Map: Jesus’ Baptism and Temptation

Jesus Begins His Galilean Ministry

(Mark 1:14, 15; Luke 4:14, 15) ¹²*Now when Jesus heard that John had been put in prison, He departed to Galilee.*

¹³And leaving Nazareth, He came and dwelt in Capernaum, which is by the sea, in the regions of Zebulun and Naphtali, ¹⁴that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Isaiah the prophet, saying:

¹⁵*“The^m land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, By the way of the sea, beyond the Jordan, Galilee of the Gentiles:*

¹⁶*nThe people who sat in darkness have seen a great light, And upon those who sat in the region and shadow of death Light has dawned.”*

¹⁷^oFrom that time Jesus began to preach and to say, ^p*“Repent, for the kingdom of heaven ³is at hand.”*

Four Fishermen Called as Disciples

(Mark 1:16–20; Luke 5:1–11) ^{18q}And Jesus, walking by the Sea of Galilee, saw two brothers, Simon ^rcalled Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea; for they were fishermen.

¹⁹Then He said to them, “Follow Me, and ^sI will make you fishers of men.”

^{20r}They immediately left their nets and followed Him.

^{21u}Going on from there, He saw two other brothers, James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, in the boat with Zebedee their father, mending their nets. He called them, ²²and immediately they left the boat and their father, and followed Him.

Jesus Heals a Great Multitude

(Mark 1:35–39; Luke 4:44; 6:17–19) ²³And Jesus went about all Galilee, ^vteaching in their synagogues, preaching ^wthe gospel of the kingdom, ^xand healing all kinds of sickness and all kinds of disease among the people.

²⁴Then ⁴His fame went throughout all Syria; and they ^ybrought to Him all sick people who were afflicted with various diseases and torments, and those who were demon-possessed, epileptics, and paralytics; and He healed them.

^{25z}Great multitudes followed Him—from Galilee, and from ⁵Decapolis, Jerusalem, Judea, and beyond the Jordan.

Matthew 5

The Beatitudes

(Luke 6:20–26)

¹And seeing the multitudes, ^aHe went up on a mountain, and when He was seated His disciples came to Him.

²Then He opened His mouth and ^btaught them, saying:

³“Blessed^c are the poor in spirit, For theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

Word Studies: blessed

^{5e}Blessed are the meek, For ^fthey shall inherit the ¹earth.

⁶Blessed are those who ^ghunger and thirst for righteousness, ^hFor they shall be filled.

⁷Blessed are the merciful, ⁱFor they shall obtain mercy.

^{8j}Blessed are the pure in heart, For ^kthey shall see God.

⁹Blessed are the peacemakers, For they shall be called sons of God.

^{10l}Blessed are those who are persecuted for righteousness’ sake, For theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

^{11m}“Blessed are you when they revile and persecute you, and say all kinds of ⁿevil against you falsely for My sake.

^{12o}“Rejoice and be exceedingly glad, for great is your reward in heaven, for ^pso they persecuted the prophets who were before you.

Believers Are Salt and Light

(Mark 9:50; Luke 14:34, 35) ¹³“You are the salt of the earth; ^qbut if the salt loses its flavor, how shall it be seasoned? It is then good for nothing but to be thrown out and trampled underfoot by men.

¹⁴“You are the light of the world. A city that is set on a hill cannot be hidden.

¹⁵“Nor do they ^slight a lamp and put it under a basket, but on a lampstand, and it gives light to all who are in the house.

¹⁶“Let your light so shine before men, ^tthat they may see your good works and ^uglorify your Father in heaven.

Christ Fulfills the Law

¹⁷^v“Do not think that I came to destroy the Law or the Prophets. I did not come to destroy but to fulfill.

¹⁸“For assuredly, I say to you, ^wtill heaven and earth pass away, one ²jot or one ³tittle will by no means pass from the law till all is fulfilled. Word Studies: tittle

²⁰“For I say to you, that unless your righteousness exceeds ^y*the righteousness* of the scribes and Pharisees, you will by no means enter the kingdom of heaven.

Murder Begins in the Heart

(Luke 12:57-59)

²¹“You have heard that it was said to those ⁴of old, ^z*‘You shall not murder,* and whoever murders will be in danger of the judgment.’

²³“Therefore ^cif you bring your gift to the altar, and there remember that your brother has something against you, ^{24d}“leave your gift there before the altar, and go your way. First be reconciled to your brother, and then come and offer your gift.

^{25e}“Agree with your adversary quickly, ^fwhile you are on the way with him, lest your adversary deliver you to the judge, the judge hand you over to the officer, and you be thrown into prison.

²⁶“Assuredly, I say to you, you will by no means get out of there till you have paid the last penny.

Adultery in the Heart

²⁷“You have heard that it was said ⁹to those of old, ^g*‘You shall not commit adultery.’*

²⁸“But I say to you that whoever ^hlooks at a woman to lust for her has already committed adultery with her in his heart.

³⁰“And if your right hand causes you to ¹¹sin, cut it off and cast it from you; for it is more profitable for you that one of your members perish, than for your whole body to be cast into hell.

Marriage Is Sacred and Binding

(Matt. 19:9; Mark 10:11, 12; Luke 16:18)³¹“Furthermore it has been said,^k‘Whoever divorces his wife, let him give her a certificate of divorce.’

³²“But I say to you that ^lwhoever divorces his wife for any reason except ¹²sexual immorality causes her to commit adultery; and whoever marries a woman who is divorced commits adultery.

Jesus Forbids Oaths

³³“Again you have heard that ^mit was said to those of ¹³old, ⁿ‘You shall not swear falsely, but ^oshall perform your oaths to the Lord.’

³⁴“But I say to you, ^pdo not swear at all: neither by heaven, for it is ^qGod’s throne; ³⁵“nor by the earth, for it is His footstool; nor by Jerusalem, for it is the city of ^rthe great King.

³⁶“Nor shall you swear by your head, because you cannot make one hair white or black.

^{37s}“But let ¹⁴your ‘Yes’ be ‘Yes,’ and your ‘No,’ ‘No.’ For whatever is more than these is from the evil one.

Go the Second Mile

(Luke 6:29–31)

³⁸“You have heard that it was said, ^t*‘An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth.’*

^{39u}“But I tell you not to resist an evil person. ^vBut whoever slaps you on your right cheek, turn the other to him also.

⁴⁰“If anyone wants to sue you and take away your tunic, let him have your cloak also.

⁴¹“And whoever ^wcompels you to go one mile, go with him two.

⁴²“Give to him who asks you, and ^xfrom him who wants to borrow from you do not turn away.

Love Your Enemies

(Luke 6:27, 28, 32–36) ⁴³“You have heard that it was said, ^y‘You shall love your neighbor ^zand hate your enemy.’

⁴⁴¹⁵“But I say to you, ^alove your enemies, bless those who curse you, ^bdo good to those who hate you, and pray ^cfor those who spitefully use you and persecute you, ⁴⁵“that you may be sons of your Father in heaven; for ^dHe makes His sun rise on the evil and on the good, and sends rain on the just and on the unjust.

^{46e}“For if you love those who love you, what reward have you? Do not even the tax collectors do the same?

⁴⁷“And if you greet your ¹⁶brethren only, what do you do more than others? Do not even the ¹⁷tax collectors do so?

^{48f}“Therefore you shall be perfect, just ^gas your Father in heaven is perfect.

Matthew 6

Do Good to Please God

¹“Take heed that you do not do your charitable deeds before men, to be seen by them. Otherwise you have no reward from your Father in heaven.

²“Therefore, ^awhen you do a charitable deed, do not sound a trumpet before you as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may have glory from men. Assuredly, I say to you, they have their reward.

³“But when you do a charitable deed, do not let your left hand know what your right hand is doing, ⁴“that your charitable deed may be in secret; and your Father who sees in secret ^bwill Himself reward you ¹openly.

The Model Prayer

(Luke 11:2-4)

⁵“And when you pray, you shall not be like the ²hypocrites. For they love to pray standing in the synagogues and on the corners of the streets, that they may be seen by men. Assuredly, I say to you, they have their reward.

⁶“But you, when you pray, ^cgo into your room, and when you have shut your door, pray to your Father who is in the secret place; and your Father who sees in secret will reward you ³openly.

⁷“And when you pray, ^ddo not use vain repetitions as the heathen do. ^eFor they think that they will be heard for their many words.

⁸“Therefore do not be like them. For your Father ^fknows the things you have need of before you ask Him.

⁹“In this ^gmanner, therefore, pray:

^hOur Father in heaven, Hallowed be Your ⁱname.

¹⁰Your kingdom come.

^jYour will be done On earth ^kas it is in heaven.

¹¹Give us this day our ^ldaily bread.

¹²And ^mforgive us our debts, As we forgive our debtors.

¹³ⁿAnd do not lead us into temptation, But ^odeliver us from the evil one.

⁴For Yours is the kingdom and the power and the glory forever. Amen.

^{14p}“For if you forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you.

¹⁵“But ^qif you do not forgive men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.

Fasting to Be Seen Only by God

¹⁶“Moreover, ^rwhen you fast, do not be like the ⁵hypocrites, with a sad countenance. For they disfigure their faces that they may appear to men to be fasting. Assuredly, I say to you, they have their reward.

¹⁷“But you, when you fast, ^sanoint your head and wash your face, ¹⁸“so that you do not appear to men to be fasting, but to your Father who is in the secret place; and your Father who sees in secret will reward you ⁶openly.

Lay Up Treasures in Heaven

(Luke 12:33, 34) ^{19t}“Do not lay up for yourselves treasures on earth, where moth and rust destroy and where thieves break in and steal; ^{20u}“but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust destroys and where thieves do not break in and steal.

²¹“For where your treasure is, there your heart will be also.

The Lamp of the Body

(Luke 11:34–36)

^{22v}“The lamp of the body is the eye. If therefore your eye is ⁷good, your whole body will be full of light.

²³“But if your eye is ⁸bad, your whole body will be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in you is darkness, how great is that darkness!

You Cannot Serve God and Riches

^{24w}“No one can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will be loyal to the one and despise the other. ^xYou cannot serve God and ⁹mammon.

Do Not Worry
(Luke 12:22-31)

²⁵“Therefore I say to you, ^ydo not worry about your life, what you will eat or what you will drink; nor about your body, what you will put on. Is not life more than food and the body more than clothing?

^{26z}“Look at the birds of the air, for they neither sow nor reap nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are you not of more value than they?

²⁷“Which of you by worrying can add one ¹⁰cubit to his ¹¹stature?

³⁰“Now if God so clothes the grass of the field, which today is, and tomorrow is thrown into the oven, will He not much more clothe you, O you of little faith?

³¹“Therefore do not worry, saying, ‘What shall we eat?’ or ‘What shall we drink?’ or ‘What shall we wear?’

³²“For after all these things the Gentiles seek. For your heavenly Father knows that you need all these things.

³³“But ^aseek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added to you.

³⁴“Therefore do not worry about tomorrow, for tomorrow will worry about its own things. Sufficient for the day is its own trouble.

Matthew 7

Do Not Judge

(Luke 6:37–42)

¹“Judge^a not, that you be not judged.

²“For with what ²judgment you judge, you will be judged; ^band with the measure you use, it will be measured back to you.

^{3c}“And why do you look at the speck in your brother’s eye, but do not consider the plank in your own eye?

⁴“Or how can you say to your brother, ‘Let me remove the speck from your eye’; and look, a plank is in your own eye?

⁵“Hypocrite! First remove the plank from your own eye, and then you will see clearly to remove the speck from your brother’s eye.

^{6d}“Do not give what is holy to the dogs; nor cast your pearls before swine, lest they trample them under their feet, and turn and tear you in pieces.

Keep Asking, Seeking, Knocking

(Luke 11:9–13)

^{7e}“Ask, and it will be given to you; seek, and you will find; knock, and it will be opened to you.

⁸“For ^feveryone who asks receives, and he who seeks finds, and to him who knocks it will be opened.

^{9g}“Or what man is there among you who, if his son asks for bread, will give him a stone?

¹⁰“Or if he asks for a fish, will he give him a serpent?

¹¹“If you then, ^hbeing evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Father who is in heaven give good things to those who ask Him!

¹²“Therefore, ⁱwhatever you want men to do to you, do also to them, for ^jthis is the Law and the Prophets.

The Narrow Way

(Luke 13:24)

^{13k}“Enter by the narrow gate; for wide is the gate and broad is the way that leads to destruction, and there are many who go in by it.

¹⁴³“Because narrow is the gate and ⁴difficult is the way which leads to life, and there are few who find it.

You Will Know Them by Their Fruits

(Matt. 12:33; Luke 6:43–45) ^{15l}“Beware of false prophets, ^mwho come to you in sheep’s clothing, but inwardly they are ravenous wolves.

¹⁶ⁿ“You will know them by their fruits. ^oDo men gather grapes from thornbushes or figs from thistles?

¹⁷“Even so, ^pevery good tree bears good fruit, but a bad tree bears bad fruit.

¹⁸“A good tree cannot bear bad fruit, nor can a bad tree bear good fruit.

^{19q}“Every tree that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire.

²⁰“Therefore by their fruits you will know them.

I Never Knew You

(Luke 6:46; 13:26, 27) ²¹“Not everyone who says to Me, ^r‘Lord, Lord,’ shall enter the kingdom of heaven, but he who ^sdoes the will of My Father in heaven.

²²“Many will say to Me in that day, ‘Lord, Lord, have we ^tnot prophesied in Your name, cast out demons in Your name, and done many wonders in Your name?’

²³“And ^uthen I will declare to them, ‘I never knew you; ^vdepart from Me, you who practice lawlessness!’

Build on the Rock

²⁴“Therefore ^wwhoever hears these sayings of Mine, and does them, I will liken him to a wise man who built his house on the rock: ²⁵“and the rain descended, the floods came, and the winds blew and beat on that house; and it did not fall, for it was founded on the rock.

²⁶“But everyone who hears these sayings of Mine, and does not do them, will be like a foolish man who built his house on the sand: ²⁷“and the rain descended, the floods came, and the winds blew and beat on that house; and it fell. And great was its fall.”

²⁸And so it was, when Jesus had ended these sayings, that ^xthe people were astonished at His teaching, ^{29y}for He taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes.

Matthew 8

Jesus Cleanses a Leper

(Mark 1:40–45; Luke 5:12–16) ¹When He had come down from the mountain, great multitudes followed Him.

^{2a}And behold, a leper came and ^bworshiped Him, saying, “Lord, if You are willing, You can make me clean.”

³Then Jesus put out His hand and touched him, saying, “I am willing; be cleansed.” Immediately his leprosy ^cwas cleansed.

⁴And Jesus said to him, ^d“See that you tell no one; but go your way, show yourself to the priest, and offer the gift that ^eMoses ^fcommanded, as a testimony to them.”

Jesus Heals a Centurion’s Servant

(Luke 7:1–10)

^{5g}Now when Jesus had entered Capernaum, a ^hcenturion came to Him, pleading with Him, ⁶saying, “Lord, my servant is lying at home paralyzed, dreadfully tormented.”

⁷And Jesus said to him, “I will come and heal him.”

⁸The centurion answered and said, “Lord, ⁱI am not worthy that You should come under my roof. But only ^jspeak a word, and my servant will be healed.

⁹“For I also am a man under authority, having soldiers under me. And I say to this one, ‘Go,’ and he goes; and to another, ‘Come,’ and he comes; and to my servant, ‘Do this,’ and he does it.”

¹⁰When Jesus heard it, He marveled, and said to those who followed, “Assuredly, I say to you, I have not found such great faith, not even in Israel!

¹¹“And I say to you that ^kmany will come from east and west, and sit down with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob in the kingdom of heaven.

¹²“But ^lthe sons of the kingdom ^mwill be cast out into outer darkness. There will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.”

¹³Then Jesus said to the centurion, “Go your way; and as you have believed, so let it be done for you.” And his servant was healed that same hour.

Peter’s Mother-in-Law Healed

(Mark 1:29–31; Luke 4:38, 39) ¹⁴ⁿNow when Jesus had come into Peter’s house, He saw ^ohis wife’s mother lying sick with a fever.

¹⁵So He touched her hand, and the fever left her. And she arose and served ¹them.

Many Healed in the Evening

(Mark 1:32–34; Luke 4:40, 41) ^{16p}When evening had come, they brought to Him many who were demon-possessed. And He cast out the spirits with a word, and healed all who were sick, ¹⁷that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Isaiah the prophet, saying:

^q“He Himself took our infirmities And bore our sicknesses.”

The Cost of Discipleship

(Luke 9:57–62)

¹⁸And when Jesus saw great multitudes about Him, He gave a command to depart to the other side.

¹⁹^rThen a certain scribe came and said to Him, “Teacher, I will follow You wherever You go.”

²⁰And Jesus said to him, “Foxes have holes and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay His head.”

²¹^sThen another of His disciples said to Him, “Lord, ^tlet me first go and bury my father.”

²²But Jesus said to him, “Follow Me, and let the dead bury their own dead.”

Wind and Wave Obey Jesus

(Mark 4:35–41; Luke 8:22–25) ²³Now when He got into a boat, His disciples followed Him.

^{24u}And suddenly a great tempest arose on the sea, so that the boat was covered with the waves. But He was asleep.

²⁵Then His disciples came to Him and awoke Him, saying, “Lord, save us! We are perishing!”

²⁶But He said to them, “Why are you fearful, O you of little faith?” Then ^vHe arose and rebuked the winds and the sea, and there was a great calm.

²⁷So the men marveled, saying, ²“Who can this be, that even the winds and the sea obey Him?”

Two Demon-Possessed Men Healed

(Mark 5:1–20; Luke 8:26–39) ^{28w}When He had come to the other side, to the country of the ³Gergesenes, there met Him two demon-possessed men, coming out of the tombs, exceedingly fierce, so that no one could pass that way.

²⁹And suddenly they cried out, saying, “What have we to do with You, Jesus, You Son of God? Have You come here to torment us before the time?”

³⁰Now a good way off from them there was a herd of many swine feeding.

³¹So the demons begged Him, saying, “If You cast us out, ⁴permit us to go away into the herd of swine.”

³²And He said to them, “Go.” So when they had come out, they went into the herd of swine. And suddenly the whole herd of swine ran violently down the steep place into the sea, and perished in the water.

³³Then those who kept them fled; and they went away into the city and told everything, including what had happened to the demon-possessed men.

³⁴And behold, the whole city came out to meet Jesus. And when they saw Him, ^xthey begged Him to depart from their region.

Matthew 9

Jesus Forgives and Heals a Paralytic

(Mark 2:1–12; Luke 5:17–26) ¹So He got into a boat, crossed over, ^aand came to His own city.

^{2b}Then behold, they brought to Him a paralytic lying on a bed. ^cWhen Jesus saw their faith, He said to the paralytic, “Son, be of good cheer; your sins are forgiven you.”

³And at once some of the scribes said within themselves, “This Man blasphemes!”

⁴But Jesus, ^dknowing their thoughts, said, “Why do you think evil in your hearts?

⁵“For which is easier, to say, ‘Your sins are forgiven you,’ or to say, ‘Arise and walk’?

⁶“But that you may know that the Son of Man has power on earth to forgive sins”—then He said to the paralytic, “Arise, take up your bed, and go to your house.”

⁷And he arose and departed to his house.

⁸Now when the multitudes saw it, they ^emarveled¹ and glorified God, who had given such power to men.

Matthew the Tax Collector

(Mark 2:13–17; Luke 5:27–32) ^{9f}As Jesus passed on from there, He saw a man named Matthew sitting at the tax office. And He said to him, “Follow Me.” So he arose and followed Him. Bible Times & Culture
Notes: Tax Collectors

^{10g}Now it happened, as Jesus sat at the table in the house, that behold, many tax collectors and sinners came and sat down with Him and His disciples.

¹¹And when the Pharisees saw it, they said to His disciples, “Why does your Teacher eat with ^htax collectors and ⁱsinners?”

¹²When Jesus heard that, He said to them, “Those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick.

¹³“But go and learn what this means: ^j*‘I desire mercy and not sacrifice.’* For I did not come to call the righteous, ^kbut sinners, ²to repentance.”

Jesus Is Questioned About Fasting

(Mark 2:18–22; Luke 5:33–39) ¹⁴Then the disciples of John came to Him, saying, ^l“Why do we and the Pharisees fast ³often, but Your disciples do not fast?”

¹⁵And Jesus said to them, “Can ^mthe ⁴friends of the bridegroom mourn as long as the bridegroom is with them? But the days will come when the bridegroom will be taken away from them, and ⁿthen they will fast.

¹⁶“No one puts a piece of unshrunk cloth on an old garment; for ⁵the patch pulls away from the garment, and the tear is made worse.

¹⁷“Nor do they put new wine into old wineskins, or else the wineskins ⁶break, the wine is spilled, and the wineskins are ruined. But they put new wine into new wineskins, and both are preserved.”

A Girl Restored to Life and a Woman Healed

(Mark 5:21–43; Luke 8:40–56) ^{18o}While He spoke these things to them, behold, a ruler came and worshiped Him, saying, “My daughter has just died, but come and lay Your hand on her and she will live.”

¹⁹So Jesus arose and followed him, and so did His ^pdisciples.

^{20q}And suddenly, a woman who had a flow of blood for twelve years came from behind and ^rtouched the hem of His garment.

²¹For she said to herself, “If only I may touch His garment, I shall be made well.”

²²But Jesus turned around, and when He saw her He said, “Be of good cheer, daughter; ^syour faith has made you well.” And the woman was made well from that hour.

^{23t}When Jesus came into the ruler’s house, and saw ^uthe flute players and the noisy crowd wailing, ²⁴He said to them, ^v“Make room, for the girl is not dead, but sleeping.” And they ridiculed Him.

²⁵But when the crowd was put outside, He went in and ^wtook her by the hand, and the girl arose.

²⁶And the ^xreport of this went out into all that land.

Two Blind Men Healed

²⁷When Jesus departed from there, ^ytwo blind men followed Him, crying out and saying, ^z“Son of David, have mercy on us!”

²⁸And when He had come into the house, the blind men came to Him. And Jesus said to them, “Do you believe that I am able to do this?” They said to Him, “Yes, Lord.”

²⁹Then He touched their eyes, saying, “According to your faith let it be to you.”

³⁰And their eyes were opened. And Jesus sternly warned them, saying, ^a“See that no one knows it.”

^{31b}But when they had departed, they ⁷spread the news about Him in all that ⁸country.

A Mute Man Speaks

³²^cAs they went out, behold, they brought to Him a man, mute and demon-possessed.

³³And when the demon was cast out, the mute spoke. And the multitudes marveled, saying, “It was never seen like this in Israel!”

³⁴But the Pharisees said, ^d“He casts out demons by the ruler of the demons.”

The Compassion of Jesus

(Luke 10:2, 3)³⁵ Then Jesus went about all the cities and villages, ^eteaching in their synagogues, preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease ⁹among the people.

^{36f} But when He saw the multitudes, He was moved with compassion for them, because they were ¹⁰weary and scattered, ^glike sheep having no shepherd.

³⁷ Then He said to His disciples, ^h“The harvest truly is plentiful, but the laborers are few.

³⁸ⁱ “Therefore pray the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into His harvest.”

Matthew 10

The Twelve Apostles

(Mark 3:13–19; Luke 6:12–16) ¹And ^awhen He had called His twelve disciples to Him, He gave them power over unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to heal all kinds of sickness and all kinds of disease.

²Now the names of the twelve apostles are these: first, Simon, ^bwho is called Peter, and Andrew his brother; James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother; ³Philip and Bartholomew; Thomas and Matthew the tax collector; James the son of Alphaeus, and ¹Lebbaeus, whose surname was Thaddaeus; ^{4c}Simon the ²Cananite, and Judas ^dIscariot, who also betrayed Him.

Sending Out the Twelve

(Mark 6:7-13; Luke 9:1-6) ⁵These twelve Jesus sent out and commanded them, saying: ^e“Do not go into the way of the Gentiles, and do not enter a city of ^fthe Samaritans.

^{6g}“But go rather to the ^hlost sheep of the house of Israel.

⁷ⁱ“And as you go, preach, saying, ^j‘The kingdom of heaven ³is at hand.’

⁸“Heal the sick, ⁴cleanse the lepers, ⁵raise the dead, cast out demons.

^kFreely you have received, freely give.

^{9l}“Provide neither gold nor silver nor ^mcopper in your money belts, ¹⁰“nor bag for your journey, nor two tunics, nor sandals, nor staffs; ⁿfor a worker is worthy of his food.

^{11o}“Now whatever city or town you enter, inquire who in it is worthy, and stay there till you go out.

¹²“And when you go into a household, greet it.

^{13p}“If the household is worthy, let your peace come upon it. ^qBut if it is not worthy, let your peace return to you.

^{14r}“And whoever will not receive you nor hear your words, when you depart from that house or city, ^sshake off the dust from your feet.

¹⁵“Assuredly, I say to you, ^tit will be more tolerable for the land of Sodom and Gomorrah in the day of judgment than for that city!

Persecutions Are Coming

(Mark 13:9–13; Luke 21:12–17) ^{16u}“Behold, I send you out as sheep in the midst of wolves. ^vTherefore be wise as serpents and ^wharmless⁶ as doves.

¹⁷“But beware of men, for ^xthey will deliver you up to councils and ^yscourge you in their synagogues.

^{18z}“You will be brought before governors and kings for My sake, as a testimony to them and to the Gentiles.

^{19a}“But when they deliver you up, do not worry about how or what you should speak. For ^bit will be given to you in that hour what you should speak; ^{20c}“for it is not you who speak, but the Spirit of your Father who speaks in you.

^{21d}“Now brother will deliver up brother to death, and a father his child; and children will rise up against parents and cause them to be put to death.

²²“And ^eyou will be hated by all for My name’s sake. ^fBut he who endures to the end will be saved.

^{23g}“When they persecute you in this city, flee to another. For assuredly, I say to you, you will not have ^hgone through the cities of Israel ⁱbefore the Son of Man comes.

²⁶“Therefore do not fear them. ¹For there is nothing covered that will not be revealed, and hidden that will not be known.

Jesus Teaches the Fear of God

(Luke 12:3–7)

²⁷“Whatever I tell you in the dark, ^mspeak in the light; and what you hear in the ear, preach on the housetops.

²⁸ⁿ“And do not fear those who kill the body but cannot kill the soul. But rather ^ofear Him who is able to destroy both soul and body in ⁸hell.

²⁹“Are not two ^psparrows sold for a ⁹copper coin? And not one of them falls to the ground apart from your Father’s will.

^{30q}“But the very hairs of your head are all numbered.

³¹“Do not fear therefore; you are of more value than many sparrows.

Confess Christ Before Men

(Luke 12:8, 9) ^{32r}“Therefore whoever confesses Me before men, ^shim I will also confess before My Father who is in heaven.

^{33t}“But whoever denies Me before men, him I will also deny before My Father who is in heaven.

Christ Brings Division

(Luke 12:51–53; 14:26, 27) ^{34u}“Do not think that I came to bring peace on earth. I did not come to bring peace but a sword.

³⁵“For I have come to ^v‘set¹⁰ a man against his father, a daughter against her mother, and a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law’; ³⁶“and ^w‘a man’s enemies will be those of his own household.’

^{37x}“He who loves father or mother more than Me is not worthy of Me. And he who loves son or daughter more than Me is not worthy of Me.

^{38y}“And he who does not take his cross and follow after Me is not worthy of Me.

^{39z}“He who finds his life will lose it, and he who loses his life for My sake will find it.

A Cup of Cold Water

(Mark 9:41)

^{40a}“He who receives you receives Me, and he who receives Me receives Him who sent Me.

^{41b}“He who receives a prophet in the name of a prophet shall receive a prophet’s reward. And he who receives a righteous man in the name of a righteous man shall receive a righteous man’s reward.

^{42c}“And whoever gives one of these little ones only a cup of cold water in the name of a disciple, assuredly, I say to you, he shall by no means lose his reward.”

Matthew 11

John the Baptist Sends Messengers to Jesus

(Luke 7:18–35)

¹Now it came to pass, when Jesus finished commanding His twelve disciples, that He departed from there to ^ateach and to preach in their cities.

^{2b}And when John had heard ^cin prison about the works of Christ, he ¹sent two of his disciples Word Studies: Christ

³and said to Him, “Are You ^dthe Coming One, or do we look for another?”

⁴Jesus answered and said to them, “Go and tell John the things which you hear and see: ^{5e}“The blind see and the lame walk; the lepers are cleansed and the deaf hear; the dead are raised up and ^fthe poor have the gospel preached to them.

⁶“And blessed is he who is not ^goffended because of Me.”

^{7h}As they departed, Jesus began to say to the multitudes concerning John: “What did you go out into the wilderness to see? ⁱA reed shaken by the wind?

⁸“But what did you go out to see? A man clothed in soft garments? Indeed, those who wear soft clothing are in kings’ houses.

⁹“But what did you go out to see? A prophet? Yes, I say to you, ^jand more than a prophet.

¹⁰“For this is he of whom it is written:

^k*‘Behold, I send My messenger before Your face, Who will prepare Your way before You.’*

¹¹“Assuredly, I say to you, among those born of women there has not risen one greater than John the Baptist; but he who is least in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he.

^{12l}“And from the days of John the Baptist until now the kingdom of heaven suffers violence, and the violent take it by force.

^{13m}“For all the prophets and the law prophesied until John.

¹⁴“And if you are willing to receive it, he is ⁿElijah who is to come.

^{15o}“He who has ears to hear, let him hear!

^{16p}“But to what shall I liken this generation? It is like children sitting in the marketplaces and calling to their companions, ¹⁷“and saying:

‘We played the flute for you,
And you did not dance;
We mourned to you,
And you did not ²lament.’

¹⁸“For John came neither eating nor drinking, and they say, ‘He has a demon.’

¹⁹“The Son of Man came eating and drinking, and they say, ‘Look, a glutton and a ³winebibber, ^qa friend of tax collectors and sinners!’ ^rBut wisdom is justified by her ⁴children.”

Woe to the Impenitent Cities

(Gen. 19:12–14; Luke 10:13–15) ^{20s}Then He began to rebuke the cities in which most of His mighty works had been done, because they did not repent: ²¹“Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! For if the mighty works which were done in you had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago ^tin sackcloth and ashes.

²²“But I say to you, ^uit will be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon in the day of judgment than for you.

²³“And you, Capernaum, ^vwho⁵ are exalted to heaven, will be brought down to Hades; for if the mighty works which were done in you had been done in Sodom, it would have remained until this day.

²⁴“But I say to you ^wthat it shall be more tolerable for the land of Sodom in the day of judgment than for you.”

Jesus Gives True Rest

(Luke 10:21, 22) ^{25x}At that time Jesus answered and said, “I thank You, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that ^yYou have hidden these things from the wise and prudent ^zand have revealed them to babes.

²⁶“Even so, Father, for so it seemed good in Your sight.

^{27a}“All things have been delivered to Me by My Father, and no one knows the Son except the Father. ^bNor does anyone know the Father except the Son, and the one to whom the Son wills to reveal Him.

²⁸“Come to ^cMe, all you who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest.

²⁹“Take My yoke upon you ^dand learn from Me, for I am ⁶gentle and ^elowly in heart, ^fand you will find rest for your souls.

^{30g}“For My yoke is easy and My burden is light.”

Matthew 12

Jesus Is Lord of the Sabbath

(Mark 2:23–28; Luke 6:1–5) ¹At that time ^aJesus went through the grainfields on the Sabbath. And His disciples were hungry, and began to ^bpluck heads of grain and to eat.

²And when the Pharisees saw it, they said to Him, “Look, Your disciples are doing what is not lawful to do on the Sabbath!”

³But He said to them, “Have you not read ^cwhat David did when he was hungry, he and those who were with him: ⁴“how he entered the house of God and ate ^dthe showbread which was not lawful for him to eat, nor for those who were with him, ^ebut only for the priests?”

⁵“Or have you not read in the ^flaw that on the Sabbath the priests in the temple ¹profane the Sabbath, and are blameless?

⁶“Yet I say to you that in this place there is ^g*One* greater than the temple.

⁷“But if you had known what this means, ^h*‘I desire mercy and not sacrifice,’* you would not have condemned the guiltless.

⁸“For the Son of Man is Lord ²even of the Sabbath.”

Healing on the Sabbath

(Mark 3:1–6; Luke 6:6–11) ⁹ⁱNow when He had departed from there, He went into their synagogue.

¹⁰And behold, there was a man who had a withered hand. And they asked Him, saying, ^j“Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath?”—that they might accuse Him.

¹¹Then He said to them, “What man is there among you who has one sheep, and if it falls into a pit on the Sabbath, will not lay hold of it and lift it out?

¹²“Of how much more value then is a man than a sheep? Therefore it is lawful to do good on the Sabbath.”

¹³Then He said to the man, “Stretch out your hand.” And he stretched it out, and it was restored as whole as the other.

¹⁴Then ^kthe Pharisees went out and plotted against Him, how they might destroy Him.

Behold, My Servant

¹⁵But when Jesus knew it, ^lHe withdrew from there. ^mAnd great ³multitudes followed Him, and He healed them all.

¹⁶Yet He ⁿwarned them not to make Him known, ¹⁷that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Isaiah the prophet, saying:

¹⁸“Behold! ^oMy Servant whom I have chosen, My Beloved ^pin whom My soul is well pleased!

*I will put My Spirit upon Him,
And He will declare justice to the Gentiles.*

¹⁹*He will not quarrel nor cry out,
Nor will anyone hear His voice in the streets.*

²⁰*A bruised reed He will not break,
And smoking flax He will not quench,
Till He sends forth justice to victory;*

²¹*And in His name Gentiles will trust.”*

A House Divided Cannot Stand

(Mark 3:22–27; Luke 11:14–23) ²²^qThen one was brought to Him who was demon-possessed, blind and mute; and He healed him, so that the ⁴blind and mute man both spoke and saw.

²³And all the multitudes were amazed and said, “Could this be the ^rSon of David?”

²⁴^sNow when the Pharisees heard it they said, “This fellow does not cast out demons except by ⁵Beelzebub, the ruler of the demons.”

²⁵But Jesus ^tknew their thoughts, and said to them: “Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation, and every city or house divided against itself will not stand.

²⁶“If Satan casts out Satan, he is divided against himself. How then will his kingdom stand?

²⁷“And if I cast out demons by Beelzebub, by whom do your sons cast them out? Therefore they shall be your judges.

²⁸“But if I cast out demons by the Spirit of God, ^usurely the kingdom of God has come upon you.

²⁹^v“Or how can one enter a strong man’s house and plunder his goods, unless he first binds the strong man? And then he will plunder his house.

³⁰“He who is not with Me is against Me, and he who does not gather with Me scatters abroad.

The Unpardonable Sin

(Mark 3:28–30)

³¹“Therefore I say to you, ^wevery sin and blasphemy will be forgiven men, ^xbut the blasphemy against the Spirit will not be forgiven men.

³²“Anyone who ^yspeaks a word against the Son of Man, ^zit will be forgiven him; but whoever speaks against the Holy Spirit, it will not be forgiven him, either in this age or in the age to come.

A Tree Known by Its Fruit

(Matt. 7:15–20)

³³“Either make the tree good and ^aits fruit good, or else make the tree bad and its fruit bad; for a tree is known by its fruit.

^{34b}“Brood⁶ of vipers! How can you, being evil, speak good things? ^cFor out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaks.

³⁵“A good man out of the good treasure ⁷of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure brings forth evil things.

³⁶“But I say to you that for every idle word men may speak, they will give account of it in the day of judgment.

³⁷“For by your words you will be justified, and by your words you will be condemned.”

The Scribes and Pharisees Ask for a Sign

(Luke 11:29–32)

^{38d}Then some of the scribes and Pharisees answered, saying, “Teacher, we want to see a sign from You.”

³⁹But He answered and said to them, “An evil and ^eadulterous generation seeks after a sign, and no sign will be given to it except the sign of the prophet Jonah.

^{40f}“For as Jonah was three days and three nights in the belly of the great fish, so will the Son of Man be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth.

^{41g}“The men of Nineveh will rise up in the judgment with this generation and ^hcondemn it, ⁱbecause they repented at the preaching of Jonah; and indeed a greater than Jonah is here.

^{42j}“The queen of the South will rise up in the judgment with this generation and condemn it, for she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and indeed a greater than Solomon is here.

An Unclean Spirit Returns

(Luke 11:24–26)

⁴³^k“When an unclean spirit goes out of a man, ^lhe goes through dry places, seeking rest, and finds none.

⁴⁴“Then he says, ‘I will return to my house from which I came.’ And when he comes, he finds it empty, swept, and put in order.

⁴⁵“Then he goes and takes with him seven other spirits more wicked than himself, and they enter and dwell there; ^mand the last state of that man is worse than the first. So shall it also be with this wicked generation.”

Jesus’ Mother and Brothers Send for Him

(Mark 3:31–35; Luke 8:19–21) ⁴⁶While He was still talking to the multitudes, ⁿbehold, His mother and ^obrothers stood outside, seeking to speak with Him.

⁴⁷Then one said to Him, “Look, ^pYour mother and Your brothers are standing outside, seeking to speak with You.”

⁴⁸But He answered and said to the one who told Him, “Who is My mother and who are My brothers?”

⁴⁹And He stretched out His hand toward His disciples and said, “Here are My mother and My ^qbrothers!

⁵⁰“For ^rwhoever does the will of My Father in heaven is My brother and sister and mother.”

Matthew 13

The Parable of the Sower

(Mark 4:1–9; Luke 8:4–8) ¹On the same day Jesus went out of the house ^aand sat by the sea.

^{2b}And great multitudes were gathered together to Him, so that ^cHe got into a boat and sat; and the whole multitude stood on the shore.

³Then He spoke many things to them in parables, saying: ^d“Behold, a sower went out to sow.

⁴“And as he sowed, some seed fell by the wayside; and the birds came and devoured them.

⁵“Some fell on stony places, where they did not have much earth; and they immediately sprang up because they had no depth of earth.

⁶“But when the sun was up they were scorched, and because they had no root they withered away.

⁷“And some fell among thorns, and the thorns sprang up and choked them.

⁸“But others fell on good ground and yielded a crop: some ^ea hundredfold, some sixty, some thirty.

^{9f}“He who has ears to hear, let him hear!”

The Purpose of Parables

(Mark 4:10–12; Luke 8:9, 10) ¹⁰And the disciples came and said to Him, “Why do You speak to them in parables?”

¹¹He answered and said to them, “Because ^git has been given to you to know the ¹mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it has not been given.

^{12h}“For whoever has, to him more will be given, and he will have abundance; but whoever does not have, even what he has will be taken away from him.

¹³“Therefore I speak to them in parables, because seeing they do not see, and hearing they do not hear, nor do they understand.

¹⁴“And in them the prophecy of Isaiah is fulfilled, which says:

ⁱ‘Hearing you will hear and shall not understand, And seeing you will see and not ^jperceive; ¹⁵For the hearts of this people have grown dull.

Their ears ^kare hard of hearing, And their eyes they have ¹closed, Lest they should see with their eyes and hear with their ears, Lest they should understand with their hearts and turn, So that I ²should ^mheal them.’

¹⁶“But ⁿblessed are your eyes for they see, and your ears for they hear; ¹⁷“for assuredly, I say to you ^othat many prophets and righteous men desired to see what you see, and did not see it, and to hear what you hear, and did not hear it.

The Parable of the Sower Explained

(Mark 4:13–20; Luke 8:11–15) ^{18p}“Therefore hear the parable of the sower: ¹⁹“When anyone hears the word ^qof the kingdom, and does not understand it, then the wicked one comes and snatches away what was sown in his heart. This is he who received seed by the wayside.

²⁰“But he who received the seed on stony places, this is he who hears the word and immediately ^rreceives it with joy; ²¹“yet he has no root in himself, but endures only for a while. For when ^stribulation or persecution arises because of the word, immediately ^the stumbles.

²²“Now ^uhe who received seed ^vamong the thorns is he who hears the word, and the cares of this world and the deceitfulness of riches choke the word, and he becomes unfruitful.

²³“But he who received seed on the good ground is he who hears the word and understands it, who indeed bears ^wfruit and produces: some a hundredfold, some sixty, some thirty.”

The Parable of the Wheat and the Tares

²⁴Another parable He put forth to them, saying: “The kingdom of heaven is like a man who sowed good seed in his field; ²⁵“but while men slept, his enemy came and sowed tares among the wheat and went his way.

²⁶“But when the grain had sprouted and produced a crop, then the tares also appeared.

²⁷“So the servants of the owner came and said to him, ‘Sir, did you not sow good seed in your field? How then does it have tares?’

²⁸“He said to them, ‘An enemy has done this.’ The servants said to him, ‘Do you want us then to go and gather them up?’

²⁹“But he said, ‘No, lest while you gather up the tares you also uproot the wheat with them.

³⁰“Let both grow together until the harvest, and at the time of harvest I will say to the reapers, “First gather together the tares and bind them in bundles to burn them, but ^xgather the wheat into my barn.” ’ ’ ”

The Parable of the Mustard Seed

(Mark 4:30–32; Luke 13:18, 19) ³¹Another parable He put forth to them, saying: ^y“The kingdom of heaven is like a mustard seed, which a man took and sowed in his field, ³²“which indeed is the least of all the seeds; but when it is grown it is greater than the herbs and becomes a ^ztree, so that the birds of the air come and nest in its branches.”

The Parable of the Leaven

(Luke 13:20, 21) ^{33a}Another parable He spoke to them: “The kingdom of heaven is like leaven, which a woman took and hid in three ³measures of meal till ^bit was all leavened.”

Prophecy and the Parables

^{34c}All these things Jesus spoke to the multitude in parables; and without a parable He did not speak to them, ³⁵that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, saying:

^d*“I will open My mouth in parables; ^eI will utter things kept secret from the foundation of the world.”*

The Parable of the Tares Explained

³⁶Then Jesus sent the multitude away and went into the house. And His disciples came to Him, saying, “Explain to us the parable of the tares of the field.”

³⁷He answered and said to them: “He who sows the good seed is the Son of Man.

^{38f}“The field is the world, the good seeds are the sons of the kingdom, but the tares are ^gthe sons of the wicked one.

³⁹“The enemy who sowed them is the devil, ^hthe harvest is the end of the age, and the reapers are the angels.

⁴⁰“Therefore as the tares are gathered and burned in the fire, so it will be at the end of this age.

⁴¹“The Son of Man will send out His angels, ⁱand they will gather out of His kingdom all things that offend, and those who practice lawlessness, ^{42j}“and will cast them into the furnace of fire. ^kThere will be wailing and gnashing of teeth.

^{43l}“Then the righteous will shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. ^mHe who has ears to hear, let him hear!

The Parable of the Hidden Treasure

⁴⁴“Again, the kingdom of heaven is like treasure hidden in a field, which a man found and hid; and for joy over it he goes and ⁿsells all that he has and ^obuys that field.

The Parable of the Pearl of Great Price

⁴⁵“Again, the kingdom of heaven is like a merchant seeking beautiful pearls, ⁴⁶“who, when he had found ^pone pearl of great price, went and sold all that he had and bought it.

The Parable of the Dragnet

⁴⁷“Again, the kingdom of heaven is like a dragnet that was cast into the sea and ^qgathered some of every kind, Bible Times & Culture Notes: The World of the Fishermen

⁴⁸“which, when it was full, they drew to shore; and they sat down and gathered the good into vessels, but threw the bad away.

⁴⁹“So it will be at the end of the age. The angels will come forth, ^rseparate the wicked from among the just, ⁵⁰“and cast them into the furnace of fire. There will be wailing and gnashing of teeth.”

⁵¹Jesus said to them, “Have you understood all these things?” They said to Him, “Yes, ⁵Lord.”

⁵²Then He said to them, “Therefore every ⁶scribe instructed ⁷concerning the kingdom of heaven is like a householder who brings out of his treasure ^sthings new and old.”

Jesus Rejected at Nazareth

(Mark 6:1–6; Luke 4:16–30) ⁵³Now it came to pass, when Jesus had finished these parables, that He departed from there.

⁵⁴^rWhen He had come to His own country, He taught them in their synagogue, so that they were astonished and said, “Where did this Man get this wisdom and these mighty works?”

⁵⁵^u“Is this not the carpenter’s son? Is not His mother called Mary? And ^vHis brothers ^wJames, ⁸Joses, Simon, and Judas?”

⁵⁶“And His sisters, are they not all with us? Where then did this Man get all these things?”

⁵⁷So they ^xwere offended at Him. But Jesus said to them, ^y“A prophet is not without honor except in his own country and in his own house.”

⁵⁸Now ^zHe did not do many mighty works there because of their unbelief.

Matthew 14

John the Baptist Beheaded

(Mark 6:14–29; Luke 9:7–9) ¹At that time ^aHerod the tetrarch heard the report about Jesus ²and said to his servants, “This is John the Baptist; he is risen from the dead, and therefore these powers are at work in him.”

^{3b}For Herod had laid hold of John and bound him, and put him in prison for the sake of Herodias, his brother Philip’s wife.

⁴Because John had said to him, ^c“It is not lawful for you to have her.”

⁵And although he wanted to put him to death, he feared the multitude, ^dbecause they counted him as a prophet.

⁶But when Herod’s birthday was celebrated, the daughter of Herodias danced before them and pleased Herod.

⁷Therefore he promised with an oath to give her whatever she might ask.

⁸So she, having been prompted by her mother, said, “Give me John the Baptist’s head here on a platter.”

⁹And the king was sorry; nevertheless, because of the oaths and because of those who sat with him, he commanded it to be given to her.

¹⁰So he sent and had John beheaded in prison.

¹¹And his head was brought on a platter and given to the girl, and she brought it to her mother.

¹²Then his disciples came and took away the body and buried it, and went and told Jesus.

Feeding the Five Thousand

(Mark 6:30–44; Luke 9:10–17; John 6:1–14) ^{13e}When Jesus heard it, He departed from there by boat to a deserted place by Himself. But when the multitudes heard it, they followed Him on foot from the cities.

¹⁴And when Jesus went out He saw a great multitude; and He ^fwas moved with compassion for them, and healed their sick.

^{15g}When it was evening, His disciples came to Him, saying, “This is a deserted place, and the hour is already late. Send the multitudes away, that they may go into the villages and buy themselves food.”

¹⁶But Jesus said to them, “They do not need to go away. You give them something to eat.”

¹⁷And they said to Him, “We have here only five loaves and two fish.”

¹⁸He said, “Bring them here to Me.”

¹⁹Then He commanded the multitudes to sit down on the grass. And He took the five loaves and the two fish, and looking up to heaven, ^hHe blessed and broke and gave the loaves to the disciples; and the disciples gave to the multitudes.

²⁰So they all ate and were filled, and they took up twelve baskets full of the fragments that remained.

²¹Now those who had eaten were about five thousand men, besides women and children.

Jesus Walks on the Sea

(Mark 6:45–52; John 6:15–21) ²²Immediately Jesus ¹made His disciples get into the boat and go before Him to the other side, while He sent the multitudes away.

²³_iAnd when He had sent the multitudes away, He went up on the mountain by Himself to pray. _jNow when evening came, He was alone there.

²⁴But the boat was now ²_iin the middle of the sea, tossed by the waves, for the wind was contrary.

²⁵Now in the fourth watch of the night Jesus went to them, walking on the sea.

²⁶And when the disciples saw Him ^kwalking on the sea, they were troubled, saying, “It is a ghost!” And they cried out for fear.

²⁷But immediately Jesus spoke to them, saying, ³“Be of good ¹cheer! ⁴It is I; do not be afraid.”

²⁸And Peter answered Him and said, “Lord, if it is You, command me to come to You on the water.”

²⁹So He said, “Come.” And when Peter had come down out of the boat, he walked on the water to go to Jesus.

³⁰But when he saw ⁵that the wind was boisterous, he was afraid; and beginning to sink he cried out, saying, “Lord, save me!”

³¹And immediately Jesus stretched out His hand and caught him, and said to him, “O you of ^mlittle faith, why did you doubt?”

³²And when they got into the boat, the wind ceased.

³³Then those who were in the boat ⁶came and worshiped Him, saying, “Truly ⁿYou are the Son of God.”

Many Touch Him and Are Made Well

(Mark 6:53–56)

³⁴_oWhen they had crossed over, they came ⁷to the land of Gennesaret.

³⁵And when the men of that place recognized Him, they sent out into all that surrounding region, brought to Him all who were sick, ³⁶and begged Him that they might only ^ptouch the hem of His garment. And ^qas many as touched it were made perfectly well.

Matthew 15

Defilement Comes from Within

(Mark 7:1–23)

¹Then ^athe scribes and Pharisees who were from Jerusalem came to Jesus, saying, ^{2b}“Why do Your disciples transgress the tradition of the elders? For they do not wash their hands when they eat bread.”

³He answered and said to them, “Why do you also transgress the commandment of God because of your tradition?”

⁴“For God commanded, saying, ^c*‘Honor your father and your mother’; and, ^d‘He who curses father or mother, let him be put to death.’*”

⁵“But you say, ‘Whoever says to his father or mother, ^e“Whatever profit you might have received from me is a gift to God”— ⁶“then he need not honor his father ¹or mother.’ Thus you have made the ²commandment of God of no effect by your tradition.

^{7f}“Hypocrites! Well did Isaiah prophesy about you, saying:

⁸*“These^g people ³draw near to Me with their mouth, And honor Me with their lips,*

But their heart is far from Me.

⁹*And in vain they worship Me,*

^h*Teaching as doctrines the commandments of men.’ ”*

¹⁰ⁱWhen He had called the multitude to Himself, He said to them, “Hear and understand: ^{11j}“Not what goes into the mouth defiles a man; but what comes out of the mouth, this defiles a man.”

¹²Then His disciples came and said to Him, “Do You know that the Pharisees were offended when they heard this saying?”

¹³But He answered and said, ^k“Every plant which My heavenly Father has not planted will be uprooted.

¹⁴“Let them alone. ^lThey are blind leaders of the blind. And if the blind leads the blind, both will fall into a ditch.”

^{15m}Then Peter answered and said to Him, “Explain this parable to us.”

¹⁶So Jesus said, ⁿ“Are you also still without understanding?

¹⁷“Do you not yet understand that ^owhatever enters the mouth goes into the stomach and is eliminated?

¹⁸“But ^pthose things which proceed out of the mouth come from the heart, and they defile a man.

¹⁹^q“For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies.

²⁰“These are the things which defile a man, but to eat with unwashed hands does not defile a man.”

A Gentile Shows Her Faith

(Mark 7:24–30)

²¹^rThen Jesus went out from there and departed to the region of Tyre and Sidon.

²²And behold, a woman of Canaan came from that region and cried out to Him, saying, “Have mercy on me, O Lord, ^sSon of David! My daughter is severely demon-possessed.”

²³But He answered her not a word. And His disciples came and urged Him, saying, “Send her away, for she cries out after us.”

²⁴But He answered and said, ^t“I was not sent except to the lost sheep of the house of Israel.”

²⁵Then she came and worshiped Him, saying, “Lord, help me!”

²⁶But He answered and said, “It is not good to take the children’s bread and throw it to the little ^udogs.”

²⁷And she said, “Yes, Lord, yet even the little dogs eat the crumbs which fall from their masters’ table.”

²⁸Then Jesus answered and said to her, “O woman, ^vgreat is your faith! Let it be to you as you desire.” And her daughter was healed from that very hour.

Jesus Heals Great Multitudes

(Mark 7:31–37)

²⁹_w Jesus departed from there, ^xskirted the Sea of Galilee, and went up on the mountain and sat down there.

³⁰_y Then great multitudes came to Him, having with them the lame, blind, mute, ⁴maimed, and many others; and they laid them down at Jesus' ^zfeet, and He healed them.

³¹ So the multitude marveled when they saw the mute speaking, the ⁵maimed made whole, the lame walking, and the blind seeing; and they ^aglorified the God of Israel.

Feeding the Four Thousand

(Mark 8:1–10)

^{32b}Now Jesus called His disciples to Himself and said, “I have compassion on the multitude, because they have now continued with Me three days and have nothing to eat. And I do not want to send them away hungry, lest they faint on the way.”

^{33c}Then His disciples said to Him, “Where could we get enough bread in the wilderness to fill such a great multitude?”

³⁴Jesus said to them, “How many loaves do you have?” And they said, “Seven, and a few little fish.”

³⁵So He commanded the multitude to sit down on the ground.

³⁶And ^dHe took the seven loaves and the fish and ^egave thanks, broke them and gave them to His disciples; and the disciples gave to the multitude.

³⁷So they all ate and were filled, and they took up seven large baskets full of the fragments that were left.

³⁸Now those who ate were four thousand men, besides women and children.

^{39f}And He sent away the multitude, got into the boat, and came to the region of ⁶Magdala.

Matthew 16

The Pharisees and Sadducees Seek a Sign

(Mark 8:11–13; Luke 12:54–56) ¹Then the ^aPharisees and Sadducees came, and testing Him asked that He would show them a sign from heaven.

²He answered and said to them, “When it is evening you say, ‘It will be fair weather, for the sky is red’; ³“and in the morning, ‘It will be foul weather today, for the sky is red and threatening.’ ¹Hypocrites! You know how to discern the face of the sky, but you cannot discern the signs of the times.

^{4b}“A wicked and adulterous generation seeks after a sign, and no sign shall be given to it except the sign of ²the prophet Jonah.” And He left them and departed.

The Leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees

(Mark 8:14–21)

⁵Now ^cwhen His disciples had come to the other side, they had forgotten to take bread.

⁶Then Jesus said to them, ^d“Take heed and beware of the ³leaven of the Pharisees and the Sadducees.”

⁷And they reasoned among themselves, saying, “It is because we have taken no bread.”

⁸But Jesus, being aware of it, said to them, “O you of little faith, why do you reason among yourselves because you ⁴have brought no bread?”

^{9e}“Do you not yet understand, or remember the five loaves of the five thousand and how many baskets you took up?

^{10f}“Nor the seven loaves of the four thousand and how many large baskets you took up?

¹¹“How is it you do not understand that I did not speak to you concerning bread?—but to beware of the ⁵leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees.”

¹²Then they understood that He did not tell them to beware of the leaven of bread, but of the ⁶doctrine of the Pharisees and Sadducees.

Peter Confesses Jesus as the Christ

(Mark 8:27–30; Luke 9:18–20) ¹³When Jesus came into the region of Caesarea Philippi, He asked His disciples, saying, ⁹“Who do men say that I, the Son of Man, am?”

¹⁴So they said, ^h“Some say John the Baptist, some Elijah, and others Jeremiah or ⁱone of the prophets.”

¹⁵He said to them, “But who do ^jyou say that I am?”

¹⁶Simon Peter answered and said, ^k“You are the Christ, the Son of the living God.”

¹⁷Jesus answered and said to him, “Blessed are you, Simon Bar-Jonah, ^lfor flesh and blood has not revealed this to you, but ^mMy Father who is in heaven.

¹⁸“And I also say to you that ⁿyou are Peter, and ^oon this rock I will build My church, and ^pthe gates of Hades shall not ⁷prevail against it. Word Studies: Peter

^{19q}“And I will give you the keys of the kingdom of heaven, and whatever you bind on earth ⁸will be bound in heaven, and whatever you loose on earth will be loosed in heaven.”

^{20r}Then He commanded His disciples that they should tell no one that He was Jesus the Christ.

Jesus Predicts His Death and Resurrection

(Mark 8:31–33; Luke 9:21, 22) ²¹*From that time Jesus began ^sto show to His disciples that He must go to Jerusalem, and suffer many things from the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and be raised the third day.*

²²Then Peter took Him aside and began to rebuke Him, saying, ⁹“Far be it from You, Lord; this shall not happen to You!”

²³But He turned and said to Peter, “Get behind Me, ^tSatan! ^uYou are ¹⁰an offense to Me, for you are not mindful of the things of God, but the things of men.”

Take Up the Cross and Follow Him

(Mark 8:34–38; Luke 9:23–26) ^{24v}Then Jesus said to His disciples, “If anyone desires to come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and ^wfollow Me.

²⁵“For ^xwhoever desires to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for My sake will find it.

²⁶“For what ^yprofit is it to a man if he gains the whole world, and loses his own soul? Or ^zwhat will a man give in exchange for his soul?

²⁷“For ^athe Son of Man will come in the glory of His Father ^bwith His angels, ^cand then He will reward each according to his works.

²⁸“Assuredly, I say to you, ^dthere are some standing here who shall not taste death till they see the Son of Man coming in His kingdom.”

Matthew 17

Jesus Transfigured on the Mount

(Mark 9:1–13; Luke 9:27–36; 2 Pet. 1:16–18) ¹Now ^aafter six days Jesus took Peter, James, and John his brother, led them up on a high mountain by themselves; ²and He was transfigured before them. His face shone like the sun, and His clothes became as white as the light.

³And behold, Moses and Elijah appeared to them, talking with Him.

⁴Then Peter answered and said to Jesus, “Lord, it is good for us to be here; if You wish, ¹let us make here three tabernacles: one for You, one for Moses, and one for Elijah.”

^{5b}While he was still speaking, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them; and suddenly a voice came out of the cloud, saying, ^c“This is My beloved Son, ^din whom I am well pleased. ^eHear Him!”

^{6f}And when the disciples heard it, they fell on their faces and were greatly afraid.

⁷But Jesus came and ^gtouched them and said, “Arise, and do not be afraid.”

⁸When they had lifted up their eyes, they saw no one but Jesus only.

⁹Now as they came down from the mountain, Jesus commanded them, saying, “Tell the vision to no one until the Son of Man is risen from the dead.”

¹⁰And His disciples asked Him, saying, ^h“Why then do the scribes say that Elijah must come first?”

¹¹Jesus answered and said to them, “Indeed, Elijah is coming ²first and will ⁱrestore all things.

^{12j}“But I say to you that Elijah has come already, and they ^kdid not know him but did to him whatever they wished. Likewise ^lthe Son of Man is also about to suffer at their hands.”

^{13m}Then the disciples understood that He spoke to them of John the Baptist.

A Boy Is Healed

(Mark 9:14–29; Luke 9:37–42) ¹⁴ⁿAnd when they had come to the multitude, a man came to Him, kneeling down to Him and saying, ¹⁵“Lord, have mercy on my son, for he is ³an epileptic and suffers severely; for he often falls into the fire and often into the water.

¹⁶“So I brought him to Your disciples, but they could not cure him.”

¹⁷Then Jesus answered and said, “O ⁴faithless and ^operverse generation, how long shall I be with you? How long shall I bear with you? Bring him here to Me.”

¹⁸And Jesus ^prebuked the demon, and it came out of him; and the child was cured from that very hour.

¹⁹Then the disciples came to Jesus privately and said, “Why could we not cast it out?”

²⁰So Jesus said to them, “Because of your ⁵unbelief; for assuredly, I say to you, ⁹if you have faith as a mustard seed, you will say to this mountain, ‘Move from here to there,’ and it will move; and nothing will be impossible for you.

²¹⁶“However, this kind does not go out except by prayer and fasting.”

Jesus Again Predicts His Death and Resurrection

(Mark 9:30–32; Luke 9:43–45) ^{22r}Now while they were ⁷staying in Galilee, Jesus said to them, “The Son of Man is about to be betrayed into the hands of men, ²³“and they will kill Him, and the third day He will be raised up.” And they were exceedingly ^ssorrowful.

Peter and His Master Pay Their Taxes

^{24t}When they had come to ⁸Capernaum, those who received the ⁹temple tax came to Peter and said, “Does your Teacher not pay the temple tax?”

²⁵He said, “Yes.” And when he had come into the house, Jesus anticipated him, saying, “What do you think, Simon? From whom do the kings of the earth take customs or taxes, from their sons or from ^ustrangers?”

²⁶Peter said to Him, “From strangers.” Jesus said to him, “Then the sons are free.

²⁷“Nevertheless, lest we offend them, go to the sea, cast in a hook, and take the fish that comes up first. And when you have opened its mouth, you will find a ¹⁰piece of money; take that and give it to them for Me and you.”

Matthew 18

Who Is the Greatest?

(Mark 9:33–37; Luke 9:46–48) ¹At ^athat time the disciples came to Jesus, saying, “Who then is greatest in the kingdom of heaven?”

²Then Jesus called a little ^bchild to Him, set him in the midst of them, ³and said, “Assuredly, I say to you, ^cunless you are converted and become as little children, you will by no means enter the kingdom of heaven.

^{4d}“Therefore whoever humbles himself as this little child is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven.

^{5e}“Whoever receives one little child like this in My name receives Me.

Jesus Warns of Offenses

(Mark 9:42–48; Luke 17:1, 2) ^{6f}“But whoever causes one of these little ones who believe in Me to sin, it would be better for him if a millstone were hung around his neck, and he were drowned in the depth of the sea.

⁷“Woe to the world because of ¹offenses! For ^goffenses must come, but ^hwoe to that man by whom the offense comes!

⁸ⁱ“If your hand or foot causes you to sin, cut it off and cast it from you. It is better for you to enter into life lame or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet, to be cast into the everlasting fire.

⁹“And if your eye causes you to sin, pluck it out and cast it from you. It is better for you to enter into life with one eye, rather than having two eyes, to be cast into ²hell fire.

The Parable of the Lost Sheep

(Luke 15:1–7)

¹⁰“Take heed that you do not despise one of these little ones, for I say to you that in heaven ^jtheir angels always ^ksee the face of My Father who is in heaven.

¹¹ⁱ“For ³the Son of Man has come to save that which was lost.

^{12m}“What do you think? If a man has a hundred sheep, and one of them goes astray, does he not leave the ninety-nine and go to the mountains to seek the one that is straying?

¹³“And if he should find it, assuredly, I say to you, he rejoices more over that sheep than over the ninety-nine that did not go astray.

¹⁴“Even so it is not the ⁿwill of your Father who is in heaven that one of these little ones should perish.

Dealing with a Sinning Brother

¹⁵“Moreover ^oif your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he hears you, ^pyou have gained your brother.

¹⁶“But if he will not hear, take with you one or two more, that ^q*‘by the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established.’*

¹⁷“And if he refuses to hear them, tell it to the church. But if he refuses even to hear the church, let him be to you like a ^rheathen and a tax collector.

¹⁸“Assuredly, I say to you, ^swhatever you bind on earth will be bound in heaven, and whatever you loose on earth will be loosed in heaven.

¹⁹“Again⁴ I say to you that if two of you agree on earth concerning anything that they ask, ^uit will be done for them by My Father in heaven.

²⁰“For where two or three are gathered ^vtogether in My name, I am there in the midst of them.”

The Parable of the Unforgiving Servant

²¹Then Peter came to Him and said, “Lord, how often shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? ^wUp to seven times?”

²²Jesus said to him, “I do not say to you, ^xup to seven times, but up to seventy times seven.

²³“Therefore the kingdom of heaven is like a certain king who wanted to settle accounts with his servants.

²⁴“And when he had begun to settle accounts, one was brought to him who owed him ten thousand talents.

²⁵“But as he was not able to pay, his master commanded ^ythat he be sold, with his wife and children and all that he had, and that payment be made.

²⁶“The servant therefore fell down before him, saying, ‘Master, have patience with me, and I will pay you all.’

²⁷“Then the master of that servant was moved with compassion, released him, and forgave him the debt.

²⁸“But that servant went out and found one of his fellow servants who owed him a hundred denarii; and he laid hands on him and took him by the throat, saying, ‘Pay me what you owe!’

²⁹“So his fellow servant fell down ⁵at his feet and begged him, saying, ‘Have patience with me, and I will pay you ⁶all.’

³⁰“And he would not, but went and threw him into prison till he should pay the debt.

³¹“So when his fellow servants saw what had been done, they were very grieved, and came and told their master all that had been done.

³²“Then his master, after he had called him, said to him, ‘You wicked servant! I forgave you ^zall that debt because you begged me.

³³‘Should you not also have had compassion on your fellow servant, just as I had pity on you?’

³⁴“And his master was angry, and delivered him to the torturers until he should pay all that was due to him.

^{35a}“So My heavenly Father also will do to you if each of you, from his heart, does not forgive his brother ⁷his trespasses.”

Matthew 19

Marriage and Divorce

(Mark 10:1–12)

¹Now it came to pass, ^awhen Jesus had finished these sayings, that He departed from Galilee and came to the region of Judea beyond the Jordan.

^{2b}And great multitudes followed Him, and He healed them there.

³The Pharisees also came to Him, testing Him, and saying to Him, “Is it lawful for a man to divorce his wife for just any reason?”

⁴And He answered and said to them, “Have you not read that He who ¹made them at the beginning ^c*‘made them male and female,’*

⁵“and said, ^d*‘For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, and ^ethe two shall become one flesh’?*

⁶“So then, they are no longer two but one flesh. Therefore what God has joined together, let not man separate.”

⁷They said to Him, ^f“Why then did Moses command to give a certificate of divorce, and to put her away?”

⁸He said to them, “Moses, because of the ^ghardness of your hearts, permitted you to divorce your ^hwives, but from the beginning it was not so.

⁹ⁱ“And I say to you, whoever divorces his wife, except for ²sexual immorality, and marries another, commits adultery; and whoever marries her who is divorced commits adultery.”

¹⁰His disciples said to Him, ^j“If such is the case of the man with his wife, it is better not to marry.”

Jesus Teaches on Celibacy

¹¹But He said to them, ^k“All cannot accept this saying, but only those to whom it has been given: ¹²“For there are ³eunuchs who were born thus from their mother’s womb, and ¹there are eunuchs who were made eunuchs by men, and there are eunuchs who have made themselves eunuchs for the kingdom of heaven’s sake. He who is able to accept it, let him accept it.”

Jesus Blesses Little Children

(Mark 10:13–16; Luke 18:15–17) ^{13m}Then little children were brought to Him that He might put His hands on them and pray, but the disciples rebuked them.

¹⁴But Jesus said, “Let the little children come to Me, and do not forbid them; for ⁿof such is the kingdom of heaven.”

¹⁵And He laid His hands on them and departed from there.

Jesus Counsels the Rich Young Ruler

(Mark 10:17–22; Luke 18:18–23) ^{16o}Now behold, one came and said to Him, ^p“Good⁴ Teacher, what good thing shall I do that I may have eternal life?”

¹⁷So He said to him, ⁵“Why do you call Me good? ⁶No one is ^qgood but One, that is, God. But if you want to enter into life, ^rkeep the commandments.”

¹⁸He said to Him, “Which ones?” Jesus said, ^s“ ‘You shall not murder,’ ‘You shall not commit adultery,’ ‘You shall not steal,’ ‘You shall not bear false witness,’ ^{19t}‘Honor your father and your mother,’ and, ^u‘You shall love your neighbor as yourself.’ ”

²⁰The young man said to Him, “All these things I have ^vkept ⁷from my youth. What do I still lack?”

²¹Jesus said to him, “If you want to be perfect, ^wgo, sell what you have and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; and come, follow Me.”

²²But when the young man heard that saying, he went away sorrowful, for he had great possessions.

With God All Things Are Possible

(Mark 10:23–31; Luke 18:24–30) ²³Then Jesus said to His disciples, “Assuredly, I say to you that ^xit is hard for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven.

²⁴“And again I say to you, it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God.”

²⁵When His disciples heard it, they were greatly astonished, saying, “Who then can be saved?”

²⁶But Jesus looked at them and said to them, “With men this is impossible, but ^ywith God all things are possible.”

²⁷Then Peter answered and said to Him, “See, ^zwe have left all and followed You. Therefore what shall we have?”

²⁸So Jesus said to them, “Assuredly I say to you, that in the regeneration, when the Son of Man sits on the throne of His glory, ^ayou who have followed Me will also sit on twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel.

^{29b}“And everyone who has left houses or brothers or sisters or father or mother ⁸or wife or children or ⁹lands, for My name’s sake, shall receive a hundredfold, and inherit eternal life.

^{30c}“But many who are first will be last, and the last first.

Matthew 20

The Parable of the Workers in the Vineyard

¹“For the kingdom of heaven is like a landowner who went out early in the morning to hire laborers for his vineyard.

²“Now when he had agreed with the laborers for a denarius a day, he sent them into his vineyard.

³“And he went out about the third hour and saw others standing idle in the marketplace, ⁴“and said to them, ‘You also go into the vineyard, and whatever is right I will give you.’ So they went.

⁵“Again he went out about the sixth and the ninth hour, and did likewise.

⁶“And about the eleventh hour he went out and found others standing ¹idle, and said to them, ‘Why have you been standing here idle all day?’

⁷“They said to him, ‘Because no one hired us.’ He said to them, ‘You also go into the vineyard, ²and whatever is right you will receive.’

⁸“So when evening had come, the owner of the vineyard said to his steward, ‘Call the laborers and give them their wages, beginning with the last to the first.’

⁹“And when those came who were hired about the eleventh hour, they each received a denarius.

¹⁰“But when the first came, they supposed that they would receive more; and they likewise received each a denarius.

¹¹“And when they had received it, they ³complained against the landowner, ¹²saying, ‘These last men have worked only one hour, and you made them equal to us who have borne the burden and the heat of the day.’

¹³“But he answered one of them and said, ‘Friend, I am doing you no wrong. Did you not agree with me for a denarius?’

¹⁴“Take what is yours and go your way. I wish to give to this last man the same as to you.

^{15a}“Is it not lawful for me to do what I wish with my own things? Or ^bis your eye evil because I am good?’

^{16c}“So the last will be first, and the first last. ^dFor⁴ many are called, but few chosen.”

Jesus a Third Time Predicts His Death and Resurrection

(Mark 10:32–34; Luke 18:31–34) ^{17e}Now Jesus, going up to Jerusalem, took the twelve disciples aside on the road and said to them, ^{18f}“Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem, and the Son of Man will be betrayed to the chief priests and to the scribes; and they will condemn Him to death, ^{19g}“and deliver Him to the Gentiles to ^hmock and to ⁱscourge and to ^jcrucify. And the third day He will ^krise again.”

Greatness Is Serving

(Mark 10:35–45)

²⁰ⁱThen the mother of ^mZebedee's sons came to Him with her sons, kneeling down and asking something from Him.

²¹And He said to her, "What do you wish?" She said to Him, "Grant that these two sons of mine ⁿmay sit, one on Your right hand and the other on the left, in Your kingdom."

²²But Jesus answered and said, "You do not know what you ask. Are you able to drink ^othe cup that I am about to drink, ⁵and be baptized with ^pthe baptism that I am baptized with?" They said to Him, "We are able."

²³So He said to them, ^q"You will indeed drink My cup, ⁶and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with; but to sit on My right hand and on My left is not Mine to give, but it is for those for whom it is prepared by My Father."

²⁴^rAnd when the ten heard it, they were greatly displeased with the two brothers.

²⁵But Jesus called them to Himself and said, "You know that the rulers of the Gentiles lord it over them, and those who are great exercise authority over them.

²⁶"Yet ^sit shall not be so among you; but ^twhoever desires to become great among you, let him be your servant.

²⁷^u"And whoever desires to be first among you, let him be your slave—
²⁸^v"just as the ^wSon of Man did not come to be served, ^xbut to serve, and ^yto give His life a ransom ^zfor many."

Two Blind Men Receive Their Sight

(Mark 10:46–52; Luke 18:35–43) ²⁹^aNow as they went out of Jericho, a great multitude followed Him.

³⁰And behold, ^btwo blind men sitting by the road, when they heard that Jesus was passing by, cried out, saying, "Have mercy on us, O Lord, ^cSon of David!"

³¹Then the multitude ^dwarned them that they should be quiet; but they cried out all the more, saying, "Have mercy on us, O Lord, Son of David!"

³²So Jesus stood still and called them, and said, "What do you want Me to do for you?"

³³They said to Him, "Lord, that our eyes may be opened."

³⁴So Jesus had ^ecompassion and touched their eyes. And immediately their eyes received sight, and they followed Him.

Matthew 21

The Triumphal Entry

(Mark 11:1–10; Luke 19:28–40; John 12:12–19) ¹Now ^awhen they drew near Jerusalem, and came to ¹Bethphage, at ^bthe Mount of Olives, then Jesus sent two disciples, ²saying to them, “Go into the village opposite you, and immediately you will find a donkey tied, and a colt with her. Loose them and bring them to Me.

³“And if anyone says anything to you, you shall say, ‘The Lord has need of them,’ and immediately he will send them.”

⁴²All this was done that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, saying:

⁵“*Tell^c the daughter of Zion, ‘Behold, your King is coming to you,
Lowly, and sitting on a donkey,
A colt, the foal of a donkey.’ ”*

⁶^dSo the disciples went and did as Jesus commanded them.

⁷They brought the donkey and the colt, ^elaid their clothes on them, ³and set Him on them.

⁸And a very great multitude spread their clothes on the road; ^fothers cut down branches from the trees and spread them on the road.

⁹Then the multitudes who went before and those who followed cried out, saying:

“Hosanna to the Son of David!

^g*‘Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD!’*

Hosanna in the highest!”

¹⁰^hAnd when He had come into Jerusalem, all the city was moved, saying, “Who is this?”

¹¹So the multitudes said, “This is Jesus, ⁱthe prophet from Nazareth of Galilee.”

Jesus Cleanses the Temple

(Mark 11:15–19; Luke 19:45–48; John 2:13–22) ^{12j}Then Jesus went into the temple ⁴of God and drove out all those who bought and sold in the temple, and overturned the tables of the ^kmoney changers and the seats of those who sold doves.

¹³And He said to them, “It is written, ¹*‘My house shall be called a house of prayer,’* but you have made it a ^m*‘den of thieves.’*”

¹⁴Then the blind and the lame came to Him in the temple, and He healed them.

¹⁵But when the chief priests and scribes saw the wonderful things that He did, and the children crying out in the temple and saying, “Hosanna to the ⁿSon of David!” they were ⁵indignant ¹⁶and said to Him, “Do You hear what these are saying?” And Jesus said to them, “Yes. Have you never read,

^o*‘Out of the mouth of babes and nursing infants You have perfected praise’?*”

¹⁷Then He left them and ^pwent out of the city to Bethany, and He lodged there.

The Fig Tree Withered

(Mark 11:12–14)

¹⁸_qNow in the morning, as He returned to the city, He was hungry.

¹⁹_rAnd seeing a fig tree by the road, He came to it and found nothing on it but leaves, and said to it, “Let no fruit grow on you ever again.” Immediately the fig tree withered away.

The Lesson of the Withered Fig Tree

(Mark 11:20–24)

²⁰_sAnd when the disciples saw it, they marveled, saying, “How did the fig tree wither away so soon?”

²¹So Jesus answered and said to them, “Assuredly, I say to you, ^tif you have faith and ^udo not doubt, you will not only do what was done to the fig tree, ^vbut also if you say to this mountain, ‘Be removed and be cast into the sea,’ it will be done.

²²“And ^wwhatever things you ask in prayer, believing, you will receive.”

Jesus’ Authority Questioned

(Mark 11:27–33; Luke 20:1–8) ²³_xNow when He came into the temple, the chief priests and the elders of the people confronted Him as He was teaching, and ^ysaid, “By what authority are You doing these things? And who gave You this authority?”

²⁴But Jesus answered and said to them, “I also will ask you one thing, which if you tell Me, I likewise will tell you by what authority I do these things: ²⁵“The ^zbaptism of ^aJohn—where was it from? From heaven or from men?” And they reasoned among themselves, saying, “If we say, ‘From heaven,’ He will say to us, ‘Why then did you not believe him?’

²⁶“But if we say, ‘From men,’ we ^bfear the multitude, ^cfor all count John as a prophet.”

²⁷So they answered Jesus and said, “We do not know.” And He said to them, “Neither will I tell you by what authority I do these things.

The Parable of the Two Sons

²⁸“But what do you think? A man had two sons, and he came to the first and said, ‘Son, go, work today in my ^dvineyard.’

²⁹“He answered and said, ‘I will not,’ but afterward he regretted it and went.

³⁰“Then he came to the second and said likewise. And he answered and said, ‘I go, sir,’ but he did not go.

³¹“Which of the two did the will of his father?” They said to Him, “The first.” Jesus said to them, ^e“Assuredly, I say to you that tax collectors and harlots enter the kingdom of God before you.

³²“For ^fJohn came to you in the way of righteousness, and you did not believe him; ^gbut tax collectors and harlots believed him; and when you saw it, you did not afterward ⁶relent and believe him.

The Parable of the Wicked Vinedressers

(Mark 12:1–12; Luke 20:9–19) ³³“Hear another parable: There was a certain landowner ^hwho planted a vineyard and set a hedge around it, dug a winepress in it and built a tower. And he leased it to vinedressers and ⁱwent into a far country.

³⁴“Now when vintage-time drew near, he sent his servants to the vinedressers, that they might receive its fruit.

^{35j}“And the vinedressers took his servants, beat one, killed one, and stoned another.

³⁶“Again he sent other servants, more than the first, and they did likewise to them.

³⁷“Then last of all he sent his ^kson to them, saying, ‘They will respect my son.’

³⁸“But when the vinedressers saw the son, they said among themselves, ^l‘This is the heir. ^mCome, let us kill him and seize his inheritance.’

³⁹ⁿ“So they took him and cast him out of the vineyard and killed him.

⁴⁰“Therefore, when the owner of the vineyard comes, what will he do to those vinedressers?”

^{41o}They said to Him, ^p“He will destroy those wicked men miserably, ^qand lease his vineyard to other vinedressers who will ⁷render to him the fruits in their seasons.”

⁴²Jesus said to them, “Have you never read in the Scriptures:

^r*‘The stone which the builders rejected Has become the chief cornerstone.*

This was the LORD’s doing, And it is marvelous in our eyes’?

⁴³“Therefore I say to you, ^sthe kingdom of God will be taken from you and given to a nation bearing the fruits of it.

⁴⁴“And ^twhoever falls on this stone will be broken; but on whomever it falls, ^uit will grind him to powder.”

⁴⁵Now when the chief priests and Pharisees heard His parables, they ⁸perceived that He was speaking of them.

⁴⁶But when they sought to lay hands on Him, they ^vfeared the multitudes, because ^wthey took Him for a prophet.

Matthew 22

The Parable of the Wedding Feast

(Luke 14:15–24)

¹And Jesus answered ^aand spoke to them again by parables and said: ²“The kingdom of heaven is like a certain king who arranged a marriage for his son, ³“and sent out his servants to call those who were invited to the wedding; and they were not willing to come.

⁴“Again, he sent out other servants, saying, ‘Tell those who are invited, “See, I have prepared my dinner; ^bmy oxen and fatted cattle are killed, and all things are ready. Come to the wedding.” ’

⁵“But they made light of it and went their ways, one to his own farm, another to his business.

⁶“And the rest seized his servants, treated them ¹spitefully, and killed them.

⁷“But when the king heard about it, he was furious. And he sent out ^chis armies, destroyed those murderers, and burned up their city.

⁸“Then he said to his servants, ‘The wedding is ready, but those who were invited were not ^dworthy.

⁹“Therefore go into the highways, and as many as you find, invite to the wedding.’

¹⁰“So those servants went out into the highways and ^egathered together all whom they found, both bad and good. And the wedding hall was filled with guests.

¹¹“But when the king came in to see the guests, he saw a man there ^fwho did not have on a wedding garment.

¹²“So he said to him, ‘Friend, how did you come in here without a wedding garment?’ And he was ^gspeechless.

¹³“Then the king said to the servants, ‘Bind him hand and foot, ²take him away, and cast him ^hinto outer darkness; there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.’

¹⁴ⁱ“For many are called, but few are chosen.”

The Pharisees: Is It Lawful to Pay Taxes to Caesar?

(Mark 12:13–17; Luke 20:20–26) ^{15j}Then the Pharisees went and plotted how they might entangle Him in His talk.

¹⁶And they sent to Him their disciples with the ^kHerodians, saying, “Teacher, we know that You are true, and teach the way of God in truth; nor do You care about anyone, for You do not ³regard the person of men.

¹⁷“Tell us, therefore, what do You think? Is it lawful to pay taxes to Caesar, or not?”

¹⁸But Jesus ⁴perceived their wickedness, and said, “Why do you test Me, you hypocrites?

¹⁹“Show Me the tax money.” So they brought Him a denarius.

²⁰And He said to them, “Whose image and inscription is this?”

²¹They said to Him, “Caesar’s.” And He said to them, ¹“Render⁵ therefore to Caesar the things that are ^mCaesar’s, and to God the things that are ⁿGod’s.”

²²When they had heard these words, they marveled, and left Him and went their way.

The Sadducees: What About the Resurrection?

(Mark 12:18–27; Luke 20:27–40) ^{23o}The same day the Sadducees, ^pwho say there is no resurrection, came to Him and asked Him, Bible Times & Culture Notes: The Sadducees

²⁴saying: “Teacher, ^qMoses said that if a man dies, having no children, his brother shall marry his wife and raise up offspring for his brother.

²⁵“Now there were with us seven brothers. The first died after he had married, and having no offspring, left his wife to his brother.

²⁶“Likewise the second also, and the third, even to the seventh.

²⁷“Last of all the woman died also.

²⁸“Therefore, in the resurrection, whose wife of the seven will she be? For they all had her.”

²⁹Jesus answered and said to them, “You are ⁶mistaken, ^rnot knowing the Scriptures nor the power of God.

³⁰“For in the resurrection they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but ^sare like angels ⁷of God in heaven.

³¹“But concerning the resurrection of the dead, have you not read what was spoken to you by God, saying, ³²ⁱ*‘I am the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob’*? God is not the God of the dead, but of the living.”

³³And when the multitudes heard this, ^uthey were astonished at His teaching.

The Scribes: Which Is the First Commandment of All?

(Mark 12:28–34; Luke 10:25–28) ^{34v}But when the Pharisees heard that He had silenced the Sadducees, they gathered together.

³⁵Then one of them, ^wa lawyer, asked Him a question, testing Him, and saying, ³⁶“Teacher, which is the great commandment in the law?”

³⁷Jesus said to him, ^x“ ‘You shall love the LORD your God with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind.’ Word Studies: mind

³⁸“This is the first and great commandment.

³⁹“And the second is like it: ^y‘You shall love your neighbor as yourself.’

^{40z}“On these two commandments hang all the Law and the Prophets.”

Jesus: How Can David Call His Descendant Lord?

(Mark 12:35–37; Luke 20:41–44) ^{41a}While the Pharisees were gathered together, Jesus asked them, ⁴²saying, “What do you think about the Christ? Whose Son is He?” They said to Him, “The ^bSon of David.”

⁴³He said to them, “How then does David in the Spirit call Him ‘Lord,’ saying:

⁴⁴“The^c LORD said to my Lord, “Sit at My right hand,
Till I make Your enemies Your footstool” ’?”

⁴⁵“If David then calls Him ‘Lord,’ how is He his Son?”

^{46d}And no one was able to answer Him a word, ^enor from that day on did anyone dare question Him anymore.

Matthew 23

Woe to the Scribes and Pharisees

(Mark 12:38–40; Luke 20:45–47) ¹Then Jesus spoke to the multitudes and to His disciples, ²saying: ^a“The scribes and the Pharisees sit in Moses’ seat.

³“Therefore whatever they tell you ¹to observe, that observe and do, but do not do according to their works; for ^bthey say, and do not do.

^{4c}“For they bind heavy burdens, hard to bear, and lay them on men’s shoulders; but they themselves will not move them with one of their fingers.

⁵“But all their works they do to ^dbe seen by men. They make their phylacteries broad and enlarge the borders of their garments. Bible Times & Culture

Notes: Outer Garment

^{6e}“They love the ²best places at feasts, the best seats in the synagogues, ⁷“greetings in the marketplaces, and to be called by men, ‘Rabbi, Rabbi.’

^{8f}“But you, do not be called ‘Rabbi’; for One is your ³Teacher, ⁴the Christ, and you are all brethren.

⁹“Do not call anyone on earth your father; ^gfor One is your Father, He who is in heaven.

¹⁰“And do not be called teachers; for One is your Teacher, the Christ.

¹¹“But ^hhe who is greatest among you shall be your servant.

¹²ⁱ“And whoever exalts himself will be ⁵humbled, and he who humbles himself will be ⁶exalted.

¹⁴⁷“Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! ^kFor you devour widows’ houses, and for a pretense make long prayers. Therefore you will receive greater condemnation.

¹⁵“Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you travel land and sea to win one proselyte, and when he is won, you make him twice as much a son of ⁸hell as yourselves.

¹⁶“Woe to you, ^lblind guides, who say, ^m“Whoever swears by the temple, it is nothing; but whoever swears by the gold of the temple, he is obliged to perform it.’

¹⁷“Fools and blind! For which is greater, the gold ⁿor the temple that ⁹sanctifies the gold?

¹⁸“And, ‘Whoever swears by the altar, it is nothing; but whoever swears by the gift that is on it, he is obliged to perform it.’

¹⁹“Fools and blind! For which is greater, the gift ^oor the altar that sanctifies the gift?

²⁰“Therefore he who ¹⁰swears by the altar, swears by it and by all things on it.

²¹“He who swears by the temple, swears by it and by ^pHim who ¹¹dwells in it.

²²“And he who swears by heaven, swears by ^qthe throne of God and by Him who sits on it.

²³“Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! ^rFor you pay tithe of mint and anise and cummin, and ^shave neglected the weightier matters of the law: justice and mercy and faith. These you ought to have done, without leaving the others undone.

²⁴“Blind guides, who strain out a gnat and swallow a camel!

²⁵“Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! ^tFor you cleanse the outside of the cup and dish, but inside they are full of extortion and ¹²self-indulgence.

²⁶“Blind Pharisee, first cleanse the inside of the cup and dish, that the outside of them may be clean also.

²⁷“Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! ^uFor you are like whitewashed tombs which indeed appear beautiful outwardly, but inside are full of dead men’s bones and all uncleanness.

²⁸“Even so you also outwardly appear righteous to men, but inside you are full of hypocrisy and lawlessness.

^{29v}“Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! Because you build the tombs of the prophets and ¹³adorn the monuments of the righteous, ³⁰“and say, ‘If we had lived in the days of our fathers, we would not have been partakers with them in the blood of the prophets.’

³¹“Therefore you are witnesses against yourselves that ^wyou are sons of those who murdered the prophets.

^{32x}“Fill up, then, the measure of your fathers’ guilt.

³³“Serpents, ^ybrood¹⁴ of vipers! How can you escape the condemnation of hell?

^{34z}“Therefore, indeed, I send you prophets, wise men, and scribes: ^asome of them you will kill and crucify, and ^bsome of them you will scourge in your synagogues and persecute from city to city, ^{35c}“that on you may come all the righteous blood shed on the earth, ^dfrom the blood of righteous Abel to ^ethe blood of Zechariah, son of Berechiah, whom you murdered between the temple and the altar.

³⁶“Assuredly, I say to you, all these things will come upon this generation.

Jesus Laments over Jerusalem

(Luke 13:34, 35) ^{37f}“O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, the one who kills the prophets ^gand stones those who are sent to her! How often ^hI wanted to gather your children together, as a hen gathers her chicks ⁱunder her wings, but you were not willing! Word Studies: hen

³⁸“See! Your house is left to you desolate; ³⁹“for I say to you, you shall see Me no more till you say, ^j‘Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD!’ ”

Matthew 24

Jesus Predicts the Destruction of the Temple

(Mark 13:1, 2; Luke 21:5, 6) ¹Then ^aJesus went out and departed from the temple, and His disciples came up to show Him the buildings of the temple.

²And Jesus said to them, “Do you not see all these things? Assuredly, I say to you, ^bnot one stone shall be left here upon another, that shall not be thrown down.”

The Signs of the Times and the End of the Age

(Mark 13:3–13; Luke 21:7–19) ³Now as He sat on the Mount of Olives, ^cthe disciples came to Him privately, saying, ^d“Tell us, when will these things be? And what will be the sign of Your coming, and of the end of the age?”

⁴And Jesus answered and said to them: ^e“Take heed that no one deceives you.

⁵“For ^fmany will come in My name, saying, ‘I am the Christ,’ ^gand will deceive many.

⁶“And you will hear of ^hwars and rumors of wars. See that you are not troubled; for ¹all these things must come to pass, but the end is not yet.

⁷“For ⁱnation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. And there will be ^jfamines, ²pestilences, and earthquakes in various places.

⁸“All these are the beginning of sorrows.

⁹^k“Then they will deliver you up to tribulation and kill you, and you will be hated by all nations for My name’s sake.

¹⁰“And then many will be offended, will betray one another, and will hate one another.

¹¹“Then ^lmany false prophets will rise up and ^mdeceive many.

¹²“And because lawlessness will abound, the love of many will grow ⁿcold.

¹³^o“But he who endures to the end shall be saved.

¹⁴“And this ^pgospel of the kingdom ^qwill be preached in all the world as a witness to all the nations, and then the end will come.

The Great Tribulation

(Mark 13:14–23; Luke 17:23, 24, 37; 21:20–24) ^{15r}“Therefore when you see the ^s‘abomination of desolation,’ spoken of by Daniel the prophet, standing in the holy place” ^t(whoever reads, let him understand), ¹⁶“then let those who are in Judea flee to the mountains.

¹⁷“Let him who is on the housetop not go down to take anything out of his house.

¹⁸“And let him who is in the field not go back to get his clothes.

¹⁹“But ^uwoe to those who are pregnant and to those who are nursing babies in those days!

²⁰“And pray that your flight may not be in winter or on the Sabbath.

²¹“For ^vthen there will be great tribulation, such as has not been since the beginning of the world until this time, no, nor ever shall be.

²²“And unless those days were shortened, no flesh would be saved; ^wbut for the ³elect’s sake those days will be shortened.

^{23x}“Then if anyone says to you, ‘Look, here is the Christ!’ or ‘There!’ do not believe it.

²⁴“For ^yfalse christs and false prophets will rise and show great signs and wonders to deceive, ^zif possible, even the elect.

²⁵“See, I have told you beforehand.

²⁶“Therefore if they say to you, ‘Look, He is in the desert!’ do not go out; or ‘Look, He is in the inner rooms!’ do not believe it.

^{27a}“For as the lightning comes from the east and flashes to the west, so also will the coming of the Son of Man be.

^{28b}“For wherever the carcass is, there the eagles will be gathered together.

The Coming of the Son of Man

(Mark 13:24–27; Luke 21:25–28) ^{29c}“Immediately after the tribulation of those days ^dthe sun will be darkened, and the moon will not give its light; the stars will fall from heaven, and the powers of the heavens will be shaken.

^{30e}“Then the sign of the Son of Man will appear in heaven, ^fand then all the tribes of the earth will mourn, and they will see the Son of Man coming on the clouds of heaven with power and great glory.

^{31g}“And He will send His angels with a great sound of a trumpet, and they will gather together His ⁴elect from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other.

The Parable of the Fig Tree

(Mark 13:28–31; Luke 21:29–33) ³²“Now learn ^hthis parable from the fig tree: When its branch has already become tender and puts forth leaves, you know that summer is near.

³³“So you also, when you see all these things, know ⁱthat ⁵it is near—at the doors!

³⁴“Assuredly, I say to you, ^jthis generation will by no means pass away till all these things take place.

^{35k}“Heaven and earth will pass away, but My words will by no means pass away.

No One Knows the Day or Hour

(Mark 13:32–37; Luke 17:26, 27, 34, 35; 21:34–36) ^{36l}“But of that day and hour no one knows, not even the angels of ⁶heaven, ^mbut My Father only.

³⁷“But as the days of Noah were, so also will the coming of the Son of Man be.

³⁸ⁿ“For as in the days before the flood, they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day that Noah entered the ark, ³⁹“and did not know until the flood came and took them all away, so also will the coming of the Son of Man be.

^{40o}“Then two men will be in the field: one will be taken and the other left.

⁴¹“Two women will be grinding at the mill: one will be taken and the other left.

^{42p}“Watch therefore, for you do not know what ⁷hour your Lord is coming.

^{43q}“But know this, that if the master of the house had known what ⁸hour the thief would come, he would have watched and not allowed his house to be broken into.

^{44r}“Therefore you also be ready, for the Son of Man is coming at an hour you do not expect.

The Faithful Servant and the Evil Servant

(Luke 12:41–48)

^{45s}“Who then is a faithful and wise servant, whom his master made ruler over his household, to give them food ⁹in due season?

^{46t}“Blessed is that servant whom his master, when he comes, will find so doing.

⁴⁷“Assuredly, I say to you that ^uhe will make him ruler over all his goods.

⁴⁸“But if that evil servant says in his heart, ‘My master ^vis delaying ¹⁰his coming,’

⁴⁹“and begins to beat his fellow servants, and to eat and drink with the drunkards, ⁵⁰“the master of that servant will come on a day when he is not looking for him and at an hour that he is ^wnot aware of, ⁵¹“and will cut him in two and appoint him his portion with the hypocrites. ^xThere shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

Matthew 25

The Parable of the Wise and Foolish Virgins

¹“Then the kingdom of heaven shall be likened to ten virgins who took their lamps and went out to meet ^athe bridegroom. Word Studies: the kingdom of heaven

^{2b}“Now five of them were wise, and five were foolish.

³“Those who were foolish took their lamps and took no oil with them, ⁴“but the wise took oil in their vessels with their lamps.

⁵“But while the bridegroom was delayed, ^cthey all slumbered and slept.

⁶“And at midnight ^da cry was heard: ‘Behold, the bridegroom ¹is coming; go out to meet him!’

⁷“Then all those virgins arose and ^etrimmed their lamps.

⁸“And the foolish said to the wise, ‘Give us some of your oil, for our lamps are going out.’

⁹“But the wise answered, saying, ‘No, lest there should not be enough for us and you; but go rather to those who sell, and buy for yourselves.’

¹⁰“And while they went to buy, the bridegroom came, and those who were ready went in with him to the wedding; and ^fthe door was shut.

¹¹“Afterward the other virgins came also, saying, ^g‘Lord, Lord, open to us!’

¹²“But he answered and said, ‘Assuredly, I say to you, ^hI do not know you.’

¹³ⁱ“Watch therefore, for you ^jknow neither the day nor the hour ²in which the Son of Man is coming.

The Parable of the Talents

(Luke 19:11–27)

¹⁴^k“For the kingdom of heaven is ^llike a man traveling to a far country, who called his own servants and delivered his goods to them.

¹⁵“And to one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one, ^mto each according to his own ability; and immediately he went on a journey.

¹⁶“Then he who had received the five talents went and traded with them, and made another five talents.

¹⁷“And likewise he who had received two gained two more also.

¹⁸“But he who had received one went and dug in the ground, and hid his lord’s money.

¹⁹“After a long time the lord of those servants came and settled accounts with them.

²⁰“So he who had received five talents came and brought five other talents, saying, ‘Lord, you delivered to me five talents; look, I have gained five more talents besides them.’

²¹“His lord said to him, ‘Well done, good and faithful servant; you were ⁿfaithful over a few things, ^oI will make you ruler over many things. Enter into ^pthe joy of your lord.’

²²“He also who had received two talents came and said, ‘Lord, you delivered to me two talents; look, I have gained two more talents besides them.’

²³“His lord said to him, ^q‘Well done, good and faithful servant; you have been faithful over a few things, I will make you ruler over many things. Enter into ^rthe joy of your lord.’

²⁴“Then he who had received the one talent came and said, ‘Lord, I knew you to be a hard man, reaping where you have not sown, and gathering where you have not scattered seed.

²⁵‘And I was afraid, and went and hid your talent in the ground. Look, there you have what is yours.’

²⁶“But his lord answered and said to him, ‘You ^swicked and lazy servant, you knew that I reap where I have not sown, and gather where I have not scattered seed.

²⁷‘So you ought to have deposited my money with the bankers, and at my coming I would have received back my own with interest.

²⁸‘Therefore take the talent from him, and give it to him who has ten talents.

²⁹‘For to everyone who has, more will be given, and he will have abundance; but from him who does not have, even what he has will be taken away.

³⁰‘And cast the unprofitable servant ^uinto the outer darkness. ^vThere will be weeping and ^wgnashing of teeth.’

The Son of Man Will Judge the Nations

^{31x}‘When the Son of Man comes in His glory, and all the ³holy angels with Him, then He will sit on the throne of His glory.

^{32y}‘All the nations will be gathered before Him, and ^zHe will separate them one from another, as a shepherd divides his sheep from the goats.

³³‘And He will set the ^asheep on His right hand, but the goats on the left.

³⁴‘Then the King will say to those on His right hand, ‘Come, you blessed of My Father, ^binherit the kingdom ^cprepared for you from the foundation of the world: ^{35d}‘for I was hungry and you gave Me food; I was thirsty and you gave Me drink; ^eI was a stranger and you took Me in; ³⁶‘I was ^fnaked and you clothed Me; I was sick and you visited Me; ^gI was in prison and you came to Me.’

³⁷‘Then the righteous will answer Him, saying, ‘Lord, when did we see You hungry and feed You, or thirsty and give You drink?

³⁸‘When did we see You a stranger and take You in, or naked and clothe You?

³⁹‘Or when did we see You sick, or in prison, and come to You?’

⁴⁰‘And the King will answer and say to them, ‘Assuredly, I say to you, ^hinasmuch as you did it to one of the least of these My brethren, you did it to Me.’

⁴¹‘Then He will also say to those on the left hand, ⁱ‘Depart from Me, you cursed, ^jinto the everlasting fire prepared for ^kthe devil and his angels: ⁴²‘for I was hungry and you gave Me no food; I was thirsty and you gave Me no drink; ⁴³‘I was a stranger and you did not take Me in, naked and you did not clothe Me, sick and in prison and you did not visit Me.’

⁴⁴‘Then they also will answer ⁴Him, saying, ‘Lord, when did we see You hungry or thirsty or a stranger or naked or sick or in prison, and did not minister to You?’

⁴⁵“Then He will answer them, saying, ‘Assuredly, I say to you, ^linasmuch as you did not do it to one of the least of these, you did not do it to Me.’

⁴⁶“And ^mthese will go away into everlasting punishment, but the righteous into eternal life.”

Matthew 26

The Plot to Kill Jesus

(Mark 14:1, 2; Luke 22:1, 2; John 11:45–53)¹ Now it came to pass, when Jesus had finished all these sayings, that He said to His disciples,^{2a} “You know that after two days is the Passover, and the Son of Man will be delivered up to be crucified.”

^{3b} Then the chief priests, ¹ the scribes, and the elders of the people assembled at the palace of the high priest, who was called Caiaphas, ⁴ and ^c plotted to take Jesus by ² trickery and kill Him.

⁵ But they said, “Not during the feast, lest there be an uproar among the ^d people.”

The Anointing at Bethany

(Mark 14:3–9; John 12:1–8) ⁶And when Jesus was in ^eBethany at the house of Simon the leper, ⁷a woman came to Him having an alabaster flask of very costly fragrant oil, and she poured it on His head as He sat at the table.

^{8f}But when His disciples saw it, they were indignant, saying, “Why this waste?”

⁹“For this fragrant oil might have been sold for much and given to the poor.”

¹⁰But when Jesus was aware of it, He said to them, “Why do you trouble the woman? For she has done a good work for Me.

^{11g}“For you have the poor with you always, but ^hMe you do not have always.

¹²“For in pouring this fragrant oil on My body, she did it for My ⁱburial.

¹³“Assuredly, I say to you, wherever this gospel is preached in the whole world, what this woman has done will also be told as a memorial to her.”

Judas Agrees to Betray Jesus

(Mark 14:10, 11; Luke 22:3–6) ^{14j}Then one of the twelve, called ^kJudas Iscariot, went to the chief priests ¹⁵and said, ^l“What are you willing to give me if I deliver Him to you?” And they counted out to him thirty pieces of silver.

¹⁶So from that time he sought opportunity to betray Him.

Jesus Celebrates Passover with His Disciples

(Mark 14:12–21; Luke 22:7–13) ^{17m}Now on the first day of the Feast of Unleavened Bread the disciples came to Jesus, saying to Him, “Where do You want us to prepare for You to eat the Passover?”

¹⁸And He said, “Go into the city to a certain man, and say to him, ‘The Teacher says, ⁿ“My time is at hand; I will keep the Passover at your house with My disciples.” ’ ”

¹⁹So the disciples did as Jesus had directed them; and they prepared the Passover.

^{20o}When evening had come, He sat down with the twelve.

²¹Now as they were eating, He said, “Assuredly, I say to you, one of you will ^pbetray Me.”

²²And they were exceedingly sorrowful, and each of them began to say to Him, “Lord, is it I?”

²³He answered and said, ^q“He who dipped his hand with Me in the dish will betray Me.

²⁴“The Son of Man indeed goes just ^ras it is written of Him, but ^swoe to that man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed! ^tIt would have been good for that man if he had not been born.”

²⁵Then Judas, who was betraying Him, answered and said, “Rabbi, is it I?” He said to him, “You have said it.”

Jesus Institutes the Lord’s Supper

(Mark 14:22–26; Luke 22:14–23; 1 Cor. 11:23–26) ^{26u}And as they were eating, ^vJesus took bread, ³blessed and broke it, and gave it to the disciples and said, “Take, eat; ^wthis is My body.” Article: The Lord’s Supper

²⁷Then He took the cup, and gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, ^x“Drink from it, all of you.

²⁸“For ^ythis is My blood ^zof the ⁴new covenant, which is shed ^afor many for the ⁵remission of sins.

²⁹“But ^bI say to you, I will not drink of this fruit of the vine from now on ^cuntil that day when I drink it new with you in My Father’s kingdom.”

^{30d}And when they had sung a hymn, they went out to the Mount of Olives.

Jesus Predicts Peter’s Denial

(Mark 14:27–31; Luke 22:31–34; John 13:36–38) ³¹Then Jesus said to them, ^e“All of you will ^fbe ⁶made to stumble because of Me this night, for it is written:

^g*‘I will strike the Shepherd, And the sheep of the flock will be scattered.’*

³²“But after I have been raised, ^hI will go before you to Galilee.”

³³Peter answered and said to Him, “Even if all are ⁷made to stumble because of You, I will never be made to stumble.”

³⁴Jesus said to him, ⁱ“Assuredly, I say to you that this night, before the rooster crows, you will deny Me three times.”

³⁵Peter said to Him, “Even if I have to die with You, I will not deny You!” And so said all the disciples.

The Prayer in the Garden

(Mark 14:32–42; Luke 22:39–46) ^{36j}Then Jesus came with them to a place called Gethsemane, and said to the disciples, “Sit here while I go and pray over there.”

³⁷And He took with Him Peter and ^kthe two sons of Zebedee, and He began to be sorrowful and deeply distressed.

³⁸Then He said to them, ^l“My soul is exceedingly sorrowful, even to death. Stay here and watch with Me.”

³⁹He went a little farther and fell on His face, and ^mprayed, saying, ⁿ“O My Father, if it is possible, ^olet this cup pass from Me; nevertheless, ^pnot as I will, but as You will.”

⁴⁰Then He came to the disciples and found them sleeping, and said to Peter, “What? Could you not watch with Me one hour?”

^{41q}“Watch and pray, lest you enter into temptation. ^rThe spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak.”

⁴²Again, a second time, He went away and prayed, saying, “O My Father, ⁸if this cup cannot pass away from Me unless I drink it, Your will be done.”

⁴³And He came and found them asleep again, for their eyes were heavy.

⁴⁴So He left them, went away again, and prayed the third time, saying the same words.

⁴⁵Then He came to His disciples and said to them, “Are you still sleeping and resting? Behold, the hour ⁹is at hand, and the Son of Man is being ^sbetrayed into the hands of sinners.

⁴⁶“Rise, let us be going. See, My betrayer is at hand.”

Betrayal and Arrest in Gethsemane

(Mark 14:43–52; Luke 22:47–53; John 18:1–11) ⁴⁷And ^twhile He was still speaking, behold, Judas, one of the twelve, with a great multitude with swords and clubs, came from the chief priests and elders of the people.

⁴⁸Now His betrayer had given them a sign, saying, “Whomever I kiss, He is the One; seize Him.”

⁴⁹Immediately he went up to Jesus and said, “Greetings, Rabbi!” ^uand kissed Him.

⁵⁰But Jesus said to him, ^v“Friend, why have you come?” Then they came and laid hands on Jesus and took Him.

⁵¹And suddenly, ^wone of those who were with Jesus stretched out his hand and drew his sword, struck the servant of the high priest, and cut off his ear.

⁵²But Jesus said to him, “Put your sword in its place, ^xfor all who take the sword will ¹⁰perish by the sword.

⁵³“Or do you think that I cannot now pray to My Father, and He will provide Me with ^ymore than twelve legions of angels?

⁵⁴“How then could the Scriptures be fulfilled, ^zthat it must happen thus?”

⁵⁵In that hour Jesus said to the multitudes, “Have you come out, as against a robber, with swords and clubs to take Me? I sat daily with you, teaching in the temple, and you did not seize Me.

⁵⁶“But all this was done that the ^aScriptures of the prophets might be fulfilled.” Then ^ball the disciples forsook Him and fled.

Jesus Faces the Sanhedrin

(Mark 14:53–65; Luke 22:66–71; John 18:12–14, 19–24) ^{57c}And those who had laid hold of Jesus led Him away to Caiaphas the high priest, where the scribes and the elders were assembled.

⁵⁸But ^dPeter followed Him at a distance to the high priest's courtyard. And he went in and sat with the servants to see the end.

⁵⁹Now the chief priests, ¹¹the elders, and all the council sought ^efalse testimony against Jesus to put Him to death, ⁶⁰¹²but found none. Even though ^fmany false witnesses came forward, they found none. But at last ^gtwo ¹³false witnesses came forward ⁶¹and said, "This fellow said, ^h"I am able to destroy the temple of God and to build it in three days.'" "

⁶²ⁱAnd the high priest arose and said to Him, "Do You answer nothing? What is it these men testify against You?"

⁶³But ^jJesus kept silent. And the high priest answered and said to Him, ^k"I put You under oath by the living God: Tell us if You are the Christ, the Son of God!" Charts and Diagrams: The Meaning of Messiah

⁶⁴Jesus said to him, "It is as you said. Nevertheless, I say to you, ^lhereafter you will see the Son of Man ^msitting at the right hand of the Power, and coming on the clouds of heaven."

⁶⁵ⁿThen the high priest tore his clothes, saying, "He has spoken blasphemy! What further need do we have of witnesses? Look, now you have heard His ^oblasphemy!

⁶⁶"What do you think?" They answered and said, ^p"He is deserving of death."

^{67q}Then they spat in His face and beat Him; and ^rothers struck Him with ¹⁴the palms of their hands, ⁶⁸saying, ^s"Prophecy to us, Christ! Who is the one who struck You?"

Peter Denies Jesus, and Weeps Bitterly

(Mark 14:66–72; Luke 22:54–62; John 18:15–18, 25–27) ^{69t}Now Peter sat outside in the courtyard. And a servant girl came to him, saying, "You also were with Jesus of Galilee."

⁷⁰But he denied it before them all, saying, "I do not know what you are saying."

⁷¹And when he had gone out to the gateway, another girl saw him and said to those who were there, "This fellow also was with Jesus of Nazareth."

⁷²But again he denied with an oath, "I do not know the Man!"

⁷³And a little later those who stood by came up and said to Peter, “Surely you also are one of them, for your ^uspeech betrays you.”

⁷⁴Then ^vhe began to ¹⁵curse and ¹⁶swear, saying, “I do not know the Man!” Immediately a rooster crowed.

⁷⁵And Peter remembered the word of Jesus who had said to him, ^w“Before the rooster crows, you will deny Me three times.” So he went out and wept bitterly.

Matthew 27

Jesus Handed Over to Pontius Pilate

(Mark 15:1; Luke 23:1; John 18:28) ¹When morning came, ^aall the chief priests and elders of the people plotted against Jesus to put Him to death.

²And when they had bound Him, they led Him away and ^bdelivered Him to ¹Pontius Pilate the governor.

Judas Hangs Himself

(Acts 1:18, 19) ^{3c}Then Judas, His betrayer, seeing that He had been condemned, was remorseful and brought back the thirty ^dpieces of silver to the chief priests and elders, ⁴saying, “I have sinned by betraying innocent blood.” And they said, “What is that to us? You see to it!”

⁵Then he threw down the pieces of silver in the temple and ^edeparted, and went and hanged himself.

⁶But the chief priests took the silver pieces and said, “It is not lawful to put them into the treasury, because they are the price of blood.”

⁷And they consulted together and bought with them the potter’s field, to bury strangers in.

⁸Therefore that field has been called ^fthe Field of Blood to this day.

⁹Then was fulfilled what was spoken by Jeremiah the prophet, saying, ^g“And they took the thirty pieces of silver, the value of Him who was priced, whom they of the children of Israel priced, ¹⁰“and ^hgave them for the potter’s field, as the LORD directed me.”

Jesus Faces Pilate

(Mark 15:2–5; Luke 23:2–5; John 18:29–38) ¹¹Now Jesus stood before the governor. ⁱAnd the governor asked Him, saying, “Are You the King of the Jews?” Jesus said to him, ^j“It is as you say.”

¹²And while He was being accused by the chief priests and elders, ^kHe answered nothing.

¹³Then Pilate said to Him, ^l“Do You not hear how many things they testify against You?”

¹⁴But He answered him not one word, so that the governor marveled greatly.

Taking the Place of Barabbas

(Mark 15:6–15; Luke 23:13–25; John 18:39, 40) ^{15m}Now at the feast the governor was accustomed to releasing to the multitude one prisoner whom they wished.

¹⁶And at that time they had a notorious prisoner called ²Barabbas.

¹⁷Therefore, when they had gathered together, Pilate said to them, “Whom do you want me to release to you? Barabbas, or Jesus who is called Christ?”

¹⁸For he knew that they had handed Him over because of ⁿenvy.

¹⁹While he was sitting on the judgment seat, his wife sent to him, saying, “Have nothing to do with that just Man, for I have suffered many things today in a dream because of Him.”

^{20o}But the chief priests and elders persuaded the multitudes that they should ask for Barabbas and destroy Jesus.

²¹The governor answered and said to them, “Which of the two do you want me to release to you?” They said, ^p“Barabbas!”

²²Pilate said to them, “What then shall I do with Jesus who is called Christ?” They all said to him, “Let Him be crucified!”

²³Then the governor said, ^q“Why, what evil has He done?” But they cried out all the more, saying, “Let Him be crucified!”

²⁴When Pilate saw that he could not prevail at all, but rather that a ³tumult was rising, he ^rtook water and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, “I am innocent of the blood of this ⁴just Person. You see to it.”

²⁵And all the people answered and said, ^s“His blood be on us and on our children.”

²⁶Then he released Barabbas to them; and when ^the had ⁵scourged Jesus, he delivered Him to be crucified.

The Soldiers Mock Jesus

(Mark 15:16–20)

²⁷^uThen the soldiers of the governor took Jesus into the ⁶Praetorium and gathered the whole ⁷garrison around Him.

²⁸And they ^vstripped Him and ^wput a scarlet robe on Him.

²⁹^xWhen they had ⁸twisted a crown of thorns, they put it on His head, and a reed in His right hand. And they bowed the knee before Him and mocked Him, saying, “Hail, King of the Jews!”

³⁰Then ^ythey spat on Him, and took the reed and struck Him on the head.

³¹And when they had mocked Him, they took the robe off Him, put His own clothes on Him, ^zand led Him away to be crucified.

The King on a Cross

(Mark 15:21–32; Luke 23:26–43; John 19:17–27) ^{32a}Now as they came out, ^bthey found a man of Cyrene, Simon by name. Him they compelled to bear His cross.

^{33c}And when they had come to a place called Golgotha, that is to say, Place of a Skull, ^{34d}they gave Him ⁹sour wine mingled with gall to drink. But when He had tasted it, He would not drink.

^{35e}Then they crucified Him, and divided His garments, casting lots, ¹⁰that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet:

^f*“They divided My garments among them, And for My clothing they cast lots.”*

^{36g}Sitting down, they kept watch over Him there.

³⁷And they ^hput up over His head the accusation written against Him:

THIS IS JESUS THE KING OF THE JEWS.

³⁸ⁱThen two robbers were crucified with Him, one on the right and another on the left.

³⁹And ^jthose who passed by blasphemed Him, wagging their heads ⁴⁰and saying, ^k*“You who destroy the temple and build it in three days, save Yourself! ^lIf You are the Son of God, come down from the cross.”*

⁴¹Likewise the chief priests also, mocking with the ¹¹scribes and elders, said, ⁴²*“He ^msaved others; Himself He cannot save. ¹²If He is the King of Israel, let Him now come down from the cross, and we will believe ¹³Him.*

⁴³ⁿ*“He trusted in God; let Him deliver Him now if He will have Him; for He said, ‘I am the Son of God.’ ”*

^{44o}Even the robbers who were crucified with Him reviled Him with the same thing.

Jesus Dies on the Cross

(Mark 15:33–41; Luke 23:44–49; John 19:28–30) ^{45p}Now from the sixth hour until the ninth hour there was darkness over all the land.

⁴⁶And about the ninth hour ^qJesus cried out with a loud voice, saying, “Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani?” that is, ^r“My God, My God, why have You forsaken Me?”

⁴⁷Some of those who stood there, when they heard that, said, “This Man is calling for Elijah!”

⁴⁸Immediately one of them ran and took a sponge, ^sfilled it with sour wine and put it on a reed, and offered it to Him to drink.

⁴⁹The rest said, “Let Him alone; let us see if Elijah will come to save Him.”

⁵⁰And Jesus ^tcried out again with a loud voice, and ^uyielded up His spirit.

⁵¹Then, behold, ^vthe veil of the temple was torn in two from top to bottom; and the earth quaked, and the rocks were split, ⁵²and the graves were opened; and many bodies of the saints who had fallen asleep were raised; ⁵³and coming out of the graves after His resurrection, they went into the holy city and appeared to many.

^{54w}So when the centurion and those with him, who were guarding Jesus, saw the earthquake and the things that had happened, they feared greatly, saying, ^x“Truly this was the Son of God!”

⁵⁵And many women ^ywho followed Jesus from Galilee, ministering to Him, were there looking on from afar, ^{56z}among whom were Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James and ¹⁴Joses, and the mother of Zebedee’s sons.

Jesus Buried in Joseph’s Tomb

(Mark 15:42–47; Luke 23:50–56; John 19:38–42) ⁵⁷Now ^awhen evening had come, there came a rich man from Arimathea, named Joseph, who himself had also become a disciple of Jesus.

⁵⁸This man went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. Then Pilate commanded the body to be given to him.

⁵⁹When Joseph had taken the body, he wrapped it in a clean linen cloth, ⁶⁰and ^blaid it in his new tomb which he had hewn out of the rock; and he rolled a large stone against the door of the tomb, and departed.

⁶¹And Mary Magdalene was there, and the other Mary, sitting ¹⁵opposite the tomb.

Pilate Sets a Guard

⁶²On the next day, which followed the Day of Preparation, the chief priests and Pharisees gathered together to Pilate, ⁶³saying, “Sir, we remember, while He was still alive, how that deceiver said, ^c‘After three days I will rise.’

⁶⁴“Therefore command that the tomb be made secure until the third day, lest His disciples come ¹⁶by night and steal Him away, and say to the people, ‘He has risen from the dead.’ So the last deception will be worse than the first.”

⁶⁵Pilate said to them, “You have a guard; go your way, make it as secure as you know how.”

⁶⁶So they went and made the tomb secure, ^dsealing the stone and setting the guard.

Matthew 28

He Is Risen

(Mark 16:1–8; Luke 24:1–12; John 20:1–10) ¹Now ^aafter the Sabbath, as the first day of the week began to dawn, Mary Magdalene ^band the other Mary came to see the tomb.

²And behold, there was a great earthquake; for ^can angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone ¹from the door, and sat on it.

^{3d}His countenance was like lightning, and his clothing as white as snow.

⁴And the guards shook for fear of him, and became like ^edead men.

⁵But the angel answered and said to the women, “Do not be afraid, for I know that you seek Jesus who was crucified.

⁶“He is not here; for He is risen, ^fas He said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay.

⁷“And go quickly and tell His disciples that He is risen from the dead, and indeed ^gHe is going before you into Galilee; there you will see Him. Behold, I have told you.”

⁸So they went out quickly from the tomb with fear and great joy, and ran to bring His disciples word.

The Women Worship the Risen Lord

⁹And ²as they went to tell His disciples, behold, ^hJesus met them, saying, “Rejoice!” So they came and held Him by the feet and worshiped Him.

¹⁰Then Jesus said to them, “Do not be afraid. Go and tell ⁱMy brethren to go to Galilee, and there they will see Me.”

The Soldiers Are Bribed

¹¹Now while they were going, behold, some of the guard came into the city and reported to the chief priests all the things that had happened.

¹²When they had assembled with the elders and consulted together, they gave a large sum of money to the soldiers, ¹³saying, “Tell them, ‘His disciples came at night and stole Him away while we slept.’”

¹⁴“And if this comes to the governor’s ears, we will appease him and make you secure.”

¹⁵So they took the money and did as they were instructed; and this saying is commonly reported among the Jews until this day.

The Great Commission

(Mark 16:14–18; Luke 24:36–49; John 20:19–23; Acts 1:6–8) ¹⁶Then the eleven disciples went away into Galilee, to the mountain ^jwhich Jesus had appointed for them.

¹⁷When they saw Him, they worshiped Him; but some ^kdoubted.

¹⁸And Jesus came and spoke to them, saying, ^l“All authority has been given to Me in heaven and on earth.

^{19m}“Go ³therefore and ⁿmake disciples of all the nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, ^{20o}“teaching them to observe all things that I have commanded you; and lo, I am ^pwith you always, even to the end of the age.” ⁴Amen.

Annotations for Matthew

- 1:1 Genealogy means “origin.” Genealogies were very important to first-century Jews. A genealogy (1) proved that a person was indeed an Israelite, (2) identified the tribe to which he or she belonged, and (3) qualified certain Jews for religious duties such as Levitical and priestly service (see Ezra 2:61, 62). Christ’s genealogy is crucial to historic Christianity. Matthew traced the lineage of Christ Jesus back to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob to show that He was a Jew, but also back through David to inform the readers that Jesus is qualified to rule on the throne of David (see 2 Sam. 7:12), an event still in the future (19:28).
- 1:3–6 The mention of women in a Jewish genealogy is unusual. But in addition to Mary, four women are listed in this catalog of names. The extraordinary emphasis is underscored by the kind of women Matthew mentions: Tamar, who was involved in a scandal with Judah (Gen. 38); Rahab, the Canaanite harlot of Jericho (Josh. 2); Ruth, who was not an Israelite, but a Moabite (Ruth 1:4); and Bathsheba, the wife of Uriah, a woman involved in a sin of horrendous proportions (2 Sam. 11:1–12:23), and who may have been a Hittite. At the beginning of his Gospel, Matthew shows how God’s grace forgives the darkest of sins and reaches beyond the nation of Israel to the world. He also points out that God can lift the lowest and place them in royal lineage.
- 1:16 Joseph the husband of Mary was a direct descendant of David. Matthew, however, was careful not to identify Jesus as the physical son of Joseph. The Greek pronoun translated of whom is feminine and refers to Mary. Christ and the word messiah both mean “Anointed One”; the first term is from Greek; the second is from Hebrew. In the OT, anointing signified two things: God’s choice and His empowerment for a task. Israelites were traditionally anointed to three different offices: prophet, priest, or king. Although the Lord Jesus was God’s Anointed for all three, Matthew places the most stress on Jesus’ royalty.
- 1:17 Abraham . . . Christ: The genealogy is broken down into three groups of names with fourteen generations in each list. The name David in Hebrew has a numerical value of 14. Because the heading of the list is “Son of David” (v. 1), Matthew may have been drawing attention to the Davidic emphasis in these names. In the first group, the Davidic throne is established; in the second group, the throne is cast down and deported to Babylon; in the third group, the throne is confirmed in the coming of the Messiah. Further, a basic covenant is set forth in each of these three periods: the Abrahamic covenant in the first (vv. 2–5); the Davidic covenant in the second (vv. 6–11), and the New Covenant in the third (vv. 12–16).
- 1:18 betrothed: Universally, the basic element of marriage is a contract (see Mal. 2:14). In Jewish culture, this covenant was made about a year before the consummation of the marriage. It was during the one-year period of betrothal that Mary was found to be pregnant. The fact that Mary was a virgin at this time is clearly implied by the phrase before they came together, and by the righteous character of Joseph and his desire to divorce Mary when her pregnancy became known (v. 19). The virgin birth, which can be deduced from Matthew’s account, is stated clearly in Luke 1:34, 35.
- 1:19 In agreement with the popular Jewish understanding of Deut. 24:1 (5:27–32; 19:3–9; see also Jer. 3:1, 8), Joseph wanted to divorce Mary on the grounds of infidelity. A divorce would be necessary because they had already made a marriage covenant, even though they had not yet known each other physically. Joseph could have made the divorce a public matter, or he could have gone through a private ceremony before two witnesses. Being a gracious and just man, Joseph decided to keep it private.
- 1:20 conceived . . . of the Holy Spirit: Verses 1–17 establish Jesus as a legal son of Joseph; vv. 18–25 deny that Joseph was Jesus’ physical father. The first was necessary to establish Jesus’ lineage to David and His royal right to be King. The second was necessary to establish His qualifications to be the Savior of all people: Jesus was God’s Son and not merely Joseph’s. Matthew elaborated on Jesus' kingship while Luke detailed His miraculous conception by the Holy Spirit (Luke 1:26–56).

Jesus

(Gk. Iēsous) (1:21; Luke 1:31; Acts 2:36; 4:18; 13:23; 17:3) Strong's #2424

The Greek name Iēsous is the equivalent of the Hebrew name Yeshua, meaning “The Lord Shall Save.” Although a common name among the Jews (see Luke 3:29; Col. 4:11), the name expresses Jesus’ work on earth—to save and to deliver. This is affirmed by the explanation the angel gives Joseph after telling him to name the virgin-born child Jesus: “for He will save His people from their sins” (1:21). After Jesus was crucified for the sins of His people and raised from the dead, the early apostles proclaimed Jesus as the one and only Savior (Acts 5:31; 13:23).

1:23 Behold . . . Immanuel: This is a quotation from Is. 7:14. In this verse, the prophet Isaiah consoles King Ahaz of Judah. A coalition of two kings, King Rezin of Aram and King Pekah of Israel, was opposing Ahaz. Isaiah tells Ahaz not to fear, for the plans of his enemies would not succeed. As a sign to Ahaz, a son would be born of a woman, and before that boy reached the age where he could tell right from wrong, the two kings would no longer be a threat to Ahaz. Some interpretations view Isaiah’s prophecy as directly prophetic of Jesus’ birth and nothing else. According to this view, only the miraculous birth of Jesus can be considered a sign. Since the Hebrew noun translated virgin in Is. 7:14 can also mean “young woman,” some have suggested that Isaiah was prophesying about a son born during the lifetime of Ahaz—perhaps Isaiah’s son Maher-Shalal-Hash-Baz (Is. 8:3). Others have interpreted Isaiah’s prophecy as a prediction that a virgin, a contemporary of Isaiah, would marry and have a child. The sign to Ahaz was the sudden dissolution of Rezin and Pekah in the face of Assyria. Even though uncertainty surrounds how this prophecy was fulfilled during Isaiah’s lifetime, Matthew makes it clear that Isaiah’s words find their ultimate fulfillment in the virgin birth of Jesus, a sign to people of all ages that God was with them.

1:25 Joseph did not know Mary physically until she gave birth to Jesus. The clear implication of this verse is that Mary was a virgin only until the birth of Jesus. The brothers and sisters of Jesus were probably younger siblings born to Joseph and Mary after Jesus’ birth (13:55, 56). Joseph could not have had children by a previous marriage, as some suppose, for then Jesus would not have been heir to the Davidic throne as the oldest son of Joseph.

2:1 The events of ch. 2 probably took place some months after Jesus’ birth. Several reasons may be offered to support this conclusion: (1) Joseph and Mary were living in a house (v. 11); (2) Jesus is referred to as a child, not an infant (v. 11); (3) Herod murdered all the male children two years old and under (v. 16); and (4) it would have been strange for Joseph and Mary to offer the sacrifice of the poor, a pair of turtledoves or pigeons (see Lev. 12:8; Luke 2:24), if the wise men had just given them gold, frankincense, and myrrh. Thus the wise men must have arrived after the ritual sacrifice described in Luke 2:22–24, 39. Herod the king is Herod the Great, who reigned over Palestine from 37 B.C. until his death in 4 B.C. A crafty ruler and lavish builder, Herod had a reign marked by cruelty and bloodshed. The word translated wise men can refer either to fraudulent sorcerers (see Acts 8:9, 11; 13:6, 8) or, as here, to a more honorable class of astrologers.

Bible Times & Culture Notes

The Wise Men

The Greek word for wise men in this account (magoi) is rendered as “astrologers” where it occurs in the Septuagint, the Greek translation of the OT (Dan. 1:20; 2:2) and as “sorcerer” in its other occurrences in the NT (Acts 13:6, 8). The Greek historian Herodotus, writing in the fifth century B.C., identified the magi as a caste of Medes who had a priestly function in the Persian Empire. In the Book of Daniel the “astrologers” (magoi) are grouped with magicians, sorcerers, and Chaldeans as advisers to the court of Babylon with responsibility for interpreting dreams.

The role of the star in Matthew 2 suggests a connection with astrology. These astrologers, pursuing their observations of the stars in the heavens, encountered a sign of God, who broke through their misguided system to make the great event known.

2:2 born King of the Jews: These words would have struck both terror and fury into the heart of Herod. His star in the East may refer to a star supernaturally introduced into the heavens, discernible only to students of the sky. The star reappeared to guide the wise men to where Christ was (v. 9). The fact that it was called “His star” indicates that the wise men identified the star with the arrival of the King of the Jews.

2:4 chief priests: This first mention of the Jewish council—“all the chief priests and scribes of the people”—reveals that the Jewish leaders were alerted early to the coming of the Messiah. Their quick recital of Mic. 5:2 showed their prophetic astuteness concerning the messianic prophecies (v. 6).

2:5 Matthew clearly records how the Jewish religious authorities, who became Christ’s enemies later, unintentionally affirmed that Jesus had fulfilled a messianic prophecy in His birth. God sometimes uses the words of His opponents to speak the truth (see John 11:49–52).

2:10 The wise men undoubtedly would have been discouraged by their failure to find the King in Jerusalem, by the lack of knowledge concerning the birth of the Messiah among the leaders, by the disinterest among Israel, and by the weariness from the long journey. The reappearance of the star must have brought great joy and encouragement to them.

2:11 Gold symbolized royalty; frankincense was a fragrance; myrrh was the ointment of death. These gifts provided the financial resources for Mary and Joseph’s flight to Egypt.

2:12 warned in a dream: Five dreams of divine guidance emphasize God’s orchestration of these perilous events (1:20; 2:12, 13, 19, 22).

2:15 fulfilled: This is the second fulfillment of prophecy recorded in ch. 2. The first, in v. 6, is a direct fulfillment of Micah's prophecy about the birthplace of Jesus; this is a typological fulfillment. The prophecy quoted here, from Hos. 11:1, refers to the nation of Israel as God's son coming out of Egypt in the Exodus. Jesus is the genuine Son of God, and, as Israel's Messiah, is the true Israel (see John 15:1); therefore, He gives fuller meaning to the prophecy of Hos. 11:1.

2:18 This prophecy comes from Jer. 31:15, in which Rachel, who had been entombed near Bethlehem some 13 centuries before the Babylonian captivity, is seen weeping for her children as they were led away to Babylon in 586 B.C. In the slaughter of the male infants at the time of Christ's birth, Rachel once again is pictured as mourning the violent loss of her sons.

2:22 When Herod died, his kingdom was parceled out to his three sons: Archelaus, who ruled over Judea where Bethlehem was; Antipas, who became tetrarch of Galilee, Perea, Samaria, and Idumea; and Philip, who was tetrarch of Iturea and Trachonitis (see Luke 3:1). Like his father, Archelaus was violent and cruel. The Romans tolerated his savagery for ten years and finally deposed him in A.D. 6. after a Jewish delegation took their protest to Rome. Joseph, aware of Herod Archelaus's reputation and guided by God in a dream, turned north to Galilee.

2:23 Nazareth was the location of the Roman garrison in northern Galilee. Those who lived there were suspected of compromise with the enemy.

- 3:1 As Christ's forerunner, John the Baptist preceded the Lord Jesus in birth, ministry, and death. Luke describes John's birth (see Luke 1), but Matthew jumps directly into the account of John's proclamation of the coming of the kingdom of heaven. John is called "the Baptist" because he baptized people. Unlike the common practice of proselytes and Jews administering ceremonial cleansings to themselves, John baptized those who came to him professing repentance and identifying with his message.
- 3:2 The Greek verb translated repent indicates a change of attitude and outlook which well may result in sorrow for sins. But the basic idea is a reversal of thinking which changes one's life (see v. 8). The kingdom of heaven is most likely synonymous with "the kingdom of God." Both terms seem to be used consistently throughout the NT to refer to God's heavenly kingdom coming to earth in the person of Jesus Christ. This kingdom begins with the incarnation of Christ, continues with the inception of the church, and will be fully manifested when Christ returns. The kingdom was at hand because it was being offered to Israel in the person of the Messiah. John's preaching assumed that judgment would precede the coming of the kingdom, a fact that was taught by the OT prophets (see Is. 4:4, 5; 5:15, 16; 42:1; Jer. 33:14–16; Ezek. 20:33–38; Dan. 7:26, 27; Joel 1:14, 15; 3:12–17; Zeph. 1:2–18; 3:8–13; Zech. 13:2, 9; Mal. 3:1–5; 4:1–6). At this point, John assumed that the nation of Israel would repent and the kingdom would come.
- 3:3 As roads were repaired, smoothed, straightened, and leveled before a king came, so John was preparing a spiritual road for the Messiah before His arrival. The quotation is from Is. 40:3, where the prophet announces the need to prepare a highway for the return of the Jewish exiles from captivity to their homeland, Israel.
- 3:7 The Pharisees and Sadducees were two prominent groups in Judaism during the time of Christ. Both groups claimed to be true followers of Judaism, but their beliefs were considerably different. The Pharisees were primarily associated with the laymen of Israel. In doctrine, they held not only to the Law of Moses and Scriptures, but also to a whole body of oral tradition. Their activities were centered in the synagogue. On the other hand, the Sadducees were associated with the priestly caste, for whom worship was centered in the temple. Extremely conservative, they based their beliefs essentially on the Pentateuch—the books of Genesis through Deuteronomy (see Acts 23:6–10).
- 3:10 the ax is laid to the root of the trees: John likened his ministry to God's ax, clearing His orchard of dead wood—especially that which did not bear the fruit of repentance.
- 3:11 He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit: John identified people with himself and his message of repentance by water baptism; the One coming after him was so much greater that He would unite people to Himself by means of the Holy Spirit. John knew that the kingdom to come would be characterized by a great display of the Holy Spirit in the lives of God's people (see Is. 32:15; 44:3; Ezek. 11:19; 36:26; 39:29; Joel 2:28; Zech. 12:10). It would be the work of the Messiah to accomplish this, to baptize His people in the Spirit. But those who rejected Him the Messiah would baptize with fire, which is probably a figure for God's judgment (vv. 10, 12). In His first advent, Christ baptized in the Spirit. When He comes again, He will baptize with fire.
- 3:15 to fulfill all righteousness: This phrase does not suggest that Jesus came for baptism because He had sinned; the Lord Jesus was without sin (see 2 Cor. 5:21; Heb. 4:15; 7:26). Jesus' baptism probably served several purposes: (1) Jesus joined with the believing remnant of Israel who had been baptized by John; (2) He confirmed the ministry of John; and (3) He fulfilled the Father's will.
- 3:16 the Spirit of God descending: This was God's official recognition of Jesus as the Messiah.

3:17 This is My beloved Son, a reference to Ps. 2:7, implies that others heard the voice of the Father. In whom I am well pleased recalls the prophecy of Is. 42:1. Matthew 3:16, 17 demonstrates the simultaneous existence of all three Persons of the Godhead. This passage also points to the Son's voluntary humiliation, the Father's delight in Him, and the Spirit's desire to glorify Christ.

4:1 Satan did not lead Jesus to the temptation; the Holy Spirit did. This temptation took place immediately after Jesus' baptism (see Mark 1:12). Spiritual victories are often followed by testing (see 1 Kin. 19).

Word Studies

tempted

(Gk. peirazō) (4:1; Luke 4:2; Mark 1:13; Heb. 4:15) Strong's #3985

The word means “to try” or “to make proof of,” and when ascribed to God in His dealings with people, it means no more than this (see Gen. 22:1). But for the most part in Scripture, the word is used in a negative sense, and means to entice, solicit, or provoke to sin. Hence the name given to the wicked one in this passage is “the tempter” (4:3). Accordingly “to be tempted” here is to be understood both ways. The Spirit conducted Jesus into the wilderness to try His faith; but the agent in this trial was the wicked one, whose object was to seduce Jesus away from His allegiance to God. This was temptation in the bad sense of the term. Yet Jesus did not give in to temptation; He passed the test (see 2 Cor. 5:21; Heb. 7:26).

4:3, 4 It is written: Jesus' response to all three temptations was to quote the Word of God, showing His followers the power of Scripture in battling the Evil One (see Deut. 6:13; 8:3; Ps. 91:11, 12). There was nothing morally wrong with turning stones to bread; Satan was tempting Jesus to do a miracle outside of the Father's will. This explains why Jesus quotes Deut. 8:3. Bread alone does not sustain life; ultimately God is the One who sustains all life. Thus it is our responsibility to trust God and remain in His will.

Herod's Temple

20 B.C.–A.D. 70

Begun in 20 B.C., Herod's new structure towered 15 stories high, following the floor dimensions of the former temples in the Holy Place and the Most Holy Place. The high sanctuary shown here was built on the site of the former temples of Solomon and Zerubbabel.

The outer courts surrounding the temple mount were not completed until A.D. 64. The entire structure was demolished by the Romans in A.D. 70.

Dimensions of rooms, steps, doorways, cornices, and exterior measurements are mentioned in history (Josephus and the Mishnah) but are subject to interpretation.

4:6 throw Yourself down: In quoting the protective promise of Ps. 91:11, 12 to Jesus, Satan omitted the words “to keep you in all your ways.” Satan tempted Jesus to gain public attention through spectacle rather than through His righteous life and message.

4:7 Deuteronomy 6:16 emphasizes that one should not test God. The Lord asked the Israelites to put Him to the test in only one area: tithing. By giving to Him they could test whether He would fulfill His promises to bless them (Mal. 3:10).

4:10 Christ rebuked the devil for asking for worship, a temptation to do exactly the opposite of what every Israelite was called upon to do (see Deut. 6:13, 15). Specifically in reference to Jesus, Satan was offering a crown without the cross. Jesus' experience serves as a pattern in spiritual warfare today: Jesus resisted Satan (see Eph. 6:11, 13, 14; James 4:7; 1 Pet. 5:9), then He defeated Satan with consistent, meaningful use of the Scriptures (see Eph. 6:17).

4:11 angels came and ministered: Having rejected Satan's offer of bread, assistance from angels, and earthly kingdoms, Jesus was immediately visited by angels who helped Him.

Jesus' Baptism and Temptation

Events surrounding Jesus' baptism reveal the intense religious excitement and social ferment of the early days of John the Baptist's ministry. Herod had been cruel and rapacious; Roman military occupation was harsh. Some agitation centered around the change of governors from Gratus to Pilate in A.D. 26. Most of the people hoped for a religious solution to their intolerable political situation, and when they heard of a new prophet, they flocked out into the desert to hear him. The religious sect (Essenes) from Qumran professed similar doctrines of repentance and baptism. Jesus was baptized at Bethany on the other side of the Jordan (see John 1:28). John also baptized at "Aenon near Salim" (John 3:23).

For Jesus' temptation, see notes on Matt. 4:1–11; Luke 4:1–13.

Many interpreters place John's baptismal ministry at a point on the middle reaches of the Jordan River, where trade routes converge at a natural ford not far from the modern site of Tel Shalem.

4:13 Matthew omits the incident reported in Luke 4:16–30 of Jesus' rejection in His hometown. Matthew simply indicates that Capernaum, located at the northern end of the Sea of Galilee, became Jesus' home and base of operation.

4:15, 16 The passage quoted here, Is. 9:1, 2, foretells the reign of the Messiah in the coming kingdom. The ministry of Jesus in Galilee was a preview of what was yet to come. Galilee was a fertile, populous area with two major trade routes. The way of the sea was one of those routes.

- 4:17 The phrase from that time Jesus began occurs twice in the Book of Matthew (see 16:21). Each reference marks a crucial direction in the book. This one looks to the beginning of His earthly ministry, while 16:21 anticipates His crucifixion and resurrection. Jesus' exhortation was identical to that of John the Baptist (3:2).
- 4:18–20 I will make you fishers of men: This allusion to Jer. 16:16 was used to call Peter and Andrew to discipleship and a life of ministry.
- 4:23 Teaching . . . preaching . . . healing summarizes Jesus' earthly ministry. His teaching is illustrated by His discourses; His preaching is illustrated by the announcement in v. 17; His healing is illustrated by His many miracles.
- 5:1 The multitudes were found at the beginning and end of Jesus' Sermon on the Mount (the term is translated the people in 7:28). Yet this verse implies that Jesus left the multitude. Evidently He went away from the crowds so that He could instruct the disciples. As He taught the disciples, the crowds came to where He was. when He was seated: It was normal for a teacher or rabbi to sit while he taught, with his audience gathered around. The mountain, probably a high hill on the northwest shore of the Sea of Galilee, would have served as a natural amphitheater. disciples: Jesus had many disciples in addition to the crowds who followed Him and listened to His teaching. From the many disciples, He selected 12 to receive special instruction and power.
- 5:2 He . . . taught them: This Sermon on the Mount recorded by Matthew (chs. 5–7) is slightly different from the sermon preached to the multitude in Luke 6. The essence of this sermon was probably preached many times during Jesus' early ministry. The Sermon on the Mount was not given as the way of salvation for the lost, but as the way of life for true children of the kingdom. It was instruction for those who had responded to Jesus' invitation to "repent" (4:17). These disciples were probably confused as to the true nature of righteousness and God's kingdom. In this address, Jesus clarified both the heart of the law and the nature of true religion in God's kingdom (see Mic. 6:8). In a sense, Jesus turned the law, which was mainly negative, inside out to show its positive core (v. 17).
- 5:3–12 The Beatitudes are comprised of three elements: a pronouncement of blessing, a quality of life, and a reason why the recipient should be considered blessed. The first element is found in the word Blessed (see Ps. 1:1), which introduces each beatitude. The second element does not describe different groups of people, but a composite picture of the kind of person who will inherit Christ's kingdom. The third element looks ahead to some aspect of the coming kingdom.
- 5:3 Blessed are the poor in spirit: The idea of God blessing the humble and resisting the proud can also be found in Prov. 3:34; James 4:6.

blessed

(Gk. makarios) (5:3; Luke 6:20–22; Rom. 4:7, 8; James 1:12, 25) Strong's #3107

This Greek word is derived from the root mak, which means “large” or “lengthy,” and means “fortunate” or “happy.” The Greek word was used in Greek literature, in the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT), and in the NT to describe the kind of happiness that comes from receiving divine favor. The word can be rendered happy. In the NT it is usually passive; God is the One who is blessing or favoring the person.

Go to the List of Word Studies

5:5 Earth can also be translated land (see Ps. 37:3, 9, 11, 29; Prov. 2:21).

5:13 Pure salt maintains its flavor. In Israel, some salt was mixed with other ingredients. When it was exposed to the elements, the salt would be “leached out.” Such leached-out salt was used for coating pathways.

5:16 Let your light so shine: The believer does not have inherent light; rather we have reflective light. As we behold the glory of the Lord, we reflect it. Therefore, we need to make sure that nothing comes between us and the Lord’s light (see 2 Cor. 3:18; Phil. 2:14–16).

5:17, 18 Do not think that I came to destroy: Jesus rejected the Pharisees’ charge that He was nullifying the law. The law was both temporary (see Gal. 3:19; Eph. 2:15; Heb. 7:12) and eternal (see 5:18; Rom. 3:31; 8:4). The word fulfill means “to fill out, expand, or complete.” It does not mean to bring to an end. Jesus fulfills the law in several ways: (1) He obeyed it perfectly and taught its correct meaning (vv. 19, 20); (2) He will one day fulfill all of the OT types and prophecies; and (3) He provides a way of salvation that meets all the requirements of the law (Rom. 3:21, 31). one jot or one tittle will by no means pass: This statement of Jesus provides us with one of the strongest affirmations in the Bible of the inerrancy of Scripture. It is absolutely trustworthy.

Word Studies

tittle

(Gk. kerasia) (5:18; Luke 16:17) Strong's #2762

In Hebrew, sometimes the smallest stroke or mark distinguished a letter from a similar one. Matthew uses the Greek word that literally means “horn,” or one hook of a letter, to refer to this stroke. The rabbis had defended the importance of retaining even the slightest stroke and the smallest letter—yodh in Hebrew and iota in Greek—in the Law of Moses. Jesus made it clear that He heartily concurred with the rabbis’ respect for the Law. Not even the smallest dot over an “i” would disappear until the Law was fulfilled.

5:20 The righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees was essentially external adherence to rules. God demands more than this. Jesus’ words must have shaken His disciples, since the meticulously righteous deeds of the scribes and Pharisees were regarded as being far above those of the average person. However the only righteousness that satisfies God’s standard is faith in Jesus Christ (see Rom. 3:21, 22).

5:21 You have heard refers to the teaching of various rabbis rather than to that of Moses. Jesus was questioning the interpretation of the Jewish scholars, not the OT itself.

5:22 The scribes and Pharisees said that a person who referred to another as Raca, meaning “empty head,” was in danger of being sued for libel before the council (or the Sanhedrin). On the other hand, Jesus said that whoever calls another a fool will have to answer to God. That is not to say that calling someone a fool will condemn a believer to eternal punishment in hell. Rather Jesus was saying that to utter such words is to place oneself in a worse condition at the time of judgment (see 1 Cor. 3:12–15).

5:25 It is wise not to have enemies. One should make peace as soon as possible because enemies are capable of doing great damage.

5:28 to lust for her: A man who gazes at a woman with the purpose of wanting her sexually has mentally committed adultery.

5:29, 30 The hyperbole (exaggerated saying) about tearing out one’s eye is similar to the phrase in Prov. 23:2, “Put a knife to your throat if you are a man given to appetite.” In striking overstatement, Jesus advises removing every temptation to evil, no matter what the cost. The warning of hell (v. 22) indicates that those whose lifestyle is characterized by uncontrolled immorality are not heirs of the kingdom (see 1 Cor. 6:9, 10).

5:31, 32 Sexual immorality is a general term that includes premarital sex, extramarital infidelity, homosexuality, and bestiality (19:3–12).

5:33, 34 Do not swear at all: This does not forbid solemn, official oaths (see Gen. 22:16; Ps. 110:4; 2 Cor. 1:23), but only oaths made in common speech. Such oath-taking suggests that a person’s normal words cannot be trusted. God’s law says, “Do not lie under oath” (see Lev. 19:12; Num. 30:2); Jesus was telling His followers not to lie under any circumstances. The phrase to the Lord could be used as a cover-up for falsehood. Any oath with God’s name in it was legally binding; however, an oath without God's name was not legally binding. This explains the emphasis of vv. 34–37.

5:38 This important OT law (see Ex. 21:24, 25; Lev. 24:20; Deut. 19:21), known as the lex talionis (the law of retaliation), covered what type of punishment should be meted out to transgressors. It limited the retribution that an offender would have to endure.

5:39–42 The Lord seems to be speaking in hyperbolic terms to teach the lesson of non-retaliation. Generally He commands us to have a generous and compassionate attitude toward the needy. He makes this application in four areas: physical attacks (v. 39), legal suits (v. 40), government demands (v. 41), and financial requests (v. 42).

5:41 Compels is a technical term that refers to the law of impressment. The Roman government could press anyone into its service to carry a load as far as one mile. Matthew records a Roman officer doing this to Simon of Cyrene in 27:32.

5:43 Hate your enemy is not found in Moses' writings. This was a principle drawn by the scribes and Pharisees from Lev. 19:18.

5:45 To be a “son of” was to be like someone or something. That you may be sons of your Father in heaven means “that you may be like the Heavenly Father who displays His love without discrimination.”

5:48 This verse, which comes from Deut. 18:13, refers to completeness. In the context of 5:43–48, it seems to mean that Jesus' followers are to be as perfect as God in the ways that they love. God does not lower the standard to accommodate our sinfulness. He gives us the power to keep His righteous standard.

6:2 they have their reward: The verb translated have was used in receipts and is similar to “paid in full.” The only reward the hypocrites will ever receive is glory from men (vv. 5, 16). Contrast that with the heavenly rewards of Christ given to His followers (see 2 Cor. 5:10; Rev. 22:12).

6:5–8 Those who pray with improper motives have their reward—like those who do charitable deeds with improper motives (v. 2).

6:7 From the motives for praying (vv. 1–6), Jesus turned to methods of praying. Why one prays determines how one prays. Nothing is wrong with repeating prayers (26:39, 42, 44). Here Jesus was referring to the empty recitation of words.

6:9 In this manner does not mean to pray using only these words, but to pray in this way. People often reduce this prayer to empty recitation—exactly what the Lord said not to do (v. 7). The prayer is composed of six requests. The first three ask for the kingdom to come (vv. 9, 10) and the last three are for God to meet the needs of His people until the kingdom arrives (vv. 11–13). Hallowed be Your name is not an ascription of praise to the Father. The verb is an imperative and means “May Your name be hallowed.” This recalls Ezekiel's prophecy in Ezek. 36:25–32, where the prophet says Israel has profaned God's name among the nations. One day God will gather His people from the nations, cleanse them, and by this means vindicate the holiness of His great name. The hallowing of the Father's name means the arrival of God's kingdom.

6:11 Daily bread is a reminder of God's daily supply of manna to Israel in the wilderness.

6:13 The doxology at the end of the prayer is from 1 Chr. 29:11. Some ancient manuscripts of the Scriptures omit this doxology.

6:19, 20 Do not lay up . . . but lay up may be rephrased as “Do not give priority to this, but give priority to that.” This passage does not mean that it is sinful to have such assets as insurance, retirement plans, and savings accounts. After all, parents are to save for their children (see Prov. 13:22; 2 Cor. 12:14).

6:24 Mammon refers to wealth, money, or property. No one can serve two masters because a time will come when they make opposing demands. Jesus advises us to invest in our future with Him by giving of ourselves; mammon encourages us to collect material objects for our present enjoyment.

6:27 Stature here probably means “length of life,” or age. Cubit then means a “length” of time, not a distance.

- 6:32 Gentiles refers to non-Jews or to the heathen—those who do not know God (see 3 John 7). The Jewish people, because of God’s revelation to them, were supposed to think differently than the Gentiles.
- 6:33 To seek . . . the kingdom of God and His righteousness means to desire God’s righteous rule on this earth (vv. 9, 10).
- 7:1 This restriction does not mean that a disciple never judges. After all, some kind of judgment is required in order to obey the command in v. 6. The point of this verse is that a Christian should not have a spirit of carping criticism and fault-finding.
- 7:2 Every judgment that a person makes becomes a basis for his or her own judgment (see James 3:1, 2).
- 7:6 Dogs and swine refer to people who are enemies of the gospel, as opposed to those who are merely unbelievers. Such enemies are to be left alone (see 15:14; 2 Cor. 6:14–18). One example of such a person was Herod Antipas, who heard John gladly (see Mark 6:20), but then beheaded him (see 14:1–12; Mark 6:14–28; Luke 9:7–9). Later when Christ stood before Herod, He said nothing (see Luke 23:8, 9). In the context of this verse, Herod had become a “dog” or a “pig.”
- 7:12 The phrase the Law and the Prophets echoes 5:17. This so-called “Golden Rule” is the practical application of Lev. 19:18: “You shall love your neighbor as yourself.”
- 7:15–20 Beware of false prophets: Deuteronomy 13:1–11; 18:20–22 provide information on discerning and responding to false prophets. The way to tell false teachers from teachers of truth is by their fruits. Fruits here refers to more than their deeds; it includes their doctrine (see 16:12; 1 John 4:1–3). A person speaking in the name of God is to be tested by the doctrines of Scripture. The same principle still holds true today. Speakers and teachers should be tested against the truths in God’s Word (see Jude 3; Rev. 22:18, Jude 3; 19).
- 7:21–23 Because so many people teach the wrong way, there is a tendency to ask how so many people could be wrong. Such doubts are especially strong when false teachers prophesy, cast out demons, and perform wonders in Jesus’ name. However, it is important to remember that the Word of God is superior to any miracle.
- 7:24–27 The key difference in the two houses is not their external appearance. Pharisees and scribes may seem to be as righteous as the heirs of the kingdom. The key in the story is the foundations. The house on the rock pictures a life founded on a proper relationship to Christ (16:18; 1 Cor. 10:4; 1 Pet. 2:4–8). It will stand the test of Christ’s judgment, but the house on the sand will fail the test (see 1 Cor. 3:12–15).
- 7:29 not as the scribes: Scribes would often cite authorities in order to lend credence to their statements. Jesus’ words were self-authenticating. Note His phrase “I say to you” in 5:20, 22, 26, 28, 32.
- 8:2, 3 Before this miracle, the only record of an Israelite being healed of leprosy was the case of Miriam in Num. 12:10–15. The phrase if You are willing is important because it indicates genuine faith. It does not necessarily mean that if one simply believes, God will do something, but that He can do it (see Dan. 3:17, 18). Normally, touching a leper would result in ceremonial defilement (see Lev. 14:45, 46; Num. 5:2, 3; Deut. 24:8). In this case, Jesus touched the leper, and the leper became clean.
- 8:4 See that you tell no one: Perhaps Jesus gave this command so that the healed person would first obey the Law before he became preoccupied with telling others about his healing. Jesus’ command to show yourself to the priest involved no small undertaking for the cleansed leper. He would need to make the journey from near the Sea of Galilee to Jerusalem, and there offer the sacrifice required by Moses (see Lev. 14:4–32). The purpose of Christ’s command was not only to obey the Law of Moses, but also to be a testimony to the religious authorities in Jerusalem that the Messiah had arrived. Jesus also commanded the man to keep quiet because He did not want the Jewish people to act too hastily on preconceived, erroneous ideas of the Messiah and His kingdom (see John 6:14, 15).

- 8:5–9 In the NT, centurions (officers in charge of one hundred soldiers) are consistently looked upon in a favorable light. These soldiers were the equivalent of a present-day sergeant. The centurion’s response to Jesus indicated his clear understanding of authority.
- 8:10 He marveled: Only one other time does Scripture say Jesus marveled: when His own townspeople rejected Him (Mark 6:6). I have not found . . . not even in Israel: This commendation of the faith of the Gentile centurion was a strong rebuke of the Jewish people. The Israelites thought that they would have priority in the coming kingdom (see Is. 45:14; Zech. 8:23; Rom. 9:3–5; Eph. 2:11, 12). Jesus made it clear that just being a physical descendant of Abraham did not guarantee entrance into His kingdom.
- 8:11 Sit down literally means “recline,” as at a banquet table. The coming kingdom is commonly portrayed in terms of a feast, particularly a wedding feast (see 22:1–14; Is. 25:6; Rev. 19:7–10).
- 8:12 Sons of the kingdom refers to the Jews who had the covenants and the promises, and who should have been heirs of the kingdom. The idea that Gentiles would take their place in the coming kingdom was unthinkable to the Jews. Outer darkness, meaning “the darkness outside,” speaks of the experience of those who do not endure and so will not reign in the kingdom (see 22:13; Rom. 8:17; 2 Tim. 2:12, 13; 2 John 8; Rev. 3:11).
- 8:17 This verse quotes Is. 53:4. took our infirmities . . . bore our sicknesses: Jesus healed because He had compassion on the people (see 9:36; 14:14; 20:34; Mark 1:41; 5:19; Luke 7:13). Our physical infirmities are ultimately the result of the Fall with its impact on our lives through the Curse. Jesus took our infirmities and bore our sicknesses by suffering and dying for our sins on the Cross.
- 8:20 Son of Man: Jesus used this messianic title (drawn from Dan. 7:13, 14) over 80 times to refer to Himself.
- 8:21, 22 This passage most likely describes a follower whose father was still alive, because by Levitical law the man would not be out in public if his father had just died. His father was aged, so the man wanted to go to his home, wait for his father to die, and then follow Christ. Jesus’ answer means that we must never make excuses for refusing to follow Him. There is no better time than the present.
- 8:28 The country of the Gergesenes may refer to (1) the village of Khersa, near the eastern shore of the Sea of Galilee; (2) Gerasa, about 30 miles southeast of the Sea of Galilee; or (3) Gadara, about six miles away. This was Gentile territory.
- 8:29 We learn several things about demons in this passage: (1) they recognize the deity of Christ; (2) they are limited in their knowledge; (3) they know they will ultimately be judged by Christ (see 25:41; James 2:19; 2 Pet. 2:4; Jude 6; Rev. 12:7–12); (4) they cannot act without the permission of a higher authority—Christ.
- 9:2 Their faith refers to the faith of the paralytic as well as that of the men who were carrying him.
- 9:5, 6 Jesus’ tactic caught the leaders off guard. Though these leaders might deny His ability, or right, to forgive sins, the outward physical healing could not be denied. It was far easier to say Your sins are forgiven you because there would be no visible proof that the sins were forgiven. The healing of the paralytic, however, was proof that forgiveness of sins had occurred as well. Neither physical nor spiritual healing pose any difficulty for God’s Son.
- 9:9 Matthew is called Levi in Mark 2:14; Luke 5:27. The tax office was a toll booth set up alongside a highway to levy taxes on merchandise transported on that road. Matthew probably worked for Herod Antipas, tetrarch of Galilee. Tax collectors were considered traitors by the Jews. They were despised because they generally collected more than necessary and pocketed the difference, vastly enriching themselves.

Tax Collectors

In Jesus' day, the Roman government collected several different taxes from the people of Palestine. Tolls for transporting goods by land or sea were collected by private tax collectors, who paid a fee to the Roman government for the right to assess these levies. The tax collectors made their profits by charging a higher toll than the law required. The licensed collectors often hired minor officials called publicans to do the actual work of collecting the tolls. The publicans extracted their own wages by charging a fraction more than their employer required. The disciple Matthew was a publican who collected tolls on the road between Damascus and Acco; his booth was located just outside the city of Capernaum. Matthew also collected taxes from fishermen who worked along the Sea of Galilee and boatmen who brought their goods from cities on the other side of the lake.

9:13 Jesus quoted Hos. 6:6 (and again in 12:7) to make the point that God is more interested in a person's loyal love than in the observance of external rituals. Jesus refers ironically to the Pharisees as the righteous. They were not righteous; that was only how they perceived themselves because of their pious and scrupulous law-keeping (see Phil. 3:6). But Jesus explained, quoting from the familiar words of an OT prophet, that God had already judged sacrifices without mercy as worthless.

9:15 Jesus used the picture of marriage to illustrate God's relationship with Israel (see Is. 54:1-8; Jer. 3:1-20; Hos. 2:1-3:5). In referring to Himself as a bridegroom, Jesus was describing Himself as the Messiah. Will be taken away from them anticipates the violent death the Lord would experience.

- 9:30 See that no one knows it: Jesus wanted to discourage the masses from coming to Him for physical healing alone, because His primary purpose was spiritual healing. Physical healing simply served to authenticate His claim to be the promised Messiah.
- 9:34 The Pharisees could not deny the reality of the miracles, so they attributed them to the ruler of the demons. The same rationalization is found in 12:24.
- 9:37, 38 The harvest will mark the beginning of the kingdom age. For the lost it will mean doom; for the saved it will mean blessing.
- 10:2 The twelve are called “disciples” in v. 1; here they are called apostles. The word apostle emphasizes delegated authority (see 1 Thess. 2:6); the term disciple emphasizes learning and following. Because the disciples had been given authority, they were now called apostles.
- 10:2–4 The disciples are named in pairs and probably were sent out that way (see Mark 6:7).
- 10:5, 6 While He was on earth, Jesus focused His ministry on the Jews. After His resurrection, He commanded His disciples to take the Good News to all the world. Paul used the same strategy. In every city he visited, he preached first to Jews and then to the Gentiles (see Rom. 1:16).
- 10:9, 10 The disciples’ mission was short-term. In essence, they were to do a national religious survey to determine the people’s response to Jesus as Messiah. For the Twelve to cover an area that is at most 75 miles by 125 miles would not take very long. Thus they did not need extensive provisions.
- 10:11 Because the testimony of the apostles was at stake, they were to seek out homes with good reputations. Furthermore, they were not to be constantly trying to find a more desirable residence.
- 10:12, 13 To greet a household was to pronounce a blessing on it, “Peace to you.” These messengers were to assume the best of their hosts when they arrived; however, if the home proved to be unworthy (the occupants rejected the message of the apostles), the apostles were to remove the pronouncement of blessing.
- 10:15 This verse, together with 11:22, 24, implies that there will be degrees of judgment and torment for the lost.
- 10:16 Snakes are commonly thought of as wise, perhaps because they are silent and dangerous, or because of the way they move (see also Gen. 3:1). In the midst of wolves meant that the apostles would be exposed to hatred and violence from men. Harmless literally means “unmixed,” which may also indicate purity and innocence.
- 10:18 God would use Jewish rejection and persecution of the messengers to bring the gospel message to Gentiles. This occurred with Paul in Acts 21:26–36; 24:1–21; 25:13–26:32.

Beelzebub

(Gk. Beelzeboul) (10:25; 12:24–27; Mark 3:22; Luke 11:15–19) Strong's #954

Most of the Greek manuscripts read Beelzeboul, which is probably the right form of this word. The other reading probably came from the OT word Baal-Zebub—an idol, the god of Ekron (see 2 Kin. 1:2). All idolatry was regarded as devil worship (Lev. 17:7; Deut. 32:17; Ps. 106:37; 1 Cor. 10:20), so there seems to have been something peculiarly satanic about the worship of this hateful god, which caused his name to be a synonym of Satan. Though we nowhere read that Jesus was actually called Beelzebub, He was charged with being in league with Satan under that hateful name (12:24, 26), and more than once was charged with being possessed by “an unclean spirit” or “demon” (Mark 3:30; John 7:20; 8:48).

Go to the List of Word Studies

10:28 Fear Him refers not to Satan, but to God. Destroy does not indicate annihilation, but ruination. The same verb is used in 9:17 of wineskins being ruined.

10:32, 33 Every act of our lives will be evaluated at the judgment seat of Christ (see 2 Cor. 5:10). To refuse to speak up for Christ because of intimidation or persecution will result in the believer's loss of reward and consequent loss of glory in the kingdom (see Rom. 8:17; 2 Tim. 2:12).

10:34–36 To the disappointment of many Christians throughout the ages, it has often been those closest to them who have rejected them and their message, even to the point of betrayal. The Lord Himself experienced these feelings with the betrayal of Judas and the denial of Peter.

10:37 not worthy of Me: Those who will be glorified with Christ in His kingdom reign are those who have suffered for Him (see Rom. 8:17; 2 Tim. 2:12). Those who refuse that kind of discipleship will experience great loss (see 1 Cor. 3:15; 2 Cor. 5:10; Rev. 3:11, 12).

10:38 Taking up a cross here stands for commitment to the extent of being willing to die for something.

10:42 These little ones refers to the disciples. reward: Jesus does not want His disciples to lose the joys of the next life by focusing on the pleasures of this world.

11:2 John probably expected the Messiah immediately to judge Israel and establish His kingdom (3:2–12). Christ's failure to do what John anticipated may have planted seeds of doubt in John's mind about whether Jesus was the Messiah.

Christ

(Gk. Christos) (11:2; 16:16; John 1:41; Acts 2:36; 2 Cor. 1:21) Strong's #5547

Many speak of Jesus Christ, but do not realize that the title Christ is in essence a confession of faith. The word literally means “the Anointed One.” In the OT, forms of its Hebrew equivalent messiah were applied to prophets (1 Kin. 19:16), priests (Lev. 4:5, 16), and kings (1 Sam. 24:6, 10), in the sense that all of them were anointed with oil, the symbol that God had set them aside for their respective offices. But the preeminent Anointed One would be the promised Messiah, for He would be anointed by God’s Spirit to be the ultimate Prophet, Priest, and King (Is. 61:1; John 3:34). With his dramatic confession, “You are the Christ, the Son of the living God” (16:16), Peter plainly identified Jesus as the promised Messiah.

Go to the List of Word Studies

11:3 The Coming One is a title for the Messiah (see Ps. 118:26; Mark 11:9; Luke 13:35; 19:38; Heb. 10:37).

11:7–15 In the light of John’s question, some may have questioned his commitment to the Messiah. This may have prompted Jesus’ supportive statements about John.

11:9, 10 John was more than a prophet in that he alone was the forerunner who announced the coming and presence of the Messiah. In doing so, he fulfilled Mal. 3:1.

11:11 Born of women means that John had a human mother. A very similar expression is used of the Lord Jesus in Gal. 4:4. The least in the kingdom refers to those who will be living in the coming kingdom. As great as John was during Jesus’ day, his position as forerunner was inferior to that of the least person in the kingdom of heaven, because that person will have seen and understood the finished work of Christ on the Cross and through His resurrection—events that John would not live to see. Little wonder that Jesus gave such strong exhortations in 10:32–42 not to miss out on His future reign.

11:12 The violent take it by force in this context probably means that violent people forcibly oppose the kingdom with their hostility (23:13). As Christ’s kingdom advances, so do the attacks against it.

11:13 The prophets and the law refers to the OT, which anticipated the coming of the Messiah. Because John the Baptist was the forerunner of Christ, the OT anticipated John’s ministry as well.

11:16–19 Because of their hardness of heart, Israel failed to accept either the ministry of John the Baptist or that of the Lord Jesus Christ.

11:21 Woe: Jesus pronounced a direct judgment on Israel. Chorazin was a village about two and a half miles north of Capernaum; Bethsaida was about three miles east. Both of these cities were in Galilee and both had witnessed Jesus’ ministry firsthand. They would be judged for seeing the Messiah and then rejecting Him.

11:23 Capernaum, on the north shore of the Sea of Galilee, was the base of operations for Christ’s ministry. In 9:1, Capernaum is called “His own city.”

11:28 You who labor and are heavy laden describes the Jews as suffering under a load of religious responsibilities laid on them by priests, rabbis, scribes, and Pharisees (see 23:4; Acts 15:10). Rest is relief from this burden.

12:2 The way Jesus observed the Sabbath was a primary point of contention between Himself and the religious authorities. The Pharisees and scribes recognized that the Sabbath was the sign of the Mosaic covenant. Therefore, to desecrate the Sabbath was to flaunt disobedience to the entire Law of Moses (see Num. 15:30–36). While reaping was forbidden on the Sabbath (Ex. 34:21), the disciples were picking grain to eat, not for profit. They were not breaking God’s law. The Pharisees had established 39 categories of actions to be forbidden on the Sabbath, and according to them, the disciples were “harvesting” and therefore breaking the Sabbath. The Pharisees were trying to make Jesus into a lawbreaker and accuse Him of wrongdoing.

12:5 profane the Sabbath: On the Sabbath the priests carried out their work of ministry, showing that their official service had priority over the normal Sabbath observance.

12:7 For a similar use of Hos. 6:6, see 9:13.

12:14 Because of Jesus’ view of the Sabbath, the Pharisees concluded that He was trying to overthrow the entire Mosaic system, and therefore had to be destroyed. Their antagonism toward Jesus was growing.

12:15 withdrew: From this point on, the Lord’s ministry was characterized by opposition, withdrawal from that opposition, and continued ministry to His followers.

12:18–21 This quotation of Is. 42:1–4 shows that the Messiah’s quiet withdrawal was in keeping with the prophet’s portrayal of Him. The most significant aspect of this prophecy is that Jesus’ reserve in the face of Jewish opposition would lead to blessings on the Gentiles.

12:23 Could this be the Son of David may also be translated “This one can’t be the Son of David, can he?” The question expected a negative answer.

12:25–28 Jesus’ defense was in three parts. First, a kingdom, city, or even a family cannot continue to exist if it is divided against itself. Second, when the followers of the Pharisees exorcised demons, the Pharisees claimed it was accomplished by the power of God. Third, the casting out of demons by the Messiah indicated the nearness of the kingdom.

12:29 This verse shows how Jesus the King was confronting the kingdom of Satan. In His exorcisms, Jesus was binding Satan bit by bit; when He comes suddenly to establish His kingdom, He will bind Satan quickly and completely (see Rev. 20:1–10).

12:31, 32 The sin which will not be forgiven is the stubborn refusal to heed the Holy Spirit’s conviction and accept the forgiveness that Christ offers. Particularly in reference to the leaders of Israel, Jesus had offered them all the proof that could be expected—the ministry of John, the testimony of the Father, the prophecies of the OT, His own testimony, and the substantiation of the Holy Spirit. Because the leaders rejected all proofs regarding Jesus as Messiah, nothing else would be given.

12:39 The demand for signs is evidence of unbelief rather than faith. The sign of the prophet Jonah is explained in v. 40 as the Resurrection.

12:40 Three days and three nights does not necessarily indicate three full days. In ancient Israel, a part of a day was considered a whole day (see Esth. 4:16; 5:1); so a period of 26 hours could be called “three days.”

12:41, 42 The men of Nineveh and the queen of the South represent Gentiles who came to faith because of the words of God’s prophets and kings, lesser people than Jesus Christ, God’s only Son.

12:43–45 This difficult analogy most likely describes the moral reformation that took place in Israel as a result of the ministries of John the Baptist and Jesus. The reformation, however, was not genuine (3:7–10); therefore, Israel’s unbelief and hardness of heart were worse than before.

13:3 He spoke many things to them in parables: This teaching method, often used by the rabbis, utilized common scenes from everyday life to teach new truths about the kingdom.

13:4 Some seed fell by the wayside speaks of soil hardened by much human and animal traffic, that failed to allow penetration of the seed, leaving it fair game for the birds.

13:5 Stony places refers to shallow soil resting on a shelf of rock. The thin layer of dust or dirt accelerated the seed's growth under the hot sun, but the plant could only live a short time because of the shallow soil.

13:7 Among thorns suggests good soil occupied with wild growth.

13:8 Good ground refers to prepared or tilled soil that allows prosperous growth.

13:11–15 It has been given to you: The purpose of this parable was both to reveal (v. 11) and to conceal the truth (v. 13). This hiding of the truth was a judgment for unbelief, as happened during Isaiah's ministry (see Is. 6:9, 10).

13:11 The mysteries of the kingdom of heaven refers to new truths about the promised kingdom.

13:12 whoever has, to him more will be given: Just as the failure to respond to truth brings blindness, so a positive response is rewarded with further understanding (see Luke 8:16–18). This principle is applied to the leaders of Israel in fulfillment of many OT prophecies—especially Is. 6:9, 10. The leaders' rejection of the message of Jesus further blinded them to the spiritual nature of Christ's kingdom. Parables then became Jesus' effective tools for both revealing truth to the faithful and concealing it from those who would reject it. As emphasized by Mark 4:11, 12, Jesus' parables revealed the truths of His kingdom as well as the unbelief of many.

13:24 The kingdom of heaven is like: This phrase introduces new truth regarding God's coming kingdom. The introductory formula does not mean that the kingdom is to be exactly identified with a man, or a mustard seed (v. 31), or leaven (v. 33). It simply means that some truth regarding the kingdom is found in the story. A parable was primarily intended to teach one point, not to be picked apart to find meaning in all of its details.

13:25 his enemy came and sowed tares: Tares closely resemble wheat, but are poisonous to human beings. They are indistinguishable from wheat until the final fruit appears. Farmers would weed out tares just before the wheat harvest. Until Christ returns, both genuine believers and counterfeits will be allowed to remain together.

13:31, 32 The kingdom of heaven is like a mustard seed: The parable of the wheat and tares (vv. 24–30) reveals that the kingdom of heaven will be preceded by an age in which good and evil coexist. The parable of the mustard seed affirms that during that time period, the number of people who will inherit the kingdom will be very small at first. But though it begins like the smallest of seeds, the nucleus will enjoy growth completely out of proportion to its initial size. The birds of the air do not represent evil as they do in the parable of the soils (vv. 4, 19). In the OT, a tree large enough to support nesting birds was considered prosperous and healthy (see Ps. 104:12; Ezek. 17:23; 31:6; Dan. 4:12, 21). The kingdom, though having only a small number of people at the beginning of the age, will ultimately be large and prosperous.

13:33 The kingdom of heaven is like leaven: Although leaven sometimes symbolizes evil, here the kingdom of heaven is being compared to the dynamic character of yeast. When yeast is kneaded into the dough, it expands by itself. Rather than being powered by outward armies or organizations, the kingdom of God will grow by an internal dynamic, the Holy Spirit, overcoming all opposition. As the parable of the mustard seed (vv. 31, 32) addresses the extent of the kingdom's growth, this parable concerns the power and process of its growth.

13:35 The quotation of Asaph in Ps. 78:2 serves as a prophecy of Jesus' use of parables.

13:36 Jesus sent the multitude away: The parables of vv. 1–35 were addressed to the multitude. The phrase went into the house indicates that the parables of vv. 44–52 were for the disciples only. During this "private instruction," Jesus explained His previous stories and added four more.

13:38 Sons of the kingdom refers to heirs of the kingdom.

13:39 The end of the age speaks of the time when the Son of Man will come to set up His righteous kingdom.

13:44 the kingdom of heaven is like treasure hidden in a field: The parables of vv. 44–52 concern kingdom values and responsibilities. They are especially directed at believers. The first two are recorded by Matthew alone and appear to belong together. Stripped of their grand dreams of an immediate, powerful kingdom of David and facing the prospect of much opposition on all sides, the disciples were forced to count the cost. In the first story a man stumbles on a treasure trove, which he makes every effort to obtain. The central truth being taught is the immense value of the kingdom, which far outweighs any sacrifice or inconvenience one might encounter on earth.

13:45, 46 the kingdom of heaven is like a merchant seeking beautiful pearls: This second parable on kingdom values was evidently given to further underscore Jesus' optimism for the despondent disciples. His double encouragement indicates their great need at that time. This parable has a slightly different emphasis. Though the first individual found his treasure by accident, the second found his by diligent search. No matter how a person is led to Christ's kingdom, its values and delights will be beyond estimation.

13:47–50 the kingdom of heaven is like a dragnet: The last two parables speak of kingdom responsibilities for disciples. First, Jesus describes a large seine net, which would encircle a large area and drag the bottom of a lake. Such a net gathers fish of every kind, without discrimination. Similarly, the responsibility of disciples would be to catch as many "fish"—of every kind—as possible. The work of judging or ferreting out the false catch, however, is a job that disciples are neither called nor equipped to do. That work is assigned to angels at Christ's return.

The World of the Fishermen

Fishing on the Sea of Galilee was big business. This body of water, eight miles wide and 13 miles long, lay beside a fertile plain renowned for its agriculture. In Jesus' day, nine cities crowded its shorelines, each with no less than fifteen thousand citizens, possibly making the region's total population greater than Jerusalem's. The names of the towns reflect the importance of fishing to the life and economy of the area. For example, Bethsaida—from which at least four fishermen left their nets to follow Jesus (Matt. 4:18–22; John 1:44)—means "fish town"; most of the town was employed in the fishing industry.

Shoals just offshore were a fisherman's paradise. In Jesus' day, hundreds of fishing boats trawled the lake. Galileans ate little meat besides fish. It came highly salted because there was no other way to preserve the "catch of the day."

13:51, 52 Things new and old refers to truths about the kingdom that were found in the OT and those that were freshly revealed in these parables. This parable calls for action on the part of the disciples in view of what they had learned. They were to be responsible stewards and dispensers of these kingdom treasures.

13:55 carpenter's son: Carpenter basically means skilled worker. Joseph may have been a stonemason or some other type of craftsman.

13:57, 58 A prophet is not without honor except in his own country: In this second mission of Jesus to Nazareth, His hometown, He found that the people's unbelief had not abated (see Luke 4:16–30). Because of their familiarity with Jesus, the people failed to recognize Him for who He is; their eyes were blinded by unbelief.

14:1, 2 John the Baptist had already been beheaded (how that happened is recorded in the following verses). According to Herod, the miracles of Christ were so wonderful that they could only be explained as the work of a resurrected prophet, perhaps John the Baptist.

14:3, 4 Herod had gone to Rome where he met Herodias, the wife of his half brother Philip. After seducing Herodias, Herod divorced his own wife and married her. John had rebuked the king for his moral transgression.

14:20 Jesus' miraculous feeding of the crowd indicates a number of things: (1) He fulfills the expectations of those looking forward to a new Moses, based on Deut. 18:15 (see John 1:21; Acts 3:22; 7:37); (2) He can supply the daily bread requested in 6:11; and (3) He is the Messiah who will provide the messianic banquet (see 22:1–14; 26:29; Ps. 132:15; Is. 25:6). This miracle is so significant that it is the only pre-crucifixion sign recorded in all four Gospels.

14:25 The fourth watch would be between 3:00 and 6:00 A.M.

14:27 It is I may also be translated "I am." Some interpret this as a claim to deity (see Ex. 3:14).

14:28–31 Only the Gospel of Matthew records the miracle of Peter walking on the water. This was a valuable lesson for the disciples to learn: They could do the impossible with the power of Christ.

15:1 The fact that the scribes and Pharisees had traveled from Jerusalem to Galilee to see Jesus indicates that Jesus' reputation was becoming widespread.

15:2 The tradition of the elders was not the Law of Moses, it was the oral tradition based on interpretations of the law. They washed their hands ceremonially to remove defilement, not for hygienic purposes (see Mark 7:2–4).

15:3 In typical rabbinical style, Jesus answered the accusations of the scribes and Pharisees with a question. Whereas they challenged Jesus for His disciples' violation of the teachings of former rabbis, Jesus challenged them for violating the commandment of God. The scribes and Pharisees were placing their own views above the revelation of God, and yet claimed to be following Him.

15:4–6 Jesus was referring to a practice whereby people would dedicate their possessions to God so that they could use their finances for themselves and not for others. For example, if parents needed money, the children could excuse themselves from helping because their resources were already “dedicated” to God. This ruse kept people from honoring their parents by taking care of them in their old age.

15:10, 11 In vv. 3–9, Jesus rebuked the scribes and Pharisees for being so obsessed with traditions that they failed to observe basic commandments. Here He chided them for being so concerned with external ceremonial washings and dietary regulations that they failed to deal with character. Both of these charges were an outgrowth of the accusations of the scribes and Pharisees recorded in v. 2.

15:16–20 As a person thinks in his heart, so is he. How do thoughts get into the heart, the seat of reflection? Through the eyes, ears, and other senses. The raw material of our actions is what we take into our mind and allow to settle in our heart. David put it this way: “Your word I have hidden in my heart, that I might not sin against You” (Ps. 119:11). The other side is seen in Ps 101:3: “I will set nothing wicked before my eyes.” Paul pictured the believer as “bringing every thought into captivity to the obedience of Christ” (see 2 Cor. 10:5).

15:22 The woman was a Gentile who would have had no natural claims on a Jewish Messiah.

15:24 This verse demonstrates Christ's commitment to Israel, whom He called lost sheep. Jesus would always give the Jews the first opportunity to accept Him as their Messiah.

15:26 The “children” that Jesus referred to were the people of Israel. The little dogs refer to Gentiles.

15:29–31 The scene changes from the region of Tyre and Sidon to a mountain near the Sea of Galilee but still in Gentile territory. Mark 7:31 identifies this region as the Decapolis. they glorified the God of Israel: The Gentiles believed and glorified Israel's God, while many in Israel remained blind to their Messiah.

15:32–38 This is not the same miracle recorded in 14:14–21. Jesus Himself identified two distinct feedings of multitudes (16:9, 10). This was a supernatural supply of food for Gentiles. The seven baskets of leftovers here contrasts with the 12 baskets that were gathered in ch. 14. Further, the word for large baskets in v. 37 is different from the word for “baskets” in 14:20.

16:1 sign from heaven: Perhaps the scribes and Pharisees were thinking of signs such as the fire from heaven that answered Elijah's prayer (see 1 Kin. 18:36–38), the plagues on Egypt (see Ex. 7-12), or the sun standing still (see Josh. 10:12–14).

16:4 And He left them: Previously Jesus had withdrawn in the face of opposition (12:15; 14:13; 15:21); here He left the Pharisees and Sadducees, meaning that He abandoned or forsook them. Jesus deserted these religious leaders as reprobates.

16:5 The other side refers to the other side of the Sea of Galilee, where the Gentiles lived.

16:11, 12 In Scripture, leaven is often used as a symbol of evil. The doctrine of the Pharisees and Sadducees was hypocrisy, legalism, political opportunism, and spiritual hardness. Jesus' warning here was a result of the Pharisees' request for a sign in vv. 1–4.

16:13 Caesarea Philippi was located north of the Sea of Galilee, at the base of the southwest slope of Mt. Hermon. The place had long been associated with idol worship. The site for pagan worship centered on a massive stone facade, which Jesus referred to in His play on words concerning “rock” in v. 18. Who do men say that I . . . am: In the face of the surrounding idols, Christ led His disciples into a proclamation of His deity by first soliciting from them what other people said. In the end, however, what mattered was the apostles' own beliefs concerning Jesus.

16:16 The Spirit of grace revealed to Peter the true identity of the Lord Jesus. Son of the living God refers to Jesus' deity. Several factors point to this conclusion: (1) He was born of a virgin (1:18–20); (2) He was called Immanuel, meaning “God with us” (1:23); (3) the title in Greek is emphatic: “the Son of the God, the living One”; and (4) later passages describe Christ as God (see John 20:27–29).

16:17 has not revealed: People do not come to faith in Jesus Christ by scrutiny or searching, but by the Father's revelation of the Son to them (see John 6:65).

16:18 The words I will build My church indicate that the church had not yet been started. Obviously the disciples did not at this point understand the doctrine of the NT church with its equality of Jew and Gentile (see Eph. 2:11–3:7). They simply understood it to be the Lord's followers. the gates of Hades shall not prevail against it: Jesus may have been saying simply that death would not vanquish the church. One day, by the power of Christ's resurrection, the church and all the redeemed will be resurrected. Others suggest that the phrase means that the forces of evil will not be able to conquer the people of God.

Peter

rock

(Gk. petra) (16:18; Rom. 9:33; 1 Cor. 10:4; 1 Pet. 2:8) Strong's #4073

As Peter and rock are one word in the language spoken by Jesus (Aramaic), the wordplay in this verse can be duplicated only in languages that also have one word for both. In Greek, the word for Peter is petros (meaning “stone”); the word for rock is petra. Some commentators have indicated that, though the two words are nearly synonymous, Jesus intended a distinction—Peter is but a fragment of the whole, while Christ Himself is the entire rock. Thus it could be said that the church would be built on Christ, the Rock. Be that as it may, at least it can be said that the context allows that the rock upon which the church is built is Peter’s confession that Jesus is the Son of God.

Go to the List of Word Studies

16:19 You in this passage is singular. The keys of the kingdom may refer to Peter’s opening the kingdom to various groups of people (Jews in Acts 2; 3; Samaritans in Acts 8:14–17; Gentiles in Acts 10). The keys would open doors to lost people. However, this term may have further significance. The keys seem to be explained by the binding and loosing discussed in the last part of the verse. In rabbinical literature, binding and loosing refers to what was permitted or not permitted. So this passage may refer to judgments that Peter would make about what would be permitted or forbidden in the church, the body of believers.

16:20 Because the public did not understand the concept of the suffering Messiah, they were not to be told that He was Jesus the Christ. Furthermore, the nation had already turned away from Christ. They had crossed the point of no return (12:31, 32).

16:21 The phrase from that time marks a new direction in Jesus’ ministry. The expression occurs twice in the Book of Matthew, here and in 4:17. In 4:17, it introduces the beginning of Jesus’ ministry in announcing the nearness of the kingdom. Here it introduces the Cross and the ultimate rejection of the Messiah. Elders and chief priests and scribes refer to the makeup of the Jewish council, also called the Sanhedrin. Together with the mention of Jerusalem, this indicates that Jesus’ rejection would be an official one. Be killed is the first of three predictions in Matthew concerning Christ’s death (see 17:22, 23; 20:18, 19).

16:22 rebuke Him: Peter had confessed Jesus’ deity earlier (v. 16). Now he was attempting to correct Jesus.

16:23 To call Peter Satan was a very serious thing. But Peter was standing in the way of the plan of God, and so he was speaking for Satan.

16:28 coming in His kingdom: This verse anticipates the Transfiguration in ch. 17. Several reasons point to this conclusion: (1) It is Peter’s interpretation in 2 Pet. 1:16–18; (2) the three synoptic Gospels (John omits the account of the Transfiguration) all place the Transfiguration immediately after this prediction; and (3) some—not all—of the apostles saw the Transfiguration (19:27–30). In the Transfiguration, Peter, James, and John saw a preview of the kingdom.

17:1 The high mountain was probably a spur of Mt. Hermon, which rises to about 9,400 feet above sea level.

17:3 Moses and Elijah represented the OT, personifying the Law and the Prophets. Their presence indicated that the OT Scriptures had been looking forward to the Messiah and His kingdom.

- 17:5 This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased were the identical words spoken at Jesus' baptism in 3:17 (see Ps. 2:7; Is. 42:1). Hear Him seems to refer to Deut. 18:15.
- 17:9 Tell the vision to no one: The command for silence was due to the fact that the masses of Israel had an incorrect concept of the Messiah (8:4; 12:16). They expected a conquering king, not a Suffering Servant.
- 17:10 The three disciples evidently did not comprehend the reference to Christ's death in v. 9. The problem they raised concerned the Transfiguration. They had just seen Elijah on the mountain. If the scribes were correct that Elijah must come before the kingdom would arrive, why should the disciples not inform everyone that Elijah had appeared on the mountain?
- 17:11 The Lord informed His three apostles that the scribes were right in their interpretation of Mal. 3:1; 4:5, 6. The fact that Christ used the phrase will restore all things indicates that the prophecy still has a future fulfillment.
- 17:12, 13 Jesus indicates that the prophecies concerning Elijah had their fulfillment in John the Baptist. Yet because the restoration is not complete, some conclude that the role of Elijah will be taken up by one of the two witnesses of Rev. 11:3–6.
- 17:15 In this case, the epilepsy was caused by a demon (v. 18).
- 17:20 The disciples could not exorcise the demon because they failed in faith. The power was there, but they had failed to appropriate it.
- 17:22, 23 Jesus and the disciples began what would be Jesus' final journey to Jerusalem. Once again Jesus predicted His death and resurrection (see also 16:21; 20:18, 19). Once again the disciples failed to understand the Resurrection; they seemed to have heard only His words about His coming death, because they became exceedingly sorrowful.
- 17:24 The temple tax was a tax given annually by every adult Jewish male over 20 years of age for maintaining the temple. This tax was based on Ex. 30:13, and amounted to two day's wages for a common laborer. Evidently Jesus had not yet paid the tax, and the temple tax collector was following up on it.
- 17:25 Peter, desiring to maintain the best reputation and also assuming the best of his Master, replied to the tax collector (v. 24) that Jesus had paid the temple tax. Anticipated implies that Peter was about to speak, evidently about the matter of Christ paying the temple tax, when Jesus spoke first. Their sons may refer to citizens of a country as opposed to conquered peoples or strangers. However, citizens often pay customs and taxes. More likely the contrast is between the imperial family and the common people.
- 17:26 In this verse, Jesus demonstrates that, as God's Son, He was free from the obligation to pay the temple tax. In fact, the temple belonged to Him (see Mal. 3:1). The fact that He used the plural sons implies that Peter and the other disciples were also free from that obligation.
- 18:1 Matthew 18 contains the fourth of five discourses in Matthew's Gospel (compare 5:1–7:27; 10:1–42; 13:1–53; 24:1–25:46). The theme of this discourse is humility. Jesus outlines five reasons that humility is essential: (1) for entrance into the kingdom (vv. 2, 3); (2) for greatness in the kingdom (v. 4); (3) to prevent offenses (vv. 5–11); (4) to carry on proper discipline in the church (vv. 5–20); and (5) for forgiving one another (vv. 21–35). Greatest in the kingdom implies rank, a concept implied by Jesus Himself in 5:19.
- 18:3, 4 Converted means to turn around (see Luke 22:32).
- 18:6 Causes . . . to sin literally means to put a snare, trap, or stumbling block in someone's way. A millstone was a heavy grinding stone so large that it had to be turned by a donkey.
- 18:8, 9 This same basic statement is found in reverse order in 5:29, 30. One of the keys to understanding this assertion is to recognize the present tense of causes you to sin. Although the warning was addressed to the disciples, it describes a person who has a lifestyle of sinning and needs drastic measures in order to change it (see 1 John 3:7–10).
- 18:10 One of these little ones describes either a little child or a believer. Verses 12–14 seem to indicate a believer. Here Jesus implies that angels watch over and serve His followers on earth (see Heb. 1:14).

18:14 These little ones probably refers back to those who believe (v. 6). The Father watches over each of His little ones.

18:15–17 Jesus teaches His disciples about the process of restoring an erring believer. First, there should be a loving personal confrontation. The second step outlined in v. 16 is not as clear. The principle of witnesses is taken from Deut. 19:15, but what is it the witnesses attest? Evidently they witness that the offended brother is acting in good faith and the right spirit in attempting to work out a reconciliation. They also would be witnesses to any agreement. If this does not bring peace, the offended brother is to report it to the assembly. The church then is to do everything possible to convince the believer who has sinned to be reconciled or to right the wrong. If the erring one will not respond, that person is to be disciplined by being cut off from the fellowship. Such a loss would be extremely painful to the offender (1 Cor. 5:11; 2 Thess. 3:6, 14, 15).

18:18 bind: Binding refers to things that are not permitted; loosing refers to things that are permitted (16:19). As in 16:19, the tenses imply that what is loosed or bound on earth will have been determined already in heaven. In other words, this is a promise of divine direction for each local church.

18:19, 20 This passage specifically refers to church discipline. It is a promise for guidance for the two or three who confront, and a promise for the church to claim wisdom and restoration for the erring brother.

18:21 Peter's question was a logical outgrowth of the teachings of vv. 15–20. Actually Peter was being very generous in his willingness to forgive up to seven times. The traditional limit was three times, possibly because of the refrain in Amos 1:3, 6, 9, 11, 13; 2:1, 4, 6.

18:22 Seventy times seven may also mean “seventy-seven times.” The point is not to keep count at all, but to always be willing to forgive.

18:23–31 Ten thousand talents was an enormous sum. A denarius was one day's wage for a laborer (20:2). A talent was worth about six thousand denarii. Ten thousand talents would be sixty million day's wages, a sum that would be impossible to repay. Thus Jesus graphically portrayed this man's hopeless predicament.

18:32, 33 This parable reiterates the principle that we should forgive others because God forgives us (see the Lord's Prayer in 6:12).

18:35 This verse is a warning about the penalty for not forgiving others (see 1 Cor. 11:30–32; Heb. 12:5–11). All of a Christian's sins are forgiven and forgotten forever (see Ps. 103:12; Jer. 31:34; Heb. 8:12). But this parable illustrates the Christian duty to forgive others (see 6:12, 14, 15; 2 Cor. 2:10; Eph. 4:32). If our forgiveness should be in direct proportion to the incredible amount that we have been forgiven (v. 22), then we must always be willing to forgive.

19:3 The Pharisees' question about divorce was dangerous. John the Baptist's answer had resulted in imprisonment and ultimately execution (14:3–11). The use of the word testing indicates the malicious intent of the query. The rabbis had been arguing about when it was permissible according to the Law to divorce. Specifically, they wanted to know the meaning of the expression “uncleanness” in Deut. 24:1, which evidently referred to some kind of indecency. One rabbinical school held that the only grounds for divorce was immorality. Another school believed that anything that displeased the husband was sufficient to obtain a divorce. These Pharisees wanted Jesus to take one side on this controversy, thus giving them evidence to use against Him.

19:4–6 Jesus avoided the controversy over divorce (v. 3) by giving three reasons for why married people should remain married: (1) God made one male and one female. If God had intended more than one wife for Adam, He would have created more. The same would be true of husbands for Eve. He who made them is literally “the One who created” or “the Creator.” The implication is that the Creator is Lord and is the One who determines what is the ideal in marriage. (2) God ordained marriage as the strongest bond in all human relationships. A man leaves his parents and is joined to his wife. The language is very strong here. Leave means “to abandon”; joined to means “to be glued to.” The most permanent relationship in society is not between parent and child, but between husband and wife. (3) The two become one flesh. The basic element in marriage is a contract or covenant (see Mal. 2:14); part of that covenant is physical intimacy.

19:8 Jesus pointed out that Moses never commanded divorce, he only permitted it. God’s original ideal was that married couples would not divorce.

19:9 Defining the term wife is vital to understanding the principle of this verse. Some believe that the divorce decree was valid only during the engagement period, as with Mary and Joseph in ch. 1. There the wife is the woman to whom a man is engaged. However, Deut. 24:1 indicates that the couple is living together, suggesting an actual marriage. Immorality may refer to any kind of sexual immorality—premarital sex, extramarital sex, prostitution, homosexuality, and even bestiality. Whoever marries her who is divorced probably refers to a man who marries a woman who has been divorced because of her immorality.

19:11 Jesus indicates that remaining unmarried is only for a few people.

19:12 Some people do not marry because they were born with no sex drive. Others do not marry because they are castrated. Still others forgo marriage for the sake of serving God. Some have been given the spiritual gift of celibacy in order to do this (see 1 Cor. 7:7).

19:17 Why do you call Me good may be rephrased as “Why are you asking me concerning what is good?” The only One who can ultimately answer the question about goodness is God. The fact that Jesus went on to answer the question is a quiet claim to deity.

19:21 This verse does not teach salvation by works (see Rom. 3:23, 24; Eph. 2:8, 9). Rather Jesus was proving the error of the man’s claim to have fulfilled God’s law (v. 20). If the young man loved his neighbor to the extent required by the Law of Moses (v. 19; Lev. 19:18), he would have had no difficulty in giving away his wealth to needy people.

19:23, 24 Jesus’ comment about a rich man’s salvation would have been difficult for some Jewish people in this period to accept because they held to a form of “prosperity theology.” If people prospered, it was evidence of God’s blessing on them. Whereas v. 23 says it is hard for a rich man to become saved, v. 24 implies that it is as impossible as passing a camel through the eye of a needle (see Mark 10:25; Luke 18:25).

19:27 we have left all: The instruction Jesus gave to the rich man was precisely what Peter and the other disciples had done (4:18–22). The natural question then was what shall we have? Rather than upbraid Peter for what may seem like a selfish request, Jesus assured him that the life investment he and the other disciples had made (16:24–28) would have dividends “a hundredfold” (v. 29).

19:28 The apostles never forgot Jesus’ promise about their place in His kingdom; it was still in their minds in Acts 1:15–26. In the regeneration looks ahead to the coming kingdom promised in Dan. 7:13, 14. throne of His glory: Christ is today seated at the right hand of the eternal throne of the Father. In the future kingdom, He will occupy the Davidic throne (see Rev. 3:21). In that kingdom, the twelve apostles will sit on twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel.

20:3 The third hour was about 9:00 A.M.

20:5 The sixth hour was about noon. The ninth hour was 3:00 P.M.

20:6 The eleventh hour was about 5:00 P.M. There would have been only one hour left in the working day.

20:13–15 The first workers complained that their wages were the same as those who had been hired late in the day. However, the owner had not cheated them; everyone received the agreed-upon sum for his work. The early workers grumbled because they were evil in their outlook; their master, however, was sovereignly generous.

20:16 In the context of Matthew, the workers with the contract represent Israel; they had the promises and the covenants (see Rom. 3:1, 2; 9:4; Eph. 2:11, 12). Those without an agreement represent the Gentiles, who would be made equal with the Jewish people when salvation became available to all through faith in Jesus Christ (see Rom. 11:16, 17; Eph 2:13–15; 3:6).

20:17–19 Once again the Lord Jesus anticipated His death and resurrection (see 16:21; 17:9, 22, 23).

For the first time He referred to the way He would die—crucifixion.

20:24 The indignation of the other ten apostles was probably due to their own desire for these lofty positions. Jesus' response was addressed to all of them (vv. 25–28).

20:26, 27 The measure of greatness is not position, power, or prestige; it is service.

20:30 Only Matthew mentions two blind men; Mark and Luke refer to one, probably the one who spoke. The fact that Matthew records that there were actually two men especially suits his Gospel, which was written primarily for Jews who would have desired two witnesses (see Deut. 17:6). Son of David, a messianic title (see 2 Sam. 7:12–16), identifies Jesus as the heir to David's throne. This cry, repeated in v. 31, shows the spiritual insight of these blind men.

21:1 The Mount of Olives was directly east of Jerusalem, across the deep ravine of the Kidron valley. Bethphage was on the eastern slope of the Mount of Olives.

21:3 The Lord is Jesus. The owner of the animals was likely a follower, or at least an admirer, of Jesus.

21:4, 5 These actions fulfill Is. 62:11; Zech. 9:9. The emphasis in these prophecies and Jesus' actions is on Jesus' humility.

21:7 The disciples laid their clothes on both animals so that Christ could ride either one. Perhaps the mother donkey walked in front, followed by the colt on which Jesus was seated.

21:8 This great multitude refers not to the inhabitants of Jerusalem (v. 10), but to the large crowd that had accompanied Jesus from Jericho (20:29). The scene was a royal procession (see 2 Kin. 9:13). Prior to this time, the Lord Jesus had steadfastly avoided such a display (8:4; 9:30; 12:16; 17:9). Now He was publicly presenting Himself to Israel as the nation's Messiah and King.

21:9 Hosanna literally means "save now" (as in Ps. 118:25), but it was used as an exclamation of joyous praise. Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD is a quotation of Ps. 118:26.

21:10 The city was moved is literally "the city was shaken." The same verb is used in 2:3 of Herod's reaction to the wise men who were asking about the birth of Israel's King.

21:12 Two cleansings of the temple are recorded in the Gospels—one in John 2:14–17 at the beginning of Jesus' ministry, and one in the synoptic Gospels at the end of His ministry (see Mark 11:15–17; Luke 19:45, 46). bought and sold: Financial corruption ran rampant in the outer courts of the temple. Some of the gains that were realized from this profiteering probably went to the family of the high priest. The money changers exchanged coins with pagan symbols on them for acceptable coins to be used in the temple. They charged a premium for this "service." Those who sold doves sold them at top prices.

21:13 My house shall be called a house of prayer is quoted from Is. 56:7. den of thieves: The temple had become a garrison for bandits. Jeremiah 7:9, 10 says that the Jewish people, after committing all sorts of sins, would plead deliverance from the consequences of those sins based simply on the fact that they came to the temple. Thus in Jeremiah's day, it became a den for robbers—just as it was in Jesus' day.

21:16 In Ps. 8:2, which is quoted here, the infants expressed praise in the face of enemies.

21:17 The idea here is that Jesus abandoned the chief priests and scribes, the temple, and the city of Jerusalem. Instead of welcoming their Messiah, the religious authorities had rejected and opposed Him.

21:18, 19 He was hungry: Jesus desired to eat of the fruit of the fig tree one more time before He died, but could not. Fig trees do not bear their fruit in the spring, during Passover, but in the fall of the year. However, fig trees do have a small, edible fruit that appears in the spring before the sprouting of the leaves. This tree was full of leaves, but had no fruit. It looked full of promise, but was empty—just like the city of Jerusalem and its beautiful temple. Immediately does not necessarily mean instantly; it may have the idea of "very soon" as in Luke 19:11 (see Mark 11:12–14, 20–24). This miracle—the only recorded miracle of Jesus that involved judgment—illustrates God's judgment on the Israelites, who professed adherence to God but produced no fruit or spiritual reality.

- 21:20–22 The withering of the fig tree illustrates God's judgment on unbelieving Israel, but it also became a means for Jesus to teach His disciples that faith works miracles and is the basis for answered prayer.
- 21:23 The mention of these things refers to the Triumphal Entry, the cleansing of the temple, and the accepting of the praise of children. The fact that the chief priests and the elders opposed the Lord Jesus illustrates the unified antagonism of the Sanhedrin. Priests, elders, and scribes were the three representative groups in that body.
- 21:24 It was a common rabbinic method to answer a question with a question.
- 21:27 We do not know: The religious leaders' response not only released the Lord from having to answer their question, it also disqualified them as spiritual leaders.
- 21:31, 32 Tax collectors and harlots is a proverbial phrase for moral reprobates. Jesus' phrase enter . . . before you not only established that these repentant sinners would enter the future kingdom, it also left the door open for the religious leaders to repent. But even though the self-righteous leaders saw the example of repentant tax collectors and prostitutes, they refused to believe. This parable condemned the leaders' conduct. Clearly God delights in the brokenness of sinners but also in the humble faith of the morally upright.
- 21:33–40 The beginning of the parable of the wicked vinedressers is presented in the language of Is. 5:1, 2. However, there is a difference. In Is. 5, the vineyard and its provisions represented Israel; here the vineyard illustrates God's kingdom (compare v. 43 with Is. 5:7). The detailed description of the vineyard indicates that the landowner provided for its well-being with the utmost care. The owner of that vineyard was God; the vinedressers were the nation of Israel. As God's people, Israel was to bring forth fruits in anticipation of God's coming kingdom. The servants represent God's messengers, the prophets, who were so shamefully treated by the Jewish leaders (see 1 Kin. 18:4; 19:10; 22:24; 2 Chr. 24:20, 21; Neh. 9:26; Jer. 2:30; 20:1, 2; 26:20–23; 37:15; 38:6). The son is Jesus, the Messiah.
- 21:42 This verse explains that the rejection of the son (vv. 38, 39) was predicted in Ps. 118:22, 23. The rejected stone is the Messiah, who became the chief cornerstone (see Mark 12:10, 11; Luke 20:17; Acts 4:11; Eph. 2:20; 1 Pet. 2:7).
- 21:43 In our time, nation refers to the church (see Rom. 10:19; 1 Pet. 2:9). This does not mean, however, that the kingdom has been forever removed from Israel (see Rom. 11:26, 27).
- 21:44 This paradoxical saying indicates that people can give two responses to Christ, the stone. A person may be broken with repentance as a result of falling on Christ. If however a person refuses to repent, the result is judgment. The reference to powder seems to look back to Dan. 2:35, 44, 45.
- 22:1 The plural parables refers to the parable of the two sons (21:28–32), the wicked vinedressers (21:33–44), and the wedding feast (vv. 1–14). This story is not the same one related in Luke 14:15–24. The occasion is different in Luke and some details vary.
- 22:2 The kingdom of heaven is like indicates that the story contains principles or truths that relate to the kingdom of God. Marriage refers to a wedding feast (see Rev. 19:6–10). Jewish weddings in biblical times involved a number of steps. First, the couple made a marriage contract, which was the basis of the marriage (see Mal. 2:14). About a year later, the groom went to the bride's house, where the bride was presented to him. This was followed by a nighttime wedding procession to the groom's home (25:1–13), where a festive wedding banquet was held (see John 2:1–11). The banquet could last up to a week, depending on the resources of the groom's family. A feast, especially a wedding feast, is often used in Scripture to portray God's kingdom on earth (see 8:11; 25:10; Is. 25:6; Luke 14:15–24; John 2:1–11; Rev. 19:7–9). In this parable, the king is God the Father and the son is Jesus.
- 22:3 Two invitations were sent out. The first was sent long before the celebration so that people would have plenty of time to prepare themselves for the banquet. Those who were invited had received this original announcement. A second invitation was sent to them to announce that the banquet was ready and they should come right away.

- 22:4 The plea of this verse undoubtedly portrays the ministry of John the Baptist (3:1–12), Jesus (4:17), and the disciples (10:5–42).
- 22:5 They made light of it means “they did not care about it.” They were so preoccupied with the here and now that they had no concern for God’s kingdom.
- 22:6 The indifferent response in v. 5 describes Israel at the time of Jesus’ earthly ministry; the actions in this verse may be attributed to the religious authorities. These leaders approved John the Baptist’s death at the hands of Herod Antipas (21:25); they instigated Jesus’ crucifixion (26:3–5, 14–16; 27:1, 2); and they initiated the persecution of the early church (see Acts 4:1–22; 5:17–40; 6:12–15).
- 22:7 The burning of the city refers to the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70 under Titus. A parallel prediction of the same event is found in 21:41.
- 22:10 Both bad and good probably refers to Jews and Gentiles. Both groups include some who are morally evil and others who are morally good. Whatever their condition, people need to respond to the gospel. The important point to recognize is that this group responded to the invitation, while those who had received special invitations had spurned the king’s bidding.
- 22:11 did not have on a wedding garment: Like the others, this visitor had been invited to the wedding, but he failed to prepare himself for it (see Rev. 3:18). In Revelation, the garment of fine linen worn by the bride of the Lamb is said to be the righteous deeds of the saints (Rev. 19:8). The man had ignored a basic obligation placed on him when he accepted the king’s gracious invitation to the feast—he was supposed to wear clean clothes. To come to a wedding banquet unprepared or in soiled clothing would have been insulting. In this parable, the garment may refer to the righteousness of Christ graciously provided for us through His death. To refuse to put it on would mean a refusal of Christ’s sacrifice or arrogance in believing that the “garment” was somehow not needed. If we want to enter Christ’s banquet, we must “put on” the righteousness He gives us (Eph. 4:24; Col. 3:10). Because this man was unprepared, the king declared him unworthy. His refusal resulted in the man being sent out of the banquet hall.
- 22:13 Bind him hand and foot is a vivid picture of the man’s inability to participate in Christ’s kingdom. Someone claiming to belong at the wedding while refusing to wear the correct garments was similar to the Israelites who claimed to be God’s people while refusing to obey Him. This man was an impostor, and when he was discovered (as all impostors will be), he was cast . . . into outer darkness, referring to the judgment (8:12; 25:30).
- 22:14 many are called, but few are chosen: The word called in this instance refers to being “invited,” not to the call of God as Paul used the word (Rom. 8:28, 29). All Israel had been invited, but only a few would accept and follow Jesus. Not all those invited will be among the chosen of God, for not all will believe.
- 22:15 Entangle means “to snare,” like a trapper catching his prey.
- 22:16 Nothing is known of the Herodians outside of the Gospels. Judging from their name, they were supporters of the Herodian dynasty in its collaboration with the Roman government. This would put them at the opposite end of the political spectrum from the Pharisees. Yet their common hatred of Christ was great enough that the Pharisees and Herodians joined forces against Him. we know that You . . . teach the way of God in truth: In a way, the Herodians and Pharisees were saying, “You truly teach God’s word, no matter what people think of you.”
- 22:17 The dilemma is obvious: to side with the Pharisees and risk being accused of insurrection against the Roman government, or to side with the Herodians and lose the favor of the masses. Taxes included an annual tax paid by every Jewish adult to the Roman government. The Jews despised paying this tax to their hated oppressors.
- 22:18 Test here means “to solicit to evil.” The Lord called the Herodians and Pharisees hypocrites because they falsely pretended to have good intentions.
- 22:19, 20 The tax money was a denarius, a silver coin with an image of the emperor and the inscription calling him “divine.” The image and inscription were repugnant to the Jews because they hated their Roman overlords and worshiped only the God of Israel.

22:21 In responding to His opponents, the Lord changed the verb they used from “pay” (v. 17) to render, which literally means “to pay back.” Christ’s followers have an obligation to earthly governments and to God. Believers today are citizens of a heavenly kingdom and strangers and sojourners on the earth (see 1 Pet. 1:1; 2:11). It is the believers’ responsibility to obey the law of the land until it becomes sinful to do so (see Rom. 13:1–7; 1 Pet. 2:13–17). When the two realms are in conflict, Christians are to follow God (see Acts 4:18–20; 5:29).

22:23 Some of the beliefs of the Sadducees are explained in Acts 23:8. These men looked on the first five books of Moses as their authoritative Scripture. To them, any religious argument had to come from the Pentateuch.

The Sadducees

Because their writings have not survived through the ages, little is known about the Sadducees today except what rival groups said about them. They were an aristocratic group in Israel that dominated the higher echelons of the priesthood. As landowners, they achieved their power and status from their class and their position as priests, while the Pharisees derived their status mostly from their learning.

The Sadducees based their beliefs solely on the Pentateuch, the first five books of the OT. They did not accept the authority of any other OT books and did not find a basis in the Pentateuch for a belief in angels, demons, or an afterlife (see Acts 23:8). Many of their beliefs may have been derived from a concern over their power and status. With no afterlife and no resurrection, there was no need to worry about rewards or punishment in the life to come.

Go to the List of Bible Times and Culture Notes

22:24 The law that is the basis of the Sadducees’ question is found in Deut. 25:5, 6. It is known as the law of the levirate marriage (see Gen. 38:1–26).

22:25–28 This theological riddle had probably been used by the Sadducees to confound the Pharisees on more than one occasion.

22:29 Mistaken: Christ rebuked the Sadducees for denying the resurrection.

22:32 Jesus quoted from the Pentateuch, Ex. 3:6, 15, to prove the doctrine of the resurrection. The Lord is the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, a title that recalls that God is the One who gave the promises to the patriarchs. In particular, God promised Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob the land of Canaan (see Gen. 13:14–17; 15:7–21; 17:8; 26:2–5; 28:13–15; Deut. 30:1–5). Of course, the patriarchs did not receive the land in their lifetimes. They must be resurrected in order to receive God’s promises in full. That God is called the God . . . of the living indicates that there is a present spirit world over which God presides and that will one day be revealed.

22:33 Jesus taught something that no one had seen clearly before—that the patriarchs are still living. The crowds were astonished, and may also have been surprised that Jesus did not teach like the scribes and Pharisees, who appealed to rabbinic authority or prefaced their teachings with “Thus saith the Lord.” Jesus appealed to His own authority when He taught them.

22:34 Undoubtedly the Pharisees were delighted to see their theological rivals muzzled; yet they were still intent on snaring Christ in some way (v. 15).

22:35, 36 The lawyer was a student of the Law of Moses. He put the Lord to a test with a question designed to reveal how much Christ knew about the Law.

22:37 To answer the lawyer's question, Jesus quoted from the great Jewish confession of faith called the Shema. The confession is called this because it begins with the Hebrew word shema meaning "hear:" "Hear, O Israel: The LORD our God, the LORD is one!" (see Deut. 6:4, 5; 11:13–21). The heart, soul, and mind represent the whole person.

mind

(Gk. dianoia, nous) (22:37; Rom. 12:2; Eph. 4:23) Strong's #1271; 3563

Four separate Greek words account for nearly all instances of “mind” in the NT. They all mean much the same thing: understanding, thought, mind, reason. While today we think of a person’s mind in a morally neutral way, in the NT the mind was clearly thought of as either good or evil. Negatively, the mind may be “blinded” (2 Cor. 3:14; 4:4), “corrupt” (2 Tim. 3:8), and “debased” (Rom. 1:28). On the positive side, humans may have minds that are renewed (Rom. 12:2) and pure (2 Pet. 3:1). They may love God with all their minds (22:37; Mark 12:30; Luke 10:27) and have God’s laws implanted in their minds (Heb. 8:10). Since Christians have “the mind of Christ” (1 Cor. 2:16), they are instructed to be united in mind (Rom. 12:16; 1 Pet. 3:8).

- 22:39 This command from Lev. 19:18 is not an imperative to love one’s self. People naturally love themselves and are at least somewhat self-centered. Because we love ourselves, we want the best for ourselves; likewise, we should be concerned for the welfare of others.
- 22:40 The Ten Commandments can be divided into two categories: those dealing with love for God (the first four Commandments) and those dealing with responsibilities toward other people (the last six Commandments). The same may be said for all the Law and the Prophets.
- 22:41–45 After answering three questions posed by Israel’s religious leaders (vv. 15–22, 23–33, 34–40), Jesus turned to the Pharisees with a question of His own. The question had two parts, a first about the identity of the Messiah and a second about the interpretation of Ps. 110.
- 22:42 The answer to Jesus’ question about the identity of the Messiah was in a number of OT passages (see 2 Sam. 7:12–16; Ps. 89:3, 4, 34–36; Is. 9:7; 16:5; 55:3, 4). The Messiah would come from David’s royal line.
- 22:43 This verse affirms that David wrote Ps. 110. Furthermore, it declares that David wrote the psalm under the inspiration of the Spirit.
- 22:44 This verse, which quotes Ps. 110:1, describes Christ’s presence in heaven until He comes to reign on earth (see Heb. 10:11–13; Rev. 3:21). Other messianic psalms are built on the experiences of the psalmist (see Ps. 2; 16; 22; 45), but Ps. 110 seems to be completely prophetic and messianic.
- 22:44, 45 Psalm 110:1 uses two different Hebrew words for God. The first, translated LORD, is the name Yahweh, the proper name of Israel’s God. The second Lord means “Master.” David, the great king of Israel, calls one of his offspring “Lord” or “Master,” a title for deity. The implication is that Jesus, the Son of David, is God. He is a descendant of David and therefore human, but He is also divine.
- 23:2 The synagogues had an official chair called Moses’ seat (see Luke 4:20). The scribes were official copiers of the OT Scriptures and were also teachers of the Law (7:29; 8:19).
- 23:3 The Pharisees and scribes took the Scriptures at face value, so their instructions were to be followed. However, Jesus warned the people of the Pharisees’ legalism, their tendency to value their own rules and regulations over the Scriptures. They followed their external laws meticulously and appeared to be righteous. Yet the people were not to imitate their actions, for although they appeared righteous, their hearts were filled with all kinds of envy, hatred, and malice.

23:4 Contrast the Pharisees' actions with Jesus' call to the people in 11:28–30.

23:5 One key aspect of hypocrisy is doing good deeds to attract applause from those who see them (6:1–18). Phylacteries were small boxes containing Bible passages that were worn on the forehead or arm. This custom was based on Ex. 13:9, 16; Deut. 6:8; 11:18. But from such passages as Prov. 3:3; 6:21; 7:3, the scribes should have known that the Lord intended more than merely outward adornment. Borders, translated hem in 9:20, refers to the tassels that were worn on the corners of garments in order to remind the Israelites of God's laws (see Num. 15:38; Deut. 22:12). In order to be seen as especially righteous, some hypocrites would make their phylacteries conspicuously large and their tassels unusually long.

Outer Garment

Hebrew men wore an “outer garment” (John 21:7) consisting of a square or oblong strip of cloth, six to ten feet wide. It was wrapped around the body as a protective covering, with two corners of the material being in front. The outer garment was drawn in close to the body by a girdle. The rich often had a finely woven linen outer garment, while the poor had a coarsely woven garment of goat's hair. Jewish men wore fringes with blue ribbons on the “border” of this outer garment to remind them of the constant presence of the Lord's commandments. Jesus referred to these “borders” of the garments in Matt. 23:5; apparently, the scribes and Pharisees made these fringes very large so that people could see how faithful they were in following the Lord's commandments.

23:6 The best places were the positions of honor at banquets. The best seats or “first seats” were a row of seats in the front of the synagogue, facing the congregation.

23:7 Greetings in this context meant more than a passing “hello”; it was a respectful salutation given to a superior. Rabbi means “teacher.”

23:8–10 This principle is not to be applied universally because these titles are used elsewhere in Scripture with no qualification or admonishment (see 15:4–6; 19:5, 29; 2 Kin. 2:12; 1 Cor. 4:15; Gal. 4:2; Heb. 12:9). The hypocrites sought these titles for the prestige and power that went with them, and not for the purpose of using the positions to serve others. Teachers may also mean “leaders.”

23:11 Hierarchies of authority are not to be done away with in this world (see 1 Thess. 5:12, 13; 1 Tim. 5:17; Heb. 13:17); however, all leadership is to be carried out humbly in a spirit of servanthood.

23:12 Exaltation will be carried out in the future reign of Christ (see Rom. 8:17; 2 Tim. 2:12).

23:13 Jesus proclaimed woe on the scribes and Pharisees because of their outright opposition to the truth.

23:15 you travel land and sea: The Pharisees and scribes could never fairly be accused of being lazy, but they were clearly misdirected and dangerous to the cause of God.

23:16–22 The religious authorities taught that oaths based on the temple, the altar, and heaven were not binding; however, oaths sworn by the gold of the temple, the gift on the altar, or God were binding. Jesus pointed out the absurdity of such teaching, and called the leaders blind guides.

23:23 Mint and anise were spices. Cummin was a tiny fruit. The scribes and Pharisees were meticulous about tithing tiny seeds, but they failed to be obedient in more significant matters such as ensuring that all their actions were governed by justice and mercy and faith (see Mic. 6:8). Jesus was not saying that tithing is unimportant; He was pointing out that the scribes and Pharisees were emphasizing one area at the expense of another. Similarly, we can become so preoccupied with external rules and regulations in the church that we forget the principles behind them.

23:24 Leviticus 11:41–43 contains a prohibition against eating anything that swarms, crawls on its belly, walks on all fours, or has many feet. The Pharisees would meticulously strain out the smallest unclean insect—the gnat—with a cloth filter before drinking liquids, especially wine. However, Jesus said they would easily swallow a large unclean animal—a camel. Jesus was exaggerating a point to illustrate how much the Pharisees had neglected justice, mercy, and faith (v. 23). He used a similar exaggeration in 19:24 to portray the difficulty a rich man has in obtaining salvation.

23:25, 26 The inside of the cup represents a person’s character. Sometimes those who most loudly protest the sins of others are secretly guilty of those or worse sins themselves.

23:31, 32 The generation of scribes, Pharisees, and hypocrites living at the time of Jesus had inherited all the guilt of their forefathers.

23:34 The present tense I send refers to the prophets, wise men, and scribes sent by God to the apostolic church. The Book of Acts testifies to the accuracy of this prediction: the Israelites persecuted the early preachers and teachers of the Good News (see Acts 7:51–60).

23:35 Abel was the first person murdered in the OT (see Gen. 4:8); Zechariah was the last. Zechariah’s death is recorded in 2 Chr. 24:20–22, the last book in the Hebrew canon. Jesus was saying that from the beginning of the Bible until the end, true followers of God had often been treated in this manner. son of Berechiah: In 2 Chr. 24:20, Zechariah is called the son of Jehoiada. Zechariah the prophet is called the son of Berechiah in Zech. 1:1. It is possible that Jehoiada was the grandfather of the murdered Zechariah and Berechiah was his father. It is less probable, although possible, that Zechariah’s father had two names: Jehoiada and Berechiah.

23:37 Calling a name twice, as in Jerusalem, Jerusalem, indicates strong emotion (see 27:46; 2 Sam. 18:33; Acts 9:4). The phrases I wanted and you were not willing illustrate the opposition of Israel to Christ’s will (see Ps. 91:4 for another image of a mother hen).

Word Studies

hen

(Gk. ornis) (23:37; Luke 13:34) Strong's #3733

The Greek term simply means “bird.” The English word ornithology (the study of birds) is a derivative of it. Throughout the OT there are references to God exercising His care for His people in the same way a mother bird cares for her young (see Deut. 32:10–12; Ruth 2:12; Ps. 17:8; 36:7; 61:4; 63:7; 91:4; Is. 31:5; Mal. 4:2). Many of these references speak of God's protective wings, under whose shelter the frightened could find refuge. The later rabbis had a beautiful expression for proselytes from the Gentiles—they had “come under the wings of the Shekinah” (see Ruth 2:12). Jesus came to His people wanting to give them the same kind of motherly care, but they rejected that care and tender affection again and again.

Go to the List of Word Studies

23:38 Your house may refer to the temple, but more likely to the Davidic dynasty (see 2 Sam. 7:16).

24:1 The discourse of ch. 23 had evidently been given in the temple precincts. The first temple, built by Solomon, was destroyed by the Babylonians in 586 B.C. The second temple, built under the encouragement of Haggai and Zechariah and the leadership of Zerubbabel and Joshua (see Hag. 1:1), was completed after considerable delay in 516 B.C. This second temple was completely and lavishly renovated by Herod the Great. He began the work around 20 B.C., but the renovations were not completed during the lifetime of Christ (see John 2:20). The work was finally finished in A.D. 64, and the temple stood completed for only six years before it was reduced to rubble by the Romans.

24:2 The devastation of the temple by the Romans in A.D. 70 was so thorough that the precise location of the sanctuary is still unknown today.

24:3 Undoubtedly the disciples were immediately confounded by the Lord's prophecy (v. 2); however, they held their tongues until they had crossed the Kidron valley and come to the Mount of Olives. When Jesus sat, as Jewish teachers did (5:1), the disciples finally questioned Him about His statement regarding the destruction of the temple. Some say that this verse contains two questions: (1) When will these things be? That is, “When will the temple be destroyed?” and (2) What will be the sign of Your coming, and of the end of the age? Others believe that one basic question was in the disciples' minds. To the disciples, the devastation of the city and the coming of the Messiah were part of one event. The disciple's questions should probably be taken as one question, though the fulfillment would come in stages.

24:4 Jesus' warning about being deceived was especially appropriate for the disciples. The destruction of Jerusalem did not necessarily mean the nearness of the end of the age. This principle was a point of confusion for them (see Luke 19:11–27; Acts 1:6, 7).

24:6 Three indicators of time are given in vv. 6–14. The first is found in v. 6, the end is not yet. The second is found in v. 8, “All these are the beginning of sorrows.” The third is found in v. 14, “then the end will come.” Verses 4–6 may describe the first part of Daniel's seventieth week (see Dan. 9:25–27), but possibly they present a general picture of the present age. False messiahs and wars and rumors of wars are characteristic of the fallen world in which we live. When the Lord said all these things must come to pass, He used a word for must that indicates a divine or logical necessity. Such activities are necessary because of the people's sin. False messiahs had existed before (see Acts 5:36, 37; 21:38), and false preachers would come in the future (see Acts 20:29, 30; 2 Cor. 11:13–15).

24:7, 8 This passage describes characteristics of the end times. Nation . . . against nation, and kingdom against kingdom seems to indicate wars on a broad or worldwide scale. The famines, pestilences, and earthquakes are more fully described in Rev. 6:1–8; 8:5–13; 9:13–21; 16:2–21. Sorrows literally means “birth pangs.” The earth continually has birth pangs today (see Rom. 8:22); during the tribulation, these “sorrows” will increase in intensity and frequency until Jesus returns in glory (see 19:28; Acts 3:21).

24:13 End here refers to the “end of the age.”

24:14 this gospel of the kingdom: The final evidence of the end times will be the universal proclamation of the gospel. The antecedent of “this” must be v. 13. The good news is that the final battle of the tribulation known as Armageddon will not result in the destruction of all people. The Lord Jesus Christ will intervene, bringing an end to the destruction and preserving a people for His kingdom.

24:15 The abomination of desolation literally means “the abomination that makes desolate.” This prophecy comes from Daniel, specifically Dan. 9:27; 11:31; 12:11. Daniel 11:31 refers to Antiochus IV, who desecrated the temple and set up an idol to Zeus in it. His actions were a prelude to what the ultimate “man of sin” will do. In A.D. 70, Titus destroyed Jerusalem, burned the temple, and set up an idol to mock the Jews. Significantly, Paul speaks of the Antichrist at the end times setting himself up as god also (see 2 Thess. 2:3, 4; Rev. 13:14, 15).

24:16 At the time of the war ending in the destruction of the temple in A.D. 70, many of the Christians did flee, hiding in the clefts of Petra. Some believe the final fulfillment of this prophecy will occur in the future desecration of the temple (see Dan. 9:27) and the subsequent setting up of an image of the “man of sin” in the Most Holy Place. When that occurs, everyone in Judea must flee to the mountains.

24:22 Those days will be shortened means that God will place a limit on the tribulation; Christians will not have to endure persecution forever. Note the meaning of the “good news” of the kingdom in vv. 13, 14 (see Zech. 14:2–4). Christ will intervene and prevent complete genocide.

24:24 Miracles by themselves do not prove that something is of God (see 7:21–23; 2 Thess. 2:9; Rev. 13:13–15). The teaching of those who perform signs and wonders must be tested against correct doctrine (Deut. 13:1–5; 1 John 4:1–3), and by the witness of God's Spirit (see John 10:3–5, 27).

24:26, 27 Christ's return will not be confined to a desert or to some inner rooms. When Christ returns, His coming will be so spectacular that everyone will know He has arrived.

24:28 wherever the carcass is, there the eagles will be gathered: This sweeping statement conveys an image of the horrible carnage that will take place in the judgment at the coming of the Son of Man (see Luke 17:37).

24:29 Immediately after: This verse moves chronologically to the close of the tribulation, a period that will be marked by monumental cosmic disturbances (see Is. 13:10; 34:4; Ezek. 32:7, 8; Joel 2:30, 31; 3:15; Hag. 2:6; Zech. 14:6; Rev. 6:12–14).

24:30 The sign of the Son of Man probably refers to Christ Himself appearing in heaven (see 16:1; Acts 1:11). The tribes of the earth probably refers to Israel. The context here is the national repentance of Israel predicted in Zech. 12:10, 12. The Son of Man coming on the clouds will be a fulfillment of Dan. 7:13, 14.

24:31 Gather refers to the gathering of the elect (God's people, both Jews and Gentiles) that will gloriously begin Christ's reign (see Deut. 30:1–6; Is. 11:11, 12; 43:5, 6; 49:12; Jer. 16:14, 15; Ezek. 34:13; 36:24; 37:21–23).

24:32 The fig tree does not necessarily indicate Israel here (see 21:18–22; Luke 21:29). We can predict the coming of summer from certain signs: The branches of trees become tender and produce leaves. In the same way, we will know the end is coming when we see the signs Jesus described in this passage.

24:34 Generation may mean “race,” indicating that Israel as a people will not cease to exist before God fulfills His promises to them. Another possibility is that the word describes a particular era in which people will see the end times. That is, the events will occur so rapidly that all will happen within one generation. Perhaps both interpretations are true. All these things includes the Antichrist, the tribulation, and most importantly the appearance of Christ in glory.

24:35 The words of Christ are more certain than the very existence of the universe.

24:36 Mark 13:32 indicates that even Jesus Himself did not know the day and hour of His return. When the Lord Jesus was on earth, He voluntarily limited His use of His divine attributes (see John 17:4, 5; Phil. 2:5–8). Therefore He became hungry, thirsty, and tired. Luke records that Jesus grew in knowledge and wisdom (see Luke 2:52). In this instance, Jesus surrendered the use of His divine omniscience.

24:37–39 as the days of Noah were, so also will the coming of the Son of Man be: Jesus was referring to the indifference of the people of that time to the coming disaster. There is nothing sinful about eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage. However, the people of the end times will be doing these things without any thought of God or the coming judgment.

24:42 This is the application of vv. 36–41. As Noah was vigilant in preparing for the Flood, so should people living in the tribulation be alert. They should prepare for the return of Christ.

24:45–51 These two servants (see Luke 19:11–26) illustrate two attitudes people will have to Christ’s return. The faithful and wise servant will be given more responsibilities in the Lord’s kingdom. The evil servant will be cut . . . in two, a form of judgment used in the ancient world. Weeping and gnashing of teeth indicates the remorse of those who have suffered great loss.

25:1 The ten virgins in this parable were waiting for the wedding procession that went from the bride’s home to the home of her husband. This nighttime procession would use lamps to light the way because ancient cities did not have streetlights.

the kingdom of heaven

(Gk. hē basileia tōn ouranōn) (3:2; 4:17; 5:3, 10; 10:7; 25:1) Strong's #932; 3772

This phrase, used almost exclusively in Matthew's Gospel (33 times), is a Jewish way of saying "the kingdom of God." The Jews avoided saying the name of God out of respect for Him. Therefore they often used the word heaven as an alternative way to refer to God. The word heaven also points to the heavenly nature of Jesus' kingdom. His kingdom did not involve a political restoration of the nation of Israel as many Jews had hoped. Instead He brought a heavenly kingdom with a spiritual domain, the hearts of His people. Such a kingdom demanded internal repentance, not just external submission. It provided deliverance from sin rather than political deliverance.

- 25:2 The good servant of 24:45 is described as "faithful and wise." The parable of the ten virgins explains the need for wisdom (vv. 1–13); the following parable of the talents (vv. 14–29) shows the need for faithfulness. The word translated wise here and in 24:45 means "prudent."
- 25:8 Possessing oil illustrates the concept of being prepared; a lack of oil represents being unprepared for Christ's return.
- 25:10 The door was shut speaks of being shut out of the kingdom. The unwise virgins were not ready when Christ returned. Compare the wedding feast of 22:1–14 and Rev. 19:7, 8.
- 25:11 Lord, Lord is reminiscent of a similar cry in 7:21–23, where the same scene is portrayed. The repetition of Lord indicates strong emotion.
- 25:14 The parable of the talents illustrates the faithfulness required of God's servants. The fact that the master traveled to a far country indicates that there would be ample time to test the faithfulness of the servants.
- 25:15 A talent was a large sum of money, about six thousand denarii. A denarius represented the day's wage for a typical working man (20:2).
- 25:18 It was believed that money hidden in the ground was as secure as it could be.
- 25:23 The first two servants received the same reward, even though they had received different amounts of money. The reward was based on faithfulness, not on the size of their responsibilities. The smallest task in God's work may receive a great reward if we are faithful in performing it (10:42).
- 25:26, 27 The wicked servant was lazy and unfaithful, because if he really had feared his master, he would at least have deposited the money with the bankers. Then the master would have received back the investment plus interest.
- 25:29 This proverb illustrates that a person must use what God has given or else lose it (see Heb. 5:11, 12). This includes abilities and spiritual gifts, as well as material possessions (see 1 Pet. 4:10).
- 25:30 The unprofitable servant is one who fails to be faithful to the tasks given by the master. This servant will not share in the rewards (8:12; 13:42, 50; 22:13).
- 25:31 The final section of this discourse involves judgment. Matthew has been called "the Gospel of judgment” because the subject occurs so often (vv. 1–12, 14–46; 3:12; 6:2, 5, 16; 7:24–27; 13:30, 48, 49; 18:23–34; 20:1–16; 21:33–41; 22:1–14; 24:45–51). This is to be expected, since Matthew emphasizes the coming of the kingdom and thus the judgment that accompanies it. In the previous two parables, Jesus had been speaking of the judgment on those Israelites who were unprepared for the coming of the Messiah. In the last parable of this discourse, Jesus focuses His attention on all the nations of the earth. When the Son of Man comes in His glory recalls the words of Dan. 7:13, 14, 27 and anticipates the future reign of Christ (see Rev. 5:9, 10; 19:11–18; 20:4–6).

25:32 Nations here means Gentiles. Sheep and goats were both clean animals according to the Levitical law; however, their natures are very different. Shepherds regularly herded their sheep and goats together, but there came a point when the two had to be separated.

25:34 The kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world indicates that this kingdom has always been God’s goal for humans.

25:40 Three groups are referred to in vv. 31–46: sheep, goats, and My brethren. At the very least, these “brethren” are believers in Jesus Christ.

25:46 Everlasting and eternal are used to describe both torment and life, indicating that one will last as long as the other. In fact, “everlasting” is used of God in Rom. 16:26.

26:1 As is his style, Matthew brings the discourse of the Lord to a conclusion with the words, Now it came to pass, when Jesus had finished (see 7:28; 11:1; 13:53; 19:1).

26:3 The wicked Caiaphas was high priest from A.D. 18 to 37. However, Luke 3:2 says that both Annas (father-in-law of Caiaphas) and Caiaphas were high priests; Acts 4:6 calls Annas the high priest. Although Caiaphas was officially the high priest, Annas still had influence over that office. Annas was so despicable that the Roman government deposed him from office. However, he continued to work behind the scenes through his wicked son-in-law.

26:4 The religious leaders knew they could not take Christ by argument or logic (22:46), and they did not dare take Him by force (21:46). Their only recourse was trickery.

26:5 This verse is to be compared with v. 2, which speaks of Christ’s full knowledge of what was coming and His acceptance that it was part of God’s plan (see John 10:18). Despite whatever people plot, God still sovereignly controls all events.

26:6 Apparently Jesus spent His nights in the village of Bethany, just a few miles outside Jerusalem on the Mount of Olives. Simon was a leper who evidently had been cleansed by Jesus. He may have been the father of Lazarus, Mary, and Martha (see John 12:1, 2).

26:7 The costly fragrant oil (see Mark 14:3) was a perfume extracted from pure nard. The woman poured the costly perfume on both the head and feet of Jesus (see John 12:3). She could have opened the flask in such a way that it would have trickled out; instead, she broke the flask and poured out the oil to cover Jesus’ body (see Mark 14:3).

26:12 Jesus saw the pouring of the fragrant oil on His body as an anticipation of His death (see Mark 14:8). The perfumed ointment was placed on Jesus before His death; normally it would have been used after His death. The expensive oil points to (1) the value of Jesus’ death and (2) the high cost of devotion to Him.

26:14 The enormity of Judas’s sin is seen in the words one of the twelve. Jesus was betrayed by one of His inner circle. Judas must have been considered a person of integrity or he would not have been trusted as treasurer.

26:15 Thirty pieces of silver was the price of a slave (see Ex. 21:32). Zechariah had foreshadowed this sum in his prophetic actions (in Zech. 11:12, 13). Note the contrast between the costly devotion of the woman (vv. 7–13) and the small price of Judas’s betrayal.

26:17 The first day of the Feast of Unleavened Bread is also the day of the Passover (v. 18). The disciples were Peter and John (see Luke 22:8).

26:21 One of you will betray Me indicates the Lord’s omniscience. Repeatedly—in submission to the Father—Christ unveiled evidences of His deity to His disciples.

26:22 The disciples had already heard that Jesus was going to die in Jerusalem, but His revelation of betrayal was new (see v. 2; 16:21; 17:12, 22, 23; 20:18, 19). Is it I expects a negative response. The meaning is “I’m not the one, am I?”

26:23 The dish was a bowl of broth in which the guests dipped pieces of bread.

26:26 This is My body means “This symbolizes My body” (see 1 Cor 10:4).

The Lord's Supper

When we ask how the Lord's Supper should be meaningful to the Christian today, three concepts—relating to the past, present, and future—can be helpful.

First, the Lord's Supper is a time of remembrance and Eucharist. Jesus said, “Do this in remembrance of Me” (Luke 22:19; 1 Cor. 11:24, 25). This is not to be so much our dwelling on the agonies of the crucifixion as it is to be our remembering the marvelous life and ministry of our Savior. The Eucharist is to be an occasion for expressing our deepest praise and appreciation for all Jesus Christ has done for us. Just as one step in the Jewish Passover meal was to proclaim the Hebrews' deliverance from Egyptian bondage (Ex. 12:26, 27), so in the Lord's Supper Christians proclaim their deliverance from sin and misery through the death of “Christ, our Passover” (1 Cor. 5:7; 11:26).

Second, the Supper is a time of refreshing and communion. As we participate in the benefits of Jesus' death and resurrection life (Rom. 5:10; 1 Cor. 10:16), we are actually being nourished and empowered from the risen Christ through the Spirit. John Wesley knew of this strengthening. On the average, he received communion every four or five days throughout his long and fruitful ministerial career. It is not that God cannot empower us without the Lord's Supper, but that He has instituted the Supper for us, even as He has designated prayer and the hearing of Scripture as means of communicating His grace. While the Bible does not tell us how often to observe the Eucharist, Wesley's guideline—“as often as you can”—deserves our serious consideration.

Third, the Supper is a time of recommitment and anticipation. We are to examine (literally “prove” or “test”) ourselves and partake in a worthy manner (1 Cor. 11:28, 29). In so doing we renew our dedication to Christ and His people, in hopeful anticipation “till He comes” (1 Cor. 11:26). After Christ's return we shall partake with Him—in His physical presence—in the kingdom (Matt. 26:29).

26:28 This is My blood of the new covenant refers to the covenant that had been promised in the OT (see Jer. 31:31–34; 32:37–44; Ezek. 34:25–31; 37:26–28). The Lord Jesus specifically said that His blood . . . is shed for many for the remission of sins. The word many looks back to 20:28 and anticipates the command to preach the Good News to all the world in 28:19, 20.

26:29 This verse anticipates God's kingdom when Christ will reign on the throne of David. Today He is seated with the Father on His throne and intercedes for us.

26:31 All of you will . . . stumble: All the disciples, not just Peter, would fall away. I will strike the Shepherd . . . the flock will be scattered: This OT prophecy is found in Zech. 13:7 (see Ps. 118).

26:32 Several reasons may be offered as to why Christ went to Galilee to meet His disciples: (1) They were all from Galilee; (2) He wanted to be away from Jerusalem, the center of opposition; (3) He wanted to take up the work of shepherding His flock where He had ministered to them before; or (4) the most effective setting for the Great Commission given in 28:19, 20 would be Galilee (4:12–16).

26:34 The rooster crow is usually thought to refer to the third Roman watch, from midnight to 3 A.M.

26:36 Judas had already gone (see John 13:21–30), so the Lord left eight of His disciples at this spot. Gethsemane (which means “Oil Press”) was east of Jerusalem on the Mount of Olives. In the place where olives were crushed and ground, the One anointed with oil was crushed and rent.

26:37 This was the third time that Jesus singled out Peter, James, and John to accompany Him for a specific purpose (see the Transfiguration in 17:1–13 and the raising of Jairus’s daughter in Luke 8:49–56).

26:38 My soul is exceedingly sorrowful, even to death seems to look back to Ps. 42:5, 6, 11; 43:5. Watch literally means “stay awake.”

26:39 let this cup pass from Me: It was not the impending physical suffering, as terrible as it would be, that caused Jesus to pray this way; it was the reality of the sinless Son of God bearing the sins of the world and facing separation from His Father (see 2 Cor. 5:21; Gal. 3:13; Heb. 12:2; 1 Pet. 2:24). Cup is a figure of speech for wrath in the OT (see Ps. 75:8; Is. 51:17). Jesus became a curse for us and took the brunt of God’s righteous wrath against sin (see Gal. 3:13).

26:40 Could you not watch with Me one hour: Although addressed to Peter, the question was meant for all three disciples. Earlier Peter had claimed that he would never forsake Jesus and that he would even die for Him (v. 35); yet Peter could not stay awake to pray with Jesus at the time of His greatest need.

26:41 The disciples needed to stay awake and pray because they were about to be tested themselves. Here the word flesh emphasizes human weakness. The contrast between the weakness of the disciples and the strength of the Lord is startling. Because the flesh is weak, every child of God needs supernatural empowerment (see Rom. 8:3, 4).

26:42–44 The fact that Jesus prayed the same words indicates that there is nothing wrong with repetition from a devout heart. In the first prayer, Jesus made a positive request: “Let this cup pass from Me.” In the second and third prayers, His request was negative. In obedience to His Father, Jesus committed Himself to drink the cup, whatever the cost.

26:45 Are you still sleeping: The disciples were resting while Jesus was sweating in prayer to the point of exhaustion (see Luke 22:43, 44).

26:46 This verse shows Jesus’ active submission to the Father’s will, as He stated in v. 42. Jesus did not go reluctantly, but with determination to do the Father’s will.

26:47 The fact that the multitude was armed with swords and clubs indicates that Judas did not really know the heart of Jesus. Christ went out to meet the multitude not to do battle, but to surrender.

26:49 The only person to address the Lord as Rabbi in the Book of Matthew was Judas (v. 25). Kissed means to kiss as a display of affection. The same verb form is used in the parable of the Lost Son in Luke 15:20.

26:50 Friend: Even though He knew Judas’s wicked heart and actions, Jesus offered him friendship and an opportunity to change his mind. The words translated Why have you come may also mean “Do what you have come to do.”

26:51 John 18:10 informs us that the impetuous swordsman was Peter. This action was performed with one of the two swords that the disciples had (see Luke 22:38).

26:53 A legion in the Roman army was about six thousand men. When one considers the power of one angel, as seen in the OT (see Ex. 12:23; 2 Sam. 24:15–17; 2 Kings 19:35), the power of more than 72,000 angels is beyond comprehension. Jesus had all of heaven’s power at His disposal, yet He refused to use it. His Father’s will was for Him to go to the Cross.

26:54 If Jesus had called for angelic aid, the prophetic Scriptures foretelling His betrayal, His death, and His resurrection would not have been fulfilled. This point is so important that it is stated twice (v. 56).

26:56 all the disciples forsook Him and fled: Compare Peter’s claim in v. 35 with Jesus’ words in v. 41, “The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak.”

26:57 The Lord Jesus was subjected to six trials—three Jewish trials and three Gentile trials. The first Jewish trial was before Annas, who was not the actual high priest, but was a powerful influence on the high priest’s office. This trial is mentioned only by John (see John 18:12–23). The second trial was before Caiaphas and the Jewish council. Clearly the council had been hastily called together in anticipation of passing judgment on Jesus. Matthew does not mention Jesus' trial before Herod Antipas (see Luke 23:6–12); he also combines the two trials before Pilate into one (27:2, 11–26). Jesus' opponents were trying desperately to find some legal basis for condemning Him to death.

26:58 John 18:15, 16 explains that Peter and John were both granted an entrance into the courtyard because John was known to the high priest. The servants were probably house servants, not members of the mob who arrested the Lord. Apparently, Peter had forgotten the words of Jesus concerning His resurrection. For Peter, this was the end.

26:61 This was a misquotation and misapplication of Christ's words (see John 2:19–21). At any rate, to say that Jesus had spoken against the temple was an action for which they could condemn Him (see Acts 6:13, 14).

26:62 The high priest must have recognized that the accusers had no case against Jesus. His outburst was the result of frustration and desperation. In maintaining His silence, Jesus fulfilled the prophecy of Is. 53:7.

26:63 I put You under oath by the living God: The high priest thought he needed to put Christ under oath in order to get a truthful confession. Christ needed no such oath; He had indicated His divine nature and unity with the Father on several occasions (see John 8:58; 10:30–33).

The Meaning of Messiah

Matthew wrote his Gospel to demonstrate to his Jewish audience that Jesus is indeed the long-awaited Messiah. Who is the Messiah and why were the Jews waiting for such a person?

The Term

In Hebrew or Aramaic, the word Messiah means “anointed.” The Greek equivalent of the word is the title Christ.

Old Testament Background

In the Old Testament, prophets, priests and kings were literally anointed with oil to consecrate them for special service or to signify the endowment of the Spirit of God (Lev. 4:3; 8:12; 1 Sam. 10:1, 6; Ps. 105:15; Is. 61:1). These practices pointed to the promised arrival of God's Anointed One, who would fulfill all three offices as the Prophet, the Priest, and the King.

Titles for the Messiah

Seed of Abraham (Ps. 105:6); Son of David (Matt. 1:1); Son of Man (Dan. 7:13); My Son (Ps. 2:7); My Servant (Matt. 12:18); My Elect One (Is. 42:1); The Branch (Zech. 3:8; 6:12); Wonderful, Counselor, Mighty God, Prince of Peace (Is. 9:6)

Major Old Testament Prophecies of the Messiah

Gen. 3:15; 9:27; 12:3; 22:18; 49:8, 10; Deut. 18:18; 2 Sam. 7:11–16; 23:5; Ps. 2; 16; 22; 40; 110; Is. 2; 7; 9; 11; 40; 42; 49; 52; 53; Jer. 23:5, 6; Dan. 7:27; Hag. 2:9; Zech. 12:10–14; Mal. 3:1; 4:5, 6

Jewish Expectations for the Messiah

In the first century, the Jews looked for a Messiah who would deliver the nation from Roman domination, become their King, and rebuild the nation of Israel to its former glory. By looking for a military deliverer and a political Messiah, the Jews minimized the messianic roles of prophet and priest. These messianic expectations messianic roles of prophet and priest. Thus many Jews rejected Jesus as the Messiah because He came as a humble spiritual Savior and not a conquering political ruler.

The Messiah's Rule

Jesus indicated that He was the King for whom the Jews were looking. However, His kingdom was not an earthly kingdom but a heavenly kingdom. In Matthew there are 32 references to the "kingdom of heaven." This phrase, found in the New Testament only in Matthew's Gospel, is probably derived from the description of the kingdom of the Son of Man in Dan. 7:13–18. The phrase indicates the rule of heaven over all of the earth (Matt. 6:10).

Jesus' Claim

When asked specifically if He was the Christ, Jesus answered in the affirmative, incurring the wrath of the Jews (Matt. 26:63–65). In addition, Jesus praised Peter for recognizing Him as the Anointed One of God (Matt. 16:15–20).

Significance

The title Messiah implies the idea of deity. The great prophet Moses, the priest Melchizedek, and even the glorious King David pale in comparison to the messianic Prophet-Priest-King. In the words of Heb. 1, Jesus Christ is the "brightness of [God's] glory and the express image of His person" (v. 3). In short, He is God (v. 8).

Go to the List of Charts and Diagrams

26:64 Jesus answered the high priest's request (v. 63) in the affirmative and then fortified His answer by applying two clearly messianic passages to Himself: Ps. 110:1 and Dan. 7:13.

26:65 Jesus' claim of sitting at the right hand of God (v. 64) was an assertion of deity and was, to this unbelieving high priest, a clear case of blasphemy.

26:74 swear: Peter swore under oath that he did not know Jesus. immediately a rooster crowed: Some have detected a contradiction between this passage, where the rooster is said to crow (presumably once) after Peter denies Jesus three times, and the statement in Mark's Gospel that the rooster would crow two times (see Mark 14:72). Others believe that to see a contradiction is simply a forced reading of the text. Matthew, Luke, and John make the simple statement that a rooster would crow (Luke 22:61; John 18:27) whereas Mark, which was based on Peter's memories, emphasizes the exact number of times the rooster would crow. The number of times would be sharp in Peter's memory and interest. The other Gospel writers were concerned only with the sign in general.

26:75 He went out and wept bitterly indicates Peter's genuine repentance. In His grace, the Lord later forgave Peter.

27:1 This was the third Jewish trial. The first two were illegal because they were held at night. This third meeting was held when morning came and was simply a "rubber stamp" of the one described in 26:57–68.

27:2 Pontius Pilate was governor of Judea, Samaria, and Idumea from A.D. 26–36. Because the Jews did not have authority to execute Jesus (see John 18:31), they brought Him to Pilate.

27:3 Judas felt remorse because he had not planned for this to happen; he may have betrayed Jesus in order to force Him to take action against His enemies and inaugurate His kingdom. But that was not God's timing and plan.

27:5 Acts 1:18 says that the death of Judas was due to a headlong fall. The likely explanation is that Judas hanged himself on a tree, only to have the rope or branch break. If the tree was over a rocky precipice, the account in Acts can be correlated with this account.

27:6 The religious leaders, who had no problem condemning an innocent person to death, suddenly became very scrupulous about the Law. Because of Deut. 23:18, it was felt that blood money should not be used for religious purposes.

27:7 Originally this plot of ground was known as the potter's field, a place where potters dug for clay. Consequently, it was full of holes, which would have made it easy to bury people who had no family tombs. It was purchased as a cemetery for strangers who died in Jerusalem. It is likely Gentiles were also buried there.

27:9, 10 This prophecy is found in Zech. 11:12, 13; however, Matthew states that the prophecy was made by Jeremiah. The best solution to the problem seems to be that the prophecy was spoken by Jeremiah and recorded by Zechariah. A second option is that the name Jeremiah stands for the collection of prophetic writings in which Zechariah is found. It may also be that in the days of Christ, the Book of Jeremiah headed the books of the prophets. The quotation is then identified with the name of the first book in the section and not the name of the specific book within the group.

27:11 The title King of the Jews has not been used in Matthew's Gospel since 2:2. Clearly Pilate's charge against the Lord Jesus was prompted by Jewish religious leaders.

27:16–18 Barabbas was notorious because he was an insurrectionist and a murderer (see Mark 15:7; Luke 23:19, 25). Evidently Pilate assumed the Jews would choose Jesus to be released over a murderer like Barabbas. Jesus had only gone about doing good.

27:19 Only Matthew records this incident concerning Pilate's wife. It highlights Pilate's sense of responsibility; he did not want to condemn an innocent man.

27:24 The religious authorities, who wanted to avoid a riot earlier, here used a tumult (the same Greek noun as in 26:5) to accomplish their goal. The tenure of Pilate had been rocked by conflicts with the Jews from the very beginning. He could scarcely have afforded another one on his record. Once again, Pilate pronounced Jesus to be innocent. The washing of his hands is recorded only by Matthew. The governor vainly attempted to rid himself of the guilt of condemning an innocent man to death (see Deut. 21:1–9; Ps. 73:13).

27:25 His blood be on us and on our children: The destruction of Jerusalem was one of the results of this sin (23:32–39).

27:26 when he had scourged Jesus: Scourging was a life-threatening punishment. Evidently this was an attempt by Pilate to punish Jesus so severely that the people would have pity and say, "It is enough; release Him" (see John 19:4, 5). However, the mob cried out for Jesus to be crucified (John 19:6).

27:27 The Praetorium was the official residence of the governor when he was in Jerusalem. It was originally built as a palace for Herod the Great.

27:28–30 The soldiers mocked Jesus for claiming to be a king. Note the references to the robe, the crown, the scepter (reed), and the praise.

27:31 crucified: Crucifixion, a practice probably adopted from Persia, was considered by the Romans to be the cruelest form of execution. This punishment was reserved for the worst criminals; Roman citizens were not crucified. The victim usually died after two or three days of agonizing suffering, enduring thirst, exhaustion, and exposure. The victim's arms were nailed to a beam, which was hoisted up and fixed to a post, to which the feet of the victim would be nailed. The body weight was supported by a peg on which the victim sat.

27:32 Compelled, the same verb used in 5:41, refers to the Roman government's right of impressment, the right of the Roman army to demand labor from a person. The scourging undoubtedly left Jesus weak and unable to carry His cross, so a Roman guard ordered Simon to carry it. Simon must have been (or later became) a Christian; it is unlikely that he would be referred to by name if he were a stranger to the Christian community. This Simon was the father of Alexander and Rufus (see Mark 15:21). Cyrene, located in North Africa, was home to a large number of Jews (see Acts 6:9).

27:33 The reason the site was called Place of a Skull is not known for certain; possibly the hill or mound looked something like a skull.

27:34 Sour wine mingled with gall would have dulled Jesus' pain and consciousness. Jesus refused it; He wanted to drink His cup of suffering fully aware of all that was happening (see Ps. 69:21).

27:35 The executioners had the privilege of taking the victim's clothes. In casting lots for Jesus' garments, the soldiers fulfilled Ps. 22:18.

27:36 Perhaps the soldiers kept watch to prevent anyone from trying to rescue Jesus from the Cross.

27:37 Putting the Gospel accounts together, the accusation probably read "This is Jesus of Nazareth, the King of the Jews" (see Mark 15:26; Luke 23:38; John 19:19).

27:38 two robbers were crucified with Him: This is in fulfillment of Is. 53:12, "He was numbered with the transgressors." Luke recorded that one of these robbers believed and was promised that he would join Jesus in paradise that very day (Luke 23:39–43).

27:39 Psalm 22:7 predicted the insults that would be directed at the Messiah.

27:40 For a similar falsehood at Jesus' trial, see 26:61. Jesus' actual words were: "Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up" (John 2:19). In three days, Jesus rose from the dead, thereby fulfilling this prophecy.

27:41–43 Jesus would not come down from the Cross because He was the Son of God and the King of Israel (see John 10:18). He was obediently following God's plan for Him; His obedience would lead to His exaltation as King over all (Phil. 2:8–11). Compare the religious leaders' taunts with Ps. 22:8.

27:45 The sixth hour was noon. The darkness was not due to an eclipse of the sun, since the Passover occurred at full moon. This was a supernatural occurrence.

27:46 The physical darkness was a demonstration of the agony of the Lord's human soul. My God, My God, why have You forsaken Me: The duplication of "My God, My God" indicates Jesus' deep sorrow. The fact that Jesus spoke in Aramaic, the tongue of His birth, may be another sign of the extreme stress He was encountering. No human can understand the theological significance of this cry. It graphically parallels 2 Cor. 5:21. This was not a cry of defeat, however. Christ was quoting from Ps. 22 and may have been alluding to the great victory that the psalm describes.

27:48 Sour wine was the cheap wine used by soldiers and the lower class. Christ may have accepted this in order to give Himself enough moisture and strength to cry out again with a loud voice (v. 50).

27:50 The loud voice (v. 46) indicates that Jesus was still fairly strong when He yielded up His spirit. The cry referred to by Matthew was "It is finished" (see John 19:30). This was not a cry of exhaustion, but a cry of victory. The purpose for which Jesus came was fulfilled. Redemption for the sins of the world had been accomplished. Satan's judgment was a fact. The verb translated yielded means "dismissed." Even in dying the Lord demonstrated His royal authority.

27:51 the veil of the temple was torn in two from top to bottom: The temple had two veils or curtains—one in front of the Holy Place and the other separating the Holy Place from the Most Holy Place. It was the second of these that was torn, demonstrating that God had opened up access to Himself through His Son (see Heb. 6:19; 10:19–22). Only God could have torn the veil from the top.

27:52, 53 many bodies of the saints . . . were raised: Because the Lord Jesus is the firstborn from the dead (see Col. 1:18; Rev. 1:5) and the firstfruits of those who are asleep (see 1 Cor. 15:20, 23), these people could not have received their resurrection bodies. They probably were raised, as Lazarus was, to ordinary physical life. The fact that the people who were raised appeared to many in the holy city implies that they had been contemporaries of the people who saw them.

- 27:54 The centurion and those with him may have heard the exchanges between Pilate and Jesus (v. 11); they certainly witnessed the taunts recorded in vv. 40, 43. The supernatural signs convinced them that Jesus was indeed the Son of God. Significantly, this confession of faith came from a Gentile.
- 27:55, 56 Three women who were faithful to the Lord Jesus to the end are named: Mary Magdalene; Mary the mother of James and Joses, the wife of Clopas (see John 19:25); and the mother of James and John, wife of Zebedee, named Salome (see Mark 15:40).
- 27:57 Arimathea was about 20 miles northwest of Jerusalem. Mark 15:43 describes Joseph as “a prominent council member, who was himself waiting for the kingdom of God.” Luke 23:50 describes him as “a good and just man.” But Matthew describes him as rich, a fulfillment of Is. 53:9.
- 27:61 The two Marys are also mentioned in v. 56. These women were witnesses to the burial of Jesus.
- 27:62 The next day was the Sabbath. The chief priests were Sadducees. The Pharisees and the Sadducees’ common animosity toward Jesus united them.
- 27:63 The Sadducees and Pharisees described the Lord Jesus as that deceiver when, in reality, they were the deceivers (26:4) and hypocrites (23:13, 15, 23, 25, 27, 29).
- 27:64 For emphasis, the verb secure is used three times in vv. 64–66.
- 27:65 The noun translated guard is a Latin word, since the soldiers were Romans and not part of the temple guard.
- 27:66 To emphasize the impossibility of anyone stealing the body of Jesus, Matthew stressed that the tomb was sealed (see Dan. 6:17).
- 28:1–15 Although Matthew is brief in his discussion of the resurrection of Christ, he defends it very carefully. The Resurrection was attested by several witnesses, including an angel, various soldiers, and the women at the tomb (vv. 1–8). The tomb with Jesus’ body in it was sealed (27:66), but later the body was not found there (vv. 6, 8). The excuse of the soldiers was illogical (vv. 11–15). No Roman soldier would admit sleeping on the job, as the punishment for this was death. Finally, Jesus Himself appeared to many of His disciples, providing even more witnesses to His resurrection from the dead (vv. 16–20). Matthew presents the evidence for Jesus’ resurrection with precision because the doctrine is essential to the Christian faith. The Resurrection is a sign that Jesus is the Messiah, the Son of God (12:38, 39), and the Resurrection validates the Lord’s own prophecies of it (16:21; 17:22, 23; 20:17–19). In 1 Cor. 15:12–19, Paul emphasizes the importance of the Resurrection by listing a series of consequences if the doctrine is denied.
- 28:1 after the Sabbath: The Sabbath ended at sundown on Saturday. The events of this verse took place at dawn on Sunday morning. The two Marys are those identified in 27:56, 61.
- 28:2 An earthquake marked the death of the Lord Jesus (27:51); here it evidenced His resurrection. The tomb was not opened to permit Christ to come out, but to allow others in so they could see that it was empty.
- 28:3 Brilliance is a characteristic of heavenly beings (see 17:2; Dan. 7:9; 10:5, 6; Acts 1:10; Rev. 3:4, 5; 4:4; 6:11; 7:9, 13; 19:14).
- 28:6 He is risen, as He said: For Jesus’ predictions of His resurrection, see 12:40; 16:21; 17:9, 23; 26:32.
- 28:7 The Lord Jesus made post-resurrection appearances first in Jerusalem and Judea, then in Galilee, and then again in Jerusalem. Both ch. 28 and John 21 emphasize the appearances in Galilee. Christ’s command to “come, see” (v. 6) is followed here by go . . . tell. This is always the divine order: to tell others the Good News about our Lord.
- 28:10 Galilee was the appointed location for Jesus’ rendezvous with His disciples (v. 7; 26:32) and was also the setting of the Great Commission (vv. 18–20). Note that the Lord referred to His disciples as His brethren (see 12:48–50; Ps. 22:22; Heb. 2:11, 12).
- 28:11 The Roman guards reported to the chief priests because they had been assigned for duty to the religious authorities (27:65).

28:13 His disciples . . . stole Him away while we slept: Besides being a lie, this was a very weak explanation. If a guard was found sleeping at his post or if a prisoner escaped, the guard would be put to death (see Acts 12:19; 16:27, 28; 27:42). It may have been possible for one soldier to sleep, but it is highly improbable that all of them slept at the same time. Also, sleeping people do not make good witnesses: If they were asleep, how did they know what happened?

28:15 Until this day refers specifically to the time of the writing of Matthew's Gospel; however, this explanation is current even today.

28:16, 17 When the eleven disciples went away into Galilee they were probably accompanied by many more people. This may be the appearance to more than five hundred people mentioned by Paul in 1 Cor. 15:6. This may explain why some doubted; after all, the Eleven were confirmed believers in the resurrected Christ by this time (see John 20:19–28).

28:18 All authority has been given to Jesus, although He is not yet exercising all of it (see Phil. 2:9–11; Heb. 2:5–9; 10:12, 13; Rev. 3:21). He will manifest this power when He returns in all His glory (see 19:28; 1 Cor. 15:27, 28; Eph. 1:10). The word authority normally refers to delegated authority (as in 8:9; 9:6, 8; 10:1; 21:23, 24, 27). The Father would give this authority to the Son (Phil. 2:9–11). Here the Lord Jesus may have been recalling the prophecy recorded in Dan. 7:13, 14.

28:19, 20 Therefore shows that the Great Commission rests on the authority of Christ. Because He has authority over all, everyone needs to hear His gospel. While vv. 18–20 are commonly known as the Great Commission, they should not be thought of as the first call for world evangelism. See Gen. 12:1–3 for God's command that Abraham and his descendants should be a blessing to all nations. make disciples: Making disciples involves three steps: going, baptizing, and teaching. It was assumed that when a person trusted in the Lord Jesus, he or she would be baptized. The word name is singular, although it is the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit together. This verse is another indication that God is one in three Persons. I am with you always demonstrates that Jesus is the true Immanuel, "God with us" (see 1:23; Heb. 13:5, 6; Rev. 21:3).

Introduction

Mark's Gospel is unique. It is not a biography of Jesus, like Matthew or Luke, for it does not dwell on Jesus' family history or career. Instead, this Gospel is a record of Jesus' actions and achievements. It presents Jesus as a Savior-King, who conquers demons, disease, and death.

The emphasis on Jesus' mighty and miraculous works makes this Gospel action-packed, fresh, and vivid. Mark constantly uses the present tense to create the impression of an eyewitness account—the kind presented by an on-the-spot reporter. And just like a reporter, he speaks directly to the reader. He uses rhetorical questions that readers would likely ask themselves, such as, “Who can this be, that even the wind and the sea obey Him!” (M). Sometimes he even addresses his audience with Jesus' words, “And what I say to you, I say to all: Watch!” (13:37). Mark wants to transform believers with his report, not merely inform them.

Moreover, his eyewitness accounts provide considerable detail—the emotional responses of Jesus and others, the sizes and reactions of crowds, and the appearance of men and women. The account of the Gadarene demoniac is an example of Mark's attention to detail. He uses 20 verses to tell that story, while Luke uses 14 and Matthew writes a mere seven. Yet Mark's Gospel is the most concise of all of the Gospels, because he omits Jesus' longer discourses. In general, Mark presents the miracle-working Jesus, not the teaching Jesus.

Author The Gospel of Mark does not identify its author. However, numerous documents from the early church unanimously point to Mark as the author. Papias, bishop of Hierapolis (A.D. 140), claimed that Mark, as Peter's interpreter, wrote an accurate Gospel. The Roman Prologue to Mark, dating from A.D. 160–180, also named Mark as the author, and Irenaeus, in France around A.D. 180, claimed that Mark wrote down Peter's preaching. This is repeated by Tertullian and Clement of Alexandria, both in North Africa around A.D. 200.

Mark is mentioned ten times in the New Testament. His Jewish name was John (Acts 13:5, 13), but his Roman name was Mark (Acts 12:12, 25; 15:37). He lived in Jerusalem and was a cousin of Barnabas (Col. 4:10). He might have been the youth wearing a linen cloth at Jesus' arrest (14:51, 52), because only his Gospel mentions this incident, which occurred after all the disciples had already fled. The fact that Peter announced his miraculous jail escape at the home of Mary, Mark's widowed mother (Acts 12:12), indicates Mark had significant contact with Peter and the other leaders of the Jerusalem church.

In A.D. 46, Mark spent time with Barnabas and Saul in the Antioch Church before he accompanied them as a helper on the first missionary journey. His unexpected departure from that expedition, however, caused Paul to lose confidence in him (Acts 15:37–39). Yet Mark later continued his missionary activity with Barnabas on Cyprus.

By A.D. 60–62, Paul again had placed his confidence in Mark and had complimented him as a fellow worker (Col. 4:10, 11; Philem. 24). In addition to helping Paul and Barnabas, Mark assisted Peter in “Babylon” (1 Pet. 5:13). Finally, Paul asked Mark to come to Rome to assist him while he was confined (2 Tim. 4:11). These short, positive references to Mark in the New Testament indicate that he faithfully and successfully served God as a missionary and apostolic helper throughout the period.

Composition Peter was Mark’s primary informant. In fact, the outline of events in Mark’s Gospel follows precisely the outline of Peter’s sermon to Cornelius at Caesarea (Acts 10:34–43; compare Acts 13:23–33). Oral preaching at that time, such as Peter’s sermon, used established styles and rhetorical techniques to aid both instruction and recall; Mark’s Gospel reflects these oral styles. Furthermore, Justin Martyr, writing at about A.D. 150 in Rome, confirmed that Mark wrote down Peter’s recollection of events. He quoted Mark 3:17 as being in “the Memoirs of Peter.” In addition to recording Peter’s memories, Mark may have added his own memories and consulted other documents.

Most agree that Mark wrote his Gospel in Rome under Peter’s supervision. A second-century document, called the Prologue to Mark, states that the Gospel was composed in Italy. Furthermore, Irenaeus, writing about A.D. 180, specifically stated Rome. Since Mark was with Paul in Rome around A.D. 60–62 and may have returned around A.D. 65 at Paul’s request (2 Tim. 4:11), there is little reason to doubt this evidence.

Several important early sources, including the Anti-Marcionite Prologue and Irenaeus, stated that Mark composed his Gospel after Peter’s death. In fact, Irenaeus dated its composition after both Peter and Paul’s death around A.D. 67.

However Clement of Alexandria and Origen, writing a few years after Irenaeus, insisted that Peter was still alive during Mark’s writing of the book. Moreover, a later tradition, recorded by Eusebius about A.D. 340, stated that it was written earlier, during the reign of Claudius (A.D. 41–54). Finally, an inscription on later manuscripts dated Mark’s composition at an even earlier date around A.D. 39–42. These early dates, however, seem doubtful because (1) Mark probably would not have written the Gospel before his first failed missionary journey, (2) Peter most likely was not in Rome until after A.D. 60, and (3) Paul’s Epistle to the Romans (about A.D. 56–57) greets many believers, but mentions neither Mark nor Peter.

The most thoughtful estimate would place Mark’s work sometime after Peter’s death in A.D. 64 or 65, yet prior to A.D. 70, when Jerusalem was destroyed. In any event, the Gospel of Mark was penned within only three or four decades after the events it records.

Intended Readers Mark wrote for Gentile Christians, especially Romans. This conclusion is based on several facts: (1) Mark assumes some prior knowledge of the Christian faith on the part of his readers. John (the Baptist), baptism, and the Holy Spirit (1:4, 5, 8) are all mentioned without comment. (2) He does not assume a familiarity with Jewish Scripture. He directly quotes only one Old Testament passage (1:2, 3). (3) Furthermore, he regularly explains Jewish customs and geography (7:2–4; 13:3; 14:12). (4) Finally, Mark purposely omits Jesus’ prohibition of preaching to the Samaritans and Gentiles (6:7–11; compare Matt. 10:5, 6).

Mark’s Gentile readers faced persecution and martyrdom. He wrote his Gospel to strengthen and guide Roman believers through Nero’s terrible persecutions. First of all, his readers needed to know that Jesus had also suffered. But, they also needed to know that Jesus, after his suffering, had triumphed over both suffering and death. The suffering Jesus was also the Son of God (1:1, 11; 14:61; 15:39), the Son of Man (2:10; 8:31; 13:26), the Christ (Messiah) (8:29), and the Lord (1:3; 7:28). After the death of Peter and other eyewitnesses to Jesus’ life, this gospel message needed to be written down. Mark wrote the story down in order to verify these truths and to provide a way to pass them on to new generations of believers.

Content Mark introduces the main character of his action-packed narrative, Jesus, in 13 quick verses. He weaves in this introduction both expectation (“Prepare the way of the LORD,” 1:3) and conflict (Satan tempts Christ in v. 13). The large section that follows (1:14—8:30) heightens the conflict, as in a Greek tragedy. There are successes for Jesus, but there is also growing hostility. Triumph and conflict appear side by side. This long section culminates in Peter and the other disciples recognizing Jesus as the promised Messiah (8:29).

In the next section (8:31—15:47), Mark describes the final outcome for the Messiah—Jesus’ passion and death. First, Jesus announces His coming death to His disciples (8:31; 9:31; 10:33) and prepares them for it. Then, He journeys to Jerusalem and is tried and put to death. But in the epilogue (16:1–20), the purpose of His death becomes clear. The drama comes to a rousing conclusion as Christ rises from the dead and encourages His followers. This is the Gospel of Mark—the Good News of Jesus Christ.

Christ in the Scriptures

Mark leaves no doubt that he is documenting a unique account of a unique man. He's spotlighting the Son of Man who came from heaven to serve, not to be served, and to give His life as a ransom (10:45). So in Mark we see Jesus the obedient Servant of God actively and compassionately coming alongside hurting people. But it's not just the physical hurts that haunt Him. Jesus is moved by the spiritual disease He sees all around Him.

If Mark's intent is to present Jesus as a humble Servant, there is no need for an impressive family tree (like Matthew and Luke include). That is why the author begins with Jesus' public ministry. Mark's frequent use of the word "immediately" (used more in this compact book than all the rest of the New Testament) reminds us that Jesus is continually on the move. Even though He knows He has a limited time to fulfill the purpose for which He came to earth, others don't. What they do come to understand is that Jesus viewed Himself as the Son of God. Mark attests to that frequently (see 1:1, 11; 3:1; 5:7; 9:7; 13:32; 14:61; 15:39).

Mark 1

John the Baptist Prepares the Way

(Matt. 3:1–12; Luke 3:1–20; John 1:19–28) ¹The ^abeginning of the gospel of Jesus Christ, ^bthe Son of God.

²As it is written in ¹the Prophets:

^c*“Behold, I send My messenger before Your face, Who will prepare Your way before You.”*

³*“The^d voice of one crying in the wilderness: ‘Prepare the way of the LORD; Make His paths straight.’ ”*

^{4e}John came baptizing in the wilderness and preaching a baptism of repentance ²for the remission of sins. Word Studies: repentance

^{5f}Then all the land of Judea, and those from Jerusalem, went out to him and were all baptized by him in the Jordan River, confessing their sins.

⁶Now John was ^gclothed with camel’s hair and with a leather belt around his waist, and he ate locusts and wild honey.

⁷And he preached, saying, ^h“There comes One after me who is mightier than I, whose sandal strap I am not worthy to stoop down and loose.

⁸ⁱ“I indeed baptized you with water, but He will baptize you ^jwith the Holy Spirit.”

John Baptizes Jesus

(Matt. 3:13–17; Luke 3:21, 22; John 1:29–34) ^{9k}It came to pass in those days that Jesus came from Nazareth of Galilee, and was baptized by John in the Jordan. Charts and Diagrams: Baptism in the Bible

^{10l}And immediately, coming up ³from the water, He saw the heavens ⁴parting and the Spirit ^mdescending upon Him like a dove.

¹¹Then a voice came from heaven, ⁿ“You are My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.”

Satan Tempts Jesus

(Matt. 4:1–11; Luke 4:1–13) ^{12o}Immediately the Spirit ⁵drove Him into the wilderness.

¹³And He was there in the wilderness forty days, tempted by Satan, and was with the wild beasts; ^pand the angels ministered to Him.

Jesus Begins His Galilean Ministry

(Matt. 4:12–17; Luke 4:14, 15) ¹⁴*q*Now after John was put in prison, Jesus came to Galilee, ^rpreaching the gospel ⁶of the kingdom of God, ¹⁵and saying, ^s“The time is fulfilled, and ^tthe kingdom of God ⁷is at hand. Repent, and believe in the gospel.”

Four Fishermen Called as Disciples

(Matt. 4:18–22; Luke 5:1–11) ^{16u}And as He walked by the Sea of Galilee, He saw Simon and Andrew his brother casting a net into the sea; for they were fishermen.

¹⁷Then Jesus said to them, “Follow Me, and I will make you become ^vfishers of men.”

^{18w}They immediately left their nets and followed Him.

¹⁹When He had gone a little farther from there, He saw James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, who also were in the boat mending their nets.

²⁰And immediately He called them, and they left their father Zebedee in the boat with the hired servants, and went after Him.

Jesus Casts Out an Unclean Spirit

(Luke 4:31–37)

^{21x}Then they went into Capernaum, and immediately on the Sabbath He entered the ^ysynagogue and taught.

^{22z}And they were astonished at His teaching, for He taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes.

²³Now there was a man in their synagogue with an ^aunclean spirit. And he cried out, ²⁴saying, “Let us alone! ^bWhat have we to do with You, Jesus of Nazareth? Did You come to destroy us? I ^cknow who You are—the ^dHoly One of God!”

²⁵But Jesus ^erebuked him, saying, ⁸“Be quiet, and come out of him!”

²⁶And when the unclean spirit ^fhad convulsed him and cried out with a loud voice, he came out of him.

²⁷Then they were all amazed, so that they questioned among themselves, saying, ⁹“What is this? What new ¹⁰doctrine is this? For with authority He commands even the unclean spirits, and they obey Him.”

²⁸And immediately His ^gfame spread throughout all the region around Galilee.

Peter’s Mother-in-Law Healed

(Matt. 8:14, 15; Luke 4:38, 39) ^{29h}Now as soon as they had come out of the synagogue, they entered the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and John.

³⁰But Simon’s wife’s mother lay sick with a fever, and they told Him about her at once.

³¹So He came and took her by the hand and lifted her up, and immediately the fever left her. And she served them.

Many Healed After Sabbath Sunset

(Matt. 8:16, 17; Luke 4:40, 41) ³²ⁱAt evening, when the sun had set, they brought to Him all who were sick and those who were demon-possessed.

³³And the whole city was gathered together at the door.

³⁴Then He healed many who were sick with various diseases, and ^jcast out many demons; and He ^kdid not allow the demons to speak, because they knew Him.

Preaching in Galilee

(Matt. 4:23–25; Luke 4:42–44) ³⁵Now ^lin the morning, having risen a long while before daylight, He went out and departed to a ¹¹solitary place; and there He ^mprayed.

³⁶And Simon and those who were with Him searched for Him.

³⁷When they found Him, they said to Him, ⁿ“Everyone ^ois looking for You.”

³⁸But He said to them, ^p“Let us go into the next towns, that I may preach there also, because ^qfor this purpose I have come forth.”

³⁹^rAnd He was preaching in their synagogues throughout all Galilee, and ^scasting out demons.

Jesus Cleanses a Leper

(Matt. 8:1–4; Luke 5:12–16) ^{40t}Now a leper came to Him, imploring Him, kneeling down to Him and saying to Him, “If You are willing, You can make me clean.”

⁴¹Then Jesus, moved with ^ucompassion, stretched out His hand and touched him, and said to him, “I am willing; be cleansed.”

⁴²As soon as He had spoken, ^vimmediately the leprosy left him, and he was cleansed.

⁴³And He strictly warned him and sent him away at once,

⁴⁴and said to him, “See that you say nothing to anyone; but go your way, show yourself to the priest, and offer for your cleansing those things ^wwhich Moses commanded, as a testimony to them.”

^{45x}However, he went out and began to proclaim it freely, and to spread the matter, so that Jesus could no longer openly enter the city, but was outside in deserted places; ^yand they came to Him from every direction.

Mark 2

Jesus Forgives and Heals a Paralytic

(Matt. 9:2–8; Luke 5:17–26) ¹And again ^aHe entered Capernaum after some days, and it was heard that He was in the house.

²¹Immediately many gathered together, so that there was no longer room to receive them, not even near the door. And He preached the word to them.

³Then they came to Him, bringing a ^bparalytic who was carried by four men.

⁴And when they could not come near Him because of the crowd, they uncovered the roof where He was. So when they had broken through, they let down the bed on which the paralytic was lying.

⁵When Jesus saw their faith, He said to the paralytic, “Son, your sins are forgiven you.”

⁶And some of the scribes were sitting there and reasoning in their hearts, ⁷“Why does this Man speak blasphemies like this? ^cWho can forgive sins but God alone?”

⁸But immediately, when Jesus perceived in His spirit that they reasoned thus within themselves, He said to them, “Why do you reason about these things in your hearts?

⁹^d“Which is easier, to say to the paralytic, ‘Your sins are forgiven you,’ or to say, ‘Arise, take up your bed and walk’?

¹⁰“But that you may know that the Son of Man has ²power on earth to forgive sins”—He said to the paralytic, ¹¹“I say to you, arise, take up your bed, and go to your house.”

¹²Immediately he arose, took up the bed, and went out in the presence of them all, so that all were amazed and ^eglorified God, saying, “We never saw anything like this!”

Matthew the Tax Collector

(Matt. 9:9–13; Luke 5:27–32) ^{13f}Then He went out again by the sea; and all the multitude came to Him, and He taught them.

^{14g}As He passed by, He saw Levi the son of Alphaeus sitting at the tax office. And He said to him, ^h“Follow Me.” So he arose and ⁱfollowed Him.

^{15j}Now it happened, as He was dining in Levi’s house, that many tax collectors and sinners also sat together with Jesus and His disciples; for there were many, and they followed Him.

¹⁶And when the scribes ³and Pharisees saw Him eating with the tax collectors and sinners, they said to His disciples, “How is it that He eats and drinks with tax collectors and sinners?”

¹⁷When Jesus heard it, He said to them, ^k“Those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick. I did not come to call the righteous, but sinners, ⁴to repentance.”

Jesus Is Questioned About Fasting

(Matt. 9:14–17; Luke 5:33–39) ¹⁸*l*The disciples of John and of the Pharisees were fasting. Then they came and said to Him, “Why do the disciples of John and of the Pharisees fast, but Your disciples do not fast?”

¹⁹And Jesus said to them, “Can the ⁵friends of the bridegroom fast while the bridegroom is with them? As long as they have the bridegroom with them they cannot fast.

²⁰“But the days will come when the bridegroom will be ^mtaken away from them, and then they will fast in those days.

²¹“No one sews a piece of unshrunk cloth on an old garment; or else the new piece pulls away from the old, and the tear is made worse.

²²“And no one puts new wine into old wineskins; or else the new wine bursts the wineskins, the wine is spilled, and the wineskins are ruined. But new wine must be put into new wineskins.”

Jesus Is Lord of the Sabbath

(Matt. 12:1–8; Luke 6:1–5) ²³*n*Now it happened that He went through the grainfields on the Sabbath; and as they went His disciples began ^oto pluck the heads of grain.

²⁴And the Pharisees said to Him, “Look, why do they do what is ^pnot lawful on the Sabbath?”

²⁵But He said to them, “Have you never read ^qwhat David did when he was in need and hungry, he and those with him: ²⁶“how he went into the house of God in the days of Abiathar the high priest, and ate the showbread, ^rwhich is not lawful to eat except for the priests, and also gave some to those who were with him?”

²⁷And He said to them, “The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the ^sSabbath.

²⁸“Therefore ^tthe Son of Man is also Lord of the Sabbath.”

Mark 3

Healing on the Sabbath

(Matt. 12:9–14; Luke 6:6–11) ¹And ^aHe entered the synagogue again, and a man was there who had a withered hand.

²So they ^bwatched Him closely, whether He would ^cheal him on the Sabbath, so that they might ¹accuse Him.

³And He said to the man who had the withered hand, ²“Step forward.”

⁴Then He said to them, “Is it lawful on the Sabbath to do good or to do evil, to save life or to kill?” But they kept silent.

⁵And when He had looked around at them with anger, being grieved by the ^dhardness of their hearts, He said to the man, “Stretch out your hand.” And he stretched it out, and his hand was restored ³as whole as the other.

^{6e}Then the Pharisees went out and immediately plotted with ^fthe Herodians against Him, how they might destroy Him.

A Great Multitude Follows Jesus

(Matt. 12:15–21)

⁷But Jesus withdrew with His disciples to the sea. And a great multitude from Galilee followed Him, ^gand from Judea ⁸and Jerusalem and Idumea and beyond the Jordan; and those from Tyre and Sidon, a great multitude, when they heard how ^hmany things He was doing, came to Him. In-Text Map: Jerusalem During the Ministry of Jesus

⁹So He told His disciples that a small boat should be kept ready for Him because of the multitude, lest they should crush Him.

¹⁰For He healed ⁱmany, so that as many as had afflictions pressed about Him to ^jtouch Him.

^{11k}And the unclean spirits, whenever they saw Him, fell down before Him and cried out, saying, ^l“You are the Son of God.”

¹²But ^mHe sternly warned them that they should not make Him known.

The Twelve Apostles

(Matt. 10:1–4; Luke 6:12–16) ¹³ⁿAnd He went up on the mountain and called to Him those He Himself wanted. And they came to Him.

¹⁴Then He appointed twelve, ⁴that they might be with Him and that He might send them out to preach, ¹⁵and to have ⁵power ⁶to heal sicknesses and to cast out demons: ¹⁶⁷Simon, ^oto whom He gave the name Peter; Charts and Diagrams: The Twelve Apostles

¹⁷James the son of Zebedee and John the brother of James, to whom He gave the name Boanerges, that is, “Sons of Thunder”; ¹⁸Andrew, Philip, Bartholomew, Matthew, Thomas, James the son of Alphaeus, Thaddaeus, Simon the Cananite; ¹⁹and Judas Iscariot, who also betrayed Him. And they went into a house.

A House Divided Cannot Stand

(Matt. 12:22–30; Luke 11:14–23)²⁰ Then the multitude came together again,^p so that they could not so much as eat bread.

²¹ But when His^q own people heard about this, they went out to lay hold of Him,^r for they said, “He is out of His mind.”

²² And the scribes who came down from Jerusalem said,^s “He has Beelzebub,” and, “By the^t ruler of the demons He casts out demons.”

^{23u} So He called them to Himself and said to them in parables: “How can Satan cast out Satan?

²⁴ “If a kingdom is divided against itself, that kingdom cannot stand.

²⁵ “And if a house is divided against itself, that house cannot stand.

²⁶ “And if Satan has risen up against himself, and is divided, he cannot stand, but has an end.

^{27v} “No one can enter a strong man’s house and plunder his goods, unless he first binds the strong man. And then he will plunder his house.

The Unpardonable Sin

(Matt. 12:31, 32; Luke 12:10) ^{28w}“Assuredly, I say to you, all sins will be forgiven the sons of men, and whatever blasphemies they may utter; ²⁹“but he who blasphemes against the Holy Spirit never has forgiveness, but is subject to eternal condemnation”—³⁰because they ^xsaid, “He has an unclean spirit.”

Jesus’ Mother and Brothers Send for Him

(Matt. 12:46–50; Luke 8:19–21) ^{31y}Then His brothers and His mother came, and standing outside they sent to Him, calling Him.

³²And a multitude was sitting around Him; and they said to Him, “Look, Your mother and Your brothers ⁸are outside seeking You.”

³³But He answered them, saying, “Who is My mother, or My brothers?”

³⁴And He looked around in a circle at those who sat about Him, and said, “Here are My mother and My brothers!

³⁵“For whoever does the ^zwill of God is My brother and My sister and mother.”

Mark 4

The Parable of the Sower

(Matt. 13:1–9; Luke 8:4–8) ¹And ^aagain He began to teach by the sea. And a great multitude was gathered to Him, so that He got into a boat and sat in it on the sea; and the whole multitude was on the land facing the sea.

²Then He taught them many things by parables, ^band said to them in His teaching: ³“Listen! Behold, a sower went out to sow.

⁴“And it happened, as he sowed, that some seed fell by the wayside; and the birds ¹of the air came and devoured it.

⁵“Some fell on stony ground, where it did not have much earth; and immediately it sprang up because it had no depth of earth.

⁶“But when the sun was up it was scorched, and because it had no root it withered away.

⁷“And some seed fell among thorns; and the thorns grew up and choked it, and it yielded no ²crop.

⁸“But other seed fell on good ground and yielded a crop that sprang up, increased and produced: some thirtyfold, some sixty, and some a hundred.”

⁹And He said ³to them, “He who has ears to hear, let him hear!”

The Purpose of Parables

(Matt. 13:10–17; Luke 8:9, 10) ^{10c}But when He was alone, those around Him with the twelve asked Him about the parable.

¹¹And He said to them, “To you it has been given to ^dknow the ⁴mystery of the kingdom of God; but to ^ethose who are outside, all things come in parables, ¹²“so that

^f*“Seeing they may see and not perceive, And hearing they may hear and not understand;
Lest they should turn,
And their sins be forgiven them.’ ”*

The Parable of the Sower Explained

(Matt. 13:18–23; Luke 8:11–15) ¹³And He said to them, “Do you not understand this parable? How then will you understand all the parables?”

^{14g}“The sower sows the word.

¹⁵“And these are the ones by the wayside where the word is sown. When they hear, Satan comes immediately and takes away the word that was sown in their hearts.

¹⁶“These likewise are the ones sown on stony ground who, when they hear the word, immediately receive it with gladness; ¹⁷“and they have no root in themselves, and so endure only for a time. Afterward, when tribulation or persecution arises for the word’s sake, immediately they stumble.

¹⁸“Now these are the ones sown among thorns; they are the ones who hear the word, ¹⁹“and the ^hcares of this world, ⁱthe deceitfulness of riches, and the desires for other things entering in choke the word, and it becomes unfruitful.

²⁰“But these are the ones sown on good ground, those who hear the word, ⁵accept it, and bear ^jfruit: some thirtyfold, some sixty, and some a hundred.”

Light Under a Basket

(Luke 8:16–18)

²¹_kAlso He said to them, “Is a lamp brought to be put under a basket or under a bed? Is it not to be set on a lampstand?”

²²“For there is nothing hidden which will not be revealed, nor has anything been kept secret but that it should come to light.

²³_m“If anyone has ears to hear, let him hear.”

²⁴Then He said to them, “Take heed what you hear. ⁿWith the same measure you use, it will be measured to you; and to you who hear, more will be given.

²⁵_o“For whoever has, to him more will be given; but whoever does not have, even what he has will be taken away from him.”

The Parable of the Growing Seed

²⁶And He said, ^p“The kingdom of God is as if a man should ⁶scatter seed on the ground, ²⁷“and should sleep by night and rise by day, and the seed should sprout and ^qgrow, he himself does not know how.

²⁸“For the earth ^ryields crops by itself: first the blade, then the head, after that the full grain in the head.

²⁹“But when the grain ripens, immediately ^she puts in the sickle, because the harvest has come.”

The Parable of the Mustard Seed

(Matt. 13:31, 32; Luke 13:18, 19) ³⁰Then He said, ^t“To what shall we liken the kingdom of God? Or with what parable shall we picture it? Article: Parables: More than Stories

³¹“It is like a mustard seed which, when it is sown on the ground, is smaller than all the seeds on earth; ³²“but when it is sown, it grows up and becomes greater than all herbs, and shoots out large branches, so that the birds of the air may nest under its shade.”

Jesus’ Use of Parables

³³_uAnd with many such parables He spoke the word to them as they were able to hear it.

³⁴But without a parable He did not speak to them. And when they were alone, ^vHe explained all things to His disciples.

Wind and Wave Obey Jesus

(Matt. 8:23–27; Luke 8:22–25) ^{35w}On the same day, when evening had come, He said to them, “Let us cross over to the other side.”

³⁶Now when they had left the multitude, they took Him along in the boat as He was. And other little boats were also with Him.

³⁷And a great windstorm arose, and the waves beat into the boat, so that it was already filling.

³⁸But He was in the stern, asleep on a pillow. And they awoke Him and said to Him, ^x“Teacher, ^ydo You not care that we are perishing?”

³⁹Then He arose and ^zrebuked the wind, and said to the sea, ^a“Peace,⁷ be still!” And the wind ceased and there was a great calm.

⁴⁰But He said to them, “Why are you so fearful? ^bHow⁸ is it that you have no faith?”

⁴¹And they feared exceedingly, and said to one another, “Who can this be, that even the wind and the sea obey Him!”

Mark 5

A Demon-Possessed Man Healed

(Matt. 8:28–9:1; Luke 8:26–39) ¹Then ^athey came to the other side of the sea, to the country of the ¹Gadarenes.

²And when He had come out of the boat, immediately there met Him out of the tombs a man with an ^bunclean spirit, ³who had his dwelling among the tombs; and no one could bind ²him, not even with chains, ⁴because he had often been bound with shackles and chains. And the chains had been pulled apart by him, and the shackles broken in pieces; neither could anyone tame him.

⁵And always, night and day, he was in the mountains and in the tombs, crying out and cutting himself with stones.

⁶When he saw Jesus from afar, he ran and worshiped Him.

⁷And he cried out with a loud voice and said, “What have I to do with You, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? I ^cimplore³ You by God that You do not torment me.”

⁸For He said to him, ^d“Come out of the man, unclean spirit!”

⁹Then He asked him, “What is your name?” And he answered, saying, “My name is Legion; for we are many.”

¹⁰Also he begged Him earnestly that He would not send them out of the country.

¹¹Now a large herd of ^eswine was feeding there near the mountains.

¹²So all the demons begged Him, saying, “Send us to the swine, that we may enter them.”

¹³And ⁴at once Jesus gave them permission. Then the unclean spirits went out and entered the swine (there were about two thousand); and the herd ran violently down the steep place into the sea, and drowned in the sea.

¹⁴So those who fed the swine fled, and they told it in the city and in the country. And they went out to see what it was that had happened.

¹⁵Then they came to Jesus, and saw the one who had been ^fdemon-possessed and had the legion, ^gsitting and ^hclothed and in his right mind. And they were afraid.

¹⁶And those who saw it told them how it happened to him who had been demon-possessed, and about the swine.

¹⁷Then ⁱthey began to plead with Him to depart from their region.

¹⁸And when He got into the boat, ^jhe who had been demon-possessed begged Him that he might be with Him.

¹⁹However, Jesus did not permit him, but said to him, “Go home to your friends, and tell them what great things the Lord has done for you, and how He has had compassion on you.”

²⁰And he departed and began to ^kproclaim in ⁵Decapolis all that Jesus had done for him; and all ^lmarveled.

A Girl Restored to Life and a Woman Healed

(Matt. 9:18–26; Luke 8:40–56) ^{21m}Now when Jesus had crossed over again by boat to the other side, a great multitude gathered to Him; and He was by the sea. Charts and Diagrams: Jesus' Miracles in Mark

²²ⁿAnd behold, one of the rulers of the synagogue came, Jairus by name. And when he saw Him, he fell at His feet ²³and begged Him earnestly, saying, “My little daughter lies at the point of death. Come and ^olay Your hands on her, that she may be healed, and she will live.”

²⁴So Jesus went with him, and a great multitude followed Him and thronged Him.

²⁵Now a certain woman ^phad a flow of blood for twelve years, ²⁶and had suffered many things from many physicians. She had spent all that she had and was no better, but rather grew worse.

²⁷When she heard about Jesus, she came behind Him in the crowd and ^qtouch His garment.

²⁸For she said, “If only I may touch His clothes, I shall be made well.”

²⁹Immediately the fountain of her blood was dried up, and she felt in her body that she was healed of the ⁶affliction.

³⁰And Jesus, immediately knowing in Himself that ^rpower had gone out of Him, turned around in the crowd and said, “Who touched My clothes?”

³¹But His disciples said to Him, “You see the multitude thronging You, and You say, ‘Who touched Me?’ ”

³²And He looked around to see her who had done this thing.

³³But the woman, ^sfearing and trembling, knowing what had happened to her, came and fell down before Him and told Him the whole truth.

³⁴And He said to her, “Daughter, ^tyour faith has made you well. ^uGo in peace, and be healed of your affliction.” Word Studies: faith

³⁵^vWhile He was still speaking, some came from the ruler of the synagogue's house who said, "Your daughter is dead. Why trouble the Teacher any further?"

³⁶As soon as Jesus heard the word that was spoken, He said to the ruler of the synagogue, "Do not be afraid; only ^wbelieve."

³⁷And He permitted no one to follow Him except Peter, James, and John the brother of James.

³⁸Then He came to the house of the ruler of the synagogue, and saw ⁷a tumult and those who ^xwept and wailed loudly.

³⁹When He came in, He said to them, "Why make this commotion and weep? The child is not dead, but ^ysleeping."

⁴⁰And they ridiculed Him. ^zBut when He had put them all outside, He took the father and the mother of the child, and those who were with Him, and entered where the child was lying.

⁴¹Then He took the child by the hand, and said to her, "Talitha, cumi," which is translated, "Little girl, I say to you, arise."

⁴²Immediately the girl arose and walked, for she was twelve years of age. And they were ^aovercome with great amazement.

⁴³But ^bHe commanded them strictly that no one should know it, and said that something should be given her to eat.

Mark 6

Jesus Rejected at Nazareth

(Matt. 13:53–58; Luke 4:16–30) ¹Then ^aHe went out from there and came to His own country, and His disciples followed Him.

²And when the Sabbath had come, He began to teach in the synagogue. And many hearing Him were ^bastonished, saying, ^c“Where did this Man get these things? And what wisdom is this which is given to Him, that such mighty works are performed by His hands!

³“Is this not the carpenter, the Son of Mary, and ^dbrother of James, Joses, Judas, and Simon? And are not His sisters here with us?” So they ^ewere offended at Him.

⁴But Jesus said to them, ^f“A prophet is not without honor except in his own country, among his own relatives, and in his own house.”

^{5g}Now He could do no mighty work there, except that He laid His hands on a few sick people and healed them.

⁶And ^hHe marveled because of their unbelief. ⁱThen He went about the villages in a circuit, teaching.

Sending Out the Twelve

(Matt. 10:1, 5–15; Luke 9:1–6) ^{7j}And He called the twelve to Himself, and began to send them out ^ktwo by two, and gave them power over unclean spirits.

⁸He commanded them to take nothing for the journey except a staff—no bag, no bread, no copper in their money belts—⁹but ^lto wear sandals, and not to put on two tunics. Bible Times & Culture Notes: Sandals

^{10m}Also He said to them, “In whatever place you enter a house, stay there till you depart from that place.

¹¹ⁿ“And ¹whoever will not receive you nor hear you, when you depart from there, ^oshake off the dust under your feet as a testimony against them. ²Assuredly, I say to you, it will be more tolerable for Sodom and Gomorrah in the day of judgment than for that city!”

¹²So they went out and preached that people should repent.

¹³And they cast out many demons, ^pand anointed with oil many who were sick, and healed them.

John the Baptist Beheaded

(Matt. 14:1–12; Luke 9:7–9) ^{14q}Now King Herod heard of Him, for His name had become well known. And he said, “John the Baptist is risen from the dead, and therefore ^rthese powers are at work in him.”

^{15s}Others said, “It is Elijah.” And others said, “It is ³the Prophet, ^tor like one of the prophets.”

^{16u}But when Herod heard, he said, “This is John, whom I beheaded; he has been raised from the dead!”

¹⁷For Herod himself had sent and laid hold of John, and bound him in prison for the sake of Herodias, his brother Philip’s wife; for he had married her.

¹⁸Because John had said to Herod, ^v“It is not lawful for you to have your brother’s wife.”

¹⁹Therefore Herodias ⁴held it against him and wanted to kill him, but she could not; ²⁰for Herod ^wfeared John, knowing that he was a just and holy man, and he protected him. And when he heard him, he ⁵did many things, and heard him gladly.

^{21x}Then an opportune day came when Herod ^yon his birthday gave a feast for his nobles, the high officers, and the chief men of Galilee.

²²And when Herodias’ daughter herself came in and danced, and pleased Herod and those who sat with him, the king said to the girl, “Ask me whatever you want, and I will give it to you.”

²³He also swore to her, ^z“Whatever you ask me, I will give you, up to half my kingdom.”

²⁴So she went out and said to her mother, “What shall I ask?” And she said, “The head of John the Baptist!”

²⁵Immediately she came in with haste to the king and asked, saying, “I want you to give me at once the head of John the Baptist on a platter.”

^{26a}And the king was exceedingly sorry; yet, because of the oaths and because of those who sat with him, he did not want to refuse her.

²⁷Immediately the king sent an executioner and commanded his head to be brought. And he went and beheaded him in prison, ²⁸brought his head on a platter, and gave it to the girl; and the girl gave it to her mother.

²⁹When his disciples heard of it, they came and ^btook away his corpse and laid it in a tomb.

Feeding the Five Thousand

(Matt. 14:13–21; Luke 9:10–17; John 6:1–14) ^{30c}Then the apostles gathered to Jesus and told Him all things, both what they had done and what they had taught.

^{31d}And He said to them, “Come aside by yourselves to a deserted place and rest a while.” For ^ethere were many coming and going, and they did not even have time to eat.

^{32f}So they departed to a deserted place in the boat by themselves.

³³But ⁶the multitudes saw them departing, and many ⁸knew Him and ran there on foot from all the cities. They arrived before them and came together to Him.

^{34h}And Jesus, when He came out, saw a great multitude and was moved with compassion for them, because they were like ⁱsheep not having a shepherd. So ^jHe began to teach them many things.

^{35k}When the day was now far spent, His disciples came to Him and said, “This is a deserted place, and already the hour is late.

³⁶“Send them away, that they may go into the surrounding country and villages and buy themselves ⁷bread; for they have nothing to eat.”

³⁷But He answered and said to them, “You give them something to eat.” And they said to Him, ^l“Shall we go and buy two hundred denarii worth of bread and give them something to eat?”

³⁸But He said to them, “How many loaves do you have? Go and see.” And when they found out they said, ^m“Five, and two fish.”

³⁹Then He ⁿcommanded them to make them all sit down in groups on the green grass.

⁴⁰So they sat down in ranks, in hundreds and in fifties.

⁴¹And when He had taken the five loaves and the two fish, He ^olooked up to heaven, ^pblessed and broke the loaves, and gave them to His disciples to set before them; and the two fish He divided among them all.

⁴²So they all ate and were filled.

⁴³And they took up twelve baskets full of fragments and of the fish.

⁴⁴Now those who had eaten the loaves were ⁸about five thousand men.

Jesus Walks on the Sea

(Matt. 14:22–33; John 6:15–21) ^{45a}Immediately He ⁹made His disciples get into the boat and go before Him to the other side, to Bethsaida, while He sent the multitude away.

⁴⁶And when He had sent them away, He ^rdeparted to the mountain to pray.

⁴⁷Now when evening came, the boat was in the middle of the sea; and He was alone on the land.

⁴⁸Then He saw them straining at rowing, for the wind was against them. Now about the fourth watch of the night He came to them, walking on the sea, and ^swould have passed them by.

⁴⁹And when they saw Him walking on the sea, they supposed it was a ^tghost, and cried out; ⁵⁰for they all saw Him and were troubled. But immediately He talked with them and said to them, ^u“Be ¹⁰of good cheer! It is I; do not be ^vafraid.”

⁵¹Then He went up into the boat to them, and the wind ^wceased. And they were greatly ^xamazed in themselves beyond measure, and marveled.

⁵²For ^ythey had not understood about the loaves, because their ^zheart was hardened.

Many Touch Him and Are Made Well

(Matt. 14:34–36)

^{53a}When they had crossed over, they came to the land of Gennesaret and anchored there.

⁵⁴And when they came out of the boat, immediately ¹¹the people recognized Him, ⁵⁵ran through that whole surrounding region, and began to carry about on beds those who were sick to wherever they heard He was.

⁵⁶Wherever He entered, into villages, cities, or the country, they laid the sick in the marketplaces, and begged Him that ^bthey might just touch the ^chem of His garment. And as many as touched Him were made well.

Mark 7

Defilement Comes from Within

(Matt. 15:1–20)

¹Then ^athe Pharisees and some of the scribes came together to Him, having come from Jerusalem.

²Now ¹when they saw some of His disciples eat bread with defiled, that is, with ^bunwashed hands, ²they found fault.

³For the Pharisees and all the Jews do not eat unless they wash their hands ³in a special way, holding the ^ctradition of the elders.

⁴*When they come* from the marketplace, they do not eat unless they wash. And there are many other things which they have received and hold, like the washing of cups, pitchers, copper vessels, and couches.

^{5d}Then the Pharisees and scribes asked Him, “Why do Your disciples not walk according to the tradition of the elders, but eat bread with unwashed hands?”

⁶He answered and said to them, “Well did Isaiah prophesy of you ^ehypocrites, as it is written:

^f*‘This people honors Me with their lips, But their heart is far from Me.*

⁷*And in vain they worship Me,*

Teaching as doctrines the commandments of men.’

⁸“For laying aside the commandment of God, you hold the tradition of men —⁴the washing of pitchers and cups, and many other such things you do.”

⁹He said to them, “All too well ^gyou ⁵reject the commandment of God, that you may keep your tradition.

¹⁰“For Moses said, ^h*‘Honor your father and your mother’; and, ⁱ‘He who curses father or mother, let him be put to death.’*

¹¹“But you say, ‘If a man says to his father or mother, ^j“Whatever profit you might have received from me is Corban”—’ (that is, a gift to God),

¹²“then you no longer let him do anything for his father or his mother,

¹³“making the word of God of no effect through your tradition which you have handed down. And many such things you do.”

^{14k}When He had called all the multitude to Himself, He said to them, “Hear Me, everyone, and ^lunderstand: ¹⁵“There is nothing that enters a man from outside which can defile him; but the things which come out of him, those are the things that ^mdefile a man.

¹⁶ⁿ“If⁶ anyone has ears to hear, let him hear!”

^{17o}When He had entered a house away from the crowd, His disciples asked Him concerning the parable.

¹⁸So He said to them, ^p“Are you thus without understanding also? Do you not perceive that whatever enters a man from outside cannot defile him, ¹⁹“because it does not enter his heart but his stomach, and is eliminated, ⁷thus purifying all foods?”

²⁰And He said, ^q“What comes out of a man, that defiles a man.

^{21r}“For from within, out of the heart of men, ^sproceed evil thoughts, ^tadulteries, ^ufornications, murders, ²²“thefts, ^vcovetousness, wickedness, ^wdeceit, ^xlewdness, an evil eye, ^yblasphemy, ^zpride, foolishness.

²³“All these evil things come from within and defile a man.”

A Gentile Shows Her Faith

(Matt. 15:21–28)

^{24a}From there He arose and went to the region of Tyre ⁸and Sidon. And He entered a house and wanted no one to know it, but He could not be ^bhidden. In-Text Map: The Territories of Tyre and Sidon

²⁵For a woman whose young daughter had an unclean spirit heard about Him, and she came and ^cfell at His feet.

²⁶The woman was a ⁹Greek, a ¹⁰Syro-Phoenician by birth, and she kept ¹¹asking Him to cast the demon out of her daughter.

²⁷But Jesus said to her, “Let the children be filled first, for it is not good to take the children’s bread and throw it to the little dogs.”

²⁸And she answered and said to Him, “Yes, Lord, yet even the little dogs under the table eat from the children’s crumbs.”

²⁹Then He said to her, “For this saying go your way; the demon has gone out of your daughter.”

³⁰And when she had come to her house, she found the demon gone out, and her daughter lying on the bed.

Jesus Heals a Deaf-Mute

(Matt. 15:29–31)

^{31d}Again, departing from the region of Tyre and Sidon, He came through the midst of the region of Decapolis to the Sea of Galilee.

³²Then ^ethey brought to Him one who was deaf and had an impediment in his speech, and they begged Him to put His hand on him.

³³And He took him aside from the multitude, and put His fingers in his ears, and ^fHe spat and touched his tongue.

³⁴Then, ^glooking up to heaven, ^hHe sighed, and said to him, “Ephphatha,” that is, “Be opened.”

³⁵ⁱImmediately his ears were opened, and the ¹²impediment of his tongue was loosed, and he spoke plainly.

³⁶Then ^jHe commanded them that they should tell no one; but the more He commanded them, the more widely they proclaimed it.

³⁷And they were ^kastonished beyond measure, saying, “He has done all things well. He ^lmakes both the deaf to hear and the mute to speak.”

Mark 8

Feeding the Four Thousand

(Matt. 15:32–39)

¹In those days, ^athe multitude being very great and having nothing to eat, Jesus called His disciples to Him and said to them, ²“I have ^bcompassion on the multitude, because they have now continued with Me three days and have nothing to eat.

³“And if I send them away hungry to their own houses, they will faint on the way; for some of them have come from afar.”

⁴Then His disciples answered Him, “How can one satisfy these people with bread here in the wilderness?”

^{5c}He asked them, “How many loaves do you have?” And they said, “Seven.”

⁶So He commanded the multitude to sit down on the ground. And He took the seven loaves and gave thanks, broke them and gave them to His disciples to set before them; and they set them before the multitude.

⁷They also had a few small fish; and ^dhaving blessed them, He said to set them also before them.

⁸So they ate and were filled, and they took up seven large baskets of leftover fragments.

⁹Now those who had eaten were about four thousand. And He sent them away, ^{10e}immediately got into the boat with His disciples, and came to the region of Dalmanutha.

The Pharisees Seek a Sign

(Matt. 16:1–4)

^{11f}Then the Pharisees came out and began to dispute with Him, seeking from Him a sign from heaven, testing Him.

¹²But He ^gsighed deeply in His spirit, and said, “Why does this generation seek a sign? Assuredly, I say to you, ^hno sign shall be given to this generation.”

Beware of the Leaven of the Pharisees and Herod

(Matt. 16:5–12)

¹³And He left them, and getting into the boat again, departed to the other side.

¹⁴ⁱNow ¹the disciples had forgotten to take bread, and they did not have more than one loaf with them in the boat.

^{15j}Then He charged them, saying, “Take heed, beware of the ²leaven of the Pharisees and the leaven of Herod.” Word Studies: leaven

¹⁶And they reasoned among themselves, saying, “It is because we have no bread.”

¹⁷But Jesus, being aware of it, said to them, “Why do you reason because you have no bread? ^kDo you not yet perceive nor understand? Is your heart ³still hardened?”

¹⁸“Having eyes, do you not see? And having ears, do you not hear? And do you not remember?”

^{19l}“When I broke the five loaves for the five thousand, how many baskets full of fragments did you take up?” They said to Him, “Twelve.”

²⁰“Also, ^mwhen I broke the seven for the four thousand, how many large baskets full of fragments did you take up?” And they said, “Seven.”

²¹So He said to them, “How is it ⁿyou do not understand?”

A Blind Man Healed at Bethsaida

²²Then He came to Bethsaida; and they brought a ^oblind man to Him, and begged Him to ^ptouch him. In-Text Map: The Decapolis and the Lands Beyond the Jordan

²³So He took the blind man by the hand and led him out of the town. And when ^qHe had spit on his eyes and put His hands on him, He asked him if he saw anything.

²⁴And he looked up and said, “I see men like trees, walking.”

²⁵Then He put His hands on his eyes again and made him look up. And he was restored and saw everyone clearly.

²⁶Then He sent him away to his house, saying, ⁴“Neither go into the town, ^rnor tell anyone in the town.”

Peter Confesses Jesus as the Christ

(Matt. 16:13–20; Luke 9:18–20) ^{27s}Now Jesus and His disciples went out to the towns of Caesarea Philippi; and on the road He asked His disciples, saying to them, “Who do men say that I am?”

²⁸So they answered, ^t“John the Baptist; but some say, ^uElijah; and others, one of the prophets.”

²⁹He said to them, “But who do you say that I am?” Peter answered and said to Him, ^v“You are the Christ.”

^{30w}Then He strictly warned them that they should tell no one about Him.

Jesus Predicts His Death and Resurrection

(Matt. 16:21–23; Luke 9:21, 22) ³¹And ^xHe began to teach them that the Son of Man must suffer many things, and be ^yrejected by the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be ^zkilled, and after three days rise again.

³²He spoke this word openly. Then Peter took Him aside and began to rebuke Him.

³³But when He had turned around and looked at His disciples, He ^arebuked Peter, saying, “Get behind Me, Satan! For you are not ⁵mindful of the things of God, but the things of men.”

Take Up the Cross and Follow Him

(Matt. 16:24–27; Luke 9:23–26) ³⁴When He had called the people to Himself, with His disciples also, He said to them, ^b“Whoever desires to come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me.

³⁵“For ^cwhoever desires to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for My sake and the gospel’s will save it.

³⁶“For what will it profit a man if he gains the whole world, and loses his own soul?

³⁷“Or what will a man give in exchange for his soul?

^{38d}“For whoever ^eis ashamed of Me and My words in this adulterous and sinful generation, of him the Son of Man also will be ashamed when He comes in the glory of His Father with the holy angels.”

Mark 9

Jesus Transfigured on the Mount

(Matt. 16:28—17:13; Luke 9:27–36; 2 Pet. 1:16–18) ¹And He said to them, ^a“Assuredly, I say to you that there are some standing here who will not taste death till they see ^bthe kingdom of God ¹present with power.”

^{2c}Now after six days Jesus took Peter, James, and John, and led them up on a high mountain apart by themselves; and He was transfigured before them.

³His clothes became shining, exceedingly ^dwhite, like snow, such as no launderer on earth can whiten them.

⁴And Elijah appeared to them with Moses, and they were talking with Jesus.

⁵Then Peter answered and said to Jesus, “Rabbi, it is good for us to be here; and let us make three tabernacles: one for You, one for Moses, and one for Elijah”— ⁶because he did not know what to say, for they were greatly afraid.

⁷And a ^ecloud came and overshadowed them; and a voice came out of the cloud, saying, “This is ^fMy beloved Son. ⁸Hear Him!”

⁸Suddenly, when they had looked around, they saw no one anymore, but only Jesus with themselves.

^{9h}Now as they came down from the mountain, He commanded them that they should tell no one the things they had seen, till the Son of Man had risen from the dead.

¹⁰So they kept this word to themselves, questioning ⁱwhat the rising from the dead meant.

¹¹And they asked Him, saying, “Why do the scribes say ^jthat Elijah must come first?”

¹²Then He answered and told them, “Indeed, Elijah is coming first and restores all things. And ^khow is it written concerning the Son of Man, that He must suffer many things and ^lbe treated with contempt?

¹³“But I say to you that ^mElijah has also come, and they did to him whatever they wished, as it is written of him.”

A Boy Is Healed

(Matt. 17:14–21; Luke 9:37–42) ¹⁴ⁿAnd when He came to the disciples, He saw a great multitude around them, and scribes disputing with them.

¹⁵Immediately, when they saw Him, all the people were greatly amazed, and running to Him, greeted Him.

¹⁶And He asked the scribes, “What are you discussing with them?”

¹⁷Then ^oone of the crowd answered and said, “Teacher, I brought You my son, who has a mute spirit.

¹⁸“And wherever it seizes him, it throws him down; he foams at the mouth, gnashes his teeth, and becomes rigid. So I spoke to Your disciples, that they should cast it out, but they could not.”

¹⁹He answered him and said, “O ^pfaithless² generation, how long shall I be with you? How long shall I ³bear with you? Bring him to Me.”

²⁰Then they brought him to Him. And ^qwhen he saw Him, immediately the spirit convulsed him, and he fell on the ground and wallowed, foaming at the mouth.

²¹So He asked his father, “How long has this been happening to him?” And he said, “From childhood.

²²“And often he has thrown him both into the fire and into the water to destroy him. But if You can do anything, have compassion on us and help us.”

²³Jesus said to him, ^r“If⁴ you can believe, all things are possible to him who believes.”

²⁴Immediately the father of the child cried out and said with tears, “Lord, I believe; ^shelp my unbelief!”

²⁵When Jesus saw that the people came running together, He ^trebuked the unclean spirit, saying to it: “Deaf and dumb spirit, I command you, come out of him and enter him no more!”

²⁶Then the spirit cried out, convulsed him greatly, and came out of him. And he became as one dead, so that many said, “He is dead.”

²⁷But Jesus took him by the hand and lifted him up, and he arose.

^{28u}And when He had come into the house, His disciples asked Him privately, “Why could we not cast it out?”

²⁹So He said to them, “This kind can come out by nothing but ^vprayer⁵ and fasting.”

Jesus Again Predicts His Death and Resurrection

³⁰Then they departed from there and passed through Galilee, and He did not want anyone to know it.

³¹^wFor He taught His disciples and said to them, “The Son of Man is being betrayed into the hands of men, and they will ^xkill Him. And after He is killed, He will ^yrise the third day.”

³²But they ^zdid not understand this saying, and were afraid to ask Him.

Who Is the Greatest?

(Matt. 18:1–5; Luke 9:46–48) ³³^aThen He came to Capernaum. And when He was in the house He asked them, “What was it you ⁶disputed among yourselves on the road?”

³⁴But they kept silent, for on the road they had ^bdisputed among themselves who would be the ^cgreatest.

³⁵And He sat down, called the twelve, and said to them, ^d“If anyone desires to be first, he shall be last of all and servant of all.”

³⁶Then ^eHe took a little child and set him in the midst of them. And when He had taken him in His arms, He said to them, ³⁷“Whoever receives one of these little children in My name receives Me; and ^fwhoever receives Me, receives not Me but Him who sent Me.”

Jesus Forbids Sectarianism

(Matt. 10:40–42; Luke 9:49, 50)^{38g}Now John answered Him, saying, “Teacher, we saw someone who does not follow us casting out demons in Your name, and we forbade him because he does not follow us.”

³⁹But Jesus said, “Do not forbid him, ^hfor no one who works a miracle in My name can soon afterward speak evil of Me.

⁴⁰“For ⁱhe who is not against ⁷us is on ⁸our side.

^{41j}“For whoever gives you a cup of water to drink in My name, because you belong to Christ, assuredly, I say to you, he will by no means lose his reward.

Jesus Warns of Offenses

(Matt. 18:6–9; Luke 17:1, 2) ^{42k}“But whoever causes one of these little ones who believe in Me ⁹to stumble, it would be better for him if a millstone were hung around his neck, and he were thrown into the sea.

⁴³ⁱ“If your hand causes you to sin, cut it off. It is better for you to enter into life ¹⁰maimed, rather than having two hands, to go to ¹¹hell, into the fire that shall never be quenched— Word Studies: hell

⁴⁴¹²“where

^m*‘Their worm does not die, And the fire is not quenched.’*

⁴⁵“And if your foot causes you to sin, cut it off. It is better for you to enter life lame, rather than having two feet, to be cast into ¹³hell, ¹⁴into the fire that shall never be quenched— ⁴⁶“where ⁿ*‘Their worm does not die, And the fire is not quenched.’*

⁴⁷“And if your eye causes you to sin, pluck it out. It is better for you to enter the kingdom of God with one eye, rather than having two eyes, to be cast into ¹⁵hell fire— ⁴⁸“where

^o*‘Their worm does not die, And the ^pfire is not quenched.’*

Tasteless Salt Is Worthless

⁴⁹“For everyone will be ^qseasoned with fire, ^rand¹⁶ every sacrifice will be seasoned with salt.

^{50s}“Salt is good, but if the salt loses its flavor, how will you season it?
^tHave salt in yourselves, and ^uhave peace with one another.”

Mark 10

Marriage and Divorce

(Matt. 19:1–9)

¹Then ^aHe arose from there and came to the region of Judea by the other side of the Jordan. And multitudes gathered to Him again, and as He was accustomed, He taught them again.

^{2b}The Pharisees came and asked Him, “Is it lawful for a man to divorce his wife?” testing Him.

³And He answered and said to them, “What did Moses command you?”

⁴They said, ^c“Moses permitted a man to write a certificate of divorce, and to dismiss her.”

⁵And Jesus answered and said to them, “Because of the hardness of your heart he wrote you this ¹precept.

⁶“But from the beginning of the creation, God ^d*‘made them male and female.’*

^{7e}‘For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, ⁸*‘and the two shall become one flesh’; so then they are no longer two, but one flesh.*

⁹“Therefore what God has joined together, let not man separate.”

¹⁰In the house His disciples also asked Him again about the same matter.

¹¹So He said to them, ^f“Whoever divorces his wife and marries another commits adultery against her.

¹²“And if a woman divorces her husband and marries another, she commits adultery.”

Jesus Blesses Little Children

(Matt. 19:13–15; Luke 18:15–17) ^{13g}Then they brought little children to Him, that He might touch them; but the disciples rebuked those who brought them.

¹⁴But when Jesus saw it, He was greatly displeased and said to them, “Let the little children come to Me, and do not forbid them; for ^hof such is the kingdom of God.

¹⁵“Assuredly, I say to you, ⁱwhoever does not receive the kingdom of God as a little child will ^jby no means enter it.”

¹⁶And He took them up in His arms, laid His hands on them, and blessed them.

Jesus Counsels the Rich Young Ruler

(Matt. 19:16–22; Luke 18:18–23) ^{17k}Now as He was going out on the road, one came running, knelt before Him, and asked Him, “Good Teacher, what shall I ^ldo that I may inherit eternal life?”

¹⁸So Jesus said to him, “Why do you call Me good? No one is good but One, that is, ^mGod.

¹⁹“You know the commandments: ⁿ‘Do not commit adultery,’ ‘Do not murder,’ ‘Do not steal,’ ‘Do not bear false witness,’ ‘Do not defraud,’ ‘Honor your father and your mother.’ ”

²⁰And he answered and said to Him, “Teacher, all these things I have ^okept from my youth.”

²¹Then Jesus, looking at him, loved him, and said to him, “One thing you lack: Go your way, ^psell whatever you have and give to the poor, and you will have ^qtreasure in heaven; and come, ^rtake up the cross, and follow Me.”

²²But he was sad at this word, and went away sorrowful, for he had great possessions.

With God All Things Are Possible

(Matt. 19:23–30; Luke 18:24–30) ^{23s}Then Jesus looked around and said to His disciples, “How hard it is for those who have riches to enter the kingdom of God!”

²⁴And the disciples were astonished at His words. But Jesus answered again and said to them, “Children, how hard it is ²for those ^twho trust in riches to enter the kingdom of God!

²⁵“It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a ^urich man to enter the kingdom of God.”

²⁶And they were greatly astonished, saying among themselves, “Who then can be saved?”

²⁷But Jesus looked at them and said, “With men it is impossible, but not ^vwith God; for with God all things are possible.”

^{28w}Then Peter began to say to Him, “See, we have left all and followed You.”

²⁹So Jesus answered and said, “Assuredly, I say to you, there is no one who has left house or brothers or sisters or father or mother ³or wife or children or ⁴lands, for My sake and the gospel’s, ^{30x}“who shall not receive a hundredfold now in this time—houses and brothers and sisters and mothers and children and lands, with ^ypersecutions—and in the age to come, eternal life.

^{31z}“But many who are first will be last, and the last first.”

Jesus a Third Time Predicts His Death and Resurrection

(Matt. 20:17–19; Luke 18:31–34) ^{32a}Now they were on the road, going up to Jerusalem, and Jesus was going before them; and they were amazed. And as they followed they were afraid. ^bThen He took the twelve aside again and began to tell them the things that would happen to Him: ³³“Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem, and the Son of Man will be betrayed to the chief priests and to the scribes; and they will condemn Him to death and deliver Him to the Gentiles; ³⁴“and they will mock Him, and ⁵scourge Him, and spit on Him, and kill Him. And the third day He will rise again.”

Greatness Is Serving

(Matt. 20:20–28)

^{35c}Then James and John, the sons of Zebedee, came to Him, saying, “Teacher, we want You to do for us whatever we ask.”

³⁶And He said to them, “What do you want Me to do for you?”

³⁷They said to Him, “Grant us that we may sit, one on Your right hand and the other on Your left, in Your glory.”

³⁸But Jesus said to them, “You do not know what you ask. Are you able to drink the ^dcup that I drink, and be baptized with the ^ebaptism that I am baptized with?”

³⁹They said to Him, “We are able.” So Jesus said to them, ^f“You will indeed drink the cup that I drink, and with the baptism I am baptized with you will be baptized; ⁴⁰“but to sit on My right hand and on My left is not Mine to give, but it is for those ^gfor whom it is prepared.”

^{41h}And when the ten heard it, they began to be greatly displeased with James and John.

⁴²But Jesus called them to Himself and said to them, ⁱ“You know that those who are considered rulers over the Gentiles lord it over them, and their great ones exercise authority over them.

^{43j}“Yet it shall not be so among you; but whoever desires to become great among you shall be your servant.

⁴⁴“And whoever of you desires to be first shall be slave of all.

⁴⁵“For even ^kthe Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and ^lto give His life a ransom for many.”

Jesus Heals Blind Bartimaeus

(Matt. 20:29–34; Luke 18:35–43) ^{46m}Now they came to Jericho. As He went out of Jericho with His disciples and a great multitude, blind Bartimaeus, the son of Timaeus, sat by the road begging.

⁴⁷And when he heard that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to cry out and say, “Jesus, ⁿSon of David, ^ohave mercy on me!”

⁴⁸Then many warned him to be quiet; but he cried out all the more, “Son of David, have mercy on me!”

⁴⁹So Jesus stood still and commanded him to be called. Then they called the blind man, saying to him, “Be of good cheer. Rise, He is calling you.”

⁵⁰And throwing aside his garment, he rose and came to Jesus.

⁵¹So Jesus answered and said to him, “What do you want Me to do for you?” The blind man said to Him, ⁶“Rabboni, that I may receive my sight.”

⁵²Then Jesus said to him, “Go your way; ^pyour faith has ⁷made you well.” And immediately he received his sight and followed Jesus on the road.

Mark 11

The Triumphal Entry

(Matt. 21:1–11; Luke 19:28–40; John 12:12–19) ¹Now ^awhen they drew near Jerusalem, to ¹Bethphage and Bethany, at the Mount of Olives, He sent two of His disciples; ²and He said to them, “Go into the village opposite you; and as soon as you have entered it you will find a colt tied, on which no one has sat. Loose it and bring it.

³“And if anyone says to you, ‘Why are you doing this?’ say, ‘The Lord has need of it,’ and immediately he will send it here.”

⁴So they went their way, and found ²the colt tied by the door outside on the street, and they loosed it.

⁵But some of those who stood there said to them, “What are you doing, loosing the colt?”

⁶And they spoke to them just as Jesus had commanded. So they let them go.

⁷Then they brought the colt to Jesus and threw their clothes on it, and He sat on it.

^{8b}And many spread their clothes on the road, and others cut down leafy branches from the trees and spread them on the road.

⁹Then those who went before and those who followed cried out, saying:

“Hosanna!

^c*‘Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD!’* In-Text

Map: Passion Week—Bethany, the Mount of Olives, and Jerusalem

¹⁰Blessed is the kingdom of our father David
That comes ³in the name of the Lord!

^dHosanna in the highest!”

^{11e}And Jesus went into Jerusalem and into the temple. So when He had looked around at all things, as the hour was already late, He went out to Bethany with the twelve.

The Fig Tree Withered

(Matt. 21:18, 19) ^{12f}Now the next day, when they had come out from Bethany, He was hungry.

^{13g}And seeing from afar a fig tree having leaves, He went to see if perhaps He would find something on it. When He came to it, He found nothing but leaves, for it was not the season for figs.

¹⁴In response Jesus said to it, "Let no one eat fruit from you ever again." And His disciples heard it.

Jesus Cleanses the Temple

(Matt. 21:12–17; Luke 19:45–48; John 2:13–22) ^{15h}So they came to Jerusalem. Then Jesus went into the temple and began to drive out those who bought and sold in the temple, and overturned the tables of the money changers and the seats of those who sold ⁱdoves.

¹⁶And He would not allow anyone to carry wares through the temple.

¹⁷Then He taught, saying to them, “Is it not written, ^j‘My house shall be called a house of prayer for all nations’? But you have made it a ^k‘den of thieves.’ ”

¹⁸And ^lthe scribes and chief priests heard it and sought how they might destroy Him; for they feared Him, because ^mall the people were astonished at His teaching.

¹⁹When evening had come, He went out of the city.

The Lesson of the Withered Fig Tree

(Matt. 21:20–22)

²⁰ⁿNow in the morning, as they passed by, they saw the fig tree dried up from the roots.

²¹And Peter, remembering, said to Him, “Rabbi, look! The fig tree which You cursed has withered away.” Word Studies: rabbi ²²So Jesus answered and said to them, “Have faith in God.

²³“For ^oassuredly, I say to you, whoever says to this mountain, ‘Be removed and be cast into the sea,’ and does not doubt in his heart, but believes that those things he says will be done, he will have whatever he says.

²⁴“Therefore I say to you, ^pwhatever things you ask when you pray, believe that you receive them, and you will have them.

Forgiveness and Prayer

(Matt. 6:14, 15) ²⁵“And whenever you stand praying, ^qif you have anything against anyone, forgive him, that your Father in heaven may also forgive you your trespasses.

²⁶“But ^rif you do not forgive, neither will your Father in heaven forgive your trespasses.”

Jesus’ Authority Questioned

(Matt. 21:23–27; Luke 20:1–8) ²⁷Then they came again to Jerusalem. ^sAnd as He was walking in the temple, the chief priests, the scribes, and the elders came to Him.

²⁸And they said to Him, “By what ^tauthority are You doing these things? And who gave You this authority to do these things?”

²⁹But Jesus answered and said to them, “I also will ask you one question; then answer Me, and I will tell you by what authority I do these things:

³⁰“The ^ubaptism of John—was it from heaven or from men? Answer Me.”

³¹And they reasoned among themselves, saying, “If we say, ‘From heaven,’ He will say, ‘Why then did you not believe him?’

³²“But if we say, ‘From men’ ”—they feared the people, for ^vall counted John to have been a prophet indeed.

³³So they answered and said to Jesus, “We do not know.” And Jesus answered and said to them, “Neither will I tell you by what authority I do these things.”

Mark 12

The Parable of the Wicked Vinedressers

(Matt. 21:33–46; Luke 20:9–19) ¹Then ^aHe began to speak to them in parables: “A man planted a vineyard and set a hedge around it, dug a place for the wine vat and built a tower. And he leased it to ¹vinedressers and went into a far country. Bible Times & Culture Notes: Property Protection

²“Now at vintage-time he sent a servant to the vinedressers, that he might receive some of the fruit of the vineyard from the vinedressers.

³“And they took him and beat him and sent him away empty-handed.

⁴“Again he sent them another servant, ²and at him they threw stones, wounded him in the head, and sent him away shamefully treated.

⁵“And again he sent another, and him they killed; and many others, ^bbeating some and killing some.

⁶“Therefore still having one son, his beloved, he also sent him to them last, saying, ‘They will respect my son.’

⁷“But those ³vinedressers said among themselves, ‘This is the heir. Come, let us kill him, and the inheritance will be ours.’

⁸“So they took him and ^ckilled him and cast him out of the vineyard.

⁹“Therefore what will the owner of the vineyard do? He will come and destroy the vinedressers, and give the vineyard to others.

¹⁰“Have you not even read this Scripture:

^d*‘The stone which the builders rejected Has become the chief cornerstone.* Word Studies: cornerstone

¹¹*This was the LORD’s doing, And it is marvelous in our eyes’? ”*

^{12e}And they sought to lay hands on Him, but feared the multitude, for they knew He had spoken the parable against them. So they left Him and went away.

The Pharisees: Is It Lawful to Pay Taxes to Caesar?

(Matt. 22:15–22; Luke 20:20–26) ^{13f}Then they sent to Him some of the Pharisees and the Herodians, to catch Him in His words.

¹⁴When they had come, they said to Him, “Teacher, we know that You are true, and ⁴care about no one; for You do not ⁵regard the person of men, but teach the ⁸way of God in truth. Is it lawful to pay taxes to Caesar, or not?

¹⁵“Shall we pay, or shall we not pay?” But He, knowing their ^hhypocrisy, said to them, “Why do you test Me? Bring Me a denarius that I may see it.”

¹⁶So they brought it. And He said to them, “Whose image and inscription is this?” They said to Him, “Caesar’s.”

¹⁷And Jesus answered and said to them, ⁶“Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar’s, and to ⁱGod the things that are God’s.” And they marveled at Him.

The Sadducees: What About the Resurrection?

(Matt. 22:23–33; Luke 20:27–40) ^{18j}Then some Sadducees, ^kwho say there is no resurrection, came to Him; and they asked Him, saying: ¹⁹“Teacher, ^lMoses wrote to us that if a man’s brother dies, and leaves his wife behind, and leaves no children, his brother should take his wife and raise up offspring for his brother.

²⁰“Now there were seven brothers. The first took a wife; and dying, he left no offspring.

²¹“And the second took her, and he died; nor did he leave any offspring. And the third likewise.

²²“So the seven had her and left no offspring. Last of all the woman died also.

²³“Therefore, in the resurrection, when they rise, whose wife will she be? For all seven had her as wife.”

²⁴Jesus answered and said to them, “Are you not therefore ⁷mistaken, because you do not know the Scriptures nor the power of God?

²⁵“For when they rise from the dead, they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but ^mare like angels in heaven.

²⁶“But concerning the dead, that they ⁿrise, have you not read in the book of Moses, in the burning bush passage, how God spoke to him, saying, ^o‘I am the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob’?

²⁷“He is not the God of the dead, but the God of the living. You are therefore greatly ⁸mistaken.”

The Scribes: Which Is the First Commandment of All?

(Matt. 22:34–40; Luke 10:25–28) ^{28p}Then one of the scribes came, and having heard them reasoning together, ⁹perceiving that He had answered them well, asked Him, “Which is the ¹⁰first commandment of all?”

²⁹Jesus answered him, “The ¹¹first of all the commandments is: ^q‘Hear, O Israel, the LORD our God, the LORD is one.

³⁰‘And you shall ^rlove the LORD your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your mind, and with all your strength.’ ¹²This is the first commandment.

³¹“And the second, like it, is this: ^s‘You shall love your neighbor as yourself.’ There is no other commandment greater than ^tthese.”

³²So the scribe said to Him, “Well said, Teacher. You have spoken the truth, for there is one God, ^uand there is no other but He.

³³“And to love Him with all the heart, with all the understanding, ¹³with all the soul, and with all the strength, and to love one’s neighbor as oneself, ^vis more than all the whole burnt offerings and sacrifices.”

³⁴Now when Jesus saw that he answered wisely, He said to him, “You are not far from the kingdom of God.” ^wBut after that no one dared question Him.

Jesus: How Can David Call His Descendant Lord?

(Matt. 22:41–46; Luke 20:41–44) ^{35x}Then Jesus answered and said, while He taught in the temple,
“How is it that the scribes say that the Christ is the Son of David?”

³⁶“For David himself said ^yby the Holy Spirit:

^z‘The LORD said to my Lord, “Sit at My right hand,
Till I make Your enemies Your footstool.” ’

³⁷“Therefore David himself calls Him ‘Lord’; how is He then his ^aSon?”
And the common people heard Him gladly.

Beware of the Scribes

(Matt. 23:1–7; Luke 20:45–47) ³⁸Then ^bHe said to them in His teaching, ^c“Beware of the scribes, who desire to go around in long robes, ^dlove greetings in the marketplaces, ³⁹“the ^ebest seats in the synagogues, and the best places at feasts, ^{40f}“who devour widows’ houses, and ¹⁴for a pretense make long prayers. These will receive greater condemnation.”

The Widow’s Two Mites

(Luke 21:1–4)

^{41g}Now Jesus sat opposite the treasury and saw how the people put money ^hinto the treasury. And many who were rich put in much. Bible Times & Culture Notes: Silver Coins

⁴²Then one poor widow came and threw in two ¹⁵mites, which make a ¹⁶quadrans.

⁴³So He called His disciples to Himself and said to them, “Assuredly, I say to you that ⁱthis poor widow has put in more than all those who have given to the treasury; ⁴⁴“for they all put in out of their abundance, but she out of her poverty put in all that she had, ^jher whole livelihood.”

Mark 13

Jesus Predicts the Destruction of the Temple

(Matt. 24:1, 2; Luke 21:5, 6) ¹Then ^aas He went out of the temple, one of His disciples said to Him, “Teacher, see what manner of stones and what buildings are here!”

²And Jesus answered and said to him, “Do you see these great buildings?
^bNot one stone shall be left upon another, that shall not be thrown down.”

The Signs of the Times and the End of the Age

(Matt. 24:3–14; Luke 21:7–19) ³Now as He sat on the Mount of Olives opposite the temple, ^cPeter, ^dJames, ^eJohn, and ^fAndrew asked Him privately, ^{4g}“Tell us, when will these things be? And what will be the sign when all these things will be fulfilled?”

⁵And Jesus, answering them, began to say: ^h“Take heed that no one deceives you.

⁶“For many will come in My name, saying, ‘I am He,’ and will deceive many.

⁷“But when you hear of wars and rumors of wars, do not be troubled; for such things must happen, but the end is not yet.

⁸“For nation will rise against nation, and ⁱkingdom against kingdom. And there will be earthquakes in various places, and there will be famines ¹and troubles. ^jThese are the beginnings of ²sorrows.

⁹“But ^kwatch out for yourselves, for they will deliver you up to councils, and you will be beaten in the synagogues. You will ³be brought before rulers and kings for My sake, for a testimony to them.

¹⁰“And ^lthe gospel must first be preached to all the nations.

^{11m}“But when they arrest you and deliver you up, do not worry beforehand, ⁴or premeditate what you will speak. But whatever is given you in that hour, speak that; for it is not you who speak, ⁿbut the Holy Spirit.

¹²“Now ^obrother will betray brother to death, and a father his child; and children will rise up against parents and cause them to be put to death.

^{13p}“And you will be hated by all for My name’s sake. But ^qhe who ⁵endures to the end shall be saved.

The Great Tribulation

(Matt. 24:15–28; Luke 21:20–24) ^{14r}“So when you see the ^s‘abomination of desolation,’ ⁶spoken of by Daniel the prophet, standing where it ought not” (let the reader understand), “then ^tlet those who are in Judea flee to the mountains.

¹⁵“Let him who is on the housetop not go down into the house, nor enter to take anything out of his house.

¹⁶“And let him who is in the field not go back to get his clothes.

^{17u}“But woe to those who are pregnant and to those who are nursing babies in those days!

¹⁸“And pray that your flight may not be in winter.

^{19v}“For in those days there will be tribulation, such as has not been since the beginning of the creation which God created until this time, nor ever shall be.

²⁰“And unless the Lord had shortened those days, no flesh would be saved; but for the elect’s sake, whom He chose, He shortened the days.

^{21w}“Then if anyone says to you, ‘Look, here is the Christ!’ or, ‘Look, He is there!’ do not believe it.

²²“For false christs and false prophets will rise and show signs and ^xwonders to deceive, if possible, even the ⁷elect.

²³“But ^ytake heed; see, I have told you all things beforehand.

The Coming of the Son of Man

(Matt. 24:29–31; Luke 21:25–28) ^{24z}“But in those days, after that tribulation, the sun will be darkened, and the moon will not give its light; ²⁵“the stars of heaven will fall, and the powers in the heavens will be ^ashaken.

^{26b}“Then they will see the Son of Man coming in the clouds with great power and glory.

²⁷“And then He will send His angels, and gather together His ⁸elect from the four winds, from the farthest part of earth to the farthest part of heaven.

The Parable of the Fig Tree

(Matt. 24:32–35; Luke 21:29–33) ^{28c}“Now learn this parable from the fig tree: When its branch has already become tender, and puts forth leaves, you know that summer is near.

²⁹“So you also, when you see these things happening, know that ⁹it is near—at the doors!

³⁰“Assuredly, I say to you, this generation will by no means pass away till all these things take place.

³¹“Heaven and earth will pass away, but ^dMy words will by no means pass away.

No One Knows the Day or Hour

(Matt. 24:36–44; Luke 21:34–36) ³²“But of that day and hour ^eno one knows, not even the angels in heaven, nor the Son, but only the ^fFather.

^{33g}“Take heed, watch and pray; for you do not know when the time is.

^{34h}“It is like a man going to a far country, who left his house and gave ⁱauthority to his servants, and to each his work, and commanded the doorkeeper to watch.

^{35j}“Watch therefore, for you do not know when the master of the house is coming—in the evening, at midnight, at the crowing of the rooster, or in the morning— ³⁶“lest, coming suddenly, he find you sleeping.

³⁷“And what I say to you, I say to all: Watch!”

Mark 14

The Plot to Kill Jesus

(Matt. 26:1–5; Luke 22:1, 2; John 11:45–53) ¹After ^atwo days it was the Passover and ^bthe Feast of Unleavened Bread. And the chief priests and the scribes sought how they might take Him by ¹trickery and put Him to death.

²But they said, “Not during the feast, lest there be an uproar of the people.”

The Anointing at Bethany

(Matt. 26:6–13; John 12:1–8) ^{3c}And being in Bethany at the house of Simon the leper, as He sat at the table, a woman came having an alabaster flask of very costly ²oil of spikenard. Then she broke the flask and poured it on His head. Bible Times & Culture Notes: Alabaster

⁴But there were some who were indignant among themselves, and said, “Why was this fragrant oil wasted?”

⁵“For it might have been sold for more than three hundred ^ddenarii and given to the poor.” And they ^ecriticized³ her sharply.

⁶But Jesus said, “Let her alone. Why do you trouble her? She has done a good work for Me.

^{7f}“For you have the poor with you always, and whenever you wish you may do them good; ^gbut Me you do not have always.

⁸“She has done what she could. She has come beforehand to anoint My body for burial.

⁹“Assuredly, I say to you, wherever this gospel is ^hpreached in the whole world, what this woman has done will also be told as a memorial to her.”

Judas Agrees to Betray Jesus

(Matt. 26:14–16; Luke 22:3–6) ¹⁰ⁱThen Judas Iscariot, one of the twelve, went to the chief priests to betray Him to them.

¹¹And when they heard it, they were glad, and promised to give him money. So he sought how he might conveniently betray Him.

Jesus Celebrates the Passover with His Disciples

(Matt. 26:17–25; Luke 22:7–13; John 13:21–30) ^{12j}Now on the first day of Unleavened Bread, when they ⁴killed the Passover lamb, His disciples said to Him, “Where do You want us to go and prepare, that You may eat the Passover?”

¹³And He sent out two of His disciples and said to them, “Go into the city, and a man will meet you carrying a pitcher of water; follow him.

¹⁴“Wherever he goes in, say to the master of the house, ‘The Teacher says, “Where is the guest room in which I may eat the Passover with My disciples?” ’

¹⁵“Then he will show you a large upper room, furnished and prepared; there make ready for us.”

¹⁶So His disciples went out, and came into the city, and found it just as He had said to them; and they prepared the Passover.

^{17k}In the evening He came with the twelve.

¹⁸Now as they sat and ate, Jesus said, “Assuredly, I say to you, ¹one of you who eats with Me will betray Me.”

¹⁹And they began to be sorrowful, and to say to Him one by one, “Is it I?”
⁵And another said, “Is it I?”

²⁰He answered and said to them, “It is one of the twelve, who dips with Me in the dish.

^{21m}“The Son of Man indeed goes just as it is written of Him, but woe to that man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed! It would have been good for that man if he had never been born.”

Jesus Institutes the Lord’s Supper

(Matt. 26:26–29; Luke 22:14–23; 1 Cor. 11:23–26) ²²ⁿAnd as they were eating, Jesus took bread, blessed and broke it, and gave it to them and said, “Take, ⁶eat; this is My ^obody.”

²³Then He took the cup, and when He had given thanks He gave it to them, and they all drank from it.

²⁴And He said to them, “This is My blood of the ⁷new covenant, which is shed for many.

²⁵“Assuredly, I say to you, I will no longer drink of the fruit of the vine until that day when I drink it new in the kingdom of God.”

^{26p}And when they had sung ⁸a hymn, they went out to the Mount of Olives.

Jesus Predicts Peter's Denial

(Matt. 26:31–35; Luke 22:31–34; John 13:36–38) ^{27q}Then Jesus said to them, “All of you will be made to stumble ⁹because of Me this night, for it is written:

^r*‘I will strike the Shepherd, And the sheep will be scattered.’*

²⁸“But ^safter I have been raised, I will go before you to Galilee.”

^{29t}Peter said to Him, “Even if all are made to ¹⁰stumble, yet I will not be.”

³⁰Jesus said to him, “Assuredly, I say to you that today, even this night, before the rooster crows twice, you will deny Me three times.”

³¹But he spoke more vehemently, “If I have to die with You, I will not deny You!” And they all said likewise.

The Prayer in the Garden

(Matt. 26:36–46; Luke 22:39–46) ^{32u}Then they came to a place which was named Gethsemane; and He said to His disciples, “Sit here while I pray.”

³³And He ^vtook Peter, James, and John with Him, and He began to be troubled and deeply distressed.

³⁴Then He said to them, ^w“My soul is exceedingly sorrowful, even to death. Stay here and watch.”

³⁵He went a little farther, and fell on the ground, and prayed that if it were possible, the hour might pass from Him.

³⁶And He said, ^x“Abba, Father, ^yall things are possible for You. Take this cup away from Me; ^znevertheless, not what I will, but what You will.” Word Studies: Abba, Father

³⁷Then He came and found them sleeping, and said to Peter, “Simon, are you sleeping? Could you not watch one hour?”

^{38a}“Watch and pray, lest you enter into temptation. ^bThe spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak.”

³⁹Again He went away and prayed, and spoke the same words.

⁴⁰And when He returned, He found them asleep again, for their eyes were heavy; and they did not know what to answer Him.

⁴¹Then He came the third time and said to them, “Are you still sleeping and resting? It is enough! ^cThe hour has come; behold, the Son of Man is being betrayed into the hands of sinners.

^{42d}“Rise, let us be going. See, My betrayer is at hand.”

Betrayal and Arrest in Gethsemane

(Matt. 26:47–56; Luke 22:47–53; John 18:1–11) ^{43e}And immediately, while He was still speaking, Judas, one of the twelve, with a great multitude with swords and clubs, came from the chief priests and the scribes and the elders.

⁴⁴Now His betrayer had given them a signal, saying, “Whomever I ^fkiss, He is the One; seize Him and lead Him away safely.”

⁴⁵As soon as he had come, immediately he went up to Him and said to Him, “Rabbi, Rabbi!” and kissed Him.

⁴⁶Then they laid their hands on Him and took Him.

⁴⁷And one of those who stood by drew his sword and struck the servant of the high priest, and cut off his ear.

^{48g}Then Jesus answered and said to them, “Have you come out, as against a robber, with swords and clubs to take Me?

⁴⁹“I was daily with you in the temple ^hteaching, and you did not seize Me. But ⁱthe Scriptures must be fulfilled.”

^{50j}Then they all forsook Him and fled.

A Young Man Flees Naked

⁵¹Now a certain young man followed Him, having a linen cloth thrown around his naked body. And the young men laid hold of him, ⁵²and he left the linen cloth and fled from them naked.

Jesus Faces the Sanhedrin

(Matt. 26:57–68; Luke 22:66–71; John 18:12–14, 19–24) ^{53k}And they led Jesus away to the high priest; and with him were ^lassembled all the ^mchief priests, the elders, and the scribes.

⁵⁴But ⁿPeter followed Him at a distance, right into the courtyard of the high priest. And he sat with the servants and warmed himself at the fire.

^{55o}Now the chief priests and all the council sought testimony against Jesus to put Him to death, but found none.

⁵⁶For many bore ^pfalse witness against Him, but their testimonies ¹¹did not agree.

⁵⁷Then some rose up and bore false witness against Him, saying, ⁵⁸“We heard Him say, ^q‘I will destroy this temple made with hands, and within three days I will build another made without hands.’ ”

⁵⁹But not even then did their testimony agree.

^{60r}And the high priest stood up in the midst and asked Jesus, saying, “Do You answer nothing? What is it these men testify against You?”

⁶¹But ^sHe kept silent and answered nothing. ^tAgain the high priest asked Him, saying to Him, “Are You the Christ, the Son of the Blessed?”

⁶²Jesus said, “I am. ^uAnd you will see the Son of Man sitting at the right hand of the Power, and coming with the clouds of heaven.”

⁶³Then the high priest tore his clothes and said, “What further need do we have of witnesses?

⁶⁴“You have heard the ^vblasphemy! What do you think?” And they all condemned Him to be deserving of ^wdeath.

⁶⁵Then some began to ^xspit on Him, and to blindfold Him, and to beat Him, and to say to Him, “Prophecy!” And the officers ¹²struck Him with the palms of their hands.

Peter Denies Jesus, and Weeps

(Matt. 26:69–75; Luke 22:54–62; John 18:15–18, 25–27) ^{66y}Now as Peter was below in the courtyard, one of the servant girls of the high priest came.

⁶⁷And when she saw Peter warming himself, she looked at him and said, “You also were with ^zJesus of Nazareth.”

⁶⁸But he denied it, saying, “I neither know nor understand what you are saying.” And he went out on the porch, and a rooster crowed.

^{69a}And the servant girl saw him again, and began to say to those who stood by, “This is one of them.”

⁷⁰But he denied it again. ^bAnd a little later those who stood by said to Peter again, “Surely you are one of them; ^cfor you are a Galilean, ¹³and your ¹⁴speech shows it.”

⁷¹Then he began to curse and swear, “I do not know this Man of whom you speak!”

^{72d}A second time the rooster crowed. Then Peter called to mind the word that Jesus had said to him, “Before the rooster crows twice, you will deny Me three times.” And when he thought about it, he wept.

Mark 15

Jesus Faces Pilate

(Matthew 27:1, 2, 11–14; Luke 23:1–5; John 18:28–38) ¹Immediately, ^ain the morning, the chief priests held a consultation with the elders and scribes and the whole council; and they bound Jesus, led Him away, and ^bdelivered Him to Pilate.

^{2c}Then Pilate asked Him, “Are You the King of the Jews?” He answered and said to him, “It is as you say.”

³And the chief priests accused Him of many things, but He ^danswered nothing.

^{4e}Then Pilate asked Him again, saying, “Do You answer nothing? See how many things ¹they testify against You!”

^{5f}But Jesus still answered nothing, so that Pilate marveled.

Taking the Place of Barabbas

(Matt. 27:15–26; Luke 23:17–25; John 18:39—19:16) ⁶Now ⁹at the feast he was accustomed to releasing one prisoner to them, whomever they requested.

⁷And there was one named Barabbas, who was chained with his fellow rebels; they had committed murder in the rebellion.

⁸Then the multitude, ²crying aloud, began to ask him to do just as he had always done for them.

⁹But Pilate answered them, saying, “Do you want me to release to you the King of the Jews?”

¹⁰For he knew that the chief priests had handed Him over because of envy.

¹¹But ^hthe chief priests stirred up the crowd, so that he should rather release Barabbas to them.

¹²Pilate answered and said to them again, “What then do you want me to do with Him whom you call the ⁱKing of the Jews?”

¹³So they cried out again, “Crucify Him!”

¹⁴Then Pilate said to them, “Why, ^jwhat evil has He done?” But they cried out all the more, “Crucify Him!”

^{15k}So Pilate, wanting to gratify the crowd, released Barabbas to them; and he delivered Jesus, after he had scourged Him, to be ^lcrucified.

The Soldiers Mock Jesus

(Matt. 27:27-31)

^{16m}Then the soldiers led Him away into the hall called ³Praetorium, and they called together the whole garrison.

¹⁷And they clothed Him with purple; and they twisted a crown of thorns, put it on His head,

¹⁸and began to salute Him, “Hail, King of the Jews!”

¹⁹Then they ⁿstruck Him on the head with a reed and spat on Him; and bowing the knee, they worshiped Him.

²⁰And when they had ^omocked Him, they took the purple off Him, put His own clothes on Him, and led Him out to crucify Him.

The King on a Cross

(Matt. 27:32–44; Luke 23:26–43; John 19:17–27) ^{21p}Then they compelled a certain man, Simon a Cyrenian, the father of Alexander and Rufus, as he was coming out of the country and passing by, to bear His cross.

^{22q}And they brought Him to the place Golgotha, which is translated, Place of a Skull.

^{23r}Then they gave Him wine mingled with myrrh to drink, but He did not take it.

²⁴And when they crucified Him, ^sthey divided His garments, casting lots for them to determine what every man should take.

²⁵Now ^tit was the third hour, and they crucified Him.

²⁶And ^uthe inscription of His ⁴accusation was written above:

THE KING OF THE JEWS.

^{27v}With Him they also crucified two robbers, one on His right and the other on His left.

²⁸⁵So the Scripture was fulfilled which says, ^w“And He was numbered with the transgressors.”

²⁹And ^xthose who passed by blasphemed Him, ^ywagging their heads and saying, “Aha! ^zYou who destroy the temple and build it in three days, ³⁰“save Yourself, and come down from the cross!”

³¹Likewise the chief priests also, ^amocking among themselves with the scribes, said, “He saved ^bothers; Himself He cannot save.

³²“Let the Christ, the King of Israel, descend now from the cross, that we may see and ⁶believe.” Even ^cthose who were crucified with Him reviled Him.

Jesus Dies on the Cross

(Matt. 27:45–56; Luke 23:44–49; John 19:28–30) ³³Now ^dwhen the sixth hour had come, there was darkness over the whole land until the ninth hour.

³⁴And at the ninth hour Jesus cried out with a loud voice, saying, “Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani?” which is translated, ^e“My God, My God, why have You forsaken Me?”

³⁵Some of those who stood by, when they heard that, said, “Look, He is calling for Elijah!”

³⁶Then ^fsomeone ran and filled a sponge full of sour wine, put it on a reed, and ^goffered it to Him to drink, saying, “Let Him alone; let us see if Elijah will come to take Him down.”

³⁷^hAnd Jesus cried out with a loud voice, and breathed His last.

³⁸Then ⁱthe veil of the temple was torn in two from top to bottom.

³⁹So ^jwhen the centurion, who stood opposite Him, saw that ⁷He cried out like this and breathed His last, he said, “Truly this Man was the Son of God!”

⁴⁰^kThere were also women looking on ^lfrom afar, among whom were Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James the Less and of Joses, and Salome, ⁴¹who also ^mfollowed Him and ministered to Him when He was in Galilee, and many other women who came up with Him to Jerusalem.

Jesus Buried in Joseph’s Tomb

(Matt. 27:57–61; Luke 23:50–56; John 19:38–42) ⁴²ⁿNow when evening had come, because it was the Preparation Day, that is, the day before the Sabbath, ⁴³Joseph of Arimathea, a prominent council member, who ^owas himself waiting for the kingdom of God, coming and taking courage, went in to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus.

⁴⁴Pilate marveled that He was already dead; and summoning the centurion, he asked him if He had been dead for some time.

⁴⁵So when he found out from the centurion, he granted the body to Joseph.

⁴⁷And Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of Joses observed where He was laid.

Mark 16

He Is Risen

(Matt. 28:1–8; Luke 24:1–12; John 20:1–10) ¹Now ^awhen the Sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James, and Salome ^bbought spices, that they might come and anoint Him.

^{2c}Very early in the morning, on the first day of the week, they came to the tomb when the sun had risen.

³And they said among themselves, “Who will roll away the stone from the door of the tomb for us?”

⁴But when they looked up, they saw that the stone had been rolled away—for it was very large.

^{5d}And entering the tomb, they saw a young man clothed in a long white robe sitting on the right side; and they were alarmed.

^{6e}But he said to them, “Do not be alarmed. You seek Jesus of Nazareth, who was crucified. He is risen! He is not here. See the place where they laid Him.

⁷“But go, tell His disciples—and Peter—that He is going ¹before you into Galilee; there you will see Him, ^fas He said to you.”

⁸So they went out ²quickly and fled from the tomb, for they trembled and were amazed. ^gAnd they said nothing to anyone, for they were afraid.

Mary Magdalene Sees the Risen Lord

(Matt. 28:9, 10; John 20:11–18) ⁹Now when He rose early on the first day of the week, He appeared first to Mary Magdalene, ^hout of whom He had cast seven demons.

¹⁰ⁱShe went and told those who had been with Him, as they mourned and wept.

^{11j}And when they heard that He was alive and had been seen by her, they did not believe.

Jesus Appears to Two Disciples

(Luke 24:13–35)

¹²After that, He appeared in another form ^kto two of them as they walked and went into the country.

¹³And they went and told it to the rest, but they did not believe them either.

The Great Commission

(Matt. 28:16–20; Luke 24:44–49; Acts 1:6–8) ¹⁴*Later He appeared to the eleven as they sat at the table; and He rebuked their unbelief and hardness of heart, because they did not believe those who had seen Him after He had risen.*

¹⁵^mAnd He said to them, “Go into all the world ⁿand preach the gospel to every creature. Word Studies: gospel

¹⁶^o“He who believes and is baptized will be saved; ^pbut he who does not believe will be condemned.

¹⁷“And these ^qsigns will follow those who ⁴believe: ^rIn My name they will cast out demons; ^sthey will speak with new tongues; ¹⁸^t“they⁵ will take up serpents; and if they drink anything deadly, it will by no means hurt them; ^uthey will lay hands on the sick, and they will recover.”

Christ Ascends to God’s Right Hand

(Luke 24:50–53)

¹⁹So then, ^vafter the Lord had spoken to them, He was ^wreceived up into heaven, and ^xsat down at the right hand of God.

²⁰And they went out and preached everywhere, the Lord working with them ^yand confirming the word through the accompanying signs. Amen.

Annotations for Mark

- 1:1 Writing three decades after the Resurrection of Christ, Mark starts his narrative with a simple declaration of the Good News about God's Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. As Luke notes in Acts 1:1, the Gospel stories describe what "Jesus began both to do and teach." The gospel refers to the basic story of the Good News to be found in Christ's life, ministry, death, and Resurrection. Jesus, meaning "Yahweh saves," is the earthly name Jesus received at birth, whereas Christ is an OT title that designates Him as God's chosen servant. Son of God makes clear Jesus' deity and demonstrates His unique relationship to God.
- 1:2, 3 Other than by quoting Jesus, Mark makes only one reference to the OT. In this quotation from the Prophets, the Gospel writer retells the work of Christ's forerunner, John the Baptist. Messenger and make His paths straight call forth the image of a king visiting his realm. In ancient times, a messenger was sent ahead to announce the coming of the king. Local communities would often repair rough roads to ensure the comfort of the king as he traveled. The quartet of Isaiah, Malachi, John the Baptist, and the writer Mark proclaims the coming of the King of all kings, Jesus Christ.
- 1:4 The mention of John without any introduction presupposes some knowledge of the Christian faith on the part of Mark's readers (see Introduction). John's baptism of repentance should not be confused with Christian baptism. The latter always follows conversion and symbolizes the spiritual death, burial, and Resurrection with Christ that is accomplished in a believer's salvation experience (Acts 19:1–5; Rom. 6:3–6). It is performed in the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. John's baptism, on the other hand, prepared his followers to receive the new message about Christ and His kingdom. For the remission of sins does not mean that one is baptized in order to receive forgiveness of sins. The Greek preposition translated of in English probably means "with a view to," signifying that baptism looks to the forgiveness that God gives through the gift of repentance.

Word Studies

repentance

(Gk. metanoia) (1:4; Matt. 3:8; Acts 5:31; 11:18) Strong's #3341

This Greek word is a compound word derived from meta, meaning “after” and suggesting some type of change, and nous, meaning “mind.” Thus the word strictly denotes “a change of mind.” But it also connotes remorse for sin, accompanied by a desire to turn away from one’s sin, to God, for salvation. Both John the Baptist and Jesus began their ministries with a call to repentance (see Matt. 3:2; 4:17)—a call that many of the social outcasts and “sinners” of that day answered (see Luke 19:1–10), but that the religious people rejected (Luke 11:39–44; 18:9–14).

- 1:5 John’s baptizing was a recurring popular event that attracted large crowds. Mark vividly portrays the continuous stream of followers who flocked to John. One may visualize throngs making the trek to the wilderness, with people waiting in line to be baptized. As each person was baptized by John, he or she would admit to individual sin and the need for the Messiah.
- 1:6 The angel Gabriel (the name means “mighty one of God”) announced to Zacharias that his son John would “go before Him [Christ] in the spirit and power of Elijah” (Mal. 4:5; Matt. 17:10–13; Luke 1:13–17).
- 1:7 The tense of the verb preached indicates continuous action in past time. John’s characteristic message was to promote expectancy and acceptance of the Lord Jesus Christ. He said he was not worthy to loosen the Messiah’s sandal strap. Students often performed menial tasks for their rabbis, but even they were not expected to remove someone’s sandals. That task was left to slaves. John humbly understood and accepted his own role in the coming Kingdom.
- 1:8 The prediction that Christ will baptize you with the Holy Spirit appears in each Gospel (Matt. 3:11; Luke 3:16; John 1:33) and was repeated by Christ in Acts 1:5 as being “not many days from now.” Though many English translations use the preposition with (with water and with the Holy Spirit), it is also acceptable to substitute the word in. The water is a physical representation of the future life in the Spirit that people who followed the Messiah would have. Presumably the Day of Pentecost marked the fulfillment of this promise.
- 1:9 Because He had no sins to repent, Jesus’ baptism was unique. It showed His identity with John’s work and with the sinner for whom He would die. It also foreshadowed His own death, burial, and resurrection for sinners.

Baptism in the Bible

Mark begins his account of Jesus’ ministry by describing devout Israelites streaming out to the Jordan

River to be baptized by John. Here is a summary of the subject of baptism in the Scriptures:

Etymology

The word baptism comes from the Greek verb baptizo meaning “to dip, immerse, submerge.”

Definition

Baptism is a sacred rite that signifies purification, initiation, or identification of an individual with a leader, group, or teaching.

The Different Types of Baptism in the Scriptures

- Jewish baptism: a ceremonial cleansing prescribed for both people and articles (7:3; see Ex. 19:10–14; Lev. 8:6; Heb. 9:10).
- John’s baptism: a preparatory act in which Jews expressed their belief in the imminent coming of the Messiah and their desire to turn away from sin and live righteous lives (1:4–8).
- Jesus’ baptism: an act of ceremonial righteousness. By being baptized, Christ was not admitting His sinfulness, as those who submitted to John’s baptism were. Instead through baptism, Christ was consecrating Himself to His ministry (1:9–11).
- Spirit baptism: the supernatural work of the Holy Spirit by which believers are joined to the body of Christ (Rom. 6:3, 4; 1 Cor. 12:13; Gal. 3:26, 27; Eph. 4:5; Col. 2:9–12).
- Christian baptism: a ceremonial act instituted by Christ (Matt. 28:19) and practiced by the apostles (Acts 2:38) that depicts a believer’s union and identification with Christ in his death, burial, and resurrection.
- Baptism by fire: a possible reference either to the judgment at the Second Coming or to the coming of the Spirit at Pentecost (Matt. 3:9–12; Luke 3:16, 17).

Old Testament Types

The New Testament writers point to several events in the Old Testament that foreshadow baptism as commanded by Christ.

- Noah coming through the waters of the Flood (1 Pet. 3:17–22).
- The Israelites’ crossing of the Red Sea (1 Cor. 10:1, 2).

1:10 Immediately occurs 41 times in Mark’s Gospel to indicate the swift action required of a servant (vv. 10, 12, 18, 20, 21).

1:11 Three times during Christ’s earthly ministry a voice came from heaven. It was the Father’s testimony to Christ’s unique and divine Sonship. The other two confirming incidents were at the Transfiguration (9:7) and on the day of Christ’s triumphal entry into Jerusalem (John 12:28).

1:12 Mark declares that the Spirit drove Christ into the wilderness. The verb used for drove was frequently used to describe Christ’s expulsion of demons and appears two other times in this chapter (vv. 34, 39).

1:13 Mark introduces an event of conflict to seize his readers’ attention. Being tempted by Satan is something that all believers face, but Jesus triumphed completely over his adversary. Mark alone mentions the angels who were ministering to Christ through the 40 days.

1:14 Mark begins his account of Christ's ministry with events after John was put in prison, as do the other synoptic Gospel writers. John is the only writer who informs us of a number of events that took place before John the Baptist's imprisonment (John 3:24).

1:15 Jesus proclaimed the kingdom of God. It was the subject of much OT prophecy, and the theme was familiar to Jesus' listeners. Repent, and believe are both acts of faith. When a person accepts the only true and worthy object of faith, that person readily turns from inferior substitutes.

1:16 Simon and Andrew had been disciples of John the Baptist. They had known Jesus (see John 1:35–42), but were now being called to a lifetime of service.

1:17 Jesus called fishermen, hardworking and industrious people, to perform the most important task on earth: being fishers of men. Jesus characteristically used figures of speech that his listeners would readily understand.

1:19 James . . . John: The scenes of vv. 16–20 are very colorful. Simon and Andrew are fishing when we encounter them; James and John are mending their nets. Such details indicate the testimony of an eyewitness, probably Peter.

1:21 Capernaum, now in ruins, sits beside the northern edge of the Sea of Galilee, a pear-shaped freshwater lake eight miles wide and 12 miles long. The town's name means "Village of Nahum," but it was not the Nahum of the OT. Capernaum was Christ's ministry "headquarters" and is mentioned 22 times in the Gospels. By contrast, only one recorded event during Christ's ministry occurred at Nazareth (Luke 4:16). The ruins of a synagogue at Capernaum, just a few feet from the water's edge, date from the second to fourth century A.D.

1:22 Forty-two percent of Mark's verses contain some mention of teaching. Mark, however, omits most of Jesus' main discourses to emphasize His mighty works as the Servant Son of God. astonished at His teaching: Christ's teaching differed from that of scribes and Pharisees because He did not lean on the wisdom of other teachers and rabbis. His authority came from Himself.

1:24, 25 The demon cried out let us alone, not because it was speaking for other demons in the man (as was the case in 5:1–20), but because Jesus was a threat to all demons. Jesus constantly confronted demons and about 20 percent of the approximately 35 miracles recorded about Jesus involved helping those troubled by demons. The demon acknowledged Jesus as the Holy One of God, but Jesus refused the testimony from such a disreputable source.

1:26, 27 unclean spirit: This is another term for demon.

1:28 Mark notes the extent of recognition this great miracle brought Jesus by saying His fame spread throughout all the region. Mark creates suspense by contrasting the people who received Christ with the Pharisees and rulers who worked to bring about His death. The sad truth remains that often the religious of the world do more to keep people from Jesus Christ than most worldly atheists. But the gospel is not religion. It is Good News that can free even the most horrible sinner.

1:31 Jesus completely healed Simon Peter's mother-in-law. Not only did the fever leave, but her strength was renewed so that she served Jesus and His followers.

1:35 The tense of the verb prayed indicates a continued action, not just a brief moment. Jesus' prayer life was successful because it was planned, private, and prolonged. He got up early enough, got far enough away, and stayed at it long enough.

1:37, 38 Jesus' fame spread quickly, and the disciples' concern is evident in the statement everyone is looking for You. Refusing a comfortable existence, Jesus took seriously his mission to reach the next towns. He came to preach and to proclaim God's message. for this purpose: Christ modeled singleness of purpose. He would not let anything distract Him.

1:41 Jesus was moved with compassion. He not only healed but touched the leper. How often do we see the need but remain unmoved and uninvolved? Scripture has over 400 passages admonishing us to care for the poor (see 8:2; Deut. 15:7–11).

1:44 After healing the leper, Jesus commanded him to say nothing to anyone. His demand for silence has several plausible explanations. (1) The report of Jesus' healing the man may have prejudiced the priest who needed to pronounce him clean. (2) Jesus did not want to be known primarily as a miracle worker, so He often commanded those who received His healing to remain quiet. (3) The man's testimony would possibly have hastened the confrontation between Jesus and the religious leaders.

- 1:45 The cleansed leper did not obey Jesus' simple injunction to keep quiet. As a result, Jesus had to remain in deserted places because the crowds swarmed to Him.
- 2:1–28 Mark's first chapter establishes Jesus as a popular figure who experiences great success. Chapters 2 and 3 demonstrate rising opposition to His mission and teaching and suggest more drama and suspense to come.
- 2:2 Mark is largely a record of Christ's actions, but what Jesus said is not neglected. Here he describes how Jesus preached the word, the message of the coming kingdom.
- 2:4 Many in the crowd may have come expecting to see healings and miracles. The throng blocked entrance into the already packed room. The determination of the men is seen in the fact that they uncovered the roof over the room where Jesus was preaching. The roof was probably flat and constructed of tiles laid one on another.
- 2:5 their faith: Not only did the four men have faith, but the paralytic himself had it too. When Jesus announced to him, your sins are forgiven, He was implicitly acknowledging the paralytic's trust that He was the Messiah.
- 2:6, 7 Mark notes the opposition of the scribes, who under their breath accused Jesus of blasphemy. In Christ's day the scribes were commonly called lawyers.
- 2:9–11 Jesus asked the which is easier question to demonstrate the truth of His claim to forgive the man's sins—something only God can accomplish. Anyone could assert the ability to forgive sins, since there was no earthly way of confirming the statement. But to say arise, take up your bed and walk to a paralytic could be tested immediately by whether he walked or not. By healing the paralytic, Jesus made His pronouncement of forgiveness far more credible. Son of Man is a term regularly used for the Messiah (see 8:31; Dan. 7:13; Mark 8:31).
- 2:12 all were amazed and glorified God: The crowd's reaction showed that they understood the significance of Jesus' miracle. It is possible that some scribes and Pharisees joined in the acclamation. But permanent, life-changing faith is what Christ sought, not temporary adoration from the crowd.
- 2:13 Jesus regularly taught the multitudes in retreat settings. This is indicated by the continuous tense of the verbs used here: They kept on coming, and Jesus kept on teaching.
- 2:14 Levi, also called Matthew (Matt. 9:9; 10:3), was Jewish, but he collected taxes for Rome. The Jews hated tax collectors. They had a reputation for taking more than they needed in order to add to their own wealth.
- 2:17 In this instance Jesus was speaking tongue-in-cheek when He used the word righteous. None are righteous, though some, such as the Pharisees, fancied themselves as such. Instead, Christ came to call sinners to repentance. Jesus did not condone the activities of sinners, but required repentance—a change of mind that recognizes the need of a Savior and recognizes Jesus Christ as the only Savior.
- 2:18 fast: Jesus was not against fasting, if properly observed. He gave guidelines for fasting in the Sermon on the Mount (Matt. 6:16–18). Here, the Pharisees' fasting, perhaps twice each week (Luke 18:12), is contrasted with Jesus' feasting, probably at Levi's house.
- 2:20 Taken away from them may be a hint of Jesus' coming departure (John 14:19, 20; 16:5). After His crucifixion, Jesus' disciples will fast, perhaps figuratively in the sense of sorrowing over His loss.
- 2:21, 22 Mark records only four of Jesus' parables—two of which he includes here. The comparison implies that the newness of His message, and of the new covenant to follow, cannot fit into the old molds of Judaism. The OT was preparation for the NT (Gal. 3:19–25).
- 2:23 Ripe grain can be eaten whole and is both tasty and nutritious. Plucking bits of grain from another's field for sustenance was permitted under Mosaic law (Deut. 23:25).

2:24 The point to the Pharisees' accusation against Jesus and His disciples was that they had performed work on the Sabbath, but their charge was dubious. The act of plucking grain should not be confused with Sabbath work condemned in the law (see Ex. 31:15). This incident is further proof of rising opposition to Jesus' ministry.

2:25, 26 Part of Jesus' defense was to recall the story of David's eating the showbread from the tabernacle. Since that bread was intended for the priests, it was not lawful for others to eat.

2:27, 28 Jesus does not declare directly the innocence of either David or His disciples, but instead reminds His critics of the meaning of the Sabbath for humans and His own Lordship over it.

3:2 The Sabbath controversy continued as Jesus visited the synagogue. The Pharisees (see 3:6), watched Him closely, not to hear the words of life but to accuse Him.

3:4 Christ put the meaning of the Sabbath to the test. Certainly it was more consistent with the intention of the law to restore this man's afflicted hand, even on the Sabbath, than to destroy his hopes for the sake of keeping human tradition. The Pharisees did not respond, for they knew that they would condemn themselves.

3:5 It is possible, as Paul exhorts, to be angry and not sin (Eph. 4:26). Jesus demonstrated this righteous anger. He was grieved with sin but did not sin Himself by retaliating or losing control of His emotions.

3:6 The Pharisees were religious experts who should have led the people in righteousness. Instead, they plotted Jesus' death with the Herodians, their bitter enemies. They were willing to set aside differences to destroy a common foe. The Herodians were Jews who supported Rome and the Herods in particular. Herod Antipas, a son of Herod the Great, ruled Galilee during the same time that Pilate served as Roman governor over Judea and Samaria.

3:7 Because of this plot against His life, Jesus withdrew with the disciples from the area. Still crowds flocked to Him from north (Galilee), south (Judea), and beyond.

3:8 Idumea (the Edom of the OT), the birthplace of Herod the Great, was south of Judea. Beyond the Jordan refers to the cities on the east side of the Jordan River (10:1). Tyre and Sidon (Phoenicia in the OT), both on the Lebanese coast, were also cities Jesus visited during His earthly ministry (7:24) and mentioned in His teachings (Matt. 11:21, 22).

Jerusalem During the Ministry of Jesus

Herod the Great (reigned 37–4 B.C.) rebuilt the temple and its surrounding walls and also built a palace, a fortress, a theater, and a hippodrome (stadium) for horse and chariot races. He brought the city to the zenith of its architectural beauty and Roman cultural expression. This became Jerusalem in the time of Jesus.

(1) The “FIRST WALL,” so named by Josephus, encircled the city during the Hasmonean period, which began in 167 B.C. After the revolt led by Judas Maccabeus in 167, Jerusalem expanded steadily in a period of independence under its own Jewish kings.

(2) The “SECOND WALL” was built by Herod the Great or by earlier Hasmonean kings. Precise location is difficult to determine. This wall was put up around a market area in a valley, protecting it from raiding and looting, but was of questionable military value. At its eastern end, however, Herod built a military barracks (Antonia Fortress).

(3) The “THIRD WALL” (shown with red line) was begun by Herod Agrippa I between A.D. 41 and 44 to enclose the growing northern suburbs, but the work was apparently stopped. Its construction was resumed, in haste, only after the First Jewish Revolt broke out in A.D. 66.

(4) House of Caiaphas the high priest,* identified here with today’s Church of St. Peter in Gallicantu.

(5) Deep valleys on the east, south, and west permitted urban expansion only to the north.

(6) Maximum city growth within walls by A.D. 70.

(8) The Siloam aqueduct-tunnel, 1,749’ long, was cut through solid bedrock, was 5’11” high (average) and followed an “S” shaped course made necessary by engineering difficulties. It was dug by King Hezekiah and provided water during King Sennacherib’s threat to lay siege to the city in 701 B.C. (2 Chr. 32:30). Water flows through it to this very day.

3:11, 12 Some unfortunate persons who met Christ were possessed by unclean spirits, or demons. These spirit beings have no bodily existence but frequently seek to inhabit humans or even animals. Mark says they fell down before Him, most likely by forcing to the ground the person they possessed. Jesus rebuked the demons who proclaimed You are the Son of God not because the demons incorrectly identified Jesus, but because their testimony was untrustworthy.

3:13 Jesus had a large group of followers. John 6:66 indicates that even after the Twelve were appointed, He still had a large and continual following. Luke 10:1 notes that later Jesus sent out an additional 70 disciples.

3:14 These twelve were Jesus’ apostles—a chosen group sent out to fulfill a particular mission.

3:15 Christ gave power or authority to these twelve apostles (Matt. 10:1–4). The apostle Paul called this authority “the signs of an apostle” (2 Cor. 12:12). Christ and the apostles authenticated their ministry through signs, miracles, and wonders (Heb. 2:3, 4).

3:16–19 Jesus gave Peter a new name because it was the Jewish custom to rename someone who had experienced a life-changing event. This renaming of the disciples has similarities to the renaming of Abram (Gen. 17:3–5) and of Saul (Acts 9). Jesus no doubt sent out His apostles in pairs as He did the 70 disciples (6:7–13; Matt. 10:5–15; Luke 9:1–6). This explains the listing of the apostles’ names in groups of two. The coupling is especially evident in Matt. 10:1–4: Peter and Andrew, James and John, Philip and Bartholomew (Nathanael), Matthew and Thomas, James (son of Alphaeus) and Thaddaeus, and Simon the Cananite and Judas. Even though Judas Iscariot had a close partner in the work for three years, no one yet suspected he would be the one who also betrayed Him.

1 Matthew and Mark have the name Thaddaeus while Luke, in his two lists (Luke 6 and Acts 1), has Judas (of James). Some think Judas may have been his original name and that it was changed later to Thaddaeus (meaning perhaps “warm-hearted”) in order to avoid the stigma attached to the name Judas Iscariot.

2 “The Cananite” is a transliteration which probably represents an Aramaic word meaning “Zealous.”

It is interesting that all four lists begin with Simon Peter and end with Judas Iscariot (except the Acts 1 list, for Judas had already killed himself). Also, the names would appear to be in groups of four. Peter, Andrew, James, and John are always in the first group—though not always in that order—and Philip, Bartholomew, Thomas, and Matthew are in the second group in all four lists.

In all four lists, Peter’s name heads the first group, Philip heads the second, and James (of Alphaeus) heads the third. John’s Gospel does not contain a listing of the apostles.

3:21 Opposition to Jesus came not only from His enemies. Jesus’ own people, no doubt close friends and perhaps even relatives (see vv. 31–35), heard of His teaching and assumed that He was out of His mind.

3:22 The scribes, or teachers of the Jewish law, were more harsh and direct in their assessment of Jesus. They accused Him of being possessed by Beelzebub (literally “Lord of the Flies,” 2 Kin. 1:3), another name for Satan. This false charge demonstrates a hardness of heart and is akin to blaspheming against the Holy Spirit (vv. 28–30).

3:23–26 Jesus’ reply in parables was actually a threefold message that contrasted unity and disunity. Nothing—including Satan’s kingdom—can stand if it is divided.

3:27 Whoever defeats Satan must be stronger than he. Jesus implies that He Himself has come to enter the house of the strong man, Satan, to seize his goods (1 John 3:8).

3:28–30 Assuredly (Gk. amen) indicates the solemnity of Jesus’ declaration. While the prophets cited the authority of the Lord, Christ’s words rest on His own authority. While Jesus does not say that anyone in the crowd has actually committed the sin He describes, He nonetheless stresses the hopelessness of such a condition. Anyone who blasphemes against the Holy Spirit places himself or herself outside the redeeming grace of God. It is apparently not a single act of defiant behavior, but a continued state of opposition entered into willfully. The tense of they said indicates a continued action, not a onetime event. The words and works of Christ were spoken and performed by the power of the Holy Spirit. To attribute them to Satan is to call the work of heaven a work of hell. For such perverse belief there is no remedy.

3:31 Opposition arose from Jesus’ own immediate family, His brothers and His mother. We are not told precisely what they wanted to say, but it likely involved a concern for Jesus’ safety or reputation, since He was becoming widely known as a preaching prophet (1:14, 15) and a worker of miracles (1:31; 2:12).

3:35 Whoever does the will of God expresses a spiritual allegiance that goes beyond loyalty to one’s biological family. Spiritual kinship is determined not by blood or race but by obedience to God (cf. Matt. 19:29).

4:2 Parables go beyond mere entertainment or moralizing; they teach vital spiritual truths about the kingdom of God.

- 4:3–8 The story Jesus told was easy enough to comprehend. During the planting season, it was common to see men scattering seed by hand over their small fields. They cast the seeds over the kinds of soil Jesus describes—smooth pathways running through fields, rough terrain that hid large rocks just beneath the surface, fields overgrown with weeds, and excellent, rich soil here and there. The point of the parable is that the condition of the soil determines the potential for growth. The principle is true for Christians and non-Christians alike. Those who have become complacent and lackadaisical are not likely to receive the Word with benefit (James 1:22–25).
- 4:11 A mystery in Scripture is a truth God has revealed or will reveal at the proper time (Rom. 16:25, 26). Jesus apparently used parables for several reasons. First, they are interesting and grab the listener’s attention. Second, such stories are easily remembered. Third, they reveal truth to those who are ready spiritually to receive it. Fourth, they conceal truth from those who oppose Christ’s message. Frequently, Jesus’ opponents failed to understand the lessons because of their own spiritual blindness. See, for example, Matt. 21:45, 46.
- 4:12 Not all will understand the teaching of the kingdom. Compare this statement of Jesus with Is. 6:9, 10; 43:8.
- 4:15 The pathway soil is trampled, hard, and unresponsive. The birds (v. 4) represent Satan who quickly takes away the word that was sown in their hearts. Elsewhere we are told that Satan can blind the minds of those who do not believe (2 Cor. 4:4). The fuller rendering of Jesus’ explanation in Matthew’s parallel account (Matt. 13:19) says that this person “does not understand” and then the “wicked one comes and snatches away what was sown in his heart.”
- 4:16, 17 The shallow soil overlaying the stony ground represents those who seem eager to receive Christ’s message but whose commitment is superficial.
- 4:18, 19 The thorn-infested soil represents those who hear the word but lack single-mindedness and become completely unproductive. Worry (the normal cares of this world) and pleasure-seeking (deceitfulness of riches and the pursuit of other things) are both capable of producing a deadly spiritual apathy.
- 4:20 Only one soil produces fruit. Christ emphasizes the necessity to hear the word, accept it, and bear fruit. Such a person recognizes God’s call, determines to follow it, and experiences a profound transformation.
- 4:21–23 Jesus’ lesson of the lamp, a small clay vessel that burned a wick set in olive oil, is that light reveals what it glows on. Like the lamp, Jesus’ teachings reveal the motives of the human heart.
- 4:24 To those who hear—who receive God’s Good News—more spiritual truth will be given. A growing believer must be receptive and teachable.
- 4:25 Whoever has, meaning those who possess spiritual life, will continue to learn and grow. Whoever does not have spiritual life will lose even what little desire for God he or she seems to have.
- 4:26–29 Plants develop in a complex, intricate process that humans still do not fully understand even two thousand years after Jesus spoke these words. Yet plants grow and bear fruit and seeds just the same. God’s kingdom likewise is growing, although we do not understand all that is happening. This parable, which appears only in Mark’s Gospel, presents God’s kingdom in brief, from first sowing to final reaping.
- 4:30–32 A mustard seed is much smaller than a kernel of corn or a grain of wheat, yet its growth is more spectacular, reaching a height of ten to twelve feet. The point is the comparatively large result from such a humble and insignificant beginning. The kingdom that Jesus came to announce drew little support during His life but will find complete fulfillment when He returns. The mention of birds making their nest under its shade (v. 32) should not be confused with the birds in the parable of the sower (4:4). Most likely, these birds illustrate how large the mustard plant has become.

Parables: More than Stories

Although Jesus lived among a story-telling people, His approach to instruction was still unusual. His stories were memorable, but they were not transparent. People heard them but did not necessarily understand them. They are clearer to us because of the apostle Paul's writings, but few of the first hearers of the parables understood them. Even though "with many such parables He spoke the word" (4:33), at one point the disciples asked in frustration, "Why do You speak to [the people] in parables?" (Matt. 13:10). The disciples did not grasp the stories any better than the rest of the crowd.

Jesus' answer to the disciples reveals much about the purpose of His teaching. He quoted Isaiah 6:9, 10 to demonstrate that those with physical sight and hearing may still not be able to perceive the truths presented to them. For Isaiah, the "dullness" or hardness of the human heart directly affects spiritual insight and understanding. People need to soften their hearts, humble themselves before God, and honestly seek the truth in order to find it.

Jesus' stories are like wrapped gifts. The packaging of the story can either distract or captivate. But unless the package is opened, the gift itself remains unseen. Likewise unless one seeks the core of the parable—its truth and application—the lessons will remain hidden. Yet when discovered, these lessons prove extremely valuable. The testimony of millions of changed lives over two thousand years attests to this fact.

When unwrapped, Jesus' stories include powerful multiple applications. The same parable can strike people in different ways. For example, the parable of the Soils (Mark 4:1–20) may be "heard" by at least four distinct people depending on their identification with one of the soils. The parable of the Lost Son (Luke 15:11–32) will affect a father in quite a different way than it does a rebellious younger son or a jealous older brother.

When Jesus taught in Jerusalem during His last week, His parables focused on the acceptance or rejection of Him. This time even the priests and the Pharisees "perceived that He was speaking of them" (Matt. 21:45). They were stung by Jesus' parables, and they despised Him and His message. But they were unwilling to give up their pride, learn at Jesus' feet, and seek the forgiveness they so desperately needed. They sensed they would not appreciate what they found if they unwrapped the parables, so they refused to seek the truth any further. In doing this, they perfectly conformed to Isaiah's description of a people with dull hearts, hardness of hearing, and closed eyes. These religious leaders who should have been leading the people into the truth were the very ones who were the most blind to it.

4:35 To cross over the Sea of Galilee, a lake only eight miles wide, would not seem difficult at first glance. Yet its unique geography produces a greatly varying climate. The lake is situated seven hundred feet below sea level and is surrounded by mountains that rise three to four thousand feet above sea level on the west, north, and east. Tropical conditions prevail around the lake's surface, where even bananas are grown today. Yet the higher elevations can produce chilling night air.

4:37 It is not unusual even today for a sudden great windstorm to appear on the Sea of Galilee during the evening hours. The warm tropical air from the lake's surface rises and meets the colder air from the nearby hills. The resulting turbulence stirs up great waves which make boating extremely treacherous.

4:38 The mention of Jesus being asleep on a pillow shows His true humanity. He was fully human and needed food and rest just as all people do.

4:39 Jesus' command over the wind and the sea demonstrates His full and complete deity. Only God the Creator can calm wind and sea.

4:41 Mark uses the disciples' question "Who can this be?" to evoke a similar response in the minds of his readers. Mark relates the works and words of the one he calls "Jesus Christ, the Son of God" (1:1).

5:1-8:30 In the major section which begins here, Mark relates incidents of belief and unbelief, climaxing with Peter's confession of Jesus' deity.

5:1 The country of the Gadarenes is on the eastern shore of the Sea of Galilee. The form of the name varies; see the textual notes at 5:1; Matt. 8:28; Luke 8:26, 37.

5:2 Apparently, right after leaving the boat and perhaps before ascending the nearby hills, Jesus was encountered by a man with an unclean spirit (1:23). The man was demon possessed, as v. 15 clearly states.

5:12, 13 It is not certain that the demons needed permission to leave the man and enter the swine, but they may have been trying to forestall permanent bondage by Christ. (The bottomless pit of Rev. 9:1 may be such a place of imprisonment.) Jesus bears no responsibility for the action the demons took; He did not direct them to run the swine into the sea. Even today, two thousand hogs is a very large herd. Their monetary value could easily have been worth a quarter of a million dollars in today's economy—a sizable loss for the owners.

5:14 The OT forbade Jews to have any contact with swine (Lev. 11:7, 8). However, the owners of these swine might not have been Jewish, since this area was inhabited largely by Gentiles (see 5:20).

5:17-20 Jesus was not well received in this region. His presence had cost financial loss to some, although it meant liberation to the demoniac. Jesus could have healed and saved in that region, but He was turned away by its fearful citizens. Yet He left a solid witness behind. All the people marveled when they heard what Jesus had done for him. Jesus later made an excursion through the Decapolis region (7:31). Decapolis literally means "ten cities." This largely Gentile, Greek-speaking area was an important strategic link in Rome's military defense.

5:21 Jesus' crossing by boat to the other side brought Him to Capernaum, although Mark does not mention that here.

Jesus' Miracles in Mark

Mark dedicates more of his account to Jesus' miracles than any of the other Gospel writers. For Mark, these miracles were demonstrations of Jesus' power—His power over disease, the forces of evil, even over nature. Many flocked to Him to be healed and fed. Some wondered who Jesus was. But others followed Him.

5:22 Jairus, one of the rulers of the synagogue, was a lay leader charged with supervising services at the synagogue.

5:23 Aware of Jesus' miraculous powers, Jairus approached Jesus with perhaps the greatest need he had ever faced. He knew that Jesus could meet his need. However, he believed—falsely, it turned out—that Jesus had to actually touch his desperately ill daughter before she could be healed. Yet his faith was unshakable.

5:24–34 Intertwined with the incident of Jairus's daughter is the story of the woman with a persistent blood flow, perhaps a severe menstrual disorder. As a result, she was considered unclean, and anyone she touched would become unclean ceremonially for one day (Lev. 15:25–27). Still, she entered the crowd to touch Jesus.

- 5:26 Mark is not complimentary toward the physicians who had treated the woman, noting that she had spent all that she had. Luke, a physician himself, omits Mark's added detail that her condition actually grew worse.
- 5:27 The woman touched His garment. Perhaps she had heard of another who was healed in a similar way. She must have feared having her embarrassing condition revealed to the crowd.
- 5:28 Her faith motivates her to act.
- 5:29, 30 The word immediately is used twice in this context. Both the woman and Jesus simultaneously knew what had happened. The woman had no idea that Jesus had consciously healed her. While she sought to disappear into the crowd, Jesus turned and asked Who touched My clothes? He wanted to correct any mistaken notion she may have had about her healing. It was not any magical quality of His clothing, but His divine will that had made her well.
- 5:31 No one else was aware that the healing had happened. The disciples became dismayed, perhaps because they were anxious to reach Jairus's home.
- 5:32 He looked around, or literally, kept on looking around, gazing on the people crowded near Him.
- 5:33 Jesus' kind manner and tender words must have eased the fear this woman had of being revealed. She stepped forward and told Him the whole truth. Naturally, the time that Jesus took to care for the woman must have worried the already tense disciples.
- 5:34 Jesus used a tender word, daughter, to address this woman, and He noted that her faith made the difference, for it was correctly placed in Him. Faith itself does not heal; rather, it is the proper object of that faith, Jesus, who heals.

(Gk. pistis) (5:34; 10:52; Matt. 8:10; 15:28; Luke 7:50; 8:48) Strong's #4102

The Greek term means “trust,” or “firm persuasion.” The corresponding verb means “to believe,” as is illustrated by Jesus’ word in 5:36 to Jairus: “Do not be afraid; only believe.” To have faith is to relinquish trust in oneself and to put that trust in another. The woman who had the hemorrhage had put her trust in physicians but to no avail. Now she put all her trust in Jesus, believing He could cure her. According to Jesus, it was her faith that made her well. This was a proclamation Jesus made many times (Matt. 8:10; 9:22, 29; 15:28; Luke 7:50; 8:48). The writers of the epistles sometimes use the word pistis to refer to what one believes, the content of faith, God’s revelation in the Scripture (see Gal. 1:23).

- 5:35, 36 The implication of the girl’s reported death is that her condition is now irreversible and without remedy. Jesus immediately corrects this thought by insisting that Jairus stop being afraid and continue to believe.
- 5:37 He permits only three disciples to join Him—Peter, James, and John. Note that these same three were the ones permitted to see the Transfiguration (9:2) and who accompanied Jesus for prayer in Gethsemane (14:32, 33).
- 5:38 Public mourning was loud and boisterous.
- 5:41 Talitha, cumi is Aramaic.
- 5:42 That the girl arose indicates that her life had been restored, just as in the case of the dead son of the widow of Nain (Luke 7:15) and of Lazarus who had been dead for four days (John 11:44). All three would die again. Jesus’ resurrection, however, was unique. Not only was He restored to life, but His body was transformed so that He would never again have to face death.
- 5:43 The command to keep the miracle a secret was a temporary measure, for certainly the girl’s reappearance could not be hidden very long. Such orders would, however, allow Jesus to exit quietly. Jesus did not want to be known primarily as a miracle worker lest people seek Him for the wrong reasons.
- 6:1 Jesus now went to minister in His own country, the area where He grew up, around Nazareth.
- 6:2 The people readily acknowledged both Jesus’ wisdom and His mighty works, but with insensitive hearts and spiritual callousness they rejected Jesus’ message.
- 6:3 The fact that Joseph is not mentioned here may indicate that he had died. Mark mentions Jesus’ four brothers by name as well as His sisters. One brother, James, did not trust Christ prior to His crucifixion (John 7:5), but seems to have come to faith after Jesus’ resurrection (Acts 1:14; 1 Cor. 15:7). He later became the leader of the church in Jerusalem (Acts 15:13; Gal. 1:19) and wrote the Epistle of James. Judas later authored the Book of Jude (Jude 1).
- 6:4 A prophet is not without honor except in his own country is a maxim still repeated and still true today. Perhaps others were jealous of Jesus’ popularity and huge following. Their envy even took the form of violence against Christ (see Luke 4:29).

6:8–10 These instructions accompanied the Twelve on their assigned journey, the results of which are reported in Mark 6:30. These rules made for easier travel and encouraged the disciples to trust God for their food and shelter, which faithful Jewish hearers who heeded their teaching would provide.

Bible Times & Culture Notes

Sandals

In its simplest form, the sandal was a sole of wood fastened with straps of leather. This is what the disciples wore when they were sent out by Jesus (6:9), and what Peter was told to put on when the angel rescued him from prison (Acts 12:8). All classes of people in Palestine wore sandals—from the very poor to the wealthy. Jews did not wear their sandals indoors; they removed them upon entering the house, and then their feet were washed. Removing one's sandals was also a sign of reverence: Moses was told to do it when God spoke to him from the burning bush (Ex. 3:5). The Jews considered it a very lowly task to carry or to unloose another person's sandals (John 1:27). Going without sandals was a mark of poverty (Luke 15:22) or a sign of mourning (2 Sam. 13:30; Is. 20:2–4; Ezek. 24:17, 23).

6:12 That people should repent was part of the apostles' primary message. Repentance was necessary to cultivate the new life Christ offered.

6:13 Casting out demons and healing the sick would add authority to the apostles' message (2 Cor. 12:12; Heb. 2:3, 4).

6:14–29 These verses break from the narrative to describe the death of John the Baptist. So alarming was Jesus' sudden fame that Herod feared that John had risen from the dead. The disciples Jesus had sent out (6:7–13) undoubtedly added to Herod's worry. It appears that one of Mark's purposes in describing John's death was to foreshadow the violent death of Christ Himself and even of some who would follow Him.

- 6:14 King Herod is Herod Antipas, one of the sons of Herod the Great, the king who tried to kill the baby Jesus (see Matt. 2:1–18). After Herod the Great's death in 4 B.C., his kingdom was divided between Archelaus, who received Judea and Samaria; Philip, who ruled Iturea and Trachonitis, north and east of Galilee; and Antipas, who controlled Galilee and Perea from 4 B.C. to A.D. 39. Jesus ministered largely in the territory ruled by Antipas.
- 6:15 This verse demonstrates the contrast in expectations that Israel had for its coming Messiah. It is clear that many did not recognize the divine mission that Jesus was fulfilling.
- 6:17 The prison where John was kept was at Machaerus, in the hills which overlook the Dead Sea. A complete palace and fortress occupied that site. Herodias was a granddaughter of Herod the Great and the sister of Herod Agrippa I (Acts 12:1–23). She was married to Philip, a half brother of Herod Antipas, but not the Philip of Luke 3:1. Herodias's first husband was never a ruler. She divorced this Philip in order to marry Herod Antipas. Herod likewise divorced his first wife, the daughter of Aretas IV, king of Arabia (see 2 Cor. 11:32).
- 6:18 John's message to Herod was that his divorce was not lawful as grounds for remarriage. John's declaration could be based on Jesus' stern words about divorce (10:11, 12) or on Lev. 20:21, which prohibits a man from taking his brother's wife.
- 6:22 Herodias' daughter, named Salome, was still unmarried at this point and danced seductively to please Herod Antipas. She later married Philip the Tetrarch, who ruled Iturea and Trachonitis and is mentioned in Luke 3:1.
- 6:23 Because she pleased him, Herod Antipas swore to Salome a solemn oath to give her up to half of his kingdom (an expression meaning a large amount but with limits), words that remind us of Xerxes' promise to Esther (Esth. 5:3, 6). This gesture was no doubt exaggerated, yet Salome seized the opportunity for her mother, Herodias, who hated John the Baptist.
- 6:27 To keep his oath, Herod dispatched an executioner. Here Mark uses a Latin word, spekoulatora, easily understood by his Roman readers.
- 6:34 The Gospels record several times that when Jesus saw a need He was moved with compassion (1:41; Ex. 34:6; Luke 7:13; John 11:35). That compassion led to action, despite an obvious lack of food in this instance.
- 6:36, 37 The disciples sought to avoid responsibility for the hungry multitude, saying send them away. No doubt they thought they were showing compassion. But Jesus' reply, You give them something to eat, must have startled them. The Latin word denarii is the plural of denarius, a commonly used silver coin. It was the sum typically paid to a laborer for a day's work. Thomas calculated it would take the wages of two hundred days' labor to provide for that multitude.
- 6:39, 40 Details such as sitting on the green grass, which is possible only in late winter and early spring, and the fact that the groups were counted in hundreds and in fifties are indications that an eyewitness, probably Peter, recounted this story to Mark. John 6:4 informs us that this event occurred prior to the approaching Passover, always celebrated in March or April.
- 6:41 The tense of the verb gave, used by Mark and Luke (Luke 9:16), suggests that the multiplication of the loaves took place in Jesus' hands as He continued or kept on giving the bread and fish to the disciples.
- 6:43 The twelve baskets full of fragments were small baskets commonly carried by travelers (contrast the baskets described in 8:8, which are larger). It is possible to conclude that the leftovers gave each disciple enough food for his own use. When we put the will of God first, He will care for our needs (Matt. 6:33; Phil. 4:19) and provide our daily bread.
- 6:46 Jesus spent several nights in prayer during His ministry. Prayer was a vital part of Christ's communion with the Father and always preceded and accompanied especially difficult situations. This particular night followed a busy day when solitude was sought but not found.
- 6:47 In the middle of the sea does not mean the very center of the lake but simply out in the water. They were probably closest to the northern shore.

- 6:48 The fourth watch lasted from 3 A.M. until 6 A.M. That Jesus would have passed them by does not indicate that He was on His way to somewhere else. He intended to reveal Himself to His disciples in a miraculous manner. He could easily have calmed the waves from shore, but He wanted His disciples to understand His deity and mastery over all nature.
- 6:49 When the disciples saw Jesus they thought they saw a ghost (an apparition), a sign often interpreted as a foreshadowing of evil, even death.
- 6:50 Mark omits the added detail of Peter walking on the water to meet Jesus (see Matt. 14:28–31). Mark almost certainly knew of the incident but chose not to describe it for his readers, perhaps to avoid distracting his readers from the central role Christ plays in the account.
- 6:51 Three miracles are contained in this brief account (vv. 47–51). (1) In the darkness Jesus saw the disciples out in the storm miles away. (2) Jesus walked on the water. (3) Jesus showed complete control over His creation when the wind ceased.
- 6:53 They had set out for Bethsaida (v. 45) on the northeastern shore, but the storm apparently changed their course. The land of Gennesaret was on the northwest shore of the Sea of Galilee, just west of Capernaum. It was and still is a fertile agricultural area.
- 6:56 Mark summarizes Jesus' healing ministry, noting how widespread it was. The hem of a garment was significant, for it was often woven with tassels that reminded the wearer of God's commandments (see 5:27; Num. 15:37–41).
- 7:1–23 In this chapter, the scribes and Pharisees become more vocal in their opposition to Jesus. The breach between true spirituality and man-made tradition widens considerably.
- 7:1 Jerusalem was the central city of the Jewish faith. The Pharisees (see Matt. 5:20) and scribes (teachers of the law) were no doubt sent by the Jewish religious authorities to ascertain Jesus' position on the issues they counted important.
- 7:3, 4 These two verses explain the tradition of handwashing and various kinds of ceremonial uncleanness. Mark's intended readers in Rome likely needed more background on the Jewish faith to understand this controversy.
- 7:5 The tradition of the elders (see Matt. 15:2) was a series of rules meant to bolster the ceremonial law of the Jews. Its authority was not supported by Scripture. The question indirectly challenged Jesus, for as the disciples' teacher He was judged responsible for their actions.
- 7:6, 7 Jesus did not directly answer the question but instead addressed two more significant issues: (1) the superiority of God's law over man-made tradition (vv. 6–13) and (2) the difference between ceremonial and true moral defilement (vv. 14–23). Jesus enters into the argument by calling His adversaries hypocrites. The term originally referred to actors who wore masks on stage as they played different characters. Thus the Pharisees were not genuinely religious; they were merely playing a part for all to see.
- 7:8, 9 In earlier times the Hebrews held the written law of God, the Torah, in such esteem that they would not write down their reflections on it, lest they should tempt later generations to consider their words as important as God's law. But as time went on, written commentaries on the law, collected in the Talmud, assumed greater authority than the Torah itself.
- 7:11–13 But you say shows the absolute contrast between God's will and man's empty tradition. The Corban was evidently a pious-sounding evasion of the requirement of honoring one's parents by supporting them financially.
- 7:14 A private question at mealtime bloomed into a controversy that now met the ears of all the multitude whom Jesus summoned. Jesus made a bold public statement that must have liberated His listeners and infuriated the Pharisees.
- 7:24–8:26 After a forceful public confrontation with the Jewish authorities, Jesus withdrew to rest and to instruct His own disciples.
- 7:24 Jesus' travels to the region of Tyre and Sidon are the farthest beyond Israel He is reported to have gone during His public ministry. Sidon is about 50 miles northeast of Capernaum.

The Territories of Tyre and Sidon

In a unique excursion into pagan and semipagan areas, Jesus visited the districts of Tyre and Sidon and the confederation of free cities called the Decapolis. He was called to minister to “the lost sheep of the house of Israel” (Matt. 15:24), but the phenomenal public attention in Galilee was intense. Even here His fame had spread, and He could not keep His presence secret. The commercially magnificent cities of Tyre and Sidon had been a source of cultural seductiveness and religious heterodoxy since the time of Jezebel. The cities had been heavily influenced by Hellenism; the sophistication of Greek culture was apparent in their coinage and architecture. Each was also a proud, historic center of Canaanite paganism, with tombs of ancient kings and temples to Melqart/Heracles, Astarte, and various other deities.

- 7:25 Even in a house in faraway Sidon, Jesus could not find privacy.
- 7:26 The woman who approached Jesus was a Gentile, as the word Greek signifies here. She was a native of that area. Syro-Phoenician (see 1 Kin. 17:8–24 for the story of the widow at Zarephath) reflects the political situation of the Middle East at that time. Phoenicia (modern Lebanon) was part of the Roman province of Syria, which also included all of Palestine—Galilee, Samaria, Perea, Judea, Idumea, and other regions.
- 7:27 Jesus was in the midst of teaching or feeding His disciples, called figuratively His children. During a meal one does not stop to feed the house pets, the little dogs. Jesus is not attempting to insult the woman by using this metaphor. In fact, He is testing her faith. Matthew records Jesus' reaction to her reply, "O woman, great is your faith" (Matt. 15:28).
- 7:28 The woman understood Jesus' test and persistently replied that even during the meal the little dogs consume the children's crumbs that fall from the table.
- 7:29 Rewarding her persistence, Jesus granted her request. He cast the demons out, although the girl was not in His presence.
- 7:31 Jesus' route to Israel bypassed Galilee itself. Instead Jesus went east into the Decapolis region and then turned south past Mt. Hermon until He reached the Sea of Galilee.
- 7:32–35 The healing of this deaf man (who also had a speech impediment) is one of the two miracles recorded by Mark only. (The other is the healing of the blind man recorded in 8:22–26.) Those who have never heard also frequently have problems pronouncing words.
- 7:34 Ephphatha is an Aramaic word. Mark provides an interpretation for his largely non-Jewish audience.
- 7:36 Jesus' command to tell no one, though unheeded, was meant to allow Him to move freely in the area. He knew that curiosity seekers could hamper His ministry.
- 8:4 Jesus desired to feed the multitude, but His disciples questioned how. They had witnessed the feeding of the five thousand a few days earlier but could not imagine Jesus duplicating this miracle.
- 8:6 The verb tenses for the words translated took, gave thanks, and broke specify action at a fixed moment in the past. Yet the verb translated gave is in the imperfect tense, which shows a continuing action. Thus we may conclude that the miracle of multiplication was a continuing process that took place, at least initially, in Jesus' hands.
- 8:8 The seven large baskets contained leftovers—one basket from each original loaf. These baskets were much larger than the 12 small personal baskets mentioned in 6:43. It was this kind of larger basket that was used to lower Paul over the wall of Damascus (Acts 9:25).
- 8:10 Apparently Dalmanutha and Magdala (Matt. 15:39) are different names for the same region. Both are mentioned only once in the NT. Dalmanutha was probably on the western side of the Sea of Galilee, about three miles north of modern Tiberias and about five miles southwest of Capernaum.
- 8:11 The Pharisees' testing of Jesus was crafty and devious. Obviously these men did not heed the many signs and wonders that Jesus had already performed. John 20:30, 31 indicates that the signs were meant to produce faith. It is doubtful that the Pharisees would have changed their minds even if they had seen another miracle.
- 8:13 Having fed the four thousand on the western side of the lake, Jesus led His disciples by boat to the other side, near Bethsaida (v. 22).
- 8:15 Jesus repeatedly commanded His disciples to beware of the leaven, the growing corruption of the Pharisees and of Herod Antipas which was spreading throughout Israel.

leaven

(Gk. zumē) (8:15; Matt. 13:33; 16:6, 12; 1 Cor. 5:6–8; Gal. 5:9) Strong's #2219

Leaven was a common Jewish metaphor for an invisible, pervasive influence. Its use here as a corrupting influence was an appropriate image to use in describing the subtle but pervasive control the religious leaders had on society. Like leaven that works its way into fresh dough, spreading out through the bread until its effects are evident in the entire batch, so their ideas were gradually infiltrating men's minds until they had penetrated and permeated every part of their thinking. In this context, the leaven of the Pharisees must be linked with their desire to see a sign, because they did not believe in Jesus' identity. Herod also wanted a sign (Luke 23:8). This unbelieving attitude, like leaven, had started to permeate the general population.

8:17–21 The disciples continued to show a lack of spiritual discernment despite the miracles they had witnessed. Jesus' rebuke was intended to make them recall what God had done for them.

8:22–26 Jesus' healing of the blind man in stages paralleled the disciples' imperfect perception of Jesus. Like the man, they were no longer blind, but they could not see clearly either. Only the Holy Spirit could clear their vision.

The Decapolis and the Lands Beyond the Jordan

- (1) Place east of the Jordan River where John the Baptist was baptizing (John 1:28). Here at Bethany on the other side of the Jordan John saw Jesus and called Him the “Lamb of God” (John 1:29, 35).
- (2) Philip, Andrew, and Peter were from Bethsaida (see John 1:44; 12:21). Jesus healed a blind man here (Mark 8:22). Feeding of the 5,000 took place near here (Luke 9:10).
- (3) Jesus and His disciples withdrew to Caesarea Philippi (Matt. 16:13; Mark 8:27), and here Peter confessed that Jesus was the Messiah (Matt. 16:15, 16).
- (4) Paul was converted near Damascus and was brought blinded into the city (Acts 9:3, 8; 22:6, 11).

- 8:27 Caesarea Philippi is about 25 miles north of Bethsaida and the Sea of Galilee. It stands on the southern edge of Mt. Hermon and is today called Banias. One of the sources of the Jordan River springs forth from under a large rocky cliff that rises a hundred or more feet above the village. Many idols were carved into the rock facade. The contrast between Jesus Christ and these local gods was striking—a perfect place for Christ to ask the question of v. 29. The name Philippi distinguishes this town from Caesarea by the sea.
- 8:28 The disciples’ answers to Jesus’ question about His identity restate popular misconceptions. They recall the statements made by Herod and others in 6:14, 15.
- 8:29 Jesus then emphatically asks His disciples for their understanding. The word you is prominent in Jesus’ question. Peter answers for the group when he says You are the Christ. Jesus wants His disciples to grasp firmly His true identity before He reveals to them the necessity of His coming death and Resurrection. In Mark’s Gospel, only the disciples come to understand who Jesus is. The opposition of the religious leaders and the disciples’ dullness is suddenly overshadowed by Peter’s wonderful confession.
- 8:30 Jesus’ warning to tell no one about Him may seem strange. Its explanation lies in the fact that the Jews expected the Messiah to be a political liberator. Jesus’ first coming was meant to accomplish another kind of liberation—release from sin. Hence Jesus was careful not to use the name Messiah publicly, for it was misunderstood by the Jewish people, their leaders, and the Roman authorities.
- 8:31 This is the first of several clear predictions Jesus makes about His coming death and resurrection (9:31; 10:33, 34). He began to teach them signals this new disclosure of His death, burial, and resurrection to His apostles. The Son of Man is a title that only Jesus uses of Himself. The elders and chief priests, former high priests, and scribes made up the Jewish ruling council, the Sanhedrin. These men would condemn Jesus to death (for the fulfillment of Jesus’ prediction, see 14:53, 64).
- 8:32 Jesus spoke . . . openly, that is plainly, not in parables. Peter understood clearly Jesus’ prediction of death and could not accept or understand it, and so he began to rebuke Him.
- 8:33 Peter’s thoughts, born of fear and concern, were probably well-intended, but they did not take in God’s eternal purposes and plan. Peter was not indwelt by Satan, but Satan had certainly suggested his thoughts. If Peter had his way, Jesus’ mission would not have been accomplished.
- 8:35 To preserve one’s life eternally, one must surrender earthly possessions and relationships held so dearly (see Matt. 16:24–27; 19:27–29).

- 8:38 When He comes in the glory of His Father is the key of this address to the disciples (vv. 34–38). It is the first glimpse of the fulfillment of all history (1 Cor. 15:24–28). Those who will reign with Christ invest their lives in that which will last (v. 35). Those who are willing to confess Him today will be rewarded before the Father in heaven (Matt. 5:10–12; 2 Tim. 2:11–13; Rev. 2:26–28).
- 9:1 After Jesus predicted His own death, Peter and the other disciples needed reassurance that Jesus would ultimately triumph. His prediction that some of them would see the kingdom of God present with power must have alleviated their fears.
- 9:2 After six days links Jesus' prediction of v. 1 with the events of vv. 2–8. The high mountain was most likely one of the foothills surrounding Mt. Hermon. They probably did not stand on Mt. Hermon itself, a snowy peak which rises to 9,232 feet. It is the highest point in all of Palestine. These mountains overlook Caesarea Philippi, where Peter's confession was made (8:27–29). Jesus' transfiguration deeply affected John and Peter, who mention it in their writings (see John 1:14; 2 Pet. 1:16–18).
- 9:4 Elijah is mentioned in Mal. 4:5, 6 in connection with the future coming of Christ. This is why people asked John the Baptist if he were Elijah (John 1:21). Moses was the lawgiver and liberator, while Elijah was the first of the great prophets. Their presence confirmed the reality that Jesus is the Messiah of Peter's confession.
- 9:7 The voice of God the Father was heard audibly three times during the life of Christ. The other two occasions were at Jesus' baptism (1:11) and during His triumphal entry into Jerusalem (John 12:28).
- 9:11, 12 This question is based on the words of Mal. 4:5, 6.
- 9:13 Jesus' comment that Elijah has also come is a reference to John the Baptist. John was not a reincarnation of Elijah, but one who ministered "in the spirit and power of Elijah" (Luke 1:17) in preparing the way for Christ. They did to him whatever they wished refers to the ruthless way John the Baptist was imprisoned and murdered.
- 9:17–20 The boy had several problems. The mute spirit was a demon that kept the boy from speaking, but the demon also produced seizures. Verse 20 says the spirit convulsed him.
- 9:24 I believe; help my unbelief expresses the dilemma that even those who believe can be nagged by doubt and hopelessness. This man took the correct course by appealing to Jesus for help.
- 9:29 Jesus said that prayer and fasting were required to prevail in some difficult instances. Fasting may help focus one's energies on the resources available in our great God.
- 9:31 For the second time (see 8:31), Jesus tells plainly of His coming death and resurrection.
- 9:34, 35 The disciples kept silent, refusing to tell Jesus about their discussion. But Jesus once again challenged their assumptions. He presented them with another paradox—that to be great in God's kingdom, one must be a servant. The example was modeled by Christ Himself.
- 9:40 Jesus is not endorsing all who claim to follow Him. Rather, this statement was meant to remind the disciples that God's work was not necessarily restricted to their small group.
- 9:42 Jesus uses hyperbole, exaggeration for an effect, to state the seriousness of causing spiritual injury to others. A millstone is an extremely heavy circular stone, three to four feet across and about a foot thick, used to grind grain into meal.
- 9:43 Cut it off should be taken figuratively; it means to take whatever drastic action is necessary to avoid sin. The imagery of hell (frequently called gehenna) comes from a garbage dump outside the walls of Jerusalem. Jesus' hearers were familiar with the smoldering fires that always burned there. Obedience and self-control (vv. 41, 47) are necessary to overcome sin. The longing of the disciples for greatness (vv. 33–37) needed to be reshaped according to God's purposes.

hell

(Gk. gehenna) (9:43, 45; Matt. 5:22, 29, 30; Luke 12:5; James 3:6) Strong's #1067

The word hell in this passage translates the word gehenna, which is an allusion to the “Valley of the Son of Hinnom” (Josh. 18:16). In this valley, the Israelites had gone so far as to offer their children as burnt sacrifices to Molech. Josiah defiled this site in order to prevent the repetition of such abominations (see 2 Kin. 23:10), and then a fire was kept burning there to consume the carrion and refuse that were collected around Jerusalem. The final punishment of the wicked is described in the OT by allusions to this valley (Is. 66:24). By using the word gehenna, Jesus was recalling the same place and that kind of punishment for sin.

Go to the List of Word Studies

- 9:49 The word for shows that Mark intended his readers to apply the preceding verses to their own lives. Everyone will be seasoned with fire may refer to the trials and judgments that all will face—believers with trials that purify faith, unbelievers with the eternal fire of God’s judgment.
- 10:1 Jesus, now on His final journey to Jerusalem, comes to Capernaum (9:33). His Galilean ministry will head south to Judea and even into Perea on the eastern side of the Jordan River.
- 10:2 The Pharisees’ question about divorce was a trap. Perhaps they hoped He would contradict Moses (Deut. 24:1–4) or offend Herod Antipas as John the Baptist had (see 6:18). The only possibility for divorce under Jewish law was for a man to divorce his wife.
- 10:4 A certificate of divorce was a document signed before witnesses. Its intent was to limit frivolous divorces. In Jesus’ day, the interpretation of this custom varied widely. The disciples of Hillel allowed divorce for almost any reason, but the followers of Shammai permitted divorce only for sexual impurity.
- 10:5, 6 Jesus declares that divorce was a concession to the hardness of your heart and then turns the argument to God’s original intentions for marriage as seen in Gen. 2:21–25. God’s design of male and female shows that He held each to be equal in value and worth, but that they fulfilled a different function and role in His design.
- 10:7, 8 A man is to leave his parents, cleave to his wife, then weave a life of beauty with her. Jesus quotes almost verbatim from the text of Gen. 2:24. The two become one flesh, and this bond is comparable to that of a blood relationship.
- 10:9 Jesus indicated that God’s original purpose for marriage was that the union should not be broken.
- 10:11 Whoever divorces his wife: Mark includes no exception to Christ’s prohibition of divorce, nor is any exception listed in Luke 16:18; Rom. 7:1, 2; 1 Cor. 7:10, 11. Compare Matt. 5:32; 19:9, where an exception is made.
- 10:12 In Jewish society, it was not possible for a woman to divorce her husband, but Mark is presenting Jesus’ words in a way his Roman audience would understand.
- 10:15 Children exhibit sincerity, eagerness, a trusting attitude, and total dependence on their parents. Thus childlikeness is a fitting comparison for the qualities a disciple should have.

- 10:17 In addressing Jesus as Good Teacher, the rich young ruler (Matt. 19:22; Luke 18:18) meant no more than to issue a respectful formal greeting to a religious teacher.
- 10:18 The reply that no one is good but One, that is, God is Jesus' claim to deity, which He asks the young ruler to recognize.
- 10:19 Jesus recounts the seventh, sixth, eighth, ninth, and fifth commandments with the phrase do not defraud inserted just before the fifth commandment. All of these commands concern the fair and ethical treatment of other people (Ex. 20:12–17).
- 10:23, 24 Those who have riches frequently also are those who trust in riches, a dangerous condition for one seeking spiritual life.
- 10:25–27 This comparison of a camel going through a needle is a literal one (Matt. 19:24). In human terms, it is not just difficult, but totally impossible, for a rich man to be saved. But it is also impossible for anyone at all to be saved apart from God's grace and power. God provides the means of salvation, enlightens the sinner's understanding, and regenerates the believing soul.
- 10:29 The one who has left all these things has not necessarily renounced them but has certainly reordered his priorities (see Matt. 19:29). Peter still had his wife some 25 years later, as did the other apostles and Jesus' own brothers (1 Cor. 9:5). Many times, however, they made heavy sacrifices for the sake of Christ and the gospel.
- 10:30 Spiritual rewards await those who follow Christ in this time, meaning during this age between Christ's first and second comings. Mark alone mentions that persecutions will follow as well—a point his Roman readers may have already known. After Christ's return, in the age to come, the incomparable reward will be eternal life in God's presence.
- 10:31 Worldly esteem, which is measured by wealth, social standing, nobility, birth, and personal achievement, will count for nothing in the world to come. Only humility and servanthood lead to greatness in God's kingdom. Matthew follows this saying with an illustrative parable (see Matt. 20:1–16).
- 10:32–34 Jesus revealed for the third time His imminent death and resurrection as the disciples walked the road toward Jerusalem for Passover. See 8:31; 9:31 for His previous teaching on this subject.
- 10:35 According to Matt 20:20, it was the mother of James and John who sought Jesus, but it is likely that the sons themselves encouraged her to do it.
- 10:37 To be seated at a king's right hand was to take the position of most prominence; the person seated at the left hand ranked just below that (Luke 22:24–30). Jesus had to remind the disciples again about the price of greatness in God's kingdom. As they journeyed toward Jerusalem, "they thought the kingdom of God would appear immediately" (Luke 19:11), so they may have wanted to secure their power and authority as soon as possible.
- 10:38 To drink the cup and be baptized are references to the suffering and death that awaited Jesus (14:36). Jesus wanted His disciples to understand the mocking, scourging, beating, and torture He would have to endure.
- 10:39 Jesus agreed with their response, though they had not yet understood the cost of their commitment. Although not suffering the same level of spiritual agony that Jesus did, James would soon be executed by Herod Agrippa I in A.D. 44 (see Acts 12:1, 2). John was the last apostle to die, being exiled for a while on the island of Patmos (Rev. 1:9). He was persecuted greatly and had to witness the deaths of more Christians than probably any of the other apostles.
- 10:42–44 The point here is not the fact that Gentile rulers lord it over them, but the very idea that they seek to exercise authority. Jesus wants each of His followers to be a servant—one who as an attendant waits on others. The word slave signifies subjection, but not necessarily bondage.
- 10:45 This verse is the dividing point of the Book of Mark. The first section of the book has emphasized Jesus' servanthood, whereas the second section recounts the details of His death and resurrection. Having three times predicted His coming death, Jesus now explains its purpose. A ransom is the price paid to free slaves or hostages. The word is found only here and in Matt. 20:28, although it appears frequently in other documents of that time. Christ's life is given for others, in place of their lives. The word many is used for contrast, see 2 Cor. 5:14; 1 Tim. 2:6; 1 John 2:2.

10:47 Son of David is a messianic title. Mark shows us the irony of a blind man who had spiritual insight, while many who could see—including the religious leaders—were spiritually blind.

10:49, 50 Mark's account has all the graphic details of an eyewitness account—Jesus stood still; then Bartimaeus was suddenly throwing aside his garment to rise and meet Jesus. Mark also notes the changed attitude of the crowd—they began by deriding Bartimaeus but later encouraged him.

10:51 Rabboni is a very tender Aramaic form of address meaning “master” or “teacher” (see John 20:16).

10:52 We know that Bartimaeus followed Jesus for at least a short time on the road. He went along with the surging crowd at Jericho. Did he, however, become a disciple of note? Mark's mention of his name may indicate that he was known in the early church.

11:1-15:47 More than one-third of Mark's narrative takes place during a seven-day period—the Passover week when Jesus is finally put to death. Mark's Gospel has been called a Passion story with a long introduction. His emphasis on the Passion Week is appropriate. Without this week, Jesus would not have fulfilled his purpose for coming to the earth.

11:1 Bethphage and Bethany are just east of the Mount of Olives, about two miles from the gates of Jerusalem. Lazarus was raised to life at Bethany (John 12:1).

11:2-7 Christ's deity is evident in this passage. You will find demonstrates His omniscience. It is possible for a donkey on which no one has sat to be very calm and accommodating, but Jesus is also master of all nature and all creatures.

11:8-11 This was the triumphal entry on Palm Sunday. The crowd recognized Jesus' lordship by repeating a messianic psalm (Ps. 118:25, 26). Jesus retired to Bethany each night, perhaps staying in a friend's home (maybe Lazarus's or Simon's, see 14:3). But in view of the fact that Jesus appears to have had no breakfast the next day (see v. 12), He and the Twelve may have camped outside this night.

Passion Week—Bethany, the Mount of Olives, and Jerusalem

The Roman road climbed steeply to the crest of the Mount of Olives, affording spectacular views of the Desert of Judea to the east and of Jerusalem across the Kidron Valley to the west.

(1) Arrival in Bethany

FRIDAY (John 12:1)

Jesus arrived in Bethany six days before the Passover to spend some time with His friends, Mary, Martha, and Lazarus. On the following Tuesday evening, while Jesus was still in Bethany, Mary anointed His feet with costly perfume as an act of humility. This tender expression indicated Mary's devotion to Jesus and her willingness to serve Him.

(2) Sabbath—day of rest

SATURDAY

Not mentioned in the Gospels.

The Lord spent the Sabbath day in traditional fashion with His friends.

(3) The “Triumphal” Entry

SUNDAY (Matt. 21:1–11; Mark 11:1–11; Luke 19:28–44; John 12:12–19)

On the first day of the week Jesus rode into Jerusalem on a donkey, fulfilling an ancient prophecy (Zech. 9:9). The crowd welcomed Him with the words of Psalm 118:25, 26, thus ascribing to Him a Messianic title as the agent of the Lord, the coming King of Israel.

(4) Clearing of the temple

MONDAY (Matt. 21:12–17; Mark 11:15–18; Luke 19:45–48)

Jesus returned to the temple and found the court of the Gentiles full of traders and money changers making a large profit. Jesus drove them out and overturned their benches and tables.

(5) Day of controversy and parables

TUESDAY (Matt. 21:23—24:51; Mark 11:27—13:37; Luke 20:1—21:36)

IN JERUSALEM

Jesus evaded the traps set by the priests.

ON THE MOUNT OF OLIVES OVERLOOKING JERUSALEM

(Tuesday afternoon, exact location unknown)

Jesus taught in parables and warned the people against the Pharisees. He predicted the destruction of Herod's great temple and told His disciples about future events, including His own return.

Day of rest

WEDNESDAY

Although the Gospels do not mention this day, the counting of the days (Mark 14:1; John 12:1) seems to indicate that there was another day about which the Gospels record nothing.

(6) Passover, Last Supper

THURSDAY (Matt. 26:17–30; Mark 14:12–26; Luke 22:7–23)

In an upper room Jesus prepared both Himself and His disciples for His death. He gave the Passover meal a new meaning. The loaf of bread and cup of wine represented His body soon to be sacrificed and His blood soon to be shed. And so He instituted the “Lord’s Supper.” After singing a hymn they went to Gethsemane, where Jesus prayed in agony, knowing what lay ahead for Him.

(7) Crucifixion

FRIDAY (Matt. 27; Mark 15; Luke 22:66—23:56; John 18:28—19:37)

Following betrayal, arrest, desertion, false trials, denial, condemnation, beatings, and mockery, Jesus was required to carry His cross to “the Place of a Skull” (Matt. 27:33), where He was crucified with two other prisoners.

(8) In the tomb

Jesus’ body was placed in the tomb before 6:00 P.M. Friday evening, when the Sabbath began and all work stopped, and it lay in the tomb throughout the Sabbath.

(9) Resurrection

SUNDAY (Matt. 28:1–10; Mark 16:1–8; Luke 24:1–49; John 20)

Early in the morning, women went to the tomb and found that the stone closing the tomb’s entrance had been rolled back. An angel told them Jesus was alive and gave them a message. Jesus appeared to Mary Magdalene in the garden, to Peter, to two disciples on the road to Emmaus, and later that day to all the disciples but Thomas.

11:12 The next day would be Monday, and Mark devotes only eight verses to this day. Tuesday begins with v. 20, but the events of Tuesday and Wednesday are combined into one long section that ends at 13:37. A new chronological reference begins with 14:1, “after two days.”

11:13 Mark informs his readers that it was not the season for figs. Passover always comes in March or April, and fig season is not until May or June. However, fig trees generally produce a number of buds in March, leaves in April, and ripe fruit later on. Jesus was looking for the edible buds, the lack of which indicated that the tree would be fruitless that year.

11:17 Jesus quoted from the prophets Isaiah and Jeremiah (Is. 56:7; Jer 7:11) to make His point about the despicable conduct of those who bought and sold in the temple. den of thieves refers to the practice of cheating people, both Israelites and those of other nations, either through a crooked exchange of money or by selling inferior products.

11:18 The suspense of Mark’s drama increases with the contrasting reactions to Christ. The religious leaders sought to destroy Him by plotting His death, while the people had just welcomed Him with a triumphal procession and were astonished at His teaching.

11:19, 20 Mark clearly indicates the transition from evening (Monday) to the morning (Tuesday).

11:21 Why was the fig tree both cursed and withered? The passage emphasizes the power of true faith. Some have suggested that the fig tree represented Israel, which bore no fruit and would soon face the judgment of God.

rabbi

(Gk. rabbi) (9:5; 10:51; 11:21; 14:45) Strong's #4461

In NT times, rabbi was a respectful title for a teacher well versed in the Mosaic Law. The title, which derives from a Hebrew word meaning “great,” is often translated “master.” Rabboni, an Aramaic form of this word, expresses affectionate respect for a teacher (John 20:16). Both the disciples and the teachers of the law honored Jesus with this title. But Jesus warned His disciples not to covet such a title for themselves, for there is only one true teacher, Christ Himself (see Matt. 23:6–10).

- 11:22, 23 The illustration of casting an enormous mountain into the sea is an extreme example of the absolutely impossible. That is the point. Having faith in God can accomplish the impossible. Mark had previously emphasized Jesus' insistence on simply believing (see 9:23, 24).
- 11:25, 26 It is doubtful that a person who cannot forgive another has ever experienced the forgiveness of his own sins by God.
- 11:28 The religious leaders (v. 27), who were now plotting Jesus' death (v. 18), asked Jesus about the (1) nature and (2) source of His authority, perhaps because He had not openly declared that He was the Messiah. These things refer to the authority Jesus used in cleaning out the temple (see vv. 15–17).
- 11:29, 30 The intent of Jesus' question was to expose once again the insincerity of His detractors. The baptism of John refers to the authority of John's baptism. Was it from heaven—that is, ordained by God and worthy of obedience? Or was it merely from men—that is, of human contrivance and void of any spiritual authority and reality?
- 11:33 We do not know was a dishonest reply, but perhaps the only one possible for men who wished only to save their reputation.
- 12:1 He began to speak to them in parables. Mark records only one parable here, but Matthew presents an additional one (Matt. 22:1–14). This parable represents God as carefully preparing the nation of Israel (a vineyard) and leaving it in the care of others (the vinedressers; Is. 5:1–7). Great care was taken to fence the vineyard, to prepare a wine vat for crushing the grapes, and to build a tower in order to keep watch and protect the property from thieves.

Bible Times & Culture Notes

Property Protection

Israelite farmers enclosed their gardens and vineyards with hedges or walls (Is. 5:5), but it was not possible to build walls around large fields. To prevent border disputes in the fields, the Law placed severe punishment upon anyone who removed the boundary stones used as landmarks (Deut. 27:17). The Hebrew landowner seldom visited his fields during the growing season. Instead he hired watchmen to stay in crude lodgings (also called “towers”—Mark 12:1), where they protected the crop from beasts, birds, and marauders.

12:2–5 The servants, including the many others that were sent, represent the prophets who had gone before Jesus, perhaps culminating with John the Baptist, whose baptism Jesus had just mentioned (11:30).

12:6 Parables usually get across a significant truth, but the details are not meant to correspond exactly with particular spiritual realities. In this parable, the owner of the vineyard represents God, but God Himself was never so mistaken as to assume they would respect His Son. God is omniscient, whereas the vineyard owner in the parable is not. This story illustrates the immense patience God had with Israel.

12:9 Jesus answered His own rhetorical question. The destruction of the vinedressers, the Israelites who rejected the Son of God, took place in A.D. 70 when the Romans smashed a revolt in Jerusalem and destroyed the temple. Giving the vineyard to others refers to the importance the Gentiles would assume in the growth of Christianity.

(Gk. gōnia, akrogōniaios) (12:10; Matt. 21:42; Acts 4:11; Eph. 2:20; 1 Pet. 2:6, 7) Strong's #1137; 204

In biblical times, buildings were often made of cut, squared stone. By uniting two intersecting walls, a cornerstone helped align the whole building and tie it together. In his address before the Jewish Sanhedrin, the apostle Peter quoted Ps. 118:22 and boldly proclaimed that “Jesus Christ of Nazareth,” crucified and raised from the dead, was the stone rejected by the builders “which has become the chief cornerstone” (Acts 4:10, 11; Eph. 2:20). This chief cornerstone, Jesus Christ, is the foundation of the church, because “there is no other name under heaven given among men by which we must be saved” (Acts 4:12). In Him “the whole building, being fitted together, grows into a holy temple in the Lord” (Eph. 2:21).

12:12 The chief priests, scribes, and elders sought to lay hands on Him, to arrest Jesus, and to carry out their plot to destroy Him (see 11:18). Only as the final points of the parable were made did these evil men realize that Jesus had spoken the parable against them.

12:13 The Herodians are mentioned in the NT three times, all in conjunction with the Pharisees. The Herodians wanted to kill Jesus because He threatened their authority (3:16; Matt. 22:16). Their attempt to catch Him in His words was their hope that Jesus would say something that could be grounds for His arrest.

12:14 You . . . care about no one was intended as a compliment. The teachers recognized that Jesus was partial to no one. The question, however, was a lose-lose proposition: a yes answer would alienate Jews who opposed Rome, while a no answer could be taken as treason against the state. The ruling emperor from A.D. 14 to 37 was Caesar Tiberius (Luke 3:1), the adopted son of Caesar Augustus (Luke 2:1). Here Mark uses a Latin word for taxes in order to communicate clearly to his Roman readers.

12:15 A denarius was worth an entire day's wages.

12:16 The image and inscription on the coin was Caesar's. His head faces to the right with the words TI(BERIUS) CAESAR DIVI on the right and the words AUG(USTI) AUGUSTUS continuing on the left side. These words mean “Tiberius Caesar, Son of the Divine Augustus.” On the reverse side appear the words PONTIFEX MAXIMUS, meaning “High Priest.”

12:18 The Sadducees were an elite group of religious leaders who denied the existence of angels, the immortality of the soul, and the resurrection. They rejected the oral traditions and accepted only the validity of the Pentateuch, the first five books of the OT.

12:19–22 The custom of marrying the widow of one's brother was supported by Deut. 25:5, 6, but it was not absolutely binding (Deut. 25:7–10).

12:23 The purpose of this story was to discredit the doctrine of resurrection.

12:24 Two categories support the resurrection—the Scriptures and God's power. The Sadducees undoubtedly did know the Scriptures, but lacked spiritual insight to understand God's purposes.

- 12:25 Angels neither marry nor procreate. Luke 20:36 applies these restrictions to all angels without distinction.
- 12:26, 27 Jesus quotes from the Law—the Book of Exodus—to make His point. God said I am the God of the three patriarchs mentioned, not “I was their God, but now they are dead.” He still is their God because they are still alive. Their souls not only live after death, but their bodies will be raised anew as well.
- 12:29 The Hear, O Israel verse of Deut. 6:4 is commonly called the Shema (from a Hebrew word meaning “to hear”) and is repeated by Jews the world over as expressing the essence of their faith in God.
- 12:30, 31 The first commandment summarizes the first four of the Ten Commandments. The second is the essence of commandments five through ten, which relate to the treatment of other people.
- 12:35 In the temple does not refer to the sanctuary itself, where only the priests were allowed to minister. The temple environs included a number of porticos and courts. One was designated especially for women (and included the treasury, 12:41), another for men. Gentiles could view the temple from an outer area. Actually, even Jesus could not enter the sanctuary because He was not an Aaronic priest.
- 12:36, 37 David himself said by the Holy Spirit is Jesus’ clear affirmation of the doctrine of inspiration (see 2 Tim. 3:16; 2 Pet. 1:21). Jesus’ argument about the Messiah being Lord as well as Son showed that the Messiah, even though a descendant of David, would be superior to him. In fact, He would be His Lord. He was both man and God at the same time.
- 12:38–40 The scribes of Jesus’ day were teachers of the law, often dependent on people’s gifts for their support. Some, however, overstepped the bounds of humility, piety, and dignity by flaunting their position of respect and trust. They sought the glory that belonged to God and even took advantage of widows who helped feed and support them.

Silver Coins

In NT times, the silver coin of Tyre and Sidon was called the “temple coin.” It was widely known for its pure metal. But the Roman denarius quickly superseded all silver coins of the same value. A denarius was a soldier’s daily wage and worth about 44 cents today. The Greek word for silver was frequently used for money. Jesus told His disciples to take no “money” (silver) with them when He sent them out two by two (Luke 9:3) and Judas was paid 30 “pieces of silver” to betray Jesus (Matt. 26:15). One of the most famous givers in the NT was the poor widow (Mark 12:41–44). She gave two lepta, which equaled the value of a kodrantēs, to the temple treasury. The kodrantēs was worth less than a penny. Yet the widow’s gift prompted Jesus’ highest praise.

- 12:42 By contrast, the widow worshiped God out of deep humility and genuine devotion. Mark notes for his Roman readers that her two mites make a quadrans, a Roman monetary unit mentioned by Mark and Matthew (Matt. 5:26) only once. It was worth just a few cents.
- 12:43, 44 Jesus’ comparison of the percentages contributed by the rich and the poor reminds us that God measures not how much we give, but how much we retain. Those with greater income have an obligation to return a larger percentage of it to God’s work.
- 13:1–37 Jesus continued His last week of ministry in Jerusalem by teaching His apostles about future events. This speech is known as the Olivet Discourse, so named because Jesus sat on the Mount of Olives while speaking (v. 3).
- 13:1, 2 The disciples’ excitement over the temple’s tremendous manner of stones was a natural reaction to splendid and majestic architecture; each stone weighed several tons. Josephus (Antiq. 15.11.3–7) described its magnificence. There was nothing like it in all the world. Begun by Herod the Great in 20 B.C., the temple was later completed by Herod’s descendants some time before A.D. 66. Its beautiful white marble stones with gold ornamentation reached one hundred feet high. Surrounding it were colonnaded walkways, courtyards, and stairways that filled 20 acres of the most prominent landscape in all Jerusalem. Thus Jesus’ remark that not one stone shall be left upon another unquestionably stunned His listeners. This prophecy was fulfilled in A.D. 70 when the Roman General Titus destroyed much of Jerusalem, including the temple.
- 13:3, 4 Only Mark, given to detail, mentions the names of the four disciples who questioned Jesus. They wanted to know about (1) chronology—the time of the prophecy’s fulfillment, and (2) circumstances—the sign of its fulfillment. Their questions assumed that the temple’s destruction would signal the end of the present age and the inauguration of the Messiah’s reign. They wondered how near that event was.
- 13:5–12 The last days will include religious deception, conflict between nations, earthquakes and famines, and persecution of Christians. In the midst of this chaos, the gospel will spread over the entire world.

13:7 The end is the end of the age (see Matt. 24:3, 6, 13, 14).

13:8 The beginnings of sorrows calls forth the imagery of birth pangs. Like labor contractions, these events, filled with great pain, will hasten the joyous birth of the Messiah's kingdom.

13:11, 12 The promise that the Holy Spirit will guide one's speech in the hour of trial applies first to the Twelve and only secondarily to others who will experience persecution. But this promise does not assure escape from persecution or even freedom from being put to death.

13:13 He who endures to the end shall be saved is not referring to regeneration or justification but to physical deliverance from tribulation (vv. 19, 20). The ones who physically endure will be delivered into Christ's messianic kingdom.

13:14–23 These verses answer the disciples' second question: "What will be the sign when all these things will be fulfilled?" (v. 4).

13:14 The appearance of the abomination of desolation, first described by Daniel (Dan. 9:27; 11:31; 12:11), signals the onslaught of persecution. Standing where it ought not refers to the presence of an idol standing in the temple. Daniel's prediction primarily referred to Antiochus Ephiphanes' placement of sacrifices to Zeus on the temple's altar. Some believe that the destruction of the Herodian temple in A.D. 70 fulfilled Jesus' prediction. Others still await its fulfillment in the blasphemous actions of the Antichrist in the last days (see 2 Thess. 2:3, 4). Let the reader understand points Mark's audience back to the Hebrew Scriptures, namely the Book of Daniel.

13:19 In those days there will be tribulation. The events of v. 14 signal an unparalleled time of suffering. Matt. 24:31 calls it a great tribulation, and Jer. 30:7 refers to it as "the time of Jacob's trouble."

13:22 To deceive, if possible, indicates that the deception will not overcome the elect.

13:24, 25 But points to a marked distinction between the false prophets of v. 22 and the true coming of Christ in v. 26. Great astronomical disturbances will accompany Christ's glorious return.

13:26 Jesus described His return as the Son of Man coming in the clouds. This passage recalls Dan. 7:13, 14, in which the Son of Man receives the kingdom from God the Father. Dan. 7:27 shows the Son of Man sharing His rule with the saints (Rev. 2:26, 27).

13:28, 29 Jesus likened the signs of His second coming to the sprouts of growth and leaves on a fig tree. Both point to the glories to come—the full flowering of the earth and the return of Christ.

13:30 Some have argued that this generation refers to Jesus' contemporaries; others have suggested it means a people, such as the Jews, who are related by blood (see Luke 21:32). Jesus' statement here may have been intended to incorporate those who would see the initial destruction of Jerusalem as well as those who would be living at the time Jesus returns—those who see the final fulfillment of all these things.

13:31 Concerning what Jesus foretells here about heaven and earth passing away, see also Is. 65:17; 2 Pet. 3:10; Rev. 21:1. Jesus' words, however, unlike this perishing planet, will never pass away.

13:32 As one who was fully God and at the same time fully man, Jesus possessed all the attributes of deity, including omnipotence and omniscience. He knew what was in people's hearts (2:8) and He could still the waves (4:39). When Jesus became a man, however, He voluntarily placed certain knowledge in the hands of the Father (Phil. 2:5–8). Of course today, glorified in heaven, Jesus now knows the day and hour of His return.

13:34–36 Jesus' parable of the absent master of the house is unique to Mark. The point of the parable is that the master could return at any time, so all servants must be vigilant and watchful (Luke 19:11–27). The Romans divided the night into four watches—the evening (6 to 9 P.M.), midnight (9 P.M. to midnight), rooster crowing (midnight to 3 A.M.), and dawn (3 to 6 A.M.).

14:1–42 In this section Mark portrays the preparations for Jesus' death. The loving anointing at Bethany (vv. 3–9) is placed between the accounts of the treachery of Judas and the chief priests and scribes (vv. 1, 2, 10, 11).

14:1, 2 After two days is the next time designation given since the mention of the events of Tuesday and Wednesday (see 11:12, 20). If the crucifixion occurred on Friday, then the events of this chapter took place on Wednesday evening and Thursday. The Passover was celebrated on the fourteenth day of Nisan (March-April), while the Feast of Unleavened Bread followed on the fifteenth through the twenty-first days of Nisan. The chief priests planned to take Jesus. In the Greek, this verb suggests physically grasping and laying hold of an object. They wanted to arrest Jesus, take Him away, and kill Him. They preferred to do it secretly, away from the crowd. During the feast, the population of Jerusalem would expand greatly as zealous Jews converged on the city in accord with the Law of Moses (Deut. 16:16). Many of Christ's admirers were present too, so the religious leaders wanted to defer the arrest and avoid conflict. Some obviously feared a Roman reprisal if a public arrest of Jesus resulted in a civic disturbance.

14:3 Simon the leper had been healed at some point in Jesus' ministry. Mark records a leper's healing in 1:40–42. Alabaster is a translucent stone still used to make ornamented jewelry boxes and other items of value. Spikenard, a precious perfume imported from India, was made from plants that grow in the high elevations of the Himalayas. This perfume is mentioned in the Song of Solomon (1:12; 4:13, 14). Mark relates that the woman poured it on His head, while John identifies the woman as Mary, the sister of Martha and Lazarus, and notes that she anointed Jesus' feet and used her hair as a towel (John 12:3).

Alabaster

This white mineral is easy to carve and polish, so Israelites used it to make beautiful jars and vases. Two varieties of alabaster are found in the Middle East: one is a pure form of gypsum; the other a reddish marble. The first kind crumbles too easily to be used for carving. The second kind has colorful markings and is partially transparent, so it appeals to the eye. Archaeologists have recovered alabaster jars from Greek, Kanan, Egyptian, and Assyrian ruins. Ancient traders often sealed costly perfume in an alabaster jar, allowing the scent to escape only gradually through the jar's porous shell over many years. The Greek poet Theocritus (third century B.C.) reports that the merchants of Palestine used alabaster jars in the same way. Shortly after Jesus' time, the Romans and Greeks called any thin-necked vial an alabastron, or "alabaster," because that was the familiar shape of alabaster perfume jars.

- 14:4, 5 The some who were indignant were Jesus' disciples (Matt. 26:8), but Judas Iscariot, a thief who despised real givers, was their mouthpiece on this occasion (John 12:4–6). A single denarius represented a day's wages for a common laborer, so three hundred denarii was a considerable gift.
- 14:7 Jesus' statement does not show callousness to the poor (Deut. 15:7–11). His compassion for those overwhelmed by sickness and poverty appears frequently in the Gospels, and He encouraged others to meet their needs (10:21). But He also wanted people to give freely and of their own volition. No one can coerce a gift from another; no one should criticize another's gift; and no one can read the heart of a giver. A giver's motive is known only to God.
- 14:8 Mary had tremendous spiritual insight when she anointed Jesus. She anointed His body for burial. She, unlike the disciples, understood that Jesus was soon to die.
- 14:10, 11 Judas Iscariot decided to profit even further from his association with Jesus by betraying Him. The chief priests changed their plans when Judas came knocking at their door.
- 14:12 The first day of Unleavened Bread was the fifteenth day of Nisan (Lev. 23:6). However, because the feasts of Passover and Unleavened Bread were so closely associated in the minds of many Jews, Mark clarified the precise time for his readers by adding when they killed the Passover lamb. The lamb was killed on the evening of the fourteenth of Nisan (March-April). Here, Mark is speaking of the events of Thursday.
- 14:13 Jesus had apparently already made arrangements for a place to eat. To divulge this location in an inconspicuous manner, Jesus sent out two of His disciples, Peter and John (Luke 22:8). It was unusual for a man to be carrying a pitcher of water, since this was normally a woman's task. This man may have been a servant.
- 14:14, 15 Although the identity of the master of the house is not positively known, there is reason to suspect it may have been Mark's father. The guest room is familiarly described as a large upper room, furnished and prepared. Mark himself may have been the young man of vv. 51, 52. Acts 12:12 indicates that this house was later used as a gathering place for many believers who prayed together. Tradition has it that this was also "the upper room" of Acts 1:13 where over one hundred believers met on Pentecost.
- 14:18 Two memorial meals were observed as they sat (lit. reclined) and ate. First, they ate the regular Passover commemoration meal, during which time Jesus predicted His betrayal by one of the disciples. Second, after Judas had left (John 13:30), Jesus observed the Last Supper, which anticipated the imminent breaking of His body and shedding of His blood. The phrase one of you who eats with Me will betray Me recalls the messianic prophecy of Ps. 41:9.
- 14:19 In Greek, Is it I?, is actually a negative question that implies a negative answer. The phrase means "It is not I, is it?"
- 14:20, 21 Matthew and John both identify the culprit as Judas, even though Mark does not (Matt. 26:25; John 13:26). The statement that it would have been good for Judas if he had never been born points to the awful judgment that awaits him. Judas was wholly responsible for his actions even though he acted in accordance with what had long been written of Christ.

- 14:22 Judas left the room after receiving the dipped portion of bread, prior to Jesus' act of breaking additional bread and explaining its significance (John 13:30). The Lord's Supper is for believers only and should be observed solely by those who are in right relationship with Christ. this is My body: Some view the broken bread as representing Jesus' body, which would soon be broken for their sins. Others interpret this statement more literally.
- 14:24 Some interpret this is My blood metaphorically, meaning that the contents of this cup represented Jesus' blood that would be shed for our sins. Others give the statement a more literal interpretation. The sprinkling of blood was required to institute the Mosaic covenant in Ex. 29:12, 16, 20 (see Heb. 9:18–22). In the same way, Jesus' blood shed on the cross initiated the new covenant: His blood was shed for many. He died on the cross in the place of many sinners from every nation. He paid the price for all of their sins. All those who believe in Him will receive eternal life.
- 14:25 Jesus came announcing the kingdom of God (1:14, 15), promised the disciples rulership in it (Matt. 19:28), and will receive and administer it with the saints (Dan. 7:13, 14, 27; 2 Tim. 2:11, 12; Rev. 20:4).
- 14:26 The hymn they sang was no doubt from the Psalms. Frequently Ps. 113–118 were used in connection with the Passover, including “I shall not die, but live, / And declare the works of the LORD” and “The stone which the builders rejected / Has become the chief cornerstone” (Ps. 118:17, 22). Leaving the Upper Room, they crossed the Kidron Valley to the base of the Mount of Olives. Gethsemane (v. 32) is directly across from the eastern gate (sometimes called the golden gate) of Jerusalem.
- 14:28 This saying was repeated by one of the angels at the tomb shortly after Jesus' resurrection (16:7). Nevertheless, the disciples remained in Jerusalem for more than a week before eventually following their risen Shepherd into Galilee (John 20:26; 21:1). Matthew mentions the disciples meeting Jesus at a mountain in Galilee (Matt. 28:16) prior to His ascension at Bethany (Luke 24:50, 51).
- 14:29 Overconfidence is deadly. Peter did not heed the words of Prov. 16:18, “Pride goes before destruction, / And a haughty spirit before a fall.” Pride was Satan's downfall, and it can frequently be ours as well. Peter, so emphatic in his denial, soon realized the emptiness of his hasty declaration.
- 14:30 Only Mark mentions Christ's prediction of Peter's denial occurring before the rooster crows twice. The incident would have remained vivid in Peter's mind when he related the story to Mark. And only Mark records the two crowings of the rooster (14:68, 72).
- 14:32–42 Sit here while I pray: Prayer consumed much time and energy in Jesus' earthly work. It crowned both the beginning (Luke 3:21) and ending (Luke 24:50, 51) of His public ministry. When necessary, He would take extraordinary measures to ensure privacy in order to pray (6:46; Matt. 14:22, 23; John 6:14, 15). Though the Lord Jesus did praise God (Luke 10:21) and thank the Father (8:6, 7) in His praying, most of His recorded prayers were petitions and intercessions.
- 14:32 Gethsemane, though famous today, is mentioned by name only twice in the Bible (here and in Matthew). John, however, informs us that Jesus and the disciples “often met there” and that it was a garden (John 18:1, 2). The admonition to sit here was directed to all but Peter, James, and John (14:33).
- 14:33 Jesus wanted His closest disciples with Him, to support Him with their presence and their prayers. All of us need such an inner circle. We are meant to live in relation to others, not in isolation.
- 14:34 Exceedingly sorrowful: The crushing realization of having to bear the sin of the world and to lose, even temporarily, the fellowship of God the Father was nearly more than Jesus' soul could bear. His extreme spiritual anguish must have affected His mental, emotional, and physical condition as well.
- 14:35 Jesus must have prayed for some time. Verse 37 mentions one hour. That was time enough for each of His accompanying disciples to be asleep when He returned. Mark records Jesus' petition that the hour might pass from Him, a reference to the time Jesus would bear the punishment for the sin of the world in His own body, becoming, as it were, sin for all. John uses the expression "the hour" or "His hour" frequently in his Gospel (John 2:4; 7:30; 8:20; 12:23, 27; 13:1; 17:1). Mark uses it only here and in v. 41.

14:36 Abba was what a little child would call his father. Jesus' relationship to His Father was close and tender. In addition to the term hour (v. 35), this cup foreshadows Christ's impending death (10:38). The cup figuratively holds the judgment of God for the sin of the world. The wicked will someday drink of "the cup of His indignation" (Rev. 14:10) and of "the winepress of the fierceness and wrath of Almighty God" (Rev. 19:15).

Word Studies

Abba, Father

(Gk. abba ho patēr) (14:36; Rom. 8:15; Gal. 4:6) Strong's #5; 3962

The term abba is the Aramaic word for father. The Greek term is added not to tell the reader what the Aramaic means, but to express Jesus' dependence on His Father as He faced the sufferings of the crucifixion (14:36). No doubt Jesus loved to utter His Father's name in both forms, first in His cherished mother tongue and then in the common language of His day. In this view the use of both words has a charming simplicity and warmth. Paul uses the phrase "Abba, Father" in Rom. 8:15 and Gal. 4:6 to express the intimate relationship the believer has with God.

Go to the List of Word Studies

14:38 Avoiding temptation demands constant vigilance, so much so that Christ included this admonition in the prayer He taught the disciples (Matt. 6:13; Luke 11:4). The dichotomy between spirit and flesh is real. Our fallen human nature, even after conversion, wars against the work of God.

14:39–41 The three apostles were exhorted to watch and pray several times, and no doubt truly desired to uphold their Lord in His deepest hour of need. Yet physical fatigue overcame spiritual alertness.

14:43–15:47 Mark now describes Jesus' complete rejection by His disciples, the religious leaders, and the people, and His time of separation from the Father.

14:43 Judas came with a great multitude, identified by John as a detachment of troops (John 18:3). It was one-tenth of a Roman legion, or roughly six hundred men. Although the size of such a detachment could vary somewhat, Mark's mention of a multitude points to a sizable crowd.

14:44 A kiss, usually a sign of affection, was now the signal for betrayal. Lead Him away safely is not an expression of concern for Jesus' safety, but rather an indication of how difficult it may have been to seize Jesus.

14:47 Only two of Jesus' disciples had swords that evening (Luke 22:38) and John tells us that Peter carried one of them (John 18:10, 26). Mark graciously avoids identifying Peter as being guilty of this well-meaning but pointless act. John, the eyewitness, identifies the servant as one named Malchus and says it was his right ear that was severed (John 18:10). Peter may have swung wildly, intending to cut off Malchus's head but succeeding only in wounding him. Luke the physician mentions that Jesus restored Malchus's ear.

14:48, 49 Jesus did not resist arrest but did shame His captors. The swarms of soldiers, the secluded location, the cover of night, and the swords and clubs all suggested that Jesus was some violent robber or revolutionary. Ironically, this same word is used to describe Barabbas (John 18:40) and the two who were crucified with Jesus (15:27). The cowardice of Jesus' captors was evident—why else would they arrest a peaceful teacher with such brute force? In the midst of such turmoil, Jesus' statement that the Scriptures must be fulfilled indicates great confidence and comfort because all was proceeding under God's sovereign plan. Jesus may have had in mind Zech. 13:7 ("Strike the Shepherd, / And the sheep will be scattered") in view of His earlier prediction in v. 27 and the context of v. 50. Or perhaps His being "numbered with the transgressors" (Is. 53:12) was in mind, considering His response to His captors in v. 48.

14:50–52 Jesus was abandoned. The 11 disciples were gone, but a certain young man followed Him. Only Mark tells of this incident, and many believe that this young man was Mark himself. How else would he have known this story, and why else should he have included it? If it was Mark, and if the Last Supper was at his home that evening, he could easily have risen from bed, pulled on a linen cloth, and followed Jesus and the disciples.

14:53 The high priest at that time was Caiaphas (A.D. 18–37; John 18:13). The chief priests included others who had formerly been high priests, and the elders consisted of the heads of leading families in the community. The scribes were the Jewish experts and teachers of the commandments of God as well as the traditions of men (7:8, 9, 13). Together this group made up the Sanhedrin, always referred to in the Gospels and Acts as the Council (14:55; 15:1; Acts 5:27; 23:1).

14:55, 56 The Sanhedrin was supposed to administer justice, but this council sought testimony against Jesus to put Him to death. The Jewish authorities had lost to Rome the right to pronounce a death sentence. Thus they eventually had to appeal to Pilate (15:1). Because no real witnesses could testify to any grounds for Jesus' death, false witness was heard, but it was contradictory.

14:57–59 Finally, some tried to accuse Jesus of plotting to destroy the temple (John 2:19–21), but even that testimony was too inconsistent.

14:61, 62 He kept silent in fulfillment of Is. 53:7. He remained silent before Pilate (15:3–5) and before Herod Antipas as well (Luke 23:9). Finally, when they could find nothing substantial with which to charge Him, Jesus affirmed that He was the Christ, the Son of the Blessed.

14:63, 64 The trial was over, and Jesus stood falsely condemned for blasphemy, which in this context means laying claim to deity. Naturally, this is the boast of a liar or a lunatic—unless He is the Almighty God in human flesh, as Jesus was (see John 1:1–3, 14; Phil. 2:5–8).

14:65 Those who beat and struck Jesus here were not applying the dreaded scourging, which could disembowel an individual. Compare 15:15 where the scourging itself is mentioned.

14:71, 72 He began to curse and swear. Peter may have told Mark to include this report. None of Peter's actions were commendable, and his swearing illustrates the truth of Jer. 17:9, "The heart is deceitful above all things, And desperately wicked; Who can know it?" We are not told that Peter thought at all about Jesus' words when the rooster crowed the first time. If he did, maybe he tried to conceal his identity more carefully, but to no avail. Each of the other Gospel writers tells us that the rooster crowed immediately upon Peter's final denial (Matt. 26:74; Luke 22:60; John 18:27). This time he thought about it, and he wept.

15:1–47 Rejected by His disciples, condemned by the council, and denied by Peter, Jesus now faces the merciless Roman authorities and the hostile crowd.

15:1–3 Rather than murdering Jesus privately, the Jewish politicians decided to seek Pilate's approval so they could execute the "blasphemer" legally. Their charges included many things but apparently centered on treason. Jesus claimed to be a king, thus defying Caesar (Luke 23:2). This crime was punishable in the Roman Empire by death.

15:6–8 Pilate must have concluded that the charges against Jesus were groundless, for Mark tells us he desired to release Jesus (v. 9). So his readers could understand the complexity of the situation, Mark parenthetically explains the local custom of releasing a prisoner during the feast as well as the facts about Barabbas. Although Matthew calls Barabbas a "notorious" prisoner, only Mark classifies him with rebels who had committed murder.

15:9, 10 Pilate attempted to release Jesus, for he knew the charges against Jesus were insubstantial. Pilate adeptly judged the Jewish leaders' envy of Jesus. He mocked them subtly by referring to Jesus as the King of the Jews.

15:15 Pilate had Jesus scourged: This word, used only twice in the NT (Matt. 27:26 and here), describes a punishment more severe than flogging or beating. The prisoner was beaten with a whip fashioned of numerous strips of leather attached to a handle. To the leather strips were tied sharp pieces of bone and metal, which could rip and tear one's skin to shreds.

15:16 The hall called Praetorium refers to the governor's official residence. Praetorium is a Latin word found eight times in the NT. The word is always transliterated in the NKJV, except in Phil. 1:13, where it is translated palace guard. The KJV sometimes translates Praetorium as judgment hall. The whole garrison, a Roman cohort, consisted of up to six hundred men. Those who gathered on this occasion were probably only those nearby, though still a considerable number.

15:17 The purple robe mocked Jesus' claim to be a king. The crown of thorns was no doubt a twisted, dried vine with sharp thorns more than an inch in length. Any thorn prick is extremely painful.

15:18–21 They led Him out to crucify Him indicates that the place of crucifixion was outside the city itself (see Hebrews 13:12). All three synoptic Gospels identify Jesus' cross bearer as Simon of Cyrene, but only Mark adds that he was the father of Alexander and Rufus. These men may have been known to Mark's Roman audience, and it is interesting that Paul greets a Rufus in Rom. 16:13.

15:22 Golgotha is an Aramaic word meaning Place of a Skull. The hill may have resembled the bony features of a skull or was called this because it was a place of death. The name Calvary comes from the Latin word for skull. This place was very near the city wall (John 19:20).

15:23 This potion of wine (or vinegar) mingled with myrrh was intended to numb the pain. Jesus refused it, choosing to suffer the complete pain.

15:24 Casting lots for and dividing His garments fulfilled the prophecy of Ps. 22:18.

15:25 The third hour was 9 A.M., using a common Jewish system of marking the day. Jesus suffered on the cross until at least 3 P.M., the ninth hour of v. 34. And they crucified Him was a terse summary for Mark's Roman readers, for they knew quite well the horrors of crucifixion.

15:26 The inscription placed over Jesus' head appeared in three languages (John 19:20): Hebrew (Aramaic); Latin, the official language of government; and Greek, the common language spoken by many. If we piece together details from all four Gospels, the complete sign must have read, "This is Jesus the Nazarene, the King of the Jews."

15:27–31 Jesus was mocked and forsaken by nearly everyone—Pilate, Herod, soldiers, Jewish leaders, the crowd, even the robbers on either side (v. 32).

15:32 Jesus was called mockingly the Christ, or Messiah, by the chief priests and scribes. Their offer to believe in Christ if He would descend . . . from the cross was empty mockery. True evidence alone does not turn a soul toward God. A sinful heart must be convicted of the need of God's salvation.

15:33 This darkness was a supernatural darkening of the skies.

15:34 Of the seven cries from the cross, this fourth one was the most passionate. Quoting Ps. 22:1, Jesus expressed the agony of being abandoned by His Father as He alone bore the sin of the world. Jesus' spiritual agony was intense, yet He still addressed His Father personally as My God.

15:35, 36 Those who mistook Jesus' words as a call for the prophet Elijah may have been unable to understand Him. The dehydration caused by crucifixion often made speech difficult. A sip from the sponge full of sour wine was supplied because Jesus said "I thirst" (John 19:28). This allowed Jesus to utter His final two sayings, "It is finished" (John 19:30) and "Father, into Your hands I commit My spirit" (Luke 23:46).

15:37 Jesus breathed His last after a loud conscious statement. Frequently, crucifixion produced a coma or unconsciousness prior to death, but Jesus was in control of all His faculties until the moment when He voluntarily gave up His life (see John 10:17, 18).

15:38 The significance of the supernatural tearing of the veil of the temple is that access to God is now open to all. No longer through priests and the blood of bulls and goats do we approach God, but through the torn veil, which also symbolizes Jesus' broken and torn body (Heb. 10:20). Top to bottom reminds us that God Himself removed the barrier.

15:39 Only Mark uses (here and in vv. 44, 45) the Latin term centurion, a Roman captain in charge of one hundred men. The centurion's statement that Jesus was the Son of God can be construed as a confession of belief in Jesus' deity. But the Son could also be translated a son.

15:40, 41 These women were true disciples of Christ. They had ministered to Jesus' needs and would be the first witnesses of His resurrection. Mark does not name Jesus' mother here but includes other prominent women. Three Marys were present along with many other women, and Salome, whom only Mark mentions by name (see also 16:1). Salome was the wife of Zebedee and the mother of the disciples James and John (Matt. 27:56). She may have been the unnamed sister of Jesus' mother (John 19:25). If so, James and John were Jesus' first cousins.

15:42 Mark explains for his Roman audience, unacquainted with Jewish customs, that the crucifixion took place on the Preparation Day, that is, Friday.

15:43 Joseph of Arimathea (a town 20 miles northwest of Jerusalem) is identified as a prominent council (Sanhedrin) member. He, according to Luke 23:51, "had not consented to their decision and deed." To ask Pilate for the body of Jesus was not just a gesture of kindness. It was an act of bravery, which placed Joseph in opposition to the Sanhedrin and identified him as a follower of Jesus.

15:44, 45 It was unusual for one to die so soon from crucifixion. Frequently bodies remained on crosses for several days. Joseph's haste to remove the body could have been based on Deut. 21:23, which instructs that persons put to death on a tree should have their corpses removed and buried the same day.

15:46 Joseph, assisted by another formerly silent disciple, Nicodemus (John 19:39), wrapped Jesus' body in fine linen, apparently encased with a large amount (about one hundred pounds) of a gummy, sticky resinous mixture of myrrh and aloes to retard decay and to mask the stench of a decaying body. John notes that this was the Jewish custom of burial (John 19:40). The stone used to cover the opening of the tomb may not have been more than three or four feet in diameter, since tomb openings were not usually as tall as doorways.

16:1–20 Mark's readers, who acknowledged Jesus as the Son of God, have seen Him cruelly rejected and killed. Now His resurrection fills those readers with hope and joy.

16:1, 2 The Sabbath is Saturday. The next day is the first day of the week, Sunday. The spices would conceal the stench of decay and were a symbol of the care and concern these women had for their beloved Master.

16:3, 4 The women thought about how large the stone was and how difficult it would be to dislodge it from the entrance. They expressed no concern over the seal on the tomb or the presence of a Roman guard, apparently unaware of the precautions the Jews and Romans had taken (Matt. 27:62–66).

16:5, 6 Mark does not identify the young man who appeared in a long white robe as an angel, but clearly he is there to explain the mystery that confronts the women. The Greek voice of He is risen, which is passive, indicates that an act of God accomplished the raising up of Jesus.

16:7 Chosen by God as the first human witnesses to Christ's resurrection, these women were commanded to go and tell. The special mention of Peter signifies that Christ still accepted him, even though he had denied the Lord three times.

16:8 Initially, the women's fear caused them to say nothing to anyone. They recovered shortly, however, and brought word to the 11 disciples, including Peter (16:10; Matt. 28:8, 9; John 20:2).

16:9–20 The authenticity of these last 12 verses has been disputed. Those who doubt Mark's authorship of this passage point to two fourth-century manuscripts that omit these verses. Others believe that they should be included because even these two manuscripts leave space for all or some of these verses, indicating that their copyists knew of their existence. The difficulty is in knowing whether the space is for this longer version of Mark's ending or for one of the alternate endings found in the manuscripts. Practically all other manuscripts contain vv. 9–20, and this passage is endorsed by such early church fathers as Justin Martyr (A.D. 155), Tatian (A.D. 170), and Irenaeus (A.D. 180). It does not seem likely that Mark would end his story on a note of fear (v. 8).

16:9 Although the women had been commissioned to tell of Jesus' resurrection, none had actually seen Jesus until He appeared first to Mary Magdalene. Only this verse and Luke 8:2 mention

Jesus' exorcism of seven demons from Mary, which would explain her strong devotion to Him.

16:11 Jesus' resurrection was evidently not expected by anyone in spite of His repeated predictions. The Resurrection itself resulted in faith, rather than the expectation thereof.

16:12 Jesus' appearance in another form may indicate that He appeared differently to the two on the road than He had appeared to Jesus' followers before. The identity of the two who walked is not entirely stated, either here or in the longer account in Luke 24:13–35. However, one is identified as Cleopas (Luke 24:18), and it has been suggested that he was accompanied by his wife.

16:14 After Judas' demise (Matt. 27:3–5; Acts 1:16–18), the disciples were known for a while as the eleven. Jesus upbraided these disciples for not believing the accounts of eyewitnesses, but He pronounced a blessing on “those who have not seen and yet have believed” (John 20:29).

16:15 The Great Commission is pronounced here and in each of the other three Gospels (Matt. 28:19, 20; Luke 24:47; John 20:21).

gospel

(Gk. euangelion) (1:1, 14; 16:15; Matt. 4:23; Rom. 1:1; 1 Pet. 4:17) Strong's #2098

This Greek word was originally used to describe the “good news” of military victory brought from a messenger to his commander. It then came to mean simply a “good message.” In the NT it means the Good News of salvation: Jesus Christ came to earth to conquer the sin and evil which plague this world by living a sinless life and sacrificially offering Himself on the Cross. In obedience to Christ’s command (16:15), the apostles continued to share this Good News with the rest of the world because it is Christ’s life-giving message to a world that is dying in its sins.

16:16 He who does not believe will be condemned. Those who believe in Christ will be saved.

16:17, 18 These signs were evident in the early church. Casting out demons demonstrated victory over Satan (Acts 16:18). Speaking with new tongues began at Pentecost (Acts 2:4–11). Healing the sick occurred in several instances, including Acts 28:8. Taking up serpents occurred in Paul’s encounter with a poisonous snake, which did not produce ill effects (Acts 28:1–6). The NT does not record Christians drinking anything deadly without harm.

16:19 The final sign that Jesus was the Son of God is that He was received up into heaven to be seated at the right hand (the position of authority and power) of God.

16:20 The obedience of Christ’s disciples who went out and preached everywhere challenges us to engage in that same endeavor. We can be confident that as the Lord was working with them, He will also work with us.

Introduction

Sometimes we need to take a step back to gain perspective. It is one thing for three of Jesus' twelve disciples to write about the life of Christ; it is quite another for someone who did not know Him to write about Him. Luke never met Jesus, yet chose to follow Him. An obviously educated man who, as Colossians 4:14 tells us, was a physician, Luke learned all that he could about Jesus and shared his findings with us. Thus his Gospel provides a "step back," a unique perspective on Jesus' birth, ministry, death, and resurrection.

Author Neither Luke nor Acts has a byline, so we are left to deduce the author's identity. The author writes that he was not an eyewitness to the events surrounding Jesus but had gathered the reports of others. On the other hand, the author was present with Paul at some of the events described in Acts, events that belong to the "we" sections of Acts (see Acts 16:10–17; 20:5–15; 21:1–18; 27:1–28:16). So the author must have been a lately converted Christian who knew Paul and sometimes traveled with him.

Early Christian writings, from the works of Justin Martyr to Tertullian, identify the author as Luke, an identification that was firmly in place by the third century A.D. Luke was an educated man by ancient standards. He was capable of writing in high Greek style, and Colossians 4:10–14 seems to indicate that Luke was not "of the circumcision," that is, not Jewish. If so, Luke would be the only Gentile author of a New Testament book. Tradition says that after accompanying Paul on some of his missionary journeys, Luke settled in Philippi, investing his life in the ministry of the Philippian church.

Date Neither Luke nor Acts indicates when they were written, so this too must be deduced. The last event recorded in the Book of Acts is the first Roman imprisonment of Paul; therefore, the earliest Acts could have been written is A.D. 62. Most scholars choose between two times for the Gospel: early to late sixties, or mid-seventies to late eighties. Two factors determine the choice: the date of the other Gospels and the portrayal of the fall of Jerusalem in Luke.

Almost everyone considers Luke the second or third Gospel to be written, though they debate whether Mark or Matthew was the first. The first Gospel, whether Matthew or Mark, is usually dated in the sixties. Those who place Matthew and Mark in the sixties often date Luke after A.D. 70, to allow time for the circulation of Matthew and Mark. Another reason given for dating Luke after A.D. 70 is the claim that Luke presents Jesus' predictions of the fall of Jerusalem (19:41–44; 21:20–24) in such a way as to indicate that the city had already fallen.

Neither of these arguments is decisive. Given that the major figures of the early church had contact with one another, there is no reason to assume that it took a decade for a major Gospel to get into circulation. The prediction of the fall of Jerusalem in Luke is unique among the Gospel accounts in focusing on the fall of the city and not merely the destruction of the temple. Thus what Jesus describes is a judgment which is the result of covenant unfaithfulness, similar to the destruction of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. The fact that Luke includes Jesus' prediction of a second fall of the city does not mean the city had already been destroyed when the book was written. Since the sequel to Luke, the Book of Acts, does not record either Peter's death, Paul's death, or even the fall of Jerusalem (in the face of Jesus' clear prediction of it), it is most likely that Luke was written in the early to mid-sixties. A date in the later sixties is also possible.

Characteristics The Gospel of Luke is unique in several ways. It is the only Gospel that has a sequel, Acts. Both Luke and Acts include an account of the Ascension, an event that only Luke describes in detail. Second, Luke is the longest of the four Gospels. Third, Luke records a wide variety of miracles, teaching, and parables, making it the fullest portrait of Jesus' ministry. Much of the material in chapters 9–19 appears only in Luke; in all, about one-third of the Gospel of Luke is unique. Fourth, Luke is the only Gospel addressed to an individual. Luke writes for Theophilus, who was probably a Gentile believer.

For Luke, Jesus is the promised Messiah (1:31–35), the Son of God (9:35), the Servant through whom God works (4:16–18), and the Lord who is called to sit at God's right hand exerting His authority and giving the Spirit to those who believe (compare 22:69 with Acts 2:30–36). Though aspects of God's plan are fulfilled in Jesus' First Coming, other parts of the plan remain to be fulfilled when Jesus returns (21:5–36; Acts 3:14–26).

Luke wrote his Gospel to reassure Theophilus, a Gentile and a new believer, that God was still at work in the Christian community founded by Jesus. Luke presents God's grace as revealed in Jesus' ministry on earth. He emphasizes that this grace is available to Gentiles, even though the promises relating to Jesus' ministry stretch back into Israel's history (1:1–4). For this reason Luke also concentrates on Jesus' relationship to the nation and leaders of Israel. The rejection of Israel does not mean the failure of God's plan. On the contrary, although they did not know it, their rejection was part of God's plan from the beginning (Acts 2:22–39). In fact, persecution of the Christian community would be the means by which the church would spread the Good News throughout the world. Jesus Himself had predicted that this would happen (24:45–48).

Structure and Overview The first two chapters of Luke emphasize the Old Testament and its promises of a Messiah, while 3:1—4:13 demonstrate that Jesus is the Messiah, who can resist the Evil One. Then, 4:14—9:50 introduce Jesus' power and teaching. In these chapters, Luke records Jesus' claims to authority and the numerous miracles that supported them. Even with these miracles as evidence, the people rejected Jesus while the disciples' faith in Him steadily grew. The growing rift between Jesus and the Jewish leadership is seen in 9:51—19:44. This breach is emphasized most in chapters 9–13, but in chapters 14–19 attention turns to Jesus' instruction of His disciples. The last section (19:45—24:53) portrays the final controversies, the trial, the death of Jesus, and the Resurrection and Ascension. The book ends with Jesus telling the disciples to wait for the coming of the Spirit. By now, they should have realized that everything that had taken place in Jesus' life was promised in the Law, the Prophets, and the Psalms (24:43–49). Jesus is the promised Messiah. Forgiveness of sin can be obtained only through Him. The disciples were witnesses to this fact; their mission was to share this Good News with all nations, not merely the Jews. Jesus gave them this task, but He also provided them with the power to carry it out (24:47). Thus it is clear that Luke's Gospel centers on God's plan to provide salvation to the world. It closes anticipating the spread of the gospel that is recorded in its sequel, the Book of Acts.

Christ in the Scriptures

Just like we'd expect from a family doctor, Dr. Luke sensitively describes Jesus as One who reaches out personally and heals those who are mercilessly caged by devastating illnesses. As a person, He is concerned with people. Whereas Matthew likes to refer to Jesus as the Son of David and Mark refers to Him as the Son of God, Luke's favorite expression is "the Son of Man."

Jesus' humanity and compassion are repeatedly stressed by the author. This, coupled with Luke's portrayal of Jesus' sinless perfection, set up his logical conclusion. Because Jesus is the only perfect person born of a woman and because He identifies compassionately with the plight of suffering sinful people, He alone is qualified to carry our sorrows, bear our sin, and offer us the priceless gift of salvation.

Luke 1

Dedication to Theophilus

¹Inasmuch as many have taken in hand to set in order a narrative of those ^athings which ¹have been fulfilled among us, ²just as those who ^bfrom the beginning were ^ceyewitnesses and ministers of the word ^ddelivered them to us, ³it seemed good to me also, having ²had perfect understanding of all things from the very first, to write to you an orderly account, ^emost excellent Theophilus, ^{4f}that you may know the certainty of those things in which you were instructed.

John's Birth Announced to Zacharias

⁵There was ^gin the days of Herod, the king of Judea, a certain priest named Zacharias, ^hof the division of ⁱAbijah. His ^jwife was of the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elizabeth. In-Text Map: The Holy Land Under Herod the Great \(37-4 B.C.\)

⁶And they were both righteous before God, walking in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blameless.

⁷But they had no child, because Elizabeth was barren, and they were both well advanced in years.

⁸So it was, that while he was serving as priest before God in the order of his division, ⁹according to the custom of the priesthood, ³his lot fell ^kto burn incense when he went into the temple of the Lord.

^{10l}And the whole multitude of the people was praying outside at the hour of incense.

¹¹Then an angel of the Lord appeared to him, standing on the right side of ^mthe altar of incense.

¹²And when Zacharias saw him, ⁿhe was troubled, and fear fell upon him.

¹³But the angel said to him, "Do not be afraid, Zacharias, for your prayer is heard; and your wife Elizabeth will bear you a son, and ^oyou shall call his name John.

¹⁴"And you will have joy and gladness, and ^pmany will rejoice at his birth.

¹⁵"For he will be ^qgreat in the sight of the Lord, and ^rshall drink neither wine nor strong drink. He will also be filled with the Holy Spirit, ^seven from his mother's womb.

¹⁶“And he will turn many of the children of Israel to the Lord their God.

¹⁷“He will also go before Him in the spirit and power of Elijah, ‘to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children,’ and the disobedient to the wisdom of the just, to make ready a people prepared for the Lord.”

¹⁸And Zacharias said to the angel, ^u“How shall I know this? For I am an old man, and my wife is well advanced in years.”

¹⁹And the angel answered and said to him, “I am ^vGabriel, who stands in the presence of God, and was sent to speak to you and bring you ⁴these glad ^wtidings.

²⁰“But behold, ^xyou will be mute and not able to speak until the day these things take place, because you did not believe my words which will be fulfilled in their own time.”

²¹And the people waited for Zacharias, and marveled that he lingered so long in the temple.

²²But when he came out, he could not speak to them; and they perceived that he had seen a vision in the temple, for he beckoned to them and remained speechless.

²³So it was, as soon as ^ythe days of his service were completed, that he departed to his own house.

²⁴Now after those days his wife Elizabeth conceived; and she hid herself five months, saying, ²⁵“Thus the Lord has dealt with me, in the days when He looked on me, to ^ztake away my reproach among people.”

Christ's Birth Announced to Mary

²⁶Now in the sixth month the angel Gabriel was sent by God to a city of Galilee named Nazareth, ²⁷to a virgin ^abetrothed to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David. The virgin's name was Mary.

²⁸And having come in, the angel said to her, ^b“Rejoice, highly favored one, ^cthe Lord is with you; ⁵blessed are you among women!”

²⁹But ⁶when she saw him, ^dshe was troubled at his saying, and considered what manner of greeting this was.

³⁰Then the angel said to her, “Do not be afraid, Mary, for you have found ^efavor with God.

³¹“And behold, you will conceive in your womb and bring forth a Son, and ^gshall call His name JESUS.

³²“He will be great, ^hand will be called the Son of the Highest; and ⁱthe Lord God will give Him the ^jthrone of His ^kfather David.

³³“And He will reign over the house of Jacob forever, and of His kingdom there will be no end.”

³⁴Then Mary said to the angel, “How can this be, since I ⁷do not know a man?”

³⁵And the angel answered and said to her, ^m“The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Highest will overshadow you; therefore, also, that Holy One who is to be born will be called ⁿthe Son of God.

³⁶“Now indeed, Elizabeth your relative has also conceived a son in her old age; and this is now the sixth month for her who was called barren.

³⁷“For ^owith God nothing will be impossible.”

³⁸Then Mary said, “Behold the maidservant of the Lord! Let it be to me according to your word.” And the angel departed from her.

Mary Visits Elizabeth

³⁹Now Mary arose in those days and went into the hill country with haste, ^pto a city of Judah, ⁴⁰and entered the house of Zacharias and greeted Elizabeth.

⁴¹And it happened, when Elizabeth heard the greeting of Mary, that the babe leaped in her womb; and Elizabeth was ^qfilled with the Holy Spirit.

⁴²Then she spoke out with a loud voice and said, ^r“Blessed are you among women, and blessed is the fruit of your womb!

⁴³“But why is this granted to me, that the mother of my Lord should come to me?

⁴⁴“For indeed, as soon as the voice of your greeting sounded in my ears, the babe leaped in my womb for joy.

^{45s}“Blessed is she who ⁸believed, for there will be a fulfillment of those things which were told her from the Lord.”

The Song of Mary

⁴⁶And Mary said:

^t“My soul ⁹magnifies the Lord, ⁴⁷And my spirit has ^urejoiced in ^vGod my Savior. Word Studies: Savior

⁴⁸For ^wHe has regarded the lowly state of His maidservant; For behold, henceforth ^xall generations will call me blessed.

⁴⁹For He who is mighty ^yhas done great things for me, And ^zholy is His name.

⁵⁰And ^aHis mercy is on those who fear Him From generation to generation.

^{51b}He has shown strength with His arm; ^cHe has scattered the proud in the imagination of their hearts.

^{52d}He has put down the mighty from their thrones, And exalted the lowly.

⁵³He has ^efilled the hungry with good things, And the rich He has sent away empty.

⁵⁴He has helped His ^fservant Israel, ^gIn remembrance of His mercy, ^{55h}As He spoke to our ⁱfathers, To Abraham and to his ^jseed forever.”

⁵⁶And Mary remained with her about three months, and returned to her house.

Birth of John the Baptist

⁵⁷Now Elizabeth's full time came for her to be delivered, and she brought forth a son.

⁵⁸When her neighbors and relatives heard how the Lord had shown great mercy to her, they ^krejoiced with her.

Circumcision of John the Baptist

⁵⁹So it was, ^lon the eighth day, that they came to circumcise the child; and they would have called him by the name of his father, Zacharias.

⁶⁰His mother answered and said, ^m“No; he shall be called John.”

⁶¹But they said to her, “There is no one among your relatives who is called by this name.”

⁶²So they made signs to his father—what he would have him called.

⁶³And he asked for a writing tablet, and wrote, saying, “His name is John.” So they all marveled.

⁶⁴Immediately his mouth was opened and his tongue loosed, and he spoke, praising God.

⁶⁵Then fear came on all who dwelt around them; and all these sayings were discussed throughout all the hill country of Judea.

⁶⁶And all those who heard them ⁿkept them in their hearts, saying, “What kind of child will this be?” And ^othe hand of the Lord was with him.

Zacharias’ Prophecy

⁶⁷Now his father Zacharias ^pwas filled with the Holy Spirit, and prophesied, saying:

⁶⁸“Blessed^q is the Lord God of Israel, For ^rHe has visited and redeemed His people, ^{69s}And has raised up a horn of salvation for us In the house of His servant David,

^{70t}As He spoke by the mouth of His holy prophets, Who have been ^usince the world began, ⁷¹That we should be saved from our enemies And from the hand of all who hate us,

^{72v}To perform the mercy promised to our fathers And to remember His holy covenant,

^{73w}The oath which He swore to our father Abraham: ⁷⁴To grant us that we,

Being delivered from the hand of our enemies,

Might ^xserve Him without fear, ^{75y}In holiness and righteousness before Him all the days of our life.

⁷⁶“And you, child, will be called the ^zprophet of the Highest; For ^ayou will go before the face of the Lord to prepare His ways, ⁷⁷To give ^bknowledge of salvation to His people By the remission of their sins,

⁷⁸Through the tender mercy of our God, With which the ¹⁰Dayspring from on high ¹¹has visited us; ^{79c}To give light to those who sit in darkness and the shadow of death, To ^dguide our feet into the way of peace.”

⁸⁰So ^ethe child grew and became strong in spirit, and ^fwas in the deserts till the day of his manifestation to Israel.

Luke 2

Christ Born of Mary

(Matt. 1:18–25)

¹And it came to pass in those days that a decree went out from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be registered.

^{2a}This census first took place while Quirinius was governing Syria.

³So all went to be registered, everyone to his own city.

⁴Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, to ^bthe city of David, which is called Bethlehem, ^cbecause he was of the house and lineage of David, ⁵to be registered with Mary, ^dhis betrothed ¹wife, who was with child.

⁶So it was, that while they were there, the days were completed for her to be delivered.

⁷And ^eshe brought forth her firstborn Son, and wrapped Him in swaddling cloths, and laid Him in a ²manger, because there was no room for them in the inn.

Glory in the Highest

⁸Now there were in the same country shepherds living out in the fields, keeping watch over their flock by night.

⁹And ³behold, an angel of the Lord stood before them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them, ^fand they were greatly afraid.

¹⁰Then the angel said to them, ^g“Do not be afraid, for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy ^hwhich will be to all people.

¹¹ⁱ“For there is born to you this day in the city of David ^ja Savior, ^kwho is Christ the Lord.

¹²“And this will be the sign to you: You will find a Babe wrapped in swaddling cloths, lying in a ⁴manger.”

¹³ⁱAnd suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying:

¹⁴“Glory^m to God in the highest, And on earth ⁿpeace, ^ogoodwill⁵ toward men!”

¹⁵So it was, when the angels had gone away from them into heaven, that the shepherds said to one another, “Let us now go to Bethlehem and see this thing that has come to pass, which the Lord has made known to us.”

¹⁶And they came with haste and found Mary and Joseph, and the Babe lying in a manger.

¹⁷Now when they had seen Him, they made ⁶widely known the saying which was told them concerning this Child.

¹⁸And all those who heard it marveled at those things which were told them by the shepherds.

^{19p}But Mary kept all these things and pondered them in her heart.

²⁰Then the shepherds returned, glorifying and ^qpraising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told them.

Circumcision of Jesus

²¹r And when eight days were completed ⁷for the circumcision of the Child, His name was called ^sJESUS, the name given by the angel ^tbefore He was conceived in the womb.

Jesus Presented in the Temple

²²Now when ^uthe days of her purification according to the law of Moses were completed, they brought Him to Jerusalem to present Him to the Lord

Bible Times & Culture Notes: Childbirth

^{23v}(as it is written in the law of the Lord, ^w“Every male who opens the womb shall be called holy to the LORD”), ²⁴and to offer a sacrifice according to what is said in the law of the Lord, ^x“A pair of turtledoves or two young pigeons.”

Simeon Sees God’s Salvation

²⁵And behold, there was a man in Jerusalem whose name was Simeon, and this man was just and devout, ^ywaiting for the Consolation of Israel, and the Holy Spirit was upon him.

²⁶And it had been revealed to him by the Holy Spirit that he would not ^zsee death before he had seen the Lord’s Christ.

²⁷So he came ^aby the Spirit into the temple. And when the parents brought in the Child Jesus, to do for Him according to the custom of the law, ²⁸he took Him up in his arms and blessed God and said:

²⁹“Lord, ^bnow You are letting Your servant depart in peace,
According to Your word;

³⁰For my eyes ^chave seen Your salvation ³¹Which You have prepared before the face of all peoples,

^{32d}A light to bring revelation to the Gentiles, And the glory of Your people Israel.”

³³⁸And Joseph and His mother marveled at those things which were spoken of Him.

³⁴Then Simeon blessed them, and said to Mary His mother, “Behold, this Child is destined for the ^efall and rising of many in Israel, and for ^fa sign which will be spoken against ³⁵“(yes, ^ga sword will pierce through your own soul also), that the thoughts of many hearts may be revealed.”

Anna Bears Witness to the Redeemer

³⁶Now there was one, Anna, a prophetess, the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of ^hAsher. She was of a great age, and had lived with a husband seven years from her virginity; ³⁷and this woman was a widow ⁹of about eighty-four years, who did not depart from the temple, but served God with fastings and prayers ⁱnight and day.

³⁸And coming in that instant she gave thanks to ¹⁰the Lord, and spoke of Him to all those who ^jlooked for redemption in Jerusalem.

The Family Returns to Nazareth

³⁹So when they had performed all things according to the law of the Lord, they returned to Galilee, to their own city, Nazareth.

⁴⁰^kAnd the Child grew and became strong ¹¹in spirit, filled with wisdom; and the grace of God was upon Him.

The Boy Jesus Amazes the Scholars

⁴¹His parents went to ^lJerusalem ^mevery year at the Feast of the Passover.

⁴²And when He was twelve years old, they went up to Jerusalem according to the ⁿcustom of the feast.

⁴³When they had finished the ^odays, as they returned, the Boy Jesus lingered behind in Jerusalem. And ¹²Joseph and His mother did not know it;

⁴⁴but supposing Him to have been in the company, they went a day's journey, and sought Him among their relatives and acquaintances.

⁴⁵So when they did not find Him, they returned to Jerusalem, seeking Him.

⁴⁶Now so it was that after three days they found Him in the temple, sitting in the midst of the teachers, both listening to them and asking them questions.

⁴⁷And ^pall who heard Him were astonished at His understanding and answers.

⁴⁸So when they saw Him, they were amazed; and His mother said to Him, "Son, why have You done this to us? Look, Your father and I have sought You anxiously."

⁴⁹And He said to them, "Why did you seek Me? Did you not know that I must be ^qabout ^rMy Father's business?"

⁵⁰But ^sthey did not understand the statement which He spoke to them.

Jesus Advances in Wisdom and Favor

⁵¹Then He went down with them and came to Nazareth, and was ¹³subject to them, but His mother ^tkept all these things in her heart.

⁵²And Jesus ^uincreased in wisdom and stature, ^vand in favor with God and men.

Luke 3

John the Baptist Prepares the Way

(Matt. 3:1–6; Mark 1:2–6; John 1:19–23) ¹Now in the fifteenth year of the reign of Tiberius Caesar, ^aPontius Pilate being governor of Judea, Herod being tetrarch of Galilee, his brother Philip tetrarch of Iturea and the region of Trachonitis, and Lysanias tetrarch of Abilene, ²¹while ^bAnnas and Caiaphas were high priests, the word of God came to ^cJohn the son of Zacharias in the wilderness.

^{3d}And he went into all the region around the Jordan, preaching a baptism of repentance ^efor the remission of sins, ⁴as it is written in the book of the words of Isaiah the prophet, saying:

^f“The voice of one crying in the wilderness: ‘Prepare the way of the LORD;

Make His paths straight.

⁵*Every valley shall be filled*

And every mountain and hill brought low;

The crooked places shall be made straight

And the rough ways smooth;

⁶*And ^gall flesh shall see the salvation of God.’ ”*

John Preaches to the People

(Matt. 3:7–12; Mark 1:7, 8; John 1:24–28)⁷ Then he said to the multitudes that came out to be baptized by him, ^h“Brood² of vipers! Who warned you to flee from the wrath to come? Word Studies: baptize

⁸“Therefore bear fruits ⁱworthy of repentance, and do not begin to say to yourselves, ‘We have Abraham as our father.’ For I say to you that God is able to raise up children to Abraham from these stones.

⁹“And even now the ax is laid to the root of the trees. Therefore ^jevery tree which does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire.”

¹⁰So the people asked him, saying, ^k“What shall we do then?”

¹¹He answered and said to them, ^l“He who has two tunics, let him give to him who has none; and he who has food, ^mlet him do likewise.”

¹²Then ⁿtax collectors also came to be baptized, and said to him, “Teacher, what shall we do?”

¹³And he said to them, ^o“Collect no more than what is appointed for you.”

¹⁴Likewise the soldiers asked him, saying, “And what shall we do?” So he said to them, “Do not ³intimidate anyone ^por accuse falsely, and be content with your wages.”

¹⁵Now as the people were in expectation, and all reasoned in their hearts about John, whether he was the Christ or not, ¹⁶John answered, saying to all, ^q“I indeed baptize you with water; but One mightier than I is coming, whose sandal strap I am not worthy to loose. He will ^rbaptize you with the Holy Spirit and fire.

¹⁷“His winnowing fan is in His hand, and He will thoroughly clean out His threshing floor, and ^sgather the wheat into His barn; but the chaff He will burn with unquenchable fire.”

¹⁸And with many other exhortations he preached to the people.

¹⁹But Herod the tetrarch, being rebuked by him concerning Herodias, his ⁴brother Philip’s wife, and for all the evils which Herod had done, ²⁰also added this, above all, that he shut John up in prison.

John Baptizes Jesus

(Matt. 3:13–17; Mark 1:9–11; John 1:29–34) ²¹When all the people were baptized, ^uit came to pass that Jesus also was baptized; and while He prayed, the heaven was opened.

²²And the Holy Spirit descended in bodily form like a dove upon Him, and a voice came from heaven which said, “You are My beloved Son; in You I am ^vwell pleased.”

The Genealogy of Jesus Christ

(Gen. 5:1–32; 11:10–26; Ruth 4:18–22; 1 Chr. 1:1–4, 24–27, 34; 2:1–15; Matt. 1:2–16) ²³Now Jesus Himself began His ministry at ^wabout thirty years of age, being (as was supposed) ^xthe son of Joseph, the son of Heli, ²⁴the son of Matthat, the son of Levi, the son of Melchi, the son of Janna, the son of Joseph, ²⁵the son of Mattathiah, the son of Amos, the son of Nahum, the son of Esli, the son of Naggai, ²⁶the son of Maath, the son of Mattathiah, the son of Semei, the son of Joseph, the son of Judah, ²⁷the son of Joannas, the son of Rhesa, the son of ^yZerubbabel, the son of Shealtiel, the son of Neri, ²⁸the son of Melchi, the son of Addi, the son of Cosam, the son of Elmodam, the son of Er, ²⁹the son of Jose, the son of Eliezer, the son of Jorim, the son of Matthat, the son of Levi, ³⁰the son of Simeon, the son of Judah, the son of Joseph, the son of Jonan, the son of Eliakim, ³¹the son of Melea, the son of Menan, the son of Mattathah, the son of ^zNathan, ^athe son of David, ^{32b}the son of Jesse, the son of Obed, the son of Boaz, the son of Salmon, the son of Nahshon, ³³the son of Amminadab, the son of Ram, the son of Hezron, the son of Perez, the son of Judah, ³⁴the son of Jacob, the son of Isaac, the son of Abraham, ^cthe son of Terah, the son of Nahor, ³⁵the son of Serug, the son of Reu, the son of Peleg, the son of Eber, the son of Shelah, ^{36d}the son of Cainan, the son of ^eArphaxad, ^fthe son of Shem, the son of Noah, the son of Lamech, ³⁷the son of Methuselah, the son of Enoch, the son of Jared, the son of Mahalalel, the son of Cainan, ³⁸the son of Enosh, the son of Seth, the son of Adam, ^gthe son of God.

Luke 4

Satan Tempts Jesus

(Matt. 4:1–11; Mark 1:12, 13) ¹Then ^aJesus, being filled with the Holy Spirit, returned from the Jordan and ^bwas led by the Spirit ¹into the wilderness, Charts and Diagrams: Temptation: The Two Adams Contrasted

²being ²tempted for forty days by the devil. And ^cin those days He ate nothing, and afterward, when they had ended, He was hungry.

³And the devil said to Him, “If You are ^dthe Son of God, command this stone to become bread.”

⁴But Jesus answered him, saying, “It is written, ^e*‘Man shall not live by bread alone, ³but by every word of God.’*”

⁵⁴Then the devil, taking Him up on a high mountain, showed Him all the kingdoms of the world in a moment of time.

⁶And the devil said to Him, “All this authority I will give You, and their glory; for ^fthis has been delivered to me, and I give it to whomever I wish.

⁷“Therefore, if You will worship before me, all will be Yours.”

⁸And Jesus answered and said to him, ⁵“Get behind Me, Satan! ⁶For it is written, ⁸*‘You shall worship the LORD your God, and Him only you shall serve.’*”

⁹^hThen he brought Him to Jerusalem, set Him on the pinnacle of the temple, and said to Him, “If You are the Son of God, throw Yourself down from here.

¹⁰“For it is written:

ⁱ*‘He shall give His angels charge over you, To keep you,’*

¹¹“and,

^j*‘In their hands they shall bear you up, Lest you dash your foot against a stone.’*”

¹²And Jesus answered and said to him, “It has been said, ^k*‘You shall not ⁷tempt the LORD your God.’*”

¹³Now when the devil had ended every ⁸temptation, he departed from Him ^luntil an opportune time.

Jesus Begins His Galilean Ministry

(Matt. 4:12–17; Mark 1:14, 15) ¹⁴^mThen Jesus returned ⁿin the power of the Spirit to ^oGalilee, and ^pnews of Him went out through all the surrounding region.

¹⁵And He ^qtaught in their synagogues, ^rbeing glorified by all.

Jesus Rejected at Nazareth

(Matt. 13:54–58; Mark 6:1–6) ¹⁶So He came to ^sNazareth, where He had been brought up. And as His custom was, ^tHe went into the synagogue on the Sabbath day, and stood up to read.

¹⁷And He was handed the book of the prophet Isaiah. And when He had opened the book, He found the place where it was written:

¹⁸*“The^u Spirit of the LORD is upon Me, Because He has anointed Me To preach the gospel to the poor; He has sent Me ⁹to heal the brokenhearted, To proclaim liberty to the captives And recovery of sight to the blind, To ^vset at liberty those who are ¹⁰oppressed; ¹⁹To proclaim the acceptable year of the LORD.”*

²⁰Then He closed the book, and gave it back to the attendant and sat down. And the eyes of all who were in the synagogue were fixed on Him. Bible Times & Culture Notes: Worship

²¹And He began to say to them, “Today this Scripture is ^wfulfilled in your hearing.”

²²So all bore witness to Him, and ^xmarveled at the gracious words which proceeded out of His mouth. And they said, ^y“Is this not Joseph’s son?”

²³He said to them, “You will surely say this proverb to Me, ‘Physician, heal yourself! Whatever we have heard done in ^zCapernaum, ¹¹do also here in ^aYour country.’ ”

²⁴Then He said, “Assuredly, I say to you, no ^bprophet is accepted in his own country.

²⁵“But I tell you truly, ^cmany widows were in Israel in the days of Elijah, when the heaven was shut up three years and six months, and there was a great famine throughout all the land; ²⁶“but to none of them was Elijah sent except to ¹²Zarephath, in the region of Sidon, to a woman who was a widow.

^{27d}“And many lepers were in Israel in the time of Elisha the prophet, and none of them was cleansed except Naaman the Syrian.”

²⁸So all those in the synagogue, when they heard these things, were ^efilled with ¹³wrath, ^{29f}and rose up and thrust Him out of the city; and they led Him to the brow of the hill on which their city was built, that they might throw Him down over the cliff.

³⁰Then ^gpassing through the midst of them, He went His way.

Jesus Casts Out an Unclean Spirit

(Mark 1:21–28)

³¹Then ^hHe went down to Capernaum, a city of Galilee, and was teaching them on the Sabbaths. In-Text Map: Capernaum Synagogue

³²And they were ⁱastonished at His teaching, ^jfor His word was with authority.

^{33k}Now in the synagogue there was a man who had a spirit of an unclean demon. And he cried out with a loud voice, ³⁴saying, “Let us alone! What have we to do with You, Jesus of Nazareth? Did You come to destroy us? ^lI know who You are—^mthe Holy One of God!”

³⁵But Jesus rebuked him, saying, ¹⁴“Be quiet, and come out of him!” And when the demon had thrown him in their midst, it came out of him and did not hurt him.

³⁶Then they were all amazed and spoke among themselves, saying, “What a word this is! For with authority and power He commands the unclean spirits, and they come out.”

³⁷And the report about Him went out into every place in the surrounding region.

Peter’s Mother-in-Law Healed

(Matt. 8:14, 15; Mark 1:29–31) ³⁸ⁿNow He arose from the synagogue and entered Simon’s house. But Simon’s wife’s mother was ¹⁵sick with a high fever, and they ^omade request of Him concerning her.

³⁹So He stood over her and ^prebuked the fever, and it left her. And immediately she arose and served them.

Many Healed After Sabbath Sunset

(Matt. 8:16, 17; Mark 1:32–34) ^{40q}When the sun was setting, all those who had any that were sick with various diseases brought them to Him; and He laid His hands on every one of them and healed them.

^{41r}And demons also came out of many, crying out and saying, ^s“You are ¹⁶the Christ, the Son of God!” And He, ^trebuking them, did not allow them to ¹⁷speak, for they knew that He was the Christ.

Jesus Preaches in Galilee

(Matt. 4:23–25; Mark 1:35–39) ^{42u}Now when it was day, He departed and went into a deserted place. And the crowd sought Him and came to Him, and tried to keep Him from leaving them; ⁴³but He said to them, “I must ^vpreach the kingdom of God to the other cities also, because for this purpose I have been sent.”

^{44w}And He was preaching in the synagogues of ¹⁸Galilee.

Luke 5

Four Fishermen Called as Disciples

(Matt. 4:18–22; Mark 1:16–20) ¹So ^ait was, as the multitude pressed about Him to ^bhear the word of God, that He stood by the Lake of Gennesaret, ²and saw two boats standing by the lake; but the fishermen had gone from them and were washing their nets.

³Then He got into one of the boats, which was Simon's, and asked him to put out a little from the land. And He ^csat down and taught the multitudes from the boat.

⁴When He had stopped speaking, He said to Simon, ^d“Launch out into the deep and let down your nets for a catch.”

⁵But Simon answered and said to Him, “Master, we have toiled all night and caught ^enothing; nevertheless ^fat Your word I will let down the net.”

⁶And when they had done this, they caught a great number of fish, and their net was breaking.

⁷So they signaled to their partners in the other boat to come and help them. And they came and filled both the boats, so that they began to sink.

⁸When Simon Peter saw it, he fell down at Jesus' knees, saying, ^g“Depart from me, for I am a sinful man, O Lord!”

⁹For he and all who were with him were ^hastonished at the catch of fish which they had taken; ¹⁰and so also were James and John, the sons of Zebedee, who were partners with Simon. And Jesus said to Simon, “Do not be afraid. ⁱFrom now on you will catch men.”

¹¹So when they had brought their boats to land, ^jthey ¹forsook all and followed Him.

Jesus Cleanses a Leper

(Matt. 8:1–4; Mark 1:40–45) ^{12k}And it happened when He was in a certain city, that behold, a man who was full of ^lleprosy saw Jesus; and he fell on his face and ²implored Him, saying, “Lord, if You are willing, You can make me clean.”

¹³Then He put out His hand and touched him, saying, “I am willing; be cleansed.” ^mImmediately the leprosy left him.

¹⁴ⁿAnd He charged him to tell no one, “But go and show yourself to the priest, and make an offering for your cleansing, as a testimony to them, ^ojust as Moses commanded.”

¹⁵However, ^pthe report went around concerning Him all the more; and ^qgreat multitudes came together to hear, and to be healed by Him of their infirmities.

^{16r}So He Himself often withdrew into the wilderness and ^sprayed.

Jesus Forgives and Heals a Paralytic

(Matt. 9:2–8; Mark 2:1–12) ¹⁷Now it happened on a certain day, as He was teaching, that there were Pharisees and teachers of the law sitting by, who had come out of every town of Galilee, Judea, and Jerusalem. And the power of the Lord was present ³to heal them.

^{18t}Then behold, men brought on a bed a man who was paralyzed, whom they sought to bring in and lay before Him.

¹⁹And when they could not find how they might bring him in, because of the crowd, they went up on the housetop and let him down with his bed through the tiling into the midst ^ubefore Jesus.

²⁰When He saw their faith, He said to him, “Man, your sins are forgiven you.”

^{21v}And the scribes and the Pharisees began to reason, saying, “Who is this who speaks blasphemies? ^wWho can forgive sins but God alone?”

²²But when Jesus ^xperceived their thoughts, He answered and said to them, “Why are you reasoning in your hearts?

²³“Which is easier, to say, ‘Your sins are forgiven you,’ or to say, ‘Rise up and walk’?

²⁴“But that you may know that the Son of Man has power on earth to forgive sins”—He said to the man who was paralyzed, ^y“I say to you, arise, take up your bed, and go to your house.”

²⁵Immediately he rose up before them, took up what he had been lying on, and departed to his own house, ^zglorifying God.

²⁶And they were all amazed, and they ^aglorified God and were filled with fear, saying, “We have seen strange things today!”

Matthew the Tax Collector

(Matt. 9:9–13; Mark 2:13–17) ^{27b}After these things He went out and saw a tax collector named Levi, sitting at the tax office. And He said to him, ^c“Follow Me.”

²⁸So he left all, rose up, and ^dfollowed Him.

^{29e}Then Levi gave Him a great feast in his own house. And ^fthere were a great number of tax collectors and others who sat down with them.

^{30g}And their scribes and the Pharisees ⁵complained against His disciples, saying, ^g“Why do You eat and drink with tax collectors and sinners?”

³¹Jesus answered and said to them, “Those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick.

^{32h}“I have not come to call the righteous, but sinners, to repentance.”

Jesus Is Questioned About Fasting

(Matt. 9:14–17; Mark 2:18–22) ³³Then they said to Him, ⁱ“Why ⁶do the disciples of John fast often and make prayers, and likewise those of the Pharisees, but Yours eat and drink?”

³⁴And He said to them, “Can you make the friends of the bridegroom fast while the ^jbridegroom is with them?”

³⁵“But the days will come when the bridegroom will be taken away from them; then they will fast in those days.”

^{36k}Then He spoke a parable to them: “No one ⁷puts a piece from a new garment on an old one; otherwise the new makes a tear, and also the piece that was taken out of the new does not match the old.

³⁷“And no one puts new wine into old wineskins; or else the new wine will burst the wineskins and be spilled, and the wineskins will be ruined.

³⁸“But new wine must be put into new wineskins, ⁸and both are preserved.

³⁹“And no one, having drunk old wine, ⁹immediately desires new; for he says, ‘The old is ¹⁰better.’ ”

Luke 6

Jesus Is Lord of the Sabbath

(Matt. 12:1–8; Mark 2:23–28) ¹Now ^ait happened ¹on the second Sabbath after the first that He went through the grainfields. And His disciples plucked the heads of grain and ate them, rubbing them in their hands.

²And some of the Pharisees said to them, “Why are you doing ^bwhat is not lawful to do on the Sabbath?”

³But Jesus answering them said, “Have you not even read this, ^cwhat David did when he was hungry, he and those who were with him: ⁴“how he went into the house of God, took and ate the showbread, and also gave some to those with him, ^dwhich is not lawful for any but the priests to eat?”

⁵And He said to them, “The Son of Man is also Lord of the Sabbath.”

Healing on the Sabbath

(Matt. 12:9–14; Mark 3:1–6) ^{6e}Now it happened on another Sabbath, also, that He entered the synagogue and taught. And a man was there whose right hand was withered.

⁷So the scribes and Pharisees watched Him closely, whether He would ^fheal on the Sabbath, that they might find an ^gaccusation against Him.

⁸But He ^hknew their thoughts, and said to the man who had the withered hand, “Arise and stand here.” And he arose and stood.

⁹Then Jesus said to them, “I will ask you one thing: ⁱIs it lawful on the Sabbath to do good or to do evil, to save life or ²to destroy?”

¹⁰And when He had looked around at them all, He said to ³the man, “Stretch out your hand.” And he did so, and his hand was restored ⁴as whole as the other.

¹¹But they were filled with rage, and discussed with one another what they might do to Jesus.

The Twelve Apostles

(Matt. 10:1–4; Mark 3:13–19) ¹²Now it came to pass in those days that He went out to the mountain to pray, and continued all night in ^jprayer to God.

¹³And when it was day, He called His disciples to Himself; ^kand from them He chose ^ltwelve whom He also named apostles: ¹⁴Simon, ^mwhom He also named Peter, and Andrew his brother; James and John; Philip and Bartholomew; ¹⁵Matthew and Thomas; James the son of Alphaeus, and Simon called the Zealot; ¹⁶Judas ⁿthe son of James, and ^oJudas Iscariot who also became a traitor.

Jesus Heals a Great Multitude

(cf. Matt. 4:24, 25; Mark 3:7–12) ¹⁷And He came down with them and stood on a level place with a crowd of His disciples ^pand a great multitude of people from all Judea and Jerusalem, and from the seacoast of Tyre and Sidon, who came to hear Him and be healed of their diseases, ¹⁸as well as those who were tormented with unclean spirits. And they were healed.

¹⁹And the whole multitude ^qsought to ^rtouch Him, for ^spower went out from Him and healed them all.

The Beatitudes

(Matt. 5:1–12)

²⁰Then He lifted up His eyes toward His disciples, and said:

^t“Blessed are you poor, For yours is the kingdom of God. Article: Jesus and the Poor

^{21u}Blessed are you who hunger now, For you shall be ^vfilled.⁵

^wBlessed are you who weep now, For you shall ^xlaugh.

^{22y}Blessed are you when men hate you, And when they ^zexclude you,
And revile you, and cast out your name as evil, For the Son of Man’s sake.

^{23a}Rejoice in that day and leap for joy!

For indeed your reward is great in heaven, For ^bin like manner their fathers did to the prophets.

Jesus Pronounces Woes

²⁴“But^c woe to you^d who are rich, For^e you have received your consolation.

²⁵Woe to you who are full, For you shall hunger.

^gWoe to you who laugh now, For you shall mourn and^h weep.

²⁶Woe⁶ to you when⁷ all men speak well of you, For so did their fathers to the false prophets.

Love Your Enemies

(Matt. 5:38–48)

^{27j}“But I say to you who hear: Love your enemies, do good to those who hate you, ^{28k}“bless those who curse you, and ^lpray for those who spitefully use you.

^{29m}“To him who strikes you on the one cheek, offer the other also. ⁿAnd from him who takes away your cloak, do not withhold your tunic either.

^{30o}“Give to everyone who asks of you. And from him who takes away your goods do not ask them back.

^{31p}“And just as you want men to do to you, you also do to them likewise.

^{32q}“But if you love those who love you, what credit is that to you? For even sinners love those who love them.

³³“And if you do good to those who do good to you, what credit is that to you? For even sinners do the same.

^{34r}“And if you lend to those from whom you hope to receive back, what credit is that to you? For even sinners lend to sinners to receive as much back.

³⁵“But ^slove your enemies, ^tdo good, and ^ulend, ⁸hoping for nothing in return; and your reward will be great, and ^vyou will be sons of the Most High. For He is kind to the unthankful and evil.

^{36w}“Therefore be merciful, just as your Father also is merciful.

Do Not Judge

(Matt. 7:1–5)

^{37x}“Judge not, and you shall not be judged. Condemn not, and you shall not be condemned. ^yForgive, and you will be forgiven.

^{38z}“Give, and it will be given to you: good measure, pressed down, shaken together, and running over will be put into your ^abosom. For ^bwith the same measure that you use, it will be measured back to you.”

³⁹And He spoke a parable to them: ^c“Can the blind lead the blind? Will they not both fall into the ditch?

^{40d}“A disciple is not above his teacher, but everyone who is perfectly trained will be like his teacher.

^{41e}“And why do you look at the speck in your brother’s eye, but do not perceive the plank in your own eye?

⁴²“Or how can you say to your brother, ‘Brother, let me remove the speck that is in your eye,’ when you yourself do not see the plank that is in your own eye? Hypocrite! First remove the plank from your own eye, and then you will see clearly to remove the speck that is in your brother’s eye.

A Tree Is Known by Its Fruit

(Matt. 7:15–20)

^{43f}“For a good tree does not bear bad fruit, nor does a bad tree bear good fruit.

⁴⁴“For ^gevery tree is known by its own fruit. For men do not gather figs from thorns, nor do they gather grapes from a bramble bush.

^{45h}“A good man out of the good treasure of his heart brings forth good; and an evil man out of the evil ⁹treasure of his heart brings forth evil. For out ⁱof the abundance of the heart his mouth speaks.

Build on the Rock

(Matt. 7:21–27)

^{46j}“But why do you call Me ‘Lord, Lord,’ and not do the things which I say?

^{47k}“Whoever comes to Me, and hears My sayings and does them, I will show you whom he is like: ⁴⁸“He is like a man building a house, who dug deep and laid the foundation on the rock. And when the flood arose, the stream beat vehemently against that house, and could not shake it, for it was ¹⁰founded on the rock.

⁴⁹“But he who heard and did nothing is like a man who built a house on the earth without a foundation, against which the stream beat vehemently; and immediately it ^{11f}fell. And the ruin of that house was great.”

Luke 7

Jesus Heals a Centurion's Servant

(Matt. 8:5–13)

¹Now when He concluded all His sayings in the hearing of the people, He ^aentered Capernaum.

²And a certain centurion's servant, who was dear to him, was sick and ready to die.

³So when he heard about Jesus, he sent elders of the Jews to Him, pleading with Him to come and heal his servant.

⁴And when they came to Jesus, they begged Him earnestly, saying that the one for whom He should do this was deserving, ⁵“for he loves our nation, and has built us a synagogue.”

⁶Then Jesus went with them. And when He was already not far from the house, the centurion sent friends to Him, saying to Him, “Lord, do not trouble Yourself, for I am not worthy that You should enter under my roof.

⁷“Therefore I did not even think myself worthy to come to You. But ^bsay the word, and my servant will be healed.

⁸“For I also am a man placed under ^cauthority, having soldiers under me. And I say to one, ‘Go,’ and he goes; and to another, ‘Come,’ and he comes; and to my servant, ‘Do this,’ and he does it.”

⁹When Jesus heard these things, He marveled at him, and turned around and said to the crowd that followed Him, “I say to you, I have not found such great faith, not even in Israel!”

¹⁰And those who were sent, returning to the house, found the servant well ¹who had been sick.

Jesus Raises the Son of the Widow of Nain

¹¹Now it happened, the day after, that He went into a city called Nain; and many of His disciples went with Him, and a large crowd.

¹²And when He came near the gate of the city, behold, a dead man was being carried out, the only son of his mother; and she was a widow. And a large crowd from the city was with her.

¹³When the Lord saw her, He had ^dcompassion on her and said to her, ^e“Do not weep.”

¹⁴Then He came and touched the open coffin, and those who carried him stood still. And He said, “Young man, I say to you, ^farise.”

¹⁵So he who was dead ^gsat up and began to speak. And He ^hpresented him to his mother.

¹⁶ⁱThen fear ²came upon all, and they ^jglorified God, saying, ^k“A great prophet has risen up among us”; and, ^l“God has visited His people.”

¹⁷And this report about Him went throughout all Judea and all the surrounding region.

John the Baptist Sends Messengers to Jesus

(Matt. 11:2–19)

^{18m}Then the disciples of John reported to him concerning all these things.

¹⁹And John, calling two of his disciples to him, sent them to ³Jesus, saying, “Are You ⁿthe Coming One, or ⁴do we look for another?”

²⁰When the men had come to Him, they said, “John the Baptist has sent us to You, saying, ‘Are You the Coming One, or do we look for another?’ ”

²¹And that very hour He cured many of ⁵infirmities, afflictions, and evil spirits; and to many blind He gave sight.

^{22o}Jesus answered and said to them, “Go and tell John the things you have seen and heard: ^pthat the blind ^qsee, the lame ^rwalk, the lepers are ^scleansed, the deaf ^thear, the dead are raised, ^u*the* poor have the gospel preached to them.

²³“And blessed is he who is not ⁶offended because of Me.”

^{24v}When the messengers of John had departed, He began to speak to the multitudes concerning John: “What did you go out into the wilderness to see? A reed shaken by the wind?

²⁵“But what did you go out to see? A man clothed in soft garments? Indeed those who are gorgeously appareled and live in luxury are in kings’ courts.

²⁶“But what did you go out to see? A prophet? Yes, I say to you, and more than a prophet.

²⁷“This is he of whom it is written:

^w*‘Behold, I send My messenger before Your face, Who will prepare Your way before You.’*

²⁸“For I say to you, among those born of women there is ⁷not a ^xgreater prophet than John the Baptist; but he who is least in the kingdom of God is greater than he.”

²⁹And when all the people heard Him, even the tax collectors ⁸justified God, ^yhaving been baptized with the baptism of John.

³⁰But the Pharisees and ⁹lawyers rejected ^zthe will of God for themselves, not having been baptized by him.

³¹¹⁰And the Lord said, ^a“To what then shall I liken the men of this generation, and what are they like?

³²“They are like children sitting in the marketplace and calling to one another, saying:

‘We played the flute for you,
And you did not dance;
We mourned to you,
And you did not weep.’

³³“For ^bJohn the Baptist came ^cneither eating bread nor drinking wine, and you say, ‘He has a demon.’

³⁴“The Son of Man has come ^deating and drinking, and you say, ‘Look, a glutton and a ¹¹winebibber, a friend of tax collectors and sinners!’

³⁵^e“But wisdom is justified by all her children.”

A Sinful Woman Forgiven

³⁶_r Then one of the Pharisees asked Him to eat with him. And He went to the Pharisee's house, and sat down to eat.

³⁷ And behold, a woman in the city who was a sinner, when she knew that Jesus sat at the table in the Pharisee's house, brought an alabaster flask of fragrant oil, Bible Times & Culture Notes: The Underclass

³⁸ and stood at His feet behind Him weeping; and she began to wash His feet with her tears, and wiped them with the hair of her head; and she kissed His feet and anointed them with the fragrant oil.

³⁹ Now when the Pharisee who had invited Him saw this, he spoke to himself, saying, ^g“This Man, if He were a prophet, would know who and what manner of woman this is who is touching Him, for she is a sinner.”

⁴⁰ And Jesus answered and said to him, “Simon, I have something to say to you.” So he said, “Teacher, say it.”

⁴¹ “There was a certain creditor who had two debtors. One owed five hundred ^hdenarii, and the other fifty.

⁴² “And when they had nothing with which to repay, he freely forgave them both. Tell Me, therefore, which of them will love him more?”

⁴³ Simon answered and said, “I suppose the one whom he forgave more.” And He said to him, “You have rightly judged.”

⁴⁴ Then He turned to the woman and said to Simon, “Do you see this woman? I entered your house; you gave Me no ⁱwater for My feet, but she has washed My feet with her tears and wiped them with the hair of her head.

⁴⁵ “You gave Me no ^jkiss, but this woman has not ceased to kiss My feet since the time I came in.

⁴⁶_k “You did not anoint My head with oil, but this woman has anointed My feet with fragrant oil.

⁴⁷ “Therefore I say to you, her sins, which are many, are forgiven, for she loved much. But to whom little is forgiven, the same loves little.”

⁴⁸ Then He said to her, ^m“Your sins are forgiven.”

⁴⁹ And those who sat at the table with Him began to say to themselves, ⁿ“Who is this who even forgives sins?”

⁵⁰ Then He said to the woman, ^o“Your faith has saved you. Go in peace.”

Luke 8

Many Women Minister to Jesus

¹Now it came to pass, afterward, that He went through every city and village, preaching and ¹bringing the glad tidings of the kingdom of God. And the twelve were with Him, ²and ^acertain women who had been healed of evil spirits and ²infirmities—Mary called Magdalene, ^bout of whom had come seven demons, ³and Joanna the wife of Chuza, Herod's steward, and Susanna, and many others who provided for ³Him from their ⁴substance.

The Parable of the Sower

(Matt. 13:1–9; Mark 4:1–9) ^{4c}And when a great multitude had gathered, and they had come to Him from every city, He spoke by a parable: ⁵“A sower went out to sow his seed. And as he sowed, some fell by the wayside; and it was trampled down, and the birds of the air devoured it.

⁶“Some fell on rock; and as soon as it sprang up, it withered away because it lacked moisture.

⁷“And some fell among thorns, and the thorns sprang up with it and choked it.

⁸“But others fell on good ground, sprang up, and yielded ⁵a crop a hundredfold.” When He had said these things He cried, ^d“He who has ears to hear, let him hear!”

The Purpose of Parables

(Matt. 13:10–17; Mark 4:10–12) ^{9e}Then His disciples asked Him, saying, “What does this parable mean?”

¹⁰And He said, “To you it has been given to know the ⁶mysteries of the kingdom of God, but to the rest it is given in parables, that

^f‘Seeing they may not see, And hearing they may not understand.’

The Parable of the Sower Explained

(Matt. 13:18–23; Mark 4:13–20) ^{11g}“Now the parable is this: The seed is the ^hword of God.

¹²“Those by the wayside are the ones who hear; then the devil comes and takes away the word out of their hearts, lest they should believe and be saved.

¹³“But the ones on the rock are those who, when they hear, receive the word with joy; and these have no root, who believe for a while and in time of ⁷temptation fall away.

¹⁴“Now the ones that fell among thorns are those who, when they have heard, go out and are choked with cares, ⁱriches, and pleasures of life, and bring no fruit to maturity.

¹⁵“But the ones that fell on the good ground are those who, having heard the word with a noble and good heart, keep it and bear fruit with ^jpatience.⁸

The Parable of the Revealed Light

(Mark 4:21–25)

^{16k}“No one, when he has lit a lamp, covers it with a vessel or puts it under a bed, but sets it on a lampstand, that those who enter may see the ^llight.

^{17m}“For nothing is secret that will not be ⁿrevealed, nor anything hidden that will not be known and come to light.

¹⁸“Therefore take heed how you hear. ^oFor whoever has, to him more will be given; and whoever does not have, even what he ⁹seems to ^phave will be taken from him.”

Jesus’ Mother and Brothers Come to Him

(Matt. 12:46–50, Mark 3:31–35) ^{19q}Then His mother and brothers came to Him, and could not approach Him because of the crowd.

²⁰And it was told Him by some, who said, “Your mother and Your brothers are standing outside, desiring to see You.”

²¹But He answered and said to them, “My mother and My brothers are these who hear the word of God and do it.”

Wind and Wave Obey Jesus

(Matt. 8:23–27; Mark 4:35–41) ^{22r}Now it happened, on a certain day, that He got into a boat with His disciples. And He said to them, “Let us cross over to the other side of the lake.” And they launched out.

²³But as they sailed He fell asleep. And a windstorm came down on the lake, and they were filling with water, and were in ¹⁰jeopardy.

²⁴And they came to Him and awoke Him, saying, “Master, Master, we are perishing!” Then He arose and rebuked the wind and the raging of the water. And they ceased, and there was a calm.

²⁵But He said to them, ^s“Where is your faith?” And they were afraid, and marveled, saying to one another, ^t“Who can this be? For He commands even the winds and water, and they obey Him!”

A Demon-Possessed Man Healed

(Matt. 8:28—9:1; Mark 5:1–20) ^{26u}Then they sailed to the country of the ¹¹Gadarenes, which is opposite Galilee. Bible Times & Culture Notes: The Province of Galilee

²⁷And when He stepped out on the land, there met Him a certain man from the city who had demons ¹²for a long time. And he wore no clothes, nor did he live in a house but in the tombs.

²⁸When he saw Jesus, he ^vcried out, fell down before Him, and with a loud voice said, ^w“What have I to do with ^xYou, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? I beg You, do not torment me!”

²⁹For He had commanded the unclean spirit to come out of the man. For it had often seized him, and he was kept under guard, bound with chains and shackles; and he broke the bonds and was driven by the demon into the wilderness.

³⁰Jesus asked him, saying, “What is your name?” And he said, “Legion,” because many demons had entered him.

³¹And they begged Him that He would not command them to go out ^yinto the abyss.

³²Now a herd of many ^zswine was feeding there on the mountain. So they begged Him that He would permit them to enter them. And He permitted them.

³³Then the demons went out of the man and entered the swine, and the herd ran violently down the steep place into the lake and drowned.

³⁴When those who fed them saw what had happened, they fled and told it in the city and in the country.

³⁵Then they went out to see what had happened, and came to Jesus, and found the man from whom the demons had departed, ^asitting at the ^bfeet of Jesus, clothed and in his ^cright mind. And they were afraid.

³⁶They also who had seen it told them by what means he who had been demon-possessed was ¹³healed.

^{37d}Then the whole multitude of the surrounding region of the ¹⁴Gadarenes ^easked Him to ^fdepart from them, for they were seized with great ^gfear. And He got into the boat and returned.

³⁸Now ^hthe man from whom the demons had departed begged Him that he might be with Him. But Jesus sent him away, saying, ³⁹“Return to your own house, and tell what great things God has done for you.” And he went his way and proclaimed throughout the whole city what great things Jesus had done for him.

A Girl Restored to Life and a Woman Healed

⁴⁰So it was, when Jesus returned, that the multitude welcomed Him, for they were all waiting for Him.

⁴¹ⁱAnd behold, there came a man named Jairus, and he was a ruler of the synagogue. And he fell down at Jesus’ feet and begged Him to come to his house, ⁴²for he had an only daughter about twelve years of age, and she ^jwas dying. But as He went, the multitudes thronged Him.

^{43k}Now a woman, having a ^lflow of blood for twelve years, who had spent all her livelihood on physicians and could not be healed by any, ⁴⁴came from behind and ^mtouched the border of His garment. And immediately her flow of blood stopped.

⁴⁵And Jesus said, “Who touched Me?” When all denied it, Peter ¹⁵and those with him said, “Master, the multitudes throng and press You, ¹⁶and You say, ‘Who touched Me?’ ”

⁴⁶But Jesus said, “Somebody touched Me, for I perceived ⁿpower going out from Me.”

⁴⁷Now when the woman saw that she was not hidden, she came trembling; and falling down before Him, she declared to Him in the presence of all the people the reason she had touched Him and how she was healed immediately.

⁴⁸And He said to her, “Daughter, ¹⁷be of good cheer; ^oyour faith has made you well. ^pGo in peace.”

⁴⁹q While He was still speaking, someone came from the ruler of the synagogue's house, saying to him, "Your daughter is dead. Do not trouble the ¹⁸Teacher."

⁵⁰ But when Jesus heard it, He answered him, saying, "Do not be afraid; ^ronly believe, and she will be made well."

⁵¹ When He came into the house, He permitted no one to go ¹⁹in except ²⁰Peter, James, and John, and the father and mother of the girl.

⁵² Now all wept and mourned for her; but He said, ^s"Do not weep; she is not dead, ^tbut sleeping."

⁵³ And they ridiculed Him, knowing that she was dead.

⁵⁴ But He ²¹put them all outside, took her by the hand and called, saying, "Little girl, ^uarise."

⁵⁵ Then her spirit returned, and she arose immediately. And He commanded that she be given something to eat.

⁵⁶ And her parents were astonished, but ^vHe charged them to tell no one what had happened.

Luke 9

Sending Out the Twelve

(Matt. 10:5–15)

¹Then ^aHe called His twelve disciples together and ^bgave them power and authority over all demons, and to cure diseases.

^{2c}He sent them to preach the kingdom of God and to heal the sick.

^{3d}And He said to them, “Take nothing for the journey, neither staffs nor bag nor bread nor money; and do not have two tunics apiece.

^{4e}“Whatever house you enter, stay there, and from there depart.

^{5f}“And whoever will not receive you, when you go out of that city, ^gshake off the very dust from your feet as a testimony against them.”

^{6h}So they departed and went through the towns, preaching the gospel and healing everywhere.

Herod Seeks to See Jesus

(Matt. 14:1–12; Mark 6:14–29) ⁷ⁱNow Herod the tetrarch heard of all that was done by Him; and he was perplexed, because it was said by some that John had risen from the dead, ⁸and by some that Elijah had appeared, and by others that one of the old prophets had risen again.

⁹Herod said, “John I have beheaded, but who is this of whom I hear such things?” ^jSo he sought to see Him.

Feeding the Five Thousand

(Matt. 14:13–21; Mark 6:30–44; John 6:1–15) ^{10k}And the apostles, when they had returned, told Him all that they had done. ^lThen He took them and went aside privately into a deserted place belonging to the city called Bethsaida.

¹¹But when the multitudes knew it, they followed Him; and He received them and spoke to them about the kingdom of God, and healed those who had need of healing.

^{12m}When the day began to wear away, the twelve came and said to Him, “Send the multitude away, that they may go into the surrounding towns and country, and lodge and get provisions; for we are in a deserted place here.”

¹³But He said to them, “You give them something to eat.” And they said, “We have no more than five loaves and two fish, unless we go and buy food for all these people.”

¹⁴For there were about five thousand men. Then He said to His disciples, “Make them sit down in groups of fifty.”

¹⁵And they did so, and made them all sit down.

¹⁶Then He took the five loaves and the two fish, and looking up to heaven, He ⁿblessed and broke them, and gave them to the disciples to set before the multitude.

¹⁷So they all ate and were ¹filled, and twelve baskets of the leftover fragments were taken up by them.

Peter Confesses Jesus as the Christ

(Matt. 16:13–20; Mark 8:27–30) ^{18o}And it happened, as He was alone praying, that His disciples joined Him, and He asked them, saying, “Who do the crowds say that I am?”

¹⁹So they answered and said, ^p“John the Baptist, but some say Elijah; and others say that one of the old prophets has risen again.”

²⁰He said to them, “But who do you say that I am?” ^qPeter answered and said, “The Christ of God.”

Jesus Predicts His Death and Resurrection

(Matt. 16:20–23; Mark 8:30–33) ^{21r}And He strictly warned and commanded them to tell this to no one, ²²saying, ^s“The Son of Man must suffer many things, and be rejected by the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and be raised the third day.”

Take Up the Cross and Follow Him

(Matt. 16:24–27; Mark 8:34–38) ^{23t}Then He said to them all, “If anyone desires to come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross ²daily, and follow Me.

^{24u}“For whoever desires to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for My sake will save it.

^{25v}“For what profit is it to a man if he gains the whole world, and is himself destroyed or lost?

^{26w}“For whoever is ashamed of Me and My words, of him the Son of Man will be ^xashamed when He comes in His own glory, and in His Father’s, and of the holy angels.

^{27y}“But I tell you truly, there are some standing here who shall not taste death till they see the kingdom of God.”

Jesus Transfigured on the Mount

(Matt. 16:28–17:9; Mark 9:2–10; 2 Pet. 1:16–18) ^{28z}Now it came to pass, about eight days after these sayings, that He took Peter, John, and James and went up on the mountain to pray.

²⁹As He prayed, the appearance of His face was altered, and His robe became white and glistening.

³⁰And behold, two men talked with Him, who were ^aMoses and ^bElijah, ³¹who appeared in glory and spoke of His ³decease which He was about to accomplish at Jerusalem. Word Studies: decease

³²But Peter and those with him ^cwere heavy with sleep; and when they were fully awake, they saw His glory and the two men who stood with Him.

³³Then it happened, as they were parting from Him, that Peter said to Jesus, “Master, it is good for us to be here; and let us make three ⁴tabernacles: one for You, one for Moses, and one for Elijah”—not knowing what he said.

³⁴While he was saying this, a cloud came and overshadowed them; and they were fearful as they entered the ^dcloud.

³⁵And a voice came out of the cloud, saying, ^e“This is ⁵My beloved Son. ^fHear Him!”

³⁶When the voice had ceased, Jesus was found alone. ^gBut they kept quiet, and told no one in those days any of the things they had seen.

A Boy Is Healed

(Matt. 17:14–21; Mark 9:14–29) ^{37h}Now it happened on the next day, when they had come down from the mountain, that a great multitude met Him.

³⁸Suddenly a man from the multitude cried out, saying, “Teacher, I implore You, look on my son, for he is my only child.

³⁹“And behold, a spirit seizes him, and he suddenly cries out; it convulses him so that he foams at the mouth; and it departs from him with great difficulty, bruising him.

⁴⁰“So I implored Your disciples to cast it out, but they could not.”

⁴¹Then Jesus answered and said, “O ⁶faithless and perverse generation, how long shall I be with you and ⁷bear with you? Bring your son here.”

⁴²And as he was still coming, the demon threw him down and convulsed him. Then Jesus rebuked the unclean spirit, healed the child, and gave him back to his father.

Jesus Again Predicts His Death

(Matt. 17:22, 23; Mark 9:30–32) ⁴³And they were all amazed at the majesty of God. But while everyone marveled at all the things which Jesus did, He said to His disciples, ⁴⁴ⁱ“Let these words sink down into your ears, for the Son of Man is about to be betrayed into the hands of men.”

^{45j}But they did not understand this saying, and it was hidden from them so that they did not perceive it; and they were afraid to ask Him about this saying.

Who Is the Greatest?

(Matt. 18:1–5; Mark 9:33–37) ^{46k}Then a dispute arose among them as to which of them would be greatest.

⁴⁷And Jesus, ^lperceiving the thought of their heart, took a ^mlittle child and set him by Him, ⁴⁸and said to them, ⁿ“Whoever receives this little child in My name receives Me; and ^owhoever receives Me ^preceives Him who sent Me. ^qFor he who is least among you all will be great.”

Jesus Forbids Sectarianism

(Mark 9:38–41)

⁴⁹^rNow John answered and said, “Master, we saw someone casting out demons in Your name, and we forbade him because he does not follow with us.”

⁵⁰But Jesus said to him, “Do not forbid him, for ^she who is not against ⁸us is on ⁹our side.”

A Samaritan Village Rejects the Savior

⁵¹Now it came to pass, when the time had come for ^tHim to be received up, that He steadfastly set His face to go to Jerusalem, ⁵²and sent messengers before His face. And as they went, they entered a village of the Samaritans, to prepare for Him.

⁵³But ^uthey did not receive Him, because His face was set for the journey to Jerusalem.

⁵⁴And when His disciples ^vJames and John saw this, they said, “Lord, do You want us to command fire to come down from heaven and consume them, ¹⁰just as ^wElijah did?”

⁵⁵But He turned and rebuked them, ¹¹and said, “You do not know what manner of ^xspirit you are of.

⁵⁶¹²“For ^ythe Son of Man did not come to destroy men’s lives but to save them.” And they went to another village.

The Cost of Discipleship

(Matt. 8:18–22)

^{57z}Now it happened as they journeyed on the road, that someone said to Him, “Lord, I will follow You wherever You go.”

⁵⁸And Jesus said to him, “Foxes have holes and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man ^ahas nowhere to lay His head.”

^{59b}Then He said to another, “Follow Me.” But he said, “Lord, let me first go and bury my father.”

⁶⁰Jesus said to him, “Let the dead bury their own dead, but you go and preach the kingdom of God.”

⁶¹And another also said, “Lord, ^cI will follow You, but let me first go and bid them farewell who are at my house.”

⁶²But Jesus said to him, “No one, having put his hand to the plow, and looking back, is ^dfit for the kingdom of God.”

Luke 10

The Seventy Sent Out

¹After these things the Lord appointed ¹seventy others also, and ^asent them two by two before His face into every city and place where He Himself was about to go.

²Then He said to them, ^b“The harvest truly is great, but the laborers are few; therefore ^cpray the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into His harvest.

³“Go your way; ^dbehold, I send you out as lambs among wolves.

^{4e}“Carry neither money bag, knapsack, nor sandals; and ^fgreet no one along the road.

^{5g}“But whatever house you enter, first say, ‘Peace to this house.’

⁶“And if a son of peace is there, your peace will rest on it; if not, it will return to you.

^{7h}“And remain in the same house, ⁱeating and drinking such things as they give, for ^jthe laborer is worthy of his wages. Do not go from house to house.

⁸“Whatever city you enter, and they receive you, eat such things as are set before you.

^{9k}“And heal the sick there, and say to them, ¹‘The kingdom of God has come near to you.’

¹⁰“But whatever city you enter, and they do not receive you, go out into its streets and say, ^{11m}‘The very dust of your city which clings to ²us we wipe off against you. Nevertheless know this, that the kingdom of God has come near you.’

¹²³“But I say to you that ⁿit will be more tolerable in that Day for Sodom than for that city.

Woe to the Impenitent Cities

(Matt. 11:20–24)

¹³_o“Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! ^pFor if the mighty works which were done in you had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago, sitting in sackcloth and ashes.

¹⁴“But it will be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon at the judgment than for you.

¹⁵_q“And you, Capernaum, ⁴who are ^rexalted to heaven, ^swill be brought down to Hades.

¹⁶_t“He who hears you hears Me, ^uhe who rejects you rejects Me, and ^vhe who rejects Me rejects Him who sent Me.”

The Seventy Return with Joy

¹⁷Then ^wthe ⁵seventy returned with joy, saying, “Lord, even the demons are subject to us in Your name.”

¹⁸And He said to them, ^x“I saw Satan fall like lightning from heaven.

¹⁹“Behold, ^yI give you the authority to trample on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy, and nothing shall by any means hurt you.

²⁰“Nevertheless do not rejoice in this, that the spirits are subject to you, but ⁶rather rejoice because ^zyour names are written in heaven.”

Jesus Rejoices in the Spirit

(Matt. 11:25–27)

^{21a}In that hour Jesus rejoiced in the Spirit and said, “I thank You, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that You have hidden these things from the wise and prudent and revealed them to babes. Even so, Father, for so it seemed good in Your sight.

^{22b}“All⁷ things have been delivered to Me by My Father, and ^cno one knows who the Son is except the Father, and who the Father is except the Son, and the one to whom the Son wills to reveal Him.”

²³Then He turned to His disciples and said privately, ^d“Blessed are the eyes which see the things you see; ²⁴“for I tell you ^ethat many prophets and kings have desired to see what you see, and have not seen it, and to hear what you hear, and have not heard it.”

The Parable of the Good Samaritan

(Matt. 22:34–40; Mark 12:28–34) ²⁵And behold, a certain ⁸lawyer stood up and tested Him, saying, ^f“Teacher, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?”

²⁶He said to him, “What is written in the law? What is your reading of it?”

²⁷So he answered and said, ^g“ ‘You shall love the LORD your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your strength, and with all your mind,’ and ^h‘your neighbor as yourself.’ ”

²⁸And He said to him, “You have answered rightly; do this and ⁱyou will live.”

²⁹But he, wanting to ^jjustify himself, said to Jesus, “And who is my neighbor?”

³⁰Then Jesus answered and said: “A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and fell among ⁹thieves, who stripped him of his clothing, wounded him, and departed, leaving him half dead.

³¹“Now by chance a certain priest came down that road. And when he saw him, ^khe passed by on the other side.

³²“Likewise a Levite, when he arrived at the place, came and looked, and passed by on the other side.

³³“But a certain ^lSamaritan, as he journeyed, came where he was. And when he saw him, he had ^mcompassion.

³⁴“So he went to him and bandaged his wounds, pouring on oil and wine; and he set him on his own animal, brought him to an inn, and took care of him.

³⁵“On the next day, ¹⁰when he departed, he took out two ⁿdenarii, gave them to the innkeeper, and said to him, ‘Take care of him; and whatever more you spend, when I come again, I will repay you.’

³⁶“So which of these three do you think was neighbor to him who fell among the thieves?”

³⁷And he said, “He who showed mercy on him.” Then Jesus said to him, ^o“Go and do likewise.”

Mary and Martha Worship and Serve

³⁸Now it happened as they went that He entered a certain village; and a certain woman named ^pMartha welcomed Him into her house.

³⁹And she had a sister called Mary, ^qwho also ^rsat at ¹¹Jesus’ feet and heard His word.

⁴⁰But Martha was distracted with much serving, and she approached Him and said, “Lord, do You not care that my sister has left me to serve alone? Therefore tell her to help me.”

⁴¹And ¹²Jesus answered and said to her, “Martha, Martha, you are worried and troubled about many things.

⁴²“But ^sone thing is needed, and Mary has chosen that good part, which will not be taken away from her.”

Luke 11

The Model Prayer

(Matt. 6:9–15)

¹Now it came to pass, as He was praying in a certain place, when He ceased, that one of His disciples said to Him, “Lord, teach us to pray, as John also taught his disciples.”

²So He said to them, “When you pray, say:

^a Our¹ Father ²in heaven, Hallowed be Your name.
Your kingdom come.

³ Your will be done On earth as it is in heaven.

³ Give us day by day our daily bread.

⁴ And ^bforgive us our sins, For we also forgive everyone who is indebted to us.

And do not lead us into temptation,

⁴ But deliver us from the evil one.”

A Friend Comes at Midnight

⁵And He said to them, “Which of you shall have a friend, and go to him at midnight and say to him, ‘Friend, lend me three loaves; ⁶‘for a friend of mine has come to me on his journey, and I have nothing to set before him’; ⁷“and he will answer from within and say, ‘Do not trouble me; the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed; I cannot rise and give to you’?”

⁸“I say to you, ^cthough he will not rise and give to him because he is his friend, yet because of his persistence he will rise and give him as many as he needs.

Keep Asking, Seeking, Knocking

(Matt. 7:7–11)

^{9d}“So I say to you, ask, and it will be given to you; ^eseek, and you will find; knock, and it will be opened to you.

¹⁰“For everyone who asks receives, and he who seeks finds, and to him who knocks it will be opened.

^{11f}“If a son asks for ^{5b}bread from any father among you, will he give him a stone? Or if he asks for a fish, will he give him a serpent instead of a fish?

¹²“Or if he asks for an egg, will he offer him a scorpion?

¹³“If you then, being evil, know how to give ^{8g}good gifts to your children, how much more will your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to those who ask Him!”

A House Divided Cannot Stand

(Matt. 12:22–30; Mark 3:22–27) ^{14h}And He was casting out a demon, and it was mute. So it was, when the demon had gone out, that the mute spoke; and the multitudes marveled.

¹⁵But some of them said, ⁱ“He casts out demons by ⁶Beelzebub, the ruler of the demons.”

¹⁶Others, testing Him, ^jsought from Him a sign from heaven.

^{17k}But ^lHe, knowing their thoughts, said to them: “Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation, and a house divided against a house falls.

¹⁸“If Satan also is divided against himself, how will his kingdom stand? Because you say I cast out demons by Beelzebub.

¹⁹“And if I cast out demons by Beelzebub, by whom do your sons cast them out? Therefore they will be your judges.

²⁰“But if I cast out demons ^mwith the finger of God, surely the kingdom of God has come upon you.

²¹ⁿ“When a strong man, fully armed, guards his own palace, his goods are in peace.

²²“But ^owhen a stronger than he comes upon him and overcomes him, he takes from him all his armor in which he trusted, and divides his ⁷spoils.

^{23p}“He who is not with Me is against Me, and he who does not gather with Me scatters.

An Unclean Spirit Returns

(Matt. 12:43–45)

²⁴_q“When an unclean spirit goes out of a man, he goes through dry places, seeking rest; and finding none, he says, ‘I will return to my house from which I came.’

²⁵“And when he comes, he finds it swept and put in order.

²⁶“Then he goes and takes with him seven other spirits more wicked than himself, and they enter and dwell there; and ^rthe last state of that man is worse than the first.”

Keeping the Word

²⁷And it happened, as He spoke these things, that a certain woman from the crowd raised her voice and said to Him, ^s“Blessed is the womb that bore You, and the breasts which nursed You!”

²⁸But He said, ^t“More than that, blessed are those who hear the word of God and keep it!”

Seeking a Sign

(Matt. 12:38–42)

²⁹_u And while the crowds were thickly gathered together, He began to say, “This is an evil generation. It seeks a ^vsign, and no sign will be given to it except the sign of Jonah ⁸the prophet.

³⁰ “For as ^wJonah became a sign to the Ninevites, so also the Son of Man will be to this generation.

³² “The men of Nineveh will rise up in the judgment with this generation and condemn it, for ^zthey repented at the preaching of Jonah; and indeed a greater than Jonah is here.

The Lamp of the Body

(Matt. 6:22, 23) ^{33a}“No one, when he has lit a lamp, puts it in a secret place or under a ^bbasket, but on a lampstand, that those who come in may see the light. Bible Times & Culture Notes: Lamps

^{34c}“The lamp of the body is the eye. Therefore, when your eye is ⁹good, your whole body also is full of light. But when your eye is ¹⁰bad, your body also is full of darkness.

³⁵“Therefore take heed that the light which is in you is not darkness.

³⁶“If then your whole body is full of light, having no part dark, the whole body will be full of light, as when the bright shining of a lamp gives you light.”

Woe to the Pharisees and Lawyers

³⁷And as He spoke, a certain Pharisee asked Him to dine with him. So He went in and sat down to eat.

^{38d}When the Pharisee saw it, he marveled that He had not first washed before dinner.

^{39e}Then the Lord said to him, “Now you Pharisees make the outside of the cup and dish clean, but ^fyour inward part is full of ¹¹greed and wickedness.

⁴⁰“Foolish ones! Did not ⁸He who made the outside make the inside also?

^{41h}“But rather give alms of ¹²such things as you have; then indeed all things are clean to you.

⁴²ⁱ“But woe to you Pharisees! For you tithe mint and rue and all manner of herbs, and ^jpass by justice and the ^klove of God. These you ought to have done, without leaving the others undone.

^{43l}“Woe to you Pharisees! For you love the ¹³best seats in the synagogues and greetings in the marketplaces.

^{44m}“Woe to you, ¹⁴scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! ⁿFor you are like graves which are not seen, and the men who walk over them are not aware of them.”

⁴⁵Then one of the lawyers answered and said to Him, “Teacher, by saying these things You reproach us also.”

⁴⁶And He said, “Woe to you also, lawyers! ^oFor you load men with burdens hard to bear, and you yourselves do not touch the burdens with one of your fingers.

^{47p}“Woe to you! For you build the tombs of the prophets, and your fathers killed them.

⁴⁸“In fact, you bear witness that you approve the deeds of your fathers; for they indeed killed them, and you build their tombs.

⁴⁹“Therefore the wisdom of God also said, ^q‘I will send them prophets and apostles, and some of them they will kill and persecute,’

⁵⁰“that the blood of all the prophets which was shed from the foundation of the world may be required of this generation, ^{51r}“from the blood of Abel to ^sthe blood of Zechariah who perished between the altar and the temple. Yes, I say to you, it shall be required of this generation.

^{52t}“Woe to you lawyers! For you have taken away the key of knowledge. You did not enter in yourselves, and those who were entering in you hindered.”

⁵³¹⁵And as He said these things to them, the scribes and the Pharisees began to assail Him vehemently, and to cross-examine Him about many things, ⁵⁴lying in wait for Him, ¹⁶and ^useeking to catch Him in something He might say, ¹⁷that they might accuse Him.

Luke 12

Beware of Hypocrisy

(Matt. 10:26, 27) ¹In ^athe meantime, when an innumerable multitude of people had gathered together, so that they trampled one another, He began to say to His disciples first of all, ^b“Beware of the ¹leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocrisy.

^{2c}“For there is nothing covered that will not be revealed, nor hidden that will not be known.

³“Therefore whatever you have spoken in the dark will be heard in the light, and what you have spoken in the ear in inner rooms will be proclaimed on the housetops.

Jesus Teaches the Fear of God

(Matt. 10:8–31)

^{4d}“And I say to you, ^eMy friends, do not be afraid of those who kill the body, and after that have no more that they can do.

⁵“But I will show you whom you should fear: Fear Him who, after He has killed, has power to cast into hell; yes, I say to you, ^ffear Him!

⁶“Are not five sparrows sold for two ²copper coins? And ^gnot one of them is forgotten before God.

⁷“But the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Do not fear therefore; you are of more value than many sparrows.

Confess Christ Before Men

(Matt. 10:32, 33) ^{8h}“Also I say to you, whoever confesses Me ⁱbefore men, him the Son of Man also will confess before the angels of God.

⁹“But he who ^jdenies Me before men will be denied before the angels of God.

¹⁰“And ^kanyone who speaks a word against the Son of Man, it will be forgiven him; but to him who blasphemes against the Holy Spirit, it will not be forgiven. Word Studies: blasphemy

¹¹“Now when they bring you to the synagogues and magistrates and authorities, do not worry about how or what you should answer, or what you should say. Charts and Diagrams: The Ministry of the Holy Spirit in Luke's Writings

¹²“For the Holy Spirit will ^mteach you in that very hour what you ought to say.”

The Parable of the Rich Fool

¹³Then one from the crowd said to Him, “Teacher, tell my brother to divide the inheritance with me.”

¹⁴But He said to him, ⁿ“Man, who made Me a judge or an arbitrator over you?”

¹⁵And He said to them, ^o“Take heed and beware of ³covetousness, for one’s life does not consist in the abundance of the things he possesses.”

¹⁶Then He spoke a parable to them, saying: “The ground of a certain rich man yielded plentifully.

¹⁷“And he thought within himself, saying, ‘What shall I do, since I have no room to store my crops?’

¹⁸“So he said, ‘I will do this: I will pull down my barns and build greater, and there I will store all my crops and my goods.

¹⁹‘And I will say to my soul, ^p“Soul, you have many goods laid up for many years; take your ease; ^qeat, drink, and be merry.” ’

²⁰“But God said to him, ‘Fool! This night ^ryour soul will be required of you; ^sthen whose will those things be which you have provided?’

²¹“So is he who lays up treasure for himself, ^tand is not rich toward God.”

Do Not Worry

(Matt. 6:19–21, 25–34) ²²Then He said to His disciples, “Therefore I say to you, ^udo not worry about your life, what you will eat; nor about the body, what you will put on.

²³“Life is more than food, and the body is more than clothing.

²⁴“Consider the ravens, for they neither sow nor reap, which have neither storehouse nor barn; and ^vGod feeds them. Of how much more value are you than the birds?

²⁵“And which of you by worrying can add one cubit to his stature?

²⁶“If you then are not able to do the least, why ⁴are you anxious for the rest?

²⁷“Consider the lilies, how they grow: they neither toil nor spin; and yet I say to you, even ^wSolomon in all his glory was not ⁵arrayed like one of these.

²⁸“If then God so clothes the grass, which today is in the field and tomorrow is thrown into the oven, how much more will He clothe you, O you of ^xlittle faith?

²⁹“And do not seek what you should eat or what you should drink, nor have an anxious mind.

³⁰“For all these things the nations of the world seek after, and your Father ^yknows that you need these things.

^{31z}“But seek ⁶the kingdom of God, and all these things shall be added to you.

³²“Do not fear, little flock, for ^ait is your Father’s good pleasure to give you the kingdom.

^{33b}“Sell what you have and give ^calms; ^dprovide yourselves money bags which do not grow old, a treasure in the heavens that does not fail, where no thief approaches nor moth destroys.

³⁴“For where your treasure is, there your heart will be also.

The Faithful Servant and the Evil Servant

(Matt. 24:42–51)

^{35e}“Let your waist be girded and ^fyour lamps burning; ³⁶“and you yourselves be like men who wait for their master, when he will return from the wedding, that when he comes and knocks they may open to him immediately.

^{37g}“Blessed are those servants whom the master, when he comes, will find watching. Assuredly, I say to you that he will gird himself and have them sit down to eat, and will come and serve them.

³⁸“And if he should come in the second watch, or come in the third watch, and find them so, blessed are those servants.

^{39h}“But know this, that if the master of the house had known what hour the thief would come, he would ⁷have watched and not allowed his house to be broken into.

⁴⁰ⁱ“Therefore you also be ready, for the Son of Man is coming at an hour you do not expect.”

⁴¹Then Peter said to Him, “Lord, do You speak this parable only to us, or to all people?”

⁴²And the Lord said, ^j“Who then is that faithful and wise steward, whom his master will make ruler over his household, to give them their portion of food ⁸in due season?

⁴³“Blessed is that servant whom his master will find so doing when he comes.

^{44k}“Truly, I say to you that he will make him ruler over all that he has.

⁴⁵ⁱ“But if that servant says in his heart, ‘My master is delaying his coming,’ and begins to beat the male and female servants, and to eat and drink and be drunk, ⁴⁶“the master of that servant will come on a ^mday when he is not looking for him, and at an hour when he is not aware, and will cut him in two and appoint him his portion with the unbelievers.

⁴⁷“And ⁿthat servant who ^oknew his master’s will, and did not prepare himself or do according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes.

^{48p}“But he who did not know, yet committed things deserving of stripes, shall be beaten with few. For everyone to whom much is given, from him much will be required; and to whom much has been committed, of him they will ask the more.

Christ Brings Division

(Matt. 10:34–39)

⁴⁹_q“I came to send fire on the earth, and how I wish it were already kindled!

⁵⁰“But ^rI have a baptism to be baptized with, and how distressed I am till it is ^saccomplished!

⁵¹“Do you suppose that I came to give peace on earth? I tell you, not at all, ^ubut rather division.

⁵²_v“For from now on five in one house will be divided: three against two, and two against three.

⁵³_w“Father will be divided against son and son against father, mother against daughter and daughter against mother, mother-in-law against her daughter-in-law and daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law.”

Discern the Time

(Matt. 16:1–4)

⁵⁴Then He also said to the multitudes, ^x“Whenever you see a cloud rising out of the west, immediately you say, ‘A shower is coming’; and so it is.

⁵⁵“And when you see the ^ysouth wind blow, you say, ‘There will be hot weather’; and there is.

⁵⁶“Hypocrites! You can discern the face of the sky and of the earth, but how is it you do not discern ^zthis time?

Make Peace with Your Adversary

⁵⁷“Yes, and why, even of yourselves, do you not judge what is right?

^{58a}“When you go with your adversary to the magistrate, make every effort ^balong the way to settle with him, lest he drag you to the judge, the judge deliver you to the officer, and the officer throw you into prison.

⁵⁹“I tell you, you shall not depart from there till you have paid the very last mite.”

Luke 13

Repent or Perish

¹There were present at that season some who told Him about the Galileans whose blood Pilate had ¹mingled with their sacrifices.

²And Jesus answered and said to them, “Do you suppose that these Galileans were worse sinners than all other Galileans, because they suffered such things?

³“I tell you, no; but unless you repent you will all likewise perish.

⁴“Or those eighteen on whom the tower in Siloam fell and killed them, do you think that they were worse sinners than all other men who dwelt in Jerusalem?

⁵“I tell you, no; but unless you repent you will all likewise perish.”

The Parable of the Barren Fig Tree

⁶He also spoke this parable: ^a“A certain man had a fig tree planted in his vineyard, and he came seeking fruit on it and found none.

⁷“Then he said to the keeper of his vineyard, ‘Look, for three years I have come seeking fruit on this fig tree and find none. Cut it down; why does it ²use up the ground?’

⁸“But he answered and said to him, ‘Sir, let it alone this year also, until I dig around it and fertilize it.

⁹³‘And if it bears fruit, well. But if not, after that you can ^bcut it down.’ ”

A Spirit of Infirmary

¹⁰Now He was teaching in one of the synagogues on the Sabbath.

¹¹And behold, there was a woman who had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bent over and could in no way ⁴raise herself up.

¹²But when Jesus saw her, He called her to Him and said to her, “Woman, you are loosed from your ^cinfirmity.”

^{13d}And He laid His hands on her, and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God.

¹⁴But the ruler of the synagogue answered with indignation, because Jesus had ^ehealed on the Sabbath; and he said to the crowd, ^f“There are six days on which men ought to work; therefore come and be healed on them, and ^gnot on the Sabbath day.”

¹⁵The Lord then answered him and said, ⁵“Hypocrite! ^hDoes not each one of you on the Sabbath loose his ox or donkey from the stall, and lead it away to water it?

¹⁶“So ought not this woman, ⁱbeing a daughter of Abraham, whom Satan has bound—think of it—for eighteen years, be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath?”

¹⁷And when He said these things, all His adversaries were put to shame; and all the multitude rejoiced for all the glorious things that were ^jdone by Him.

The Parable of the Mustard Seed

(Matt. 13:31, 32; Mark 4:30–32) ^{18k}Then He said, “What is the kingdom of God like? And to what shall I compare it?

¹⁹“It is like a mustard seed, which a man took and put in his garden; and it grew and became a ⁶large tree, and the birds of the air nested in its branches.”

The Parable of the Leaven

(Matt. 13:33)

²⁰And again He said, “To what shall I liken the kingdom of God?

²¹“It is like ⁷leaven, which a woman took and hid in three ¹measures⁸ of meal till it was all leavened.”

The Narrow Way

(Matt. 7:13, 14) ^{22m}And He went through the cities and villages, teaching, and journeying toward Jerusalem.

²³Then one said to Him, “Lord, are there ⁿfew who are saved?” And He said to them, ^{24o}“Strive to enter through the narrow gate, for ^pmany, I say to you, will seek to enter and will not be able.

^{25q}“When once the Master of the house has risen up and ^rshut the door, and you begin to stand outside and knock at the door, saying, ^s‘Lord, Lord, open for us,’ and He will answer and say to you, ^t‘I do not know you, where you are from,’

²⁶“then you will begin to say, ‘We ate and drank in Your presence, and You taught in our streets.’

^{27u}“But He will say, ‘I tell you I do not know you, where you are from. ^vDepart from Me, all you workers of iniquity.’

^{28w}“There will be weeping and gnashing of teeth, ^xwhen you see Abraham and Isaac and Jacob and all the prophets in the kingdom of God, and yourselves thrust out.

²⁹“They will come from the east and the west, from the north and the south, and sit down in the kingdom of God.

^{30y}“And indeed there are last who will be first, and there are first who will be last.”

³¹⁹On that very day some Pharisees came, saying to Him, “Get out and depart from here, for Herod wants to kill You.”

³²And He said to them, “Go, tell that fox, ‘Behold, I cast out demons and perform cures today and tomorrow, and the third day ^zI shall be ¹⁰perfected.’

³³“Nevertheless I must journey today, tomorrow, and the day following; for it cannot be that a prophet should perish outside of Jerusalem.

Jesus Laments over Jerusalem

(Matt. 23:37–39)

^{34a}“O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, the one who kills the prophets and stones those who are sent to her! How often I wanted to gather your children together, as a hen gathers her brood under her wings, but you were not willing!

³⁵“See! ^bYour house is left to you desolate; and ¹¹assuredly, I say to you, you shall not see Me until the time comes when you say, ^c*‘Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD!’*”

Luke 14

A Man with Dropsy Healed on the Sabbath

¹Now it happened, as He went into the house of one of the rulers of the Pharisees to eat bread on the Sabbath, that they watched Him closely. Article: Keeping the Sabbath

²And behold, there was a certain man before Him who had dropsy.

³And Jesus, answering, spoke to the lawyers and Pharisees, saying, ^a“Is it lawful to heal on the ¹Sabbath?”

⁴But they kept silent. And He took him and healed him, and let him go.

⁵Then He answered them, saying, ^b“Which of you, having a ²donkey or an ox that has fallen into a pit, will not immediately pull him out on the Sabbath day?”

⁶And they could not answer Him regarding these things.

Take the Lowly Place

⁷So He told a parable to those who were invited, when He noted how they chose the best places, saying to them: ⁸“When you are invited by anyone to a wedding feast, do not sit down in the best place, lest one more honorable than you be invited by him; ⁹“and he who invited you and him come and say to you, ‘Give place to this man,’ and then you begin with shame to take the lowest place.

^{10c}“But when you are invited, go and sit down in the lowest place, so that when he who invited you comes he may say to you, ‘Friend, go up higher.’ Then you will have glory in the presence of those who sit at the table with you.

^{11d}“For whoever exalts himself will be ³humbled, and he who humbles himself will be exalted.”

¹²Then He also said to him who invited Him, “When you give a dinner or a supper, do not ask your friends, your brothers, your relatives, nor rich neighbors, lest they also invite you back, and you be repaid.

¹³“But when you give a feast, invite ^ethe poor, ⁴the maimed, ^fthe lame, ^gthe blind.

¹⁴“And you will be ^fblessed, because they cannot repay you; for you shall be repaid at the resurrection of the just.”

The Parable of the Great Supper

(Matt. 22:1–14)

¹⁵Now when one of those who sat at the table with Him heard these things, he said to Him, ⁸“Blessed is he who shall eat ⁵bread in the kingdom of God!”

^{16h}Then He said to him, “A certain man gave a great supper and invited many, ¹⁷“and ⁱsent his servant at supper time to say to those who were invited, ‘Come, for all things are now ready.’

¹⁸“But they all with one accord began to make excuses. The first said to him, ‘I have bought a piece of ground, and I must go and see it. I ask you to have me excused.’

¹⁹“And another said, ‘I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I am going to test them. I ask you to have me excused.’

²⁰“Still another said, ‘I have married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.’

²¹“So that servant came and reported these things to his master. Then the master of the house, being angry, said to his servant, 'Go out quickly into the streets and lanes of the city, and bring in here the poor and the ⁶maimed and the lame and the blind.'

²²"And the servant said, 'Master, it is done as you commanded, and still there is room.'

²³"Then the master said to the servant, 'Go out into the highways and hedges, and compel them to come in, that my house may be filled.

²⁴'For I say to you ^jthat none of those men who were invited shall taste my supper.' "

Leaving All to Follow Christ

(Matt. 10:34–39)

²⁵Now great multitudes went with Him. And He turned and said to them, ^{26k}“If anyone comes to Me ^land does not hate his father and mother, wife and children, brothers and sisters, ^myes, and his own life also, he cannot be My disciple.

²⁷“And ⁿwhoever does not bear his cross and come after Me cannot be My disciple.

²⁸“For ^owhich of you, intending to build a tower, does not sit down first and count the cost, whether he has enough to finish it— ²⁹“lest, after he has laid the foundation, and is not able to finish, all who see it begin to mock him, ³⁰“saying, ‘This man began to build and was not able to finish.’

³¹“Or what king, going to make war against another king, does not sit down first and consider whether he is able with ten thousand to meet him who comes against him with twenty thousand?

³²“Or else, while the other is still a great way off, he sends a delegation and asks conditions of peace.

³³“So likewise, whoever of you ^pdoes not forsake all that he has cannot be My disciple.

Tasteless Salt Is Worthless

(Matt. 5:13; Mark 9:50) ^{34q}“Salt is good; but if the salt has lost its flavor, how shall it be seasoned?”

³⁵“It is neither fit for the land nor for the ⁷dunghill, but men throw it out. He who has ears to hear, let him hear!”

Luke 15

The Parable of the Lost Sheep

(Matt. 18:10–14)

¹Then ^aall the tax collectors and the sinners drew near to Him to hear Him.

²And the Pharisees and scribes complained, saying, “This Man ¹receives sinners ^band eats with them.”

³So He spoke this parable to them, saying:

^{4c}“What man of you, having a hundred sheep, if he loses one of them, does not leave the ninety-nine in the wilderness, and go after the one which is lost until he finds it?

⁵“And when he has found it, he lays it on his shoulders, rejoicing.

⁶“And when he comes home, he calls together his friends and neighbors, saying to them, ^d‘Rejoice with me, for I have found my sheep ^ewhich was lost!’

⁷“I say to you that likewise there will be more joy in heaven over one sinner who repents ^fthan over ninety-nine ²just persons who ^gneed no repentance.

The Parable of the Lost Coin

⁸“Or what woman, having ten silver ³coins, if she loses one coin, does not light a lamp, sweep the house, and search carefully until she finds it?

⁹“And when she has found it, she calls her friends and neighbors together, saying, ‘Rejoice with me, for I have found the piece which I lost!’

¹⁰“Likewise, I say to you, there is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner who repents.”

The Parable of the Lost Son

¹¹Then He said: “A certain man had two sons.

¹²“And the younger of them said to his father, ‘Father, give me the portion of goods that falls to me.’ So he divided to them ^h*his* livelihood.

¹³“And not many days after, the younger son gathered all together, journeyed to a far country, and there wasted his possessions with ⁴prodigal living.

¹⁴“But when he had spent all, there arose a severe famine in that land, and he began to be in want.

¹⁵“Then he went and joined himself to a citizen of that country, and he sent him into his fields to feed swine.

¹⁶“And he would gladly have filled his stomach with the ⁵ pods that the swine ate, and no one gave him anything.

¹⁷“But when he came to himself, he said, ‘How many of my father’s hired servants have bread enough and to spare, and I perish with hunger!

¹⁸‘I will arise and go to my father, and will say to him, “Father, ⁱ I have sinned against heaven and before you, ¹⁹“and I am no longer worthy to be called your son. Make me like one of your hired servants.” ’

²⁰“And he arose and came to his father. But ^j when he was still a great way off, his father saw him and had compassion, and ran and fell on his neck and kissed him.

²¹“And the son said to him, ‘Father, I have sinned against heaven ^k and in your sight, and am no longer worthy to be called your son.’

²²“But the father said to his servants, ⁶ ‘Bring out the best robe and put it on him, and put a ring on his hand and sandals on his feet.

²³‘And bring the fatted calf here and kill it, and let us eat and be merry; ²⁴‘for this my son was dead and is alive again; he was lost and is found.’ And they began to be merry.

²⁵“Now his older son was in the field. And as he came and drew near to the house, he heard music and dancing.

²⁶“So he called one of the servants and asked what these things meant.

²⁷“And he said to him, ‘Your brother has come, and because he has received him safe and sound, your father has killed the fatted calf.’

²⁸“But he was angry and would not go in. Therefore his father came out and pleaded with him.

²⁹“So he answered and said to his father, ‘Lo, these many years I have been serving you; I never transgressed your commandment at any time; and yet you never gave me a young goat, that I might make merry with my friends.

³⁰‘But as soon as this son of yours came, who has devoured your livelihood with harlots, you killed the fatted calf for him.’

³¹“And he said to him, ‘Son, you are always with me, and all that I have is yours.

³²‘It was right that we should make merry and be glad, ^mfor your brother was dead and is alive again, and was lost and is found.’ ”

Luke 16

The Parable of the Unjust Steward

¹He also said to His disciples: “There was a certain rich man who had a steward, and an accusation was brought to him that this man was ¹wasting his goods.

²“So he called him and said to him, ‘What is this I hear about you? Give an ^aaccount of your stewardship, for you can no longer be steward.’

³“Then the steward said within himself, ‘What shall I do? For my master is taking the stewardship away from me. I cannot dig; I am ashamed to beg.

⁴‘I have resolved what to do, that when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receive me into their houses.’

⁵“So he called every one of his master’s debtors to him, and said to the first, ‘How much do you owe my master?’

⁶“And he said, ‘A hundred ²measures of oil.’ So he said to him, ‘Take your bill, and sit down quickly and write fifty.’

⁷“Then he said to another, ‘And how much do you owe?’ So he said, ‘A hundred ³measures of wheat.’ And he said to him, ‘Take your bill, and write eighty.’

⁸“So the master commended the unjust steward because he had dealt shrewdly. For the sons of this world are more shrewd in their generation than ^bthe sons of light.

⁹“And I say to you, ^cmake friends for yourselves by unrighteous ⁴mammon, that when ⁵you fail, they may receive you into an everlasting home. Word Studies: mammon

^{10d}“He who is faithful in what is least is faithful also in much; and he who is unjust in what is least is unjust also in much.

¹¹“Therefore if you have not been faithful in the unrighteous mammon, who will commit to your trust the true riches?

¹²“And if you have not been faithful in what is another man’s, who will give you what is your ^eown?

^{13f}“No servant can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will be loyal to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon.”

The Law, the Prophets, and the Kingdom

¹⁴Now the Pharisees, ^gwho were lovers of money, also heard all these things, and they ⁶derided Him.

¹⁵And He said to them, “You are those who ^hjustify yourselves ⁱbefore men, but ^jGod knows your hearts. For ^kwhat is highly esteemed among men is an abomination in the sight of God.

^{16l}“The law and the prophets were until John. Since that time the kingdom of God has been preached, and everyone is pressing into it.

^{17m}“And it is easier for heaven and earth to pass away than for one ⁷tittle of the law to fail.

¹⁸ⁿ“Whoever divorces his wife and marries another commits adultery; and whoever marries her who is divorced from her husband commits adultery.

The Rich Man and Lazarus

¹⁹“There was a certain rich man who was clothed in purple and fine linen and ⁸fared sumptuously every day.

²⁰“But there was a certain beggar named Lazarus, full of sores, who was laid at his gate, ²¹“desiring to be fed with ⁹the crumbs which fell from the rich man’s table. Moreover the dogs came and licked his sores.

²²“So it was that the beggar died, and was carried by the angels to ^oAbraham’s bosom. The rich man also died and was buried.

²³“And being in torments in Hades, he lifted up his eyes and saw Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom.

²⁴“Then he cried and said, ‘Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger in water and ^pcool my tongue; for I ^qam tormented in this flame.’

²⁵“But Abraham said, ‘Son, ^rremember that in your lifetime you received your good things, and likewise Lazarus evil things; but now he is comforted and you are tormented.

²⁶‘And besides all this, between us and you there is a great gulf fixed, so that those who want to pass from here to you cannot, nor can those from there pass to us.’

²⁷“Then he said, ‘I beg you therefore, father, that you would send him to my father’s house, ²⁸‘for I have five brothers, that he may testify to them, lest they also come to this place of torment.’

²⁹“Abraham said to him, ^s“They have Moses and the prophets; let them hear them.’

³⁰“And he said, ‘No, father Abraham; but if one goes to them from the dead, they will repent.’

³¹“But he said to him, ^t“If they do not hear Moses and the prophets, ^uneither will they be persuaded though one rise from the dead.’ ”

Luke 17

Jesus Warns of Offenses

(Matt. 18:6, 7; Mark 9:42) ¹Then He said to the disciples, ^a“It is impossible that no ¹offenses should come, but ^bwoe to him through whom they do come!

²“It would be better for him if a millstone were hung around his neck, and he were thrown into the sea, than that he should ²offend one of these little ones. Word Studies: offend

³“Take heed to yourselves. ^cIf your brother sins ³against you, ^drebuke him; and if he repents, forgive him.

⁴“And if he sins against you seven times in a day, and seven times in a day returns ⁴to you, saying, ‘I repent,’ you shall forgive him.”

Faith and Duty

(Matt. 17:19–21; Mark 9:28, 29)⁵And the apostles said to the Lord, “Increase our faith.”

^{6e}So the Lord said, “If you have faith as a mustard seed, you can say to this mulberry tree, ‘Be pulled up by the roots and be planted in the sea,’ and it would obey you.

⁷“And which of you, having a servant plowing or tending sheep, will say to him when he has come in from the field, ‘Come at once and sit down to eat’?

⁸“But will he not rather say to him, ‘Prepare something for my supper, and gird yourself ^fand serve me till I have eaten and drunk, and afterward you will eat and drink’?

⁹“Does he thank that servant because he did the things that were commanded ⁵him? I think not.

¹⁰“So likewise you, when you have done all those things which you are commanded, say, ‘We are ^gunprofitable servants. We have done what was our duty to do.’ ”

Ten Lepers Cleansed

¹¹Now it happened ^has He went to Jerusalem that He passed through the midst of Samaria and Galilee.

¹²Then as He entered a certain village, there met Him ten men who were lepers, ⁱwho stood afar off.

¹³And they lifted up their voices and said, “Jesus, Master, have mercy on us!”

¹⁴So when He saw them, He said to them, ^j“Go, show yourselves to the priests.” And so it was that as they went, they were cleansed.

¹⁵And one of them, when he saw that he was healed, returned, and with a loud voice ^kglorified God, ¹⁶and fell down on his face at His feet, giving Him thanks. And he was a ^lSamaritan.

¹⁷So Jesus answered and said, “Were there not ten cleansed? But where are the nine?

¹⁸“Were there not any found who returned to give glory to God except this foreigner?”

^{19m}And He said to him, “Arise, go your way. Your faith has made you well.”

The Coming of the Kingdom

(Gen. 6:5—8:22; 19:12–14) ²⁰Now when He was asked by the Pharisees when the kingdom of God would come, He answered them and said, “The kingdom of God does not come with observation;

²¹ⁿ“nor will they say, ⁶‘See here!’ or ‘See there!’ For indeed, ^othe kingdom of God is ⁷within you.”

²²Then He said to the disciples, ^p“The days will come when you will desire to see one of the days of the Son of Man, and you will not see it.

^{23q}“And they will say to you, ⁸‘Look here!’ or ‘Look there!’ Do not go after them or follow them.

^{24r}“For as the lightning that flashes out of one part under heaven shines to the other part under heaven, so also the Son of Man will be in His day.

^{25s}“But first He must suffer many things and be ^trejected by this generation.

^{26u}“And as it ^vwas in the ^wdays of ^xNoah, so it will be also in the days of the Son of Man: ²⁷“They ate, they drank, they married wives, they were given in marriage, until the ^yday that Noah entered the ark, and the flood came and ^zdestroyed them all.

^{28a}“Likewise as it was also in the days of Lot: They ate, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they built; ²⁹“but on ^bthe day that Lot went out of Sodom it rained fire and brimstone from heaven and destroyed them all.

³⁰“Even so will it be in the day when the Son of Man ^cis revealed.

³¹“In that day, he ^dwho is on the housetop, and his ⁹goods are in the house, let him not come down to take them away. And likewise the one who is in the field, let him not turn back.

^{32e}“Remember Lot’s wife.

^{33f}“Whoever seeks to save his life will lose it, and whoever loses his life will preserve it.

^{34g}“I tell you, in that night there will be two ¹⁰*men* in one bed: the one will be taken and the other will be left.

^{35h}“Two women will be grinding together: the one will be taken and the other left.

³⁶ⁱ“Two men will be in the field: the one will be taken and the other left.”

³⁷And they answered and said to Him, ⁱ“Where, Lord?” So He said to them, “Wherever the body is, there the eagles will be gathered together.”

Luke 18

The Parable of the Persistent Widow

¹Then He spoke a parable to them, that men ^aalways ought to pray and not lose heart, ²saying: “There was in a certain city a judge who did not fear God nor ¹regard man.

³“Now there was a widow in that city; and she came to him, saying, ²‘Get justice for me from my adversary.’

⁴“And he would not for a while; but afterward he said within himself, ‘Though I do not fear God nor regard man, ^{5b}‘yet because this widow troubles me I will ³avenge her, lest by her continual coming she weary me.’ ”

⁶Then the Lord said, “Hear what the unjust judge said.

⁷“And ^cshall God not avenge His own elect who cry out day and night to Him, though He bears long with them?

⁸“I tell you ^dthat He will avenge them speedily. Nevertheless, when the Son of Man comes, will He really find faith on the earth?”

The Parable of the Pharisee and the Tax Collector

⁹Also He spoke this parable to some ^ewho trusted in themselves that they were righteous, and despised others: ¹⁰“Two men went up to the temple to pray, one a Pharisee and the other a tax collector.

¹¹“The Pharisee ^fstood and prayed thus with himself, ^g‘God, I thank You that I am not like other men—extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this tax collector.

¹²‘I fast twice a week; I give tithes of all that I possess.’

¹³“And the tax collector, standing afar off, would not so much as raise his eyes to heaven, but beat his breast, saying, ‘God, be merciful to me a sinner!’

Word Studies: be merciful

¹⁴“I tell you, this man went down to his house justified rather than the other; ^hfor everyone who exalts himself will be ⁴humbled, and he who humbles himself will be exalted.”

Jesus Blesses Little Children

(Matt. 19:13–15; Mark 10:13–16) ¹⁵ⁱThen they also brought infants to Him that He might touch them; but when the disciples saw it, they rebuked them.

¹⁶But Jesus called them to Him and said, “Let the little children come to Me, and do not forbid them; for ^jof such is the kingdom of God.

^{17k}“Assuredly, I say to you, whoever does not receive the kingdom of God as a little child will by no means enter it.”

Jesus Counsels the Rich Young Ruler

(Matt. 19:16–22; Mark 10:17–22) ^{18l}Now a certain ruler asked Him, saying, “Good Teacher, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?”

¹⁹So Jesus said to him, “Why do you call Me good? No one is good but ^mOne, that is, God.

²⁰“You know the commandments: ⁿ‘Do not commit adultery,’ ‘Do not murder,’ ‘Do not steal,’ ‘Do not bear false witness,’ ^o‘Honor your father and your mother.’ ”

²¹And he said, “All ^pthese things I have kept from my youth.”

²²So when Jesus heard these things, He said to him, “You still lack one thing. ^qSell all that you have and distribute to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; and come, follow Me.”

²³But when he heard this, he became very sorrowful, for he was very rich.

With God All Things Are Possible

(Matt. 19:23–30; Mark 10:23–31) ²⁴And when Jesus saw that he became very sorrowful, He said, ^r“How hard it is for those who have riches to enter the kingdom of God!

²⁵“For it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God.”

²⁶And those who heard it said, “Who then can be saved?”

²⁷But He said, ^s“The things which are impossible with men are possible with God.”

^{28t}Then Peter said, “See, we have left ⁵all and followed You.”

²⁹So He said to them, “Assuredly, I say to you, ^uthere is no one who has left house or parents or brothers or wife or children, for the sake of the kingdom of God, ^{30v}“who shall not receive many times more in this present time, and in the age to come eternal life.”

Jesus a Third Time Predicts His Death and Resurrection

(Matt. 20:17–19; Mark 10:32–34) ^{31w}Then He took the twelve aside and said to them, “Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem, and all things ^xthat are written by the prophets concerning the Son of Man will be ⁶accomplished.

³²“For ^yHe will be delivered to the Gentiles and will be mocked and insulted and spit upon.

³³“They will scourge Him and kill Him. And the third day He will rise again.”

^{34z}But they understood none of these things; this saying was hidden from them, and they did not know the things which were spoken.

A Blind Man Receives His Sight

(Matt. 20:29–34; Mark 10:46–52) ^{35a}Then it happened, as He was coming near Jericho, that a certain blind man sat by the road begging.

³⁶And hearing a multitude passing by, he asked what it meant.

³⁷So they told him that Jesus of Nazareth was passing by.

³⁸And he cried out, saying, “Jesus, ^bSon of David, have mercy on me!”

³⁹Then those who went before warned him that he should be quiet; but he cried out all the more, “Son of David, have mercy on me!”

⁴⁰So Jesus stood still and commanded him to be brought to Him. And when he had come near, He asked him, ⁴¹saying, “What do you want Me to do for you?” He said, “Lord, that I may receive my sight.”

⁴²Then Jesus said to him, “Receive your sight; ^cyour faith has made you well.”

⁴³And immediately he received his sight, and followed Him, ^dglorifying God. And all the people, when they saw it, gave praise to God.

Luke 19

Jesus Comes to Zacchaeus' House

¹Then Jesus entered and passed through ^aJericho.

²Now behold, there was a man named Zacchaeus who was a chief tax collector, and he was rich.

³And he sought to ^bsee who Jesus was, but could not because of the crowd, for he was of short stature.

⁴So he ran ahead and climbed up into a sycamore tree to see Him, for He was going to pass that way.

⁵And when Jesus came to the place, He looked up ¹and saw him, and said to him, "Zacchaeus, ²make haste and come down, for today I must stay at your house."

⁶So he ³made haste and came down, and received Him joyfully.

⁷But when they saw it, they all ⁴complained, saying, ^c"He has gone to be a guest with a man who is a sinner."

⁸Then Zacchaeus stood and said to the Lord, "Look, Lord, I give half of my goods to the ^dpoor; and if I have taken anything from anyone by ^efalse accusation, ^fI restore fourfold."

⁹And Jesus said to him, "Today salvation has come to this house, because ^ghe also is ^ha son of Abraham; ¹⁰ⁱ"for the Son of Man has come to seek and to save that which was lost."

The Parable of the Minas

(Matt. 25:14–30)

¹¹Now as they heard these things, He spoke another parable, because He was near Jerusalem and because ^jthey thought the kingdom of God would appear immediately.

^{12k}Therefore He said: “A certain nobleman went into a far country to receive for himself a kingdom and to return.

¹³“So he called ten of his servants, delivered to them ten ⁵minas, and said to them, ‘Do business till I come.’

¹⁴ⁱ“But his citizens hated him, and sent a delegation after him, saying, ‘We will not have this man to reign over us.’

¹⁵“And so it was that when he returned, having received the kingdom, he then commanded these servants, to whom he had given the money, to be called to him, that he might know how much every man had gained by trading.

¹⁶“Then came the first, saying, ‘Master, your mina has earned ten minas.’

¹⁷“And he said to him, ^m‘Well done, good servant; because you were ⁿfaithful in a very little, have authority over ten cities.’

¹⁸“And the second came, saying, ‘Master, your mina has earned five minas.’

¹⁹“Likewise he said to him, ‘You also be over five cities.’

²⁰“Then another came, saying, ‘Master, here is your mina, which I have kept put away in a handkerchief.

^{21o}‘For I feared you, because you are ⁶an austere man. You collect what you did not deposit, and reap what you did not sow.’

²²“And he said to him, ^p‘Out of your own mouth I will judge you, you wicked servant. ^qYou knew that I was an austere man, collecting what I did not deposit and reaping what I did not sow.

²³‘Why then did you not put my money in the bank, that at my coming I might have collected it with interest?’

²⁴“And he said to those who stood by, ‘Take the mina from him, and give it to him who has ten minas.’

²⁵(“But they said to him, ‘Master, he has ten minas.’)

²⁶‘For I say to you, ^rthat to everyone who has will be given; and from him who does not have, even what he has will be taken away from him.

²⁷‘But bring here those enemies of mine, who did not want me to reign over them, and slay them before me.’ ”

The Triumphal Entry

(Matt. 21:1–11; Mark 11:1–11; John 12:12–19) ²⁸When He had said this, ^sHe went on ahead, going up to Jerusalem.

²⁹And it came to pass, when He drew near to ⁷Bethphage and ^uBethany, at the mountain called ^vOlivet, that He sent two of His disciples, ³⁰saying, “Go into the village opposite you, where as you enter you will find a colt tied, on which no one has ever sat. Loose it and bring it here.”

³¹“And if anyone asks you, ‘Why are you loosing it?’ thus you shall say to him, ‘Because the Lord has need of it.’ ”

³²So those who were sent went their way and found it just ^was He had said to them.

³³But as they were loosing the colt, the owners of it said to them, “Why are you loosing the colt?”

³⁴And they said, “The Lord has need of him.”

³⁵Then they brought him to Jesus. ^xAnd they threw their own clothes on the colt, and they set Jesus on him.

³⁶And as He went, many spread their clothes on the road.

³⁷Then, as He was now drawing near the descent of the Mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the disciples began to ^yrejoice and praise God with a loud voice for all the mighty works they had seen, ³⁸saying:

^z“ ‘Blessed is the King who comes in the name of the LORD!’

^aPeace in heaven and glory in the highest!”

³⁹And some of the Pharisees called to Him from the crowd, “Teacher, rebuke Your disciples.”

⁴⁰But He answered and said to them, “I tell you that if these should keep silent, ^bthe stones would immediately cry out.”

Jesus Weeps over Jerusalem

⁴¹Now as He drew near, He saw the city and ^cwept over it, ⁴²saying, “If you had known, even you, especially in this ^dyour day, the things that ^emake for your ^fpeace! But now they are hidden from your eyes.

⁴³“For days will come upon you when your enemies will ^gbuild an embankment around you, surround you and close you in on every side, ^{44h}“and level you, and your children within you, to the ground; and ⁱthey will not leave in you one stone upon another, ^jbecause you did not know the time of your visitation.”

Jesus Cleanses the Temple

(Matt. 21:12–17; Mark 11:15–19; John 2:12–25) ⁴⁵*k* Then He went into the temple and began to drive out those who ⁸bought and sold in it, ⁴⁶saying to them, “It is written, ^l‘My house ⁹is a house of prayer,’ but you have made it a ^m‘den of thieves.’ ”

⁴⁷And He ⁿwas teaching daily in the temple. But ^othe chief priests, the scribes, and the leaders of the people sought to destroy Him, ⁴⁸and were unable to do anything; for all the people were very attentive to ^phear Him.

Luke 20

Jesus' Authority Questioned

(Matt. 21:23–27; Mark 11:27–33) ¹Now ^ait happened on one of those days, as He taught the people in the temple and preached the gospel, that the chief priests and the scribes, together with the elders, confronted Him

²and spoke to Him, saying, “Tell us, ^bby what authority are You doing these things? Or who is he who gave You this authority?”

³But He answered and said to them, “I also will ask you one thing, and answer Me: ⁴“The ^cbaptism of John—was it from heaven or from men?”

⁵And they reasoned among themselves, saying, “If we say, ‘From heaven,’ He will say, ‘Why ¹then did you not believe him?’

⁶“But if we say, ‘From men,’ all the people will stone us, ^dfor they are persuaded that John was a prophet.”

⁷So they answered that they did not know where it was from.

⁸And Jesus said to them, “Neither will I tell you by what authority I do these things.”

The Parable of the Wicked Vinedressers

(Matt. 21:33–46; Mark 12:1–12) ⁹Then He began to tell the people this parable: ^e“A certain man planted a vineyard, leased it to ²vinedressers, and went into a far country for a long time.

¹⁰“Now at ³vintage-time he ^fsent a servant to the vinedressers, that they might give him some of the fruit of the vineyard. But the vinedressers beat him and sent him away empty-handed.

¹¹“Again he sent another servant; and they beat him also, treated him shamefully, and sent him away empty-handed.

¹²“And again he sent a third; and they wounded him also and cast him out.

¹³“Then the owner of the vineyard said, ‘What shall I do? I will send my beloved son. Probably they will respect him when they see him.’

¹⁴“But when the vinedressers saw him, they reasoned among themselves, saying, ‘This is the ^gheir. Come, ^hlet us kill him, that the inheritance may be ⁱours.’

¹⁵“So they cast him out of the vineyard and ^jkilled him. Therefore what will the owner of the vineyard do to them?

¹⁶“He will come and destroy those vinedressers and give the vineyard to ^kothers.” And when they heard it they said, “Certainly not!”

¹⁷Then He looked at them and said, “What then is this that is written:

¹*‘The stone which the builders rejected Has become the chief cornerstone’?*

¹⁸“Whoever falls on that stone will be ^mbroken; but ⁿon whomever it falls, it will grind him to powder.”

¹⁹And the chief priests and the scribes that very hour sought to lay hands on Him, but they ⁴feared the people—for they knew He had spoken this parable against them.

The Pharisees: Is It Lawful to Pay Taxes to Caesar?

(Matt. 22:15–22; Mark 12:13–17) ²⁰*o* So they watched Him, and sent spies who pretended to be righteous, that they might seize on His words, in order to deliver Him to the power and the authority of the governor.

²¹Then they asked Him, saying, ^p“Teacher, we know that You say and teach rightly, and You do not show personal favoritism, but teach the way of God in truth: ²²“Is it lawful for us to pay taxes to Caesar or not?”

²³But He perceived their craftiness, and said to them, ⁵“Why do you test Me?

²⁴“Show Me a denarius. Whose image and inscription does it have?” They answered and said, “Caesar’s.”

²⁵And He said to them, ^q“Render⁶ therefore to Caesar the things that are Caesar’s, and to God the things that are God’s.”

²⁶But they could not catch Him in His words in the presence of the people. And they marveled at His answer and kept silent.

The Sadducees: What About the Resurrection?

(Matt. 22:23–33; Mark 12:18–27) ²⁷*r* Then some of the Sadducees, ^swho deny that there is a resurrection, came to Him and asked Him, ²⁸saying: “Teacher, Moses wrote to us that if a man’s brother dies, having a wife, and he dies without children, his brother should take his wife and raise up offspring for his brother.

²⁹“Now there were seven brothers. And the first took a wife, and died without children.

³⁰“And the second ⁷took her as wife, and he died childless.

³¹“Then the third took her, and in like manner the seven ⁸also; and they left no children, and died.

³²“Last of all the woman died also.

³³“Therefore, in the resurrection, whose wife does she become? For all seven had her as wife.”

³⁴Jesus answered and said to them, “The sons of this age marry and are given in marriage.

³⁵“But those who are ^tcounted worthy to attain that age, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry nor are given in marriage; ³⁶“nor can they die anymore, for ^uthey are equal to the angels and are sons of God, ^vbeing sons of the resurrection.

³⁷“But even Moses showed in the burning bush passage that the dead are raised, when he called the Lord ^w‘the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.’

³⁸“For He is not the God of the dead but of the living, for ^xall live to Him.”

³⁹Then some of the scribes answered and said, “Teacher, You have spoken well.”

⁴⁰But after that they dared not question Him anymore.

Jesus: How Can David Call His Descendant Lord?

(Matt. 22:41–46; Mark 12:35–37) ⁴¹And He said to them, ^y“How can they say that the Christ is the Son of David?”

⁴²“Now David himself said in the Book of Psalms:

^z‘The LORD said to my Lord, “Sit at My right hand,

⁴³*Till I make Your enemies Your footstool.*” ’

⁴⁴“Therefore David calls Him ‘Lord’; ^ahow is He then his Son?”

Beware of the Scribes

(Matt. 23:1–7; Mark 12:38–40) ^{45b}Then, in the hearing of all the people, He said to His disciples, ^{46c}“Beware of the scribes, who desire to go around in long robes, ^dlove greetings in the marketplaces, the best seats in the synagogues, and the best places at feasts, ^{47e}“who devour widows’ houses, and for a ^fpretense make long prayers. These will receive greater condemnation.”

Luke 21

The Widow's Two Mites

(Mark 12:41–44)

¹And He looked up ^aand saw the rich putting their gifts into the treasury, ²and He saw also a certain ^bpoor widow putting in two ^cmites.¹

³So He said, “Truly I say to you ^dthat this poor widow has put in more than all; ⁴“for all these out of their abundance have put in offerings ²for God, but she out of her poverty put in ^eall the livelihood that she had.”

Jesus Predicts the Destruction of the Temple

(Matt. 24:1, 2; Mark 13:1, 2) ^{5f}Then, as some spoke of the temple, how it was ³adorned with beautiful stones and donations, He said, ⁶“These things which you see—the days will come in which ^gnot one stone shall be left upon another that shall not be thrown down.”

The Signs of the Times and the End of the Age

(Matt. 24:3–14; Mark 13:3–13) ⁷So they asked Him, saying, “Teacher, but when will these things be? And what sign will there be when these things are about to take place?”

⁸And He said: ^h“Take heed that you not be deceived. For many will come in My name, saying, ‘I am He,’ and, ‘The time has drawn near.’ ⁴Therefore do not ⁵go after them.

⁹“But when you hear of ⁱwars and commotions, do not be terrified; for these things must come to pass first, but the end will not come immediately.”

^{10j}Then He said to them, “Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom.

¹¹“And there will be great ^kearthquakes in various places, and famines and pestilences; and there will be fearful sights and great signs from heaven.

^{12l}“But before all these things, they will lay their hands on you and persecute you, delivering you up to the synagogues and ^mprisons. ⁿYou will be brought before kings and rulers ^ofor My name’s sake.

¹³“But ^pit will turn out for you as an occasion for testimony.

^{14q}“Therefore settle it in your hearts not to meditate beforehand on what you will ⁶answer; ¹⁵“for I will give you a mouth and wisdom ^rwhich all your adversaries will not be able to contradict or ⁷resist.

^{16s}“You will be betrayed even by parents and brothers, relatives and friends; and they will put ^tsome of you to death.

¹⁷“And ^uyou will be hated by all for My name’s sake.

^{18v}“But not a hair of your head shall be lost.

¹⁹“By your patience possess your souls.

The Destruction of Jerusalem

(Matt. 24:15–28; Mark 13:14–23) ^{20w}“But when you see Jerusalem surrounded by armies, then know that its desolation is near.

²¹“Then let those who are in Judea flee to the mountains, let those who are in the midst of her depart, and let not those who are in the country enter her.

²²“For these are the days of vengeance, that ^xall things which are written may be fulfilled.

^{23y}“But woe to those who are pregnant and to those who are nursing babies in those days! For there will be great distress in the land and wrath upon this people.

²⁴“And they will fall by the edge of the sword, and be led away captive into all nations. And Jerusalem will be trampled by Gentiles ^zuntil the times of the Gentiles are fulfilled.

The Coming of the Son of Man

(Matt. 24:29–31; Mark 13:24–27) ^{25a}“And there will be signs in the sun, in the moon, and in the stars; and on the earth distress of nations, with perplexity, the sea and the waves roaring; ²⁶“men’s hearts failing them from fear and the expectation of those things which are coming on the earth, ^bfor the powers of the heavens will be shaken.

²⁷“Then they will see the Son of Man ^ccoming in a cloud with power and great glory.

²⁸“Now when these things begin to happen, look up and lift up your heads, because ^dyour redemption draws near.”

The Parable of the Fig Tree

(Matt. 24:32–35; Mark 13:28–31) ^{29e}Then He spoke to them a parable: “Look at the fig tree, and all the trees.

³⁰“When they are already budding, you see and know for yourselves that summer is now near.

³¹“So you also, when you see these things happening, know that the kingdom of God is near.

³²“Assuredly, I say to you, this generation will by no means pass away till all things take place.

^{33f}“Heaven and earth will pass away, but My ^gwords will by no means pass away.

The Importance of Watching

(Matt. 24:36–44; Mark 13:32–37) ³⁴“But ^htake heed to yourselves, lest your hearts be weighed down with ⁸carousing, drunkenness, and ⁱcares of this life, and that Day come on you unexpectedly.

³⁵“For ^jit will come as a snare on all those who dwell on the face of the whole earth.

^{36k}“Watch therefore, and ^lpray always that you may ⁹be counted ^mworthy to escape all these things that will come to pass, and ⁿto stand before the Son of Man.”

^{37o}And in the daytime He was teaching in the temple, but ^pat night He went out and stayed on the mountain called Olivet.

³⁸Then early in the morning all the people came to Him in the temple to hear Him.

Luke 22

The Plot to Kill Jesus

(Matt. 26:1–5, 14–16; Mark 14:1, 2, 10, 11; John 11:45–53) ¹Now ^athe Feast of Unleavened Bread drew near, which is called Passover.

²And ^bthe chief priests and the scribes sought how they might kill Him, for they feared the people.

^{3c}Then Satan entered Judas, surnamed Iscariot, who was numbered among the ^dtwelve.

⁴So he went his way and conferred with the chief priests and captains, how he might betray Him to them.

⁵And they were glad, and ^eagreed to give him money.

⁶So he promised and sought opportunity to ^fbetray Him to them in the absence of the multitude.

Jesus and His Disciples Prepare the Passover

^{7g}Then came the Day of Unleavened Bread, when the Passover must be ¹killed.

⁸And He sent Peter and John, saying, “Go and prepare the Passover for us, that we may eat.”

⁹So they said to Him, “Where do You want us to prepare?”

¹⁰And He said to them, “Behold, when you have entered the city, a man will meet you carrying a pitcher of water; follow him into the house which he enters.

¹¹“Then you shall say to the master of the house, ‘The Teacher says to you, “Where is the guest room where I may eat the Passover with My disciples?”’

¹²“Then he will show you a large, furnished upper room; there make ready.”

¹³So they went and ^hfound it just as He had said to them, and they prepared the Passover.

Jesus Institutes the Lord’s Supper

¹⁴ⁱWhen the hour had come, He sat down, and the ²twelve apostles with Him.

¹⁵Then He said to them, “With fervent desire I have desired to eat this Passover with you before I suffer; ¹⁶“for I say to you, I will no longer eat of it ^juntil it is fulfilled in the kingdom of God.”

¹⁷Then He took the cup, and gave thanks, and said, “Take this and divide it among yourselves; ¹⁸“for ^kI say to you, ³I will not drink of the fruit of the vine until the kingdom of God comes.”

¹⁹ⁱAnd He took bread, gave thanks and broke it, and gave it to them, saying, “This is My ^mbody which is given for you; ⁿdo this in remembrance of Me.”

²⁰Likewise He also took the cup after supper, saying, ^o“This cup is the new covenant in My blood, which is shed for you.

²¹^p“But behold, the hand of My betrayer is with Me on the table.

²²^q“And truly the Son of Man goes ^ras it has been determined, but woe to that man by whom He is betrayed!”

²³^sThen they began to question among themselves, which of them it was who would do this thing.

The Disciples Argue About Greatness

²⁴_iNow there was also a dispute among them, as to which of them should be considered the greatest.

²⁵_uAnd He said to them, “The kings of the Gentiles exercise lordship over them, and those who exercise authority over them are called ‘benefactors.’

²⁶_v“But not so among you; on the contrary, ^whe who is greatest among you, let him be as the younger, and he who governs as he who serves.

²⁷_x“For who is greater, he who sits at the table, or he who serves? Is it not he who sits at the table? Yet ^yI am among you as the One who serves.

^{28“But you are those who have continued with Me in ^zMy trials.}

^{29“And ^aI bestow upon you a kingdom, just as My Father bestowed one upon Me, ³⁰“that ^byou may eat and drink at My table in My kingdom, ^cand sit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel.”}

Jesus Predicts Peter’s Denial

(Matt. 26:31–35; Mark 14:27–31; John 13:36–38) ³¹₄And the Lord said, “Simon, Simon! Indeed, ^dSatan has asked for you, that he may ^esift you as wheat.

^{32“But ^fI have prayed for you, that your faith should not fail; and when you have returned to Me, ^gstrengthen your brethren.”}

^{33But he said to Him, “Lord, I am ready to go with You, both to prison and to death.”}

³⁴_hThen He said, “I tell you, Peter, the rooster shall not crow this day before you will deny three times that you know Me.”

Supplies for the Road

³⁵i And He said to them, “When I sent you without money bag, knapsack, and sandals, did you lack anything?” So they said, “Nothing.”

³⁶Then He said to them, “But now, he who has a money bag, let him take it, and likewise a knapsack; and he who has no sword, let him sell his garment and buy one.

³⁷“For I say to you that this which is written must still be ⁵accomplished in Me: ^j*‘And He was numbered with the transgressors.’* For the things concerning Me have an end.”

³⁸So they said, “Lord, look, here are two swords.” And He said to them, “It is enough.”

The Prayer in the Garden

(Matt. 26:36–46; Mark 14:32–42; John 18:1) ^{39k}Coming out, ^lHe went to the Mount of Olives, as He was accustomed, and His disciples also followed Him. Bible Times & Culture Notes: Mount of Olives

^{40m}When He came to the place, He said to them, “Pray that you may not enter into temptation.”

⁴¹ⁿAnd He was withdrawn from them about a stone’s throw, and He knelt down and prayed, ⁴²saying, “Father, if it is Your will, take this cup away from Me; nevertheless ^onot My will, but Yours, be done.”

⁴³⁶Then ^pan angel appeared to Him from heaven, strengthening Him.

^{44q}And being in agony, He prayed more earnestly. Then His sweat became like great drops of blood falling down to the ground.

⁴⁵When He rose up from prayer, and had come to His disciples, He found them sleeping from sorrow.

⁴⁶Then He said to them, “Why ^rdo you sleep? Rise and ^spray, lest you enter into temptation.”

Betrayal and Arrest in Gethsemane

(Matt. 26:47–56; Mark 14:43–52; John 18:1–11) ⁴⁷And while He was still speaking, ^tbehold, a multitude; and he who was called ^uJudas, one of the twelve, went before them and drew near to Jesus to kiss Him.

⁴⁸But Jesus said to him, “Judas, are you betraying the Son of Man with a ^vkiss?”

⁴⁹When those around Him saw what was going to happen, they said to Him, “Lord, shall we strike with the sword?”

⁵⁰And ^wone of them struck the servant of the high priest and cut off his right ear.

⁵¹But Jesus answered and said, “Permit even this.” And He touched his ear and healed him.

^{52x}Then Jesus said to the chief priests, captains of the temple, and the elders who had come to Him, “Have you come out, as against a ^yrobber, with swords and clubs?”

⁵³“When I was with you daily in the ^ztemple, you did not try to seize Me. But this is your ^ahour, and the power of darkness.”

Peter Denies Jesus, and Weeps Bitterly

(Matt. 26:69–75; Mark 14:66–72; John 18:13–18, 25–27) ^{54b}Having arrested Him, they led Him and brought Him into the high priest’s house. ^cBut Peter followed at a distance.

^{55d}Now when they had kindled a fire in the midst of the courtyard and sat down together, Peter sat among them.

⁵⁶And a certain servant girl, seeing him as he sat by the fire, looked intently at him and said, “This man was also with Him.”

⁵⁷But he denied ⁷Him, saying, “Woman, I do not know Him.”

^{58e}And after a little while another saw him and said, “You also are of them.” But Peter said, “Man, I am not!”

^{59f}Then after about an hour had passed, another confidently affirmed, saying, “Surely this fellow also was with Him, for he is a ^gGalilean.”

⁶⁰But Peter said, “Man, I do not know what you are saying!” Immediately, while he was still speaking, ⁸the rooster crowed.

⁶¹And the Lord turned and looked at Peter. Then ^hPeter remembered the word of the Lord, how He had said to him, ⁱ“Before the rooster ⁹crows, you will deny Me three times.”

⁶²So Peter went out and wept bitterly.

Jesus Mocked and Beaten

(Matt. 26:67, 68; Mark 14:65) ^{63j}Now the men who held Jesus mocked Him and ^kbeat Him.

⁶⁴¹⁰And having blindfolded Him, they ^lstruck Him on the face and asked Him, saying, “Prophecy! Who is the one who struck You?”

⁶⁵And many other things they blasphemously spoke against Him.

Jesus Faces the Sanhedrin

(Matt. 26:57–68; Mark 14:61–64; John 18:12–14, 19–24) ^{66m}As soon as it was day, ⁿthe elders of the people, both chief priests and scribes, came together and led Him into their council, saying, ^{67o}“If You are the Christ, tell us.” But He said to them, “If I tell you, you will ^pby no means believe.

⁶⁸“And if I ¹¹also ask you, you will by no means answer ¹²Me or let Me go.

^{69q}“Hereafter the Son of Man will sit on the right hand of the power of God.”

⁷⁰Then they all said, “Are You then the Son of God?” So He said to them, ^r“You rightly say that I am.”

^{71s}And they said, “What further testimony do we need? For we have heard it ourselves from His own mouth.”

Luke 23

Jesus Handed Over to Pontius Pilate

(Matt. 27:1, 2, 11–14; Mark 15:1–5; John 18:28–38) ¹Then ^athe whole multitude of them arose and led Him to ^bPilate.

²And they began to ^caccuse Him, saying, “We found this fellow ^dperverting ¹the nation, and ^eforbidding to pay taxes to Caesar, saying ^fthat He Himself is Christ, a King.”

^{3g}Then Pilate asked Him, saying, “Are You the King of the Jews?” He answered him and said, “It is as you say.”

⁴So Pilate said to the chief priests and the crowd, ^h“I find no fault in this Man.”

⁵But they were the more fierce, saying, “He stirs up the people, teaching throughout all Judea, beginning from ⁱGalilee to this place.”

Jesus Faces Herod

⁶When Pilate heard ²of Galilee, he asked if the Man were a Galilean.

⁷And as soon as he knew that He belonged to ^jHerod's jurisdiction, he sent Him to Herod, who was also in Jerusalem at that time.

⁸Now when Herod saw Jesus, ^khe was exceedingly glad; for he had desired for a long time to see Him, because ^lhe had heard many things about Him, and he hoped to see some miracle done by Him.

⁹Then he questioned Him with many words, but He answered him ^mnothing.

¹⁰And the chief priests and scribes stood and vehemently accused Him.

^{11r}Then Herod, with his ³men of war, treated Him with contempt and mocked Him, arrayed Him in a gorgeous robe, and sent Him back to Pilate.

¹²That very day ^oPilate and Herod became friends with each other, for previously they had been at enmity with each other.

Taking the Place of Barabbas

(Matt. 27:15–26; Mark 15:6–15; John 18:38—19:16) ^{13p}Then Pilate, when he had called together the chief priests, the rulers, and the people, ¹⁴said to them, ^q“You have brought this Man to me, as one who misleads the people. And indeed, ^rhaving examined Him in your presence, I have found no fault in this Man concerning those things of which you accuse Him; ¹⁵“no, neither did Herod, for ⁴I sent you back to him; and indeed nothing deserving of death has been done by Him.

^{16s}“I will therefore chastise Him and release Him”

^{17t}(for ⁵it was necessary for him to release one to them at the feast).

¹⁸And ^uthey all cried out at once, saying, “Away with this Man, and release to us Barabbas”— ¹⁹who had been thrown into prison for a certain rebellion made in the city, and for murder.

²⁰Pilate, therefore, wishing to release Jesus, again called out to them.

²¹But they shouted, saying, “Crucify Him, crucify Him!”

²²Then he said to them the third time, “Why, what evil has He done? I have found no reason for death in Him. I will therefore chastise Him and let Him go.”

²³But they were insistent, demanding with loud voices that He be crucified. And the voices of these men ⁶and of the chief priests prevailed.

²⁴So ^vPilate gave sentence that it should be as they requested.

^{25w}And he released ⁷to them the one they requested, who for rebellion and murder had been thrown into prison; but he delivered Jesus to their will.

The King on a Cross

(Matt. 27:32–44; Mark 15:21–32; John 19:17–24) ^{26x}Now as they led Him away, they laid hold of a certain man, Simon a Cyrenian, who was coming from the country, and on him they laid the cross that he might bear it after Jesus.

²⁷And a great multitude of the people followed Him, and women who also mourned and lamented Him.

²⁸But Jesus, turning to them, said, “Daughters of Jerusalem, do not weep for Me, but weep for yourselves and for your children.

^{29y}“For indeed the days are coming in which they will say, ‘Blessed are the barren, wombs that never bore, and breasts which never nursed!’

³⁰“Then they will begin ^z‘to say to the mountains, “Fall on us!” and to the hills, “Cover us!” ’

^{31a}“For if they do these things in the green wood, what will be done in the dry?”

^{32b}There were also two others, criminals, led with Him to be put to death.

³³And ^cwhen they had come to the place called Calvary, there they crucified Him, and the criminals, one on the right hand and the other on the left. Article: Crucifixion

³⁴⁸Then Jesus said, “Father, ^dforgive them, for ^ethey do not know what they do.” And ^fthey divided His garments and cast lots.

³⁵And ^gthe people stood looking on. But even the ^hrulers with them sneered, saying, “He saved others; let Him save Himself if He is the Christ, the chosen of God.”

³⁶The soldiers also mocked Him, coming and offering Him ⁱsour wine, ³⁷and saying, “If You are the King of the Jews, save Yourself.”

^{38j}And an inscription also was ⁹written over Him in letters of Greek, Latin, and Hebrew:

THIS IS THE KING OF THE JEWS.

^{39k}Then one of the criminals who were hanged blasphemed Him, saying, ¹⁰“If You are the Christ, save Yourself and us.”

⁴⁰But the other, answering, rebuked him, saying, “Do you not even fear God, seeing you are under the same condemnation?

⁴¹“And we indeed justly, for we receive the due reward of our deeds; but this Man has done ^lnothing wrong.”

⁴²Then he said ¹¹to Jesus, “Lord, remember me when You come into Your kingdom.”

⁴³And Jesus said to him, “Assuredly, I say to you, today you will be with Me in ^mParadise.” Word Studies: Paradise

Jesus Dies on the Cross

(Matt. 27:45–56; Mark 15:33–41; John 19:25–30) ⁴⁴ⁿNow it ¹²was about the sixth hour, and there was darkness over all the earth until the ninth hour.

⁴⁵Then the sun was ¹³darkened, and ^othe veil of the temple was torn in ¹⁴two.

⁴⁶And when Jesus had cried out with a loud voice, He said, “Father, ^p‘into Your hands I commit My spirit.’ ” ^qHaving said this, He breathed His last.

^{47r}So when the centurion saw what had happened, he glorified God, saying, “Certainly this was a righteous Man!”

⁴⁸And the whole crowd who came together to that sight, seeing what had been done, beat their breasts and returned.

^{49s}But all His acquaintances, and the women who followed Him from Galilee, stood at a distance, watching these things.

Jesus Buried in Joseph’s Tomb

(Matt. 27:57–61; Mark 15:42–47; John 19:38–42) ^{50t}Now behold, there was a man named Joseph, a council member, a good and just man.

⁵¹He had not consented to their decision and deed. He was from Arimathea, a city of the Jews, ^uwho ¹⁵himself was also waiting for the kingdom of God.

⁵²This man went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus.

^{53v}Then he took it down, wrapped it in linen, and laid it in a tomb that was hewn out of the rock, where no one had ever lain before.

⁵⁴That day was ^wthe Preparation, and the Sabbath drew near.

⁵⁵And the women ^xwho had come with Him from Galilee followed after, and ^ythey observed the tomb and how His body was laid.

⁵⁶Then they returned and ^zprepared spices and fragrant oils. And they rested on the Sabbath ^aaccording to the commandment.

Luke 24

He Is Risen

(Matt. 28:1–10; Mark 16:1–8; John 20:1–10) ¹Now ^aon the first day of the week, very early in the morning, they, ¹and certain other women with them, came to the tomb ^bbringing the spices which they had prepared.

^{2c}But they found the stone rolled away from the tomb.

^{3d}Then they went in and did not find the body of the Lord Jesus.

⁴And it happened, as they were ²greatly perplexed about this, that ^ebehold, two men stood by them in shining garments.

⁵Then, as they were afraid and bowed their faces to the earth, they said to them, “Why do you seek the living among the dead?”

⁶“He is not here, but is risen! ^fRemember how He spoke to you when He was still in Galilee, ⁷“saying, ‘The Son of Man must be ^gdelivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise again.’ ”

⁸And ^hthey remembered His words.

⁹ⁱThen they returned from the tomb and told all these things to the eleven and to all the rest.

¹⁰It was Mary Magdalene, ^jJoanna, Mary the mother of James, and the other women with them, who told these things to the apostles.

^{11k}And their words seemed to them like ³idle tales, and they did not believe them.

^{12l}But Peter arose and ran to the tomb; and stooping down, he saw the linen cloths ⁴lying by themselves; and he departed, marveling to himself at what had happened.

The Road to Emmaus

(Mark 16:12, 13) ^{13m}Now behold, two of them were traveling that same day to a village called Emmaus, which was ⁵seven miles from Jerusalem.

¹⁴And they talked together of all these things which had happened.

¹⁵So it was, while they conversed and reasoned, that ⁿJesus Himself drew near and went with them.

¹⁶But ^otheir eyes were restrained, so that they did not know Him.

¹⁷And He said to them, “What kind of conversation is this that you have with one another as you ⁶walk and are sad?”

¹⁸Then the one ^pwhose name was Cleopas answered and said to Him, “Are You the only stranger in Jerusalem, and have You not known the things which happened there in these days?”

¹⁹And He said to them, “What things?” So they said to Him, “The things concerning Jesus of Nazareth, ^qwho was a Prophet ^rmighty in deed and word before God and all the people, ^{20s}“and how the chief priests and our rulers delivered Him to be condemned to death, and crucified Him.

²¹“But we were hoping ^tthat it was He who was going to redeem Israel. Indeed, besides all this, today is the third day since these things happened.

²²“Yes, and ^ucertain women of our company, who arrived at the tomb early, astonished us.

²³“When they did not find His body, they came saying that they had also seen a vision of angels who said He was alive.

²⁴“And ^vcertain of those who were with us went to the tomb and found it just as the women had said; but Him they did not see.”

²⁵Then He said to them, “O foolish ones, and slow of heart to believe in all that the prophets have spoken!

^{26w}“Ought not the Christ to have suffered these things and to enter into His ^xglory?”

²⁷And beginning at ^yMoses and ^zall the Prophets, He ⁷expounded to them in all the Scriptures the things concerning Himself.

The Disciples' Eyes Opened

²⁸Then they drew near to the village where they were going, and ^aHe ⁸indicated that He would have gone farther.

²⁹But ^bthey constrained Him, saying, ^c“Abide with us, for it is toward evening, and the day is far spent.” And He went in to stay with them.

³⁰Now it came to pass, as ^dHe sat at the table with them, that He took bread, blessed and broke it, and gave it to them.

³¹Then their eyes were opened and they knew Him; and He vanished from their sight.

³²And they said to one another, “Did not our heart burn within us while He talked with us on the road, and while He opened the Scriptures to us?”

³³So they rose up that very hour and returned to Jerusalem, and found the eleven and those who were with them gathered together, ³⁴saying, “The Lord is risen indeed, and ^ehas appeared to Simon!”

³⁵And they told about the things that had happened on the road, and how He was ⁹known to them in the breaking of bread.

Jesus Appears to His Disciples

(John 20:19–23; Acts 1:3–5; 1 Cor. 15:5) ^{36f}Now as they said these things, Jesus Himself stood in the midst of them, and said to them, “Peace to you.”

³⁷But they were terrified and frightened, and supposed they had seen ^ga spirit.

³⁸And He said to them, “Why are you troubled? And why do doubts arise in your hearts?”

³⁹“Behold My hands and My feet, that it is I Myself. ^hHandle Me and see, for a ⁱspirit does not have flesh and bones as you see I have.”

⁴⁰¹⁰When He had said this, He showed them His hands and His feet.

⁴¹But while they still did not believe ^jfor joy, and marveled, He said to them, ^k“Have you any food here?”

⁴²So they gave Him a piece of a broiled fish ¹¹and some honeycomb.

⁴³And He took it and ate in their presence.

The Scriptures Opened

⁴⁴Then He said to them, ^m“These are the words which I spoke to you while I was still with you, that all things must be fulfilled which were written in the Law of Moses and the Prophets and the Psalms concerning Me.”

⁴⁵And ⁿHe opened their understanding, that they might comprehend the Scriptures.

⁴⁶Then He said to them, ^o“Thus it is written, ¹²and thus it was necessary for the Christ to suffer and to rise from the dead the third day, ⁴⁷“and that repentance and ^premission of sins should be preached in His name ^qto all nations, beginning at Jerusalem.

⁴⁸“And ^ryou are witnesses of these things.

^{49s}“Behold, I send the Promise of My Father upon you; but tarry in the city ¹³of Jerusalem until you are endued with power from on high.”

The Ascension

(Mark 16:19, 20; Acts 1:9) ⁵⁰And He led them out ^tas far as Bethany, and He lifted up His hands and blessed them.

^{51u}Now it came to pass, while He blessed them, that He was parted from them and carried up into heaven.

^{52v}And they worshiped Him, and returned to Jerusalem with great joy, ⁵³and were continually ^win the temple ¹⁴praising and blessing God. ¹⁵Amen.

Annotations for Luke

- 1:1, 2 many have taken in hand: Luke makes it clear that he was not the first to write a narrative of the ministry of Jesus. The theme of God's plan is introduced with the note that the subject of such narratives was the things which have been fulfilled. The sources for these narratives were eyewitnesses who delivered their testimony to the church. Deliver refers to the transmission of an authoritative account. These verses suggest that Luke was not an eyewitness to the events of Jesus' ministry, but that he had access to statements of those who were.
- 1:3 it seemed good to me also: Luke did not express dissatisfaction with previous narratives of Jesus' ministry, but he identified with those who went before him. having had perfect understanding: This phrase represents two of the four characteristics that describe Luke's work in this verse. Luke investigated his topic and he did it with care. He did not claim to know everything about Jesus, but what he described was studied and treated accurately. of all things: The third characteristic of Luke's work was its thoroughness. from the very first: The fourth characteristic of Luke was his interest in even the earliest events tied to Jesus' life. an orderly account: Luke gave his narrative a basic structure. Not every part is in chronological sequence, but the broad sequence is Christ's ministry in Galilee, His travel to Jerusalem, and His struggles in Jerusalem. The order of events shows how Jesus gradually revealed Himself and how the opposition to Him grew.
- 1:4 certainty: The purpose of this term was to give assurance to Theophilus, a young believer. It is likely that Theophilus was a Gentile, since so much of Luke and Acts is concerned with Jewish-Gentile relationships (Acts 10; 11; 15). He not only needed to know the truth and accuracy of what the church taught, but also needed to be reassured. He might well have been wondering what he as a Gentile was doing in a movement which was originally Jewish, especially when so many Israelites were rejecting the message. Luke assured Theophilus and his other readers that Jesus is the Messiah. He is worthy of everyone's worship because He is the Son of the living God.
- 1:5 King Herod, who was appointed by the Roman emperor, reigned from 37 to 4 B.C. over Judea, Samaria, Galilee, and much of Perea and Syria. The events of vv. 5–25 probably occurred around 6 B.C. Abijah: The priesthood of Israel was separated into 24 divisions, of which the family of Abijah was one (see 1 Chr. 24:10; Neh. 12:17).

The Holy Land Under Herod the Great (37–4 B.C.)

- 1:6 righteous before God: This phrase indicates that the priest and his wife were recognized by God as believers. They walked faithfully with God and kept His law (see Deut. 6:24, 25).
- 1:7 Being barren was a grave disappointment in ancient Israel (see 1 Sam. 1). The Scriptures record a number of times when God blessed a barren woman by giving her a son (see Gen. 18:11; 21:2, 3; 1 Sam. 1; 2).
- 1:8, 9 Zacharias served for one week twice a year at the temple, one of perhaps 18,000 priests who served in a year. Offering the incense was something a priest could do only once in his career. It was a great moment for Zacharias, all the more so because of the sovereign plan God had for him and his family.
- 1:10 The hour of incense came twice a day, at 9 A.M. and 3:30 P.M. Probably the afternoon offering is in view here.
- 1:12 fear fell upon him: To be afraid at the presence of God or His messenger (v. 11) is common in Scripture (see 1:29, 65; 2:9; 5:8–10, 26; 7:16; 8:37; 9:34; see also Ex. 15:16; Dan. 8:16, 17; Acts 5:5, 11; 19:17).
- 1:13 Do not be afraid: Angels often calmed the fears of those to whom they appeared (see v. 30; 2:10; Gen. 15:1; Dan. 10:12; Matt. 1:20; Acts 18:9; 27:24; Rev. 1:17). your prayer is heard: The angel was probably referring to the prayer for the redemption of Israel that Zacharias had recited in the Holy Place, or to his earlier prayers for a child. you shall call his name John: When God names a child, greatness usually follows (see Gen. 16:11; 1 Kin. 13:2; Is. 7:14).
- 1:14 Joy is a major theme throughout the writings of Luke (see vv. 44, 47, 58; 2:10; 10:20; 13:17; 15:5–7; 19:6; 24:52; Acts 5:41).
- 1:15 great in the sight of the Lord: John had a great place in the plan of God, but it was inferior to Jesus' own unique role. John was a prophet, and as such he was filled with the Holy Spirit from before birth (see Is. 49:1; Jer. 1:5). Being filled with the Spirit means being directed by Him and obedient to Him (see Eph. 5:18). wine nor strong drink: As with Samuel and Samson, a vow was imposed on the child that indicated his special consecration to the Lord. Unlike Samson and Samuel, this vow was imposed by God, not by his mother. It is not clear whether this was a Nazirite vow, since nothing is said about refraining from cutting his hair (see Num. 6:1–4; Judg. 13:5, 7).
- 1:16 The prophet John promised reconciliation to God for those who responded to his call to repent (3:1–14). Turn is a biblical term for conversion, indicating a change of orientation, a turning away from sin and towards God (see 1 Thess. 1:9, 10). John's mission was to prepare Israel for its Messiah.
- 1:17 in the spirit and power of Elijah: John was the forerunner of the Messiah. This description recalls Mal. 3:1; 4:5. John's ministry paralleled Elijah's, for both prophets called Israel to repentance (see 1 Kin. 17; 18). As with many elements in God's plan, there is an initial fulfillment and a later fulfillment yet to come, which are distinct but related. Both John and Jesus may suggest the return of an Elijah-like figure in the end times (see Matt. 17:11–13; John 1:21). a people prepared: The prepared people are those whom God has drawn to Himself for His special purposes.
- 1:18 How shall I know: Zacharias expressed his doubt and asked for a sign, a lack of faith that is addressed in vv. 64, 65. Zacharias completely ignored the divine source of the promise and the angelic messenger who delivered it.
- 1:19 One of two angels named in the Bible, Gabriel was often a messenger who communicated God's plan (see Dan. 8:16; 9:21). Michael is the other angel whose name is given (see Dan. 10:13, 21; Jude 9; Rev. 12:7).

1:20 mute: It seems that Zacharias was not only unable to speak, but unable to hear as well (vv. 62, 63). The arrival of the child would break Zacharias's silence. The priest would be filled with joy, praising God for His faithfulness (see Zacharias's song in vv. 68–79).

1:21 The people at the temple awaited the Aaronic blessing of the high priest (see Num. 6:24–26). The conclusion of the offering occurred only after the priests emerged from the Holy Place.

1:23 Zacharias's house was located in the hill country south of Jerusalem (v. 39).

1:24 Why Elizabeth hid herself is not clear. The most likely suggestion is that she withdrew to give praise to God, as v. 25 suggests, and to prepare privately for the coming of her special child.

1:25 my reproach: In ancient Israel barrenness was seen as a cause for shame. The "opening of the womb" indicated God's grace (see Gen. 21:6; 30:23; 1 Sam. 1; 2; Ps. 128:3). In this verse, Elizabeth praises the Lord for mercifully blessing her even as He moved His plan for all of human history forward.

1:26–38 Luke's account of the announcement of Jesus' birth tells the story from Mary's perspective, while Matt. 1:18–25 focuses on Joseph and cites Is. 7:14. The announcement in Luke parallels similar announcements in the OT (see Gen. 16:7–14; 18:1–15; Judg. 13:3–23).

1:26 In the sixth month means six months after John the Baptist was conceived. Nazareth was a little village in Galilee, a region north of Jerusalem.

1:28 blessed are you among women: Mary was blessed because she received God's grace, not because she bestowed it.

1:32 The Highest is another way of referring to the majesty of God. David: Jesus fulfilled (and will fulfill) God's promise to David concerning an unending dynasty. The OT develops in detail this promise of an eternal Davidic kingdom (see 2 Sam. 7:8–16; 1 Kin. 2:24, 25; Ps. 2:1–12; 89:14, 19–29, 35–37; 110:1–7; 132:11, 12; Is. 9:6, 7; 11:1–5, 10; Jer. 23:5, 6). First-century Israelites based their hopes on these promises, but their focus was on a political and earthly kingdom.

1:34 How can this be: Mary did not ask for a sign, so this remark does not reflect unbelief. She accepts her role without question in v. 38, and thus is a model of faith even though she does not fully understand everything. The work of God in Mary introduces something unknown before or after: the birth into the human race of One who is both God and man.

1:35 The Holy Spirit will come upon you: This is a direct declaration of Jesus' divine conception. The association of the Spirit with power is frequent for Luke (v. 17; 4:14; Acts 1:8; 6:8–10; 10:38). The child's conception means He is uniquely set apart, the Holy One, a phrase which is here not so much a title as a description of Jesus' sinless nature.

1:37 nothing will be impossible: God keeps His promises regardless of how difficult the circumstances may seem. Gabriel's statement about God should be our statement of faith: Nothing is impossible with God.

1:38 Maidservant suggests humility before the Lord and a readiness for faithful and obedient service, which should characterize every believer. Paul uses the masculine form of this word to describe himself (see Rom. 1:1).

1:41 the babe leaped in her womb: Mary's coming brought a reaction from John in Elizabeth's womb. The Messiah's forerunner gave testimony to the Messiah even before he was born. The angel had predicted to Zacharias that his baby would be filled with the Holy Spirit even from the womb (v. 15).

1:43 why is this granted to me: Elizabeth marveled at the grace that allowed her a role in God's great plan. She knew God owed her nothing; but she also knew that God had mercifully given her much.

1:45 Mary's faith contrasts with the doubt of Zacharias. Blessed is she who believed: Mary's response of faith was exemplary. She was simply waiting on God to bring His promises to fulfillment.

1:46 The following hymn (vv. 46–55) gets its name, the "Magnificat," from the Latin word for magnifies. One of four hymns in the first two chapters of Luke (vv. 67–79; 2:14; 2:29–32), Mary’s hymn is a recital of what God had done for her and for others in the past.

Word Studies

Savior

(Gk. sōtēr) (1:47; 2:11; John 4:42; Phil. 3:20) Strong's #4990

In addition to the obvious meaning, “one who provides salvation,” the word Savior often includes the related meanings of “Deliverer,” “Protector,” or “Preserver.” In ancient Greek society, the term was applied not only to gods but also to human beings whose significant actions brought some type of benefit to others. In 1:47, Mary rejoices in God her Savior, referring to the Lord’s mighty acts of protection and deliverance on behalf of Israel. In 2:11, the angel announces to the shepherds the birth of “a Savior, who is Christ the Lord,” One who would offer Himself as a sacrifice to provide redemption for all. Luke’s emphasis on Jesus as Savior can be seen in the summary of Jesus’ mission in 19:10: “to seek and to save that which was lost.”

Go to the List of Word Studies

- 1:48 Henceforth means “from now on.” Things would never be the same again (see 5:10; 12:52; 22:69; Acts 18:6). all generations will call me blessed: Mary went from being a poor unknown Hebrew girl to the most honored woman in the history of the world.
- 1:49 He who is mighty: God is One who protects and fights for His children (see Ps. 45:3; 89:8; Zeph. 3:17). holy is His name: God is unique and set apart from all other beings (see Lev. 11:44, 45; Ps. 99:3; Is. 57:15).
- 1:50 The term mercy expresses the OT concept of God’s loyal, gracious, faithful love (see Ps. 103). those who fear Him: God’s mercy comes to those who look respectfully to Him.
- 1:51–53 These verses portray a “reversal” in the end times, when those who have abused power will be judged and those who have suffered persecution will be exalted. Mary was looking forward to the day when God’s people are no longer oppressed, but are instead blessed by the Lord. God’s strength with His arm figuratively describes His activity and power as Savior of His people (see v. 47; Deut. 4:34; Ps. 89:13; 118:15).
- 1:54, 55 His servant Israel: The idea of Israel as God’s servant is found frequently in the Book of Isaiah (see Is. 41:8, 9; 44:1, 2, 21; 48:20; 49:3). Israel has a special role in serving God and revealing Him. He spoke to our fathers: God’s actions in the life of Mary were based on commitments He made centuries before (see Gen. 12:1–3; 22:16–18).
- 1:59 they would have called him: It was an ancient custom to give the name of a family member to a newborn.
- 1:60 John was the name that the angel had told Zacharias to give the child (v. 13).
- 1:62, 63 The fact that the people made signs to Zacharias indicates that he was deaf as well as mute (v. 20). A writing tablet was a wood tablet covered with wax.
- 1:67 filled with the Holy Spirit: Here the presence of the Spirit enabled Zacharias to announce God’s promise. Zacharias’s hymn is called the “Benedictus” from its first word in the Latin Vulgate translation. prophesied: Though Zacharias was a priest, the Spirit enabled him to prophesy. There are three types of prophecy in the Bible: foretelling future events, forthtelling the Word of God, and praising God. Zacharias’s prophecy includes all three.

- 1:68 He has visited and redeemed: As also in Mary's hymn, God the Savior is the object of Zacharias's praise. The salvation referred to by Zacharias is both national (vv. 71, 74) and spiritual (vv. 75, 77, 79).
- 1:69 The horn of an ox is a symbol of power (see Deut. 33:17; 1 Sam. 2:10; 2 Sam. 22:3; Ps. 75:4, 5, 10; 132:17; Ezek. 29:21). David: Jesus' royal ancestry is highlighted by Zacharias.
- 1:71 God had promised to deliver the Israelites from their enemies. In Luke these enemies include both human and spiritual forces (4:16–30; 11:14–26).
- 1:72 To perform the mercy . . . remember His holy covenant: God's actions represented His commitment to love the Israelites faithfully (v. 50) and to fulfill His promises to their ancestors (see vv. 54, 73; Lev. 26:42).
- 1:76 you will go before the face of the Lord: Finally able to speak, Zacharias proclaimed to those gathered what the angel had told him in the temple (vv. 16, 17). John was to prepare the way for the Lord, a reference to his role as forerunner of the Messiah (see Is. 40:3; Mal. 3:1).
- 1:77 To give knowledge of salvation: John's task was to prepare the people by informing them of their need to repent (3:1–14) and of the One who was coming (3:15–18).
- 1:78, 79 Dayspring is a reference to the coming of Messiah (see Num. 24:17; Mal. 4:2). This Greek word was also used to translate the Hebrew word for "branch" or "sprout," a concept with messianic overtones (see Is. 11:1–10; Jer. 23:5; 33:15; Zech. 3:8; 6:12). To give light . . . To guide our feet: As the Dayspring or the "Rising Sun," the Messiah will provide the light of truth and forgiveness to those blinded by the darkness of their sins. Peace describes a harmonious relationship with God.
- 2:1, 2 Augustus was the Roman emperor from 31 B.C. to A.D. 14. Quirinius was the governor or administrator over a major census organized to facilitate the collection of taxes. Outside the Scripture, ancient records tie Quirinius to a census only in A.D. 6, but this is too late to be the one referred to here. So it may be that the census spanned the period from Varus to Quirinius and was referred to by the name of the one who completed it, sometime in the period immediately following Herod's death. It is also possible that Quirinius served as governor twice in his career, since there is a gap in the governorship records between 4 B.C. and A.D. 1, the period between Varus and Gaius Caesar. The problem here is that the gap follows Herod's death, rather than preceding it, as the timing of Jesus' birth requires (see Matt. 2).
- 2:3, 4 The registration, following Jewish custom, took place at a person's ancestral home (see 2 Sam. 24). The journey from Nazareth to Bethlehem was about 90 miles, at least a three-day trip.
- 2:5 his betrothed wife: The fact that Mary made the journey with Joseph suggests that they were already married. However, the marriage had not yet been consummated (see Matt. 1:24, 25).
- 2:7 Swaddling cloths were strips of cloth wrapped around a baby to keep its arms and legs straight. Firstborn Son implies that Mary had other children (see Matt. 1:25; 13:55; Mark 3:31–35). The manger was probably a feeding trough for animals. Jesus was probably born in a stable or in a cave that served as one. The inn was most likely a reception room in a private home or a space at a public shelter, not a large building with several individual rooms.
- 2:8 The night watch was kept to protect sheep from robbers and wild animals.
- 2:9 Glory refers to evidence of God's majestic presence, later associated with Jesus (see Acts 7:55). In this scene, the glory is the appearance of light in the midst of darkness.
- 2:11 The city of David here refers to Bethlehem. In other passages, the phrase means Jerusalem (see 2 Sam. 5:7). Savior . . . Christ . . . Lord: These three titles together summarize the saving work of Jesus and His sovereign position. What God was called in 1:47, Savior, Jesus is called here. The word Christ means "Anointed," referring to Jesus' royal, messianic position. The word Lord was the title of a ruler. The meaning of the word is defined by Peter in Acts 2:30–36. Jesus is destined to sit and distribute salvation's benefits from God's side, ruling with the Father.
- 2:13 Heavenly host refers to an entourage of angels.
- 2:14 Glory here refers to praise given to God. goodwill toward men: The phrase means that people are the objects of God's goodwill. In ancient Judaism, this phrase described a limited group of people who were the objects of God's special grace. The promise of peace (1:79) and goodwill would come to those who welcome God's only Son.

2:21 eight days: According to the Law, a Jewish boy was to be circumcised on the eighth day (see Gen. 17:12; Lev. 12:3).

2:22 Her purification refers to a ceremony in which a new mother of a son was declared ceremonially clean again (see Lev. 12:6). The ceremony took place 40 days after the birth. At this ceremony, the mother could offer a lamb or two pigeons (see Lev. 12:8). Jesus' family chose the pigeons (v. 24), suggesting that they did not have and could not afford to buy an animal. The journey to Jerusalem from Bethlehem was only five miles. Present Him to the Lord refers to the normal presentation of a firstborn son to God (see Ex. 13:2, 12; Num. 18:6; 1 Sam. 1; 2). Luke shows that Jesus' parents were faithful Jews who kept the requirements of the Law.

Childbirth

In biblical times an infant did not begin life in a sterile hospital setting. A child was usually born at home where the conditions were less than sanitary. The floors were probably dirt and farm animals sometimes shared the same living quarters. The water used to cleanse the child was often polluted; the clothing used to wrap the baby had been washed in the same impure water. The stable where Jesus was born may have been no worse than some of the homes in Bethlehem. Demographic studies of ancient cultures show that the infant mortality rate was often as high as 90 percent; the many infant burial sites uncovered at various archaeological sites in Israel support this assumption. The redemption ceremony of the firstborn male was not performed until the child was 30 days old. If he had survived the first month, his chances of growing to adulthood were good.

- 2:25 Simeon was waiting for the Consolation of Israel, the Comforter of Israel, a hope that parallels the hope of national deliverance expressed in the two hymns of ch. 1. This deliverance would involve the work of Messiah, as v. 26 suggests. Holy Spirit: Luke highlights the presence of the Spirit at the beginning of God's work in Jesus.
- 2:27 into the temple: The location within the temple is not given, but Mary's presence suggests either the court of Gentiles or the court of women.
- 2:30 Simeon identified God's salvation as being personified in Jesus. For Jesus to come was for God's salvation to come.
- 2:32 A light to bring revelation to the Gentiles . . . the glory of Your people Israel: This is the first explicit statement in Luke that includes both Jew and Gentile. Salvation is portrayed as light (1:79). It would be a revelation to Gentiles because they would be able to participate in God's blessing with a fullness that had not been revealed in the OT (see Eph. 2:11–22; 3:1–7). Jesus is the glory of Israel because through Him the nation would see the fulfillment of God's promises; the nation's special role in God's plan would be vindicated (see Is. 46:13; 60:1–3; Rom. 9:1–5; 11:11–29).
- 2:35 a sword: The image here is of a large, broad sword striking Mary. She would suffer much pain in watching Jesus' rejection. thoughts . . . revealed: Jesus is a litmus test for where people stand before God. He is a Judge who will expose the thoughts of all people (see Acts 10:42, 43; 17:30, 31).
- 2:37 It is not clear whether eighty-four years was Anna's age, or how long she had been a widow. The testimony of this pious woman complements Simeon's testimony. Both men and women observed God's work early in Jesus' life. Anna's work as a prophetess in the temple court suggests that she addressed all who would listen to her, as did Miriam (see Ex. 15:20), Deborah (see Judg. 4:4), and Huldah (see 2 Kin. 22:14). Philip's daughters are another example of prophetesses in the NT (Acts 21:9).
- 2:38 Redemption in Jerusalem is another way of speaking of the Consolation of Israel (v. 25).
- 2:40 the Child grew: With this note, the story of Jesus' infancy ends. The narrative picks up in v. 41 some 12 years later.
- 2:41 The annual pilgrimage to Jerusalem was customary for many who lived outside the city. The Law commanded three pilgrimages for the men each year: for Passover, Pentecost, and the Feast of Tabernacles (see Ex. 23:14–17; Deut. 16:16). By the first century, most Jewish men made annual pilgrimages to Jerusalem because of the distance many had to travel due to the dispersion of the Israelites across Asia Minor.
- 2:46 The teachers were Jewish rabbis. Note that Jesus was not lecturing, but engaging the rabbis in theological discussion (v. 47).
- 2:49 I must: Even at 12, Jesus knew that God had commissioned Him to accomplish certain tasks on this earth (4:43; 9:22; 13:33; 17:25; 19:5; 22:37; 24:7, 44). about My Father's business: This is the first indication in Luke's Gospel that Jesus knew He had a unique mission and a unique relationship to the Father. The Greek text is elliptical here and reads, "I must be in the . . . of my Father," without specifying a place or activity. Either Jesus must be about the work of God, as the translation suggests; or he must be in the house of God, discussing God's truth. In the end the two possibilities are not very different.
- 3:1 Tiberius Caesar began to rule after his stepfather Augustus died, in A.D. 14. Judea was a senatorial province, ruled by a governor or procurator. Pontius Pilate held this position and was responsible for administering the region and collecting taxes for Rome. Herod is Herod Antipas, who ruled Galilee and Perea from 4 B.C. to A.D. 39. Herod's brother Archelaus had control of Judea and Samaria until A.D. 6, when he was banished. Herod's other brother Philip ruled the northern area east of the Jordan River.

3:2 Annas the high priest (A.D. 7–14) was succeeded in office by Caiaphas, his son-in-law, around A.D. 18. Caiaphas served with brief breaks from then until A.D. 37. In addition to Caiaphas, all of Annas's five sons served as high priest at one point or another. It is clear that Annas retained the influence as well as the title of his former office. The various rulers that Luke lists show the complexity of the historical and political situation in Israel during Jesus' day. A first-century Israelite had to deal with the edicts of the Roman emperor, the regulations of the governor over Israel, and the judgments of the religious leaders of Israel.

3:3 Baptism figuratively means "to be identified with," as an unbleached cloth is identified with the color in a vat of dye when it is dipped. As John the Baptist preached and the people identified with his message, they were baptized as an outward sign of their inward repentance or "change of mind."

3:4–6 Prepare the way: This citation from Is. 40:3–5 declares the coming of God's deliverance. Luke cites the text more fully than Matthew or Mark. He carries the passage through to its mention of salvation being seen by all flesh (v. 6), thus highlighting that the gospel is for all people. The preparation for the arrival of a king typically meant that a road was prepared for his journey. This is what Isaiah compares to the arrival of God's salvation.

3:7 As the multitudes flocked to hear John the Baptist, many people went through the outward motions of baptism, but their actions did not truly represent their inward attitude. These people were not genuinely interested in the kind of King and kingdom that John was presenting.

baptize

(Gk. baptizō) (3:7; Matt. 3:6; Mark 1:5; Acts 2:38; Rom. 6:3) Strong's #907

This Greek word means “to dip” or “to immerse.” The people were coming to John and being immersed by him in the Jordan River. The Jews were familiar with the baptism of Gentile proselytes to Judaism; but this kind of baptism for Jews was new and strange to them. John called upon them to be baptized as a way of showing that they wanted to renounce their old way of life and prepare their hearts for the coming of the Messiah. Paul used baptism to speak about the believers’ identification with Christ. Just as a cloth dipped in dye absorbs the color of the dye, so a person immersed in Christ should take on the nature of Christ.

3:8 John the Baptist warned that the fruits of repentance are necessary, not the claim of an ancestral connection to Abraham. External genealogical connections would not change one’s attitude to God.

3:10–14 What shall we do: A genuine change of mind resulted in a change of action for the people, the tax collectors, and the soldiers. The repentant were instructed to give to those in need, to work at their jobs with integrity, to refrain from abusing their power, and to be content with earning a basic wage.

3:11 two tunics: One was an undergarment, and the other was an outer garment. A person did not need two when another person had none.

3:12 Tax collectors were Jewish agents employed by those who had purchased the right to collect taxes for the Roman state. Tax collectors often added interest to cover their own expenses and to pad their income. They were disliked both for their business practices and for their support of the occupying state.

3:16, 17 One mightier than I: This is the first direct mention of Jesus by John. John’s baptism was minor compared to what was coming from Jesus, who would bring the Holy Spirit and fire (see Matt. 3:11). These two facets of Christ’s work relate to His first and second comings. Baptism in the Holy Spirit is referred to seven times in the NT—four times in the Gospels (see Matt. 3:11; Mark 1:8; John 1:33), twice in Acts (see Acts 1:5; 11:16), and once in the epistles (see 1 Cor. 12:13). As a result of Christ’s work at His first coming, believers are placed into one family (see 1 Cor. 12:13) and commended to the care of the Holy Spirit. When Christ comes a second time, He will come with the fire of judgment. Chaff refers to useless shells of grain that were separated from the useful wheat by the winnowing fan, a wooden forklike shovel that lifted the grain in the air so that the wind could separate it. The chaff was burned, picturing those who will undergo judgment. The unquenchable fire indicates the thorough nature of the judgment.

3:19, 20 he shut John up in prison: This event is clearly not in chronological order (see Matt. 14:3–5; Mark 6:17–20), since John could not have baptized Jesus (vv. 21, 22) if he was in jail. John had rebuked Herod for divorcing his wife to marry his own niece Herodias, who already had been the wife of his brother Philip. Not only was the divorce a problem, so was marrying such a close relative (see Lev. 18:16; 20:21).

3:22 a voice came from heaven: This is one of two heavenly endorsements of Jesus' ministry. The other is found in 9:35. You are My beloved Son; in You I am well pleased: This statement combines two ideas. The idea of God's Son comes from Ps. 2:7, a psalm about God's chosen King. The idea of God's pleasure comes from the image of the Servant in Is. 42:1. This image depicts Jesus' election by God, and the special favor He enjoyed. The fact that Jesus is both King and Servant is fundamental to Jesus' identity.

3:23–38 as was supposed: People naturally assumed that Jesus was the physical son of both Joseph and Mary. Luke corrected this misunderstanding by emphasizing that Jesus was only apparently Joseph's physical son. Luke's genealogy is unlike Matthew's, although both go back to David and Abraham. Luke traces Jesus' line all the way back to Adam, showing Jesus' significance for all people. Matthew provides the legal lineage from David through Joseph to Jesus, while Luke provides the physical lineage from David through Mary to Jesus.

4:1, 2 The order of the temptations differs between Matthew and Luke. Luke has the temptation about Jerusalem last, probably because Jerusalem is the place Jesus is headed for His decisive confrontation with Satan (13:32–35). In His temptation, Jesus demonstrated not only His ability to resist the devil, but also His allegiance to God. What Adam could not do, Jesus did. Where Israel had failed in the wilderness, Jesus succeeded.

Temptation: The Two Adams Contrasted

Both Adam and Christ faced three aspects of temptation. Adam yielded, bringing upon humankind sin and death. Christ resisted, resulting in justification and life.

1 John 2:16: “the lust of the flesh”

Genesis 3:6, First Adam: “the tree was good for food”

Luke 4:1–13, Second Adam—Christ: “command this stone to become bread”

1 John 2:16: “the lust of the eyes”

Genesis 3:6, First Adam: “it was pleasant to the eyes”

Luke 4:1–13, Second Adam—Christ: “the devil . . . showed Him all the kingdoms”

1 John 2:16: “the pride of life”

Genesis 3:6, First Adam: “a tree desirable to make one wise”

Luke 4:1–13, Second Adam—Christ: “throw Yourself down from here”

4:3 If You are the Son of God: This is a conditional statement. In other words, Satan was saying: “Let's assume for the sake of argument that You are the Son of God.” In fact, Satan was challenging Jesus' identity and authority.

4:4 It is written: Jesus responded to Satan's temptation by quoting Deut. 8:3. Jesus refused to operate independently of God. The Spirit had led Him into the wilderness to prepare Him for His ministry, so eating at Satan's instruction would have shown a lack of dependence on the Father.

4:5 all the kingdoms of the world: This temptation was an attempt to offer Jesus power by the wrong means. Satan's method involved a detour around the Cross, an inducement to "take the easy way" to power.

4:6 this has been delivered to me: Satan's claim here is exaggerated. He has great authority over the earth (see John 12:31; 14:30; 16:11; 2 Cor. 4:4; Eph. 2:2), but not the authority to deliver kingdoms.

4:8 Get behind Me, Satan: Later, Jesus makes the same statement to Peter when he becomes a channel for Satan's message (see Matt. 16:23). In response to Satan's second temptation, Jesus cited Deut. 6:13. Jesus knew that only God is worthy of worship, that only God is to be served.

4:9 The pinnacle of the temple may refer either to the high temple gate or to the southeast corner of the temple that loomed over a cliff some 450 feet high.

4:10, 11 He shall give His angels charge over you: Satan cited Ps. 91:11, 12, reminding Jesus of God's promise of protection. However, the mere use of biblical words does not always reveal God's will, particularly if they are placed in the wrong context.

4:12 You shall not tempt the LORD: In response to Satan's third temptation, Jesus cited Deut. 6:16. God is to be trusted, not tested. The Deuteronomy passage refers to Israel's attempt to test God at Meribah (see Ex. 17:1–7). Jesus would not repeat the nation's error of unfaithfulness to God.

4:13 until an opportune time: This was but the first of several encounters Jesus had with Satan and his forces (11:14–23).

4:16, 17 Most synagogue services had a reading from the Law and one from the Prophets, with an exposition that tied the texts together. Jesus expounded from Is. 61. The scroll was kept in the synagogue and handed to Jesus by an attendant.

4:18, 19 By citing Is. 61, Jesus was claiming to be a royal figure and to have a prophetic mission (v. 24). Jesus healed the brokenhearted, referring to those who were discouraged because of their plight in life. Jesus proclaimed liberty to the captives. In the OT, captivity refers to Israel's exile (1:68–74); here captivity refers to sin (see 1:77; 7:47; 24:47; Acts 2:38; 5:31; 10:43; 13:38; 26:18). Jesus gave sight to the blind, a reference to His miraculous works (7:22), though not without spiritual overtones (1:78, 79; 10:23, 24; 18:41–43). Jesus set at liberty the oppressed. This was originally the call of Israel, but the nation had failed in its assignment (see Is. 58:6). What Israel had failed to do, Jesus does. The image here addresses both physical and spiritual realities. Jesus proclaimed the acceptable year of the LORD, an allusion to Jubilee. This was every fiftieth year, in which all debt was forgiven, slaves were given their freedom, and ancestral lands were given back to its original family. The Year of Jubilee allowed for a new start (see Lev. 25:10). Jesus offers a total cancellation of spiritual debt and a new beginning to those who respond to His message.

4:20 Jesus closed the book in the middle of the sentence (see Is. 61:2). He did not continue because the next phrase—"the day of vengeance of our God"—was not being fulfilled then.

Bible Times & Culture Notes

Worship

A synagogue service began with the recitation of the Shema, the first Hebrew word in the passage in Deut. 6:4–9. The speaker for the day then led the congregation in prayer as they stood facing Jerusalem with hands extended. At the close of the prayer the people said "Amen." Before the service the leader of the synagogue took from the Torah ark the scrolls containing the lesson for the day and placed them on the lectern. The chosen speaker stood and read the lesson from the Law of Moses and the interpreter translated it verse by verse into Aramaic. Then the passage from the Prophets was read and translated. For the commentary or sermon, the speaker usually sat down (Luke 4:20). After the sermon, a priest, if one was present, pronounced a benediction and the people said “Amen.” If no priest was present, a closing prayer was offered.

4:21 Jesus proclaimed the fulfillment of God’s plan and promise in Himself, since He is the figure described in the passage. Luke often notes the presence of fulfillment by including a reference to today (2:11; 5:26; 12:28; 13:32, 33; 19:5, 9; 22:34, 61; 23:43).

4:23 Physician, heal yourself: The request for more signs was for Jesus to prove His claim by repeating the type of miraculous work He had done in Capernaum (see Mark 1:21–27). Such requests for signs often contained a mocking tone (11:16; 22:64; 23:8, 35–37).

4:24 Jesus made it clear that He is God’s messenger who declares God’s ways. However, Jesus also knew that a prophet is often rejected. This is a lesson of the OT to which Jesus and other NT authors allude (see 11:47–51; Acts 7:51–53).

4:25–27 Jesus speaks of a period of widespread unfaithfulness to God (see 1 Kin. 17; 18; 2 Kin. 5:1–14). During this period, judgment came on the nation in the form of famine. The only people to receive healing were Gentiles. With such an allusion, Jesus warned His listeners not to be unfaithful like their ancestors by rejecting His message.

Capernaum Synagogue

Archaeological work at Capernaum has revealed a section of the pavement of a first-century synagogue below the still-existing ruins of the fourth-century one on the site. A private house later made into a church and a place of pilgrimage has yielded some evidence that may link it to the site of Simon Peter's house (Luke 4:38).

Capernaum was more than a seaside fishing village in the days of Jesus. It was the place that Jesus chose to be the center of His ministry to the entire region of Galilee, and it possessed ideal characteristics as a point of dissemination for the gospel.

There were good reasons for this. The town itself was named Kephrah Nahum, “village of [perhaps the prophet] Nahum,” and was the centerpiece of a densely populated region having a bicultural flavor. On the one hand, there were numerous synagogues in Galilee (in addition to the one in Capernaum), where the ferment of Jewish religious life was profound. On the other hand, there was Hellenism, a pervasive culture already centuries old and potent in its paganism—a lifestyle that influenced manners, dress, architecture, and political institutions as well.

4:32 Luke emphasizes Jesus’ teaching (v. 15). The perception of Jesus’ authority probably arose as a result of His discussing issues directly, rather than merely noting tradition.

- 4:34 Let us alone: The demon knew that Jesus possessed divine authority, and he wanted nothing to do with Him. the Holy One of God: Even a demon witnessed to Jesus' divinity. In the OT, the title Holy One referred to a person with a special call from God (see "holy man" in 2 Kin. 4:9 and "saint" in Ps. 106:16). Luke records the demon's use of this title as proof that Jesus is the promised Messiah (v. 41; 1:31–35).
- 4:35, 36 rebuked: This term in Aramaic was a technical term for calling evil into submission. Jesus' authority over evil forces is clear. He possessed the authority and power to grant salvation, as well as to confront all opponents to it. Be quiet: Jesus, not Satan and his demons, controlled who would testify to His messianic identity. Why Jesus silenced such a confession is not clear. Possibilities include the following: (1) A messianic confession might label Him as a political revolutionary, something He was not. (2) Jesus might have preferred that His works testify to His messianic identity (7:18–23). (3) The Israelites might have thought it was not appropriate for a messiah to be announced until messianic works were achieved. Others regarded as messiahs by the Jews in this period, such as the Teacher of Righteousness at Qumran and Simeon ben Kosebah, were also hesitant to make direct messianic claims. (4) Jesus might not have welcomed a testimony from a demon. (5) It might not have been God's time for Jesus to reveal His messianic identity.
- 4:39 The fact that Simon's mother-in-law served her guests immediately indicates that her recovery from fever was instantaneous. Miraculous healing in the Bible was always immediate (5:13).
- 4:41 You are the Christ, the Son of God: This confession, unique to the Gospel of Luke, shows the close connection Luke makes between Jesus' sonship and messiahship.
- 4:43 The kingdom is referred to 30 times in Luke and six times in Acts. Jesus announced the rule of God through His person, in dealing with sin (24:47), in distributing the Spirit as He mediates blessing from God's side (24:49), and in reigning with His followers according to the OT promise (see Ps. 2:7–12; Acts 3:18–22).
- 4:44 Galilee probably refers to the whole of Palestine in this context (see 23:5; Acts 10:37).
- 5:1 The Lake of Gennesaret is also known as the Sea of Galilee and the Sea of Tiberias.
- 5:4 let down your nets: This was a "parabolic action." Jesus commanded Simon to place his nets in the water in order to depict a spiritual reality. Jesus, in v. 10, explained the spiritual truth: Simon's new occupation would be fishing for people who would do the will of Jesus.
- 5:5 at Your word I will let down the net: This is Peter's statement of faith. The fisherman noted that he and his companions had just failed to make a catch at the best time for fishing, the evening. The circumstances were not good for a catch at the time of Jesus' command, but Peter chose to obey His word and let down his nets anyway.
- 5:8 Peter's confession indicates that he recognized God's work through Jesus. Peter, as a sinful man, was not worthy to be in Jesus' presence, because Jesus was holy.
- 5:10 Do not be afraid: Jesus does not drive away the sinner who recognizes his or her wretched condition. He accepts the confessing sinner and offers that person the opportunity of reconciliation with God. Then He sends the forgiven sinner out to do the work of God. catch men: Peter's commission was to rescue men from the danger of sin.
- 5:11 forsook all and followed Him: Following Jesus became the main priority in the disciples' lives. Such priority is the essence of discipleship.
- 5:12 The term leprosy was used broadly in the ancient world. It included psoriasis, lupus, and ringworm. Lepers were isolated from the rest of society (see Lev. 13:45, 46), but could be restored to the community when they recovered (see Lev. 14).
- 5:13 The disease responded immediately to the Creator's touch (4:39). Jesus honored the leper's humble request for health because he recognized Jesus' power and authority.
- 5:14 show yourself to the priest: Jesus commanded that the regulation of Lev. 14 be followed. In silencing the healed leper, Jesus sought to avoid drawing excessive attention to His healing ministry. He wanted people to seek Him for spiritual healing, not merely physical healing. The leper's testimony was to God's faithfulness and His exercise of power through Jesus (7:22).

5:17 The religious leadership of Israel began to watch Jesus closely. The Pharisees were a group of about six thousand pious, influential teachers in the synagogues. They were a group who meticulously followed the Law, adhering to the traditional rules that kept a person from inadvertently breaking it. The teachers of the law were officials trained in the Law of Moses. Also known as scribes, these men were in effect the religious lawyers of the Pharisees. In Judaism in the first century there was a wide range of factions, including the Sadducees and the Essenes. The Pharisees, despite their relatively low numbers, were very influential.

5:20 Luke directly links faith and forgiveness here. According to the OT, only God was able to forgive sin (see Ps. 103:12). Rather than announcing that God would forgive the man's sin, Jesus proclaimed that the man's sins were forgiven. This act was blasphemous to the ears of Jesus' theologically sensitive audience.

5:21 blasphemies: The charge of the scribes and the Pharisees was that Jesus' claim dishonored God. This was a serious charge; the conviction of blasphemy would eventually lead to Jesus' death (22:70, 71).

5:22 perceived their thoughts: The reference here is to prophetic insight, since the leaders' thoughts had not been spoken. Jesus "knew what was in man" (John 2:25).

5:23 Jesus posed a riddle to His audience. From an external point of view, it would seem easier to declare sins forgiven than to actually heal a person. In reality, however, one has to possess more authority to forgive sin. Jesus linked the healing to what it represented, the forgiveness of sin. Jesus forgave the man's sins and healed him at the same time.

5:24 Son of Man is an Aramaic idiom that refers to a human being, meaning "someone" or "I." Jesus used this idiom as a title, taken from Dan. 7:13, 14 (see 21:27; 22:69; Mark 14:62). In the Book of Daniel, the phrase Son of Man describes a figure who shares authority with the Ancient of Days. Association with the clouds gives a supernatural aura to the figure, for only God rides the clouds (see Ex. 14:20; 34:5; Num. 10:34; Ps. 104:3). In using the title here, Jesus claimed the authority to forgive sin, an authority that was limited to God.

5:27 Levi's job as a tax collector was to sit at a booth collecting taxes from businessmen. His was a lower position than that of Zacchaeus, another famous tax collector in the Bible. Levi would have reported to someone like Zacchaeus. Levi is also called Matthew (see Matt. 9:9; 10:3).

5:29 This verse describes the first of several feasts or meals in the Book of Luke (7:36–50; 9:10–17; 10:38–42; 11:37–54; 14:1–24; 22:14–38; 24:28–32, 41–43). In ancient Israel the table was a place where spiritual points were taught and where fellowship occurred.

5:30 The issue of eating with sinners was sensitive in Judaism since some believed that eating with such company conveyed an acceptance of that person's sin. Jesus preferred pursuing relationships that might lead sinners to God rather than "quarantining" Himself from such people (see 1 Cor. 5:9–13).

5:31 no need of a physician: Jesus was not saying that the Pharisees and scribes had no need of spiritual healing. Instead He was saying that only those who know their spiritual need can be treated. As self-righteous people, the Pharisees would not come for aid, and in their own eyes, did not need a doctor.

5:32 Jesus' mission was to call sinners to repentance. Upon His ascension, Jesus commissioned His disciples to the same task (24:47; see also 3:3, 8; 13:1–5; 15:7–10; 16:30; 17:3, 4; Acts 26:20). In this passage, repentance is pictured as a patient who recognizes that illness is present and that only Jesus, the Great Physician, can treat it. A humble approach to God for spiritual healing is the essence of repentance.

5:33 fast: The Pharisees fasted twice a week, on Mondays and Thursdays (18:12), as well as on the Day of Atonement (Lev. 16:29). They also fasted as an act of penitence (Is. 58:1–9) and to recall four times a year the destruction of Jerusalem (Zech. 7:3, 5; 8:19). The goal of fasting was to dedicate oneself to prayer and to focus on God. John led an ascetic life, which his followers also imitated (7:24–28; Matt. 11:1–19).

5:34 bridegroom: Jesus compared His presence to the joyous time of a wedding. In the OT, this image was used for God's relationship to His people or to describe the messianic period (see Is. 54:5, 6; 62:4, 5; Jer. 2:2; Ezek. 16; Hos. 2:14–23). Jesus explained that while He was on earth, the time was not right for fasts.

5:35 The image of the removal of the bridegroom is the first hint in Jesus' ministry of His approaching death (see 2:35 for the first allusion). The church will (and did) fast (see Acts 13:1, 2; 14:23). Though such fasting returned, it was not required or regulated to the same degree as in Judaism.

5:36 the new makes a tear: Jesus pointed out that one cannot mix old things (Judaism) with new things (the new way He brings). The attempt to mix the two is compared to repairing clothes. The original cloth has already shrunk and when the new cloth shrinks a rip occurs. In addition, the two pieces do not match. Jesus' teaching here indicates the discontinuity between the old way and the new.

5:37 Putting new wine (Jesus' new way) into old wineskins (Judaism) would not work because as the new wine fermented, it would stretch the old skin and break it, ruining the wineskin and wasting the wine.

5:39 Jesus pointed out that someone who likes old wine will not even try new wine, since such a person is satisfied with the old. This analogy explained why some people in Israel had trouble turning to Jesus.

6:1 plucked . . . ate . . . rubbing: According to Jewish tradition, the disciples were reaping, threshing, and preparing food, and so were violating the commandment not to work on the Sabbath. It is clear that at this point the Pharisees were watching Jesus carefully (v. 7).

6:2 what is not lawful: The Pharisees wanted to know why the disciples had violated the traditions surrounding the Law of Moses (see 14:3; Matt. 12:12; 19:3; 22:17; 27:6; Mark 3:4; 12:14).

6:3, 4 In responding to the Pharisees' charges against His disciples, Jesus appealed to 1 Sam. 21:1–7; 22:9, 10. David and his men ate the showbread that only the priests could eat. This was not lawful, but God did not punish David for it. Such bread was taken from the 12 loaves placed on a table in the Holy Place and changed once a week (see Ex. 25:30; 39:36; 40:22, 23; Lev. 24:5–9). Jesus pointed out that if David and his men could violate the Law to satisfy their hunger, His disciples could do the same. Jesus may have been attempting to show that the Law was never intended to be applied so absolutely that it would take precedence over the necessities of daily life (see Mark 2:27).

6:5 Regardless of the laws and customs that the Pharisees cited (v. 2), Jesus has authority over the Sabbath. Jesus' claim of divine authority here is similar to His claim of authority to forgive sins in 5:21, 24.

6:9 Is it lawful: The issue was the correct way of conducting oneself on the Sabbath (v. 2). Jesus chose to do good. The plots of the Pharisees represented doing evil and destroying. That was truly breaking the Sabbath (v. 7). To save here means simply to heal, as Jesus was about to do.

6:11 Rage here is irrational or mindless anger. The parallels in Matt. 12:14; Mark 3:6 make it clear that the Pharisees started to plot against Jesus in earnest after this confrontation.

6:12 in prayer: Here we find an example of Jesus spending time with God before an important event in His life (see 3:21; 22:41–44).

6:13 chose twelve: Jesus selected the main body of disciples, those who would become responsible for leading the early church (see Matt. 10:2–4; Mark 3:16–19; Acts 1:13).

6:14 Bartholomew is probably Nathanael of John 1:45.

6:15 Matthew is Levi of 5:27–32 (see Mark 2:14–17).

6:16 Judas the son of James is probably Thaddaeus (see Matt. 10:3; Mark 3:18). This is not the Lord's half brother.

6:17 A level place probably refers to a plateau on a mountain. The setting and the contents of the sermon that follows suggest that Luke is providing a shorter version of the Sermon on the Mount, omitting those portions that have to do with the Law. Points of similarities between Luke's account here and Matthew's account in Matt. 5–7 are as follows: (1) Both begin with a series of beatitudes. (2) Both contain Jesus' teaching on loving one's enemies. (3) Both end with the parable of the two builders. The theme of the sermon is the disciple's walk. The audience for the sermon consisted of both disciples and the great multitude. Jesus did not restrict His remarks simply to those who believed. Tyre and Sidon: Jesus' fame extended even into Gentile regions. The people were drawn by His teaching and healing ministry.

6:20 Though Jesus was speaking to the entire crowd, the beatitudes of vv. 20–23 were directed to the disciples. Blessed means “happy,” referring to the special joy and favor that comes upon those who experience God's grace. poor . . . kingdom of God: In general, the disciples of Jesus were not wealthy (see 1 Cor. 1:26–29; James 2:5). They were poor men who had come humbly to trust in God. All of the promises of God's rule both now and in the future belong to such disciples.

Jesus and the Poor

“Blessed are you poor, for yours is the kingdom of God.” A consummate communicator, Jesus began His sermon with a sentence that certainly must have riveted His audience. Probably most of them were poor. Their lives were far from easy; their rough, worn hands attested to that fact. The difficulties and hardships of their lives drove them to travel the hot and dusty roads of Judea to listen to this prophet Jesus. Perhaps He would tell them more about the kingdom of God. Most of them had placed their hopes on the coming of this glorious kingdom. They longed for the day when the righteous Messiah, not the cruel Roman governor, would rule their lives.

Jesus began His sermon with an attention-grabbing, irony-filled series of blessings that have intrigued and puzzled Bible scholars and laymen for centuries. Often referred to as the Beatitudes, these statements contrast worldly goods and values with a heavenly estimation of people's affairs. The Beatitudes provide us with a heavenly perspective, evaluating the present in the light of eternity. They remind us that things are not always what they seem, and certainly not what they will one day be.

At face value, it appears that Jesus was making a blanket promise of salvation and blessing to anyone and everyone below the poverty line (6:20). Some have adopted just such an interpretation and have felt a special call to aim their ministries at the downtrodden. In this view, the poor are seen as God's chosen people. Though they suffer in this world, and perhaps because they suffer now, they can expect glorious blessing in the world to come. And the adherents of this view believe that while in this world the people of God should do everything possible to alleviate the suffering of the poor. In this way the kingdom of God is extended.

Many interpret the word poor as referring to the “poverty of spirit” that Jesus talks about in a very similar sermon, the Sermon on the Mount (see Matt. 5:3). In other words, Jesus was offering hope and joy to those who freely recognize their spiritual poverty before God. These individuals are blessed because they come to God with nothing to offer Him except their great need. Thus Christ's offer of the kingdom of God is not a promise to every poor person. Rather it is a statement about the future condition of those who humbly choose to follow Him. When a person rejects worldly values and embraces the godly teachings of Jesus, then that individual begins to experience the reign of Christ in his or her life. This is how we enjoy the kingdom of God now in this fallen world. One day we will experience the joys of this kingdom in a fuller, more glorious way.

To summarize, anyone, rich or poor (and in a spiritual sense we are all poor), can taste the deep joy of God's rule and the blessing of His kingdom. But doing so requires that we renounce the ways of the world and humbly submit our ways to God (Is. 66:2). This kind of poverty, an emptying of ourselves of our self-centered desires, is what God expects from everyone.

- 6:21 The reason for the hunger and poverty is found in v. 22: persecution. Jesus promised that God would provide the disciples with all the sustenance they needed. weep . . . laugh: Any present suffering will be turned into joy.
- 6:22 hate . . . exclude . . . revile you: Here is the cause of the disciples' precarious condition: persecution for the Son of Man's sake. Identification with Jesus usually leads to rejection and hardship, but the disciple who has left all to follow Jesus understands what placing Jesus first means. He or she also recognizes that God is aware of all suffering.
- 6:24 The woes of vv. 24–26 contrast with the beatitudes of vv. 20–23. A woe is a cry of pain that results from misfortune. Just as God presented blessings for obedience and curses for disobedience in Deut. 28, Jesus presented blessings and woes to His disciples who were anticipating the kingdom. The same blessings and woes apply to believers today when their works are evaluated (see 1 Cor. 3:12–15; 2 Cor. 5:10; 1 John 2:28; Rev. 22:12). you who are rich . . . have received your consolation: The background for this remark is found in Mary's song of praise in 1:51–53. All that the rich receive is what they acquire on earth (see also Matt. 6:19–21). Luke records many of Jesus' critical remarks about the wealthy. Their wealth typically blinds them to their spiritual poverty and their need for salvation (1:53; 12:16–21; 14:12; 16:1–14, 19–26; 18:18–25; 19:1–10; 21:1–4).
- 6:27, 28 The threat of religious persecution was very real when Jesus presented His command for extraordinary love. The reference to a cursing enemy suggests a context of religious persecution.
- 6:29 offer the other: This is a description of being repeatedly vulnerable in the face of injustice. The one who seeks to love will always remain exposed and at risk. A tunic was an undergarment; a cloak was an outer garment.
- 6:30 do not ask them back: Jesus' instruction here is to forgive and forget. The commands of vv. 29, 30 are expressed in such absolute terms that they force the listener to reflect on them by contrasting them with the normal responses people would have to such injustices.
- 6:31 as you want men to do to you: This is the "golden rule." Note that Jesus' command is stated in the positive (contrast Lev. 19:18). Such love as Jesus describes recognizes the preferences of others and is sensitive to them.
- 6:35 The practice of loving one's enemies is modeled by God Himself, who is kind to the unthankful and evil. Jesus also notes that the reward will be great for the losses suffered while practicing this type of love. This reward will be a hundredfold—that is, ten thousand percent (Matt. 19:28, 29).
- 6:37 Judge not . . . Condemn not . . . Forgive: The idea here is not that one should ignore sin or refuse to discuss its consequences (see 11:39–52; Gal. 6:1, 2); rather, one should be gracious and quick to forgive.
- 6:38 good measure: This illustration comes from the marketplace where grain was poured out, shaken down, and then filled to overflowing so the buyer received the full amount purchased. Such is the full measure that will be returned to one who has been generous.
- 6:39 The blind here refers to teachers who cannot see where they are going and are unable to lead others. Jesus was warning against self-righteousness and arrogance. It is debated whether Jesus was describing the Pharisees here or simply warning His disciples about dangerous attitudes. The focus on the disciples' attitudes suggests the latter, though the remark would also have applied to the teachers with whom Jesus was in conflict.

6:41 A speck represents a small fault in another person in contrast to a plank, which represents a large fault in the one making the criticism.

6:43–45 known by its own fruit: Actions, not words, indicate where one's heart is.

6:46 Lord, Lord: Jesus pointed out that those who called Him by this title of respect acknowledged submission to Him. However, when these same people ignored His teaching, they were guilty of hypocrisy.

6:47–49 hears . . . and does: One who listens to and acts on Jesus' teaching can face any difficult circumstance. heard and did nothing: Not acting on Jesus' teaching will cause a person to be overwhelmed by circumstances, eventually resulting in total loss (see 1 Cor. 3:12–15; 2 John 8).

7:1 Capernaum was on the northwest shore of the Sea of Galilee. It was an important town in northern Galilee with an economy centered on fishing and agriculture. Heavily Jewish, it was the center for Jesus' Galilean ministry (4:31–44).

7:5 built us a synagogue: The Roman government regarded synagogues as valuable because their moral emphasis helped maintain order.

7:8 The centurion compared his authority as a commander of soldiers to Jesus' authority over life and health. The centurion knew that Jesus' word alone was sufficient to heal his servant.

7:9 not even in Israel: The centurion's example of faith came from outside the nation of Israel. This is one of only two cases where Jesus was said to "marvel" (see Mark 6:6).

7:12 a dead man was being carried out: This was a funeral procession. The cemetery was located outside the city gates. Funerals were normally held the day of death because keeping a body overnight rendered a house unclean. Before the funeral the body was anointed. In a town the size of Nain (v. 11) many would have stopped to share in the mourning.

7:14, 15 The fact that Jesus touched the coffin indicated that He preferred helping the dead man to remaining ceremonially clean (see Num. 19:11, 16).

7:16 The crowd recognized the parallel between Jesus' raising of the widow's son and the work of the great prophets Elijah (see 1 Kin. 17:17–24) and Elisha (see 2 Kin. 4:8–37).

7:19 Are You the Coming One: John's uncertainty may have been due to the fact that Jesus did not show signs of being the political and conquering messiah that most Jews were anticipating in that period.

7:24–26 The questions that Jesus asked were designed to emphasize that John the Baptist played a special role in God's plan. The crowds did not go out to the wilderness to see scenery or a man dressed in special clothes, but to see a prophet.

7:27 My messenger: The citation here is from Mal. 3:1 (see also Matt. 11:10; Mark 1:2). John the Baptist was the promised Elijah figure who would point the way to the arrival of God's salvation (1:16, 17; 3:4–6).

7:28 he who is least in the kingdom of God: Jesus emphasizes the contrast between the old and new eras. John was the greatest prophet ever born. But the lowest person in the new era of God's kingdom is higher than the greatest prophet of the old era.

7:29, 30 Luke, in an aside, contrasts the responses to John's message. The tax collectors justified God, which means that they responded to John's message by submitting to John's baptism. The Pharisees, however, rejected the will of God, which means that they refused to listen to John and were not baptized (see Matt. 3:7–12).

7:31–34 Jesus made a comparison between children playing a game in the marketplace and the present generation of Israel, referring especially to the Jewish religious leaders. The leaders were like the children in that they complained no matter what tune was played. John the Baptist refused to eat bread or drink wine, and the religious leaders dismissed him as demon-possessed. In contrast, Jesus, the Son of Man, was accused of living loosely and associating with sinners. No matter what the style of God's messenger was, the religious leaders complained and rejected him.

7:35 God's wisdom is vindicated by those who respond to it and receive blessing.

7:36 one of the Pharisees asked Him to eat with him: This event is not the same as the one in Matt. 26:6–13; Mark 14:3–9; John 12:1–8. The event described in those passages occurred in the house of a leper, a place where no Pharisee would ever have gone. sat down to eat: A meal with a religious figure in the ancient world was arranged so that the invited guest was at the main table while others were along the outside wall of the room listening to the conversation.

7:37, 38 The woman's sin is not specified. This woman is not Mary Magdalene of 8:2, since in that passage she is introduced as a new figure. The woman's anointing of Jesus was in response to Jesus' message of compassion for sinners (vv. 41–43, 50). An alabaster flask was made of soft stone to preserve the quality of the precious and expensive perfume. There is humility and devotion in the woman's act of service, as well as a great deal of courage, as she performed the deed in front of a crowd that knew her as a sinner. Although the woman does not say a word in the entire account, her actions speak volumes about her contrite heart.

The Underclass

Nearly every society and every city in biblical times had a large underclass. Tending to congregate in the cities, the underclass included the poor, the sick, the disabled, the lepers, the blind, the insane, the demon-possessed, widows, orphans, and refugees. Lacking resources to provide for even their basic needs, many turned to begging, stealing, menial labor, slavery, or prostitution. Few cultures made provision for these desperate, destitute wanderers, and so they remained largely powerless to change their condition. Yet it was to the underclass that Jesus intentionally directed much of His life and ministry.

Jesus healing the blind man (Luke 9)

- 7:39 if He were a prophet: The Pharisee doubted Jesus' credentials because He associated so openly with sinners. Jesus' association with sinners is a prominent theme in Luke (v. 34; 5:8, 30, 32; 13:2; 15:1, 2, 7, 10; 18:13; 19:7; 24:7). A Pharisee would reject such associations.
- 7:40 I have something to say: Jesus' reply indicates that He knew the reputation of the woman, but was more interested in what the woman could become through the grace of God.
- 7:41 Jesus often compared sin to a monetary debt. A denarius was a day's wage for a basic laborer, so five hundred denarii was approximately the wages of one and a half years.
- 7:42 which of them will love him more: Jesus' point is that the amount of love showered on the Savior will be in direct proportion with one's sense of the gravity of the sins that the Savior has forgiven. The woman knew she had been forgiven much, and as a result she would love much.
- 7:44–46 Jesus contrasted the actions of the woman with the actions of the Pharisee Simon, implying that the woman knew more about forgiveness than Simon (v. 47).
- 7:47 her sins . . . are forgiven: Jesus confirmed that the love of the woman, which was visible in her actions toward Jesus, had come from being forgiven.
- 7:49 Who is this: The grumbling over Jesus' declaration concerning forgiveness indicates that at least some people in the audience rejected His authority.
- 7:50 Faith is the human channel for receiving God's gifts (see Eph. 2:8, 9).
- 8:1–3 The fact that Mary called Magdalene is introduced here as though for the first time makes it unlikely that she was the sinful woman of 7:36–50. Mary Magdalene is also distinct from Mary of Bethany in John 12:3. Joanna the wife of Chuza, Herod's steward: News of Jesus had reached Herod's palace. provided for Him from their substance: This is an example of how some women of means used their wealth to benefit the work of God.
- 8:4–8 In the ancient world, fields were sown sometimes before and sometimes after planting. Paths often cut through fields. Sometimes seed would take root on these paths, where it could not mature. In addition, some soil was rocky and also could not support a successful crop.
- 8:10 Jesus' parables both concealed and revealed truths. His parables contained fresh teaching —mysteries—concerning the kingdom of God. The disciples were privileged to learn the truths of the parables. For other listeners, the parables served as judgments that concealed truth, as the reference to Is. 6:9 indicates. On occasion, a parable was understood by an outsider but was not accepted, thus still functioning as a message of judgment (20:9–19).
- 8:11 word of God: The parallel in Matt. 13:19 speaks of the seed as the "word of the kingdom," a point that Luke makes in v. 10. The soils do not represent individual moments of decision as much as a lifelong response to God's Word.
- 8:12 Because those by the wayside never really gain an understanding (see Matt. 13:19) of the word of God before Satan snatches it away, there is really no productivity at all.
- 8:13 believe for a while . . . fall away: Brief and superficial encounters with the word of God will not stand times of testing. A person needs to meditate on the truths in Scripture and establish them as principles for living in order to withstand the trials and temptations that will inevitably come.
- 8:14 According to this parable, cares, riches, and pleasures of life are three great obstacles to spiritual fruitfulness. The concerns of life can squelch spiritual growth. This type of "soil" is viewed as tragically unsuccessful (see 2 Tim. 2:4; 4:10).

8:15 keep it and bear fruit: This is the one praiseworthy group in the parable. The key here is a noble and good heart. This “soil” allows the word of God to settle in and become productive (see John 15:2, 3; Col. 3:16, 17; James 1:21).

8:16 sets it on a lampstand: Continuing with the theme of the word of God introduced in vv. 4–15, Jesus compares His teaching to light. It should not be hidden, but displayed, so that people can benefit from the illumination it gives.

8:17 come to light: Eventually everything will be revealed by the light of the word of God (see Heb. 4:12, 13).

8:18 take heed how you hear: Jesus explicitly warned His audience to listen to and follow the word of God (see James 1:22–25). what he seems to have will be taken: This phrase introduces the principle of judgment. The one who responds to the word of God receives more. The one who does not respond to the word of God loses what he thought he had.

8:19, 20 Jesus’ family was concerned about the direction of His ministry (see Mark 3:31–35). Though some have suggested that the brothers here were sons of Joseph by a previous marriage or cousins of Jesus, most likely they were the sons of Joseph and Mary. Joseph’s absence here may mean that he had died by this time.

8:21 My mother and My brothers: In a clear contrast to v. 19, Jesus declared that His true family consists of those who hear and do the word of God.

8:23 windstorm: The calming of the wind is the first of four miracles in vv. 22–56 that demonstrate Jesus’ authority over a variety of phenomena—nature, demons, disease, and death. This first miracle took place on the Sea of Galilee. Cool air rushing down the ravines and hills of the area collides with warm air, causing sudden and strong storms. Even the experienced fishermen in the boat feared this kind of storm.

8:24 they ceased: At Jesus’ word, all the chaos of the storm stopped. Such control over nature is attributed to God in the OT (see Ps. 104:3; 135:7; Nah. 1:4).

8:25 Where is your faith: Jesus’ question was a rebuke of His disciples. Because God was aware of their situation, they could trust in His protection, for He was powerful enough to control the mighty winds and waves. Who can this be: This is the real question of Jesus’ entire Galilean ministry, the beginning of which is recorded in 4:14. All of the displays of Jesus’ authority during this ministry were designed to raise this question of His identity. they obey Him: The closest precedent to Jesus’ power over nature was the miracles of the prophet Elijah (see 1 Kin. 17:1; 18:38, 44, 45). The disciples already sensed that Jesus was more than a prophet.

8:26 The city of the Gadarenes (see Matt. 8:28) was probably a town about five miles southeast of the Sea of Galilee. Whatever its exact location, it was situated in a predominantly Gentile region.

The Province of Galilee

The territories of Naphtali, Zebulun, and Issachar constituted the region of Galilee that bordered Lake Chinnereth in OT times. Lake Chinnereth was later called Lake of Gennesaret (5:1), the Sea of Tiberias (John 6:1), or the Sea of Galilee (Matt. 4:18). Although it may sound large, the Sea of Galilee is actually a small lake, about 6 miles wide and 15 miles long. Under Rome’s rule, the provinces of Galilee, Judah, and Samaria were part of Herod’s kingdom. Herod the Great supposedly rid Galilee of robbers and repopulated the north with Jews. Once known as “Galilee of the Gentiles” (Is. 9:1), it became a vigorously Jewish region. Jesus conducted most of His ministry in the province of Galilee.

- 8:28 The demon's confession of Jesus as Son of the Most High God recalls the angel's announcement to Mary in 1:31, 32 and the demonic confessions of 4:34, 41.
- 8:30 Legion: This name reflects the fact that the man was possessed by multiple demons. A legion was a Roman military unit of about six thousand soldiers; thus the name suggests a spiritual battle.
- 8:31 The abyss is an allusion to the underworld and the destruction of judgment (see Rom 10:7).
- 8:32 Swine were unclean animals for Jews (see Lev. 11:7; Deut. 14:8). Even though this incident took place in a Gentile area, it is still interesting to note that the unclean spirits sought out unclean animals.
- 8:35 sitting at the feet of Jesus, clothed and in his right mind: This is a contrast to the same man who was roaming the tombs previously (vv. 27, 29). The man's position at Jesus' feet paints a picture of true discipleship (10:38–42).
- 8:37 There is some speculation that the reason the people asked Jesus to depart was to prevent further economic damage to their herds. According to Luke, the people were afraid of the authoritative presence of Jesus.
- 8:38, 39 The man who was formerly demon-possessed wanted to go with Jesus and His disciples, but Jesus commissioned the man to be a witness in his own community. Jesus had done: Though Jesus wanted the Father to receive the credit for the man's healing, the man could not separate what God did from the role Jesus had played.
- 8:41 ruler: Jairus was the main elder of the synagogue. As such, he conducted the service and kept order.
- 8:44 her flow of blood stopped: This condition not only would have been embarrassing, it would have made the woman unclean (see Lev. 15:25–31). It took great courage for her to seek out Jesus. Note that her action was not criticized, but commended (v. 48).
- 8:49 Your daughter is dead: The delay caused by the woman with the blood disorder appeared to have been fatal for Jairus's daughter.
- 8:50 only believe: This miracle highlights not only the authority of Jesus, but also the response of faith that God honors.
- 8:51 He permitted no one to go in except Peter, James, and John: The reason Jesus singled out these three disciples is not given. Luke records a similar action in 9:28. Matthew and Mark record a similar singling out at Gethsemane (see Matt. 26:37; Mark 14:33).
- 8:52 Sleeping, a common metaphor for death, indicates in this passage that the girl's death was not permanent.
- 8:53 they ridiculed Him: The term used here suggests that the derision included laughter.
- 8:56 The reason for Jesus' command for silence in this verse is not entirely clear, given that anyone could have deduced what had happened. The situation seems odd in light of Jesus' instruction to the demon-possessed man to proclaim what had occurred to him in 8:39, 45–47 and the public raising of the dead in 7:11–17. Jesus may have wanted to curtail such healings so that they would not become the center of His ministry.
- 9:2 to preach . . . to heal: The entire nation of Israel needed to see the evidence of the kingdom of God and make a decision concerning the King. Jesus commissioned His disciples to spread the word about God's kingdom through preaching and healing.

9:7–9 At Herod's palace, opinions varied as to whether Jesus was John the Baptist, Elijah (see Mal. 3:1), or one of the prophets. Though this passage suggests that Herod was uncertain about Jesus' identity, Matt. 14:2 and Mark 6:16 indicate that Herod viewed Jesus as John the Baptist raised from the dead.

9:11 spoke . . . healed: Jesus had the same two-pronged ministry that the twelve disciples had: preaching and healing (v. 2). The topic of Jesus' preaching was always the kingdom of God.

9:13–17 This is the only miracle of Jesus' ministry that appears in all four Gospels (see Matt. 14:13–21; Mark 6:30–44; John 6:5–14). The feeding of the five thousand demonstrated Jesus' ability to provide. blessed and broke: Some see an allusion here to the Lord's Table. Though this is not made clear in Luke's presentation, the description is similar to the table fellowship of the Last Supper (22:19) and Jesus' meal with some of the disciples after His resurrection (24:30).

9:20 The Christ of God: The emphasis here is on the messianic role of Jesus. He is the Promised One who was ushering in a new era. However, Jesus would soon reveal to the disciples that His messiahship would have elements of suffering that the disciples did not expect (see vv. 22, 23).

9:21 tell this to no one: Jesus knew that the messianic role that the people and the disciples expected was much different from His actual role as the Messiah. The element of suffering that the Messiah would endure was not a part of popular expectation. Thus Jesus' messiahship could not be openly proclaimed before the true nature of the Messiah was revealed.

9:22 must suffer . . . be rejected . . . be killed . . . be raised: This is the first of several predictions in Luke of Jesus' suffering and vindication (v. 44; 12:50; 13:31–33; 17:25; 18:31–33). The disciples struggled to understand what Jesus was saying (v. 45; 18:34). They could not comprehend how Jesus' predictions fit into God's plan. Only after Jesus' resurrection and His explanation of the Scriptures to them did they begin to understand (24:25–27, 44–49).

9:23 take up his cross daily: Although Jesus offered salvation as a free gift (John 1:12; 3:16–18; see Eph. 2:8, 9), He also warned that following Him would entail suffering and hardship (Matt. 5:10–12; see also Rom. 8:17; 2 Thess. 1:5).

9:24, 25 It makes no sense to attempt to save our lives on earth only to lose everything when our lives quickly and inevitably pass away. The wise course is to invest our earthly resources—our time, talents, and wealth—in what is eternal. Even if we lose our lives for Jesus' sake, that investment will produce returns for all eternity (see 19:11–27; Matt. 6:19–21; 19:27–30).

9:26 Recognition of Jesus will be rewarded in the coming judgment. Failure to recognize Him will lead to significant loss (see 1 Cor. 3:12–15; 2 Cor. 5:10; 2 Tim. 2:12; 1 John 2:28; 2 John 7, 8; Rev. 3:11; 22:12).

9:27 till they see the kingdom of God: Since these disciples died before Jesus' return, the reference here is no doubt to the Transfiguration (vv. 28–36). With this there is probably also a prediction of the descent of the Spirit at Pentecost (10:9; 11:20; 17:21).

9:29 At the Transfiguration Jesus was altered into a radiant figure, even down to His white and glistening clothes. The description here is similar to the description of the glory of Moses after seeing God (Ex. 34:29–35).

9:31 Decease is literally exodus. This important allusion to the central OT event of salvation is unique to Luke's account of the Transfiguration. The comparison is made between Jesus' death and the journey to salvation that the nation of Israel experienced under Moses. Jesus' journey would take Him to the side of God, from which He will return to exercise authority (see Acts 2:30–36; 10:42; 17:31).

decease

(Gk. exodos) (9:31; 2 Pet. 1:15) Strong's #1841

The Greek word means “departure”—literally “exodus,” meaning “the way out.” Exodus is a beautiful euphemism for death. Elijah and Moses, having already made their exodus from earth to heaven were anticipating Jesus’ exodus via His death and resurrection. Peter used this term in speaking of his own departure (2 Pet. 1:15), and the very mention of “exodus” seems to have brought to Peter’s mind the Transfiguration described in this passage (see 2 Pet. 1:15–18). Jesus had an exodus to accomplish. He was about to make a great transition—from His existence in the flesh on earth to an existence in heaven.

9:33 let us make three tabernacles: Peter desired structures for the two OT visitors and Jesus, perhaps as a means of prolonging their visit. not knowing what he said: Peter did not see that Jesus was very different from Moses and Elijah; He was inaugurating a new era (see 5:36–39).

9:34 The cloud is an allusion to the presence of God (see Ex. 40:35).

9:35 This is My beloved Son: This is the second heavenly endorsement of Jesus (see also 3:22). The reference to the beloved Son recalls the words of Ps. 2:7; Is. 42:1. The command to hear Him alludes to Deut. 18:15–18 and identifies Jesus as the Prophet promised in that passage. Jesus, as the new Prophet, would lead a new group of people into salvation (see Matt. 21:43; Rom. 11:1–36; 1 Pet. 2:9, 10), just as Moses led the nation of Israel. As a Revealer of God’s will, Jesus had much to teach the disciples about God’s plan. The disciples needed to listen because they had much to learn.

9:36 told no one: In this passage, we are not told why the disciples remained silent about the Transfiguration. Matthew 17:8, 9; Mark 9:9, 10 note that Jesus commanded such silence and Mark makes it clear that the disciples did not yet understand the event. See 2 Pet. 1:16–21 for Peter’s reflection on this experience.

9:41 O faithless and perverse generation: This rebuke suggests that the disciples lacked the faith to cast out the spirit described in vv. 38–40. There is also a hint of a competitive spirit among the disciples (v. 46).

9:44 Note that Jesus predicted that He, the Son of Man, would be betrayed, even when many were still marveling at His ministry (v. 43).

9:45 they were afraid to ask: The indication here is that the disciples still had much to learn. Their fear shows that they understood something about what Jesus said, but they did not understand how and why Jesus could say such things about Himself, since He was the Messiah. The suffering of the Messiah was something the disciples did not yet understand. They would continue to be confused in their understanding of how such suffering fit into God’s plan until Jesus’ death and resurrection (24:25, 26, 43–49).

9:46 which of them would be greatest: Note the irony here. After Jesus predicted His suffering (v. 44), the disciples jockeyed for exalted positions in the kingdom (see 22:24; Mark 10:35–45).

9:48 he who is least . . . will be great: Jesus’ point was that prominence is not measured by human standards of achievement, but by one's relationship to God. Anyone related to God is great, even "the least" of His disciples.

9:51 set His face to go to Jerusalem: This is the first indication that Jesus' attention was turning toward His final suffering in Jerusalem (v. 53; 13:22, 33–35; 17:11; 18:31; 19:11, 28, 41). The journey to Jerusalem was not direct, however. In 10:38–42, we find Jesus at Martha and Mary's house in Bethany. In 17:11, we find Him in Samaria and Galilee. The journey to Jerusalem proceeded only according to God's design and in His timing. Jesus was nearing the destiny of His mission—that is, His death. Luke's Gospel uniquely emphasizes this journey to Jerusalem. Luke records much of Jesus' teaching and parables on this journey as Jesus contrasted His way of suffering with the way of the Jewish religious leaders.

9:52 Samaritans were the descendants of Jews who had married Gentiles after the fall of the northern kingdom, Israel. The Samaritans eventually developed their own religious rites which they practiced on Mt. Gerizim instead of at the temple in Jerusalem. Though there was deep hostility between Jews and Samaritans, Jesus ministered to both groups.

9:54 command fire to come down: James and John, the "sons of thunder," wanted Jesus to bring judgment upon the Samaritan villages that refused to respond to His message, just as Elijah had done in 2 Kin. 1:9–16. Their demand for judgment was antithetical to Jesus' loving response (v. 56).

9:57, 58 I will follow you: This man volunteered to follow Jesus without reservation. His problem was that he had not realistically counted the cost of discipleship. His enthusiasm, based on his feelings of the moment, would not be strong enough to sustain him during the trials that lay ahead. Jesus warned the would-be disciple that He, the Son of Man, did not have even the ordinary comforts of home.

9:59 let me first go and bury my father: This aspiring disciple placed family responsibilities ahead of following Jesus. The concerns of home were this man's stumbling block. Unlike the previous volunteer (v. 57), this man was slow, meditative, and contemplative. He was counting the cost of discipleship. Cultic purity was viewed as very important in Jewish circles, so a quick burial of the dead was required (7:11–17).

9:60 Jesus emphasized that a disciple must have clear priorities. The call of God should receive priority over everything else.

9:62 Jesus' remark about being fit for the kingdom of God demonstrates the seriousness of commitment to Him. Putting a hand to the plow means engaging in a task. Here the task is serving the kingdom. Looking back makes it difficult to plow straight furrows.

10:1 The account of Jesus calling seventy disciples is unique to the Gospel of Luke. The instructions that Jesus gave to these disciples are similar to the instructions He gave to the Twelve in 9:1–6.

10:2 The picture of a plentiful harvest suggests that a positive response awaited the laborers, even in the face of much rejection.

10:3 The image of lambs among wolves was popular in Judaism. It derived from Is. 40:11.

10:9 kingdom . . . near to you: Like v. 11, 11:20, and 17:21, this text shows how aspects of kingdom authority accompanied Jesus' earthly ministry. The healing Jesus brought pictured what the kingdom offered (11:20). Jesus' ministry was the arrival of the initial stages of God's rule, which Jesus will consummate at His return (17:20–37). God's kingdom comes in stages. When Jesus came the first time, He was rejected. In His second coming, He will establish His complete rule over all.

10:13 The mighty works of Jesus were so great that if they had been performed before the worst pagans of the old era, those people would have repented. Jesus' remark was meant to wake the people up to what their rejection of Him signified.

10:16 He who hears you hears Me: Hearing the messenger is the same as hearing the One who sent him. Authority resides not in the messenger, but in the person the messenger represents, the source of the message.

10:18 This verse provides a commentary on what the disciples' healing ministry meant. The reversal of the effects of sin and death, which Satan introduced through his deception in Gen. 3, are portrayed graphically as Satan falling from heaven. Jesus' ministry and what grows out of it represents the defeat of Satan, sin, and death.

10:19, 20 This verse records the transmission of Jesus' authority to His immediate circle of disciples. It should be noted that similar authority was not given beyond that circle of disciples. Note the authority that is given to the Eleven in Matt. 28:16–20; Acts 1:8. As Jesus makes clear in v. 20, authority was not the most important thing the disciples received. your names are written in heaven: More important than the disciples' authority over spirits was their position as God's children. Their names were known to God and were written in God's book. This was the disciples' greatest blessing.

10:22 All things have been delivered to Me: This is Jesus' declaration of total authority as the Son of God (see John 10:18; 17:2). He makes a similar statement in Matt. 28:18. except the Father . . . except the Son: Jesus declares His unique relationship with God the Father. The Lord reveals Himself only through Jesus. To know God, one must know His Son, Jesus.

10:24 have not seen . . . heard it: Jesus contrasted the OT era of expectation, in which people desired to see the Messiah but did not, with the era in which the disciples were living. If they had the spiritual insight they could witness the fulfillment in Jesus of many of God's promises.

10:25, 26 The question posed by the lawyer is really a challenge, since the verse speaks of the testing of Jesus. This is a similar, though probably distinct, event from Matt. 22:34–40; Mark 12:28–34. To inherit something is to receive it. In other words, the man was asking, "What must I do to share in the reward at the resurrection of the righteous at the end?" (see Phil. 3:11–14). The OT basis of this question is the hope of resurrection in Dan. 12:2. Jesus countered the lawyer's test by having him answer his own question.

10:27 you shall love the LORD . . . and your neighbor: The lawyer responded to Jesus' questions by quoting Deut. 6:5, a text that was recited twice a day by every faithful Jew. This text summarized the central ethical standard of the Law. The lawyer also alluded to Lev. 19:18. The basis of the man's response is an expression of allegiance and devotion that also can be seen as the natural expression of faith, since the total person, heart, soul, strength, and mind, is involved. The theme of love for God is picked up in vv. 38–42 with its emphasis on devotion to Jesus, and in 11:1–13, where the disciples are taught to be devoted to God in prayer. In vv. 30–37 Jesus develops the theme of love for one's neighbor.

10:28 do this and you will live: Jesus was not saying that righteousness is the result of works. Rather He was saying that love for and obedience to God will be a natural result of placing one's faith in the Lord. Those who believe in Jesus and follow Him will receive eternal rewards. Jesus states this principle to Peter in Matt. 19:27–30.

10:29 Luke makes it clear that the lawyer was trying to place himself in the position of satisfying the highest demands of the Law. who is my neighbor: This question was an attempt to limit the demands of the Law by suggesting that some people are neighbors while others are not. The lawyer was looking for minimal obedience while Jesus was looking for absolute obedience.

10:30 Jerusalem to Jericho: This was a 17 mile journey on a road known to harbor many robbers. They would hide in caves along the way and attack their victims.

10:33 Part of the beauty of the story of the Good Samaritan is the reversal of stereotypes. The priest and Levite traditionally would have been the "good guys." The Samaritan would have been a "bad guy," a person who compromised in religious matters. However, the Samaritan knew how to treat his neighbor. The neighbor here was not someone the Samaritan knew or even someone of the same race, just someone in need.

10:34 Oil was used to soothe wounds. Wine was used as a disinfectant.

10:35 two denarii . . . I will repay: The Samaritan, if he paid a typical rate of one-twelfth of a denarius a day, paid for 24 days at the inn.

10:36 which . . . was neighbor: The central issue is not determining who one's neighbor is, but being a good neighbor to all.

10:37 He who showed mercy: The lawyer apparently could not bring himself to say “Samaritan” and lend credence to the surprising reversal of stereotypes in the story.

The Unnoticed Whom Luke Notices

In Jesus' day, the Samaritans were despised by orthodox Jews because most of the Jews from that region had intermarried with foreigners. The irony of the parable of the Good Samaritan is that a scorned Samaritan knows how to show love to his neighbor, whereas a priest and Levite, who had intimate knowledge of God's law, do not. The Book of Luke highlights Jesus' love for a variety of groups who were not esteemed in His day.

- 10:38 a certain village: If this is the Martha and Mary of John 11:1-12:8, then the location is Bethany, just outside Jerusalem (see John 11:1, 19; 12:1). This text suggests that the “Jerusalem journey” of 9:51-19:44 was not a direct trip to Jerusalem, but a journey of drawing near to the time for Jesus’ death.
- 10:40 Martha was distracted by the amount of serving she had to do. Her complaint to Jesus indicates that she was irritated that her sister was not helping her.
- 10:41 Jesus’ tender reply is evident in the double address of Martha, Martha (6:46; 8:24; 13:34; 22:31). He notes that Martha was anxiety-ridden over ordinary matters.
- 10:42 that good part: Mary was a silent example. She said nothing, but did what was right by devoting herself to Jesus’ teaching.
- 11:1 The Lord’s Prayer illustrates the variety of requests that one can and should make to God, as well as displaying the humble attitude that should accompany prayer. The use of the plural pronoun us throughout the prayer shows that it is not just the prayer of one person for his or her own personal needs, but a community prayer.
- 11:2 Father: God is approached confidently as a caring figure. Hallowed: In the context of intimacy with God, there also is respect and recognition of His uniqueness. Hallowed means that God is holy, set apart, unique in His character and attributes. Your kingdom come: The reference here is to God’s program and promise. This is more affirmation than request, highlighting the petitioner’s submission to God’s will and the desire to see God’s work come to pass.
- 11:3 our daily bread: This request recognizes that one is dependent on God for daily needs.
- 11:4 forgive us our sins: This request recognizes that sin is a debt to God that needs to be acknowledged on the basis of His mercy. we also forgive: The petitioner recognizes that if mercy is to be sought from God, then mercy must be shown to others. We need to adopt the same standard that we expect others to follow. do not lead us into temptation: This remark is often misunderstood as suggesting that perhaps God can lead us into sin. The point is that if one is to avoid sin, one must follow where God leads. In short, the petitioner asks God for the spiritual protection necessary to avoid falling into sin.
- 11:8 Persistence here refers to shameless boldness more than to tenacity. Jesus’ point is that in prayer the disciple is to be bold. The example in the parable (vv. 5–7) is a man who goes boldly to his neighbor to seek what he requires. Likewise, the disciple is to go boldly to God for that which is needed.
- 11:10 receives: This verse does not mean that we receive whatever we want in prayer. As v. 13 demonstrates, with its reference to receiving God’s Spirit, the suggestion is that we receive what is spiritually beneficial.
- 11:13 how much more will your heavenly Father give: If people, who are evil, can give good gifts, imagine the value of God’s gift of the Holy Spirit. If anyone does not have the Holy Spirit, that person does not belong to Christ (see Rom. 8:9). In the triune Godhead, the Holy Spirit is the divine distributor (see 1 Cor. 12:11) of the good things purchased by the Son (see Eph. 4:7, 8) and ordained by the Father.

- 11:15 Jesus' miracles were so obvious that they required some kind of explanation. If He was not to be believed, His miracles had to be demonic in origin. This was the ultimate blasphemy—attributing the credentials of heaven to hell. The Latin name Beelzebub was originally a reference to the Philistine god Baal-Zebub worshiped at the city of Ekron (see 2 Kin. 1:2, 3, 6, 16). The name means “Lord of the Flies.”
- 11:17, 18 The attribution of Jesus' miracles to Satan was not only blasphemous, it was illogical. If Satan had cast out the demon (v. 14), he would have been destroying the result of his own work.
- 11:19 by whom do your sons cast them out: Jesus' question and the implied reply to it can be taken in one of two ways: (1) How did Jewish exorcists expel demons? If the answer is by God's power, then why not give Jesus the same credit? (2) How did Jesus' disciples, who were the “sons” of Israel, drive out demons? The dissenters not only had to explain Jesus' miracles, but those of His followers. Most scholars prefer the former interpretation.
- 11:20 The finger of God is an allusion to God's power, like that demonstrated in the Exodus (see Ex. 8:19; Deut. 9:10; Ps. 8:3). the kingdom of God has come upon you: Jesus' miracles represented the arrival of God's power and promise—in short, His rule. That rule comes in and through Jesus. The miracles of Jesus demonstrated God's victory over the forces of evil. The kingdom program, depicted as drawing near, will be consummated at the return of Jesus when this rule is manifested over every creature.
- 11:22 Jesus portrays Himself as someone stronger than Satan who overruns Satan's house and gives the spoils of victory to those who are His (see Eph. 4:8, 9 for a similar concept).
- 11:23 He who is not with Me . . . does not gather: Jesus' ministry forces everyone to make a choice. Neutrality is not an option. Either Jesus comes from God or He does not. Not to align with Jesus is to be against Him.
- 11:25 swept: The exorcised person becomes like a clean house, although empty if God is not present, and still exposed to spiritual danger.
- 11:26 the last state . . . is worse: Jesus' point is that experiencing God's blessing and then ignoring it leaves one callous towards the work of God and exposed to the control of demonic forces.
- 11:27, 28 Blessed is the womb: The woman offered praise for Jesus' mother. Though Jesus always honored Mary, He commented carefully on the woman's blessing to keep the focus on the word of God. It is easy to allow traditional practices to take the place of the authority of the Scriptures. Jesus offers His blessing to those who respond concretely to God's will as expressed in the Bible.
- 11:29 The sign of Jonah here refers to his prophetic call to repentance rather than to the resurrection foreshadowed by Jonah's return from the belly of the great fish.
- 11:30–32 Jesus warned that refusal to hear Him would result in condemnation from those in the OT who had responded to God's teaching. The examples Jesus offered included Gentiles such as the queen of the South (the queen of Sheba in 1 Kin. 10:1–10) and the Ninevites (see Jon. 3). Because Jesus is greater than those who proclaimed God's word in those days—Solomon and Jonah, His word should have been heeded by the first-century Israelites.

Lamps

Lamps were very common in Jewish homes. They burned olive oil, pitch, naphtha, or wax, and they had wicks of cotton or flax. (A Jewish tradition says that the priests made wicks for the lamps of the temple from their old linen garments.) The poorer Israelites made their lamps of clay, while the wealthy had lamps of bronze and other metals.

The Israelites let their lamps burn all night, since light made them feel safer. We are told that the family would rather go without food than let their lamps go out, since that indicated that they had deserted their house (Job 18:5, 6). The writer of Proverbs praises the prudent wife, saying, “Her lamp does not go out by night” (Prov. 31:18). Several other Bible passages show that the lamp symbolized the life and dignity of a family (cf. Job 21:17; Jer. 25:10).

11:34 It has been said that “you are what you eat.” But even more accurately, you are what you see. This is why David said, “I will set nothing wicked before my eyes” (Ps. 101:3). A person who concentrates on what is good (God’s teaching) is healthy. But a person who focuses on what is bad (the false teaching of the world) is full of darkness.

11:36 your whole body is full of light: A person can become like light, a living picture of what God’s Word teaches, by concentrating on the light of the truth.

11:38 He had not first washed before dinner: Such ceremonial washing is described in the OT (see Gen. 18:4; Judg. 19:21), but not commanded.

11:39 make the outside . . . clean: These condemnations by Jesus are similar to those in Matt. 23. The Pharisees washed the outside of cups, making sure that the cups had not become unclean through contact with a dead insect (see Lev. 11:31–38). Jesus pointed out that the Pharisees concerned themselves with outward appearances and ritual cleanness, while what was inside, what really counts, was full of selfishness and evil.

11:42 pass by: The Pharisees worried about tithing ten percent, even down to the smallest herbs, which were tithed according to the dictates of tradition, not the Law of Moses (see Num. 18:21–32; Deut. 14:22–29; see also Lev. 27:30 for the practice of tithing herbs). The Law spoke of tithing all produce, but what constituted food was debated. Some Pharisees took the strictest interpretation and counted almost anything, including spices. However, they neglected two basic things that the prophets also had warned about: love and justice (see Mic. 6:8; Zech. 7:8–10).

11:44 The Pharisees were like hidden graves. To have contact with a grave or with the dead was to become ceremonially unclean (see Num. 19:11–19). Anyone or anything in the same room as the dead was considered in Jewish tradition to be impure. This is Jesus' stronger condemnation. The Pharisees, the paragons of purity, were in fact the height of uncleanness.

11:46 Jesus applied His woes to lawyers as well as to the Pharisees. In everyday Greek, the term translated burdens refers to a ship's cargo. The idea is that a heavy strain was being imposed on the people and yet, in the end, this burden did not bring them closer to God. Here Jesus rebuked the tradition that had grown up around the Law of Moses. you yourselves do not touch the burdens: The meaning of this phrase is debated. Was Jesus accusing the scribes of hypocrisy in not practicing what they taught and in making distinctions that freed them from obligations, as they did with oaths (see Matt. 5:33–37)? Or was Jesus simply accusing the scribes of not offering aid and compassion to those who tried to follow their rules? The second interpretation is more likely, since the Pharisees were known for adhering to the Law.

11:47, 48 you build the tombs of the prophets: Jesus made a biting, ironic comparison between the current generation of Israel and the generations of the past. Jesus was saying that the current generation finished the job of slaying of the prophets that the previous generation had started. The building and care of tombs was supposed to be an act of honoring the prophets, but Jesus pointed out that something else was really going on.

11:49 The wisdom of God refers to God's knowledge of the people. The prophets and apostles who would be persecuted and killed were the disciples and the prophets of the early church. This is the basis of Jesus' previous rebuke (vv. 47, 48). Those who would come in the current generation with the message of God would suffer the same fate as the prophets of old.

11:50 Generation seems to refer to the people or nation of Israel. They had received and would receive judgment for the way they treated God's prophets. The judgment here refers specifically to the fall of Jerusalem in A.D. 70, and ultimately to the final judgment of God in the Tribulation.

11:50, 51 Abel is pictured as the first prophet to be killed, going back to the foundation of the world (see Gen. 4:10). Zechariah is probably the man described in 2 Chr. 24:20–25. He would be the last prophet slain in the OT if one considers the Hebrew order of the books of the OT.

11:52 Jesus charged the lawyers with doing the opposite of what they claimed their calling to be. Rather than bringing people nearer to God, they had removed the possibility of their entering into that knowledge, and had prevented others from understanding as well.

11:54 seeking to catch Him: The scribes and Pharisees began challenging Jesus in the hope that He might make a blunder that would allow them to destroy His ministry. They were lying in wait for Him (6:11; 19:47, 48; 20:19, 20; 22:2).

12:1, 2 Leaven here represents the presence of corruption. Unleavened bread is what the Jews ate at Passover (see Ex. 12:14–20). The corruption in view here is hypocrisy. Practicing hypocrisy is senseless because eventually all deeds—both good and evil—will be exposed.

12:3 will be proclaimed on the housetops: All secrets will be revealed by God (see Rom. 2:15, 16; 1 Cor. 4:5). The inner room was a storeroom which was surrounded by other rooms; it was the most private part of a house.

12:4 do not be afraid of those who kill the body: This verse anticipates the presence of severe religious persecution in response to Jesus' remarks in 11:39–54.

12:5 Even in the context of physical persecution, the only One believers should fear is God, who sees how we live and judges us. Jesus was not guaranteeing physical preservation in this life, but was opening the prospect of deliverance in the next life.

12:6 This verse emphasizes that God knows the most minute detail of what happens on earth. The copper coins mentioned were the smallest coin in circulation, worth about one-sixteenth of a basic day's wage.

12:8 The issue here is faithfulness in testimony to Jesus, especially in the context of religious rejection. Acknowledging Jesus before men means being acknowledged by the Son of Man before God.

12:9 denies . . . will be denied: Every act of denial of Christ on earth will meet with commensurate denial of reward at the judgment seat (see 1 John 2:28). This is not speaking of the gift of salvation, but of the prize or reward (see 1 Cor. 9:24–27).

12:10 A word against the Son of Man is forgivable because His deity was veiled, but blasphemy against the Holy Spirit is flagrant rejection of the works and words of Christ.

blasphemy

(Gk. blasphēmia) (12:10; Matt. 12:31; Mark 3:28) Strong's #988

Blasphemy is the act of cursing, slandering, reviling, or showing contempt or lack of reverence for God. In the OT, blaspheming God was a serious crime punishable by death (Lev. 24:15, 16). It was a violation of the third Commandment, which required that the name and reputation of the Lord be upheld (Ex. 20:7). The unbelieving Jews of Jesus' day charged Him with blasphemy because they thought of Him only as a man while He claimed to be God's Son (Matt. 9:3). Actually, the lawlessness of the Jews themselves was causing God's name to be blasphemed among the Gentiles (Rom. 2:24). By their bitter opposition to Jesus and His gospel, they themselves were guilty of blasphemy (Acts 18:6). Jesus condemned as blasphemy their attributing the work of the Holy Spirit to Satan (Matt. 12:31, 32). Christians are commanded to avoid behavior that blasphemes the Lord's name and teaching (1 Tim. 6:1).

12:11 when they bring you to the synagogues: This is another indication that religious persecution is in view in these verses. Magistrates and authorities governed civil proceedings, while synagogues conducted religious tribunals. In such situations, the disciple should not worry about what to say.

The Ministry of the Holy Spirit in Luke's Writings

In both of his books, Luke highlights the activities of the Spirit with his unique phrase "filled with the Holy Spirit." The Book of Acts chronicles the anxious anticipation of the Spirit's coming, the dramatic empowering of the disciples on the Day of Pentecost, and the spread of the church by means of the Spirit's power. But Luke also highlights the Holy Spirit's ministry in his Gospel, where the ministry of the Holy Spirit centers on Jesus. Those connected with Jesus—John the Baptist, Elizabeth, Mary, and Simeon—are filled with the Holy Spirit. Jesus Himself is filled with the Spirit's power. The Old Testament prophets had spoken of One who would be empowered by the Spirit of God. Luke underscores in his Gospel that these prophecies have been fulfilled in Jesus (4:18–22).

Event: The filling of John the Baptist

Quote and Explanation: "He will also be filled with the Holy Spirit, even from his mother's womb." John, as the forerunner to Messiah, was empowered from infancy to "make ready a people prepared for the Lord."

Event: The conception of the Messiah

Reference: Luke 1:35

Quote and Explanation: “The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Highest will overshadow you.” The Spirit of God was the agent of divine conception; He made possible the virgin birth of Christ.

Event: The filling of Elizabeth

Reference: Luke 1:41

Quote and Explanation: “When Elizabeth heard the greeting of Mary . . . [she] was filled with the Holy Spirit.” The Spirit empowered Elizabeth to encourage Mary in her faith.

Event: The filling of Zacharias

Quote and Explanation: “Now his father Zacharias was filled with the Holy Spirit.” The Spirit of God indwelt the parents of John so that they might testify about the coming Messiah.

Event: The filling of Simeon

Reference: Luke 2:25–27

Quote and Explanation: “The Holy Spirit was upon him.” The Spirit of God led the godly Simeon to an end-of-life encounter with the infant Messiah and a proclamation of the presence of the Messiah.

Event: The baptism of Christ

Reference: Luke 3:22

Quote and Explanation: “The Holy Spirit descended in bodily form like a dove upon Him.” The visible descent of the Spirit indicates God’s presence with, blessing on, and approval of Jesus.

Event: The temptation of Christ

Reference: Luke 4:1–13

Quote and Explanation: “Jesus, being filled with the Holy Spirit . . . was led by the Spirit into the wilderness, being tempted for forty days by the devil.” The Spirit led Christ into an arena in which He might demonstrate His faithful obedience to the Father.

Event: The inauguration of Jesus’ ministry

Reference: Luke 4:14–21

Quote and Explanation: “Then Jesus returned in the power of the Spirit to Galilee.” Christ’s ministry, from beginning to end, was marked by the presence and power of God.

Event: Jesus’ teaching on prayer

Reference: Luke 11:1–13

Quote and Explanation: “If you then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to those who ask Him!” This promise by Christ foreshadows the coming of the Spirit at Pentecost.

Event: Jesus’ promise of the Spirit to His disciples

Reference: Luke 12:11, 12

Quote and Explanation: “For the Holy Spirit will teach you in that very hour what you ought to say.” Jesus promised the comforting and enabling presence of God to His disciples when they were in danger.

Event: Jesus’ prophecy of Pentecost

Reference: Acts 1:4–8

Quote and Explanation: “You shall be baptized with the Holy Spirit not many days from now.” Jesus comforted His confused disciples with the assurance that the Spirit of God would come upon them in a powerful and permanent way.

Event: Pentecost

Reference: Acts 2:1–21

Quote and Explanation: “They were all filled with the Holy Spirit.” The advent of the Spirit at Pentecost gave birth to the church and empowered its members to proclaim the Good News.

- 12:13 tell my brother: Jesus is asked to intervene in a family dispute, as an ancient rabbi would be.
- 12:14 who made Me a Judge: Jesus refuses to enter into a dispute over money, which is clearly dividing a family. Such disputes over money destroy relationships, so Jesus tells a parable that explains the danger of focusing on wealth.
- 12:18, 19 Including v. 17, the word I appears six times, showing the selfish focus this man has as a result of his fortune. His plan is to store his abundant resources for himself, as though the assets were his alone and should be hoarded. This focus on the self is what Jesus is condemning.
- 12:20 God’s judgment on selfishness is clear. What did the rich fool have for the next life? He could not take his grain with him. What he owned was no longer of any value after death. In a single day, the rich man became poor. All earthly wealth is temporary and ultimately worthless (Matt. 6:19–21; 1 Tim. 6:6–10, 17–19; James 5:1–6).
- 12:24 Jesus describes God’s care of ravens, unclean creatures according to Jewish law and among the least respected of birds (Lev. 11:15; Deut. 14:14). Yet God even cares for them. How much more value are you, says Jesus, pointing out that God will surely care for the disciple as well.
- 12:25 It is uncertain whether Jesus is saying through His rhetorical question that worry cannot add to one’s physical height or that worry cannot add to one’s life span. In fact, worry can sometimes shorten life. What is clear is that worry is utterly useless and shows a lack of faith in God’s plan for our lives.
- 12:27–29 Even the wealthy King Solomon did not clothe himself as God has clothed the lilies. The illustration of grass indicates that God cares enough to provide beauty for the parts of His creation that have a short life. Why should we worry if God takes such care of even the smallest blade of grass? The Lord knows our problems and will provide us with what we need. do not seek . . . nor have an anxious mind: Since God will provide, there is no need for us to concentrate on mundane things such as food. This should not be our chief concern, but instead our first priority should be doing the will of God (v. 31).
- 12:30 The world pursues expensive food and luxurious clothing as ends in themselves. It has its heart set on things, without thinking of God and thanking Him for such pleasures. The materialistic world is like a group of passengers frantically scurrying to get the best deck chair on a sinking ship. When we are consumed with possessions, there can be little left in our heart for God. your Father knows: We can trust God to provide for us because God knows precisely what we need.
- 12:33 Sell what you have: In contrast to the world’s hoarding of possessions, the disciple must be generous with what God gives. money bags which do not grow old: By serving God and others, you can invest in your eternal future. You cannot take possessions with you in the next life, but you can store up an eternal treasure by giving to others (see Paul’s statement in Phil. 4:17).

- 12:34 What people consider valuable is where their energy will be spent. Knowing God and investing in His purposes should be the treasure we seek.
- 12:35 waist be girded . . . lamps burning: These are two pictures of readiness. A lamp was used at night, while girding the waist involved pulling up the hem of a robe so that one could run. Jesus was calling the disciples to be ready for service.
- 12:36 Jesus compared the disciples to servants who are ready to serve their master immediately. Paul also used this image in describing his relationship to God (see Rom. 1:1).
- 12:37 Blessed: Here the blessing is on those who watch attentively for their master's return. Jesus was speaking of faithful and obedient service. One day Jesus will return to make an accounting of how people served Him (see Rom. 14:10; 2 Cor. 5:10). In a reversal of the servant image, Jesus pointed out that the faithful servant will be served by Jesus on His return. Faithfulness will be rewarded.
- 12:38 This verse speaks of a return at an unusually late hour. The exact time referred to depends on which system of time was used. In the Roman system the second and third watch would be 9 P.M. to 3 A.M. By the Jewish method it would be 10 P.M. to 6 A.M. Luke usually uses the Roman pattern (see Acts 12:4); but since Jesus is speaking, the Jewish system is also possible. The point is that constant attentiveness is necessary.
- 12:39, 40 he would have watched: Jesus changed the illustration slightly, comparing the watch to protecting against a robbery. Knowledge of the time would lead to vigilance. But since the time is not known, constant readiness is essential.
- 12:41 to us, or to all people: Peter asked if Jesus' teaching was for the disciples only or for all people. Jesus did not answer the question directly. Instead He described a variety of categories of servants. Servants are those who belong to the Master and have their stewardship evaluated (19:11–27). Several responses, from faithfulness to blatant disobedience, are described in vv. 42–48. The issue is who lives life in a way that looks for, and takes seriously, the return of Jesus (see 1 John 2:28).
- 12:44 he will make him ruler: Such rule will be a part of the administration of Jesus' kingdom when He returns (see 19:11–27; 1 Cor. 6:2, 3; Rev. 20:22).
- 12:45 is delaying . . . begins to beat: This servant is depicted as consciously doing the opposite of caring for others, and of treating the Master's return as irrelevant.
- 12:46 The image of being slain—cut him in two—indicates the severity of this judgment, especially in contrast to the whippings of vv. 47, 48. Unbelievers are those who did not take seriously the consequences of judgment (see 2 Cor. 5:10; Rev. 3:11).
- 12:47 knew . . . did not prepare himself or do: This is a category of disobedience, not as blatant as doing the opposite, but unfaithfulness nonetheless. This servant is disciplined with many stripes, though he is not rejected. Such evaluation of church leaders is described in 1 Cor. 3:10–15 and is broadened to apply to all believers in 2 Cor. 5:10.
- 12:48 Discipline for the ignorant is less severe—beaten with few. The parable suggests degrees of God's punishment: The faithful are rewarded, the ignorant are disciplined a little, the disobedient are disciplined moderately, and the blatantly disobedient are executed. In each case, the stewardship of the servant is evaluated.
- 12:49 I came to send fire: Fire is an image associated with God's judgment (see Jer. 5:14; 23:29). Jesus' coming brings judgment on those who refuse to accept Him and divides the believers from the faithless. Though Jesus was ready for the judgment of humankind, other things had to happen first (v. 50).
- 12:50 As a figure for Jesus' death (see Mark 10:38, 39), baptism in this verse refers to the coming of overflowing waters of divine judgment (see Ps. 18:4, 16; 42:7; 69:1, 2; Is. 8:7, 8; 30:27, 28). Note Jesus' human response to what He recognized as His necessary death.
- 12:51 Part of Jesus' mission was to create a division within humankind. Other texts of Luke speak of Jesus bringing peace (see 2:14; 7:50; 8:48; 10:5, 6; Acts 10:36; Eph. 2:13–17). He offers peace to those who respond to Him.
- 12:54, 55 a cloud rising out of the west: In Palestine a western breeze meant moisture coming from the Mediterranean Sea. A south wind meant hot air coming from the desert.

12:56 Hypocrites: Jesus rebuked His audience for being able to discern the weather but not what God was doing through Him.

12:58, 59 make every effort . . . to settle with him: The picture here is of a magistrate who functions like a bailiff bringing a debtor into prison. Since the context of this passage is Jesus' mission, the judge likely represents God. The message of this parable is to become reconciled to God before judgment comes.

13:1 The details of the incident referred to here, in which Jewish blood was shed at or near the temple during a time of sacrifices, are not known. Pilate was known for his insensitivity to the Jewish people early in his rule. The event probably occurred during the Feast of the Passover or Tabernacles, when Galileans most likely would have been at the temple.

13:2 Do you suppose: Jesus' question reflected the opinion of His audience. The idea that judgment and death are the results of sin led to the belief that tragic death was the result of extreme sin. While such a view was common in Judaism, it was not always a correct conclusion (see Ex. 20:5; Job 4:7; 8:4, 20; 22:5; Prov. 10:24, 25; John 9:1–3).

13:3 unless you repent: Jesus' point here is that everyone stands at the edge of death until repentance occurs. The death in view here is spiritual, not physical.

13:4 The event referred to here was a natural tragedy as opposed to the violent human act alluded to in vv. 1, 2. However, the same question was raised. Were the people who suffered being judged for their sins? Siloam was located in the southeast section of Jerusalem.

13:5 The manner in which a person dies is not a measure of righteousness; what is important is not to die outside of God's grace and care. The way to avoid such a fate is to repent, to come to God through the care of the physician Jesus (5:32).

13:6 A fig tree often represents God's blessing, or a people who have a special relationship with God (see Mic. 7:1, 2). The man in this parable represents God; the fig tree represents Israel.

13:7 for three years: A fig tree was often given some time to bear good fruit since its root structure was complex and took time to develop. Three years would have been enough for the tree to yield some fruit.

13:9 But if not: If the tree, symbolizing Israel, would yield some fruit it could escape judgment; a failure to be fruitful would result in judgment. In v. 35, Jesus declares that the nation's house is desolate, so judgment comes. That judgment is described in 19:41–44. The fall of Jerusalem, which took place in A.D. 70, is in view. This theme is also addressed in 20:9–19.

13:15 Hypocrite: When the ruler of the synagogue became indignant regarding Jesus' healing on the Sabbath (vv. 10–14), Jesus pointed out that basic compassion was shown to animals on the Sabbath, so how much more compassion should be shown to a suffering woman (v. 16)?

13:16 daughter of Abraham: This description of the woman indicates how special she was. Jesus pointed out that there was no better day on which to overcome Satan than the Sabbath.

13:18, 19 Jesus compared the growth of God's kingdom to a little seed that becomes a big tree where many birds can find shelter. A tree of the mustard family would grow to about 12 feet. The image of birds nesting in the trees is found frequently in the OT (see Ps. 104:12; Ezek. 17:22–24; Dan. 4:10–12).

13:20, 21 In this illustration the leaven is hidden in meal or flour equaling about 50 pounds. Leaven permeates bread and makes it rise. Usually this image is negative, as in 1 Cor. 5:6; but in this parable, it is positive. The kingdom will start small, but will grow and eventually fill the earth. The emphasis is not so much on a process of growth as in the difference between the kingdom's beginning and its end.

13:24 the narrow gate: The suggestion here is that one must enter salvation on God's terms. Those who seek to enter but are unable are those who seek entrance on their own terms. Many will miss the blessings of God because they think they can achieve salvation on their own merit or on the basis of their own piety, rather than because they came to know God through Jesus (v. 25).

- 13:25 Once a person's life has ended, the door of opportunity to respond to Jesus is closed and access into God's presence cannot be gained. I do not know you: The issue here is being properly and personally related to God through Jesus. Verse 26 makes it clear that the Lord at the door is Jesus, since reference is made to His ministry. Those who seek entry after the door is closed will be rejected, since they did not come to God on His terms through Jesus.
- 13:26 We ate and drank . . . You taught: The appeal here is by people who experienced Jesus' presence. The passage primarily involves those Jews who witnessed Jesus' ministry. They were trying to gain entry into God's presence based simply on the fact that they had observed Jesus. Jesus refused them, pointing out that it was not enough for them to have been close to Him. In order to have a relationship with God, one must embrace Jesus and come to know Him.
- 13:27 I do not know you . . . Depart from Me: In this verse, Jesus turns a question about salvation (v. 23) into a question about personally knowing Him. Failure to seek salvation in Jesus means that sin remains in a person's life.
- 13:29 east . . . west . . . north . . . south: People would come from all corners of the earth for entrance into God's kingdom. This passage alludes to the inclusion of Gentiles.
- 13:30 There will be many surprises in God's kingdom. Those who are despised on earth—some Gentiles, for example—will be greatly honored in the kingdom. Conversely, those who are considered influential and powerful on earth—the Jewish religious leaders of Jesus' day, for example—will be excluded from the kingdom.
- 13:31–33 Herod wants to kill You: This warning from the Pharisees was apparently an effort to get Jesus out of the region and out of their hair. It is hard to know whether the warning was true. In 23:7–9, 15, Herod is portrayed as more curious than hostile. fox: The reference here is to Herod's cunning. Jesus' reply seems to take the Pharisees' warning at face value. I shall be perfected: Jesus predicted His resurrection in Jerusalem. Because it was His call from God, Jesus could not avoid ministering in the region. The verb translated perfected means to complete something, which is why it alludes to Jesus' resurrection, the decisive moment of His ministry. The reference to today, tomorrow, and the day following is figurative, since Jesus was speaking of more than three remaining days in His ministry.
- 13:33 it cannot be: Jesus followed a long line of prophets that were executed in the nation's capital (see 1 Kin. 18:4, 13; 19:10, 14; 2 Chr. 24:21; Jer. 2:30; 26:20–23; 38:4–6; Amos 7:10–17).
- 13:34 Jerusalem, Jerusalem: The double address indicates Jesus' deep sorrow (see 2 Sam. 18:33; Jer. 22:29). The city had executed many of God's messengers. Stephen makes a similar point about the nation of Israel in Acts 7:51–53. I wanted to gather: As a prophet, Jesus spoke for God in the first person. He compared God's desire to gather the nation to a hen sheltering and protecting her young. Sadly, the nation was not willing to be gathered.
- 13:35 Your house is left . . . desolate: Jesus declared that the nation stood under a judgment similar to the Exile to Babylon (see Jer. 12:7; 22:5). God would abandon the nation until they responded to the Messiah. Blessed is He: This is a citation of Ps. 118:26. The people of Israel would not see the Messiah again until they were ready to receive Him and recognize that He was sent from God. Psalms 118 reflects the greeting of a priest to a group entering the temple. Jesus used the language of this psalm to illustrate God's greeting to Him.

Keeping the Sabbath

A man's withered hand is restored; a man with dropsy is healed. Most would rejoice in the restoration of health and marvel at Jesus' power over illness. But the Pharisees were filled with rage (6:11) or remained disapprovingly silent (14:4). Why?

To the Jewish leaders of Jesus' day, healing on the Sabbath was sacrilegious. They considered His healings to be work, and the Ten Commandments clearly prohibited work on the Sabbath (see Ex. 20:8–11; Deut. 5:12–15). The Sabbath was holy, a day set apart for God. Just as the Israelites were commanded to tithe part of their earnings to God, they were to give Him their time as well. Breaking the Sabbath was a very grave matter, for God's law demanded death for those who ignored it (see Ex. 31:14, 15; 35:2).

During the period of the second temple (515 B.C.–A.D. 70), scribes and rabbis pored over the words of Scripture, interpreting every detail. What constituted "work" on the Sabbath? What could be allowed "within the Law"? According to the Law, burdens were not to be carried on the Sabbath. This meant that what exactly constituted a "burden" had to be clarified and defined. On the surface, the scribes had a good reason for interpreting the Law: They did not want anyone to break it inadvertently. But their interpretations increasingly emphasized external adherence to the Law instead of the cultivation of an attitude of submission before the Lord. Perfect obedience to the Law and its interpretation became a source of pride instead of a tangible expression of love for God. By Jesus' day, the rabbis and scribes had become so strict that they accused Jesus' disciples of breaking the Sabbath because they had simply plucked some heads of grain, rubbed them in their hands, and eaten them as they walked through a grainfield (6:1, 2).

Jesus' healings on the Sabbath enraged the religious teachers. It was obvious to them that healing was classified as work and prohibited by the Fourth Commandment (see Deut. 5:14). But to Jesus it was common sense and a good deed. Jesus revealed the rabbis' hypocrisy with the example of an ox falling down a pit. The Pharisees would allow an ox to be rescued on the Sabbath, but they wanted to prohibit Jesus from rescuing a human being. Their outrage at Jesus' healing came from their own interpretation of the Law and not from the Law itself. The scribes and rabbis had thought through, categorized, and defined all the minutiae of the Law, but they had missed its central point. The Lord had given the Law to encourage the Israelites to love Him and to love others (see Mark 12:30, 31). He had never prohibited doing good on the Sabbath.

14:2 Dropsy is a condition in which water is retained in the body, leading to swollen limbs (see Num. 5:11–27). Dropsy is a symptom and not a specific disease.

14:3 Is it lawful: Note that Jesus raised the question of Sabbath law here, preempting the questioning he had faced in 6:2 (see 6:9).

14:7 In ancient times the best seats at a meal were those next to the host.

14:12, 13 True hospitality and service are given to those who cannot repay. Disciples must have a special concern for the poor, maimed, lame, and blind, as Jesus does (4:16–19).

- 14:14 you shall be repaid: Even though there may be no reward in this life, God will not overlook what His servants have done to carry out His love and mercy. See 2 Cor. 5:10; Heb. 6:20.
- 14:15 Blessed is he: One of the guests at the meal reflected on the glory of sitting at the banquet table of God, an image of being saved and living in God's presence. The man probably assumed that many of the people attending the meal with Jesus would be present at God's banquet table. Jesus responded to the man's assumption with a warning.
- 14:17 those who were invited: In the ancient world, invitations to a feast were sent out well in advance of the meal. Then on the day of the feast, servants would announce the start of the meal. This parable is similar to the one in Matt. 22:1–14, but was probably spoken on a different occasion.
- 14:20 I have married a wife: While the OT exempted a man from military duty because of marriage (see Deut. 20:7; 24:5), marriage was not an excuse for avoiding social duties. The general point here is that the man regarded his own affairs as more important than the feast.
- 14:21 poor . . . maimed . . . lame . . . blind: This list matches that of v. 13. The maimed were excluded from full participation in Jewish worship (see Lev. 21:17–23). The master's second invitation extended the scope of the offer to those who were rejected by society.
- 14:23 The master's second invitation extended beyond the city limits, encouraging even more people to come to the feast. This may picture the inclusion of Gentiles in God's salvation (see Is. 49:6). The instruction to compel them to come in does not mean to force people in, but to urge them. As outsiders, the people might not feel comfortable coming.
- 14:26 does not hate: The essence of discipleship is giving Christ first place. To "hate" one's family and even one's life is rhetorical. It refers to desiring something less than something else. This instruction was especially appropriate in Jesus' day, since a decision for Jesus could mean rejection by family and persecution even to the point of death. Those who feared family disapproval or persecution would not come to Jesus.
- 14:27 Jesus' call here is to follow Him in the way of rejection and suffering. A disciple will be rejected by those in the world who do not honor Christ. Therefore, a disciple must be ready to face and accept such rejection.
- 14:30 was not able to finish: Their mocking centers on the dishonor that results from an inability to complete the task. Following Christ is not something to be taken up on a trial basis. It calls for ultimate commitment (see 9:62).
- 14:31, 32 The picture here is of a king assessing his ability to do battle with another more powerful king. The king sends a delegation only after appreciating the weight and consequences of his decision. Jesus urged the people to think about what it would mean to follow Him, and not to take it lightly.
- 14:34 In the ancient world, salt was often used as a catalyst for burning fuel such as cattle dung. The salt of the time was impure and could lose its strength over time, becoming useless. Jesus' point is that the same is true of a "saltless" disciple.
- 14:35 throw it out: Jesus warned that an ineffective commitment leads to being cast aside. This apparently is a reference to those who are judged as unfaithful disciples (see 1 Cor. 11:30). Remaining useful to God means remaining faithful to Him (9:61, 62).
- 15:1 the tax collectors and the sinners: The three parables of ch. 15 explain why Jesus associated with despised groups while the Pharisees and scribes did not. The parables in this chapter are found only in Luke.
- 15:2 eats with them: In the ancient world, table fellowship indicated acceptance of the other guests. This is why the Jewish religious leaders complained about Jesus' companions at His meals (see 5:30–32; 19:10; Mark 2:15).
- 15:4 A hundred sheep was a medium-sized flock. The average herd ran from 20 to 200 head, while a flock of three hundred or more was considered large.
- 15:6 The call to rejoice at finding the lost sheep would have been natural enough, since sheep were valuable property in the ancient world.

- 15:7 likewise: Jesus compared the joy of finding a lost sheep to the joy of heaven over a sinner's repentance. The unstated conclusion is that the hope of such a conversion was the reason Jesus associated with the undesirable of society. Persons who need no repentance is a rhetorical way of describing the scribes and Pharisees. A similar description is found in 5:31, where it is said that some do not need a physician. The scribes and Pharisees believed that they did not need to repent because they were not lost.
- 15:8 ten silver coins: A drachma was a silver coin equal to a day's wage for a basic laborer. The woman needed a lamp because she lived in a windowless house. Her broom for sweeping would have been made of palm twigs. In this second parable of ch. 15, more detail is given regarding the search effort than in the first parable of vv. 4–7.
- 15:12 the portion of goods that falls to me: In the ancient world, this son most likely would have been in his teens and single. As the younger son he would have received half of what the elder son received (see Deut. 21:17), or a third of his father's estate. The early Jews warned fathers against breaking up an estate too early. Here the father granted the request, illustrating how God permits each person to go his or her own way.
- 15:13 wasted his possessions: The verb here means "to scatter or disperse something." The term translated prodigal describes a debased, extravagant life (see Prov. 28:7).
- 15:15 Feeding swine was an insulting job for a Jewish person, since pigs were unclean according to the Law of Moses.
- 15:18, 19 I have sinned: The son's words represent the confession of a sinner. The son expected nothing and relied completely on the mercy of his father. So it is with the sinner who repents.
- 15:20 The description of the father's compassion in running to his son and kissing him illustrates the immediate acceptance of a sinner who turns to God.
- 15:21 no longer worthy to be called your son: Despite his awareness of being accepted by his father, the son continued his confession of his sin. He then asked to become one of his father's servants. Similarly, a sinner realizes that he or she brings nothing to and deserves nothing from God, but must rely completely on God's mercy.
- 15:22 The father accepted his son's confession but refused his request to make him a servant. Instead the returning son was made a full member of the family again. The robe probably represented the best clothes the father had to offer. The ring may have borne the family seal, signifying the son's acceptance back into the family. The son's confession of sin brought full restoration.
- 15:24 dead . . . alive . . . lost . . . found: The total transformation of the prodigal son is summarized in these two contrasts. Such a transformation is a reason to celebrate. It is also the reason Jesus chose to associate with the lost.
- 15:28 The older brother's unhappiness over a fatted calf (v. 27) being killed to celebrate the return of his undisciplined brother illustrates the response of the Pharisees and scribes at the prospect of sinners becoming acceptable to God.
- 15:29 I never transgressed . . . you never gave me: Note the contrast between the older son's attitude here and the younger son's attitude in vv. 19, 21. The older son proclaimed his righteousness and argued that justice had not been done.
- 15:31 all that I have is yours: The father responded to his disgruntled older son by explaining that just because someone receives a blessing, that does not mean there is no blessing for others. The father also implied that the older son always had the opportunity to celebrate with a fattened calf, since the animals were his.
- 16:1 A steward was a servant who supervised and administered an estate. The charge brought against this steward is incompetence.
- 16:2 Give an account . . . you can no longer be steward: The rich man responded to the charge that his steward was incompetent by firing the steward and asking for his records to be brought up to date.
- 16:6 A hundred measures of oil . . . fifty: Three explanations are commonly given concerning the steward's right to alter the amount his master was owed: (1) The steward simply lowered the price on his own authority; (2) the steward removed the interest charge from the debt, according to the Law (see Lev. 25:36, 37; Deut. 15:7, 8; 23:20, 21); or (3) the steward removed his own commission, sacrificing only his own money and not that of his master. The different rates of reduction reflect the different rates for different commodities.

16:8 The master recognized the foresight in the steward's generosity. It is debatable whether the steward was dishonest and robbed the master by such reductions or was shrewd in using his authority to discount the goods (vv. 6, 7). The fact that the master commended the steward may suggest that the master was not robbed, and that the steward's reduction was the result of either an adherence to the Law or a lowering of the steward's own commission.

16:9 Mammon, or money, should be used generously to build works that last. Money is called unrighteous because it often manifests unrighteousness and selfishness in people (see 1 Tim. 6:6–10, 17–19; James 1:9–11; 5:1–6).

mammon

(Gk. mammōnas) (16:9, 11; Matt. 6:24) Strong's #3126

The Greek word is a transliteration of a common Aramaic word mamona, which means “wealth,” “money,” or “property.” It is impossible to serve this god called “mammon” and the true God at the same time. In ch. 16, this word is used for “riches,” considered an idol, master, or god of the human heart that is in conflict with the true God.

Go to the List of Word Studies

- 16:10 faithful . . . unjust . . . least . . . much: Small examples of selfishness now result in greater selfishness later. Likewise, small examples of generosity now result in greater generosity later.
- 16:11 mammon . . . true riches: This is the development of v. 10. A person who cannot handle money certainly cannot handle spiritual matters that are of much more value.
- 16:16 Jesus indicates a basic division in God's plan here. The time of promise extended from the Law and Prophets until John the Baptist. Now the promise of God's kingdom is preached. The new era approaches. Everyone is pressing into it can also be translated “all are urged insistently to come in,” emphasizing the urgency of the message.
- 16:17 Jesus' point is not that all the commandments of the law remain in effect forever, but that the goal of God's law, the promise of God's rule, is realized.
- 16:18 commits adultery: Jesus illustrated the moral demands of God's law by referring to the inviolability of marriage.
- 16:19 clothed in purple: Purple clothes were extremely expensive because they were made with a special dye extracted from a kind of snail.
- 16:20, 21 To have his sores licked by dogs threatened Lazarus with infection as well as ritual uncleanness, since dogs fed on garbage, including dead animals.
- 16:22 Abraham's bosom was the blessed place of the dead. Angelic escorts for the dead were also known in Judaism. This verse indicates that the dead know their fate immediately.
- 16:23 Note the reversal of fortune from vv. 19–21. Here the rich man was suffering and Lazarus was at peace. Hades in the OT was the place where the dead are gathered. It is also called Sheol in Ps. 16:10; 86:13. In the NT, Hades is often mentioned in a negative context (see 10:15; Matt. 11:23; 16:18). Hades is where the unrighteous dead dwell. Gehenna is the place where judgment occurs (see 12:5; Matt. 5:22).
- 16:24 I am tormented: The rich man desired relief from his suffering. The image of thirst for the experience of judgment is common (see Is. 5:13; 65:13; Hos. 2:3).
- 16:25 The standard by which the rich man treated others was applied to him. In his lifetime he lacked compassion, so now there was no compassion for him.
- 16:26 a great gulf fixed: This detail illustrates the fact that the unrighteous, once they have died, cannot enter into the sphere of the righteous.
- 16:27, 28 The rich man asked for a heavenly envoy to be sent so that his brothers would not repeat his irreversible error. It is difficult to know if his concern for his brothers was sincere, or just a backhanded way of saying that in his own life he had not received adequate warning about the judgment.

16:29 They have Moses and the prophets: Abraham made it clear that the rich man's brothers should have known what to do, since they had the message of God in the ancient writings. The point here is that generosity with money and care for the poor were taught in the OT (see Deut. 14:28, 29; Is. 3:14, 15; Mic. 6:10, 11).

16:31 If they do not hear: A person who rejects God's message will not be persuaded by resurrection. Though the rich man's request for a heavenly messenger is denied within the parable, it is honored in the telling of the account, because the parable is part of a Gospel that announces Christ's resurrection.

17:1, 2 woe to him: Jesus warned that judgment awaits those who cause others to stumble. The severe form of the warning suggests that false teaching, or leading someone into apostasy, is in view here. A millstone was a heavy stone used in a grinding mill.

Word Studies

(Gk. skandalizō) (17:2; Matt. 5:29; 13:21; John 6:61; 1 Cor. 8:13) Strong's #4624

The word is the verb form of a Greek noun that means “stumbling block” or “snare.” The term refers to the trigger which springs a trap. In the NT it means anything that hinders someone from doing what is right or causes one to sin or fall away from the faith. Jesus emphatically warns that stumbling blocks are sure to come our way. Nonetheless, He condemned those who put stumbling blocks in the way of believers. He says that death by drowning would be preferable to offending “one of these little ones” in the faith.

Go to the List of Word Studies

- 17:6 Even faith the size of a tiny mustard seed can do wonderful things. The black mulberry tree has a vast root system that allows it to live up to six hundred years.
- 17:11 Samaria and Galilee: Though Jesus was traveling to Jerusalem, His journey did not follow a direct route.
- 17:14 Jesus healed the lepers but sent them to the priests to verify their cleansing, just as He did the leper in 5:14.
- 17:15–18 The Samaritans were a despised race (9:52). A hated foreigner was the only former leper who gave glory to God for his cleansing.
- 17:19 Jesus commended the faith that heals, as He did in 7:50; 8:50. The Samaritan apparently received more than physical healing.
- 17:20 In ancient Israel there was an expectation that the kingdom of God would come with cosmic signs. Such expectation was rooted in texts that linked God's coming with great signs (see Joel 2:28–32). Jesus' concept of the kingdom of God, however, was broader than the time of the final consummation.
- 17:21 Within you may also be translated “in your midst.” This verse indicates that there was an aspect of kingdom promise involved in Jesus' first coming. The kingdom of God is among earthly kingdoms today; but one day the kingdom of God will swallow up all rival kingdoms (see Rev. 11:15). In vv. 22–37, Jesus makes it clear that the kingdom has two phases—one now and one to come. In the beginning of His kingdom on earth, God first prepares a King to rule; then He gathers a people for Him to rule over; then He gives the Ruler a realm in which to reign. The kingdom of God is not the same as the church, though the church is a part of the kingdom. The kingdom now is the presence of God alongside earthly kingdoms. The power of God is shown now in the distribution and work of the Holy Spirit (see Rom. 14:17; 1 Cor. 4:20). One day, however, Jesus will rule over all, and He will share that rule with His people (see Rev. 2:26, 27; 5:9, 10; 20:4–6).
- 17:24 Lightning is sudden and visible to all. Likewise, the sudden day of the Son of Man will be visible to all. When the Lord returns, He will come quickly and obviously. There will be no doubt as to what has occurred.
- 17:26 In the days of Noah people paid little attention to God and faced judgment as a result (see Gen.

- 6:5–13). The same will be the case at Jesus' return.
- 17:29 destroyed them all: The day of the Son of Man will be a time of total judgment, as were the days of Noah (v. 27) and Lot.
- 17:32 Lot's wife represents those who are attached to earthly things, those whose hearts are still in this world. Like Lot's wife, such people will perish (see Gen. 19:26).
- 17:33 whoever loses his life will preserve it: Those who invest their lives in advancing Christ's kingdom, even to the point of suffering and death, will receive great privilege and glory in the climactic reign of Christ (see Matt. 5:10–12; 19:27–30; 2 Tim. 2:12; Rev. 20:4–6).
- 17:34 Taken here suggests judgment, such as when the soldiers took Jesus to crucify Him. Verse 37 makes it clear that those who are taken are taken to final judgment.
- 17:35, 36 one will be taken and the other left: On that day, the Son of Man will divide humankind into two groups: those who are taken to judgment and those who are left to live and reign with Christ. Other commentators suggest the opposite: The righteous will be taken into God's kingdom. Either way, Jesus is clearly saying that a person's eternal destiny is not determined by being close to those who are righteous. Each person stands before God alone.
- 17:37 When the disciples asked where Jesus' return would take place, Jesus did not answer directly. the eagles will be gathered: The term for eagles here refers to vultures that gather over dead animals. When the judgment comes, it will be final and terrible, with the stench of death and the presence of vultures everywhere. No one will need to look for the place of judgment; the presence of the birds will reveal where the carcasses are.
- 18:2 The Romans allowed the Jews to manage most of their own affairs. This judge did not fear God, and was therefore probably a secular judge, not a religious one. The dishonest judge represents corrupted power.
- 18:3 The woman in this parable is a widow, dependent on society for her support. Luke often takes special note of the plight of widows (see 2:37; 4:25, 26; 7:12; 20:47; 21:2, 3; Acts 6:1–7; 9:39, 41). Get justice: Perhaps the woman was asking for help concerning a financial problem.
- 18:5 The persistence of the widow is the lesson of the parable. God is a counterexample to the judge. God does not begrudge answering prayer. Jesus' point is that if an insensitive judge will respond to the continual requests of a widow, God will certainly respond to the continual prayers of believers.
- 18:7 shall God not avenge His own elect: God will respond to injustice and religious persecution meted out to His people. In the end, He will avenge.
- 18:8 will He really find faith: Jesus' question here is whether upon His return believers will still be looking for Him. Persecution can cause the faithful to lose their enthusiasm. In asking this question, Jesus is exhorting believers not to lose heart (v. 1).
- 18:11, 12 God, I thank You: The tone of the prayer reveals the Pharisee's problem. He uses the pronoun I five times in two verses. The Pharisee's attitude seems to be that God should be grateful to him for his commitment. The man obviously looked down on other people and was proud of his fasting and tithing.
- 18:13 This is an example of the humble spirit of repentance that Jesus commends. The tax collector knew that he could not say or bring anything to enhance his standing with God. He knew that only God's mercy and grace, and not his own works, could deliver him.

be merciful

(Gk. hilaskomai) (18:13; Heb. 2:17) Strong's #2433

The Greek word means “to be propitious” or “to be favorably inclined.” The term is used only one other time as a verb in the NT, and there it describes how Christ made reconciliation possible between God and humanity by His sacrifice on the Cross (Heb. 2:17). The noun form appears in 1 John 2:2; 4:10; in both places Jesus is called “the propitiation for our sins.” Jesus, as our sacrifice, propitiated God concerning our sins; that is, He appeased God. This tax collector, well aware of his sinful condition, was asking God for reconciliation.

Go to the List of Word Studies

18:14 Jesus identified the contrast between the Pharisee and the tax collector as one between pride and humility, between those who exalt and those who humble themselves. God will bring down the proud and will exalt the humble (1:52; 14:11).

18:15 they rebuked them: The disciples assumed that Jesus was too important and too busy for children. The parents' desire for Jesus to touch the children was probably a request to bless them.

18:16 Jesus used the thoughtlessness of His disciples to make two points: (1) All people, even little children, are important to God. (2) The kingdom of God consists of those who respond to Him with the trust that a little child gives to a parent.

18:21 All these things I have kept: Like the Pharisee in vv. 11, 12, the ruler was certain of his own ability to live righteously.

18:22 Sell all that you have and distribute to the poor: This was a radical test of the ruler's concern for others (12:33, 34). Jesus was determining whether the ruler's treasure (see Matt. 6:19–21) lay with God or money (16:13). Jesus was not establishing a new requirement for being saved. He was examining the ruler's orientation to God by directly confronting him with the very thing that was hindering him—namely, his wealth. By contrast, Zacchaeus was a wealthy man who responded to Jesus (19:8–10).

18:24, 25 How hard it is for those who have riches: A wealthy person is easily tempted to depend on earthly riches rather than on God. easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle: Jesus used this figure of speech to emphasize the difficulty of turning from wealth to find salvation. Because many Jewish people believed that wealth was evidence of God's blessing, Jesus' statements would have been shocking to His audience.

18:26, 27 Who then can be saved: Jesus answered this question by explaining that the change of heart one must experience in order to know God is possible only through Him. Any person who enters the kingdom does so only by the marvelous grace of God (see John 3:3).

18:28 we have left all and followed You: Peter wanted reassurance about the disciples' sacrifice as compared to the ruler.

18:29, 30 for the sake of the kingdom of God: Jesus assured the disciples that the sacrifices they made in leaving everything to follow Him would be rewarded without measure in His kingdom. The disciples' wise stewardship of their lives exemplifies the principle of 9:24; 17:33. In these verses there is a clear division of time into the present time and the age to come. Blessings abound in both periods for disciples. In the future will come the same eternal life the ruler asked about in v. 18. The quality of that life will more than compensate for the sacrificial investment of life today (9:24).

18:31 Though Jesus referred to the suffering He was going to face in Jerusalem, a suffering that was predicted by the prophets, His disciples did not understand the implication of His words until after His resurrection. The theme of Jesus' suffering is repeated in 24:25, 26, 44–47.

18:32, 33 The entire sequence of events of Jesus' trial, crucifixion, and resurrection is predicted here in detail.

18:34 understood none of these things: The disciples may have understood something of what Jesus said, but they could not understand why God's Chosen One would have to face such suffering. For those who were expecting the Promised One to be an exalted figure who would deliver God's people, it would be very difficult to reconcile such an expectation with such terrible suffering. was hidden: The disciples did not understand the implications of Jesus' suffering and death until it was explained to them in detail after Jesus was raised from the dead (24:25, 26, 44–47).

18:35 Jesus was nearing Jerusalem: Jericho was about 17 miles from the city.

18:38 Note the irony in this verse. The blind man recognized who Jesus was, the Son of David, more clearly than many people who were blessed with physical sight. The blind man's cry for mercy demonstrated his belief that Jesus had the power to heal him.

18:43 The gracious work of God led to praise, not only from the one who was blessed but also from those who saw the blessing.

19:2 Zacchaeus, as chief tax collector, most likely bid for the right to collect taxes and then hired another tax collector to actually gather the money.

19:4 A sycamore tree is similar to an oak tree, with a short trunk and wide lateral branches.

19:7 The crowd was not happy with Jesus' choice of whom to honor with His fellowship. In the crowd's opinion, Zacchaeus was a sinner. The term translated complained recalls the grumbling of 5:30 and 15:2, where the same issue was in view. Since tax collectors often took for themselves a high percentage of what they demanded, they were hated and despised in ancient Israel.

19:8 give half . . . restore fourfold: Zacchaeus determined to deal generously with others. In later Judaism, it was considered generous to give away up to 20 percent of one's belongings; giving away more than this was considered dangerous. Legal restitution for extortion was also 20 percent (see Lev. 5:16; Num. 5:7).

19:11 Evidently the disciples believed that Jesus' arrival in Jerusalem would signal the arrival of the kingdom of God. Jesus' parable in vv. 12–27 was designed to dispel this misconception. Note that the disciples raised the same question in Acts 1:6.

19:12 This parable is similar to Matt. 25:14–30, but the occasion is probably different. The story parallels in part what happened to Archelaus, a son of Herod the Great, who came to power in 4 B.C. The people disliked Archelaus, and they appealed to Augustus Caesar not to give him authority. Jesus is not retelling the story of Archelaus, but the historical events meant that the parable had a well-known plot. A significant detail is that the kingdom is received during the journey away from the land to be ruled. This corresponds to Jesus' leaving this earth to receive the kingdom following His resurrection.

19:13 Do business till I come: This detail shows that Jesus' return would not be immediate (v. 11). The servants represent Jesus' followers. They are to serve faithfully until Jesus returns. ten minas: Each servant received one mina, or about four months' wages for the average worker. The master, symbolizing Jesus Himself, wants to see fruit, or dividends from his investment. Did his servants put the money they received to good use?

19:14 his citizens hated him: This is a separate group from the servants and refers to those who reject Jesus outright.

19:15 how much every man had gained: Having returned with authority to rule, the nobleman asks the servants to give an account of their labor in his absence.

19:16 The first servant earned ten times the amount he was given originally.

19:17 you were faithful . . . have authority over ten cities: Faithfulness is commended and rewarded with greater opportunity. The authority given to the servant represents a role in administering Jesus' kingdom (see 1 Cor. 6:2, 3; Rev. 2:26–28; 5:9, 10; 20:1–6).

19:20–23 I feared you: The unfaithful servant's excuse for failure reflects a negative view of the nobleman. If the servant had really feared the master, he would have done something with the money. Even putting the money in the bank would have yielded interest. As it was, the servant failed to respond to the nobleman at all or even to understand him.

19:26 what he has will be taken away from him: Unfaithfulness results in loss of reward (see Rev. 3:11).

19:29, 30 Jesus was in control of the events of the last week of His life, even though those events led to His death. Here He prepared to enter the city riding a colt. Bethphage and Bethany were located just east of Jerusalem, within two miles of the city. The Mount of Olives was in a range of hills just outside of Jerusalem, directly across from the temple.

19:31–34 the Lord has need of it: Such borrowing of an animal was not as strange as it may appear. There was an ancient custom by which a political or religious leader could commandeer property for short-term use. Jesus was entering Jerusalem to celebrate the Passover and the Feast of Unleavened Bread, festivals that commemorated the great act of God's deliverance of the nation. Such feasts were often celebrated at this time with the hope that God's decisive deliverance would come.

19:35 The clothes were probably their outer garments. The scene recalls the declaration of Jehu as king in 2 Kin. 9:13. The ride on the colt or mule resembles the events of 1 Kin. 1:33, in which David made the new king, Solomon, ride to Gihon on a mule. Zechariah had prophesied that the coming King would ride into Jerusalem humbly on a donkey (Zech. 9:9). However, Luke does not emphasize these connections with OT prophecy as Matthew and John do (see Matt. 21:5; John 12:15).

19:36 spread their clothes on the road: The actions here indicate that a dignitary was being greeted (see 2 Kin. 9:13). This is like "rolling out the red carpet" today.

19:38 This verse is a citation of Ps. 118:26, with the title of King added to it. The disciples recognized that Jesus was the promised King sent from God. He is the One who brings peace to the relationship between people and God (1:78, 79).

19:41 wept over it: Jesus knew that so many of the people of Israel had rejected Him that the nation would suffer judgment, in the form of the terrible destruction that came on Jerusalem in A.D. 70.

19:43 build an embankment: This is a prediction of Rome's successful siege of Jerusalem under Titus. The details reflect a divine judgment for covenant unfaithfulness, similar to the Babylonian destruction of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. (see Is. 29:1–4; Jer. 6:6–21; 8:13–22; Ezek. 4:1–3).

19:44 level you, and your children: The totality of the destruction is made clear in this further description of the siege of Jerusalem. Even children would die, and buildings would be destroyed.

19:45 Jesus' entrance into Jerusalem begins the final section of Luke's Gospel. Jesus cleansed the temple in anger after seeing that the place of prayer had become an excuse for corrupt commerce. Merchants were selling sacrificial animals in the outer court of the temple (the court of the Gentiles) at exorbitant prices. Money changers were making an excessive profit exchanging currencies for the temple shekel. John records a temple cleansing in John 2:13–22, but it is not clear whether that event is the same as this one in Luke. Since John places the event early in Jesus' ministry, Jesus might have cleansed the temple twice. The synoptic Gospels place the cleansing of the temple in the last week of Jesus' ministry (Matt. 21:12–17; Mark 11:15–19). Some have suggested that John purposely placed the cleansing of the temple out of chronological order as a foretaste of Jesus' judgment on contemporary religious practices.

19:46 The holy place of worship had become a site for taking economic advantage of people. Jesus' remark about a house of prayer alludes to Is. 56:7. His comment regarding the den of thieves comes from Jer. 7:11.

19:47 Jesus' actions at the temple, the most sacred location for Jews, caused the Jewish religious leaders to strengthen their resolve to destroy Him.

20:4 Here as throughout the Gospel of Luke, the ministries of John the Baptist and Jesus are linked (see also 1:5–80; 3:10–18; 7:18–35). Jesus' question presented the Pharisees with a dilemma. If they recognized John's ministry as coming from heaven, they would be recognizing the same divine origin of Jesus' similar "independent," Spirit-directed ministry. But if the Pharisees denied that John was sent by God, they risked angering the majority of the people, who believed that John's ministry was divinely directed (vv. 5, 6).

20:9 In a variation of Is. 5:1–7, the vineyard here represents the promise made to Israel, while the vinedressers represent the nation of Israel. The man who planted the vineyard represents God. The imagery of the vineyard recalls the subject of Jesus' parable in 13:6–9. This parable is also found in Matt. 21:33–44 and Mark 12:1–12, with some slight variations of detail in each account.

20:10 beat him . . . sent him away empty-handed: The treatment of the servant in this parable represents the treatment of the OT prophets by the people of Israel. During the time of the prophets, the nation of Israel produced no fruit; disobedience abounded (see 11:49–51; 13:34; Acts 7:51–53).

20:13 I will send my beloved son: This refers to Jesus (3:21, 22; 9:35).

20:14 This is the heir . . . let us kill him: The vinedressers hoped that with the son gone, the inheritance would fall to those who worked the property, a transfer that was possible in the ancient world. It should be noted that the details of this parable do not represent the thinking of those who crucified Jesus. The leaders of Israel thought they were stopping someone who was dangerous to Judaism, not that they were going to inherit Jesus' kingdom.

20:15 cast him out . . . killed him: The parallel here of course is Jesus' death. what will the owner of the vineyard do to them: the parallel question is "What will God the Father do to those who reject and murder His Son?"

20:16 come and destroy those vinedressers: God will exercise judgment on those who killed His Son. He will give the vineyard to others. Jesus is alluding to the inclusion of Gentiles in the promise of God's kingdom.

20:17 The stone which the builders rejected: This passage, taken from Ps. 118:22, pictures the exaltation of the Righteous One, Jesus, after His rejection. Opposition will not stop God from making the One who is rejected the center of His work of salvation.

20:18 Jesus is the stone. Anyone who goes against the stone will be destroyed. Jesus' statement is similar to a late Jewish proverb: "If the stone falls on the pot, alas for the pot; if the pot falls on the stone, alas for the pot." The imagery of Jesus as a stone is also found in 1 Pet. 2:4–8, where Peter compares the believers to living stones built into a spiritual temple for the Lord. chief cornerstone: This could be the large stone which joins the foundation of two walls of a building, or else the capstone at the top of a doorway.

20:19 The Jewish religious leaders wanted Jesus removed because of His direct challenges to them. But because they feared the reaction of the crowd, they waited for a more favorable time to do away with Jesus.

20:20 The religious leaders watched Jesus very closely. They pretended to be righteous, which in this context means that they tried to look sincere. They wanted to trap Jesus into saying something that would make Him look like a political revolutionary, then they planned to hand Him over to the Roman governor Pilate.

20:22 Is it lawful for us to pay taxes to Caesar or not: This question concerned the poll tax to Rome, which was different from the taxes collected by the tax collectors. The poll tax was a citizenship tax paid directly to Rome, as an indication that Israel was subject to that Gentile nation. The Pharisees' query was a trick question. If Jesus answered yes, the people would be angry because He respected a foreign power. If He answered no, He could be charged with sedition.

- 20:24 Whose image . . . does it have: Jesus' reply was clever. He had the Pharisees pull out a coin, indicating that they already recognized Roman sovereignty by using Roman coins themselves. A denarius was a silver coin that usually had a picture of a Roman ruler on it. The coins of Tiberius were inscribed TIBERIUS CAESAR, AUGUSTUS, SON OF DIVINE AUGUSTUS. On some of them the reverse bore an image of Tiberius's mother Livia, portrayed as a goddess of peace with the inscription HIGH PRIEST.
- 20:25 The Pharisees could not twist Jesus' wise reply into a charge of sedition (23:2). According to Jesus, Caesar, as the ruler of the empire, had the right to collect taxes. Yet at the same time, God should be honored above any ruler. Honoring God does not make a person exempt from supporting the basic functions of the state (see Rom. 13:1–7), for all figures of authority have been ordained by God.
- 20:27 The Sadducees, the Pharisees, and the Essenes were three major divisions in first-century Judaism. The Sadducees rejected the oral traditions that the Pharisees so stringently obeyed. Instead they based their teaching only on the first five books of the OT, the books of Moses. They denied that there could be a resurrection, and they contrived a ludicrous example to suggest that the doctrine was impossible.
- 20:28 In Judaism, a childless widow would marry the brother of her late husband, according to the custom known as levirate marriage (see Deut. 25:5; Ruth 4:1–12). The law was designed to perpetuate the name of a man who died childless.
- 20:34, 35 Jesus contrasted life in the current age with life in the age to come. Because marriage will not be a part of the age to come, the Sadducees' absurd example (vv. 28–33) does not apply. Jesus upheld the doctrine of resurrection in His reply, speaking of both the age to come and the resurrection, so that the two concepts were clearly associated. Jesus also noted that only those counted worthy would receive the benefits of the age to come.
- 20:36 equal to the angels . . . sons of God: The everlasting life of a resurrected person makes that person something like an angel. Paul explains further that in the resurrection we will be given resurrection bodies similar to Christ's (see 1 Cor. 15:25–58). This will be a new experience that will not necessarily parallel experiences on this earth, such as marriage.
- 20:38 the God of the . . . living: Jesus points out that if God is the God of the patriarchs, then they must be raised and alive. God has a relationship only with those who are alive. Jesus' citation of the Law (see Ex. 3:1–6, 15) probably made an impact on the Sadducees, who revered the teachings of the books of Moses.
- 20:41, 42 Here Jesus takes His turn at raising a theological issue. The dilemma He poses is how the Messiah (the Hebrew word for Christ) could be called the Son of David, when David himself gave Him the title Lord. my Lord: This is a citation from Ps. 110:1 (see also 22:69; Acts 2:30–36). The Messiah was David's descendant and yet David gave Him the respect due to a superior, the reverse of what normally occurred in ancient times. Jesus was not denying the title Son of David to the Messiah, He was simply noting that the title Lord, meaning "Master," is more central. Even David one day will bow at the Messiah's feet and confess that He is Lord (see Phil. 2:10).
- 20:46, 47 devour widows' houses: Jesus noted the scribes' hypocrisy and their taking advantage of others. Such activity will be judged.
- 21:1 There were various places around the temple where people could leave contributions. Thirteen such locations were in the forecourt. The receptacles were made in the shape of trumpets. Each represented a different kind of offering. There was also a treasury room near the court of women.
- 21:2 The poor widow contributed two mites, small copper coins which were the smallest currency available.
- 21:3 has put in more than all: Jesus contrasted the giving of the rich (v. 1) with the sacrifice of the poor widow.
- 21:4 put in all the livelihood that she had: The widow did not refuse to give even when she needed more to live on. Her devotion to God through her contributions was her first priority (see 2 Cor.

8:1–5; 9:6–9).

21:5 how it was adorned: The temple was refurbished under Herod the Great with new foundation walls and enlarged areas outside the temple. Great stones of 12 to 60 feet in length were used. The entire effort took from 20 B.C. to around A.D. 64. Thus the refurbishing was in progress during Jesus' visit, around A.D. 30. The donations were gift offerings for the decoration of the temple and included gold-and silver-plated gates, grape vine clusters, and Babylonian linen tapestries which hung from the temple veil. Even Tacitus, the Roman historian, called it an "immensely opulent temple."

21:6 not one stone: Jesus noted that the beautiful place of worship was temporary and would be destroyed. He was referring to the fall of Jerusalem in A.D. 70, which itself was a picture of the destruction of the last days.

21:8 Take heed: The first century and early second century were times of great messianic fervor in Judaism, as the Israelites sought freedom from Roman rule. Many people claimed to be the Messiah. Jesus warned His disciples not to be fooled by such claims.

21:11 A wide variety of cosmic and natural events will occur before the end times. Verses 8–11 give signs before the end, while vv. 12–19 speak of events that will happen before the signs of vv. 8–11.

21:12 persecute you . . . for My name's sake: Jesus predicted the arrests and suffering that the disciples would face as a result of identifying with Him. Some of these events are detailed in Acts 3-5; 7; 21-28. The reference to synagogues, kings, and rulers indicates that all nations would share responsibility for the massacre of the disciples.

21:13 an occasion for testimony: Suffering can be an opportunity to advance the kingdom of God. This is why those who endure suffering and persecution are called blessed (Matt. 5:10–12).

21:15 I will give you a mouth and wisdom: Jesus promises the disciples that the Holy Spirit will assist them in giving testimony (12:11, 12). The initial fulfillment of this promise is found in Acts 4:8–14; 7:54; 26:24–32.

21:16 You will be betrayed: The persecution of the disciples would be painful and severe. Identifying with Jesus often means risking the rejection and denunciation of family, and in some cases martyrdom.

21:19 possess your souls: Patient allegiance to Jesus leads to eternal life (9:24).

21:20 A siege would be the sign that the end was near for Jerusalem and the temple. The other synoptic Gospels (see Matt. 24:15; Mark 13:14) allude to the abomination of desolation in Dan. 9:25–27; 11:31. This passage compares the desecration of the temple to what occurred in 167 B.C., when Antiochus Epiphanes erected an altar to Zeus in the temple. A similar desecration of the temple site occurred during the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70.

21:22 days of vengeance: Jerusalem had become an object of divine judgment because of its unfaithfulness. Jesus warned of this consequence throughout His ministry (13:9, 34, 35; 19:41–44). The premise for such judgment goes back to the curses of the Mosaic covenant and the OT prophets' warnings of coming judgment (see Deut. 28:49–57; 32:35; Jer. 6:1–8; 26:1–9; Hos. 9:7).

21:24 fall . . . be led away captive: This verse elaborates on Jerusalem's fall. There would be death and captivity, just as the nation experienced under the Assyrians and Babylonians. times of the Gentiles: There would be a period in God's salvation plan when Gentiles would be dominant, of which the fall of Jerusalem would be a clear sign. The fact that the time of the Gentiles will run its course also suggests that Israel will once again play a significant role in God's plan (see Rom. 9-11).

21:25, 26 signs: Jesus shifts His focus to the end times with His second mention of cosmic turmoil (see v. 11; Is. 24:18–20; 34:4; Ezek. 32:7, 8; Joel 2:30, 31). men's hearts failing them: The terror of cosmic chaos will cause apprehension about what is coming.

21:27 the Son of Man coming in a cloud: The reference here is to the authoritative return of Jesus. The allusion to the cloud and the figure comes from Dan. 7:13, 14, with its picture of One who receives authority from the Ancient of Days. Jesus viewed this text in terms of an apocalyptic deliverance. The image of the cloud is important, since God is identified as riding the clouds in the OT (see Ex. 34:5; Ps. 104:3). with power and great glory: The Son of Man has divine authority to judge the world.

21:28 lift up your heads . . . redemption draws near: This is the sign of the deliverance of Jesus' followers. The Son of Man acts on behalf of those who have suffered in His name.

21:29, 30 The tender buds that appear every spring on trees show that summer is approaching; the appearance of the signs Jesus describes will warn of the coming of the end times.

21:31 when you see . . . know: The cosmic signs and earthly chaos are indications that the decisive and consummate rule of God is approaching.

21:32 The most likely meaning of this verse is that when the end comes, it will come quickly. The events of the end times will fall within one generation from start to finish (17:22–24). The word generation can also refer to a race. Thus it may mean that the Jews will continue to exist as a people until the end.

21:33 by no means pass away: The disciples had the assurance that Jesus' promises concerning the end times were more certain than creation itself. God made an unconditional and unilateral covenant, and He will keep it (see Gen. 12:1–3; 15:18–21; Ps. 89).

21:34 Though the events of the end times may not come to pass for a long time, believers should continue to look for their arrival. The Day of Jesus' return should not take us by surprise. We should live as if it is imminent.

21:36 Watch . . . pray: Jesus encouraged His disciples to be persistent in prayer and faith, looking for the day when the Son of Man exonerates the faithful in the judgment, so that they are able to stand before Him (see 1 John 2:28).

22:1 This verse begins the “passion narrative,” the account of Jesus' death and resurrection. The Feast of Unleavened Bread took place immediately following Passover (see Ex. 12:1–20; Deut. 16:1–8). The two feasts were often considered as one. Passover commemorated the night of the tenth plague in Egypt, when the firstborn of Israel were “passed over” and spared by the angel of death. The Feast of Unleavened Bread celebrated the Exodus (see Ex. 12; Lev. 23:5, Ex. 12; 6). Many Jewish pilgrims traveled to Jerusalem to celebrate these feasts.

22:3 The journey to the Cross was not just a matter of human effort or Judas's plots. Cosmic forces were at work in the opposition to Jesus. Satan is mentioned in the temptations of Jesus, and in 10:18 and 13:16. The name derives from the Hebrew term for “adversary” (see Job 1:9–11).

22:4 Judas's involvement in the plot to betray Jesus was fortunate from the point of view of the Jewish religious leaders. They could arrest Jesus secretly and later claim that the driving force to stop Him came from within His own group of disciples. The captains, Levites who were members of the temple guard, were the ones who could make the arrest.

22:7 The synoptic Gospels are very clear that Jesus was betrayed on the day of Passover (see Matt. 26:17–19; Mark 14:12–16).

22:11, 12 guest room: Such rooms were often made available to the thousands of pilgrims who came to Jerusalem for the celebration of Passover and the Feast of Unleavened Bread. Such a room would contain couches for guests at the feasts to recline for the meal. Access to the room was probably gained by stairs on the outside of the house.

22:14–30 A comparison of this account with John 13:1–30 suggests that Luke has rearranged the order of events in a topical manner. Luke has the meal first and all the discourse afterward. In John's account, Judas was gone by the time the meal was shared. Luke's account does not mention Judas's departure. In addition, Luke mentions two cups, while the other three Gospels mention only one. A Passover meal had four courses and four cups. Thus it is obvious that all the Gospel writers summarize the events of the meal. The words over the bread and cup recorded by Luke are very similar to those of 1 Cor. 11:23–26.

22:16 I will no longer eat of it until it is fulfilled: In the kingdom to come, when final victory is celebrated, Jesus again will eat (see Rev. 19:9).

- 22:18 I will not drink of the fruit: As is made clear in v. 16, Jesus will abstain from celebrating a meal until His return.
- 22:19 My body . . . do this in remembrance: Jesus instituted a new meal which is not only a memorial of His death, but also a fellowship meal of unity. It is a proclamation and a symbol of the believers' anticipation of Jesus' return, when all God's promises will be fulfilled (see 1 Cor. 10:16, 17; 11:23–26). The bread of the Lord's Supper represents the body of Jesus, offered on behalf of His disciples.
- 22:20 This cup is the new covenant: The wine of the Lord's Supper depicts the giving of life, a sacrifice of blood, which inaugurates the new covenant for those who respond to Jesus' offer of salvation (see Heb. 8:8, 13; 9:11–28). This is the strongest substitutionary image in the Gospel of Luke: Jesus died on the Cross in our place and for our sins (see Acts 20:28).
- 22:22 Jesus would suffer as God's plan unfolded, and the one who betrayed Him would face woe.
- 22:24 the greatest: Note the sad irony in this verse. While Jesus faced the reality of being betrayed and killed, His disciples argued about which of them was greatest.
- 22:25 benefactors: This title suggests that the people should be grateful for the generous leaders of their nation and that they should recognize their power and authority.
- 22:26 as the younger . . . as he who serves: Leadership in the church does not exalt; it serves. It shows respect to others, as a young person would show respect to an elder. True leaders labor for others, as a servant would. In short, the Lord's view of greatness is the exact opposite of the world's view.
- 22:28 in My trials: Jesus recognized that the disciples had been present and had suffered with Him during His ministry.
- 22:29 Jesus passed on His kingdom authority to the apostles who would continue planting the church, a part of the kingdom. The authority that Jesus bestowed on them was like the authority that the Father had bestowed on Him.
- 22:30 eat and drink . . . sit on thrones judging: This is a promise of future blessing and authority. The disciples were promised a seat at the banquet of victory and the right to help Jesus rule over Israel on His return (see Matt. 19:28; 2 Tim. 2:12).
- 22:31 Satan has asked for you: The Greek word for you here is plural, indicating that Satan had asked permission to trouble all of the disciples.
- 22:32 I have prayed for you . . . when you have returned: The Greek word for you here is singular, referring specifically to Peter. In effect, Jesus restored Peter even before his fall (vv. 54–62), and He instructed the disciple to shepherd the saints by strengthening them.
- 22:35, 36 When I sent you: The allusion here is to the disciples' mission recorded in 9:1–6; 10:1–24. When the disciples had depended on God to provide for their needs, those needs were met through generous people. However, the situation had changed. Jesus here instructed His disciples to take a money bag, a knapsack, and a sword on their journeys in order to be prepared for the rejection that was to come.
- 22:37 this which is written: Jesus cited Is. 53:12, which describes a righteous one who suffers as a criminal. Jesus noted that His death would fulfill Isaiah's prediction.
- 22:38 Misunderstanding Jesus' instructions in v. 36, the disciples indicated that they had weapons with which to fight (vv. 50, 51).
- 22:39 Mount of Olives: Matthew 26:36 gives the name Gethsemane, while John 18:1 speaks more generally of a garden.

BIBLE TIMES & CULTURE NOTES

Mount of Olives

The Mount of Olives is a north-to-south ridge of hills east of Jerusalem that overlooks the temple. The closeness of the Mount of Olives to Jerusalem's walls made this series of hills a grave strategic danger. The Roman commander Titus had his headquarters on the northern extension of the ridge during the siege of Jerusalem in A.D. 70. He named the place Mt. Scopus, or "Lookout Hill," because of the view it offered over the city walls. The whole hill must have provided a platform for the Roman catapults that hurled heavy objects over the Jewish fortifications of the city. In ancient times the whole mount must have been heavily wooded. As its name implies, it was covered with dense olive groves. On this site Jesus sat with His disciples to discuss the future (Mark 13; 14).

22:42 Jesus agonized over His approaching death and the effect of God's wrath. The cup is a figure of speech for wrath (see Ps. 11:6; 75:7, 8; Jer. 25:15, 16; Ezek. 23:31–34).

22:43 strengthening Him: God's answer to Jesus' prayer did not allow His Son to avoid suffering. However, God did provide angelic help for Jesus to face what was coming. Sometimes God answers prayer by eliminating trials; sometimes He answers by strengthening us in the midst of them.

22:44 His sweat became like great drops of blood: Jesus' earnest prayer and emotion (vv. 42–44) led to a physical reaction. Though Jesus probably did not bleed here, His sweat became like blood.

22:48 Not only did Jesus remind Judas of what he had done, He also noted the irony of being betrayed with a kiss.

22:50 one of them struck the servant: John 18:10 indicates that this impetuous disciple was Peter (see also Matt. 26:51; Mark 14:47). His violent act risked giving the impression that the disciples were seditious.

22:51 touched his ear and healed him: Jesus mercifully healed the ear of one who was taking Him to His death. Jesus illustrated here the love for His enemies that He had commanded in 6:27–36.

22:52 as against a robber: The Greek term for robber was used of both highway bandits and revolutionaries. Jesus rebuked His captors for treating Him as though He were a dangerous lawbreaker.

22:54 This is Jesus' first appearance before Annas (see John 18:13).

22:59 for he is a Galilean: According to Mark 14:70, Peter's accent gave him away as being from the same region as Jesus.

22:61, 62 looked at Peter: Apparently a window opened into the courtyard, and Peter knew that the Lord was aware of his denials. wept bitterly: The Lord knew Peter better than Peter knew himself (v. 34). Peter was greatly grieved that he had failed Jesus.

22:63 mocked Him and beat Him: Matthew 26:67; Mark 14:65 further describe the abuse of Jesus at the hands of the soldiers as involving speaking, spitting, and slapping.

22:64 Prophecy: The soldiers played a game to mock Jesus. They covered His head and asked Him to identify who was striking Him.

22:66 The description here is of a major morning trial that involved all the Jewish religious leaders, the entire council or Sanhedrin. This trial violated various Jewish legal rules given in later sources: meeting on the morning of a feast; meeting at Caiaphas's home; trying a defendant without defense; and reaching the verdict in one day instead of the two days that were required for capital cases.

22:69 Hereafter means "from now on." Jesus' point was that authority would reside with Him from this point on. Though He was on trial, in reality He is the ultimate Judge. on the right hand of the power of God: Jesus' reply here alludes to the regal enthronement image of Ps. 110:1. This reply is what convicted Him. Apparently what offended Jesus' audience was His claim to sit in God's presence and to exercise divine authority. In effect, His answer to their question about being the Christ was more than they expected. It was not blasphemous to claim to be Messiah. What was blasphemous was the claim to be the Judge of the Jewish people, with God's authority. Jesus' remark also implies the hope of vindication. Though the people would kill Him, Jesus would end up at God's side. The title of the Son of Man is an allusion to Dan. 7 (see also Matt. 26:64; Mark 14:62).

22:70 Son of God: The Jewish leaders sensed that Jesus was claiming great authority here. They sensed that Jesus was asserting a unique and highly exalted relationship with God, making Himself the equal of God. In their view, this was not possible.

22:71 from His own mouth: The Jewish leadership concluded that Jesus had made a confession of guilt. Jesus was "convicted" by His claim to a relationship to God in which He exercises an authority like God's.

23:1 The Roman ruler Pilate was responsible for collecting taxes and keeping the peace. It may be that he was in Jerusalem for judicial hearings, a procedure called an "assize." The fact that others were crucified with Jesus makes this likely.

23:2 began to accuse: Three charges were lodged against Jesus: (1) perverting the nation, (2) forbidding payment of taxes to Rome, (3) claiming to be the Christ. The first charge, which was a general complaint, involved disturbing the peace. The other two charges could have been construed as challenges to Rome. The second charge was a blatant lie (see 20:20–26). The third charge was true, but not in the threatening sense that the prosecutors suggested. A three-part Roman procedure was followed at the trial: charges, examination, and verdict.

23:3 It is as you say: Jesus gave Pilate the same qualified reply He gave the Sanhedrin in 22:67, 68, 70. Jesus is a king, but He was not a threat to Rome (see John 18:36).

23:4 I find no fault: Pilate's verdict was that Jesus was innocent. This is the first of several such declarations in this chapter (vv. 14, 15, 22, 41). Jesus' suffering and death were those of an innocent, righteous One (v. 47).

23:5 By mentioning the charge that Jesus stirred up the people, the leaders suggested that Pilate risked being found derelict in his duty if he let Jesus go.

23:7 Herod's jurisdiction: Herod was responsible for Galilee, so Pilate "passed the buck" for the ruling and showed political courtesy at the same time.

23:8 he was exceedingly glad: Herod's curiosity about Jesus is noted in 9:7–9.

- 23:9 answered him nothing: Jesus may have remained silent because He had already been declared innocent and yet was still subjected to trial (see Acts 8:32, 33).
- 23:11 After deciding that he had nothing to fear from Jesus, Herod and his men entertained themselves at Jesus' expense. Dressing him in a gorgeous robe was probably a sarcastic reference to Jesus' claim to be king.
- 23:16 chastise Him and release Him: Pilate hoped that a public whipping might satisfy the crowd and tame Jesus, avoiding the need to resort to the death penalty.
- 23:17 it was necessary . . . to release one to them: Pilate wanted to take advantage of this custom and let Jesus go (see Matt. 27:15; Mark 15:6).
- 23:18, 19 Away with this Man: The entire crowd is portrayed as wanting Jesus to die. Luke makes it clear that Jesus' death was not only instigated by Jewish officials but approved by the Jewish people. Barabbas: The people preferred that a seditious murderer be freed instead of Jesus. The idea of Jesus' substitution for this noted murderer foreshadows the substitutionary death of Jesus for sinful people.
- 23:23 Luke mentions the chief priests separately from the crowd since they were the instigators of the plot against Jesus. Because Pilate feared the will of the people, he entered into the conspiracy and shared its guilt, agreeing to put to death someone he knew to be innocent (see Acts 4:25–27).
- 23:26 Jesus was apparently unable to carry His own cross. Simon a Cyrenian, a man from a leading city of Libya, was chosen to carry the cross for Him (see Acts 6:9; 11:20; 13:1). Mark 15:20, 21 mentions that Simon's sons were Rufus and Alexander, believers known to Mark's audience.
- 23:27 The events of vv. 27–31 are unique to Luke's account. While such mourning for the dead was required by custom in the ancient world, Jesus' reply seems to take the people's mourning as sincere.
- 23:28 do not weep for Me: Though He was dying, Jesus pointed out that their weeping should be for Jerusalem and its inhabitants, since judgment was going to fall on the city (19:41–44). Jerusalem here represents the entire nation of Israel.
- 23:29, 30 barren: In the days of judgment, the children, who were usually thought of as cursed, would be better off than those with family because the terror of that time would be so great. Fall on us: Fear of the judgment would be so great that people would prefer to die rather than suffer what was coming. There is an allusion here to Hos. 10:8 (see also Rev. 6:16). People who face God's judgment desire the relief of death rather than to endure His wrath.
- 23:31 what will be done in the dry: The idea here seems to be "If this is what is done to a live tree, what will happen to the dead one?" In other words, "If Jesus, the living tree, has not been spared, how much more will dead wood not be spared." This is Jesus' final lament over the nation of Israel.
- 23:32 Jesus' prediction of dying with the transgressors (see 22:37; see also Isaiah's prediction in Is. 53:12) was fulfilled when two criminals accompanied Him to death.
- 23:33 The name of the place in Aramaic is Golgotha, which means "Skull." Calvary is the Latin name for Golgotha. Possibly the name referred to a geographical feature of the locale, something that resembled a skull.

Crucifixion

At the time of Jesus' death, crucifixion was considered the most painful and degrading form of capital punishment in the Roman Empire. It was considered so horrible that it was used by the Romans only for slaves, those from the provinces under their control, and the lowest types of criminals. It was not to be used for a Roman citizen. This is in accord with the biblical account of Christ's death and with church tradition, which asserts that Peter was also crucified, but Paul, a Roman citizen, was beheaded.

Crucifixion as a means of execution probably grew out of the practice of displaying the heads of captured enemies or criminals on a wooden stake like those used to build a wall or erect fortifications. Later, entire bodies were impaled. By Jesus' time, crucifixion was a common sight.

Although methods of crucifixion seem to have varied throughout the Roman Empire, through biblical and historical accounts the basic pattern is known. The condemned person was first scourged with a flagellum, a whip of leather thongs with bits of metal or bone attached. This whipping greatly weakened the victim, who then had to carry the crossbeam to the place of execution. A sign specifying the crime was often placed around the criminal's neck or on the cross. The person was stripped naked, laid on the ground with the crossbeam under his shoulders, and tied or nailed to it. Nailing made the victim die quicker, as it did Jesus, whom the Jewish officials wanted dead before the Sabbath. The crossbeam was lifted and secured to a post so that the person's feet were hanging just off the ground. Some archaeologists think a pin or wooden block was placed halfway up the post to provide a seat for the body so that the nails would not tear open the wounds, causing the body to fall. The feet also could be nailed or tied to the post.

Although the pain was excruciating, some victims survived on the cross for days. As in the case of the two criminals crucified with Jesus, the legs of a crucified person were sometimes broken to make the sufferer die. This caused massive shock, followed by loss of circulation and heart failure.

Although completely innocent of all sin, Jesus suffered the most horrible, disgraceful punishment known. But His agonizing death was not an ordinary death, for it was not the final chapter. Jesus turned this apparent defeat into the most glorious victory the world has ever known. At the Cross, He suffered for the sins of the world. Then after His resurrection from the dead three days later, Jesus empowered His disciples with a new message, the Good News that He had finally defeated the power of sin and death. Through the Cross, Jesus offers salvation to all who will believe in Him.

23:34 Those who put Jesus to death acted in ignorance, not really understanding who it was they were killing. Jesus' example of interceding for His executioners was followed by Stephen in Acts 7:60. divided His garments and cast lots: The language here alludes to the suffering Righteous One of Ps. 22:18.

23:36 The drink referred to here was probably wine vinegar, which was inexpensive and quenched thirst better than water. It was a drink of the poor.

23:38 KING OF THE JEWS: This inscription, which gave the charge against Christ, was written in three languages. Jesus was killed for who He is.

23:40 Not everyone rejected Jesus at His crucifixion. The second criminal rebuked his companion in death, warning that he should fear God. The sarcastic thief, who would suffer judgment, was in no position to insult Jesus.

23:41 we indeed justly: One criminal knew the difference between those who had sinned and deserved to die and the One who did not.

23:42 remember me: This remark is amazing for its insight. While others mocked Jesus' seeming inability to save Himself, this thief recognized that Jesus would live and rule. He wanted to be saved and take part in Christ's kingdom.

23:43 you will be with Me: Jesus promised eternal life to the thief, doing what the mockers had asked Him to do in v. 39.

Word Studies

Paradise

(Gk. paradeisos) (23:43; 2 Cor. 12:4; Rev. 2:7) Strong's #3857

This word literally means “garden” or “park.” It was used with such a meaning in the Greek OT in Eccl. 2:5; Song 4:13. The Septuagint also used paradeisos for the Garden of Eden (see Gen. 2:8). In later Jewish thought, Paradise is the place of the righteous dead in Sheol. Jesus perhaps alluded to this idea in His story of Lazarus going to Abraham in 16:19–31. And when Jesus spoke to the thief on the Cross, He promised him that he would that day be with Him in Paradise (23:43). This again seems to indicate a pleasant place for the righteous among the dead. The promise of Paradise in Rev. 2:7 speaks of the restitution of an Edenic paradise, an everlasting home for believers (compare Gen. 2; Rev. 22).

Go to the List of Word Studies

23:44 sixth hour . . . ninth hour: The first hour was sunrise, so the time was 12 P.M. to 3 P.M. During these three hours, signs of creation revealed that the hour was not one of light but of darkness (22:53).

23:45 the sun was darkened: This testimony of creation was designed to signal the importance of Jesus' death. Passover falls on the full moon, so this cannot have been an eclipse of the sun. The imagery is similar to that associated with the day of the Lord (Joel 2:10, 30, 31; Amos 8; 9; Zeph. 1:15). It is not clear whether the curtain that was torn was the one at the entrance to the tabernacle, or the inner curtain that separated the Holy Place from the Most Holy Place. The tearing of the veil symbolizes a renewed access to God through the death of Christ (see v. 43; Heb 9; 10).

23:46 into Your hands: Jesus' final words are from Ps. 31:5, where this is the prayer of trust from a righteous sufferer. Jesus exercised that faith here.

23:47 In Matt. 27:54; Mark 15:39, the centurion's remark is noted as a confession of the Son of God. If Jesus was righteous and innocent, then He is who He claimed to be. Thus a second figure besides the thief on the cross had insight into Jesus' death.

23:49 The Galileans stood at a distance to watch Jesus' crucifixion. Their sadness is further explained in 24:16–20.

23:50 Joseph, a council member: Not every Jewish religious leader opposed Jesus.

23:51 He had not consented: Joseph did not agree with the sentence of Jesus. Mark 14:64 suggests that “all” present were in favor of Jesus' execution, so Joseph may not have attended the trial. waiting for the kingdom of God: The description of Joseph in vv. 50, 51 recalls Zacharias and Elizabeth (1:5, 6) and Simeon and Anna (2:25, 38). The description suggests that Joseph was a follower of Christ.

23:52 the body of Jesus: There is no doubt that Jesus died. Efforts to explain the Resurrection as something like a return from a coma are more impossible than the idea of the Resurrection itself.

23:53 Jesus was given an honorable burial (see Deut. 21:22, 23). The linen was probably fine cloth. The tomb had a stone to cover it in order to make it secure (see Matt. 27:66). Guards were posted to stop anyone trying to steal the body (Matt. 27:65, 66).

23:54 Jesus was buried late on Friday, on the day called Preparation, when everything was made ready for the Sabbath, the day when no labor could take place.

23:56 prepared spices and fragrant oils: On Friday the women prepared for the anointing of Jesus' body on the day after the Sabbath, since they could not make preparations on the Sabbath. The spices were used to delay decay and lessen the odor of the body. Mark 16:1 notes that spices were also purchased after the Sabbath. Apparently the women did not anticipate a resurrection.

24:2 Matthew 28:2 mentions that an earthquake moved the stone, which would have fit in a channel in front of the entrance to the tomb. Moving the stone would have been possible, though difficult, for a group of people. The earthquake settles the question of how the stone was moved.

24:4, 5 It may be assumed that the two men who appeared were angels, based on the way their clothes are described as shining garments (see also v. 23). Why do you seek the living: Angels announced that Jesus was alive. Anointing Him would not be necessary.

24:6 is risen . . . Remember: The women were reminded that Jesus had predicted His resurrection as far back as Galilee (see 9:22).

24:10 Three women are named: Mary Magdalene (see 8:2; Matt. 28:1; Mark 16:1; John 20:1), Joanna (8:3), and Mary the mother of James (see Mark 15:40; 16:1). Other women also joined in the report of Jesus' resurrection. Mary, the last one at the Cross and the first one at the tomb, was given the privilege of relaying the first resurrection message.

24:11 Skepticism reigned among the disciples. It is clear that they did not expect a resurrection. they did not believe: The disciples thought the women's story was nonsense.

24:12 Peter arose and ran: Having already experienced a fulfilled prediction of the Lord (22:54–62), Peter hurried to the tomb to check out the women's story. It is hard to say whether Peter believed in the Resurrection when he left the tomb. Does his marveling indicate amazement or faith?

24:19–21 Jesus of Nazareth . . . a Prophet: These disciples on the road to Emmaus regarded Jesus as the Revealer of God's way and the Doer of His work. He who was going to redeem Israel: The disciples had hoped that God would once again save Israel through Jesus.

24:23 a vision of angels . . . said He was alive: The women reported that there was no body found in Jesus' tomb, and that angels had announced to them that Jesus lives. The fact that the men were still sad indicates that they did not believe the report. They were among the skeptics of v. 11.

24:24 As far as the disciples were concerned, there was still no decisive proof of Jesus' resurrection. They wanted to see the resurrected Jesus. Thomas was not alone in his doubts (see John 20:25).

24:25 slow of heart to believe: Jesus, who at this time was still not known to the travelers, rebuked His companions and reminded them of the things that the prophets taught.

24:26 The prophets taught the suffering of the Christ and His entrance into glory. The passages referred to here would include Ps. 16; 100; Is. 53. See the Book of Acts for the apostle's use of these passages to prove that Jesus is the promised Messiah (see Acts 2:14–36; 8:32, 33). Note how Jesus used the title of Christ (Messiah) to refer to Himself, while the disciples called Him merely a prophet (v. 19).

24:27 Going from the books of Moses to the Prophets, Jesus provided an overview of God's plan in the Scriptures. This plan is present throughout the entire OT (see Acts 3:22–26; 10:43).

24:34 Before the two travelers could report their experience, the other disciples reported that Simon had seen Jesus as well.

24:37 a spirit: The disciples had a difficult time adjusting to the fact that the raised Jesus was in their midst. They believed they were seeing a heavenly apparition (see v. 39).

24:38 why do doubts arise: Jesus' appearances were designed to reassure the disciples about the reality of His vindication.

24:39 Jesus pointed out that a raised body is not a disembodied spirit. The presence of flesh and bones indicates that Jesus had been raised bodily, and that He was not a hallucination. He was raised in the same physical body in which He had been put to death. The difference was that His resurrected body is not corruptible and not subject to death. The apostle Paul discusses the resurrection body in 1 Cor. 15:35–58.

- 24:43 The physical nature of Jesus' resurrected body was confirmed by the fact that he ate something.
- 24:44, 45 The plan of God as outlined in the Law of Moses and the Prophets and the Psalms was being fulfilled in Jesus. This threefold categorization of the ancient Scriptures summarizes the contents of the OT. opened their understanding: The disciples' comprehension involved seeing how God's plan, as outlined in the Scriptures, fits together.
- 24:46 Christ to suffer and to rise: Two parts of God's plan had been fulfilled. Jesus had been crucified and raised from the dead. OT texts that predict these events are Ps. 118:22 (see Acts 4:11) and Ps. 22.
- 24:47 Jesus had been considered a pretender and a blasphemer. After His resurrection, people had to change their minds and serve Him for who He really is, the Son of God. This is the message Peter would preach at Pentecost, a message that would result in thousands of people declaring Jesus as their Lord. Jesus summarized the mission of the disciples as preaching repentance, calling people to turn from their own selfish ways to Christ, the One who had died for them. remission of sins: The content of the disciples' preaching would center on God's gracious offer of forgiveness to all who would believe (see Acts 2:38; 10:43). in His name: This is a reference to Jesus' authority. Forgiveness and blessing come only through the work of the risen Jesus (see Acts 2:30–39). The message of Jesus' salvation can go to all nations, to Jews and Gentiles alike. The offer is made to anyone who will receive it (see Acts 10:15). The disciples' mission would begin in Jerusalem where Jesus died; from there, it would spread out into the entire world (see Acts 1:8).
- 24:48 witnesses: Jesus pointed out that the disciples were called to testify to His work (see Acts 1:8, 22; 3:15; 5:32; 10:39, 41; 13:31; 22:15; 26:16).
- 24:49 Promise of My Father: This is a reference to the baptism of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost (see Acts 2). It was promised in Joel 2:28 (see Acts 2:14–18), and in Jer. 31:31–33. Peter called this coming of the Spirit "the beginning" (see Acts 11:15) because the real fulfillment of God's promise of salvation would start in those people united by the Spirit to establish the church. tarry in the city of Jerusalem until you are endued with power from on high: The disciples were to remain in Jerusalem until the Spirit empowered them on the day of Pentecost.
- 24:50 Bethany was just outside Jerusalem (19:29).
- 24:51 carried up into heaven: This is the first of two descriptions of the Ascension in Luke and Acts (see Acts 1:9–11). Luke may be summarizing here what happened 40 days later to create a link to the Book of Acts.
- 24:53 continually in the temple praising and blessing God: The disciples' sorrow over Jesus' death had been totally reversed (v. 17). Now the disciples awaited the promise of God with joy. Luke's account continues in the Book of Acts. There he records the disciple's initial response to Jesus' commission to preach to all the nations (v. 47).

Introduction

The words “Read This First” have taken an important role in the packaging of modern consumer products. Most consumers think life is too short for instruction manuals, so the packagers state it plainly: If you cannot read the manual, at least read this very important part. “Read This First”—it is for your own good. The Gospel of John makes a similar claim. It is the only book in the Bible that states its purpose clearly and succinctly: It was written to tell individuals how to find eternal life (20:31). This clearly identified purpose sets the Gospel of John apart from the other Gospels. It is not so much a life of Jesus as it is a powerful presentation of His deity. Every chapter presents evidence—both signs and statements—for His divine authority. According to John, believing that Jesus is the Son of God, the Savior of the world, is the beginning of eternal life (3:14–17). What could be more important? John’s statement about his Gospel is as good as a “Read This First” sticker for one’s entire life.

Author The author of the Gospel of John does not identify himself by name, but his identity can be learned from the dialogue recorded in 21:19–24. The author calls himself “the disciple whom Jesus loved” (21:20), a designation that occurs four other times in the book (13:23; 19:26; 20:2; 21:7). This was the same “disciple who . . . wrote these things” (21:24). The author had to be one of the twelve apostles, because he is described as leaning on Jesus' bosom at the Last Supper, an event to which only the apostles were invited (13:23; see Mark 14:17). These details imply that he was one of the three disciples closest to Jesus: Peter, James, or John (see Matt. 17:1). He could not be Peter, because 21:20 states that Peter looked back and saw this one Jesus loved, and in another place asked a question of him (13:23, 24). On the other hand, James was martyred too early to be the author of this Gospel (see Acts 12:1, 2). Thus it is reasonable to conclude that this book was written by the apostle John. This conclusion is supported by early Christians such as Polycarp (A.D. 60–155), who was a follower of John.

Date In the nineteenth century, many critics claimed that the Gospel of John was written around A.D. 170. Then in 1935 C. H. Roberts discovered a scrap of papyrus in Egypt containing portions of 18:31–33, 37, 38 that disproved their theory. This fragment, the Rylands papyrus, was written around A.D. 125. The Gospel itself must have been written before A.D. 125, or even A.D. 110, allowing time for it to be copied and then carried to Egypt.

Conservative scholars typically date the book between A.D. 85 and A.D. 95.

The book makes no reference to the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70, implying that such a significant event must have occurred many years earlier. Moreover, the statement about Peter in 21:18, 23 seems to indicate that the Gospel was written when John was an old man. Only then would John have had to explain the death of Peter, or contend with a long-standing rumor of the early church. Others have suggested a date before A.D. 70 on the basis of 5:2, which indicates that Jerusalem was still standing. But there is a question about the interpretation of the tense of the verb to be. It is likely that the reason John used the present tense in this verse was to describe Jerusalem vividly, not to describe its present condition. Without more evidence than the tense of the verb in 5:2, the date of around A.D. 90 still seems most reasonable.

Theology The Gospel of John is a persuasive argument for the deity of Jesus. It concentrates on presenting Jesus as the Word, that is, God (1:1) who became a man (1:14). Thus John meticulously records the statements and describes the miracles of Jesus that can only be attributed to God Himself.

Jesus called Himself the bread of life (6:35, 41, 48, 51), the light of the world (8:12; 9:5), the door for the sheep (10:7, 9), the good shepherd (10:11, 14), the resurrection and the life (11:25), the way, the truth, the life (14:6), and the true vine (15:1, 5). Each of these statements begins with the words, “I am,” recalling God’s revelation of His name, “I AM,” to Moses (see Ex. 3:14). Jesus did not say He gave bread; He said He is the Bread which gives life. He did not say He would teach the way, the truth, and the life; instead He said He is the Way, because He is the Truth and the Life. These are Jesus’ clear claims to deity: He was not a mere man.

Then there are the signs of Jesus’ deity. Miracles in the Gospel of John are called “signs” because they point to Jesus’ divine nature. John records seven such signs: changing water into wine (2:1–11), healing a man’s son (4:46–54), healing a lame man (5:1–9), multiplying bread and fish (6:1–14), walking on water (6:15–21), healing a blind man (9:1–7), and raising Lazarus (11:38–44). These miracles show that Jesus is God; He possesses power over nature. Other indications of Jesus’ deity include the testimonies of John the Baptist (1:32–34), Nathanael (1:49), the blind man (9:35–38), Martha (11:27), and Thomas (20:28)—not to mention Jesus’ own words (5:19–26).

Jesus was also fully man. His body grew weary (4:6), His soul was troubled (12:27; 13:21), and He groaned in His spirit (11:33). At the same time, this God-man was Israel’s Messiah. Andrew told his brother, “We have found the Messiah” (1:41). Nathanael concluded, “You are the Son of God!

You are the King of Israel!” (1:49). Even the Samaritan woman testified to Jesus’ identity (4:25, 26, 29). Jesus the Messiah was and is the Savior of the world (4:42; 11:27; 12:13).

John urges us to trust in Jesus for eternal life. Our trust is built on our belief that (1) the Father is in Christ, and Christ is in the Father (10:38; 14:10, 11); (2) Christ came from God (16:17, 30), and God sent Him (11:42; 17:8, 21; see 6:29); and (3) He is the Son of God (6:69; 11:27; 20:31). John reveals the Bible’s most important message: Believe and follow Jesus, because He is the way to eternal life.

Christ in the Scriptures

John focuses on Jesus' claim that He was God by including Christ's seven "I am" statements: "I am the bread of life" (6:35, 48); "I am the light of the world" (8:12); "I am the door" (10:7, 9); "I am the good shepherd" (10:11, 14); "I am the resurrection and the life" (11:25); "I am the way, the truth, and the life" (14:6); "I am the true vine" (15:1).

John doesn't take any chances that we might miss what these "I am" statements suggest. He records certain occasions when Jesus equates Himself with the Old Testament "I AM" (Yahweh). You can't be more specific than this: "Most assuredly, I say to you, before Abraham was, I AM" (8:58).

John's Witness: The True Light

⁶There was a ^jman sent from God, whose name was John.

⁷This man came for a ^kwitness, to bear witness of the Light, that all through him might ^lbelieve.

⁸He was not that Light, but was sent to bear witness of that ^mLight.

⁹ⁿThat ²was the true Light which gives light to every man coming into the world.

¹⁰He was in the world, and the world was made through Him, and ^othe world did not know Him.

^{11p}He came to His ³own, and His ⁴own did not receive Him.

¹²But ^qas many as received Him, to them He gave the ⁵right to become children of God, to those who believe in His name: ^{13r}who were born, not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God.

The Word Becomes Flesh

^{14s}And the Word ^tbecame ^uflesh and dwelt among us, and ^vwe beheld His glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father, ^wfull of grace and truth.

^{15x}John bore witness of Him and cried out, saying, “This was He of whom I said, ^y‘He who comes after me ⁶is preferred before me, ^zfor He was before me.’ ”

¹⁶⁷And of His ^afullness we have all received, and grace for grace.

¹⁷For ^bthe law was given through Moses, but ^cgrace and ^dtruth came through Jesus Christ.

^{18e}No one has seen God at any time. ^fThe only begotten ⁸Son, who is in the bosom of the Father, He has declared Him.

A Voice in the Wilderness

(Matt. 3:1–12; Mark 1:1–8; Luke 3:1–20) ¹⁹Now this is ^gthe testimony of John, when the Jews sent priests and Levites from Jerusalem to ask him, “Who are you?”

^{20h}He confessed, and did not deny, but confessed, “I am not the Christ.”

²¹And they asked him, “What then? Are you Elijah?” He said, “I am not.” “Are you ⁱthe Prophet?” And he answered, “No.”

²²Then they said to him, “Who are you, that we may give an answer to those who sent us? What do you say about yourself?”

²³He said: ^j“I am

^k*‘The voice of one crying in the wilderness: “Make straight the way of the LORD,” ’*

as the prophet Isaiah said.”

²⁴Now those who were sent were from the Pharisees.

²⁵And they asked him, saying, “Why then do you baptize if you are not the Christ, nor Elijah, nor the Prophet?”

²⁶John answered them, saying, ^l“I baptize with water, ^mbut there stands One among you whom you do not know.

²⁷ⁿ“It is He who, coming after me, ⁹is preferred before me, whose sandal strap I am not worthy to loose.”

²⁸These things were done ^oin ¹⁰Bethabara beyond the Jordan, where John was baptizing.

The Lamb of God

(Matt. 3:13–17; Mark 1:9–11; Luke 3:21, 22) ²⁹The next day John saw Jesus coming toward him, and said, “Behold! ^pThe Lamb of God ^qwho takes away the sin of the world!

³⁰“This is He of whom I said, ‘After me comes a Man who ¹¹is preferred before me, for He was before me.’

³¹“I did not know Him; but that He should be revealed to Israel, ^rtherefore I came baptizing with water.”

^{32s}And John bore witness, saying, “I saw the Spirit descending from heaven like a dove, and He remained upon Him.

³³“I did not know Him, but He who sent me to baptize with water said to me, ‘Upon whom you see the Spirit descending, and remaining on Him, ^tthis is He who baptizes with the Holy Spirit.’

³⁴“And I have seen and testified that this is the ^uSon of God.”

The First Disciples

³⁵Again, the next day, John stood with two of his disciples.

³⁶And looking at Jesus as He walked, he said, ^v“Behold the Lamb of God!”

³⁷The two disciples heard him speak, and they ^wfollowed Jesus.

³⁸Then Jesus turned, and seeing them following, said to them, “What do you seek?” They said to Him, “Rabbi” (which is to say, when translated, Teacher), “where are You staying?”

³⁹He said to them, “Come and see.” They came and saw where He was staying, and remained with Him that day (now it was about the tenth hour).

⁴⁰One of the two who heard John speak, and followed Him, was ^xAndrew, Simon Peter’s brother.

⁴¹He first found his own brother Simon, and said to him, “We have found the ¹²Messiah” (which is translated, the Christ).

⁴²And he brought him to Jesus. Now when Jesus looked at him, He said, “You are Simon the son of ¹³Jonah. ^yYou shall be called Cephas” (which is translated, ¹⁴A Stone).

Philip and Nathanael

⁴³The following day Jesus wanted to go to Galilee, and He found ^zPhilip and said to him, “Follow Me.”

⁴⁴Now ^aPhilip was from Bethsaida, the city of Andrew and Peter.

⁴⁵Philip found ^bNathanael and said to him, “We have found Him of whom ^cMoses in the law, and also the ^dprophets, wrote—Jesus ^eof Nazareth, the ^fson of Joseph.”

⁴⁶And Nathanael said to him, ^g“Can anything good come out of Nazareth?” Philip said to him, “Come and see.” Bible Times & Culture Notes: Nazareth

⁴⁷Jesus saw Nathanael coming toward Him, and said of him, “Behold, ^han Israelite indeed, in whom is no deceit!”

⁴⁸Nathanael said to Him, “How do You know me?” Jesus answered and said to him, “Before Philip called you, when you were under the fig tree, I saw you.”

⁴⁹Nathanael answered and said to Him, “Rabbi, ⁱYou are the Son of God! You are ^jthe King of Israel!”

⁵⁰Jesus answered and said to him, “Because I said to you, ‘I saw you under the fig tree,’ do you believe? You will see greater things than these.”

⁵¹And He said to him, “Most assuredly, I say to you, ^khereafter¹⁵ you shall see heaven open, and the angels of God ascending and descending upon the Son of Man.”

John 2

Water Turned to Wine

¹On the third day there was a ^awedding in ^bCana of Galilee, and the ^cmother of Jesus was there.

²Now both Jesus and His disciples were invited to the wedding.

³And when they ran out of wine, the mother of Jesus said to Him, “They have no wine.”

⁴Jesus said to her, ^d“Woman, ^ewhat does your concern have to do with Me? ^fMy hour has not yet come.”

⁵His mother said to the servants, “Whatever He says to you, do it.”

⁶Now there were set there six waterpots of stone, ^gaccording to the manner of purification of the Jews, containing twenty or thirty gallons apiece.

⁷Jesus said to them, “Fill the waterpots with water.” And they filled them up to the brim.

⁸And He said to them, “Draw some out now, and take it to the master of the feast.” And they took it.

⁹When the master of the feast had tasted ^hthe water that was made wine, and did not know where it came from (but the servants who had drawn the water knew), the master of the feast called the bridegroom.

¹⁰And he said to him, “Every man at the beginning sets out the good wine, and when the guests have well drunk, then the inferior. You have kept the good wine until now!”

¹¹This ⁱbeginning of signs Jesus did in Cana of Galilee, ^jand ¹manifested His glory; and His disciples believed in Him.

¹²After this He went down to ^kCapernaum, He, His mother, ^lHis brothers, and His disciples; and they did not stay there many days.

Jesus Cleanses the Temple

(Matt. 21:12–17; Mark 11:15–19; Luke 19:45–48) ^{13m}Now the Passover of the Jews was at hand, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem.

¹⁴ⁿAnd He found in the temple those who sold oxen and sheep and doves, and the money changers ²doing business.

¹⁵When He had made a whip of cords, He drove them all out of the temple, with the sheep and the oxen, and poured out the changers' money and overturned the tables.

¹⁶And He said to those who sold doves, "Take these things away! Do not make ^oMy Father's house a house of merchandise!"

¹⁷Then His disciples remembered that it was written, ^p"Zeal for Your house ³*has eaten Me up.*"

¹⁸So the Jews answered and said to Him, ^q"What sign do You show to us, since You do these things?"

¹⁹Jesus answered and said to them, ^r"Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up."

²⁰Then the Jews said, "It has taken forty-six years to build this temple, and will You raise it up in three days?"

²¹But He was speaking ^sof the temple of His body.

²²Therefore, when He had risen from the dead, ^tHis disciples remembered that He had said this ⁴to them; and they believed the Scripture and the word which Jesus had said.

The Discerner of Hearts

²³Now when He was in Jerusalem at the Passover, during the feast, many believed in His name when they saw the ^usigns which He did.

²⁴But Jesus did not commit Himself to them, because He ^vknew all men, ²⁵and had no need that anyone should testify of man, for ^wHe knew what was in man.

John 3

The New Birth

¹There was a man of the Pharisees named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews.

^{2a}This man came to Jesus by night and said to Him, “Rabbi, we know that You are a teacher come from God; for ^bno one can do these signs that You do unless ^cGod is with him.”

³Jesus answered and said to him, “Most assuredly, I say to you, ^dunless one is born ¹again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.” Word Studies: born again

⁴Nicodemus said to Him, “How can a man be born when he is old? Can he enter a second time into his mother’s womb and be born?”

⁵Jesus answered, “Most assuredly, I say to you, ^eunless one is born of water and the Spirit, he cannot enter the kingdom of God.

⁶“That which is born of the flesh is ^fflesh, and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit.

⁷“Do not marvel that I said to you, ‘You must be born again.’

^{8g}“The wind blows where it wishes, and you hear the sound of it, but cannot tell where it comes from and where it goes. So is everyone who is born of the Spirit.”

⁹Nicodemus answered and said to Him, ^h“How can these things be?”

¹⁰Jesus answered and said to him, “Are you the teacher of Israel, and do not know these things?

¹¹ⁱ“Most assuredly, I say to you, We speak what We know and testify what We have seen, and ^jyou do not receive Our witness.

¹²“If I have told you earthly things and you do not believe, how will you believe if I tell you heavenly things?

^{13k}“No one has ascended to heaven but He who came down from heaven, that is, the Son of Man ²who is in heaven.

^{14l}“And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so ^mmust the Son of Man be lifted up, ¹⁵“that whoever ⁿbelieves in Him should ³not perish but ^ohave eternal life.

^{16p}“For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten ^qSon, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life. Word Studies: the only begotten Son ^{17r}“For God did not send His Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through Him might be saved.

^{18s}“He who believes in Him is not condemned; but he who does not believe is condemned already, because he has not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God.

¹⁹“And this is the condemnation, ^tthat the light has come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil.

²⁰“For ^ueveryone practicing evil hates the light and does not come to the light, lest his deeds should be exposed.

²¹“But he who does the truth comes to the light, that his deeds may be clearly seen, that they have been ^vdone in God.”

John the Baptist Exalts Christ

²²After these things Jesus and His disciples came into the land of Judea, and there He remained with them ^wand baptized.

²³Now John also was baptizing in Aenon near ^xSalim, because there was much water there. ^yAnd they came and were baptized.

²⁴For ^zJohn had not yet been thrown into prison.

²⁵Then there arose a dispute between some of John's disciples and the Jews about purification.

²⁶And they came to John and said to him, "Rabbi, He who was with you beyond the Jordan, ^ato whom you have testified—behold, He is baptizing, and all ^bare coming to Him!"

²⁷John answered and said, ^c"A man can receive nothing unless it has been given to him from heaven.

²⁸"You yourselves bear me witness, that I said, ^d"I am not the Christ," but, ^e"I have been sent before Him."

²⁹^f"He who has the bride is the bridegroom; but ^gthe friend of the bridegroom, who stands and hears him, rejoices greatly because of the bridegroom's voice. Therefore this joy of mine is fulfilled.

³⁰^h"He must increase, but I must decrease.

³¹ⁱ"He who comes from above ^jis above all; ^khe who is of the earth is earthly and speaks of the earth. ^lHe who comes from heaven is above all.

³²"And ^mwhat He has seen and heard, that He testifies; and no one receives His testimony.

³³"He who has received His testimony ⁿhas certified that God is true.

³⁴^o"For He whom God has sent speaks the words of God, for God does not give the Spirit ^pby measure.

³⁵^q"The Father loves the Son, and has given all things into His hand.

³⁶^r"He who believes in the Son has everlasting life; and he who does not believe the Son shall not see life, but the ^swrath of God abides on him."

John 4

A Samaritan Woman Meets Her Messiah

¹Therefore, when the Lord knew that the Pharisees had heard that Jesus made and ^abaptized more disciples than John ²(though Jesus Himself did not baptize, but His disciples), ³He left Judea and departed again to Galilee.

⁴But He needed to go through Samaria.

⁵So He came to a city of Samaria which is called Sychar, near the plot of ground that ^bJacob ^cgave to his son Joseph. In-Text Map: Jesus in Judea and Samaria

⁶Now Jacob's well was there. Jesus therefore, being wearied from His journey, sat thus by the well. It was about the sixth hour.

⁷A woman of Samaria came to draw water. Jesus said to her, "Give Me a drink."

⁸For His disciples had gone away into the city to buy food.

⁹Then the woman of Samaria said to Him, "How is it that You, being a Jew, ask a drink from me, a Samaritan woman?" For ^dJews have no dealings with ^eSamaritans.

¹⁰Jesus answered and said to her, "If you knew the ^fgift of God, and who it is who says to you, 'Give Me a drink,' you would have asked Him, and He would have given you ^gliving water."

¹¹The woman said to Him, "Sir, You have nothing to draw with, and the well is deep. Where then do You get that living water?"

¹²"Are You greater than our father Jacob, who gave us the well, and drank from it himself, as well as his sons and his livestock?"

¹³Jesus answered and said to her, "Whoever drinks of this water will thirst again,

¹⁴"but ^hwhoever drinks of the water that I shall give him will never thirst. But the water that I shall give him ⁱwill become in him a fountain of water springing up into everlasting life." Word Studies: fountain

¹⁵The woman said to Him, "Sir, give me this water, that I may not thirst, nor come here to draw."

¹⁶Jesus said to her, "Go, call your husband, and come here."

¹⁷The woman answered and said, "I have no husband." Jesus said to her,

“You have well said, ‘I have no husband,’

¹⁸“for you have had five husbands, and the one whom you now have is not your husband; in that you spoke truly.”

¹⁹The woman said to Him, “Sir, ^kI perceive that You are a prophet.

²⁰“Our fathers worshiped on ^lthis mountain, and you Jews say that in ^mJerusalem is the place where one ought to worship.”

²¹Jesus said to her, “Woman, believe Me, the hour is coming ⁿwhen you will neither on this mountain, nor in Jerusalem, worship the Father.

²²“You worship ^owhat you do not know; we know what we worship, for ^psalvation is of the Jews.

²³“But the hour is coming, and now is, when the true worshipers will ^qworship the Father in ^rspirit ^sand truth; for the Father is seeking such to worship Him.

²⁴“God is Spirit, and those who worship Him must worship in spirit and truth.”

²⁵The woman said to Him, “I know that Messiah ^uis coming” (who is called Christ). “When He comes, ^vHe will tell us all things.”

²⁶Jesus said to her, ^w“I who speak to you am He.”

The Whiteness Harvest

²⁷And at this point His disciples came, and they marveled that He talked with a woman; yet no one said, “What do You seek?” or, “Why are You talking with her?”

²⁸The woman then left her waterpot, went her way into the city, and said to the men,

²⁹“Come, see a Man ^xwho told me all things that I ever did. Could this be the Christ?”

³⁰Then they went out of the city and came to Him.

³¹In the meantime His disciples urged Him, saying, “Rabbi, eat.”

³²But He said to them, “I have food to eat of which you do not know.”

³³Therefore the disciples said to one another, “Has anyone brought Him anything to eat?”

³⁴Jesus said to them, ^y“My food is to do the will of Him who sent Me, and to ^zfinish His work.

³⁵“Do you not say, ‘There are still four months and then comes ^athe harvest’? Behold, I say to you, lift up your eyes and look at the fields, ^bfor they are already white for harvest!

^{36c}“And he who reaps receives wages, and gathers fruit for eternal life, that ^dboth he who sows and he who reaps may rejoice together.

³⁷“For in this the saying is true: ^e‘One sows and another reaps.’

³⁸“I sent you to reap that for which you have not labored; ^fothers have labored, and you have entered into their labors.”

The Savior of the World

³⁹And many of the Samaritans of that city believed in Him ^gbecause of the word of the woman who testified, “He told me all that I ever did.”

⁴⁰So when the Samaritans had come to Him, they urged Him to stay with them; and He stayed there two days.

⁴¹And many more believed because of His own ^hword.

⁴²Then they said to the woman, “Now we believe, not because of what you said, for ⁱwe ourselves have heard Him and we know that this is indeed ¹the Christ, the Savior of the world.”

Welcome at Galilee

⁴³Now after the two days He departed from there and went to Galilee.

⁴⁴For ^jJesus Himself testified that a prophet has no honor in his own country.

⁴⁵So when He came to Galilee, the Galileans received Him, ^khaving seen all the things He did in Jerusalem at the feast; ^lfor they also had gone to the feast.

A Nobleman's Son Healed

⁴⁶So Jesus came again to Cana of Galilee ^mwhere He had made the water wine. And there was a certain ²nobleman whose son was sick at Capernaum.

⁴⁷When he heard that Jesus had come out of Judea into Galilee, he went to Him and implored Him to come down and heal his son, for he was at the point of death.

⁴⁸Then Jesus said to him, ⁿ“Unless you people see signs and wonders, you will by no means believe.”

⁴⁹The nobleman said to Him, “Sir, come down before my child dies!”

⁵⁰Jesus said to him, “Go your way; your son lives.” So the man believed the word that Jesus spoke to him, and he went his way.

⁵¹And as he was now going down, his servants met him and told him, saying, “Your son lives!”

⁵²Then he inquired of them the hour when he got better. And they said to him, “Yesterday at the seventh hour the fever left him.”

⁵³So the father knew that it was at the same hour in which Jesus said to him, “Your son lives.” And he himself believed, and his whole household.

⁵⁴This again is the second sign Jesus did when He had come out of Judea into Galilee.

John 5

A Man Healed at the Pool of Bethesda

¹After ^athis there was a feast of the Jews, and Jesus ^bwent up to Jerusalem.

²Now there is in Jerusalem ^cby the Sheep Gate a pool, which is called in Hebrew, ¹Bethesda, having five porches.

³In these lay a great multitude of sick people, blind, lame, ²paralyzed, ³waiting for the moving of the water.

⁴For an angel went down at a certain time into the pool and stirred up the water; then whoever stepped in first, after the stirring of the water, was made well of whatever disease he had.

⁵Now a certain man was there who had an infirmity thirty-eight years.

⁶When Jesus saw him lying there, and knew that he already had been in that condition a long time, He said to him, “Do you want to be made well?”

⁷The sick man answered Him, “Sir, I have no man to put me into the pool when the water is stirred up; but while I am coming, another steps down before me.”

⁸Jesus said to him, ^d“Rise, take up your bed and walk.”

⁹And immediately the man was made well, took up his bed, and walked. And ^ethat day was the Sabbath.

¹⁰The Jews therefore said to him who was cured, “It is the Sabbath; ^fit is not lawful for you to carry your bed.”

¹¹He answered them, “He who made me well said to me, ‘Take up your bed and walk.’ ”

¹²Then they asked him, “Who is the Man who said to you, ‘Take up your bed and walk’?”

¹³But the one who was ^ghealed did not know who it was, for Jesus had withdrawn, a multitude being in that place.

¹⁴Afterward Jesus found him in the temple, and said to him, “See, you have been made well. ^hSin no more, lest a worse thing come upon you.”

¹⁵The man departed and told the Jews that it was Jesus who had made him well.

Honor the Father and the Son

¹⁶For this reason the Jews ⁱpersecuted Jesus, ⁴and sought to kill Him, because He had done these things on the Sabbath.

¹⁷But Jesus answered them, ^j“My Father has been working until now, and I have been working.”

¹⁸Therefore the Jews ^ksought all the more to kill Him, because He not only broke the Sabbath, but also said that God was His Father, ^lmaking Himself equal with God.

¹⁹Then Jesus answered and said to them, “Most assuredly, I say to you, ^mthe Son can do nothing of Himself, but what He sees the Father do; for whatever He does, the Son also does in like manner.

²⁰“For ⁿthe Father loves the Son, and ^oshows Him all things that He Himself does; and He will show Him greater works than these, that you may marvel.

²¹“For as the Father raises the dead and gives life to them, ^peven so the Son gives life to whom He will.

²²“For the Father judges no one, but ^qhas committed all judgment to the Son, ²³“that all should honor the Son just as they honor the Father. ^rHe who does not honor the Son does not honor the Father who sent Him.

Life and Judgment Are Through the Son

²⁴“Most assuredly, I say to you, ^she who hears My word and believes in Him who sent Me has everlasting life, and shall not come into judgment, ^tbut has passed from death into life.

²⁵“Most assuredly, I say to you, the hour is coming, and now is, when ^uthe dead will hear the voice of the Son of God; and those who hear will live.

²⁶“For ^vas the Father has life in Himself, so He has granted the Son to have ^wlife in Himself, ²⁷“and ^xhas given Him authority to execute judgment also, ^ybecause He is the Son of Man.

²⁸“Do not marvel at this; for the hour is coming in which all who are in the graves will ^zhear His voice ^{29a}“and come forth—^bthose who have done good, to the resurrection of life, and those who have done evil, to the resurrection of condemnation.

^{30c}“I can of Myself do nothing. As I hear, I judge; and My judgment is righteous, because ^dI do not seek My own will but the will of the Father who sent Me.

The Fourfold Witness

^{31e}“If I bear witness of Myself, My witness is not ⁵true. Word Studies: testify

^{32f}“There is another who bears witness of Me, and I know that the witness which He witnesses of Me is true.

³³“You have sent to John, ^gand he has borne witness to the truth.

³⁴“Yet I do not receive testimony from man, but I say these things that you may be saved.

³⁵“He was the burning and ^hshining lamp, and ⁱyou were willing for a time to rejoice in his light.

³⁶“But ^jI have a greater witness than John’s; for ^kthe works which the Father has given Me to finish—the very ^lworks that I do—bear witness of Me, that the Father has sent Me.

³⁷“And the Father Himself, who sent Me, ^mhas testified of Me. You have neither heard His voice at any time, ⁿnor seen His form.

³⁸“But you do not have His word abiding in you, because whom He sent, Him you do not believe.

^{39o}“You search the Scriptures, for in them you think you have eternal life; and ^pthese are they which testify of Me.

^{40q}“But you are not willing to come to Me that you may have life.

^{41r}“I do not receive honor from men.

⁴²“But I know you, that you do not have the love of God in you.

⁴³“I have come in My Father’s name, and you do not receive Me; if another comes in his own name, him you will receive.

^{44s}“How can you believe, who receive honor from one another, and do not seek ^tthe honor that comes from the only God?

⁴⁵“Do not think that I shall accuse you to the Father; ^uthere is one who accuses you—Moses, in whom you trust.

⁴⁶“For if you believed Moses, you would believe Me; ^vfor he wrote about Me.

⁴⁷“But if you ^wdo not believe his writings, how will you believe My words?”

John 6

Feeding the Five Thousand

(Matt. 14:13–21; Mark 6:30–44; Luke 9:10–17) ¹After ^athese things Jesus went over the Sea of Galilee, which is the Sea of ^bTiberias.

²Then a great multitude followed Him, because they saw His signs which He performed on those who were ^cdiseased. ¹

³And Jesus went up on the mountain, and there He sat with His disciples.

^{4d}Now the Passover, a feast of the Jews, was near.

^{5e}Then Jesus lifted up His eyes, and seeing a great multitude coming toward Him, He said to ^fPhilip, “Where shall we buy bread, that these may eat?”

⁶But this He said to test him, for He Himself knew what He would do.

⁷Philip answered Him, ^g“Two hundred denarii worth of bread is not sufficient for them, that every one of them may have a little.”

⁸One of His disciples, ^hAndrew, Simon Peter’s brother, said to Him, ⁹“There is a lad here who has five barley loaves and two small fish, ⁱbut what are they among so many?”

¹⁰Then Jesus said, “Make the people sit down.” Now there was much grass in the place. So the men sat down, in number about five thousand.

¹¹And Jesus took the loaves, and when He had given thanks He distributed them ²to the disciples, and the disciples to those sitting down; and likewise of the fish, as much as they wanted.

¹²So when they were filled, He said to His disciples, “Gather up the fragments that remain, so that nothing is lost.”

¹³Therefore they gathered them up, and filled twelve baskets with the fragments of the five barley loaves which were left over by those who had eaten.

¹⁴Then those men, when they had seen the sign that Jesus did, said, “This is truly ^jthe Prophet who is to come into the world.”

Jesus Walks on the Sea

(Matt. 14:22–33; Mark 6:45–52) ¹⁵Therefore when Jesus perceived that they were about to come and take Him by force to make Him ^kking, He departed again to the mountain by Himself alone.

¹⁶Now when evening came, His disciples went down to the sea, ¹⁷got into the boat, and went over the sea toward Capernaum. And it was already dark, and Jesus had not come to them.

¹⁸Then the sea arose because a great wind was blowing.

¹⁹So when they had rowed about ³three or four miles, they saw Jesus walking on the sea and drawing near the boat; and they were ^mafraid.

²⁰But He said to them, ⁿ“It is I; do not be afraid.”

²¹Then they willingly received Him into the boat, and immediately the boat was at the land where they were going.

The Bread from Heaven

²²On the following day, when the people who were standing on the other side of the sea saw that there was no other boat there, except ⁴that one ⁵which His disciples had entered, and that Jesus had not entered the boat with His disciples, but His disciples had gone away alone— ²³however, other boats came from Tiberias, near the place where they ate bread after the Lord had given thanks— Bible Times & Culture Notes: Tiberias

²⁴when the people therefore saw that Jesus was not there, nor His disciples, they also got into boats and came to Capernaum, ^oseeking Jesus.

²⁵And when they found Him on the other side of the sea, they said to Him, “Rabbi, when did You come here?”

²⁶Jesus answered them and said, “Most assuredly, I say to you, you seek Me, not because you saw the signs, but because you ate of the loaves and were filled.

^{27p}“Do not labor for the food which perishes, but ^qfor the food which endures to everlasting life, which the Son of Man will give you, ^rbecause God the Father has set His seal on Him.”

²⁸Then they said to Him, “What shall we do, that we may work the works of God?”

²⁹Jesus answered and said to them, ^s“This is the work of God, that you believe in Him whom He sent.”

³⁰Therefore they said to Him, ^t“What sign will You perform then, that we may see it and believe You? What work will You do?

^{31u}“Our fathers ate the manna in the desert; as it is written, ^v‘He gave them bread from heaven to eat.’ ”

³²Then Jesus said to them, “Most assuredly, I say to you, Moses did not give you the bread from heaven, but ^wMy Father gives you the true bread from heaven.

³³“For the bread of God is He who comes down from heaven and gives life to the world.”

^{34x}Then they said to Him, “Lord, give us this bread always.”

³⁵And Jesus said to them, ^y“I am the bread of life. ^zHe who comes to Me shall never hunger, and he who believes in Me shall never ^athirst.

^{36b}“But I said to you that you have seen Me and yet ^cdo not believe.

^{37d}“All that the Father gives Me will come to Me, and ^ethe one who comes to Me I will ⁶by no means cast out.

³⁸“For I have come down from heaven, ^fnot to do My own will, ^gbut the will of Him who sent Me.

³⁹“This is the will of the Father who sent Me, ^hthat of all He has given Me I should lose nothing, but should raise it up at the last day.

⁴⁰“And this is the will of Him who sent Me, ⁱthat everyone who sees the Son and believes in Him may have everlasting life; and I will raise him up at the last day.”

Rejected by His Own

⁴¹The Jews then ⁷complained about Him, because He said, “I am the bread which came down from heaven.”

⁴²And they said, ^j“Is not this Jesus, the son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know? How is it then that He says, ‘I have come down from heaven’?”

⁴³Jesus therefore answered and said to them, ⁸“Do not murmur among yourselves.

^{44k}“No one can come to Me unless the Father who sent Me ^ldraws him; and I will raise him up at the last day.

⁴⁵“It is written in the prophets, ^m*‘And they shall all be taught by God.’*
ⁿTherefore everyone who ⁹has heard and learned from the Father comes to Me.

^{46o}“Not that anyone has seen the Father, ^pexcept He who is from God; He has seen the Father.

⁴⁷“Most assuredly, I say to you, ^qhe who believes ¹⁰in Me has everlasting life.

^{48r}“I am the bread of life.

^{49s}“Your fathers ate the manna in the wilderness, and are dead.

^{50t}“This is the bread which comes down from heaven, that one may eat of it and not die.

⁵¹“I am the living bread ^uwhich came down from heaven. If anyone eats of this bread, he will live forever; and ^vthe bread that I shall give is My flesh, which I shall give for the life of the world.”

⁵²The Jews therefore ^wquarreled among themselves, saying, “How can this Man give us His flesh to eat?”

⁵³Then Jesus said to them, “Most assuredly, I say to you, unless ^xyou eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink His blood, you have no life in you.

^{54y}“Whoever eats My flesh and drinks My blood has eternal life, and I will raise him up at the last day.

⁵⁵“For My flesh is ¹¹food indeed, and My blood is ¹²drink indeed.

⁵⁶“He who eats My flesh and drinks My blood ^zabides in Me, and I in him.

⁵⁷“As the living Father sent Me, and I live because of the Father, so he who feeds on Me will live because of Me.

^{58a}“This is the bread which came down from heaven—not ^bas your fathers ate the manna, and are dead. He who eats this bread will live forever.”

Many Disciples Turn Away

^{60c}Therefore many of His disciples, when they heard this, said, “This is a ¹³hard saying; who can understand it?”

⁶¹When Jesus knew in Himself that His disciples ¹⁴complained about this, He said to them, “Does this ¹⁵offend you?”

^{62d}“What then if you should see the Son of Man ascend where He was before?”

^{63e}“It is the Spirit who gives life; the ^fflesh profits nothing. The ^gwords that I speak to you are spirit, and they are life. Article: The Holy Spirit in John

⁶⁴“But ^hthere are some of you who do not believe.” For ⁱJesus knew from the beginning who they were who did not believe, and who would betray Him.

⁶⁵And He said, “Therefore ^jI have said to you that no one can come to Me unless it has been granted to him by My Father.”

^{66k}From that time many of His disciples went ¹⁶back and walked with Him no more.

⁶⁷Then Jesus said to the twelve, “Do you also want to go away?”

⁶⁸But Simon Peter answered Him, “Lord, to whom shall we go? You have ^lthe words of eternal life.

^{69m}“Also we have come to believe and know that You are the ¹⁷Christ, the Son of the living God.”

⁷⁰Jesus answered them, ⁿ“Did I not choose you, the twelve, ^oand one of you is a devil?”

⁷¹He spoke of ^pJudas Iscariot, the son of Simon, for it was he who would ^qbetray Him, being one of the twelve.

John 7

Jesus' Brothers Disbelieve

¹After these things Jesus walked in Galilee; for He did not want to walk in Judea, ^abecause the ¹Jews sought to kill Him.

^{2b}Now the Jews' Feast of Tabernacles was at hand.

^{3c}His brothers therefore said to Him, "Depart from here and go into Judea, that Your disciples also may see the works that You are doing.

⁴"For no one does anything in secret while he himself seeks to be known openly. If You do these things, show Yourself to the world."

⁵For ^deven His ^ebrothers did not believe in Him.

⁶Then Jesus said to them, ^f"My time has not yet come, but your time is always ready.

^{7g}"The world cannot hate you, but it hates Me ^hbecause I testify of it that its works are evil.

⁸"You go up to this feast. I am not ²yet going up to this feast, ⁱfor My time has not yet fully come."

⁹When He had said these things to them, He remained in Galilee.

The Heavenly Scholar

¹⁰But when His brothers had gone up, then He also went up to the feast, not openly, but as it were in secret.

¹¹Then ^jthe Jews sought Him at the feast, and said, “Where is He?”

¹²And ^kthere was much complaining among the people concerning Him. ^lSome said, “He is good”; others said, “No, on the contrary, He deceives the people.”

¹³However, no one spoke openly of Him ^mfor fear of the Jews.

¹⁴Now about the middle of the feast Jesus went up into the temple and ⁿtaught.

^{15o}And the Jews marveled, saying, “How does this Man know letters, having never studied?”

^{16p}Jesus answered them and said, ^p“My doctrine is not Mine, but His who sent Me.

^{17q}“If anyone wills to do His will, he shall know concerning the doctrine, whether it is from God or whether I speak on My own authority.

^{18r}“He who speaks from himself seeks his own glory; but He who ^sseeks the glory of the One who sent Him is true, and ^tno unrighteousness is in Him.

^{19u}“Did not Moses give you the law, yet none of you keeps the law? ^vWhy do you seek to kill Me?”

²⁰The people answered and said, ^w“You have a demon. Who is seeking to kill You?”

²¹Jesus answered and said to them, “I did one work, and you all marvel.

^{22x}“Moses therefore gave you circumcision (not that it is from Moses, ^ybut from the fathers), and you circumcise a man on the Sabbath.

²³“If a man receives circumcision on the Sabbath, so that the law of Moses should not be broken, are you angry with Me because ^zI made a man completely well on the Sabbath?

^{24a}“Do not judge according to appearance, but judge with righteous judgment.”

Could This Be the Christ?

²⁵Now some of them from Jerusalem said, “Is this not He whom they seek to ^bkill?

²⁶“But look! He speaks boldly, and they say nothing to Him. ^cDo the rulers know indeed that this is ⁴truly the Christ?

^{27d}“However, we know where this Man is from; but when the Christ comes, no one knows where He is from.”

²⁸Then Jesus cried out, as He taught in the temple, saying, ^e“You both know Me, and you know where I am from; and ^fI have not come of Myself, but He who sent Me ^gis true, ^hwhom you do not know.

²⁹⁵“But ⁱI know Him, for I am from Him, and He sent Me.”

³⁰Therefore ^jthey sought to take Him; but ^kno one laid a hand on Him, because His hour had not yet come.

³¹And ^lmany of the people believed in Him, and said, “When the Christ comes, will He do more signs than these which this Man has done?”

Jesus and the Religious Leaders

³²The Pharisees heard the crowd murmuring these things concerning Him, and the Pharisees and the chief priests sent officers to take Him.

³³Then Jesus said ⁶to them, ^m“I shall be with you a little while longer, and then I ⁿgo to Him who sent Me.

³⁴“You ^owill seek Me and not find Me, and where I am you ^pcannot come.”

³⁵Then the Jews said among themselves, “Where does He intend to go that we shall not find Him? Does He intend to go to ^qthe Dispersion among the Greeks and teach the Greeks?

³⁶“What is this thing that He said, ‘You will seek Me and not find Me, and where I am you cannot come’?”

The Promise of the Holy Spirit

³⁷^rOn the last day, that great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried out, saying, ^s“If anyone thirsts, let him come to Me and drink.

³⁸^t“He who believes in Me, as the Scripture has said, ^uout of his heart will flow rivers of living water.”

³⁹^vBut this He spoke concerning the Spirit, whom those ⁷believing in Him would receive; for the ⁸Holy Spirit was not yet given, because Jesus was not yet ^wglorified.

Who Is He?

⁴⁰Therefore ⁹many from the crowd, when they heard this saying, said, “Truly this is ^xthe Prophet.”

⁴¹Others said, “This is ^ythe Christ.” But some said, “Will the Christ come out of Galilee?

⁴²^z“Has not the Scripture said that the Christ comes from the seed of David and from the town of Bethlehem, ^awhere David was?”

⁴³So ^bthere was a division among the people because of Him.

⁴⁴Now ^csome of them wanted to take Him, but no one laid hands on Him.

Rejected by the Authorities

⁴⁵Then the officers came to the chief priests and Pharisees, who said to them, “Why have you not brought Him?”

⁴⁶The officers answered, ^d“No man ever spoke like this Man!”

⁴⁷Then the Pharisees answered them, “Are you also deceived?”

⁴⁸“Have any of the rulers or the Pharisees believed in Him?”

⁴⁹“But this crowd that does not know the law is accursed.”

⁵⁰Nicodemus ^e(he who came to ¹⁰Jesus ¹¹by night, being one of them) said to them, ^{51f}“Does our law judge a man before it hears him and knows what he is doing?”

⁵²They answered and said to him, “Are you also from Galilee? Search and look, for ^gno prophet ¹²has arisen out of Galilee.”

An Adulteress Faces the Light of the World

⁵³¹³And everyone went to his own house.

John 8

¹But Jesus went to the Mount of Olives.

²Now ¹early in the morning He came again into the temple, and all the people came to Him; and He sat down and ^ataught them.

³Then the scribes and Pharisees brought to Him a woman caught in adultery. And when they had set her in the midst, ⁴they said to Him, “Teacher, ²this woman was caught in ^badultery, in the very act.

^{5c}“Now ³Moses, in the law, commanded us ⁴that such should be stoned. But what do You ⁵say?”

⁶This they said, testing Him, that they ^dmight have something of which to accuse Him. But Jesus stooped down and wrote on the ground with His finger, ⁶as though He did not hear.

⁷So when they continued asking Him, He ⁷raised Himself up and said to them, ^e“He who is without sin among you, let him throw a stone at her first.”

⁸And again He stooped down and wrote on the ground.

⁹Then those who heard it, ^fbeing⁸ convicted by their conscience, went out one by one, beginning with the oldest even to the last. And Jesus was left alone, and the woman standing in the midst.

¹⁰When Jesus had raised Himself up ⁹and saw no one but the woman, He said to her, “Woman, where are those accusers ¹⁰of yours? Has no one condemned you?”

¹¹She said, “No one, Lord.” And Jesus said to her, ⁸“Neither do I condemn you; go ¹¹and ^hsin no more.”

¹²Then Jesus spoke to them again, saying, ⁱ“I am the light of the world. He who ^jfollows Me shall not walk in darkness, but have the light of life.”

Jesus Defends His Self-Witness

¹³The Pharisees therefore said to Him, ^k“You bear witness of Yourself; Your witness is not ¹²true.”

¹⁴Jesus answered and said to them, “Even if I bear witness of Myself, My witness is true, for I know where I came from and where I am going; but ^lyou do not know where I come from and where I am going.

^{15m}“You judge according to the flesh; ⁿI judge no one.

¹⁶“And yet if I do judge, My judgment is true; for ^oI am not alone, but I am with the Father who sent Me.

^{17p}“It is also written in your law that the testimony of two men is true.

¹⁸“I am One who bears witness of Myself, and ^qthe Father who sent Me bears witness of Me.”

¹⁹Then they said to Him, “Where is Your Father?” Jesus answered, ^r“You know neither Me nor My Father. ^sIf you had known Me, you would have known My Father also.”

²⁰These words Jesus spoke in ^tthe treasury, as He taught in the temple; and ^uno one laid hands on Him, for ^vHis hour had not yet come.

Jesus Predicts His Departure

²¹Then Jesus said to them again, “I am going away, and ^wyou will seek Me, and ^xwill die in your sin. Where I go you cannot come.”

²²So the Jews said, “Will He kill Himself, because He says, ‘Where I go you cannot come’?”

²³And He said to them, ^y“You are from beneath; I am from above. ^zYou are of this world; I am not of this world.

^{24a}“Therefore I said to you that you will die in your sins; ^bfor if you do not believe that I am He, you will die in your sins.”

²⁵Then they said to Him, “Who are You?” And Jesus said to them, “Just what I ^chave been saying to you from the beginning.

²⁶“I have many things to say and to judge concerning you, but ^dHe who sent Me is true; and ^eI speak to the world those things which I heard from Him.”

²⁷They did not understand that He spoke to them of the Father.

²⁸Then Jesus said to them, “When you ^flift¹³ up the Son of Man, ^gthen you will know that I am He, and ^hthat I do nothing of Myself; but ⁱas My Father taught Me, I speak these things.

²⁹“And ^jHe who sent Me is with Me. ^kThe Father has not left Me alone, ^lfor I always do those things that please Him.”

³⁰As He spoke these words, ^mmany believed in Him.

The Truth Shall Make You Free

³¹Then Jesus said to those Jews who believed Him, “If you ⁿabide in My word, you are My disciples indeed.

³²“And you shall know the ^otruth, and ^pthe truth shall make you free.”

³³They answered Him, ^q“We are Abraham’s descendants, and have never been in bondage to anyone. How can You say, ‘You will be made free’?” ^{Bible}

^{Times & Culture Notes: Jewish Discontent}

³⁴Jesus answered them, “Most assuredly, I say to you, ^rwhoever commits sin is a slave of sin.

³⁵“And ^sa slave does not abide in the house forever, but a son abides forever.

^{36t}“Therefore if the Son makes you free, you shall be free indeed.

Abraham’s Seed and Satan’s

³⁷“I know that you are Abraham’s descendants, but ^uyou seek to kill Me, because My word has no place in you.

^{38v}“I speak what I have seen with My Father, and you do what you have ¹⁴seen with your father.”

³⁹They answered and said to Him, ^w“Abraham is our father.” Jesus said to them, ^x“If you were Abraham’s children, you would do the works of Abraham.

^{40y}“But now you seek to kill Me, a Man who has told you the truth ^zwhich I heard from God. Abraham did not do this.

⁴¹“You do the deeds of your father.” Then they said to Him, “We were not born of fornication; ^awe have one Father—God.”

⁴²Jesus said to them, ^b“If God were your Father, you would love Me, for ^cI proceeded forth and came from God; ^dnor have I come of Myself, but He sent Me.

^{43e}“Why do you not understand My speech? Because you are not able to listen to My word.

^{44f}“You are of your father the devil, and the ^gdesires of your father you want to ^hdo. He was a murderer from the beginning, and ⁱdoes not stand in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaks a lie, he speaks from his own resources, for he is a liar and the father of it.

⁴⁵“But because I tell the truth, you do not believe Me.

⁴⁶“Which of you convicts Me of sin? And if I tell the truth, why do you not believe Me?

^{47j}“He who is of God hears God’s words; therefore you do not hear, because you are not of God.”

Before Abraham Was, I AM

⁴⁸Then the Jews answered and said to Him, “Do we not say rightly that You are a Samaritan and ^khave a demon?”

⁴⁹Jesus answered, “I do not have a demon; but I honor My Father, and ^lyou dishonor Me.

⁵⁰“And ^mI do not seek My own glory; there is One who seeks and judges.

⁵¹“Most assuredly, I say to you, ⁿif anyone keeps My word he shall never see death.”

⁵²Then the Jews said to Him, “Now we know that You ^ohave a demon! ^pAbraham is dead, and the prophets; and You say, ‘If anyone keeps My word he shall never taste death.'

⁵³"Are You greater than our father Abraham, who is dead? And the prophets are dead. ^qWho do You make Yourself out to be?"

⁵⁴Jesus answered, ^r"If I honor Myself, My honor is nothing. ^sIt is My Father who honors Me, of whom you say that He is ¹⁵your God.

⁵⁵"Yet ^tyou have not known Him, but I know Him. And if I say, 'I do not know Him,' I shall be a liar like you; but I do know Him and ^ukeep His word.

⁵⁶"Your father Abraham ^vrejoiced to see My day, ^wand he saw it and was glad."

⁵⁷Then the Jews said to Him, "You are not yet fifty years old, and have You seen Abraham?"

⁵⁸Jesus said to them, "Most assuredly, I say to you, ^xbefore Abraham was, ^yI AM."

Word Studies: I AM

⁵⁹Then ^zthey took up stones to throw at Him; but Jesus hid Himself and went out of the temple, ^agoing¹⁶ through the midst of them, and so passed by.

John 9

A Man Born Blind Receives Sight

¹Now as Jesus passed by, He saw a man who was blind from birth.

²And His disciples asked Him, saying, “Rabbi, ^awho sinned, this man or his parents, that he was born blind?”

³Jesus answered, “Neither this man nor his parents sinned, ^bbut that the works of God should be revealed in him.

^{4c}¹ must work the works of Him who sent Me while it is ^dday; the night is coming when no one can work.

⁵“As long as I am in the world, ^eI am the light of the world.”

⁶When He had said these things, ^fHe spat on the ground and made clay with the saliva; and He anointed the eyes of the blind man with the clay.

⁷And He said to him, “Go, wash ^gin the pool of Siloam” (which is translated, Sent). So ^hhe went and washed, and came back seeing.

⁸Therefore the neighbors and those who previously had seen that he was ²blind said, “Is not this he who sat and begged?”

⁹Some said, “This is he.” Others said, ³“He is like him.” He said, “I am he.”

¹⁰Therefore they said to him, “How were your eyes opened?”

¹¹He answered and said, ⁱ“A Man called Jesus made clay and anointed my eyes and said to me, ‘Go to ⁴the pool of Siloam and wash.’ So I went and washed, and I received sight.”

¹²Then they said to him, “Where is He?” He said, “I do not know.”

The Pharisees Excommunicate the Healed Man

¹³They brought him who formerly was blind to the Pharisees.

¹⁴Now it was a Sabbath when Jesus made the clay and opened his eyes.

¹⁵Then the Pharisees also asked him again how he had received his sight. He said to them, “He put clay on my eyes, and I washed, and I see.”

¹⁶Therefore some of the Pharisees said, “This Man is not from God, because He does not ⁵keep the Sabbath.” Others said, ^j“How can a man who is a sinner do such signs?” And ^kthere was a division among them. Article: The Signs of Jesus in the Gospel of John

¹⁷They said to the blind man again, “What do you say about Him because He opened your eyes?” He said, ¹“He is a prophet.”

¹⁸But the Jews did not believe concerning him, that he had been blind and received his sight, until they called the parents of him who had received his sight.

¹⁹And they asked them, saying, “Is this your son, who you say was born blind? How then does he now see?”

²⁰His parents answered them and said, “We know that this is our son, and that he was born blind;

²¹“but by what means he now sees we do not know, or who opened his eyes we do not know. He is of age; ask him. He will speak for himself.”

²²His parents said these things because ^mthey feared the Jews, for the Jews had agreed already that if anyone confessed that He was Christ, he ⁿwould be put out of the synagogue.

²³Therefore his parents said, “He is of age; ask him.”

²⁴So they again called the man who was blind, and said to him, ^o“Give God the glory! ^pWe know that this Man is a sinner.”

²⁵He answered and said, “Whether He is a sinner or not I do not know. One thing I know: that though I was blind, now I see.”

²⁶Then they said to him again, “What did He do to you? How did He open your eyes?”

²⁷He answered them, “I told you already, and you did not listen. Why do you want to hear it again? Do you also want to become His disciples?”

²⁸Then they reviled him and said, “You are His disciple, but we are Moses’ disciples.

²⁹“We know that God ^qspoke to ^rMoses; as for this fellow, ^swe do not know where He is from.”

³⁰The man answered and said to them, ^t“Why, this is a marvelous thing, that you do not know where He is from; yet He has opened my eyes!

³¹“Now we know that ^uGod does not hear sinners; but if anyone is a worshiper of God and does His will, He hears him.

³²“Since the world began it has been unheard of that anyone opened the eyes of one who was born blind.

^{33v}“If this Man were not from God, He could do nothing.”

³⁴They answered and said to him, ^w“You were completely born in sins, and are you teaching us?” And they ⁶cast him out.

True Vision and True Blindness

³⁵Jesus heard that they had cast him out; and when He had ^xfound him, He said to him, “Do you ^ybelieve in ^zthe Son of ⁷God?”

³⁶He answered and said, “Who is He, Lord, that I may believe in Him?”

³⁷And Jesus said to him, “You have both seen Him and ^ait is He who is talking with you.”

³⁸Then he said, “Lord, I believe!” And he ^bworshiped Him.

³⁹And Jesus said, ^c“For judgment I have come into this world, ^dthat those who do not see may see, and that those who see may be made blind.”

⁴⁰Then some of the Pharisees who were with Him heard these words, ^eand said to Him, “Are we blind also?”

⁴¹Jesus said to them, ^f“If you were blind, you would have no sin; but now you say, ‘We see.’ Therefore your sin remains.

John 10

Jesus the True Shepherd

¹“Most assuredly, I say to you, he who does not enter the sheepfold by the door, but climbs up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber.

²“But he who enters by the door is the shepherd of the sheep.

³“To him the doorkeeper opens, and the sheep hear his voice; and he calls his own sheep by ^aname and leads them out.

⁴“And when he brings out his own sheep, he goes before them; and the sheep follow him, for they know his voice.

⁵“Yet they will by no means follow a ^bstranger, but will flee from him, for they do not know the voice of strangers.”

⁶Jesus used this illustration, but they did not understand the things which He spoke to them.

Jesus the Good Shepherd

⁷Then Jesus said to them again, “Most assuredly, I say to you, I am the door of the sheep.

⁸“All who ever came ¹before Me are thieves and robbers, but the sheep did not hear them.

⁹“I am the door. If anyone enters by Me, he will be saved, and will go in and out and find pasture.

¹⁰“The thief does not come except to steal, and to kill, and to destroy. I have come that they may have life, and that they may have it more abundantly.

¹¹“I am the good shepherd. The good shepherd gives His life for the sheep.

¹²“But a ²hireling, he who is not the shepherd, one who does not own the sheep, sees the wolf coming and ^eleaves the sheep and flees; and the wolf catches the sheep and scatters them.

¹³“The hireling flees because he is a hireling and does not care about the sheep.

¹⁴“I am the good shepherd; and ^fI know My sheep, and ^gam known by My own.

¹⁵“As the Father knows Me, even so I know the Father; ⁱand I lay down My life for the sheep.

¹⁶“And ^jother sheep I have which are not of this fold; them also I must bring, and they will hear My voice; ^kand there will be one flock and one shepherd.

¹⁷“Therefore My Father ^lloves Me, ^mbecause I lay down My life that I may take it again.

¹⁸“No one takes it from Me, but I lay it down of Myself. I ⁿhave power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again. ^oThis command I have received from My Father.”

¹⁹Therefore ^pthere was a division again among the Jews because of these sayings.

²⁰And many of them said, ^q“He has a demon and is ³mad. Why do you listen to Him?”

²¹Others said, “These are not the words of one who has a demon. ^rCan a demon ^sopen the eyes of the blind?”

The Shepherd Knows His Sheep

²²Now it was the Feast of Dedication in Jerusalem, and it was winter.

²³And Jesus walked in the temple, ^tin Solomon's porch. Bible Times & Culture Notes: Herod's Temple

²⁴Then the Jews surrounded Him and said to Him, "How long do You keep us in ⁴doubt? If You are the Christ, tell us plainly."

²⁵Jesus answered them, "I told you, and you do not believe. ^uThe works that I do in My Father's name, they ^vbear witness of Me.

²⁶"But ^wyou do not believe, because you are not of My sheep, ⁵as I said to you.

^{27x}"My sheep hear My voice, and I know them, and they follow Me.

²⁸"And I give them eternal life, and they shall never perish; neither shall anyone snatch them out of My hand.

^{29y}"My Father, ^zwho has given them to Me, is greater than all; and no one is able to snatch them out of My Father's hand.

^{30a}"I and My Father are one."

Renewed Efforts to Stone Jesus

³¹Then ^bthe Jews took up stones again to stone Him.

³²Jesus answered them, “Many good works I have shown you from My Father. For which of those works do you stone Me?”

³³The Jews answered Him, saying, “For a good work we do not stone You, but for ^cblasphemy, and because You, being a Man, ^dmake Yourself God.”

³⁴Jesus answered them, “Is it not written in your law, ^e*‘I said, ‘You are gods’*” ?

³⁵“If He called them gods, ^fto whom the word of God came (and the Scripture ^gcannot be broken), ³⁶“do you say of Him ^hwhom the Father sanctified and ⁱsent into the world, ‘You are blaspheming,’ ^jbecause I said, ‘I am ^kthe Son of God’?

³⁷“If I do not do the works of My Father, do not believe Me; ³⁸“but if I do, though you do not believe Me, ^mbelieve the works, that you may know and ⁶believe ⁿthat the Father is in Me, and I in Him.”

³⁹Therefore they sought again to seize Him, but He escaped out of their hand.

The Believers Beyond Jordan

⁴⁰And He went away again beyond the Jordan to the place ^pwhere John was baptizing at first, and there He stayed.

⁴¹Then many came to Him and said, “John performed no sign, ^qbut all the things that John spoke about this Man were true.”

⁴²And many believed in Him there.

John 11

The Death of Lazarus

¹Now a certain man was sick, Lazarus of Bethany, the town of ^aMary and her sister Martha.

^{2b}It was that Mary who anointed the Lord with fragrant oil and wiped His feet with her hair, whose brother Lazarus was sick.

³Therefore the sisters sent to Him, saying, “Lord, behold, he whom You love is sick.”

⁴When Jesus heard that, He said, “This sickness is not unto death, but for the glory of God, that the Son of God may be glorified through it.”

⁵Now Jesus loved Martha and her sister and Lazarus.

⁶So, when He heard that he was sick, ^cHe stayed two more days in the place where He was.

⁷Then after this He said to the disciples, “Let us go to Judea again.”

⁸*The* disciples said to Him, “Rabbi, lately the Jews sought to ^dstone You, and are You going there again?”

⁹Jesus answered, “Are there not twelve hours in the day? ^eIf anyone walks in the day, he does not stumble, because he sees the ^flight of this world.

¹⁰“But ^gif one walks in the night, he stumbles, because the light is not in him.”

¹¹These things He said, and after that He said to them, “Our friend Lazarus ^hsleeps, but I go that I may wake him up.”

¹²Then His disciples said, “Lord, if he sleeps he will get well.”

¹³However, Jesus spoke of his death, but they thought that He was speaking about taking rest in sleep.

¹⁴Then Jesus said to them plainly, “Lazarus is dead.

¹⁵“And I am glad for your sakes that I was not there, that you may believe. Nevertheless let us go to him.”

¹⁶Then ⁱThomas, who is called the Twin, said to his fellow disciples, “Let us also go, that we may die with Him.”

I Am the Resurrection and the Life

¹⁷So when Jesus came, He found that he had already been in the tomb four days.

¹⁸Now Bethany was near Jerusalem, about ¹two miles away.

¹⁹And many of the Jews had joined the women around Martha and Mary, to comfort them concerning their brother.

²⁰Then Martha, as soon as she heard that Jesus was coming, went and met Him, but Mary was sitting in the house.

²¹Now Martha said to Jesus, “Lord, if You had been here, my brother would not have died.

²²“But even now I know that ^jwhatever You ask of God, God will give You.”

²³Jesus said to her, “Your brother will rise again.”

²⁴Martha said to Him, ^k“I know that he will rise again in the resurrection at the last day.”

²⁵Jesus said to her, “I am ^lthe resurrection and the life. ^mHe who believes in Me, though he may ⁿdie, he shall live. Charts and Diagrams: Jesus' Seven “I Am” Statements

²⁶“And whoever lives and believes in Me shall never die. Do you believe this?”

²⁷She said to Him, “Yes, Lord, ^oI believe that You are the Christ, the Son of God, who is to come into the world.”

Jesus and Death, the Last Enemy

²⁸And when she had said these things, she went her way and secretly called Mary her sister, saying, “The Teacher has come and is calling for you.”

²⁹As soon as she heard that, she arose quickly and came to Him.

³⁰Now Jesus had not yet come into the town, but ²was in the place where Martha met Him.

³¹^pThen the Jews who were with her in the house, and comforting her, when they saw that Mary rose up quickly and went out, followed her, ³saying, “She is going to the tomb to weep there.”

³²Then, when Mary came where Jesus was, and saw Him, she ^qfell down at His feet, saying to Him, ^r“Lord, if You had been here, my brother would not have died.”

³³Therefore, when Jesus saw her weeping, and the Jews who came with her weeping, He groaned in the spirit and was troubled.

³⁴And He said, “Where have you laid him?” They said to Him, “Lord, come and see.”

³⁵^sJesus wept.

³⁶Then the Jews said, “See how He loved him!”

³⁷And some of them said, “Could not this Man, ^twho opened the eyes of the blind, also have kept this man from dying?”

Lazarus Raised from the Dead

³⁸Then Jesus, again groaning in Himself, came to the tomb. It was a cave, and a ^ustone lay against it.

³⁹Jesus said, "Take away the stone." Martha, the sister of him who was dead, said to Him, "Lord, by this time there is a stench, for he has been dead four days."

⁴⁰Jesus said to her, "Did I not say to you that if you would believe you would ^vsee the glory of God?"

⁴¹Then they took away the stone ⁴*from the place* where the dead man was lying. And Jesus lifted up His eyes and said, "Father, I thank You that You have heard Me.

⁴²"And I know that You always hear Me, but ^wbecause of the people who are standing by I said this, that they may believe that You sent Me."

⁴³Now when He had said these things, He cried with a loud voice, "Lazarus, come forth!"

⁴⁴And he who had died came out bound hand and foot with ^xgraveclothes, and ^yhis face was wrapped with a cloth. Jesus said to them, "Loose him, and let him go."

The Plot to Kill Jesus

(Matt. 26:1–5; Mark 14:1, 2; Luke 22:1, 2) ⁴⁵Then many of the Jews who had come to Mary, ^zand had seen the things Jesus did, believed in Him.

⁴⁶But some of them went away to the Pharisees and ^atold them the things Jesus did.

^{47b}Then the chief priests and the Pharisees gathered a council and said, ^c“What shall we do? For this Man works many signs.

⁴⁸“If we let Him alone like this, everyone will believe in Him, and the Romans will come and take away both our place and nation.”

⁴⁹And one of them, ^dCaiaphas, being high priest that year, said to them, “You know nothing at all, ^{50e}“nor do you consider that it is expedient for ⁵us that one man should die for the people, and not that the whole nation should perish.”

⁵¹Now this he did not say on his own authority; but being high priest that year he prophesied that Jesus would die for the nation, ⁵²and ^fnot for that nation only, but ^galso that He would gather together in one the children of God who were scattered abroad.

⁵³Then, from that day on, they plotted to ^hput Him to death.

⁵⁴ⁱTherefore Jesus no longer walked openly among the Jews, but went from there into the country near the wilderness, to a city called ^jEphraim, and there remained with His disciples.

^{55k}And the Passover of the Jews was near, and many went from the country up to Jerusalem before the Passover, to ^lpurify themselves.

^{56m}Then they sought Jesus, and spoke among themselves as they stood in the temple, “What do you think—that He will not come to the feast?”

⁵⁷Now both the chief priests and the Pharisees had given a command, that if anyone knew where He was, he should report it, that they might ⁿseize Him.

John 12

The Anointing at Bethany

(Matt. 26:6–13; Mark 14:3–9) ¹Then, six days before the Passover, Jesus came to Bethany, ^awhere Lazarus was ¹who had been dead, whom He had raised from the dead.

^{2b}There they made Him a supper; and Martha served, but Lazarus was one of those who sat at the table with Him.

³Then ^cMary took a pound of very costly oil of ^dspikenard, anointed the feet of Jesus, and wiped His feet with her hair. And the house was filled with the fragrance of the oil.

⁴But one of His disciples, ^eJudas Iscariot, Simon's son, who would betray Him, said, ⁵"Why was this fragrant oil not sold for ²three hundred denarii and given to the poor?"

⁶This he said, not that he cared for the poor, but because he was a thief, and ^fhad the money box; and he used to take what was put in it.

⁷But Jesus said, "Let her alone; ³she has kept this for the day of My burial.

⁸"For ^gthe poor you have with you always, but Me you do not have always."

The Plot to Kill Lazarus

⁹Now a great many of the Jews knew that He was there; and they came, not for Jesus' sake only, but that they might also see Lazarus, ^hwhom He had raised from the dead.

¹⁰ⁱBut the chief priests plotted to put Lazarus to death also, ^{11j}because on account of him many of the Jews went away and believed in Jesus.

The Triumphal Entry

(Matt. 21:1–11; Mark 11:1–11; Luke 19:28–40) ^{12k}The next day a great multitude that had come to the feast, when they heard that Jesus was coming to Jerusalem, ¹³took branches of palm trees and went out to meet Him, and cried out:

“Hosanna!

¹*‘Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD!’*

The King of Israel!”

^{14m}Then Jesus, when He had found a young donkey, sat on it; as it is written:

¹⁵*“Fearⁿ not, daughter of Zion; Behold, your King is coming, Sitting on a donkey’s colt.”*

^{16o}His disciples did not understand these things at first; ^pbut when Jesus was glorified, ^qthen they remembered that these things were written about Him and that they had done these things to Him.

¹⁷Therefore the people, who were with Him when He called Lazarus out of his tomb and raised him from the dead, bore witness.

^{18r}For this reason the people also met Him, because they heard that He had done this sign.

¹⁹The Pharisees therefore said among themselves, ^s“You see that you are accomplishing nothing. Look, the world has gone after Him!”

The Fruitful Grain of Wheat

²⁰Now there ^twere certain Greeks among those ^uwho came up to worship at the feast.

²¹Then they came to Philip, ^vwho was from Bethsaida of Galilee, and asked him, saying, “Sir, we wish to see Jesus.”

²²Philip came and told Andrew, and in turn Andrew and Philip told Jesus.

²³But Jesus answered them, saying, ^w“The hour has come that the Son of Man should be glorified.

²⁴“Most assuredly, I say to you, ^xunless a grain of wheat falls into the ground and dies, it remains alone; but if it dies, it produces much ⁴grain.

^{25y}“He who loves his life will lose it, and he who hates his life in this world will keep it for eternal life.

²⁶“If anyone serves Me, let him ^zfollow Me; and ^awhere I am, there My servant will be also. If anyone serves Me, him My Father will honor.

Jesus Predicts His Death on the Cross

^{27b}“Now My soul is troubled, and what shall I say? ‘Father, save Me from this hour’? ^cBut for this purpose I came to this hour.

²⁸“Father, glorify Your name.” ^dThen a voice came from heaven, saying, “I have both glorified it and will glorify it again.”

²⁹Therefore the people who stood by and heard it said that it had thundered. Others said, “An angel has spoken to Him.”

³⁰Jesus answered and said, ^e“This voice did not come because of Me, but for your sake.

³¹“Now is the judgment of this world; now ^fthe ruler of this world will be cast out.

³²“And I, ^gif I am ⁵lifted up from the earth, will draw ^hall peoples to Myself.”

³³ⁱThis He said, signifying by what death He would die.

³⁴The people answered Him, ^j“We have heard from the law that the Christ remains forever; and how can You say, ‘The Son of Man must be lifted up’? Who is this Son of Man?”

³⁵Then Jesus said to them, “A little while longer ^kthe light is with you. ^lWalk while you have the light, lest darkness overtake you; ^mhe who walks in darkness does not know where he is going.

³⁶“While you have the light, believe in the light, that you may become ⁿsons of light.” These things Jesus spoke, and departed, and ^owas hidden from them.

Who Has Believed Our Report?

³⁷But although He had done so many ^psigns before them, they did not believe in Him, Word Studies: signs

³⁸that the word of Isaiah the prophet might be fulfilled, which he spoke:

^q*“Lord, who has believed our report?
And to whom has the arm of the LORD been revealed?”*

³⁹Therefore they could not believe, because Isaiah said again:

⁴⁰*“He^r has blinded their eyes and hardened their hearts, ^sLest they should see with their eyes, Lest they should understand with their hearts and turn,
So that I should heal them.”*

⁴¹^rThese things Isaiah said ⁶when he saw His glory and spoke of Him.

Walk in the Light

⁴²Nevertheless even among the rulers many believed in Him, but ^ubecause of the Pharisees they did not confess Him, lest they should be put out of the synagogue; ^{43v}for they loved the praise of men more than the praise of God.

⁴⁴Then Jesus cried out and said, ^w“He who believes in Me, ^xbelieves not in Me ^ybut in Him who sent Me.

⁴⁵“And ^zhe who sees Me sees Him who sent Me.

^{46a}“I have come as a light into the world, that whoever believes in Me should not abide in darkness.

⁴⁷“And if anyone hears My words and does not ⁷believe, ^bI do not judge him; for ^cI did not come to judge the world but to save the world.

^{48d}“He who rejects Me, and does not receive My words, has that which judges him—^ethe word that I have spoken will judge him in the last day.

⁴⁹“For ^fI have not spoken on My own authority; but the Father who sent Me gave Me a command, ^gwhat I should say and what I should speak.

⁵⁰“And I know that His command is everlasting life. Therefore, whatever I speak, just as the Father has told Me, so I ^h“speak.”

John 13

Jesus Washes the Disciples' Feet

¹Now ^abefore the Feast of the Passover, when Jesus knew that ^bHis hour had come that He should depart from this world to the Father, having loved His own who were in the world, He ^cloved them to the end.

²And ¹supper being ended, ^dthe devil having already put it into the heart of Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, to betray Him, ³Jesus, knowing ^ethat the Father had given all things into His hands, and that He ^fhad come from God and ^gwas going to God, ^{4h}rose from supper and laid aside His garments, took a towel and girded Himself.

⁵After that, He poured water into a basin and began to wash the disciples' feet, and to wipe them with the towel with which He was girded. Word Studies: wash

⁶Then He came to Simon Peter. And Peter said to Him, ⁱ"Lord, are You washing my feet?"

⁷Jesus answered and said to him, "What I am doing you ^jdo not understand now, ^kbut you will know after this."

⁸Peter said to Him, "You shall never wash my feet!" Jesus answered him, ^l"If I do not wash you, you have no part with Me."

⁹Simon Peter said to Him, "Lord, not my feet only, but also my hands and my head!"

¹⁰Jesus said to him, "He who is bathed needs only to wash his feet, but is completely clean; and ^myou are clean, but not all of you."

¹¹For ⁿHe knew who would betray Him; therefore He said, "You are not all clean."

¹²So when He had washed their feet, taken His garments, and sat down again, He said to them, "Do you ²know what I have done to you?"

^{13o}"You call Me Teacher and Lord, and you say well, for so I am.

^{14p}"If I then, your Lord and Teacher, have washed your feet, ^qyou also ought to wash one another's feet.

¹⁵"For ^rI have given you an example, that you should do as I have done to you.

^{16s}"Most assuredly, I say to you, a servant is not greater than his master; nor is he who is sent greater than he who sent him.

¹⁷f“If you know these things, blessed are you if you do them.

Jesus Identifies His Betrayer

(Matt. 26:21–25; Mark 14:18, 19; Luke 22:21–23) ¹⁸“I do not speak concerning all of you. I know whom I have chosen; but that the ^uScripture may be fulfilled, ^v‘He who eats ³bread with Me has lifted up his heel against Me.’

^{19w}“Now I tell you before it comes, that when it does come to pass, you may believe that I am He.

^{20x}“Most assuredly, I say to you, he who receives whomever I send receives Me; and he who receives Me receives Him who sent Me.”

^{21y}When Jesus had said these things, ^zHe was troubled in spirit, and testified and said, “Most assuredly, I say to you, ^aone of you will betray Me.”

²²Then the disciples looked at one another, perplexed about whom He spoke.

²³Now ^bthere was ⁴leaning on Jesus’ bosom one of His disciples, whom Jesus loved.

²⁴Simon Peter therefore motioned to him to ask who it was of whom He spoke.

²⁵Then, leaning ⁵back on Jesus’ breast, he said to Him, “Lord, who is it?”

²⁶Jesus answered, “It is he to whom I shall give a piece of bread when I have dipped it.” And having dipped the bread, He gave it to ^cJudas Iscariot, the son of Simon.

^{27d}Now after the piece of bread, Satan entered him. Then Jesus said to him, “What you do, do quickly.”

²⁸But no one at the table knew for what reason He said this to him.

²⁹For some thought, because ^eJudas had the money box, that Jesus had said to him, “Buy those things we need for the feast,” or that he should give something to the poor.

³⁰Having received the piece of bread, he then went out immediately. And it was night.

The New Commandment

³¹So, when he had gone out, Jesus said, ^f“Now the Son of Man is glorified, and ^gGod is glorified in Him.

³²“If God is glorified in Him, God will also glorify Him in Himself, and ^hglorify Him immediately.

³³“Little children, I shall be with you a ⁱlittle while longer. You will seek Me; ^jand as I said to the Jews, ‘Where I am going, you cannot come,’ so now I say to you.

^{34k}“A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another; as I have loved you, that you also love one another.

^{35l}“By this all will know that you are My disciples, if you have love for one another.”

Jesus Predicts Peter’s Denial

³⁶Simon Peter said to Him, “Lord, where are You going?” Jesus answered him, “Where I ^mam going you cannot follow Me now, but ⁿyou shall follow Me afterward.”

³⁷Peter said to Him, “Lord, why can I not follow You now? I will ^olay down my life for Your sake.”

³⁸Jesus answered him, “Will you lay down your life for My sake? Most assuredly, I say to you, the rooster shall not ^pcrow till you have denied Me three times.

John 14

The Way, the Truth, and the Life

¹“Let ^anot your heart be troubled; you believe in God, believe also in Me. Word Studies: believe

²“In My Father’s house are many ¹mansions; if it were not so, ²I would have told you. ^bI go to prepare a place for you.

³“And if I go and prepare a place for you, ^cI will come again and receive you to Myself; that ^dwhere I am, there you may be also.

⁴“And where I go you know, and the way you know.”

^{5e}Thomas said to Him, “Lord, we do not know where You are going, and how can we know the way?”

⁶Jesus said to him, “I am ^fthe way, ^gthe truth, and ^hthe life. ⁱNo one comes to the Father ^jexcept through Me.

The Father Revealed

^{7k}“If you had known Me, you would have known My Father also; and from now on you know Him and have seen Him.”

⁸Philip said to Him, “Lord, show us the Father, and it is sufficient for us.”

⁹Jesus said to him, “Have I been with you so long, and yet you have not known Me, Philip? ¹He who has seen Me has seen the Father; so how can you say, ‘Show us the Father’?”

¹⁰“Do you not believe that ^mI am in the Father, and the Father in Me? The words that I speak to you ⁿI do not speak on My own authority; but the Father who dwells in Me does the works.

¹¹“Believe Me that I am in the Father and the Father in Me, ^oor else believe Me for the sake of the works themselves.

The Answered Prayer

^{12p}“Most assuredly, I say to you, he who believes in Me, the works that I do he will do also; and greater works than these he will do, because I go to My Father.

^{13q}“And whatever you ask in My name, that I will do, that the Father may be ^rglorified in the Son.

¹⁴“If you ³ask anything in My name, I will do it.

Jesus Promises Another Helper

^{15s}“If you love Me, ⁴keep My commandments.

¹⁶“And I will pray the Father, and ^tHe will give you another ⁵Helper, that He may abide with you forever— ^{17u}“the Spirit of truth, ^vwhom the world cannot receive, because it neither sees Him nor knows Him; but you know Him, for He dwells with you ^wand will be in you.

^{18x}“I will not leave you orphans; ^yI will come to you.

Indwelling of the Father and the Son

¹⁹“A little while longer and the world will see Me no more, but ^zyou will see Me. ^aBecause I live, you will live also.

²⁰“At that day you will know that ^bI am in My Father, and you in Me, and I in you.

^{21c}“He who has My commandments and keeps them, it is he who loves Me. And he who loves Me will be loved by My Father, and I will love him and ⁶manifest Myself to him.”

^{22d}Judas (not Iscariot) said to Him, “Lord, how is it that You will manifest Yourself to us, and not to the world?”

²³Jesus answered and said to him, “If anyone loves Me, he will keep My word; and My Father will love him, ^eand We will come to him and make Our home with him.

²⁴“He who does not love Me does not keep My words; and ^fthe word which you hear is not Mine but the Father’s who sent Me.

The Gift of His Peace

²⁵“These things I have spoken to you while being present with you.

²⁶“But ^gthe ⁷Helper, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will ^hsend in My name, ⁱHe will teach you all things, and bring to your ^jremembrance all things that I said to you.

²⁷^k“Peace I leave with you, My peace I give to you; not as the world gives do I give to you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.

²⁸“You have heard Me ^lsay to you, ‘I am going away and coming back to you.’ If you loved Me, you would rejoice because ⁸I said, ^m‘I am going to the Father,’ for ⁿMy Father is greater than I.

²⁹“And ^onow I have told you before it comes, that when it does come to pass, you may believe.

³⁰“I will no longer talk much with you, ^pfor the ruler of this world is coming, and he has ^qnothing in Me.

³¹“But that the world may know that I love the Father, and ^ras the Father gave Me commandment, so I do. Arise, let us go from here.

John 15

The True Vine

¹“I am the true vine, and My Father is the vinedresser. Word Studies: vine

^{2a}“Every branch in Me that does not bear fruit He ¹takes away; and every branch that bears fruit He prunes, that it may bear ^bmore fruit.

^{3c}“You are already clean because of the word which I have spoken to you.

^{4d}“Abide in Me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, unless it abides in the vine, neither can you, unless you abide in Me.

⁵“I am the vine, you are the branches. He who abides in Me, and I in him, bears much ^efruit; for without Me you can do ^fnothing.

⁶“If anyone does not abide in Me, ^ghe is cast out as a branch and is withered; and they gather them and throw them into the fire, and they are burned.

⁷“If you abide in Me, and My words ^habide in you, ⁱyou² will ask what you desire, and it shall be done for you.

^{8j}“By this My Father is glorified, that you bear much fruit; ^kso you will be My disciples.

Love and Joy Perfected

⁹“As the Father ^lloved Me, I also have loved you; abide in My love.

^{10m}“If you keep My commandments, you will abide in My love, just as I have kept My Father’s commandments and abide in His love.

¹¹“These things I have spoken to you, that My joy may remain in you, and ⁿ*that* your joy may be full.

^{12o}“This is My ^pcommandment, that you love one another as I have loved you.

^{13q}“Greater love has no one than this, than to lay down one’s life for his friends.

^{14r}“You are My friends if you do whatever I command you.

¹⁵“No longer do I call you servants, for a servant does not know what his master is doing; but I have called you friends, ^sfor all things that I heard from My Father I have made known to you.

^{16t}“You did not choose Me, but I chose you and ^uappointed you that you should go and bear fruit, and that your fruit should remain, that whatever you ask the Father ^vin My name He may give you.

¹⁷“These things I command you, that you love one another.

The World’s Hatred

^{18w}“If the world hates you, you know that it hated Me before it hated you.

^{19x}“If you were of the world, the world would love its own. Yet ^ybecause you are not of the world, but I chose you out of the world, therefore the world hates you.

²⁰“Remember the word that I said to you, ^z‘A servant is not greater than his master.’ If they persecuted Me, they will also persecute you. ^aIf they kept My word, they will keep yours also.

²¹“But ^ball these things they will do to you for My name’s sake, because they do not know Him who sent Me.

^{22c}“If I had not come and spoken to them, they would have no sin, ^dbut now they have no excuse for their sin.

^{23e}“He who hates Me hates My Father also.

²⁴“If I had not done among them ^fthe works which no one else did, they would have no sin; but now they have ^gseen and also hated both Me and My Father.

²⁵“But this happened that the word might be fulfilled which is written in their law, ^h“They hated Me without a cause.’

The Coming Rejection

²⁶i“But when the ³Helper comes, whom I shall send to you from the Father, the Spirit of truth who proceeds from the Father, ^jHe will testify of Me.

²⁷“And ^kyou also will bear witness, because ^lyou have been with Me from the beginning.

John 16

¹“These things I have spoken to you, that you ^ashould not be made to stumble.

^{2b}“They will put you out of the synagogues; yes, the time is coming ^cthat whoever kills you will think that he offers God service.

³“And ^dthese things they will do ¹to you because they have not known the Father nor Me.

⁴“But these things I have told you, that when ²the time comes, you may remember that I told you of them. And these things I did not say to you at the beginning, because I was with you.

The Work of the Holy Spirit

⁵“But now I ^ego away to Him who sent Me, and none of you asks Me, ‘Where are You going?’

⁶“But because I have said these things to you, ^fsorrow has filled your heart.

⁷“Nevertheless I tell you the truth. It is to your advantage that I go away; for if I do not go away, the Helper will not come to you; but ^gif I depart, I will send Him to you.

⁸“And when He has ^hcome, He will convict the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment: ⁹ⁱ“of sin, because they do not believe in Me; ^{10j}“of righteousness, ^kbecause I go to My Father and you see Me no more; ^{11l}“of judgment, because ^mthe ruler of this world is judged.

¹²“I still have many things to say to you, ⁿbut you cannot bear them now.

¹³“However, when He, ^othe Spirit of truth, has come, ^pHe will guide you into all truth; for He will not speak on His own authority, but whatever He hears He will speak; and He will tell you things to come.

^{14q}“He will glorify Me, for He will take of what is Mine and declare it to you.

^{15r}“All things that the Father has are Mine. Therefore I said that He ³will take of Mine and declare it to you.

Sorrow Will Turn to Joy

¹⁶“A ^slittle while, and you will not see Me; and again a little while, and you will see Me, ^tbecause I go to the Father.”

¹⁷Then some of His disciples said among themselves, “What is this that He says to us, ‘A little while, and you will not see Me; and again a little while, and you will see Me’; and, ‘because I go to the Father’?”

¹⁸They said therefore, “What is this that He says, ‘A little while’? We do not ⁴know what He is saying.”

¹⁹Now Jesus knew that they desired to ask Him, and He said to them, “Are you inquiring among yourselves about what I said, ‘A little while, and you will not see Me; and again a little while, and you will see Me’?”

²⁰“Most assuredly, I say to you that you will weep and ^ulament, but the world will rejoice; and you will be sorrowful, but your sorrow will be turned into ^vjoy.

²¹^w“A woman, when she is in labor, has sorrow because her hour has come; but as soon as she has given birth to the child, she no longer remembers the anguish, for joy that a human being has been born into the world.

²²“Therefore you now have sorrow; but I will see you again and ^xyour heart will rejoice, and your joy no one will take from you.

²³“And in that day you will ask Me nothing. ^yMost assuredly, I say to you, whatever you ask the Father in My name He will give you.

²⁴“Until now you have asked nothing in My name. Ask, and you will receive, ^zthat your joy may be ^afull.

Jesus Christ Has Overcome the World

²⁵“These things I have spoken to you in figurative language; but the time is coming when I will no longer speak to you in figurative language, but I will tell you ^bplainly about the Father. Word Studies: illustration

²⁶“In that day you will ask in My name, and I do not say to you that I shall pray the Father for you; ²⁷^c“for the Father Himself loves you, because you have loved Me, and ^dhave believed that I came forth from God.

²⁸^e“I came forth from the Father and have come into the world. Again, I leave the world and go to the Father.”

²⁹His disciples said to Him, “See, now You are speaking plainly, and using no figure of speech!

³⁰“Now we are sure that ^fYou know all things, and have no need that anyone should question You. By this ^gwe believe that You came forth from God.”

³¹Jesus answered them, “Do you now believe?

^{32h}“Indeed the hour is coming, yes, has now come, that you will be scattered, ⁱeach to his ⁵own, and will leave Me alone. And ^jyet I am not alone, because the Father is with Me.

³³“These things I have spoken to you, that ^kin Me you may have peace. ^lIn the world you ⁶will have tribulation; but be of good cheer, ^mI have overcome the world.”

John 17

Jesus Prays for Himself

¹Jesus spoke these words, lifted up His eyes to heaven, and said: “Father, ^athe hour has come. Glorify Your Son, that Your Son also may glorify You, ^{2b}“as You have given Him authority over all flesh, that He ¹should give eternal life to as many ^cas You have given Him.

³“And ^dthis is eternal life, that they may know You, ^ethe only true God, and Jesus Christ ^fwhom You have sent.

^{4g}“I have glorified You on the earth. ^hI have finished the work ⁱwhich You have given Me to do.

⁵“And now, O Father, glorify Me together ²with Yourself, with the glory ^jwhich I had with You before the world was. Word Studies: glorify

Jesus Prays for His Disciples

^{6k}“I have ³manifested Your name to the men ¹whom You have given Me out of the world. ^mThey were Yours, You gave them to Me, and they have kept Your word.

⁷“Now they have known that all things which You have given Me are from You.

⁸“For I have given to them the words ⁿwhich You have given Me; and they have received them, ^oand have known surely that I came forth from You; and they have believed that ^pYou sent Me.

⁹“I pray for them. ^qI do not pray for the world but for those whom You have given Me, for they are Yours.

¹⁰“And all Mine are Yours, and ^rYours are Mine, and I am glorified in them.

^{11s}“Now I am no longer in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to You. Holy Father, ^tkeep⁴ through Your name those whom You have given Me, that they may be one ^uas We are.

¹²“While I was with them ⁵in the world, ^vI kept them in ⁶Your name. Those whom You gave Me I have kept; and ^wnone of them is ⁷lost ^xexcept the son of ⁸perdition, ^ythat the Scripture might be fulfilled.

¹³“But now I come to You, and these things I speak in the world, that they may have My joy fulfilled in themselves.

¹⁴“I have given them Your word; ^zand the world has hated them because they are not of the world, ^ajust as I am not of the world.

¹⁵“I do not pray that You should take them out of the world, but ^bthat You should keep them from the evil one.

¹⁶“They are not of the world, just as I am not of the world.

^{17c}“Sanctify⁹ them by Your truth. ^dYour word is truth.

^{18e}“As You sent Me into the world, I also have sent them into the world.

¹⁹“And ^ffor their sakes I sanctify Myself, that they also may be sanctified by the truth.

Jesus Prays for All Believers

²⁰“I do not pray for these alone, but also for those who ¹⁰will believe in Me through their word; ^{21g}“that they all may be one, as ^hYou, Father, are in Me, and I in You; that they also may be one in Us, that the world may believe that You sent Me.

²²“And the ⁱglory which You gave Me I have given them, ^jthat they may be one just as We are one: ²³“I in them, and You in Me; ^kthat they may be made perfect in one, and that the world may know that You have sent Me, and have loved them as You have loved Me.

²⁴ⁱ“Father, I desire that they also whom You gave Me may be with Me where I am, that they may behold My glory which You have given Me; ^mfor You loved Me before the foundation of the world.

²⁵“O righteous Father! ⁿThe world has not known You, but ^oI have known You; and ^pthese have known that You sent Me.

^{26q}“And I have declared to them Your name, and will declare it, that the love ^rwith which You loved Me may be in them, and I in them.”

John 18

Betrayal and Arrest in Gethsemane

(Matt. 26:47–56; Mark 14:43–52; Luke 22:47–53) ¹When Jesus had spoken these words, ^aHe went out with His disciples over ^bthe Brook Kidron, where there was a garden, which He and His disciples entered.

²And Judas, who betrayed Him, also knew the place; ^cfor Jesus often met there with His disciples.

^{3a}Then Judas, having received a detachment of troops, and officers from the chief priests and Pharisees, came there with lanterns, torches, and weapons.

⁴Jesus therefore, ^eknowing all things that would come upon Him, went forward and said to them, “Whom are you seeking?”

⁵They answered Him, ^f“Jesus ¹of Nazareth.” Jesus said to them, “I am He.” And Judas, who ^gbetrayed Him, also stood with them.

⁶Now when He said to them, “I am He,” they drew back and fell to the ground.

⁷Then He asked them again, “Whom are you seeking?” And they said, “Jesus of Nazareth.”

⁸Jesus answered, “I have told you that I am He. Therefore, if you seek Me, let these go their way,”

⁹that the saying might be fulfilled which He spoke, ^h“Of those whom You gave Me I have lost none.”

¹⁰ⁱThen Simon Peter, having a sword, drew it and struck the high priest’s servant, and cut off his right ear. The servant’s name was Malchus.

¹¹So Jesus said to Peter, “Put your sword into the sheath. Shall I not drink ^jthe cup which My Father has given Me?”

Before the High Priest

¹²Then the detachment of troops and the captain and the officers of the Jews arrested Jesus and bound Him.

¹³And ^kthey led Him away to ¹Annas first, for he was the father-in-law of ^mCaiaphas who was high priest that year.

¹⁴ⁿNow it was Caiaphas who advised the Jews that it was ²expedient that one man should die for the people.

Peter Denies Jesus

(Matt. 26:69–75; Mark 14:66–72; Luke 22:54–62) ^{15o} And Simon Peter followed Jesus, and so did ^panother³ disciple. Now that disciple was known to the high priest, and went with Jesus into the courtyard of the high priest.

^{16q} But Peter stood at the door outside. Then the other disciple, who was known to the high priest, went out and spoke to her who kept the door, and brought Peter in.

¹⁷ Then the servant girl who kept the door said to Peter, “You are not also one of this Man’s disciples, are you?” He said, “I am ^rnot.”

¹⁸ Now the servants and officers who had made a fire of coals stood there, for it was cold, and they warmed themselves. And Peter stood with them and warmed himself.

Jesus Questioned by the High Priest

¹⁹ The high priest then asked Jesus about His disciples and His doctrine.

²⁰ Jesus answered him, ^s“I spoke openly to the world. I always taught ^tin synagogues and ^uin the temple, where ⁴the Jews always meet, and in secret I have said nothing. Bible Times & Culture Notes: The Function of the Synagogue

²¹ “Why do you ask Me? Ask ^vthose who have heard Me what I said to them. Indeed they know what I said.”

²² And when He had said these things, one of the officers who stood by ^wstruck⁵ Jesus with the palm of his hand, saying, “Do You answer the high priest like that?”

²³ Jesus answered him, “If I have spoken evil, bear witness of the evil; but if well, why do you strike Me?”

^{24x} Then Annas sent Him bound to ^yCaiaphas the high priest.

Peter Denies Twice More

²⁵Now Simon Peter stood and warmed himself. ^zTherefore they said to him, “You are not also one of His disciples, are you?” He denied it and said, “I am not!”

²⁶One of the servants of the high priest, a relative of him whose ear Peter cut off, said, “Did I not see you in the garden with Him?”

²⁷Peter then denied again; and ^aimmediately a rooster crowed.

In Pilate’s Court

(Matt. 27:1, 2, 11–14; Mark 15:1–5; Luke 23:1–5) ^{28b}Then they led Jesus from Caiaphas to the Praetorium, and it was early morning. ^cBut they themselves did not go into the ⁶Praetorium, lest they should be defiled, but that they might eat the Passover.

^{29d}Pilate then went out to them and said, “What accusation do you bring against this Man?”

³⁰They answered and said to him, “If He were not ⁷an evildoer, we would not have delivered Him up to you.”

³¹Then Pilate said to them, “You take Him and judge Him according to your law.” Therefore the Jews said to him, “It is not lawful for us to put anyone to death,” ^{32e}that the saying of Jesus might be fulfilled which He spoke, ^fsignifying by what death He would die.

^{33g}Then Pilate entered the ⁸Praetorium again, called Jesus, and said to Him, “Are You the King of the Jews?”

³⁴Jesus answered him, “Are you speaking for yourself about this, or did others tell you this concerning Me?”

³⁵Pilate answered, “Am I a Jew? Your own nation and the chief priests have delivered You to me. What have You done?”

^{36h}Jesus answered, ⁱ“My kingdom is not of this world. If My kingdom were of this world, My servants would fight, so that I should not be delivered to the Jews; but now My kingdom is not from here.”

³⁷Pilate therefore said to Him, “Are You a king then?” Jesus answered, “You say rightly that I am a king. For this cause I was born, and for this cause I have come into the world, ^jthat I should bear ^kwitness to the truth. Everyone who ^lis of the truth ^mhears My voice.”

³⁸Pilate said to Him, “What is truth?” And when he had said this, he went out again to the Jews, and said to them, ⁿ“I find no fault in Him at all.

Taking the Place of Barabbas

(Matt. 27:15–23; Mark 15:6–14; Luke 23:13–23)^{39o} “But you have a custom that I should release someone to you at the Passover. Do you therefore want me to release to you the King of the Jews?”

^{40p} Then they all cried again, saying, “Not this Man, but Barabbas!” ^q Now Barabbas was a robber.

John 19

The Soldiers Mock Jesus

(Matt. 27:27–31; Mark 15:16–20) ¹So then ^aPilate took Jesus and scourged Him.

²And the soldiers twisted a crown of thorns and put it on His head, and they put on Him a purple robe.

³¹Then they said, “Hail, King of the Jews!” And they ^bstruck Him with their hands.

⁴Pilate then went out again, and said to them, “Behold, I am bringing Him out to you, ^cthat you may know that I find no fault in Him.”

Pilate’s Decision

⁵Then Jesus came out, wearing the crown of thorns and the purple robe. And Pilate said to them, “Behold the Man!”

⁶^dTherefore, when the chief priests and officers saw Him, they cried out, saying, “Crucify Him, crucify Him!” Pilate said to them, “You take Him and crucify Him, for I find no fault in Him.”

⁷The Jews answered him, ^e“We have a law, and according to ²our law He ought to die, because ^fHe made Himself the Son of God.”

⁸Therefore, when Pilate heard that saying, he was the more afraid, ⁹and went again into the Praetorium, and said to Jesus, “Where are You from?”

⁸But Jesus gave him no answer.

¹⁰Then Pilate said to Him, “Are You not speaking to me? Do You not know that I have ³power to crucify You, and power to release You?”

¹¹Jesus answered, ^h“You could have no power at all against Me unless it had been given you from above. Therefore ⁱthe one who delivered Me to you has the greater sin.”

¹²From then on Pilate sought to release Him, but the Jews cried out, saying, “If you let this Man go, you are not Caesar’s friend. ^jWhoever makes himself a king speaks against Caesar.”

¹³^kWhen Pilate therefore heard that saying, he brought Jesus out and sat down in the judgment seat in a place that is called The Pavement, but in Hebrew, Gabbatha.

¹⁴Now ^lit was the Preparation Day of the Passover, and about the sixth hour. And he said to the Jews, “Behold your King!”

¹⁵But they cried out, “Away with Him, away with Him! Crucify Him!” Pilate said to them, “Shall I crucify your King?” The chief priests answered,

^m“We have no king but Caesar!”

¹⁶ⁿThen he delivered Him to them to be crucified. So they took Jesus ⁴and led Him away. Charts and Diagrams: Jesus' Trials

The King on a Cross

(Matt. 27:32–56; Mark 15:21–41; Luke 23:26–49) ¹⁷*o* And He, bearing His cross, ^pwent out to a place called the Place of a Skull, which is called in Hebrew, Golgotha, ¹⁸where they crucified Him, and ^qtwo others with Him, one on either side, and Jesus in the center.

¹⁹*r* Now Pilate wrote a title and put it on the cross. And the writing was:

JESUS OF NAZARETH, THE KING OF THE JEWS.

²⁰Then many of the Jews read this title, for the place where Jesus was crucified was near the city; and it was written in Hebrew, Greek, and Latin.

²¹Therefore the chief priests of the Jews said to Pilate, “Do not write, ‘The King of the Jews,’ but, ‘He said, “I am the King of the Jews.” ’ ”

²²Pilate answered, “What I have written, I have written.”

²³*s* Then the soldiers, when they had crucified Jesus, took His garments and made four parts, to each soldier a part, and also the tunic. Now the tunic was without seam, woven from the top in one piece.

²⁴They said therefore among themselves, “Let us not tear it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be,” that the Scripture might be fulfilled which says:

^t*“They divided My garments among them, And for My clothing they cast lots.”*

Therefore the soldiers did these things.

Behold Your Mother

²⁵^uNow there stood by the cross of Jesus His mother, and His mother's sister, Mary the wife of ^vClopas, and Mary Magdalene.

²⁶When Jesus therefore saw His mother, and ^wthe disciple whom He loved standing by, He said to His mother, ^x“Woman, behold your son!”

²⁷Then He said to the disciple, “Behold your mother!” And from that hour that disciple took her ^yto his own home.

It Is Finished

²⁸After this, Jesus, ⁵knowing that all things were now accomplished, ^zthat the Scripture might be fulfilled, said, “I thirst!”

²⁹Now a vessel full of sour wine was sitting there; and ^athey filled a sponge with sour wine, put it on hyssop, and put it to His mouth.

³⁰So when Jesus had received the sour wine, He said, ^b“It is finished!” And bowing His head, He gave up His spirit. Charts and Diagrams: The Death of Jesus

Jesus’ Side Is Pierced

^{31c}Therefore, because it was the Preparation Day, ^dthat the bodies should not remain on the cross on the Sabbath (for that Sabbath was a ^ehigh day), the Jews asked Pilate that their legs might be broken, and that they might be taken away.

³²Then the soldiers came and broke the legs of the first and of the other who was crucified with Him.

³³But when they came to Jesus and saw that He was already dead, they did not break His legs.

³⁴But one of the soldiers pierced His side with a spear, and immediately ^fblood and water came out.

³⁵And he who has seen has testified, and his testimony is ^gtrue; and he knows that he is telling the truth, so that you may ^hbelieve.

³⁶For these things were done that the Scripture should be fulfilled, ⁱ“Not one of His bones shall be broken.”

³⁷And again another Scripture says, ^j“They shall look on Him whom they pierced.”

Jesus Buried in Joseph’s Tomb

(Matt. 27:57–61; Mark 15:42–47; Luke 23:50–56) ^{38k}After this, Joseph of Arimathea, being a disciple of Jesus, but secretly, ^lfor fear of the Jews, asked Pilate that he might take away the body of Jesus; and Pilate gave him permission. So he came and took the body of Jesus.

³⁹And ^mNicodemus, who at first came to Jesus by night, also came, bringing a mixture of ⁿmyrrh and aloes, about a hundred pounds.

⁴⁰Then they took the body of Jesus, and ^obound it in strips of linen with the spices, as the custom of the Jews is to bury.

⁴¹Now in the place where He was crucified there was a garden, and in the garden a new tomb in which no one had yet been laid.

⁴²So ^pthere they laid Jesus, ^qbecause of the Jews' Preparation Day, for the tomb was nearby.

John 20

The Empty Tomb

(Matt. 28:1–10; Mark 16:1–8; Luke 24:1–12) ¹Now on the ^afirst day of the week Mary Magdalene went to the tomb early, while it was still dark, and saw that the ^bstone had been taken away from the tomb.

²Then she ran and came to Simon Peter, and to the ^cother disciple, ^dwhom Jesus loved, and said to them, “They have taken away the Lord out of the tomb, and we do not know where they have laid Him.”

^{3e}Peter therefore went out, and the other disciple, and were going to the tomb.

⁴So they both ran together, and the other disciple outran Peter and came to the tomb first.

⁵And he, stooping down and looking in, saw ^fthe linen cloths lying there; yet he did not go in.

⁶Then Simon Peter came, following him, and went into the tomb; and he saw the linen cloths lying there, ⁷and ^gthe ^hhandkerchief that had been around His head, not lying with the linen cloths, but folded together in a place by itself.

⁸Then the ⁱother disciple, who came to the tomb first, went in also; and he saw and believed.

⁹For as yet they did not ^jknow the ^kScripture, that He must rise again from the dead.

¹⁰Then the disciples went away again to their own homes.

Mary Magdalene Sees the Risen Lord

^{11j}But Mary stood outside by the tomb weeping, and as she wept she stooped down and looked into the tomb.

¹²And she saw two angels in white sitting, one at the head and the other at the feet, where the body of Jesus had lain.

¹³Then they said to her, “Woman, why are you weeping?” She said to them, “Because they have taken away my Lord, and I do not know where they have laid Him.”

^{14k}Now when she had said this, she turned around and saw Jesus standing there, and ^ldid not know that it was Jesus.

¹⁵Jesus said to her, “Woman, why are you weeping? Whom are you seeking?” She, supposing Him to be the gardener, said to Him, “Sir, if You have carried Him away, tell me where You have laid Him, and I will take Him away.”

¹⁶Jesus said to her, ^m“Mary!” She turned and said to ³Him, “Rabboni!” (which is to say, Teacher).

¹⁷Jesus said to her, “Do not cling to Me, for I have not yet ⁿascended to My Father; but go to ^oMy brethren and say to them, ^p‘I am ascending to My Father and your Father, and to ^qMy God and your God.’ ”

^{18r}Mary Magdalene came and told the ⁴disciples that she had seen the Lord, and that He had spoken these things to her.

The Apostles Commissioned

(Luke 24:36–43; 1 Cor. 15:5) ^{19s}Then, the same day at evening, being the first day of the week, when the doors were shut where the disciples were ⁵assembled, for ^tfear of the Jews, Jesus came and stood in the midst, and said to them, ^u“Peace be with you.”

²⁰When He had said this, He ^vshowed them His hands and His side. ^wThen the disciples were glad when they saw the Lord.

²¹So Jesus said to them again, “Peace to you! ^xAs the Father has sent Me, I also send you.”

²²And when He had said this, He breathed on them, and said to them, “Receive the Holy Spirit.

^{23y}“If you forgive the sins of any, they are forgiven them; if you retain the sins of any, they are retained.”

Seeing and Believing

²⁴Now Thomas, ^zcalled the Twin, one of the twelve, was not with them when Jesus came.

²⁵The other disciples therefore said to him, “We have seen the Lord.” So he said to them, “Unless I see in His hands the print of the nails, and put my finger into the print of the nails, and put my hand into His side, I will not believe.”

²⁶And after eight days His disciples were again inside, and Thomas with them. Jesus came, the doors being shut, and stood in the midst, and said, “Peace to you!”

²⁷Then He said to Thomas, “Reach your finger here, and look at My hands; and ^areach your hand here, and put it into My side. Do not be ^bunbelieving, but believing.”

²⁸And Thomas answered and said to Him, “My Lord and my God!”

²⁹Jesus said to him, ⁶“Thomas, because you have seen Me, you have believed. ^cBlessed are those who have not seen and yet have believed.”

That You May Believe

³⁰And ^dtruly Jesus did many other signs in the presence of His disciples, which are not written in this book; ^{31e}but these are written that ^fyou may believe that Jesus ^gis the Christ, the Son of God, ^hand that believing you may have life in His name. Word Studies: life

John 21

Breakfast by the Sea

¹After these things Jesus showed Himself again to the disciples at the ^aSea of Tiberias, and in this way He showed Himself:

²Simon Peter, ^bThomas called the Twin, ^cNathanael of ^dCana in Galilee, ^ethe sons of Zebedee, and two others of His disciples were together.

³Simon Peter said to them, “I am going fishing.” They said to him, “We are going with you also.” They went out and ¹immediately got into the boat, and that night they caught nothing.

⁴But when the morning had now come, Jesus stood on the shore; yet the disciples ^fdid not know that it was Jesus.

⁵Then ^gJesus said to them, “Children, have you any food?” They answered Him, “No.”

⁶And He said to them, ^h“Cast the net on the right side of the boat, and you will find some.” So they cast, and now they were not able to draw it in because of the multitude of fish.

⁷Therefore ⁱthat disciple whom Jesus loved said to Peter, “It is the Lord!” Now when Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he put on his outer garment (for he had removed it), and plunged into the sea.

⁸But the other disciples came in the little boat (for they were not far from land, but about two hundred cubits), dragging the net with fish.

⁹Then, as soon as they had come to land, they saw a fire of coals there, and fish laid on it, and bread.

¹⁰Jesus said to them, “Bring some of the fish which you have just caught.”

¹¹Simon Peter went up and dragged the net to land, full of large fish, one hundred and fifty-three; and although there were so many, the net was not broken.

¹²Jesus said to them, ^j“Come and eat breakfast.” Yet none of the disciples dared ask Him, “Who are You?”—knowing that it was the Lord.

¹³Jesus then came and took the bread and gave it to them, and likewise the fish.

¹⁴This is now ^kthe third time Jesus showed Himself to His disciples after He was raised from the dead.

Jesus Restores Peter

¹⁵So when they had eaten breakfast, Jesus said to Simon Peter, “Simon, son of ²Jonah, do you love Me more than these?” He said to Him, “Yes, Lord; You know that I ³love You.” He said to him, ¹“Feed My lambs.”

¹⁶He said to him again a second time, “Simon, son of ⁴Jonah, do you love Me?” He said to Him, “Yes, Lord; You know that I ⁵love You.” ^mHe said to him, “Tend My ⁿsheep.”

¹⁷He said to him the third time, “Simon, son of ⁶Jonah, do you ⁷love Me?” Peter was grieved because He said to him the third time, “Do you love Me?” And he said to Him, “Lord, ^oYou know all things; You know that I love You.” Jesus said to him, “Feed My sheep.

^{18p}“Most assuredly, I say to you, when you were younger, you girded yourself and walked where you wished; but when you are old, you will stretch out your hands, and another will gird you and carry you where you do not wish.”

¹⁹This He spoke, signifying ^qby what death he would glorify God. And when He had spoken this, He said to him, ^r“Follow Me.”

The Beloved Disciple and His Book

²⁰Then Peter, turning around, saw the disciple ^swhom Jesus loved following, ^twho also had leaned on His breast at the supper, and said, “Lord, who is the one who betrays You?”

²¹Peter, seeing him, said to Jesus, “But Lord, what about this man?”

²²Jesus said to him, “If I ⁸will that he remain ^utill I come, what is that to you? You follow Me.” Article: The Restoration of Peter

²³Then this saying went out among the brethren that this disciple would not die. Yet Jesus did not say to him that he would not die, but, “If I will that he remain till I come, what is that to you?”

²⁴This is the disciple who ^vtestifies of these things, and wrote these things; and we know that his testimony is true.

^{25w}And there are also many other things that Jesus did, which if they were written one by one, ^xI suppose that even the world itself could not contain the books that would be written. Amen.

Annotations for John

1:1 In the beginning: Genesis 1:1 starts with the moment of creation and moves forward to the creation of humanity. John 1:1 starts with creation and contemplates eternity past. The fact that the Word was with God suggests a face-to-face relationship. In the ancient world, it was important that persons of equal station be on the same level, or face-to-face, when sitting across from one another. Thus the word with indicates a personal relationship, but also implies equal status. The Word, Jesus Christ Himself, is an active Person in communication with the Father (see 1 John 1:2). Moreover, the Word was God. The word order in Greek shows that the Word was “God,” not “a god.” This is a straightforward declaration of Christ’s deity, since John uses Word to refer to Jesus. The Word was of the very quality of God, while still retaining His personal distinction from the Father.

Word Studies

the Word

(Gk. ho logos) (1:1; 1 John 1:1; Rev. 19:13) Strong's #3056

This Greek word was used to speak of the principle of the universe, even the creative energy that generated the universe. The term logos may also have some connection with the OT presentation of Wisdom as a personification or attribute of God (see Prov. 8). In both the Jewish conception and the Greek, the Logos was associated with the idea of beginnings—the world began through the origination and instrumentality of the Word (Gen. 1:3). John may have had these ideas in mind, but more likely he used this word in a new way to identify the Son of God as divine. He is the image of the invisible God (Col. 1:15), the express image of God's substance (Heb. 1:3). In the Godhead, the Son functions as the Revealer of God and is God in reality.

The Word Was God

John 1:1 is probably the strongest passage in the NT for declaring the deity of Jesus Christ. Because of this, many who deny this biblical doctrine, especially cultists, have attempted to undercut it by arguing that this passage only teaches that Jesus is “a god” and so not fully Deity. This confused position falls on at least two grounds. Such a view is polytheistic, the belief in more than one god. Second, it betrays a misunderstanding of Greek grammar. Verse 1 of the first chapter of John reads, “In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God.” The last portion of v. 1 is the major point of contention. It reads in the Greek theos en ho logos, or literally, “the Word was God.” God, or theos, occurs in this verse without the Greek article ho, so that some have contended that the lack of the article in the Greek text should cause the statement to be translated “the Word was a god.” The best understanding for the translation, however, as recognized by Greek scholars, is that since theos is a predicate and precedes the noun logos and a verb, it is natural for it to occur here without the article. Greek scholars are agreed that the verse should be translated as it regularly is in modern and ancient translations, clearly affirming that Jesus is indeed God.

Go to the List of Articles

1:2 Neither the Person of Christ, nor His Sonship, came into being at a point in time. Rather, the Father and the Son have always been in loving fellowship with one another.

1:3 All things were made through Him: God the Father created the world (Gen. 1:1) through God the Son (Col. 1:16; Heb. 1:2). All creation was made through Him. Thus He is the Creator God.

1:4 Note that life is not said to have been created; life existed in Christ (5:26; 6:57; 10:10; 11:25; 14:6; 17:3; 20:31). Humans are dependent on God for life. Our existence, spiritually and physically, depends on God's sustaining power. In contrast, the Son has life in Himself from all eternity. The life, Jesus Christ, is also the light of men. This image conveys the concept of revelation. As the light, Jesus Christ reveals both sin and God to humans (see Ps. 36:9). Later in this Gospel, Christ declares Himself to be both the life (11:25) and the light (8:12). Death and darkness flee when the life and light enter. The dead are raised and the blind receive their sight, both physically and spiritually.

1:5 light shines in the darkness: Christ entered this dark world to give it spiritual light (see Is. 9:2).

The word translated comprehend can mean (1) to take hold of; (2) to overpower; or (3) to understand. Therefore, this verse may mean that darkness did not positively take hold of or understand the light, or that darkness did not negatively overcome the light. Both statements are true. Humans did not appropriate or understand the light, nor did they overtake or overpower it. Although Satan and his forces resist the light, they cannot thwart its power. In short, Jesus is life and light; those who accept Him are "sons of light" (12:35, 36). As the creation of light was the beginning of the original creation (Gen. 1:3), so when believers receive the light, they become part of the new creation (2 Cor. 4:3–6).

1:6 John the Baptist is here contrasted with Jesus Christ. Jesus is God (v. 1); John was a man sent from God. Jesus was the Light (v. 4); John was the lamp that bore witness to the Light (vv. 7, 8).

1:7 To bear witness means "to testify" or "to declare." John uses the word translated witness 33 times as a verb and 14 times as a noun in his Gospel. The term is particularly important to his purpose, which is to record adequate witnesses to Jesus as the Messiah so that individuals might believe in Him (20:30, 31). Believe means "to trust." John uses this verb almost one hundred times in his Gospel to express what must take place for a person to receive the gift of eternal life.

1:9 In order to give due notice to the incarnation of Jesus, this verse may be rephrased: "That was the true Light coming into the world, which enlightens every man." Jesus became man in order to reveal the truth to all people. Depending on the context, world can refer to (1) the universe; (2) the earth; (3) humanity; or (4) the human system opposed to God.

1:11 Receive here means "to receive with favor" and implies "welcome." Instead of a welcome mat, Jesus had a door slammed in His face. The themes of rejection and reception (v. 12) introduced in the prologue (1:1–18) appear again and again throughout the Gospel of John.

1:12 The phrase believe in His name occurs three times in the Gospel of John (1:12; 2:23; 3:18). Name does not refer to the term by which He is called, but to what His name stands for—the Lord is salvation (see Ex. 3:14, 15). In this context, the phrase means to believe that Jesus is the Word, the life, and the Light—that is, He is the Christ, the Son of God (20:31). To them He gave the right refers to the legitimate entitlement to the position of children of God. By believing, undeserving sinners can become full members of God's family.

1:13 born . . . of God: This new spiritual birth is not of blood, that is, by physical generation or by parents. Nor is the new birth of the will of the flesh, that is, by personal effort. Neither is the birth of the will of man, that is, something done by another individual. Each person must individually trust Jesus Christ for eternal life. It is a gift to be received (4:10, 14), not a reward achieved through any human effort.

1:14 the Word became flesh: The Son of God who was from eternity became human, with limitations in time and space (see Phil. 2:5–8). This is the doctrine of the incarnation: God became human. Nothing of the essential nature of deity was lost in this event; we might rephrase became as "took to Himself." John uses the word flesh to refer to the physical nature of humans, not to our sinful disposition (contrast Rom. 8:1–11). dwelt among us: Dwelt comes from the Greek word for tent that was used in the Greek OT for the tabernacle, where the presence of God dwelt. In the OT, glory refers to the divine presence (see Ex. 33:18). As God manifested His glory in the tabernacle, so Jesus displayed His divine presence before the apostles (18:6; 20:26, 27). Only begotten (3:16, 18) means unique, one of a kind. The same term is used of Isaac (see Heb. 11:17), who was not the only physical son of Abraham, but was the unique son of promise. All who trust Christ are born of God. In the Gospel of John, these “born ones” are called children of God (vv. 12, 13), but Jesus Christ is the unique Son of God. He is the only Son who is fully God. He is also full of grace and truth. When God revealed Himself to Moses, He proclaimed Himself to be “abounding in goodness and truth” (see Ex. 34:6). As applied to Jesus Christ, this phrase marks Him as the author of perfect redemption and perfect revelation.

- 1:15 He was before me: Jesus was born after John the Baptist (see Luke 1:36) and began His ministry later than John the Baptist. Yet John the Baptist said Jesus was before him, meaning that Jesus’ existence is from eternity past (v. 30).
- 1:16 Most people take the words of v. 15 to be John the Baptist’s. Probably the words of vv. 16–18 are those of John the writer of this Gospel, although they too may be John the Baptist’s. Grace for grace means grace piled upon grace. The background of this doubled term, as well as the use of the term in v. 17, is found in Ex. 32–34. Moses and the people had received grace, but they were in tremendous need of more grace (Ex. 33:13).
- 1:17 Throughout the NT, grace is God’s favor expressed to sinful humankind apart from any human works or worth. Though there was abundant grace and truth expressed by God through the Law He gave Moses, it is in the person of Jesus Christ that grace and truth are realized to the fullest.
- 1:18 No one has seen God: God is Spirit (4:24) and is invisible (see Col. 1:15; 1 Tim. 1:17) unless God chooses to reveal Himself. Humans cannot look at God and live (Ex. 33:20). Abraham, the friend of God, did not see God. Even Moses, the lawgiver, could not look at God’s face (see Ex. 33:22, 23). However, the Son is in intimate relationship with the Father, face-to-face with God (see 1:1; 6:46; 1 John 1:2). God became visible to human eyes in the man Jesus. It is through seeing the Son that we see God. We cannot see Him today, but we know Him through His word. The bosom, or chest, is used here to designate a close and intimate relationship (see 13:23; Luke 16:23). The One who is the Father’s only begotten Son and who knows God intimately came to earth and declared Him. Declared can also mean “explained.”
- 1:19, 20 The Jews refers to the Jewish leaders or the council (the Sanhedrin), who would be responsible for examining anyone thought to be a prophet, to see if the person was true or false. The Sanhedrin included Sadducees and Pharisees; those who came to investigate John the Baptist were Pharisees (v. 24). Who are you: In the first century many people were waiting for the coming of the Messiah promised by the OT prophets. John did not claim to be the Messiah, but the rulers were concerned about maintaining peace under the eye of Rome, and they kept a close watch on all prospective messiahs. John was quick to acknowledge that he was not the Christ.
- 1:21 Are you Elijah: The OT promised that Elijah would come before the great day of the Lord (see Mal. 4:5). Are you the Prophet: Moses had predicted that a prophet like himself would come (see Deut. 18:15).
- 1:23 The voice: Christ is the Word; John the Baptist was the voice. When pressed to identify himself, John the Baptist claimed that he was the fulfillment of Is. 40:3. In Isaiah’s day there were few roads. When a king traveled, roads were built so that the royal chariot would not have to travel over rough terrain or be stuck in the mud. Isaiah was saying that before God appeared to manifest His glory, a voice would be heard, inviting Israel to make straight the way by which God Himself would come. John was identifying himself as that voice calling people to make straight the way of the LORD.
- 1:24 The Pharisees were an influential sect that numbered about six thousand. As strict interpreters of the Law in Israel, they were extremely zealous for ritual and tradition.
- 1:25 Why . . . do you baptize: Performing the rite of baptism was regarded as making a claim to authority. The Pharisees were asking, “By what authority do you perform this religious rite?”
- 1:27 Undoing the sandal strap was the job of a slave. The Jewish Talmud says, “Everything that a servant will do for his master a scholar shall perform for his teacher, except the menial task of loosing his sandal thong.” Thus John was saying that “Jesus Christ is the living Lord and I am the voice, His servant and slave. Actually, I’m not even worthy to be His slave.”
- 1:28 The location of Bethabara is unknown. Some think that Bethany is meant, but not the same Bethany as the familiar one near Jerusalem. Beyond the Jordan means east of the Jordan River. Evidently, this was John's normal place for baptizing.

1:29 The Lamb of God: In the OT, the Israelites sacrificed lambs at the Passover feast (see Ex. 12:21) and as offerings (see Lev. 14:10–25). Jesus Christ is the Lamb that God would give as a sacrifice for the sins not only of Israel, but of the whole world (see Is. 52:13–53:12).

1:31 I did not know Him: John and Jesus were cousins, so they probably knew each other. But John apparently did not know that Jesus was the Messiah. All John knew was that he was to baptize with water and that the Messiah would be made known to Israel through him. God had given John a sign by which he would know the Messiah, namely, the descending of the Holy Spirit as a dove.

1:33 He who baptizes with the Holy Spirit: Seven times the NT mentions this ministry of Jesus. Five are prophetic (see also Matt. 3:11; Mark 1:8; Luke 3:16; Acts 1:5); one is historical (see Acts 11:16–18); one is doctrinal (see 1 Cor. 12:13).

1:35 One of the two disciples of John the Baptist was Andrew (v. 40). The other is not named but was probably John, the author of this Gospel.

1:41 He first found: As soon as he came to faith, Andrew must have sought out his brother Simon Peter (note the four distinct days suggested in vv. 29, 35, 43). The excitement of discovering the Son of God, the Messiah (see Matt. 26:63, 64; Mark 14:61, 62; Luke 22:67–70), was contagious among the early believers.

1:42 he brought him to Jesus: Andrew appears two more times in the Gospel of John (6:4–9; 12:20–22); both times he is bringing someone to Jesus. Cephas is the Aramaic word for “rock” (see Matt. 16:18).

1:43 From this verse, it might appear that Philip followed Jesus without being evangelized by another disciple, but there are several indications that Philip was approached by Andrew and Peter before he actually met the Lord. Verse 44 says that Andrew and Peter were from the same city as Philip, suggesting that they had talked to him. Furthermore, when Philip told Nathanael what had happened, he said “we” have found the Messiah (v. 45).

1:45 Nathanael is not mentioned in the synoptic Gospels. But in every list of the apostles in Matthew, Mark, and Luke, the name Bartholomew is listed with Philip, as Nathanael is linked with Philip here. It is likely that Nathanael and Bartholomew were the same person. son of Joseph: Philip did not have knowledge of the virgin birth at this time. However, soon all of the disciples would recognize Christ as the Son of God (v. 49).

1:46 Nazareth: Nathanael knew that the OT prophets had predicted that the Messiah would be born in Bethlehem. Furthermore, Nazareth was an obscure village. Nathanael simply could not fathom that such a significant person as the Messiah could come from such an insignificant place as Nazareth.

Bible Times & Culture Notes

Nazareth

Nazareth is a beautifully secluded town nestled in the southernmost hills of the Lebanon mountain range. The city lay close to the important trade routes of Palestine. It overlooked the Plain of Esdraelon through which caravans passed as they traveled from Gilead to the south and west. North of the city was the main road from Ptolemais to the Decapolis, a road over which the Roman legions frequently traveled. This fact may account for the possible source of the name Nazareth in the Aramaic word meaning “watchtower.” This, coupled with a rather bad reputation in morals and religion and a certain crudeness in the Galilean dialect prompted Nathanael, when he first learned of Jesus of Nazareth, to ask, “Can anything good come out of Nazareth?” (1:46).

1:47 an Israelite indeed: In his younger life Jacob, the first Israelite, was a cunning, scheming fellow full of deceit. Nathanael was an Israelite, a descendant of Jacob, but he was genuine and sincere. Jesus read Nathanael’s character like an open book (2:24).

1:48, 49 under the fig tree: In the OT, this expression often suggests being safe and at leisure (see 1 Kin. 4:25; Mic. 4:4; Zech. 3:10). Nathanael may have been meditating under the tree about the dream of Jacob referred to in vv. 50, 51. I saw you: Jesus manifested His supernatural knowledge. Apparently, this incident convinced Nathanael that since Jesus had such knowledge of him, He had to be the Son of God, the King of Israel (20:31). These titles referred to the Messiah.

1:50 greater things: Jesus assured Nathanael that he would see even greater supernatural manifestations in the future. Jesus’ statement may have referred to the miracles performed in chs. 2-11; it may also refer to the future glory of Christ as the coming Son of Man (see 1:51; Dan. 7:13).

1:51 Jacob had a vision of angels ascending and descending a ladder from heaven (Gen. 28:12). The thought here is similar, namely that there will be communication between heaven and earth. Son of Man, an expression used in Dan. 7:13 of a heavenly being, was Jesus’ favorite designation of Himself (Matt. 8:20; Mark 2:10).

2:1, 2 The third day refers to the third day from the last day mentioned (1:43). To walk from where John was baptizing to Cana would probably have taken three days. Cana was about four and a half miles northwest of Nazareth. The wording of the text, the mother of Jesus was there . . . Jesus and His disciples were invited, suggests that Jesus and His disciples were invited because of Mary. Her forwardness in asking Jesus to help when the wine ran out (v. 3) may indicate that she was in some way related to the family holding the wedding.

2:3 Hospitality in the east was a sacred duty. A wedding feast often lasted for a week. To run out of wine at such an important event would have been humiliating for the bride and groom. The family of Jesus was not wealthy, and it is likely their relatives and acquaintances were not either. This may have been a “low-budget” wedding feast.

- 2:4 Woman was a term of respectful address (19:26). My hour has not yet come seems to mean that the time for Jesus to publicly work miracles, declaring Himself the Messiah, had not yet come. For the use of similar expressions, see 7:6, 8, 30; 8:20; 12:23; 13:1; 16:32; 17:1.
- 2:5 Jesus' response to Mary seems to have been a refusal to do anything about the situation. Yet she seemed to expect Him to do something. Perhaps something in the tone of Jesus' voice let Mary know that He would grant her request.
- 2:6 six waterpots: Each waterpot held twenty or thirty gallons, for a total of 120 to 180 gallons of the finest wine (v. 10). purification of the Jews: Jewish tradition required several kinds of ceremonial washings. Strict Jews washed their hands before a meal, between courses, and after the meal. This "purifying" extended not only to washing hands, but also to washing cups and vessels (see Mark 7:3, 4). Because the roads were not paved and people wore sandals, water was needed for foot washing. At a large Jewish wedding, a large amount of water would have been required.
- 2:8–10 master of the feast: At a Jewish wedding, one of the guests served as a governor of the feast, similar to a master of ceremonies at a banquet. Our modern equivalent is probably a head waiter. This person was responsible for seating the guests and the correct running of the feast. the good wine: Usually the better wine was served first. Then, after the guests' palates were dulled, the everyday wine was served. But this wine was so good that the master of the feast was surprised to see it being served late in the celebration.
- 2:11 In the Gospel of John, the miracles of Jesus are called signs, indicating that they pointed to His messiahship. John records seven signs (see also 4:46–54; 5:1–9; 6:1–14; 6:15–21; 9:1–7; 11:38–44). This sign signified Christ's glory—that is, His deity. When Jesus transformed water into wine, He demonstrated His power.
- 2:13 the Passover of the Jews: Every male Jew was required to go to Jerusalem three times a year—for the Feast of Passover, the Feast of Pentecost, and the Feast of Tabernacles (see Ex. 23:14–19; Lev. 23). Jerusalem: The synoptic Gospels—Matthew, Mark, and Luke—concentrate on Jesus' Galilean ministry. John focuses on Jesus' ministry in Jerusalem. The different accounts do not contradict each other; instead, they complement each other.
- 2:14 The synoptic Gospels place the cleansing of the temple at the conclusion of Jesus' ministry (see Matt. 21:12, 13), whereas John puts it at the beginning (vv. 14–17). Apparently Jesus cleansed the temple two different times. The language of the synoptic Gospels and that of John differ considerably, indicating two separate events. The Law of Moses required that any animal offered in sacrifice be unblemished, and that every Jewish male over 19 years of age pay a temple tax (see Lev. 1:3; Deut. 17:1). As a result, tax collectors and inspectors of sacrificial animals were present at the temple. However, these officials would not accept secular coins because they had an image of the Roman emperor, whom the pagans worshiped as a god. To put such coins into the temple treasury was thought to be an offense. So in order to accommodate visitors in need of animals and the right kinds of coins, animal merchants and money changers set up shop in the outer court of the temple. These inspectors, collectors, and exchangers, however, charged high prices.
- 2:15 Jesus' whip was probably more a symbol than a weapon; nevertheless, it was effective in scattering the money changers and the animals they were selling. Jesus' actions were a sign of authority and judgment.
- 2:16, 17 The cleansing of the temple was the first public presentation of Jesus to Israel; He presented Himself as Messiah. The Messiah's ministry began in the temple; He came to purify (see Mal. 3:1–3). The expression My Father's house was a distinct claim to messiahship. At the wedding in Cana, Jesus demonstrated His deity and power; here He showed His authority. Recalling the words of Ps. 69:9, the disciples understood that Jesus was claiming to be the Messiah.
- 2:18 The Jews apparently refers to the religious authorities of Israel (1:19), who also understood that Jesus was representing Himself as the Messiah; therefore, they asked for a sign (see 1 Cor. 1:22).
- 2:19 Destroy this temple: Jesus was not talking about the physical building; He was referring to His body, as John emphasizes in v. 21. Jesus was speaking of His death. I will raise it up: Note that Jesus did not say, “I will build it again.” He was referring to His resurrection, three days after His death. The sign Jesus gave the Jews was the sign of His death and resurrection (see Matt. 12:39; 16:4).

2:20 forty-six years: Herod the Great began restoring the temple in 20 B.C. The work was not finished at the time of this conversation. In fact, it was not completed until around A.D. 64, under Herod Agrippa.

2:21, 22 The disciples understood that Jesus was the Messiah (v. 17; 1:41, 45, 49), but they did not understand that He was speaking of the resurrection of His body until it actually happened.

2:23 many believed in His name: John’s purpose in recording Jesus’ miracles was for people to believe and have eternal life (20:30, 31).

2:24 Commit is the same Greek word translated believe in v. 23. There is a play on words here. These individuals trusted Jesus, but Jesus did not entrust Himself to them. Nicodemus is an illustration (see ch. 3).

3:1 The phrase ruler of the Jews indicates that Nicodemus was a member of the Jewish council, the group that had sent a committee to investigate John the Baptist (1:24). Nicodemus no doubt knew that John the Baptist had denied being the Messiah (1:20), but had said that the Messiah was present (1:26, 27).

3:2 The fact that Nicodemus came to Jesus by night may reveal the timidity of his faith (12:42); however, his faith was developing (7:50, 51; 19:39).

3:3 born again: The Greek word translated again can mean either “from above” or “anew.” The new birth, or regeneration (see Titus 3:5), is the act by which God imparts spiritual life to one who trusts Christ. Without this spiritual birth, a person cannot perceive spiritual things (see 1 Cor. 2:10, 13–16), nor can he or she enter the kingdom of God (v. 5).

born again

(Gk. gennaō anōthen) (3:3, 7) Strong's #1080; 509

The Greek word anōthen translated here as again could also be rendered “from above.” The birth that Jesus spoke of was either a new birth or a heavenly birth—or both. It seems that Jesus was speaking of a heavenly birth because He later used the analogy of the wind, coming from some unknown, heavenly source, to depict the spiritual birth. But Nicodemus clearly understood Jesus to be speaking of a second birth—being born again. Jesus explains this new or heavenly birth in 3:6–8, contrasting being born of the flesh with being born of the Spirit.

- 3:5 There are several interpretations of the phrase born of water and the Spirit. (1) Jesus was referring to water baptism (see Acts 10:43–47). (2) Water is to be understood as a symbol for the Holy Spirit. Thus the phrase could be translated “born of water, even the Spirit.” (3) Water is to be understood as a symbol of the Word of God. Similar imagery can be found in other NT passages, specifically Eph. 5:26; 1 Pet. 1:23. (4) Jesus used the phrase “born of water” to refer to physical birth. He then used the contrasting phrase “of the Spirit” to refer to spiritual birth. (5) Jesus used the phrase “born of water” to refer to John the Baptist’s baptism. (6) Jesus used the OT imagery of “water” and “wind” to refer to the work of God from above (see Is. 44:3–5; Ezek. 37:9, 10). Wind is an alternate translation of the term Spirit (v. 8).
- 3:6 That which is born of the flesh is flesh: Flesh cannot be made into spirit. A person must experience a spiritual rebirth (v. 7).
- 3:7 In the Greek text, you is plural. In v. 2, Nicodemus used the word “we,” probably referring to the Jewish ruling council, the Sanhedrin. Here Jesus spoke not only to Nicodemus, but to all whom he represented.
- 3:8 Jesus used the wind as an illustration of the work of the Holy Spirit. The Greek word translated Spirit also means “wind.” As the wind seemingly blows where it wills, so the Holy Spirit sovereignly works. Likewise, no one knows the origin or destination of the wind, but everyone knows it is there. The same is true of the Holy Spirit.
- 3:10 Jesus answered Nicodemus’s question (vv. 13–15), but first He rebuked Nicodemus for being a teacher of the Hebrew Scriptures and not knowing about spiritual birth (see Is. 44:3; Ezek. 36:26, 27).
- 3:11 you do not receive: Again you is plural (v. 7). Jesus had others in mind beyond Nicodemus. Here Jesus rebuked not only Nicodemus, but the other Pharisees as well.
- 3:12 Earthly things refers to things that occur on earth, like the new birth (vv. 3, 5–7), the wind (v. 8), and perhaps miracles. Heavenly things refers to events like Christ’s ascension (6:61, 62) and the coming of the Holy Spirit (16:7). Nicodemus may have believed in Jesus’ miracles (v. 2); the majority of the Jewish council did not (v. 11).
- 3:13 In v. 9, Nicodemus, referring to the new birth, asks, “How can these things be?” Here Jesus answers the question. New birth is by the Son, by the Cross (v. 14), and by faith (v. 15).

3:14 Every time the words lifted up occur in the Gospel of John there is a reference to Jesus' death (8:28; 12:32, 34). When Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness (see Num. 21:9), those who looked at it lived. So it is with the Son of Man (1:51).

3:15 This is the first time eternal life is mentioned in John's Gospel (see 4:36; 5:39; 6:54, 68; 10:28; 12:25; 17:2, 3). When a person trusts Christ, he or she is born again and receives eternal and spiritual life, God's kind of life.

3:16 God so loved the world: God's love is not restricted to any one nation or to any spiritual elite. World here may also include all of creation (see Rom. 8:19–22; Col. 1:20).

Word Studies

the only begotten Son

(Gk. ho monogenēs huios) (1:18; 3:16, 18; 1 John 4:9) Strong's #3439; 5207

The Greek word for only begotten suggests a one and only son; it does not necessarily convey the idea of a birth. For example, Isaac is called Abraham's only begotten in Heb. 11:17 and in the Septuagint, the Greek OT (see Gen. 22:2, 12, 16), when actually Abraham had two sons: Ishmael and Isaac. The Son of God is the Father's one and only, His unique Son. Although the Father has begotten many children through the new birth (1:12, 13), none of these are exactly like Jesus Christ, the unique Son of God. His Sonship is from eternity. As the unique Son of God, He has a special glory and an unrivaled place of honor.

Go to the List of Word Studies

- 3:17 At His first coming, Jesus came so that the world through Him might be saved. When Jesus comes again, He will come in judgment upon those who refused His offer of salvation.
- 3:18 To believe is to receive life (vv. 15, 16) and avoid judgment. A person who does not believe not only misses life, but is condemned already. The idea of believing in Jesus' name is also found in 1:12.
- 3:19 Condemnation refers to the reason for judgment. The light referred to here is Jesus, the light of the world (1:7–9; 8:12; 9:5).
- 3:20 People offer many excuses for not accepting Christ. Some cite the presence of hypocrites in the church. Others claim inability to believe some of the truths about Christ or the gospel. These are merely attempts to conceal a heart in rebellion against God. The ultimate reason people do not come to Christ is that they do not want to.
- 3:21 The one who does the truth (see 1 John 1:5) is obviously already a believer because his or her deeds are done in God. Therefore, “coming to the light” is more than exercising faith. A person who comes to the light not only believes, but also openly identifies with the light so that his or her works can be seen as things done in union with God.
- 3:22 baptized: The impression here is that Jesus baptized. John corrects this idea in 4:2. Jesus provided the authority, but the disciples performed the baptisms.
- 3:24 The synoptic Gospels, particularly Matthew and Mark, give the impression that the imprisonment of John the Baptist came right after the baptism of Jesus. This verse indicates that there was an interval between Jesus' baptism and John's imprisonment during which both ministered.
- 3:25 The Greek word translated then often means “therefore.” The disciples of Jesus and the disciples of John were both baptizing people; as a result, a question arose. The question came from John's disciples when they entered into a discussion with the Jews. Purification here refers to baptism.
- 3:26 John the Baptist's disciples were loyal to him. They were deeply concerned that one of his “disciples,” Jesus, was competing with and surpassing him. In their astonishment, they exaggerated the predicament, saying, all are coming to Him. They were concerned that John was losing his audience to another preacher.
- 3:27 John the Baptist clarified the relationship between himself and Jesus. First, he talked about himself (vv. 27–29); then he talked about Jesus (vv. 30–36). John explained that he could not accept the position of supremacy that his disciples wanted to thrust upon him because he had not received it from heaven.

3:29 In explaining why people were flocking to Jesus (v. 26), John the Baptist pointed out that the bridegroom receives the bride. John compared himself to the friend of the bridegroom, who was appointed to arrange the preliminaries of the wedding, to manage the wedding, and to preside at the wedding feast. When the friend of the bridegroom finished his job, he had to get out of the way. His joy came from the success of the bridegroom. John was satisfied with his position in life. He was content to be a “voice” (1:23) and a friend.

3:30 John the Baptist insisted that Jesus Christ had to increase in popularity and that he, John, had to decrease. John explained that Jesus had to increase because of (1) His divine origin (v. 31), (2) His divine teaching (vv. 32–34), and (3) His divine authority (vv. 35, 36). Even though John encouraged his disciples to also follow Jesus, there were still some found many years later in Ephesus (see Acts 19).

3:31 He who comes from above refers to Jesus Christ. He who is of the earth refers to John the Baptist. John emphasized his earthly origin and its limitations. John proclaimed divine truth on earth; Jesus, on the other hand, is from heaven and above all.

3:32 no one receives His testimony: No one, apart from God’s work in him or her (6:44), can accept Jesus Christ.

3:33 Certified means “to seal.” In a society where many could not read, seals were used to convey a clear message, even to the illiterate. A seal indicated ownership to all and expressed a person’s personal guarantee. To receive Jesus’ testimony is to certify that God is true regarding what He has sealed.

3:34 Unlike human teachers, Jesus was not given the Spirit by measure—that is, in a limited way (see Is. 11:1, 2). The Holy Spirit was given to Jesus completely. All three Persons of the Trinity are referred to in this verse: God the Father sent Christ the Son, and gave Him the Holy Spirit without measure.

3:35 God the Father not only gave Jesus, in His humanity, the Holy Spirit (v. 34), He also gave Him all things, including the authority to give life (5:21) and judge (5:22). The phrase into His hand signifies the Son’s authority over the use of “all things.”

3:36 The verb translated has is in the present tense. The one who believes has eternal life as a present possession. Likewise, the one who refuses to believe on Christ has the wrath of God abiding on him or her as a present reality.

4:1 Therefore refers the reader back to 3:22–36. Christ’s success in winning disciples had created jealousy among John’s followers and provoked questions among the Pharisees. Since Jesus did not want to be drawn into a controversy over baptism at this stage of His ministry, He left Judea for Galilee (v. 3).

4:3 again: Jesus had been to Galilee before (1:43–2:12). He had left Capernaum to go to Jerusalem for the Passover.

4:4 The shortest route from Judea in the south to Galilee in the north went through Samaria. The journey took three days. Christ needed to go through Samaria if He wanted to travel the direct route. The Jews often avoided Samaria by going around it along the Jordan River. The hatred between the Jews and Samaritans went back to the days of the Exile. Samaria was the region between Judea and Galilee. When the northern kingdom was exiled to Assyria, King Sargon of Assyria repopulated the area with captives from other lands. The intermarriage of these foreigners and the Jews who had been left in the land complicated the ancestry of the Samaritans. The Jews hated the Samaritans and considered them to be no longer “pure” Jews. Jesus, however, had no such bias.

4:5 Jacob had purchased a parcel of ground (see Gen. 33:18, 19), which he bequeathed on his deathbed to Joseph (Gen. 48:21, 22).

Jesus in Judea and Samaria

- (1) The most important port in the Holy Land in NT times.
- (2) The birthplace of Jesus (Matt. 2:1; Luke 2:4).
- (3) John the Baptist baptized here (John 3:23). Aenon was also the probable location of John's ministry.
- (4) Here Jesus talked with a Samaritan woman at Jacob's well (John 4:5).

- (5) The mountain referred to by the Samaritan woman at the well as the worship center for the Samaritans (John 4:20–23).
- (6) Jesus raised Lazarus from the dead (John 11:43–44). Here at Bethany Jesus was anointed in the house of Simon the Leper (Matt. 26:6). It was also the scene of the Ascension (Luke 24:50–51).
- (7) Jesus healed a blind man here at Jericho (Matt. 20:29) and called Zacchaeus down from a tree (Luke 19:1). The Good Samaritan helped a traveler en route here (Luke 10:30).
- (8) Most important biblical city. Jesus was crucified at Jerusalem as predicted (Matt. 16:21; Mark 10:33; Luke 18:31).
- (9) The resurrected Jesus appeared to two people walking to Emmaus, and He ate with them there (Luke 24:13).

4:10 Living water (see 7:37–39; Is. 12:1–6) springs from an unfailing source and is ever-flowing. Jesus, of course, was talking about eternal life (see 4:14; Rom. 6:23).

4:11 The Samaritan woman did not comprehend Jesus' spiritual message. She was thinking only of physical water and could not understand how Jesus could provide water without a means of drawing it, especially since the well was deep.

Word Studies

fountain

(Gk. pēgē) (4:14; Rev. 7:17; 21:6) Strong's #4077

The Greek word denotes a spring of running water. How different this is from a well that requires much manual labor to dig and to draw out the water. The gift that Jesus gives—a fountain springing up into eternal life—suggests the availability and accessibility of the divine life for all believers. The expression “into everlasting life” probably means “resulting in eternal life.” The result of drinking the water Jesus freely gives is that the drinker receives eternal life.

- 4:16 Jesus mentioned the woman's husband in order to expose her sin (v. 18).
- 4:19 Because of what Jesus told her about herself, the woman concluded that Jesus Christ was a prophet, a person divinely inspired with supernatural knowledge (see 1 Sam. 9:9).
- 4:20 By mentioning the two different worship sites, the woman was perhaps trying to shift the conversation away from the subject of her own sins to theological questions. Or perhaps she realized that she was a sinner (v. 18), and knew that she was required to offer a sacrifice. The woman probably assumed that because Jesus was a Jew, He would insist that the sacrifice be offered in the temple at Jerusalem. The Jews insisted that the exclusive place of worship was Jerusalem. But the Samaritans had set up a rival worship site on Mt. Gerizim, which according to their tradition was where Abraham went to sacrifice Isaac, and where later on he met Melchizedek. When the blessings and curses were read to the wilderness generation of Israel, the blessings were read from Mt. Gerizim (see Deut. 11:29; 27:12). Deuteronomy 27:4 instructed that an altar be erected on Mt. Ebal, opposite Mt. Gerizim. But the Samaritan scripture changed the verse to read “Mt. Gerizim.” The Samaritans altered history and tampered with the text of Scripture to glorify Mt. Gerizim.
- 4:22 Salvation is of the Jews means that the Messiah would come from the Jewish people.
- 4:24 God is Spirit . . . worship Him . . . in spirit and truth: God is not limited by time and space. When people are born of the Spirit, they can commune with God anywhere. Spirit is the opposite of what is material and earthly, for example, Mt. Gerizim. Christ makes worship a matter of the heart. Truth is what is in harmony with the nature and will of God. It is the opposite of all that is false. Here the truth is specifically the worship of God through Jesus Christ. The issue is not where a person worships, but how and whom.
- 4:25 The Samaritans believed that the Prophet of Deut. 18:15 would teach all things when he came.
- 4:26 I . . . am He: Using the same words that God used when He revealed Himself to Moses (see Ex. 3:14), Jesus clearly stated that He is the Messiah.
- 4:29 all things that I ever did: In her excitement, the woman exaggerated. She did not report what Jesus actually told her, but what He could have told her. Note the woman's spiritual journey. She first viewed Christ as a Jew (v. 9), then as a prophet (v. 19), and finally as the Messiah.
- 4:34 My food is to do the will of Him who sent Me: This food is not simply knowing the will of God, but doing it. This verse highlights the obedience of Jesus to God in His ministry and foreshadows His words on the Cross (19:30).

4:35 In vv. 35–38, Jesus offered His disciples an opportunity to do something that would be “food” for them. He was speaking about the Samaritans. In them, He saw an opportunity for a spiritual harvest for which the disciples would not have to wait long.

4:36 The reaper of a spiritual harvest receives wages—that is, fruit which brings joy. In this case, Jesus sowed by giving the message to the woman. He was about to reap because He would see the whole city saved. Also the disciples were going to reap the harvest that Christ had sown. Note the “hundredfold” wages Jesus promises in Matt. 19:27–29 (see 1 Cor. 3:6–8; 2 Cor. 5:10).

4:38 Jesus applied what He had just said to His disciples. The others may have been John the Baptist and his disciples. They had labored in Judea (3:22–36). Thus Jesus’ disciples were reaping what others had sowed (vv. 1, 2).

4:42 The title Savior of the world is used only here and in 1 John 4:14. The Jews of Jesus’ day taught that to approach God one first had to be a Jew. By including this incident in the Gospel, John demonstrates that Jesus is for all people of the world.

4:44 His own country has been taken to mean: (1) Judea, (2) Nazareth, or (3) Galilee. Having no honor or reception in Nazareth, Jesus went elsewhere in Galilee.

4:45 The feast refers to the Passover (see 2:13–25). The Galileans who had gone to the feast received Jesus when He came to Galilee.

4:46 Nobleman is literally royal officer, one in service of the king. Herod Antipas was technically the “tetrarch” of Galilee, but he was referred to as a king.

4:53, 54 The nobleman is said to have believed twice, once in v. 50 and again in v. 53. In v. 50, he believed Jesus’ promise that his son would not die. But believing that Jesus can and will heal is not enough to save. What was it that the nobleman believed in v. 53? The explanation is found in v. 54. The miracle that Jesus performed was His second sign (see also 2:11). These signs were performed so that people might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that by believing they might have life (20:31). When the Jewish nobleman realized that his son had been healed, he knew that Jesus was more than a mere mortal. The nobleman placed his faith in Jesus and was born again.

5:1 The feast of the Jews is probably not the Passover, which John usually refers to by name (2:13; 6:4; 11:55). It may have been Tabernacles.

5:2 The Sheep Gate was a gate in the wall of Jerusalem near the temple, through which sheep were brought for sacrifice. The pool of Bethesda was a double pool surrounded by colonnades on four sides, with a fifth colonnade standing on the dividing wall that separated the northern and southern pools. The five porches were in the colonnades on the two sides, with two on each end and one in the middle.

5:9 John records this miracle because it was a witness to Jesus’ deity. Jesus Himself told John the Baptist that the proof of His messiahship was that the lame would walk (see Matt. 11:1–5), for the prophet Isaiah had predicted this long before: “The lame shall leap like a deer” (see Is. 35:1–6). Carrying a bed on the Sabbath was considered a violation of the Law of Moses (v. 10).

5:10 The Jews probably refers to Jewish leaders who were members of the council. The Law of Moses taught that the Sabbath must be different from other days. On it, neither people nor animals could work. The prophet Jeremiah had prohibited carrying burdens or working on the Sabbath (Jer. 17:21, 22). Nehemiah made it clear that trading on the Sabbath as if it were an ordinary day was forbidden (Neh. 13:15–19). Over the years, the Jewish leaders had amassed thousands of rules and regulations concerning the Sabbath. By Jesus’ day, they had 39 different classifications of work. According to them, carrying furniture and even providing medical treatment on the Sabbath were forbidden. Jesus did not break the Law; He violated the traditions of the Pharisees which had grown up around the Law.

5:13 The sick man was healed without exercising any faith. He did not know who Jesus was when he was healed. Jesus had withdrawn: John records Jesus quietly withdrawing from a crowd on four occasions (see also 8:59; 10:39; 12:36). However, Jesus caught up with the man later (v. 14).

- 5:16 This is the first recorded declaration of open hostility toward Jesus in the Gospel of John.
- 5:17 My Father: Jesus is “the only begotten Son” (1:14, 18; 3:16, 18)—that is, the unique Son of God. Here He claims not only a unique relationship with God the Father, but also equality with God in nature. Since God continually does good works without allowing Himself to stop on the Sabbath, the Son does likewise, since He is equal with God. Certainly the Jewish leaders understood the implications of Jesus’ claims (v. 18).
- 5:19 The Son can do nothing of Himself means that action by the Son apart from the Father is impossible because of the unity of the Father and the Son (v. 17). Whatever He does, the Son also does is a claim of deity and unity with the Father.
- 5:20 The Son does what the Father does (v. 19) because the Father loves the Son. Moreover, because the Father loves the Son, He reveals all to Him. The Father would show the Son greater works than the healing of the sick man. Jesus would raise the dead (v. 21) and eventually judge humanity (v. 22).
- 5:21 the Son gives life: As God raises people from the dead and gives them life, so Christ gives people spiritual life (v. 24). Jesus claimed the same power as God, thus claiming that He is equal with God.
- 5:22 all judgment to the Son: The Jews recognized that God alone had the right to judge humanity. In claiming that the Father committed all judgment to Him, Jesus again claimed equality with God.
- 5:23 honor the Son just as they honor the Father: To claim the same honor as the Father is to claim equality with the Father. Here Jesus claimed equal authority with God.
- 5:24 The phrase believes in Him who sent Me is unusual. Christ, not the Father, is usually the object of this verb in John. The issue in this passage is the unity of the Father and the Son (vv. 17–23). All who believe in the One who sent Christ will believe in Christ. shall not come into judgment: A judgment to decide a person’s eternal destiny is no longer possible for the one who has already been given eternal life. However, all believers will stand before the judgment seat of Christ (see Rom. 14:10; 2 Cor. 5:10), not for punishment of sin, but to determine inheritance in Messiah’s kingdom.
- 5:26 For indicates that this verse explains the previous verse. Christ can give life because He Himself possesses life. He not only has a part in giving it, He is the source of it. This is another testimony to Jesus’ deity, because only God has life in Himself.
- 5:28 the hour is coming: Christ not only gives spiritual life now (v. 25), He will give physical life later.
- 5:29 Two separate resurrections (see Rev. 20:4, 5), the resurrection of life and the resurrection of condemnation are presented here in the fashion of the OT prophets, who often grouped together events of the future without distinction of time (see Is. 61:2). Jesus was teaching the universality of resurrection, not the timing of it. those who have done good: The only “good” anyone can do is to believe on Christ, the One God sent (6:28, 29). All other good actions flow from that. Anything good that is done without that belief means nothing to God and will result in the resurrection of condemnation.
- 5:30 Christ’s judgment is righteous because it is in accordance with God’s divine will. In v. 19 Jesus said, “The Son can do nothing of Himself”; here He says He can do nothing independent of the Father.
- 5:31, 32 My witness is not true: If Christ were the only one bearing witness of what He was claiming, His witness would not be accepted. According to Jewish legal practice, a person’s testimony about himself was not accepted in court. So in this case, Jesus offered another witness—John the Baptist (v. 33).

Word Studies

testify

(Gk. martureō) (5:31, 32; 7:7; 8:13; 1 John 4:14; 5:9) Strong's #3140

This Greek word means “to bear witness.” According to Jewish law, a testimony to oneself is no testimony at all. Truth or validity had to be established by two or three witnesses (Deut. 17:7; 19:15). Therefore, Jesus’ witness to Himself would not validate His claims; He needed the witness of another. That other witness was not John the Baptist, but Jesus’ Father. In the following verses, Jesus called upon several witnesses to affirm His claims, but actually He needs only one witness, His Father’s.

5:35 Jesus is the Light (1:4, 5). John was a lamp. He was: Jesus used the past tense because by this time John’s work had been ended either by imprisonment or by death.

5:36 the works: John did not perform any signs (10:41). Those were specific works that the Son was to perform, as predicted in the OT (see Is. 35:5, 6) to attest to the fact that He was sent by the Father (vv. 1–15; 2:1–11; 4:43–54).

5:37 the Father Himself . . . has testified: This is not a reference to the voice from heaven at the baptism of Christ, but to Scripture (vv. 38, 39).

5:39 The Jewish religious leaders of Jesus’ day diligently searched the OT Scriptures, but did not see Jesus as the Messiah and did not believe in Him (v. 38).

5:42 The love of God here is not love from God but love for God. Love from God is evidenced in Christ (3:16; Rom. 5:8). Since God loves us, we should love Him (Deut. 6:5; 1 John 4:19).

5:43 Jesus came in the Father’s name, revealing God to the people, but they rejected Him. Ironically, if someone had come in his own name, giving his own ideas in harmony with the people’s ideas, the people would have received him.

5:44 The people did not believe in Jesus because they did not seek honor that comes from the only God. This honor may be similar to Paul’s view of the glory that will be revealed in us in the presence of God (see Rom. 8:18).

5:45 Trust means “hope.” Christ will not have to accuse the people on Judgment Day because the one in whom they placed their hope, Moses, will. The people will be condemned by the very Law they professed to keep.

5:46 he wrote about Me: Moses wrote about Christ in the promises to the patriarchs, in the history of the deliverance from Egypt, in the symbolic institutions of the Law, and in the prediction of a Prophet like himself (see Luke 24:25, 26). If the people had believed Moses, they would have received Jesus gladly. Over three hundred OT prophecies were specifically fulfilled in the First Coming of Christ.

5:47 you do not believe his writings: The ultimate problem was that the people did not believe the Word of God written through Moses.

6:1 After these things: About six months elapsed between 5:47 and this verse. Herod Antipas had killed John the Baptist and was seeking Jesus. The disciples had preached throughout Galilee, and many people were curious about Jesus (v. 5). John further identifies the Sea of Galilee as the Sea of Tiberias, an indication that his Gospel was written for those outside of Palestine. The Jewish people called this body of water the Lake of Genessaret. The Romans called it Tiberias, after the city built on its western shore by Herod Antipas and named for the Emperor Tiberius.

6:7 One denarius was a day's wage for a laborer or field hand (see Matt. 20:2). Two hundred denarii would have been almost two-thirds of a year's wages.

6:9 Barley loaves were an inexpensive food of the common people and the poor.

6:11 The miraculous multiplication of the food demonstrated Jesus' deity, because only God can create. This is the only miracle of Jesus that is recounted in all four Gospels.

6:14 The Prophet is a reference to Deut. 18:15. The men's statement does not necessarily indicate that they believed Jesus was the Messiah. Some made a distinction between the Prophet and the Messiah (compare 1:20, 21). The bread (v. 11) may have reminded them of Moses and manna. Thus they concluded that Jesus was the Prophet that Moses had foretold.

6:15 make Him king: Moses had not only miraculously provided food for the Israelites, he had also led them out of bondage in Egypt. Perhaps these men felt that Jesus could lead them out of bondage to the Romans. Christ was at the zenith of His popularity, and the temptation to take the kingdom without the Cross must have been great (see Matt. 4:8–10). The parallel passages say that He went to the mountain by Himself to pray (see Matt. 14:23; Mark 6:46). Here is our greatest resource in times of testing.

6:16–18 His disciples went down to the sea: In Mark 6:45 we discover that the disciples went to the sea because Jesus compelled them to do so. It was already dark by the time the disciples got out on the lake. The wind began to pick up, setting the stage for Jesus to provide another revelation of Himself.

6:19–21 This miracle, the fifth sign recorded by John, pointed to Jesus' deity. Only God could walk on water, calm the sea, and supernaturally transport the disciples to their destination.

6:22–24 The multitude had seen that there was only one boat and that Jesus had not entered the boat with His disciples. They assumed that Jesus was still there and were looking for Him.

Bible Times & Culture Notes

Tiberias

The city of Tiberias stands on a rocky cliff on the western shore of the Sea of Galilee. Founded by Herod Antipas (about A.D. 20), it was named after the emperor, Tiberius Caesar. It was said to have occupied the site of Rakkath (Josh. 19:35) and to have been built over a graveyard. Because of this, it was declared unclean by the Jews, who would not enter the city. Although Tiberias was an important city in the days of Christ, there is no record that He ever visited it. Ironically, after the fall of Jerusalem in A.D. 135, Tiberias became the center of rabbinic learning. Here the Mishna was completed about A.D. 200 and the Jerusalem (or Palestinian) Talmud was finished about A.D. 400. The pointing system later used by the Masoretes to add vowels to the Hebrew text was first developed in Tiberias.

- 6:27 Do not labor for the food: The impression that one must work for eternal life is quickly corrected when Jesus adds which the Son of Man will give you. The Son provides life as a gift (4:10). Set His seal on Him means that the Father has authorized and authenticated the Son as the Giver of life.
- 6:30 When Jesus said “believe in Him whom He sent,” (v. 29), the people must have understood that He was claiming to be the Messiah. Therefore, they asked for a sign—despite the fact that they had just witnessed the miracle of the feeding of the multitudes.
- 6:31 There was a tradition that said the Messiah would cause manna to fall from heaven as Moses did (see Ex. 16:4, 15). The people probably also saw this “miracle worker” as the perpetual provider of physical needs rather than spiritual ones.
- 6:32 The crowd misrepresented the truth, so Jesus corrected them. The manna had not come from Moses; it had been provided by God. Moreover, God still gives true bread—that is, eternal life (v. 33).
- 6:34 Lord can mean “sir,” which is no doubt the meaning here (4:11, 15).
- 6:35 Bread of life means “bread which supplies life.” Manna satisfied physical needs for a while; Christ satisfies spiritual need forever (4:13, 14).
- 6:36 seen . . . not believe: Seeing does not necessarily mean believing (v. 30; 11:46–57), although sometimes it does (11:45; 20:29). On the other hand, Christ blesses those who believe without having seen (20:29).
- 6:38 For indicates an explanation of the previous statement. Christ will not cast out any who come to Him because He came to do the Father’s will.
- 6:39, 40 The will of the Father is twofold: (1) that all who come to the Son will be received and not lost; (2) that all who see and believe on the Son will have everlasting life.
- 6:41 The Jews referred to representatives of the council. They complained that Jesus said He was the bread which came down from heaven. Although this exact phrase is not found in Jesus’ statements, it is a fair summary of what He said (vv. 33, 35, 38). Jesus did claim that He was from heaven.
- 6:42 the son of Joseph: The religious leaders’ proof that Jesus was not from heaven was that they knew His parents. To them, there was nothing supernatural about Jesus’ origin.
- 6:45 God draws people by teaching them. Everyone, then, who hears and learns from the Father will come to Christ.
- 6:46, 47 Hearing and learning (v. 45) fall short of seeing the Father. John declares, “No one has seen God at any time” (1:18; 5:37). Here Jesus adds that only the Son has seen the Father. Though a person has not seen the Father, he or she can believe in Christ and have everlasting life.
- 6:48, 49 Christ is the bread of life. Those who believe in Him have life (v. 47). The manna in the wilderness did not ultimately sustain life. Those who ate it eventually died because it could not provide everlasting life.
- 6:51 Eats of this bread is a synonym for faith (vv. 35, 48–50).

6:52 His flesh to eat: Jesus was speaking figuratively, but the Jewish leaders took Him literally.

6:53–58 Eats My flesh and drinks My blood: Jesus had made it abundantly clear in this context that eternal life is gained by believing (vv. 29, 35, 40, 47). These verses teach that the benefits of Jesus' death must be appropriated, by faith, by each individual.

Jesus in Galilee

(1) Town where Jesus grew up. He was rejected in the synagogue here and people sought to kill Him (Luke 4:16).

(2) Here at Cana Jesus performed His first miracle by turning water into wine at a wedding feast (John 2:1, 11). Home of Nathanael (John 21:2).

(3) Site of many miracles of Jesus (Matt. 8:5; Mark 2:1 and Luke 7:1; Matt. 17:24; Mark 1:21 and Luke 4:31; John 4:46; 6:17). Jesus taught in the synagogue here at Capernaum (John 6:59).

(4) Here at Nain Jesus raised a widow's son from the dead (Luke 7:11).

(5) One of the cities against which Jesus pronounced a woe (Matt. 11:21; Luke 10:13).

(6) Fishing town and home of Mary Magdalene (Matt. 15:39; Mark 8:10).

(7) Mount Tabor, the traditional Mount of Transfiguration (Matt. 17:1–8; Mark 9:2–8; Luke 9:28–36). However, many scholars identify Mount Hermon as the most likely site of the Transfiguration.

6:60 Disciple literally means “learner” and is used in a variety of ways in the NT. It can include unbelievers (see v. 64), believers who go beyond initial faith to baptism and obedience (8:31), or it can mean the apostles in particular (see 2:11). The context determines what meaning is intended. Here it simply means learner. Some of the crowd were students; they came to learn. Not all of these had believed in Christ. It was hard for the Jewish learners to accept the idea of eating flesh and drinking blood. Jews were forbidden to even taste blood.

6:62 Jesus was asking, “If the thought of eating flesh and drinking blood offends you, would you be further offended at the idea of My ascension?”

6:63, 64 Jesus was trying to get the religious leaders to see beyond the physical aspects of His teaching to the real issue—namely, that if they believed on Him they would have everlasting life. Because they did not believe, many of these disciples did not follow Jesus any longer (v. 66).

The Holy Spirit in John

The Holy Spirit is the third person of the Trinity who exercises the power of the Father and the Son in creation and redemption. Because the Holy Spirit is the power by which believers come to Christ and see with new eyes of faith, He is closer to us than we are to ourselves. Like the eyes of the body through which we see physical things, He is seldom in focus to be seen directly because He is the one through whom all else is seen in a new light. This explains why the relationship of the Father and the Son is more prominent in the Gospels, because it is through the eyes of the Holy Spirit that the Father–Son relationship is viewed.

The Holy Spirit appears in the Gospel of John as the power by which Christians are brought to faith and helped to understand their walk with God. He brings a person to new birth: “That which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit” (3:6); “It is the Spirit who gives life” (6:63). The Holy Spirit is the Paraclete, or Helper, whom Jesus promised to the disciples after His ascension. The Trinity of Father, Son, and Holy Spirit are unified in ministering to believers (14:16, 26). It is through the Helper that Father and Son abide with the disciples (15:26).

This unified ministry of the Trinity is also seen as the Spirit brings the world under conviction of sin, righteousness, and judgment. He guides believers into all truth with what He hears from the Father and the Son (15:26). It is a remarkable fact that each Person of the Trinity serves the others as all defer to one another: The Son says what He hears from the Father (12:49, 50); the Father witnesses to and glorifies the Son (8:16–18, 50, 54); the Father and Son honor the Holy Spirit by commissioning Him to speak in their name (14:16, 26); the Holy Spirit honors the Father and Son by helping the community of believers.

Like Father and Son, the Holy Spirit is at the disposal of the other persons of the Trinity, and all three are one in graciously being at the disposal of the redeemed family of believers. The Holy Spirit's attitude and ministry are marked by generosity; His chief function is to illumine Jesus' teaching, to glorify His person, and to work in the life of the individual believer and the church.

- 6:65 The people did not believe (v. 64) because it was not granted to them by the Father. There is a balance in this chapter between God's initiative and human response. The multitude is told about the election of the Father (v. 37), and yet all are invited to believe (v. 40). The same is true of the Jewish leaders (vv. 44, 47) and those called disciples (v. 63).
- 6:68, 69 John wrote so that people might believe "that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God" (20:31). The similarity between the confession of Peter and the purpose statement of John is inescapable.
- 6:70, 71 Judas Iscariot never made Peter's confession of faith in Christ. Though he was a disciple and even one of the twelve, it is never said that he believed.
- 7:1 The Jews here means the religious authorities, not the people in general (5:18). Many common people had responded to Jesus with joy (see Mark 12:37).
- 7:2 The Feast of Tabernacles was one of the three great Jewish religious festivals (Passover and Pentecost were the other two). It was called the Feast of Tabernacles because for seven days the people lived in makeshift shelters or lean-tos made of branches and leaves. The feast commemorated the days when the Israelites wandered in the wilderness and lived in tents (see Lev. 23:40–43). The festival was in September-October, about six months after the events of ch. 6.
- 7:3, 4 Jesus' brothers argued, "If You are really working miracles and thus claiming to be the Messiah, do not hide in obscure Galilee. If you are doing miracles at all, then do them in Jerusalem at the Feast to convince the whole nation." These words were sarcastic, as v. 5 explains.
- 7:6 Earlier, Jesus had told His mother, "My hour has not yet come" (see 2:4; compare 12:23). Here He told His brothers also that the time for manifesting Himself to the world had not yet come. Jesus mentioned on several occasions that the time for Him to be publicly manifested on the Cross was in the future (2:4; 7:6, 8, 30; 8:20).
- 7:7 The world cannot hate you: The world was not about to hate Jesus' brothers, because they were part of it.
- 7:13 The Jews is a reference to the Jewish leaders, especially the members of the council (1:19).
- 7:14 The middle of the feast would have been the fourth day of the seven-day feast. During the first half of the festival Jesus remained in seclusion (v. 10). During the second half He began to teach publicly. This is the first mention in the Gospel of John of Jesus teaching in the temple.
- 7:15 Having never studied means never having attended a rabbinical school. Similar bewilderment was later expressed regarding Jesus' disciples (see Acts 4:13).
- 7:16 not Mine, but His: Jesus' statement indicates that He did not receive His teaching from the rabbis, nor did He fabricate it. Instead His teaching came directly from God.
- 7:18, 19 is true: The test of a teacher is whether or not he delivers God's message. Jesus gave God's message; so did Moses. The religious leaders were breaking Moses' law by seeking to kill Jesus.
- 7:22, 23 Circumcision began with Abraham (see Gen. 17:10). The Law of Moses required infants to be circumcised on the eighth day (see Lev. 12:3). The Jews obeyed this law, even if the eighth day fell on the Sabbath. Jesus asked why the leaders were angry with Him for making a man completely well on the Sabbath.
- 7:27 The Jewish people seem to have expected the Messiah to appear suddenly from nowhere. They reasoned that since they knew where Jesus came from, He could not be the Messiah. They were ignorant of the Scriptures, for Micah had predicted the Messiah would come from Bethlehem (see Mic. 5:2).

7:28, 29 Cried out signifies a loud cry of strong emotion. You . . . know Me . . . where I am from: Jesus reminded the leaders that they knew His origin. Their problem was that they did not know God, who sent Jesus. He explained to them that He knew God, was from God, and was sent by God.

7:30 take Him: Because of Jesus' public claims of divine origin (v. 29), the religious leaders sought to arrest Him. because His hour had not yet come: John passes over the immediate reason they were unable to arrest Him and gives the ultimate explanation (see 2:4). God is sovereign and He alone sets the time. As with Jesus, so with us; no one can touch us without the Father's consent (see 10:29).

7:31 In contrast to the leaders, many of the Jewish people believed because of the miracles Jesus performed (20:30, 31).

7:32 to take Him: The Jewish leaders decided earlier that they wanted to kill Christ (see 5:16), but this is the first real attempt on His life.

7:33 a little while longer: Jesus' time on earth was limited; soon He would be crucified and then ascend to the Father. His life was not determined by the Jewish religious leaders (v. 32), but by the Father.

7:34, 35 you cannot come: Christ would be in heaven; the people would not be able to come to Him there. Where does He intend to go: The Jewish leaders did not comprehend what Jesus meant. They could only think of one of the various places where Jews had been scattered.

7:37–39 On each day of the feast, the people came with palm branches and marched around the great altar. A priest took a golden pitcher filled with water from the Pool of Siloam, carried it to the temple, and poured it on the altar as an offering to God. This dramatic ceremony was a memorial of the water that flowed from the rock when the Israelites traveled through the wilderness. On the last day of the feast, the people marched seven times around the altar in memory of the seven circuits around the walls of Jericho. Perhaps at the very moment that the priest was pouring water on the altar, Jesus' voice rang out: If anyone thirsts, let him come to Me and drink.

7:38 as the Scripture has said: The reference is not to a single passage, but to the general emphasis of such passages as Deut. 18:15; Is. 58:11; Zech. 14:8 (see also Num. 24:7). In contrast to the small amount of water poured out each day during the feast, there will be a river of water coming out of those who believe in Christ. Not only will they be satisfied themselves, but they will also become a river so that others may drink and be satisfied (v. 39).

7:39 John explains that Jesus was speaking of the Holy Spirit who would satisfy personal thirst and produce a perennial fountain for the satisfaction of others. The Holy Spirit would come after Jesus' crucifixion and ascension. Jesus prepared His disciples for this in the Upper Room (14:16–20; 15:26, 27; 16:7–15).

7:40–42 Moses predicted that the Prophet, the seed of David, would come (see Deut. 18:15, 18; 2 Sam. 7:14–16). These people knew that the Messiah was to come from Bethlehem (see Mic. 5:2). However, they did not know that Jesus had been born there. They thought He was from Galilee (see v. 41; Matt. 16:13, 14). They knew the Scripture, but they did not take the time to know the Messiah (5:39).

7:49 this crowd . . . is accursed: The Pharisees accused the people of being ignorant of the Law and thus under God's curse (see Deut. 28:15). The irony of the situation was that it was the Pharisees, not the crowds, who were under God's wrath because they had rejected His Son (3:36).

7:50, 51 Nicodemus made a plea for justice (3:2; 12:42, 43), but his plea was rejected.

7:52 no prophet has arisen out of Galilee: Actually, the prophets Jonah, Hosea, Nahum, and perhaps Elijah, Elisha, and Amos were from Galilee or close to it.

8:1 The people went to their own houses (7:53). Jesus, who had no place to lay His head (see Luke 9:58), spent the night on the Mount of Olives.

- 8:2 Early in the morning literally means “at dawn.” all the people came: Because the Feast of Tabernacles had concluded the day before (7:2, 37), many visitors were still in Jerusalem. Attracted by the appearance of a noted rabbi, a crowd rapidly gathered. He sat: Teachers in ancient Israel sat when they taught. Jesus assumed the position of an authoritative teacher.
- 8:3 Abruptly bringing the adulterous woman into the midst of the proceedings was a rude disruption. The Pharisees were bent on confounding Jesus (7:45).
- 8:4, 5 such should be stoned: Stoning was specified in certain cases of adultery (see Deut. 22:23, 24), though not all. (It is not clear why the authorities intended to punish the woman but not the man.) In the Greek text, the pronoun You is emphatic. The religious leaders were trying to trap Jesus into saying something that was contrary to the Law.
- 8:6 testing Him: If Jesus had said not to stone her, He would have contradicted Jewish law. If He had said to stone her, He would have run counter to Roman law, which did not permit Jews to carry out their own executions (18:31). What Jesus wrote on the ground is a matter of conjecture. Some suggest that He wrote the Ten Commandments recorded in Ex. 20.
- 8:11 Sin no more implies that Jesus forgave her. He did not condemn her, but neither did He condone her sin.
- 8:12 I am the light of the world: As the sun is the physical light of the world, so Jesus is the spiritual light of the world. As the light of the world, Jesus exposes sin (vv. 1–11) and gives sight (9:1–7).
- 8:13 Not true here does not mean “false”; it means “not sufficient.” The Pharisees challenged Jesus on legal grounds, because no man on trial in a Jewish court was allowed to testify on his own behalf. Their point was that if Jesus was the only one testifying as to who He claimed to be, it would not be enough to prove His case.
- 8:14 My witness is true: In 5:31, Jesus argued on the basis of legality and offered other witnesses. Sometimes, however, an individual is the only one who knows the facts about himself. Thus self-disclosure is the only way to truth (7:29; 13:3).
- 8:15 According to the flesh could mean either “according to appearance” or “by human standards.” The religious leaders formed conclusions based on human standards and an imperfect, external, and superficial examination. Jesus did not judge according to human standards or outward appearances.
- 8:16–18 I am not alone: Jesus could claim that His pronouncements were true and accurate even though the Law of Moses required two witnesses for a testimony to be valid (see Deut. 17:6; 19:15): Both He and the Father through the signs bore testimony to Jesus’ words and works.
- 8:19 Where is Your Father: Since the Father was part of Jesus’ proof of Himself, the Pharisees wanted to know where this Father was. You know neither: Even if the Pharisees could see the Father, they would not receive what Jesus said. Jesus came to reveal the Father (1:18), and they had not received Him.
- 8:22 kill Himself: Later Jewish belief placed suicide on the same level with murder.
- 8:23 from beneath: Jesus was not referring to hell, but to this world.
- 8:24 I am was God’s designation of Himself (see Ex. 3:14). Jesus was claiming to be God. This assertion was not understood by the religious leaders at this time. Later, Jesus’ claim to be the “I AM” (v. 58) prompted the Jewish leaders to seek His life (v. 59).
- 8:28 Lift up is a reference to the Crucifixion.
- 8:30 The Greek phrase translated believed in occurs almost exclusively in John’s Gospel (1:12; 2:11; 3:15, 16, 18, 36; 6:29, 35, 40, 47; 7:38, 39; 9:35, 36; 10:42; 11:25, 26, 45; 12:44, 46). The phrase describes faith in Jesus’ message (see 1 Cor. 1:21), which results in eternal life.
- 8:31 Abide means to remain, to continue. A believer who continues to obey the Word is a disciple, a learner.
- 8:32 One who abides in the Word of God knows the truth (v. 31; 17:17). The word free refers to freedom from the bondage of sin. Obedience to the Lord means fellowship with Him, protection from sin, and experiencing His love.
- 8:33 They answered Him: Throughout this chapter, Jesus was engaged in an exchange with His antagonists, the Pharisees (v. 13). They are also designated by the term Jews (vv. 22, 48, 52, 57) and the pronoun they (vv. 19, 25, 27, 33, 39, 41, 59). We . . . have never been in bondage: The Pharisees' objection is startling. In their past, the Israelites had been in bondage to the Egyptians, the Assyrians, and the Babylonians. At the time they spoke, Israel was under the power of Rome.

Jewish Discontent

Jewish discontent was centered around taxation. In the economy of the time, taxation was heavy. The city of Rome supported itself by imposing and gathering taxes. The Roman system allowed for the lease of taxation rights to entrepreneurs, who taxed their region for profit above what was due to Rome. This method of taxation invited trouble. Jews who worked in the tax system were regarded as traitors, even though the situation might have been even worse if foreigners acted as tax agents. Jewish discontent with Roman rule also had a nationalistic element (8:33). The Jews had not forgotten their independence under the Maccabees, and even the Jews who were scattered in many regions throughout the Roman Empire retained their cultural identity. Political discontent was injected with religious fervor because the Jews considered themselves to be a holy nation, and not just a nation among others (Deut. 26:18, 19; 27:9).

8:34 slave of sin: Jesus was speaking of spiritual slavery. Such a slave cannot break away from his bondage. He must have someone else set him free (see Rom. 8:34).

8:35 A slave was not a permanent resident of a house. A son remained a family member with family privileges forever. This proverbial saying is applied in v. 36. The application proves that the "Son" here is Jesus Christ (see "the Son of Man" in v. 28). As a family member, the Son can bestow family privileges on others.

8:37 Abraham's descendants may have been physical heirs of Abraham, but they were not his spiritual descendants unless they had faith. But instead of trusting Christ to forgive their sins, the religious leaders wanted to kill Him. They heard the word, but did not believe it. Thus they could not experience its truth.

8:39 Abraham is our father: The Pharisees believed that being a descendant of Abraham guaranteed them a place in heaven. The works of Abraham included paying honor to those who spoke in the name of God (see Gen. 14; 18).

8:41 We were not born of fornication: From ancient times, this has been interpreted as a sneer, as if to say, "We are not illegitimate children, but You are." Apparently gossip had followed Jesus for many years, alleging that He had been conceived out of wedlock.

8:44 your father: Jesus knew what was in the hearts of people (2:25), so He could trace their actions to their source. The devil is a murderer; his agents wanted to kill Christ.

8:48 The Jewish leaders charged Jesus with being a Samaritan and having a demon. In the process, they turned back to Jesus both charges that He had brought against them, namely, that they were not legitimate children of Abraham (vv. 39, 40) and that they were of the devil (v. 44). The conversation between Jesus and the Jewish rulers had become very heated. On the Pharisees' part, emotions were running high and reason was being set aside.

8:49 The Jewish leaders were dishonoring Jesus even though their eternal destiny depended on what they did with His message (v. 51).

8:50 One: God the Father will seek Christ's glory and judge those who dishonor Him.

8:51 Jesus graciously held out to the Jewish leaders the promise of forgiveness and eternal life. My word refers to the word concerning who He is. Death here refers not to physical death, but to spiritual death resulting in eternal separation from God.

8:53 greater than . . . Abraham: Abraham and the prophets kept God's word and died. Jesus was claiming not that He would prevent physical death, but that He could give eternal life. To the Jewish leaders, this was proof that Jesus was demon-possessed.

8:56 My day: Abraham looked for the One who would fulfill all that was promised to him—promises that included blessings for all nations (see Gal. 3:8, 9, 29).

8:58, 59 I AM: Jesus was not just claiming to have lived before Abraham; He was claiming eternal existence. He was claiming to be God Himself (see Ex. 3:14). This time the Jewish leaders understood that Jesus was claiming to be God, so they took up stones to stone Him for blasphemy (see Lev. 24:16).

Word Studies

I AM

(Gk. egō eimi) (6:35; 8:58; 10:7, 14; 15:1; 18:5) Strong's #1473; 1510

This expression denotes “self-identity in self-sufficiency.” In one breath, Jesus asserted His eternal preexistence and His absolute deity. Abraham, as with all mortals, came into existence at one point in time. The Son of God, unlike all mortals, never has a beginning. He is eternal; and He is God. This is evident in Jesus’ use of the words “I AM” for Himself. This statement recalls the Septuagint (the Greek OT) translation of Ex. 3:6, 14, in which God unveiled His identity as the “I AM WHO I AM.” Thus Jesus was claiming to be the ever-existing, self-existent God.

- 9:1 The man who was blind from birth was a beggar (v. 8). Beggars waited by the gates of the temple for gifts from worshipers. Therefore, it is likely that this scene took place near the temple shortly after the confrontation recorded in ch. 8.
- 9:2 who sinned: It was commonly supposed that sickness was a result of sin. It would follow that sins committed by a baby still in the womb or sin committed by parents could result in a baby being born with a disease. Jesus rejected both suggestions (v. 3).
- 9:3 God allowed the man to be born blind so that Jesus could heal him and thus reveal the works of God, His healing power.
- 9:6 Mixing clay with saliva was a common practice used for eye infections. Jesus may have used the clay to provide an opportunity for the man to exercise his faith in washing it off.
- 9:7 Siloam: Hezekiah had a tunnel cut through solid rock to transport water from Gihon (the “Virgin’s Fountain”) into the city of Jerusalem, to the Pool of Siloam (see 2 Kin. 20:20; 2 Chr. 32:30). John emphasizes that the name Siloam means “Sent,” because Jesus had just announced that He had been sent by God (v. 4).
- 9:16 some of the Pharisees said . . . Others said: The Pharisees could not believe that Jesus was from God because He had healed on the Sabbath, thereby breaking the oral traditions that had grown up around the Law. But those who fairly evaluated Jesus’ miraculous signs came to the conclusion that He was from God.

The Signs of Jesus in the Gospel of John

A blind man sees; a lame man walks. Everywhere Jesus went, people were amazed at His miraculous powers. John uses Jesus’ miracles as an organizing principle in his Gospel. He calls them all semeia, or “signs,” indicating that each miracle was a concrete demonstration of Jesus’ divinity and messiahship. Their purpose was to engender belief as they did for the disciples (2:11) and the nobleman’s household

(4:52). But these same miracles would incite some to anger and violence (11:45–52). John records seven specific “signs.” The first was Jesus’ miracle of turning water into wine in Cana (2:1–11). In 2:11, John specifically mentions that this sign signified Christ’s glory, that is, His deity. With this sign Jesus demonstrated His creative power over nature, and His disciples appropriately placed their faith in Him (2:11).

The second sign was Jesus’ healing of the nobleman’s son (4:46–54). Although the son was in Capernaum and Jesus was in Cana, He told the boy’s father, “Your son lives” (4:50). This sign indicated that Jesus was more than a mere mortal; He possessed the power not only to defeat disease, but to transcend space. Jesus did not have to be physically present to heal. Once again, the sign produced belief (4:52).

But with the third sign, another reaction to Jesus’ miracles can be seen. A man at the pool of Bethesda had been sick for a long time. When Jesus told him, “Rise, take up your bed and walk” (5:8), immediately he was well. But this healing took place on the Sabbath. Instead of rejoicing with the healed man, the Jewish leaders reprimanded him for carrying his bed on the Sabbath. The Jewish leaders’ traditions and ideas kept them from believing in the clear signs of Jesus.

The fourth sign was Jesus’ miraculous feeding of the five thousand (6:1–15). By creating a great quantity of food out of five loaves and two fishes, Jesus was again demonstrating His deity, for only God can create. But the crowd, instead of submitting to Jesus’ teaching and following Him, wanted to make Him their king. They sought out Jesus for the food for their stomachs, and not for the spiritual food that would give them eternal life (6:26, 27).

The fifth sign was Jesus’ walking on the water (6:16–21). After the feeding of the five thousand, the disciples took a boat to cross the Sea of Galilee on their way to Capernaum. When they were three or four miles out, they saw Jesus walking on the water toward them. This time, Jesus demonstrated His complete control of nature, from the winds above to the water below. This was another sign of His deity, and another reason for the disciples to place complete trust in Him.

Jesus’ sixth sign highlights the different responses to Jesus’ miraculous works. In this account, the Pharisees’ spiritual blindness is clearly contrasted with the vibrant faith of the blind man. After being healed, this man told others about Jesus and correctly concluded that He was from God. The blind man saw clearly what Jesus’ sign meant, and believed (9:38). But the Pharisees refused to believe. They ridiculed the man’s faith and arrogantly questioned Jesus (9:34, 40, 41).

The seventh sign was Jesus’ raising of Lazarus from the dead (11:1–44). Lazarus had been buried for four days when Jesus arrived in Bethany. With the simple words “Lazarus, come out,” Jesus restored to life the brother of Mary and Martha. This last sign was the greatest: Jesus at once demonstrated His power over the grave and pointed to His own resurrection. Not even death could limit Him, for He was truly God.

These seven signs certainly should have been enough to convince anyone that Jesus was the promised Messiah. Yet the miracles singled out by John were no more than “samples” of the enormous scope of Jesus’ signs and wonders (21:25). For John, all these signs pointed to the two miracles that are the greatest of all: Jesus’ incarnation (1:14) and resurrection (20:1–18). Jesus is God’s only Son become man. Although He died for our sins, He was raised from the dead. Today, He still lives and intercedes for all who believe in Him.

The wedding at Cana; the first “sign” of Jesus

- 9:17 The blind man concluded that Jesus was a prophet. This does not mean he had decided that Jesus was the Messiah (1:20, 21; 6:14).
- 9:22 To be put out of the synagogue was to be excommunicated. The Jews had three types of excommunication: one lasting 30 days, during which the person could not come within six feet of anybody else; one for an indefinite time, during which the person was excluded from all fellowship and worship; and one that meant absolute expulsion forever. These judgments were very serious because no one could conduct business with a person who was excommunicated.
- 9:24 The command to Give God the glory was a solemn charge to declare the whole truth (see Josh. 7:19; 1 Sam. 6:5). Attempting to put words in the man's mouth, the Jewish leaders said they knew Jesus was a sinner. In their view, healing on the Sabbath was breaking the Law. So to them, Jesus was a sinner (5:16).
- 9:28 You are His disciple: The healed man had not claimed to be Jesus' disciple. He only asked the Jewish leaders if they were interested in this case because they wished to become Jesus' disciples (v. 27).
- 9:30–33 unheard of: There is no healing of a blind man recorded anywhere in the OT.
- 9:36 Who is He: Faith must have a proper object. Jesus, not faith, saves. Faith is only a channel to the worthy object, the Lord Jesus Christ.
- 9:38 Note the progression throughout this chapter of the healed man's understanding of the person of Christ. First, he called Jesus "a Man" (v. 11); then "a prophet" (v. 17); and finally he realized that Jesus is the Son of God (vv. 35–38).
- 9:39 For judgment I have come into this world: Jesus did not come into the world to execute judgment (3:17). Nevertheless, the inevitable result of His coming is judgment, because some refuse to believe (3:18). As the light of the world, Jesus came that the blind might see and those who think they can see will be made blind.
- 10:1 In John 7, Jesus journeyed to Jerusalem for the Feast of Tabernacles (see 7:2, 10). All of the events between 7:10 and 10:39 take place on that visit to Jerusalem. Thus chs. 9 and 10 are closely connected, suggesting that Jesus had the Pharisees of ch. 9 in mind when He spoke the opening words of ch. 10. A sheepfold was a walled enclosure or high fence made with stakes, and having one door or gate; often the enclosure was a cave. some other way: The Pharisees had secured their power by illegitimate means. A thief steals in secret; a robber plunders openly with violence.
- 10:2 In contrast to the thief, the true shepherd would come through the door.
- 10:3 The doorkeeper was the undershepherd. Calls expresses personal address rather than a general or authoritative invitation. by name: The naming of sheep was an ancient practice (see Ps. 147:4; Is. 40:26). This was good practice for the undershepherd who has been given the charge of a portion of God's flock (see 1 Pet. 5:2).
- 10:4 Brings out is a translation of the same Greek word used in 9:34, 35 of the Pharisees casting out the man born blind. The false shepherds put out the sheep to rid themselves of trouble. The true shepherd puts out the sheep in order to feed them. The sheep know the voice of the true shepherd.
- 10:5 A stranger is anyone whom the sheep do not know, not necessarily a thief and a robber. Sheep would not follow a stranger's voice even if he used the shepherd's call and imitated his tone.

- 10:7 In vv. 1–5, Jesus is the shepherd; here He is the door. Some shepherds lay down across the entry of the sheepfold at night to sleep. Wild beasts would be discouraged from entering, and sheep would not exit. Thus the shepherd was also the door.
- 10:8 The thieves and robbers were the Pharisees (v. 1).
- 10:9 Jesus, the shepherd, gives spiritual life and access to spiritual food.
- 10:10 more abundantly: The thieves take life; the shepherd gives it. Abundant life includes salvation, nourishment, healing (v. 9), and much more. Life here refers to eternal life, God’s life. It speaks not only of endlessness, but of quality of life. With Christ, life on earth can reach much higher quality, and then in heaven it will be complete and perfect.
- 10:11 Jesus is the good shepherd who gives His life for the sheep (see 3:16; 1 John 3:16), as opposed to the wicked thief who takes their lives. While life in v. 10 refers to eternal life, life here refers to physical life. Jesus laid down His physical life in order to give us eternal life.
- 10:12 The hireling is a hired shepherd, a mercenary, who tends the flock for his own interest. When a hired shepherd sees a wolf coming he flees, not caring about the sheep.
- 10:16 The other sheep were not Jews in heathen lands, but Gentiles. The Jewish people had asked if Jesus would go and teach the Gentiles (7:35). Jesus now declared that He had sheep among the despised heathen. One flock anticipates the salvation of the Gentiles and the formation of the church, in which converted Jews and Gentiles would form one spiritual body (see 1 Cor. 12:13; Gal. 3:28; Eph. 2:16).
- 10:18 As the good shepherd, Jesus had the power—that is, the authority—not only to voluntarily lay down His life for the sheep (vv. 11, 15, 17), but also to take it up again. No one but God can do that.
- 10:19–21 After Jesus’ analogy of the good shepherd, the editorial comment by John is fitting. In the analogy, Jesus was the good shepherd whose sheep hear His voice, implying that there are sheep who do not hear His voice. John’s comment, true to the purpose of his Gospel, indicates that some believe and others do not. This is the same division that occurred in 9:16.
- 10:22 The events of 7:1–10:21 occurred during the Feast of Tabernacles, which fell in the middle of October. The Feast of Dedication was celebrated for eight days in December; thus there was a period of about two months between vv. 21 and 22. In 167 B.C., Antiochus Epiphanes desecrated the temple in Jerusalem, as prophesied in Dan. 11:31. The Maccabees restored and purified the temple. In commemoration of the restoration, the Feast of Dedication was instituted. Today it is also known as the Feast of Lights or Hanukkah. John notes that the events of 10:22 occurred in winter to explain why the Lord chose a sheltered spot in which to teach (v. 23).
- 10:23 A pavilion surrounded the temple. Solomon’s porch was a long, covered cloister or colonnade in the temple court, probably on the east side.

Bible Times & Culture Notes

Herod’s Temple

King Herod sought to appease his Jewish subjects by constructing an enormous, ornate, cream-colored temple of stone and gold. Building began in 19 B.C. The main building was finished by 9 B.C., but the entire structure was not completed until A.D. 64. The temple building occupied an area that measured about 490 yards from north to south and 325 yards from east to west. The entire temple complex was enclosed by a massive stone wall, the southeast corner of which stood about 50 yards above the floor of the Kidron ravine. The parapet above this corner may have been the “pinnacle of the temple” referred to in Matt. 4:5. In A.D. 70, the Romans destroyed the temple and burned it to the ground. All that currently remains is the Western Wall, also called the Wailing Wall, where Jews still gather to pray.

A model of Herod's temple

- 10:25 Jesus answered: Jesus reminded the Jewish leaders of His words and works. Jesus was the Messiah and said so. He told the woman at the well that He was the Messiah (4:25, 26), as well as the man born blind (9:35–37). His works include all the miracles He performed as signs pointing to His messiahship (see 20:31).
- 10:26 as I said to you: At the Feast of Tabernacles, Jesus had told the leaders that they were not among His sheep (see vv. 14, 15; 8:42–44, 47).
- 10:27–29 Jesus described three characteristics of His sheep: (1) They hear His voice (v. 4). He knows them (see Rom. 8:29). (2) They follow Him. The following of the sheep is a metaphor for faith. Other metaphors for faith in this Gospel include drinking water (4:14), eating bread (6:50, 51), eating flesh and drinking blood (6:54). (3) They shall never perish; their eternal life can never be taken away. The Father's hand is more powerful than that of any enemy.
- 10:30 I and My Father are one: The Jewish opponents understood that Jesus was claiming to be God (vv. 31, 33).
- 10:31 again: This was not the first time that the Jewish leaders took up stones against Jesus (see 8:59).
- 10:32, 33 The Jewish antagonizers revealed the reason for their opposition to Jesus—He was claiming a unique unity with the Father, a unity that clearly indicated His own deity. The Jewish leaders considered this to be blasphemy.
- 10:34 In the OT, judges were called gods. They exercised godlike judicial sovereignty. Psalm 82:6, the verse quoted here, refers to judges who violate the Law. Jesus' argument was that if the divine name had been applied by God to mere men, there could be neither blasphemy nor folly in its application to the incarnate Son of God Himself.
- 10:35 Broken actually means “to loose, untie.” This is a strong statement of the inerrancy of the Holy Scriptures. Notice how Jesus made the veracity of His argument rest on the absolute trustworthiness of Scripture.
- 10:38 believe the works: Jesus asked the Jewish leaders to at least consider His miracles because these indicated and demonstrated His deity. Note that the heart of the issue is belief. John never deviates from this single condition for being born again. The word translated believe is used 99 times in this book.
- 10:40 beyond the Jordan: This sojourn into Perea is also noted in Matt. 19:1; Mark 10:1.
- 11:1 Bethany, a small village on the southeast slope of the Mount of Olives, was located about two miles from Jerusalem (v. 18).
- 11:2 Mary who anointed: The anointing had not yet taken place (12:1–3). When John wrote, the anointing was well known, so he used the event to distinguish this Mary from other women with the same name.
- 11:4 Not unto death means not having death as its final result. may be glorified: By raising Lazarus from the dead, Jesus would demonstrate His deity in an undeniable way.
- 11:6–8 stayed two more days: God's purpose was to glorify His Son (v. 4) and to cause the disciples to grow (v. 15). Had Jesus immediately rushed to Lazarus's bedside and healed him, Lazarus would not have died and Jesus would not have been able to manifest His glory by raising Lazarus. God's timing to accomplish His purpose is perfect. The disciples were skeptical. In their minds, for Jesus to go back to Judea would mean death.

11:15 Jesus was not glad that Lazarus was dead. He was glad for the opportunity the disciples would soon have to see an amazing miracle. The disciples had already believed (2:11), but each new trial offered an opportunity for their faith to grow.

11:16 the Twin: In Thomas, the twins of belief and unbelief contended with each other for mastery. He seems to have combined devotion to Jesus with a tendency to see the dark side of things. Jesus said, “Let us go,” that the disciples might believe (v. 15). Thomas said, Let us also go, that we may die. While the Lord saw their development in faith, Thomas saw their deaths. Yet in his loyalty, he followed anyway.

11:25–27 Christ is the resurrection for those who believe and are physically dead. He is the life for those who believe and have not yet died. When Jesus asked Martha if she believed, she responded with words similar to the ones John used to describe the purpose of his book (20:31). In order to have eternal life, a person must place his or her faith in Jesus, who is the Christ, the Son of God, who came into the world to bring eternal life to those who believe.

Jesus’ Seven “I Am” Statements

Jesus’ “I am” statements would have particular significance to the first-century Jewish listener. God had revealed Himself to Moses with a resounding “I AM” (Ex. 3:14). Now Jesus was using the same words to describe Himself (4:26; 6:20; 13:19).

Title: “I am the bread of life.”

Reference: 6:35, 41, 48, 51

Context: After Jesus had fed the five thousand and the people wanted more free food.

Significance: As bread sustains physical life, so Christ offers and sustains spiritual life. The nourishment and satisfaction He offers are permanent.

Title: “I am the light of the world.”

Reference: 8:12

Context: During the Feast of Tabernacles. At this feast a huge candelabra was lit in the women’s court of the temple. It reminded the Israelites of the pillar of fire which guided their ancestors during the wilderness wanderings.

Significance: To a world stumbling about in the darkness of sin, Christ offers Himself as a constant guide. Light is also symbolic of holiness.

Title: “I am the door of the sheep.”

Reference: 10:7, 9

Context: During a discourse with Israel’s religious leaders in which Jesus in essence declared them to be unfit shepherds of the nation.

Significance: Shepherds guided their flocks into stone enclosures each night to protect them. These structures had no doors. The shepherd would sit or lie in the opening to prevent predators from attacking. Thus Jesus was describing His care and constant devotion to those who are His.

Title: “I am the good shepherd.”

Reference: 10:11, 14

Context: Same as above.

Significance: Unlike hirelings who might run away and leave the flock unprotected, Jesus is committed to caring for and keeping watch over His people.

Title: “I am the resurrection and the life.”

Reference: 11:25

Context: After Lazarus had died.

Significance: Jesus is the Lord of all life and possesses the power to raise the dead. Death is not the final word, for all who are in Christ will live forever.

Title: “I am the way, the truth, and the life.”

Reference: 14:6

Context: When the disciples were confused about Jesus’ statements about heaven.

Significance: Jesus is the one and only way to the Father. He is the source of all truth and the source for all knowledge about God. He offers to spiritually dead people the very life of God.

Title: “I am the true vine.”

Reference: 15:1, 5

Context: In the Upper Room discourse on the night of His arrest.

Significance: The Old Testament contains many references to Israel as God’s vine (Ps. 80:8; Is. 5:1–7; Ezek. 15; Hos. 10:1). But because of the nation’s unfruitfulness, Jesus came to fulfill God’s plan. By attaching ourselves to Christ, we enable His life to flow in and through us. Then we cannot help but bear fruit that will honor the Father. In this metaphor, He is the Gardener.

11:32 if You had been here: Mary said the same thing to the Lord as Martha had (v. 21). No doubt they had expressed this thought to one another often in the previous few days.

11:33 Groaned means to be deeply moved. Troubled means to be stirred up, disturbed. Jesus was moved by the mourning of Mary and indignant at the hypocritical lamentations of His enemies.

11:35 Wept simply means “shed tears.” Jesus did not weep aloud in hopeless grief like the others (v. 33). He knew what He was about to do, but His compassion for their pain moved Him to tears.

11:37 Some people misinterpreted Jesus’ tears as powerlessness. They complained that He had healed others, but now was incapable.

11:38 a cave: Having a private burial place indicates that the family was wealthy.

11:43 cried: This loud cry was either the result of strong emotion or in order that the multitude might hear. Lazarus: Augustine once said that if Jesus had not designated Lazarus by name, all the graves would have been emptied at His command (5:28). Raising Lazarus from the dead is the seventh sign of Jesus’ messiahship, the greatest miracle of all, giving life back to the dead.

11:48 Place refers either to Jerusalem or to the temple. The real concern of the Jewish leaders is seen here. They were not as upset at Jesus’ supposed blasphemy as they were about losing their positions of authority.

11:49–52 In the opinion of Caiaphas, Jesus should die rather than plunge the nation into destruction. John adds that by virtue of his office, Caiaphas pronounced a message of God unconsciously: one man should die for the people. Caiaphas was a prophet in spite of himself. John also saw in Caiaphas’s words a prophecy that Jesus should die not only for Israel but for the Gentiles as well.

11:53 Humanly speaking, the resurrection of Lazarus was a major factor that led to the plot by the Jewish religious leaders to kill Christ. At this point the council decided informally, if not formally, to put Jesus to death. John marks the growth of the hostility step by step (5:16; 7:1, 32, 45; 8:59; 9:22; 10:39). It is ironic that these men believed they could put to death permanently One who could raise the dead.

11:54 no longer walked openly: Jesus withdrew from public life for a while. He met privately with His disciples. Wilderness usually refers to the desert of Judea which extended to Jericho.

12:1 six days before the Passover: If Jesus' crucifixion took place on a Friday, this dinner occurred during the evening of the previous Saturday. Verse 12 seems to support this conclusion, because the Jerusalem entry took place on Sunday.

12:2 They probably refers to the people of the village. The inhabitants of Bethany wished to express their thanks to Jesus, who by a glorious miracle had honored their obscure village. Lazarus was the guest of honor.

12:3 very costly oil: Judas Iscariot said that this oil cost three hundred denarii (v. 5). One denarius was a laborer's wage for one day (see Matt. 20:2). Thus the oil cost approximately a year's wages. anointed the feet: Mary also anointed Jesus' head (see Matt. 26:7; Mark 14:3). The custom of that time was to anoint the heads of guests. Anointing Jesus' head was an act of honor; anointing His feet was a display of devotion.

12:7 My burial: Anointing was the first stage of embalming (19:39). Whether Mary knew it or not, she was anticipating Jesus' death, which would come within the week.

12:8 the poor you have with you always: We will never lack an opportunity to care for the poor (see Deut. 15:11).

12:10, 11 plotted to put Lazarus to death also: The chief priests were mostly Sadducees. They had an additional reason to kill Lazarus. He was a living refutation of their doctrine that there was no resurrection (see 11:57; Acts 23:8). Yet this was not a meeting of the Jewish council, nor was it a formal sentence of death. on account of him: The ultimate motivation for wanting to kill Lazarus was that because of him many were believing in Jesus. Went away implies that these individuals were withdrawing from the Jewish leaders.

12:13–15 took branches of palm trees: This was the Sunday before Christ arose, today called Palm Sunday. cried out . . . King of Israel: Until this point, Jesus had discouraged expressions of support from the people (6:15; 7:1–8). Here He allowed public enthusiasm. He entered Jerusalem on the back of a young donkey. This act fulfilled prophecy (see Zech. 9:9) and as such was a symbolic proclamation that Jesus is the Messiah.

12:16 did not understand: The disciples did not catch the prophetic significance of Jesus' act. when Jesus was glorified: After Christ's death, resurrection, and ascension, the disciples finally understood that the OT prophecies concerning the Messiah had been fulfilled in Jesus.

12:17–19 These verses explain the series of events that led to the condemnation and crucifixion of Jesus.

12:20 The fact that these Greeks came to Jerusalem to worship at the feast indicates that they were Jewish proselytes. By recording this incident, perhaps John was hinting that the salvation rejected by many of the Jews was already passing to the Gentiles.

12:23 The hour has come: Prior to this, Jesus had stated that His hour had not yet come (2:4; 7:6, 30; 8:20). Now the time had come for Christ to die and be raised from the dead (see 13:1; 16:32; 17:1).

12:24 unless a grain . . . dies: When a seed dies, it produces fruit. Life comes by death. This principle is true not only in nature, but it is also true spiritually. Jesus was speaking first and foremost of Himself. He is the grain of wheat. His death would produce much fruit and would result in many living for God.

12:25, 26 The phrase loves his life describes those who serve only themselves. In a very short time, Jesus was going to give the disciples an opportunity to identify this problem in their lives (13:1–7). Hates his life involves serving Christ. Each believer must establish his or her priorities. We cannot give ourselves fully to this life and yet be committed to the life to come. Follow Me in this context means to follow Jesus' example of self-sacrifice (13:15). Jesus set the example of "hating" His life in this world so that He could accomplish eternal purposes (see Phil. 2:5–8).

12:27 My soul is troubled: Jesus' agony over His impending death was not confined to Gethsemane, where He prayed, "O My Father, if it is possible, let this cup pass from Me" (see Matt. 26:39). He felt the agony and expressed it almost a week before Gethsemane.

12:34 Christ remains forever: The people understood that lifted up meant removal from the earth by death. They argued that Scripture teaches that the Messiah would abide forever (see Ps. 110:4; Is. 9:7; Ezek. 37:25). To them, the Messiah would not have to die. They did not understand that He would be raised.

12:35, 36 Instead of answering the people's questions (v. 34), Jesus gave them a warning. Walk while you have the light: Jesus is the light (1:4; 8:12; 9:5). He wanted the people to believe and abide in Him (v. 46).

12:37 they did not believe: Their unbelief is startling. However Jesus' predicted suffering and death did not fit the people's idea of the Messiah.

signs

(Gk. sēmeion) (2:11; 3:2; 4:54; 10:41; 11:47; 12:37; 20:30) Strong's #4592

The Greek word John uses for signs means “a distinguishing mark” or “an indication” of the authenticity of a person or an object. Paul uses the word to refer to his signature, which authenticated his letter to the Thessalonians (see 2 Thess. 3:17). In the Gospel of John, sēmeion means “a portent,” a miracle that points to the divine Creator. In his Gospel, John speaks of Jesus’ miracles as signs pointing people to the truth that Jesus is the divine Son of God who came down from heaven. In contrast, the authors of the synoptic Gospels typically speak of Jesus’ miracles as demonstrations of His divine power (see Matt. 11:20–23; Mark 3:15).

12:38 the word of Isaiah . . . might be fulfilled: John quotes Is. 53:1 to prove that their unbelief is predictable.

12:39, 40 The consequence of repeated rejection is loss of the capacity to believe. Isaiah taught that some could not believe because God hardened their hearts (see Is. 6:10) after they repeatedly rejected the truth.

12:41 John uses the words His glory to speak of the manifestation of God Himself. John quotes Is. 6:9 (see v. 40) as a prophecy of the people’s unbelief and their rejection of Christ. In that verse, Isaiah was talking about God Himself. Therefore in this passage John is teaching that Jesus is God.

12:42, 43 Rulers refers to members of the council. Because the rulers did not confess Him, some claim that their faith was not genuine. The text, however, says that they believed in Him, a construction in Greek that typically indicates saving faith (8:30). Moreover, the word nevertheless marks a stark contrast between these believers and the unbelief spoken of in vv. 37–41. These men were genuine believers. Their problem was that they feared the opinions of their fellow leaders. Such believers will be ashamed at Christ’s return (see 1 John 2:28).

12:44, 45 not in Me but in Him: Jesus insisted that anyone who believed in Him was at the same time exercising belief in God the Father. Jesus explained that He was the personal manifestation of God (see 1:18; Col. 1:15; Heb. 1:3).

12:47 I do not judge may be rephrased as “I do not execute judgment.” Christ will judge, but at His first coming He did not come to judge but to save (3:17).

13:1 To the end means either “to the last” or “utterly and completely.” What follows in vv. 1–11 demonstrates Jesus’ complete love. Jesus loved His disciples, even though He knew that one would betray Him, another would deny Him, and all would desert Him for a time.

13:2 Being ended may also be translated “having begun.” It was customary for slaves to wash guests’ feet as the guests arrived, before they sat down to eat (vv. 4, 5). In any case, it appears that the supper had not ended, but was in progress. The statement of Jesus’ complete love in v. 1 is contrasted with the fact that Judas would soon betray Him.

13:4 His garments: Jesus laid aside His outer garment, which would have impeded His movements.
towel: By putting on an apron, Christ looked like the slave to whom the task of washing the feet of guests was assigned. Though the disciples realized what Jesus was doing, none of them offered himself for the task. Servanthood was not on their minds. Jesus loved them knowing all about them, including the worst one of them, Judas.

wash

(Gk. niptō) (13:5, 6, 8, 10; 1 Tim. 5:10) Strong's #3538 bathed

(Gk. louō) (13:10; Acts 9:37; Rev. 1:5) Strong's #3068

In speaking to Peter, Jesus used two different Greek words to indicate two different kinds of washing. The Greek word niptō (13:5, 6, 8, 10) is used to indicate the washing of the extremities, the hands and the feet. The Greek word louō specifically means “bathing.” According to the social customs of those times, once a person had bathed his entire body, he needed only to wash his feet before partaking of a meal. In His response to Peter, Jesus used both words in order to advance a precious truth: just as those who have bathed need only to wash their feet, so believers who have been bathed by the Lord through His word and the Spirit (see 15:3; Eph. 5:26; Titus 3:5) need only to wash themselves daily from the filth and defilement they accumulate by their contact with the world.

Go to the List of Word Studies

13:8 no part with Me: The washing was a symbol of spiritual cleansing (vv. 10, 11). If Peter did not participate in the cleansing, he would not enjoy fellowship with Christ (see 1 John 1:9).
